FREE LUMBER FIGHT ON IN HOUSE---TARIFF ON WOOL COMES NEXT

Leaders Are Confident Bill Will Pass House Unchanged.

Tax on Motorcycles Calls Out Some Personal Exchanges.

C. B. Miller Makes Verbal Attack on Stanley of Kentucky.

Washington, May 1.—The wood schedule, involving the fight of the anti-free lumber advocates, was the target of attack when the house today resumed debate on the tariff bill. Democratic leaders, however, expected to make great progress in the reading of the bill for amendment by the conclusion of tonight's session.

The agricultural schedule, involving the contentions of the minority that the majority has put almost everything that the farmer holds dear on the free list, the wool section, which will precipitate the struggle of the opposition to free raw wool, and the income tax with its graduated system that is expected to bring $100,000,000 into the treasury coffers annually, were in sight when the Democratic leaders reviewed the situation as the discussion began today.

Leaders Confident.

The leaders were confident, however, that there would be no disturbance of the caucus-approved bill, and the minority was wearying of the steady fight with scores of constantly rejected amendments. The sparring of the parties for political advantage has been good-natured in the main, and an occasional sparkle of wit with clashes between individual members has lessened the monotony of debate over dry figures.

Representative Sims of Tennessee was questioning the reason for the duty on motorcycles, and asked if the committee regarded them as luxuries or necessities.

"My boy has two of them," an-

RUSHING WORK ON THE PANAMA CANAL

Big Steam Shovels Have Been Put on Twelve-Hour Shifts.

Washington, May 1.—A great many evidences of a determination to hurry completion of the Panama canal are seen in today's reports from the isthmus.

The nine mammoth steam shovels digging out Culebra cut have been put on 12-hour shifts, and working at such a rate would have a channel ready for ships through the most troublesome part of the canal by the time the locks are ready.

While the last official estimate of the earliest day at which ships could pass through the canal has been some time in October, the rapid progress of the work with some additional rush of orders may make it possible for ships to go through earlier.

UNDERWOOD MANAGER TO BE MADE JUDGE

E. K. Campbell Will Be Nominated to the Court of Claims.

Washington, May 1.—E. K. Campbell of Birmingham, Ala., for many years political manager for Representative Oscar Underwood, has been selected by President Wilson for a judge in the United States court of claims. His nomination was expected to go to the senate today.

When Campbell's name was first mentioned for the judgeship it was pointed out by some Alabama Democrats that he had opposed instructing the delegation to the Baltimore convention to vote for Mr. Wilson in the event that Mr. Underwood could not be nominated.

The selection of Mr. Campbell for the judgeship probably means the elevation of Judge Charles B. Howry of Oxford, Miss., to be chief justice of the court of claims. His nomination also was said to be scheduled for today.

BUFFALO STORE EMPLOYES STRIKE

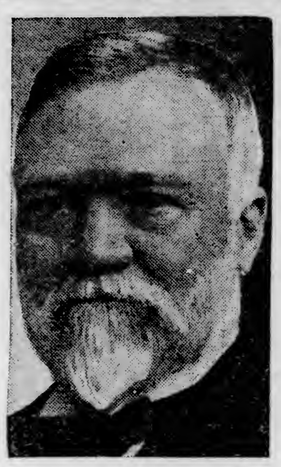
Demand $8 Minimum Wage and Other Concessions From Employers.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 1.—Over 2,500 department store employes, involving every store of the kind in the city, went on strike this morning for increased wages and shorter hours. Employes of hardware and 5 and 10-cent stores participated in the strike.

The demand is for a minimum wage of $8 for women clerks and $15 for men clerks, with a minimum for boys of $8 and for drivers and chauffeurs of $18 per week. The employes also demand an eight-hour workday, Saturday half-holiday at full pay in June, July, August and September, and the closing of the stores at 5 o'clock each evening. The present average weekly wage for girl clerks is said to be only $5.

Pickets were placed at the entrances of all the stores this morning. The strike vote taken last night was practically unanimous and was closely obeyed this morning. The delivery system was tied up completely.

HE SAYS AMERICA NEED FEAR NO INVASION



ANDREW CARNEGIE,

PUT INVADERS ON THE FARMS

Andrew Carnegie Tells the Peace Congress How War Would Terminate.

Ironmaster Praises President Wilson in Speech at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., May 1.—The fourth American Peace congress began a three days' session here today with delegates present from all parts of the country.

The chief address of the morning was delivered by Andrew Carnegie, who told the congress why he believed the nations soon would reach the goal of peace, and by what road they would travel. He described the cost of war and warlike preparations, and explained his confidence that the United States never need fear foreign invasion. President Wilson and his administration he predicted would gain immortal glory by dealing successfully with the question of world peace.

Life in Service Safest.

The goal, said Mr. Carnegie, is almost attained. "If a man wished to select the safest life possible, then one freest from all danger of violent death, let him enter our army and navy. There is not a workman attending machinery or erecting buildings, nor a railway train employe or a policeman—the soldier of civilization, whose duty is never to attack

MELLEN DECIDES TO DEFEND HIS ACTS

Head of New Haven Road Will Testify Before Commerce Commission.

Boston, Mass., May 1.—When the interstate commerce commission hearing was resumed today, it was announced that President Mellen had decided to appear as a witness later, with the purpose of defending his management of the New Haven railroad.

Mr. Mellen heretofore has refused to appear as a voluntary witness and waive immunity, and the commission has declined to subpoena him. As late as yesterday it was said that he remained steadfast in his original decision, but he has now decided that it is his duty to the stockholders, personally to defend the New Haven system before the commission.

FARMER USES DEAD DOG TO CATCH THIEF

Grand Rapids, Wis., May 1.—The slaughtering of an old family dog and the dressing of the carcass to resemble mutton were the means resorted to by a farmer living near Pittsville, as a trap to catch thieves who had been visiting his smokehouse and taking quantities of meat from time to time.

Following the disappearance of the "mutton" the farmer took opportunity to make a call at meal time on a suspected neighbor, and upon arriving was urged to join the family at dinner, being offered as an inducement the prospect of a repast of "mutton stew." The visitor declined, however, and took advantage to tell of the trick which he had played the night before, asking if anyone at the table had an idea as to the guilty party. The family appeared uncomfortable, and making various excuses, left the table one by one for the backyard.

BRYAN SEES JAPANESE

Secretary of State Visits Colonies of Orientals in California.

Is Guest of Governor Johnson on Tour of Inspection.

Sacramento, Cal., May 1.—Secretary of State Bryan, who came from Washington to protest the passage of an alien land law by the California legislature, has read and listened to many arguments since he came to Sacramento but the best argument of all, in the belief of Governor Johnson, is yet to be presented.

This morning the secretary was taken for a spin in the governor's automobile to the towns of Florin and Walnut Grove, a dozen miles distant from the capital, where two typical colonies of Japanese farmers have been started. Governor Johnson and Assemblyman Bradford, who represents the district, will accompany him. They will point out the following concrete facts for his observation:

There are more than 5,003 Japanese subjects in Sacramento county, according to Assemblyman Bradford's computation from the 1910 census.

Own Scores of Farms.

There are more than 1,500 Japanese in the Florin colony, where scores of big farms are owned and hundreds of acres leased.

There are 42 Japanese children out of a total enrollment of 67 pupils in the Florin public schools.

In Walnut Grove, Isleton and Sierra, neighboring towns in the same community, the number of Japanese children in the public schools ranges from 40 to 50 per cent.

Governor Johnson said he was pleased that Secretary Bryan had accepted the invitation to see for himself "California's best argument for an anti-alien law."

Restrictions of Bill.

MEET TO DISCUSS RECLAMATION WORK

Water Users and Officials Invited By Secretary of Interior.

Washington, May 1.—Difficulties and differences of opinion between officials of the reclamation service and users of water from various government irrigation projects are expected to be threshed out at conferences which began here today. Secretary Lane invited the contending forces and interested members of congress to attend the conferences, over which he will preside at the interior department.

It is the announced purpose of the secretary to develop clearly the differences between the officials and the water users over each project, that he may make such changes in the administrative policy of irrigation and reclamation as may be shown to be desirable.

James J. Hill of the Great Northern railway, whom the secretary invited to discuss the relative merits and cost of government and privately-owned irrigation projects, wired he would be unable to be here today, but would be present probably next Monday or Tuesday.

G. M. Bailey, interested in irrigation projects in Oregon, has proposed a plan to turn over the new lands to the department of agriculture for settlement after they have been completed by the reclamation engineers.

"OLD ANDY IS NO MORE" HE WRITES, AND SENDS BULLET THROUGH HEART

WAGE DEMAND TURNED DOWN

Conductors' and Trainmen's Appeal for Higher Pay Is Refused.

Eastern Railroad Managers Claim Public Interests Would Suffer.

New York, May 1.—The conference committee of managers of Eastern railroads declined today to grant the requests made by their conductors and trainmen for higher wages. The committee, in a reply sent to the Order of Railway Conductors and Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, said that the present rates of wages are liberal and in many cases excessive, and that the request for an increase is declined "in the interests of owners of railroad securities, in the interests of all railroad employes, in the interests of the public as a whole."

Would Mean $17,000,000.

"The wages and working conditions which you request," says the reply, "would increase the pay of the 100,000 conductors and trainmen of the railroads in the Eastern district by approximately $17,000,000, or 20 per cent per annum. The increase would be equivalent to placing on these properties a lien of $425,000,000 of 4 per cent

WOMAN MURDERS SALOON MAN'S SON

Explains She Meant to Shoot the Father, Not the Boy.

Chicago, May 1.—Clarence Murphy, 22 years old, son of [illegible] Murphy, saloonkeeper, was shot [illegible] instantly killed early today while [illegible] father's place of business by Mrs. Grace Smith, 35 years old, when he attempted to eject her.

Mrs. Smith fled in an automobile to the home of her sister, Miss Lizzie Colmar, in Chicago, where later she was arrested.

Arthur Greyson, 37 years old, was with the woman when she was taken into custody. They were taken back to Gary to be held until the inquest has been concluded.

The shooting followed a quarrel between Mrs. Smith and Henry Murphy, proprietor of the saloon, over attentions the saloonkeeper is alleged to have paid to an actress. Clarence Murphy ordered Mrs. Smith out of the saloon, and when he stepped toward her to enforce the command she drew a revolver from the folds of her dress and fired five shots, one taking effect in his heart.

"I meant to shoot old man Murphy and not his son," Mrs. Smith told the police. "He treated me cruelly and I wanted to get revenge."

Andrew Wold Ends His Life in Room in Axa Block.

Despondency Over Recent Ill Health Believed to Be Cause.

After writing the above note and leaving it on his dresser, Andrew A. Wold, 58 years old, took a 38-caliber revolver and fired a bullet through his heart in his room on the third floor of the Axa building, 211 West Superior street, at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Despondency resulting from recent ill-health is believed to have been the cause.

The shot attracted the attention of people in the building. A. R. Marshall of Minneapolis was passing through the opposite hall and glancing through the windows of the hall saw Wold throw his arms in the air as he was in his last death struggle, and then fall to the floor. He rushed to the room and opening the door found him lying on the floor breathing his last.

Mr. Marshall then notified the police and the coroner, who came and viewed the body. Coroner McComb ordered the body moved to J. L. Crawford's morgue on Second street. No inquest will be held, it being adjudged to be a clear case of suicide.

Mr. Wold was a well known character in Duluth. He was familiarly known as "Old Andy." He was a bachelor and had lived in the city for the past twenty-eight years. For many years he was engineer of The

WILSON MOUNTS THE NEW JERSEY STUMP

Washington, May 1—President Wilson turned toward New Jersey today for the first bit of campaigning since pre-election days. He prepared to leave here at 3 p. m. for a two-day speaking trip in his home state, to appeal to the people to bring pressure upon Democratic members of the state legislature to pass a jury reform bill as well as a measure calling a constitutional convention.

Those two proposals, written in the Democratic state platform by Mr. Wilson himself while governor, failed of passage in the legislature. The efforts of Mr. Wilson, co-operating with Acting Governor Fielder, are directed toward accomplishing the reforms in the extra session of the legislature to be convened within a week.

SAYS RAILROADS NEED HIGHER FREIGHT RATES

DANIEL WILLARD,
President of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

WOULD RAISE FREIGHT RATES

Eastern Railroads Will Ask for 5 Per Cent Flat Increase.

President Willard of the B. & O. Tells of the Demand.

New York, May 1.—The railroads of the Eastern territory, having discussed the freight rate problem, have decided to ask the interstate commerce commission to allow a 5 per cent increase on freight of all character.

This was made known today in a statement issued by President Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio.

Mr. Willard is the head of a committee of railway presidents representing the principal lines in what is known as the official classification territory—that is, the district lying east of Chicago and north of the Ohio river.

To Reopen Case.

For some time talk of a move looking to increased freight rates has been in the balance, but today's statement is the first coming from the roads and outlining the procedure they purpose to follow. Briefly, the request to the interstate commerce commission will be made in the form of an application to reopen the Eastern advance rate case, heard and passed upon by the commission in 1910.

"When the matter of an increase in rates of freight was considered three years ago," says Mr. Willard's statement, "it was proposed by the railroads to increase generally the so-called class rates and some of the commodity rates. It was urged at the time by those opposed to the suggested advances that a fairer and better way to obtain an increase, if necessary, would be by a small advance on all rates instead of the larger advance, as was proposed, of some of the rates, and it has been clearly brought out during recent years, and particularly in the numerous complaints filed with the interstate commerce commission, that the relation of rates between localities is of much greater importance to the shipping public that the actual rate by itself.

"With this in mind, the carriers now hope to obtain the consent of the commission for an advance of 5 per cent on freight of all characters, and it is believed that such an advance, if granted, will create little if any disturbance in commercial conditions."

Davies Is Nominated.

Wahsington, May 1.—Among nominations by President Wilson today were the following: Commissioner of corporations, Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin; assistant comptroller of the treasury, Walter W. Warwick of Ohio; collector of internal revenue, Third district Iowa, Louis W. Murphy.

Strike in Peoria.

Peoria, Ill., May 1.—Four hundred building tradesmen have been ordered out on a strike. The strikers demand higher wages and shorter hours.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

President Wilson submitted a number of nominations.

Passed Dupont resolution calling for report from secretary of war on retired officers and their civil employment.

Passed Borah resolution calling on secretary of war for report on charges of human slavery in the Philippines.

Went into executive session to consider nominations.

HOUSE.

Met at 11 a. m. and resumed reading of tariff bill for amendment under five-minute rule.

Representative Hobson introduced a bill for creation of the "parental court of the United States" to have jurisdiction over children under 16 years of age.

POWERS WITHHOLD HAND.

London, May 1.—The powers will not take steps to coerce Montenegro for the present. The ambassadors at their meeting this afternoon came to the conclusion that in view of the conciliatory attitude shown by Montenegro it was unnecessary to proceed with immediate measures of coercion.

London, May 1.—A proposal that the Montenegrin seaports of Antivari and Dulcigno shall be occupied by a joint international force of Austrian, Italian and British troops as a further demonstration to King Nicholas that the powers are resolved to carry out their decision in regard to Scutari was made at today's meeting of the ambassadors in London.

Should Austria-Hungary accept this middle course its adoption would allow time for further pressure on Montenegro and for an arrangement to provide her with compensation of some kind.

The reply of Montenegro to the demand of Europe for the evacuation of Scutari was received today by the powers. It is non-committal in character and keeps the doors open for further negotiations.

The little kingdom of "the Black mountain" tells its neighbors that it has the greatest deference for them, and declares the capture of Scutari to be in no way a defiance of their announced decision to give the former Turkish fortress to Albania. At the same time Montenegro suggests that there is room for discussion, and reserves the right of bringing up the question of Scutari in the course of the peace negotiations.

Troops Are Moving.

INDIANS POISONED BY LAND HUNTERS

Government Probe Leads to Arrests in Oklahoma Cases.

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 1.—With the arrest at Hugo, Okla., of V. Bronough and E. L. Reed, charged with having attempted to poison Ellis Wood, a Choctaw Indian, it developed that an alleged system of poisoning aged Indians that their lands might be acquired, has been under investigation by government agents for some time. Other arrests are expected.

According to government officials, a number of aged Indians have been induced to bequeath their holdings for a cash consideration, and recently twelve Indians have mysteriously disappeared.

FULL CREW LAW TO BE PUT TO THE TEST

New Jersey Statute Is Criticized By the Railroads There.

Newark, N. J., May 1.—The so-called full crew bill which was opposed so bitterly by the railroads went into effect throughout this state today. The law provides that crews of freight trains of less than thirty cars shall consist of five men and of more than thirty cars of six men. On passenger trains of not more than three cars the crew must consist of five men, and on four or more cars of six men.

On roads operating into Pennsylvania, it was necessary to employ only a few new men, owing to the fact that such trains were already manned with full crews, as required under the Pennsylvania laws.

All the railroads affected, the Pennsylvania, the Erie, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, the Lehigh Valley, the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Baltimore & Ohio, although they placed full crews on their trains today, are planning to join in concerted action to test the constitutionality of the law, possibly by inviting prosecution under the penalty imposing $100 fine for its violation. A test of the law in Pennsylvania has now reached the supreme court in that state, and it is understood that the New York law, which goes into effect Sept. 1, will be similarly tested.

The law is intended to insure the safety of the traveling public, but the railroads maintain that there are no duties for the extra men to perform.

TWO DIE IN FIRE.

Healy House at Oswego, N, Y., Is Partly Destroyed.

Oswego, N. Y., May 1.—Two men were burned to death early today and three were fatally injured in a fire which partially destroyed the Healy house, a three-story structure of brick and wood. The dead are:

NATHAN TRISKEY of Watertown, N. Y.

CYRIL WILLARD of Oswego, N. Y.

REJECT PAINTING OF SLAVE SALE.

New York, May 1.—A painting entitled "To the Highest Bidder," representing a negro slave woman with her child standing on the auction block, has been rejected by the Brooklyn institute because it might "tend to keep alive memories that had better be forgotten." The picture was painted by Harry Roseland, a well known Brooklyn artist, and offered to the institute by Charles A. Schieren, a former Brooklyn mayor.

Could Not Sleep on Account of Kidney Trouble

I have been a resident of Coudersport for thirty years. My age is 52, and I wish to testify to the wonderful results of the use of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. I have used it off and on in my family for the past twelve years, and always with immediate benefit.

About two years ago my husband had a severe attack of kidney trouble, was unable to sleep and suffered great pain. Could eat no breakfast and became very thin in flesh. After he had taken half a bottle of Swamp-Root, he felt much better. The pains in his back left him and his appetite returned. I have never doctored with the doctors because of my faith in Swamp-Root.

I heartily recommend it to anyone in a run down condition from trouble with the kidneys.

Yours very truly,
MRS. JAMES MORAN,
Coudersport, Pa.

On this 22nd day of May, 1912, before me a Notary Public in and for the County of Potter and State of Pennsylvania, personally appeared Mrs. James Moran, to me well known and in due form of law, made oath that the above and foregoing statement is correct and true.

COAL PRICES ADVANCED

Increase of Ten Cents Per Ton Announced By Dealers.

All anthracite including egg, stove, nut and pea, was today advanced 10 cents per ton.

The advance, which became effective this morning, is the first of the monthly increases in price, which will be made from now on until Sept. 1. At that time the regular winter prices will become effective.

During April there is a discount of 50 cents made on every ton of coal. This discount is now reduced to 40 cents, which means a 10-cent increase in the total cost of a ton of coal.

The April prices and those which are in force during May are as follows. Dock pea, $5, no change; cargo pea, $6.50, advance to $6.60; nut, $7.75, advance to $7.85; stove, $7.75, advance to $7.85; egg, $6.50, advance to $6.60.

The coal companies all report large supplies of coal now on hand, including both bituminous and anthracite.

BRYAN HOPEFUL AS TO CALIFORNIA LAW

Washington, May 1.—Secretary Bryan's latest dispatches to President Wilson contained a note of optimism over the situation in Sacramento. He is said to have telegraphed the president not to credit alleged misleading reports of the intent of the proposed legislation, expressing a belief in a solution of the difficulty satisfactory to the people of California and to the Feueral government.

While no information was forthcoming as to the administration's attitude on the pending Webb bill, a report was current that John Bassett Moore, acting secretary of state, did not regard the measure as a violation of treaty obligations, and that the original protest of the Japanese government that no specific discrimination against the Japanese be carried in the legislation really had been met by the general phraseology of the Webb proposal.

No Delay Granted.

Sacramento, Cal., May 1.—Requests by Senators Wright, Shanahan and Caminetti for delay on the alien land bill in order that it might be more maturely considered met with no consideration from the majority, and the chair announced that the bill would come up in the regular course of business.

FIXES OWN PAY WHILE LAWMAKER

Eligibility of Commissioner-elect of Fargo May Be Tested.

Fargo, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. B. Blakemore, who was elected a member of the city commission yesterday, was a member of the last legislature which fixed the salary of the members of the commissions. Section 39 of the state Constitution says no member of the legislature can, for the term for which he was elected, accept either an elective or appointive office, the emoluments of which were increased by a legislature of which he was a member. His eligibility may be questioned by his opponents.

TWO WORKMEN ARE ASKING HEAVY DAMAGES

Two personal injury actions in which an aggregate of $21,100 in damages is sought were filed in district court against the Oliver Iron Mining company yesterday afternoon.

Louis Pagorelez, employed at the Zenith mine, near Ely, alleges that he sustained serious injuries when he was struck by a heavy falling object while engaged in the work of retimbering the drift in the mine on May 16, 1912. He is suing for $11,100.

Frederick Valentino asserts that owing to a defective ladder which he was obliged to use he accidentally fell into the shaft of the Monroe mine, near Chisholm, on Aug. 8, 1912, sustaining serious injuries, for which he wants $10,000.

MARINE NEWS

TWO BOATS ARE NEEDED

Easton Will Be Started on North Shore Run Before June 1.

America Brings Back Party of Thirty Hunters and Trappers.

Charles W. Turner of St. Paul, district manager of the line, who is in the city for several days, stated that the demands for freight have been so numerous that in all likelihood the steamer Easton will be started within the next two or three weeks. It was originally planned to start the Easton on its summer schedule beginning June 1.

"We believe that we can run both the America and Easton at a profit this early in the season," said Mr. Turner yesterday afternoon, in discussing prospects for the season. "Last year we also started the Easton a little earlier than schedule time, and we lost considerable on the venture. But this year the demands have been so many that we believe that there will be a profit with both boats in operation."

The steamer America, which left this morning for its second trip to the north shore, was compelled to go through a field of ice from Two Harbors to Duluth. The boat made about ten miles an hour through the ice. There were about thirty hunters and trappers among the passengers who arrived here yesterday. They reported a very mild winter on the north shore and a very successful trapping and hunting season. They all brought back large collections of hides and furs.

ARE SWAMPED WITH GRAIN

Buffalo Elevators Have More Than They Can Handle.

Cargo after cargo of grain is arriving at Buffalo each day and the congestion is becoming greater right along. It is believed that this congestion will be taken care of by the end of this week and that the normal service will be given the ships entering the harbor.

The Schoonmaker and the Snyder, the two largest boats on the Great Lakes, arrived at Buffalo Monday, being the first of the grain fleet which left Duluth last week to get in that port. They carried 815,000 bushels of wheat. Many other boats have also arrived and it is estimated that there is at least 8,000,000 bushels of grain ready to be delivered at the elevators.

The arrival of the Snydor carrying 415,000 bushels of wheat almost broke the record held by the De Graff, which entered Buffalo carrying 432,000 bushels. This record has never been reated, but bids fair to be exceeded during the coming season.

Grain cargoes are constantly leaving the local port for Buffalo. Several large cargoes have left Chicago and the Canadian ports during the past few days, bound for Buffalo.

FIRST PIG IRON LOAD.

Steamer Beatty Takes It Down the Lakes From Marquette.

Marquette, Mich., May 1.—The steamer Charles Beatty of Fairport, a steel freighter of large dimensions, arrived at the L. S. & I. merchandise dock Tuesday morning, and loaded 1,800 tons of the Pioneer Iron company's pig iron, the first shipment of the season. The electro-magnet crane was used in transferring the metal from the dock to the hold of the steamer. The cargo is consigned to the Lehigh Valley Railway company's docks at Buffalo, N. Y., and from there will be distributed to various customers.

SLOW WORK ON LOCKS.

Ice Delays Boats But Warm Weather Is Solving Problem.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lockmen are having great trouble in locking through the boats since yesterday, caused by the large amount of ice which is coming down the river from the broken Ice fields in the upper river and Whitefish bay. The upper approaches to the canals are jammed, making slow work in opening the upper gates. The Ream was delayed from 5:30 to 8 o'clock in the Canadian lock this morning. A stream of ice is coming over the rapids. The weather is fine and warm and a few days more of present conditions promises to see the end of the ice question for this year.

STOP HERE TOO BRIEF

Duluthians Want New Passenger Steamer to More Than Hesitate.

Duluth merchants and business men are very much opposed to the proposed schedule of the new passenger steamer, North American, of the Chicago, Duluth & Georgian bay line.

According to the arrangements already made by the officials of the company the North American will arrive in Duluth at 6:30 o'clock every Tuesday morning and will leave again at 9 o'clock the same morning. This will give the round-trip tourists but two and one-half hours in Duluth.

The business men claim that the tourists should be given at least half a day in the city, allowing them to take in the sights and also visit the stores. As it is they will have but time to get off the boat, eat a meal and return at once.

The Duluth agent, who will have charge of the Georgian bay line in this city, has not yet been appointed. Local business men are waiting for this appointment and hope to settle the matter satisfactorily with the new appointee.

The steamer North American will be run exclusively for passengers and will be one of the best-fitted boats on the lakes. It will leave Chicago every Saturday, traveling along the north shore to Port Arthur and then to Duluth. The stay in Port Arthur, it is understood, will also be of short duration. The boat will begin its regular schedule within a few weeks.

Steamer Is Enrolled.

The steamer Percival J. Roberts, Jr., of the Pittsburg Steamship company, was enrolled this morning at the customs office. The papers were sent here from Two Harbors, where the steamer is unloading coal.

The boat is one of the three new ones the company built during the past winter. It is 580 feet long, 58 feet beam and 32 feet deep. The gross tonnage is given as 7,591 and the net tonnage as 5,852.

New Port on Lake Huron.

With the construction of one of the largest stone-crushing plants on the Great Lakes, and large stone docks and a breakwater 1,500 feet long, a new port, to be known as Rockport, will be created on the shore of Lake Huron, just west of Middle island and twelve miles from Alpena. What will be one of the most complete docks on the lakes is now in course of construction for the Great Lakes Stone & Lime company, owners of the stone quarry at that point. The dock is to be 540 feet long and is to be equipped with all of the most modern loading appliances.

Lightship Carried Away.

The following notice is being sent to the members of the Lake Carriers' association:

"Lighthouse department advise Gray's Reef lightship, XL, reported driven from station by ice April 28. Will be replaced as soon as possible."

PASSENGER SERVICE BEGINS ON LAKE ERIE.

Navigation out of Detroit on the upshore division of the D. & C. was opened with the departure at 5 o'clock Tuesday of the steamer City of Mackinac II, Capt. Salem O. Robinson, master.

A considerable number of passengers embarked for the first trip and the steamer also carried a good amount of freight, including a number of horses for Alpena and Cheboygan.

Service on the Detroit and Buffalo division of the D. & C. commenced yesterday, when the steamer Eastern States left Detroit at 5 o'clock on the first trip of the season. The City of Cleveland III will make her first trip to Buffalo next Sunday.

Much Floating Ice.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 1.—Immense quantities of ice coming over the rapids here yesterday caused considerable trouble in the canals and steamers made slow progress through the locks. Down-bound boats reported heavy fields still in Whitefish bay, but conditions were so far improved that several steamers with tows left last night for upper lake ports.

ALONG THE LAKES

Members of the Society of Civil Engineers will take a trip to Sault Ste. Marie and back on the D. & C. steamer City of Detroit III, leaving Detroit June 4. The trip is a feature of the society's convention to be held at Detroit.

Navigation on the up-shore route of the D. & C. Navigation company was formally opened Tuesday, when the steamer City of Mackinac II left Detroit for Mackinac and way ports, with a full cargo and about 100 passengers. The steamer Eastern States opened the Buffalo division when she left Detroit for that port last evening.

FIRST BOATS AT TONAWANDA.

North Tonawanda, N. Y., May 1.—The first vessel to reach the Tonawanda ports from the Head of the Lakes this season were the steamers Clyde and Veronica, which came down the Niagara river Tuesday afternoon and docked at the plant of the Tonawanda Iron & Steel company at Ironton.

The boats carried cargoes of iron ore. They wintered in Chicago and loaded at Escanaba. They reached Buffalo Tuesday afternoon, but owing to the ice condition in the river they remained back of the Buffalo breakwall until yesterday morning.

Railroad Is Libeled.

Valentine A. Fries and Anna Fries Chapin of Cleveland filed a libel in Federal court Tuesday against the Canadian Pacific Railroad company, covering damage said to have been done to the steamer William Edwards in the Lachine canal, Aug. 20, 1912, when a bridge owned by the railroad company was not swung open for the vessel to pass.

The petition charges the William Edwards, en route from Erie, Pa., to Montreal, whistled several times for the bridge to open. When it was seen that the bridge was not being operated, it is charged, the engines were reversed, but the swift current threw the stern of the vessel against the side of the channel, damaging the rudder and stern post to the extent of $2,680.

Supply Boat.

A traveling supply house, which will sell men's furnishings, candies, tobacco and newspapers to all the boats in the Duluth and Superior ports, is a new feature this year. Frank Blodgett and another young man have remodeled a small launch and furnished it with every imaginable article that a mariner may want. They ply between the two ports and visit all the boats in the harbors each day. The supply boat is fast becoming popular with the boat men, who find it a great convenience.

Bloom of Youth Now Easily Attained

(From Popular Science.)

You no longer need to "doctor" that sallow, freckled, blackheaded, rough, blotchy, pimply or over-red skin. You can remove it, instead—easily, painlessly, inexpensively. By a new scientific process, which anyone can use without assistance, the dead and near-dead surface skin, with all its imperfections, is gently, gradually absorbed—and a radiantly youthful and beautiful complexion comes forth! Go to your druggist, get an ounce of pure mercolized wax; at night apply enough of this to completely cover the face; don't rub it in. Next morning remove the wax with warm water. The result after a few days is astonishing. You wonder why this secret wasn't discovered long ago.

Let the wrinkled folks also take hope. Put an ounce of powdered saxolite into a half pint witch hazel, bathe the face in the solution and—say!—there's nothing that will so effectually, so promptly, smooth out all those hateful lines. You'll find this lotion, as well as mercolized wax, works equally well on neck and hands.

Min-Dul Cuyuna Exploration Co.

(INCORPORATED UNDER LAWS OF MINNESOTA)

DULUTH, MINN.

Capital $100,000. 10,000 Shares. Par Value $10

(FULLY PAID AND NON-ASSESSABLE)

LEASE AND LOCATION—

This Company owns a fifty-year mining lease, covering 120 acres, lying in the heart of the Cuyuna range, the land being in Section 2, Township 46, Range 29. The lease was arranged for some years ago, but was not operative until recently by reason of a defect in the title which has now been perfected. The lease provides for a low minimum output and due to its early origin, a very nominal royalty of 15 cents per ton; the lease also provides for the use of timber on the land necessary for mining purposes, of which there are ample quantities for extensive mining operations.

INDICATIONS AND PROSPECTS OF ORE—

There are very encouraging surface indications of ore on this land. Lines of magnetic attraction are apparent, both directly north and south, as well as on the property itself. Further considering that ore has been found on three sides directly adjacent, and that several mines in the immediate vicinity (one-half to one mile) are already shippers or will be this year, the officers and directors feel extremely optimistic as to the results of the exploration work.

ADVANTAGES OF LOCATION—

The property lying as it does on a section road which runs to the town of Crosby makes it easy and economical to commence drilling operations without delay. The further fact that the Soo railroad is only one-half mile distant means no delay in future, should the property fulfill our expectations.

CAPITALIZATION—

The Capitalization of the Company has been kept conservative, simply because this is not a stock jobbing proposition, but a mining venture, offering a fair opportunity to the investor to join in exploring a promising property.

The officers' salaries have been limited to $1.00 per year and arrangements have been made whereby no other office expense will be incurred other than bookkeeping and minor incidental expenses such as stationery, stamps, etc.

SUBSCRIPTIONS—

In order that the Company may at once commence to properly drill and explore the property, a limited amount of stock has been offered at 50 per cent of the par value to provide funds for this work. While we do not at this time claim to have ore in sight, all available clues, guides and indications point to the existence of ore on this property. For further particulars and information, apply to the following officers and directors of the Company.

WILL NAME BOARD TO CONDUCT WORK FARM.

The five non-salaried commissioners who will have charge of the work farm to be conducted jointly by the city and the county will be appointed shortly. Three will be named by the chairman of the county board and two by the city commission. It is understood that one of the three men named by the county will be a Duluthian. The operating and maintenance expenses will be shared jointly. The county has 560 acres of land and the city has 400 acres, a few miles back of the city on the Pike Lake road.

"CLEAN-UP WEEK" WILL BEGIN MONDAY MORNING

Health Commissioner Invites Every Loyal Citizen to Co-operate.

Wants to Make Duluth a Spotless Town---Children Will Help.

The week beginning Monday, May 5, has been designated as "clean-up week" by Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health.

Dr. Webster urges all residents of the city to free their yards and lots of the rubbish which has been accumulating for months past.

The health director points out that not only are they unsightly but that with the approach of warm weather they are a menace to the health of the community as well as prolific breeders of flies.

A number of extra sanitary inspectors will probably be employed temporarily to aid in the program which has been outlined. They will be sent to all parts of the city with instructions to note the condition of all property. Where no improvement has been made the householder will be directed to comply with the ordinances and if that is not done in a reasonable time the officials state that legal steps will be taken to eliminate all nuisances.

Dr. Webster plans to secure the co-operation of the school children of the city, as has been done in other years. It is believed that if the clean-up program is explained to them by the teachers they will be a big factor in improving the appearance of the municipality. In hundreds of cases it is the children who do most of the work of making the yards presentable.

Dr. Webster this morning issued a statement asking the aid of the public in making Duluth as nearly a "spotless town" as possible. The department appeals first to the civic pride of the citizens and declares that if that does not secure the desired results the department intends to see that they are obtained from a sense of duty. It is pointed out that the best results can be secured through the co-operation of the public and that on general principles the residents of the city should take sufficient interest in the clean-up campaign to at least remove all offensive rubbish or refuse, particularly those kinds which afford a breeding and feeding place for flies.

RAILROAD SETTLES WITH THIRTY-THREE SETTLERS

Attorney Gets $8,250, and the Settlers About $500 Apiece.

One of the lagest and most important settlements which has been effected out of court in this county for years was brought about yesterday, when the Duluth & Iron Range railroad offered thirty-three litigants in the White Iron Lake fire cases the lump sum of $24,750 in settlement of their claims for damages sustained in a fire which swept their farms in the vicinity of White Iron lake during the dry season of 1910. The railroad company is charged with responsibility for the fire and has been made a defendant in all of the cases.

The offer was accepted at a conference held yesterday at the courthouse. Among these present at the conference were Hon. William A. Cant and Hon. J. D. Ensign, judges of the district court, Baldwin & Baldwin, attorneys for the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, Joseph W. Reynolds, and Mrs. I. C. Buell, attorneys for various claimants in the fire cases, and between thirty and forty of the fire sufferers.

The figure of $24,750 was considered satisfactory by the settlers, who brought a number of English speaking Finns wtih them in order that they might be sure there was no misunderstanding of the terms. As soon as the necessary papers are prepared, stipulations of dismissals will be filed in thirty-three of the cases and they will be dropped from the court calendar.

Distributing the Award.

The matter of distributing the lump sum among the thirty-three claimants will be left to a committee of three which will be selected from the settlers themselves. The amounts will be apportioned according to the damages sustained.

It was decided at the conference that J. W. Reynolds, who is attorney in the cases which were settled, should receive a fee of $250 in each case. This arrangement met the approval of the judges and also of the settlers. Attorney Reynolds will receive from the thirty-three cases the sum of $8,250. The settlers will receive an average of $500 apiece.

Mrs. I. C. Buell, attorney, who has nine cases against the Iron Range railroad stated today that settlements had been made in three instances and that the other six would probably be disposed of this week. This will clean up the whole matter of fire case litigation and will dispose of one of the most famous series of damage cases which has ever come before the district court.

None of the settlers who have already brought their cases to trial or who have received verdicts, whether favorable to themselves or otherwise, will be allowed to share in the proceeds of the settlement.

The railroad fares of the settlers who attended the conference which was held in one of the court rooms yesterday will be remitted to the settlers. It was agreed that the fares should be paid one way regardless of whether the terms of settlement were accepted or not and that if the settlement was effected, that the railroad fares would be paid by the company both ways.

PETITION DOES NOT AFFECT DULUTH

Hotels Now Receive Their Mail on Sunday in This City.

As the hotels in Duluth are all receiving their mail on Sunday through the boxes at the postoffice, there is not much interest here in the monster petition before the postoffice department at Washington requesting for the re-establishment of the Sunday delivery service to hotels and theaters.

The system at the local postoffice is possible under the present ruling because Duluth is not a very large city.

The hotels can all receive mail on Sunday by obtaining boxes at the postoffice and calling for the mail any time during the day. The theaters, if they wish to obtain mail on Sunday, can also do so by securing boxes.

The petition at Washington has been signed by travelers in all parts of the country.

The traveling men have had very little trouble in Duluth and it is understood that no names were signed to the petition from this city. Should the change be made at Washington, it would not materially affect the local system now in force. It might mean the reopening of the general delivery window on Sunday, however.

ASSESSORS BEGIN WORK

City Assessor Scott today started his deputies throughout the city to make the personal property valuation for the current year.

He briefly repeated his instructions to exercise the utmost care, in order that the assessment may be fair and impartial. Each of the deputies has been supplied with a badge as a means of identification should any question arise. Assessor Scott states that no one should hesitate to answer the questions of the men who are able to display the badges of the office. Should any one refuse to make any statement of personal property the deputy is directed to report back to the office, but not to make any threats of any kind. They have been told to be courteous at all times and under no circumstances to lose their tempers. Frequent reports of progress will be made to the office at the city hall that the work of the deputies may be checked up as they proceed.

PLANT TREES AT OLD SIBLEY HOME.

Mendota, Minn., May 1.—Nearly fifty trees were planted today on the site of the Sibley house here by the Minnesota Daughters of the American Revolution.

A Scotch pine tree was planted on the highest point on the Sibley grounds to commemorate Henry Hastings Sibley, the first governor of the state. A buckthorn hedge was planted around the grounds. "Governor's row" and "Regents' walk" commemorate respectively the twenty territorial and state governors and nine women who have been at the head of the D. A. R. of Minnesota.

An elm tree was planted near the library window of the house to commemorate Miss Sarah Sibley of Detroit, Mich., the oldest living member of the Sibley family.

The D. A. R., the S. A. R. and the Minnesota Historical society each has a tree in its honor.

MILLER FIGHTING FOR HIGHER DUTIES

Duluth Congressman Seeks Amendments to Underwood Bill.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, May 1.—Representative Miller has prepared a number of amendments to the Underwood bill by which duties on agricultural products would be retained at their present level or only partly reduced. He proposes to retain the present duty of 25 cents per bushel on potatoes and to place a duty of 15 cents per bushel on wheat, instead of 10 cents as proposed in the Underwood bill.

Mr. Miller will also try to have the duty on flour placed at 50 cents per barrel, an increase of 25 cents over the present rate. The Democrats are standing firmly by the Underwood bill, however, and there is little prospect that the Miller amendments will be adopted.

HUNTED NEGRO JOINS RANKS OF PURSUERS

Murderer of Two White Men Escapes When Voice Is Recognized.

Hampton, S. C., May 1.—After hiding all night in the swamps, Richard Austin, the negro who yesterday killed two white men and wounded four of a posse hunting him for an attempted assault upon a young white woman, slipped past his pursuers today and escaped.

Fires were built on the swamp's edge last night, and were kept going by neighborhood negroes. Austin walked out of the swamp unobserved and mingled with them until some one recognized his voice. Then he made a break for another swamp.

It is believed he is hiding only a few miles from where he made his first stand yesterday and shot to death Frank Bowers, a planter, and Magistrate B. H. Edenfield of Allandale, S. C. The wounded include Dr. S. C. Moore, a physician; George Hanna, McTeer Bowers and an unidentified white man.

Austin is alleged to have gone to the home of a citizen of Luray and attempted an assault upon a young woman at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The woman's cries attracted passers-by but the negro escaped, armed with a shotgun and revolver and a large supply of shells and cartridges.

METHOD OF DEATH IS COURT ISSUE

Fraternal Order Resists Payment, Claiming Escanaba Man Killed Self.

Marquette, Mich., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whether the husband of Anna Els of Escanaba was murdered or committed suicide is the point at issue in a suit brought by the widow to recover life insurance of $1,500. The Protected Home circle is the defendant.

Defeated on her first attempt to establish her claim, Mrs. Els has been granted a new trial by Judge R. C. Flannigan. The suit will be tried in the circuit court for Delta county. Els was found dead on the veranda at his home two years ago. His demise appeared to be due to suicide and the coroner's jury so decided. The evidence was, however, wholly circumstantial and it is the contention of the plaintiff that, as a matter of fact, the man may have met death other than by his own hand. The fraternal order is resisting the payment of the policy held by Els for the reason it is specifically provided in the contract that in the event of suicide the claim upon the company shall become null and void. The new trial is granted on the grounds error was made in the admission of certain testimony bearing upon church customs.

PETERSON WOULD SEEK GOVERNORSHIP

Lee, Dunne, Rines and Nolan Also Have Designs on That Job.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—James A. Peterson of Minneapolis, according to rumors current in political circles, has served notice on Bull Moose leaders who are searching for a suitable candidate to go against Governor Eberhart, that he will run for governor next year regardless of what they do.

With the primary coming in June next year instead of September, the campaign, instead of starting next spring, will be well under way this summer, and with the close of the legislative season a number of tentative booms began springing up.

W. E. Lee of Long Prairie, one of the candidates against Eberhart at the last primary, is said to be planning to make another try.

R. C. Dunn of Princeton, another man who has tried for the office and failed is understood to be planning for another try.

Speaker Henry Rines is another who may become a candidate for governor. He has been mentioned for state auditor, but is said to be considering either one of the two places named, or running for congress in the new Tenth district.

W. I. Nolan also is said to have gubernatorial ambitions.

OPPOSE MOVING OF LIBERTY BELL.

Philadelphia, May 1.—A resolution protesting against the removal of the Liberty bell from Independence hall, "for any purpose," was adopted by the general society, Daughters of the Revolution, at the final business session of the society's twenty-second annual convention. Minneapolis was selected as the site for the next convention, which will be held in June, 1914.

Two Aviators Killed.

Darmstadt, Germany, May 1.—Lieut. Von Mirbach was killed and Lieut. Von Brunn injured, dying later, in an aviation accident here last evening. In an attempt to land, their biplane collapsed only a few feet above the ground and fell upon the aviators.

The Most Healthful Food Known

It is perhaps not generally known among Duluth families that "Minnesota" Spaghetti is one of the most healthful foods known.

It is four times as nutritious as beefsteak, six times as nutritious as potatoes and, because it contains more proteids than most foods, it is more strength giving and less fattening.

"Minnesota" Spaghetti gives the power of endurance without overloading the stomach and it should be freely eaten by everyone, and especially by children, in place of meat.

"Minnesota" Spaghetti is very easy to prepare, has a deliciously appetizing flavor and costs only about one cent a dish. Adv.

SWEDISH VESSEL SUNK—FOUR LOST.

Cuxhaven, Germany, May 1.—Four of the crew of the Swedish steamer Flora were drowned when that vessel sank today after a collision here with the British steamer Mozart.

DYNAMITES STUMP; IS BLOWN TO BITS.

La Crosse, Wis., May 1.—Oscar Olson, aged 23, a farmer, was blown to pieces on his farm at Big Creek, near here, yesterday while attempting to remove a stump with dynamite.

FOR NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

Take Horsford's Acid Phosphate

South Dakota Bank Closed.

Fort Pierre, S. D., May 1.—The Citizens' State bank of this place was taken in charge by the state banking department yesterday. The bank is owned by John Hays.

MAY DAY IS MOVING DAY

Also the Date on Which Licenses Must Be Renewed.

Socialist Parade Will Be Only Formal Observance in Duluth.

May day was ushered in with clouded skies and threatening weather at an early hour, but later they gave away to warmth and sunshine. The latter was especially gratifying to the housewives, many of whom in all parts of the city were busily engaged in the annual May moving.

The first day of May has a great deal of significance to the people of Duluth. Not only is it the proverbial "moving day," but it is time of the renewal of licenses for saloons and automobiles, dogs and vehicles. Aoday the city assessor begins his rovaluation.

While March is credited with being the first day of spring, May 1 is generally marked as the time when the spring can really be enjoyed. In most of the Northern states this date marks the time for changing the underwear from the heavy woolens to the lighter gauzes.

Although the day is generally celebrated by school children with springtime games, the only celebration locally that will be of any note will be held this evening by the Socialist party.

The celebration will include a parade commencing at 7:30 o'clock. The start will be made from in front of the courthouse. From there it will go to Mesaba avenue then down to Superior street and east of Superior to Second avenue east and thence to the Armory. John A. Johnson will be chief marshal and his aides will be Elmer Stonewall, C. R. Carlson, James Brown, A. Morin and A. Miller. The speakers at the Armory will be Mr. Johnson, chairman of the meeting; A. Miller, who will talk in Polish; Allen Strong-Broms, who will speak on "The Grave Diggers of Capitalism" and Matt Kainn who will talk in Finnish.

Morris Kaplan, local Socialist leader, will talk this evening at Eveleth and W. E. Towne will speak at a similar gathering at Virginia.

A number of musical selections will be given at the Armory meeting by the Finnish band and choruses from the various Socialist clubs.

MEXICAN REBELS MURDER FOREIGNERS

Refusal to Give Money to Aid Revolt Is the Cause.

Washington, May 1.—The manager of a British-owned mine at Matchuala, San Luis Potosi, and several other foreigners have been put to death by Mexican rebels because they refused to contribute money to the revolution. Neither names nor numbers were given in the report.

American Is Killed.

Mexico City, April 30.—William B. A. Dingwall, an American citizen, the owner of a foundry and director of the Santa Maria de la Paz Mining company, was killed by the rebels in their attack yesterday on Matchuala, state of San Luis Potosi, according to reports which have reached here.

Dingwall, who is said to have been one of the wealthiest residents of the district, was killed owing to his refusal to give up money to the rebels.

Will Evacuate Juarez.

El Paso, Tex., May 1.—Federal forces are to evacuate Juarez, opposite this point, the most important port of entry on the border, and terminus of the Mexican Central railway.

Orders to hasten to Chihuahua city, the state capital, were received by Col. Juan N. Vasquez, the Juarez garrison commander.

The projected movement is in keeping with the general order issued some days ago that all Federal forces in the state mobilize at Chihuahua city, threatened by attack from the South. Already the Constitutionalists are pressing close to Juarez from the territory along the Rio Grande to the east.

The movement to the state capital will be hastened by desertions from the Juarez garrison to the insurgents.

The Federals at Parral, the American mining center southwest of Chihuahua city, also were ordered to move to the state capital.

Rebels Capture Town.

Mexico City, May 1.—Confirmation has just been received here of the capture by the rebels of Tantoyuca, in the northern part of the state of Vera Cruz, after sharp fighting Saturday. This is an oil region where many Americans are employed, most of whom are said to have fled to Tampico.

TWO RESPECTED BUSINESS MEN

Who Are Among the Real Live-Wire Boosters for Duluth.

John and Charles Carlson, who have been real Duluthians from the early days of the city—then a town—and who have been in business since the "Bowery" was in its infancy, have built and opened a first-class buffet, called the Stockholm Buffet, at 513 West Superior street and, without exception, will be second to none in excellence in the Northwest. The furniture and fixtures of the place are about the last word in art. They are of the best and latest that money can buy. Aside from the attractive appearance of the place the stock of wines, liquors and cigars on hand is to be kept up to grade and will be of the best and favorite brands used in the city. It will be the object of the proprietors to have their stocks in such condition that nobody in the city cannot be supplied with what they call for at the Stockholm.

A first class cafe is in connection, conducted by D. J. Sullivan, former proprietor of the Delmonico cafe, who takes personal charge of the cooking, where the kitchen is in full view of the public eye.

The floors and walls are of tile and marble, the object of this being not only beauty but the provision of sanitary surroundings. The electric chandeliers and other fixtures to match are of the very latest designs and add attractiveness and home-like air to those entering.

The grand opening to the general public, for inspection, will be Saturday, May 3rd. Everybody is welcome.

Thunder Storm.

The first thunder-storm of the season took place this morning between 5 and 6 o'clock. It was hardly a storm at that, but bore some of the hallmarks of one, the noise for instance. Thunder at this time of the year is taken by most of the "old-timers" who watched weather signals before there was a weather bureau as heralding warmer weather.

Removal Notice.

The Penn Mutual Life Insurance company, Henry I. Pinneo, general agent, has taken offices in 602 and 603 Providence building.

Uncle Sam Brings Suit.

Thomas H. Martin and George W. Martin, who are doing business under the firm name of Martin Brothers, have been made defendants in a suit for damages instituted by the United States government in the Federal court. The complaint alleges that timber was cut from the government land by W. G. Chandler and later converted into pulp. The amount is specified as 37 cords and 72 feet, which at the market price of $7 a cord, fixes the damage at $263.93. The timber, it is alleged, was cut from the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter and northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 4, township 48, north of range 17.

Settler Sues Lumber Firm.

Evert Laaksonen, who owns a 160-acre farm on Prairie river claims that the Northern Pine company's dam on the stream which was opened during the season of 1912, caused his land to be overflowed, his hay crop ruined and roads from and to his home made almost impassable. In district court today, he filed suit against the company for $950 damages.

Federal Term Postponed.

The opening of Federal court today has been postponed until May 29, as Judge Page Morris is at present conducting court in Minneapolis. From there he will go to Fergus Falls and later to St. Paul, before returning to Duluth.

Sues Auto Owner.

Cassius H. Bagley is made defendant in a lawsuit filed in district court yesterday afternoon by Frank A. Berg, who complains that he was knocked down and seriously injured by the defendant's automobile. He claims that he was run into by the machine while crossing from the south to the north side of Fourth street near Sixth avenue east on the evening of Dec. 14 last. He asks for $1,800.

New Location.

Dr. H. E. Webster has moved his offices from the Providence building to 309 and 310 Lyceum building.

Junket to North Dakota.

The trade extension committee of the Commercial club, at a meeting held yesterday decided upon another "get acquainted" trip early in June. This trip will be for a week instead of the customary three days and it is expected that the excursion will go as far west at Minot, N. D., on the Great Northern, returning by way of the Fargo-Surrey cut-off.

Guilty of Larceny.

In district court yesterday, Carl E. Grandell pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a quantity of copper from the Kreager-Jamar shop at Fourth avenue east and Superior street on Friday evening last. He was paroled under a reformatory sentence.

Commissioner Ill.

Commissioner Murchison, head of the division of public works, is confined to his home with a severe cold. He hopes to be about again within a day or two.

New Drinking Fountains.

Sanitary drinking fountains, operating on the same principle as those throughout the city, will be installed in the city hall. They will be an appreciated convenience, filling a need which has been felt for years.

Northland Printery.
Good printing. Call Zenith 494. Adv.

Geologists Coming.

Prof. E. M. Lehnerts and twenty students of the University of Minnesota will visit Duluth and the ranges sometime between June 16 and July 12, their object being to study the geological formations of the state, survey the water power resources and make other observations. Many parts of the state will be visited, but it is expected that most of the time will be spent on the iron ranges.

Must Have License.

Before the Remedial Loan association can begin its operations in the city it must first procure a license from the city clerk. This is required by the new state law and the license fee named is $25 per year. The license must be renewed annually.

Injured By Fall.

Mrs. Maud Patton of 108 West Second street was taken to St. Luke's hospital last evening suffering from a fracture of the hip. She was injured by a fall on the stone steps of the canal pier Tuesday evening.

Dies From Burns.

Hilda Oiya, an 8-year-old girl, died last night at St. Luke's hospital of burns which she received several days ago at her home in Aurora. Her clothes caught fire while playing about a fire and before they could be smothered the child was terribly injured. She was hurried to St. Luke's hospital in this city, but despite every attention she succumbed last night.

For Careless Driving.

The trial of Hjalmar Carlson, arrested on a charge of careless driving, was started in police court this morning. Carlson is said to have been learning to drive an automobile and becoming confused last Saturday afternoon ran into the rear end of a wagon driven by Swan Olson, a foreman of the water and light department. Olson was knocked to the ground and badly injured. He was carried to his home, Fifty-eighth avenue east and Superior street, in front of which the accident occurred and given medical attention.

Foreclosure of Lien.

In district court, before Judge Cant today, testimany is being taken in a lien foreclosure case brought by T. P. Corey against the Range Lumber company and others. The action is one in which the plaintiff seeks to foreclose a lien for $99 for materials furnished one Joseph Teller, contractor, who erected a building for defendants at Buhl.

Ties and Poles Burned.

Brush fires about fifty miles from Bemidji have destroyed a large quantity of ties and poles belonging to the Duluth, Log company. Officials of the company have been unable to get into communication with their men at the scene of the fire and have failed so far to learn the extent of their losses.

The Island Lake Inn
Opens Saturday, May 3. Good roads and fine fishing.

Sues Contractor.

Louis Leimer, teamster, has begun suit in district court against C. J. Frederickson, contractor, in which he seeks to enforce the collection of $603.64, alleged to be a balance due him for the use of a number of teams, dump carts and wagons on a contract near Hope, N. D.

Railroads Sued for Gravel.

The Great Northern Railway company and the Eastern Railway company are made joint defendants in two actions filed in district court yesterday afternoon by Charles C. Hutzler. In the first cause of action, the defendants are charged with having built spur tracks on plaintiff's property and to have removed gravel valued at $3,300. In the second cause of action, $780 is asked as damages for the burning of 156 cords of jack pine

UNCLE SAM AS DEPOSITOR

A. L. Ordean, president of the First National Bank of Duluth, returned yesterday from a trip to Southern California.

In discussing the decision of the secretary of the treasury to demand 2 per cent interest on money of the government deposited in banks of the country, Mr. Ordean declared that probably the First National would surrender government deposits, but stated that as the bank has as yet received no official notice of action, it is too early to make any definite statement.

Mr. Ordean declared that business throughout the country was good as a whole, especially in the Northwest, and that while some serious results might come from the tariff changes, he stated that very little change would be manifested here.

May Term Calendar.

The May term calendar of the district court includes 296 cases, as compared with 267 for March. Of this number 142 have been continued and 154 are new actions. The cases are otherwise classified as follows: Jury cases, 151; cases for court only, 95; divorce cases, 48. Of the total number of jury cases, 62 are new and 89 continued, of the 98 court cases, 70 are new and 28 continued, and of the 48 divorce cases, 10 are new and 38 continued.

PATCHING THE STREETS

It Will Be Done Systematically in the Future.

George J. Bloedel, superintendent of street maintenance, has begun to outline his plans for the repair of streets during the coming season.

The funds for this work come from the street maintenance and repair fund, part of which is supplied by the wheelage tax, which becomes due today.

The first thoroughfares to be put in shape will be East First street from Sixth avenue east to Twenty-third avenue east and East Second street from Thirteenth avenue east to Twenty-third avenue east. The First street work will start at the eastern end of the creosote block paving which will be laid this summer and the Second street repairs will commence where the present tar macadam pavement ends at Thirteenth avenue.

Work will also be started shortly on Superior street. Supt. Bloedel states that the street car company will replace the bricks between its tracks which are not in good condition and that the city will look after the remainder of the street. Considerable patching was done on the city's main highway last season. The life of pavements is greatly lengthened by the repair work. Henceforth all streets will be closely inspected and repairs will be made before any of the defects become aggravated, necessitating a much heavier expenditure.

MARGARET WILSON'S CHAUFFEUR ARRESTED

New York, May 1.—William J. Greenwood, a chauffeur, was fined $5 today for driving Miss Margaret Wilson, the president's daughter, and her escort, up Broadway at a speed of twenty-four miles an hour.

The policeman who appeared against Greenwood said that when he stopped the taxicab yesterday evening Greenwood told him that his passengers were the president's daughter and Boyd Fisher, manager of the social center, and that they were hurrying to a hotel to pick up a Princeton professor, who had to catch a train for Princeton. The policeman let the car proceed after summoning the chauffeur to court today.

Mr. Fisher was in court today and paid Greenwood's fine.

PAYING TAXES ON VEHICLES

City Clerk Is Kept Busy Receiving License Fees.

The announcement that wheelage taxes became due May 1 brought a large crowd to the office of the city clerk to pay their license fees.

The tags which are handed out by the clerk to be attached to vehicles have not yet arrived, although ordered some time ago. It is expected that they will be received this afternoon or tomorrow.

In the meantime those who have been coming to the office for their tags have been paying the fees required by the ordinance. Each of them has been furnished with a receipt and the tags will be forwarded to them without delay. This morning City Clerk Charles Palmer turned over to the treasurer $835 which had been paid for wheelage taxes.

Some complaint has been made that the rate of $10 per ton for auto trucks is excessive in comparison with the charge of $6 for two or three-horse vehicles. The claim is made that one of the large trucks is worth about three of the horse-drawn wagons and that on that basis the charge should be about $18 instead of $30, the sum required to be paid under the present ordinance. The commission may be asked to amend the ordinance in that respect.

FEWER WOLVES BEING KILLED

With the coming of summer the slaughter of wolves—which is a profitable amusement for many of St. Louis county's settlers during the cold weather—has subsided.

During the month of April County Auditor Halden paid out only $315 in bounties, there having been but twenty-one animals brought in for which bounties were claimed.

During the preceding month fifty-three full-grown animals were brought in. In February, 1913, bounties were claimed for seventy and in January eighty-one.

Details on "Legal Protection Bureau" Disclosed in Court.

Duluth Attorney Claimed to Have Reaped Rich Profits.

How Attorney Joseph De La Motte of this city operated a "legal protection bureau" which entitled members for the sum of $5 each, to the privilege of consulting Mr. De La Motte whenever litigation was needed, was related in district court yesterday afternoon to Judge Fesler and the jury which is trying the Harwood-De La Motte lawsuit.

The name of the "protection bureau" was the American Employes' Adjusting association. Harwood and his witnesses brought out in their testimony that the owners of the stock in the company were: J. De La Motte, Dr. F. W. Gordon of Superior and himself. De La Motte, he claimed, owned the controlling interest.

Members of the association were for the most part among the foreign workers on the range, who were liable owing to the nature of their work to become involved in personal injury litigation, the testimony showed. It was also brought out that each of the members who paid $5 also signed a contract which bound them to engage Mr. De La Motte as their attorney.

Harwood, on the witness stand, declared that De La Motte had realized about $12,000 in profits from litigation secured through the organization.

Harwood is suing De La Motte, on the grounds of fraud. He is asking to be reimbursed for services rendered and expenses paid out while in the employ of De La Motte and the American Employes' Adjusting company.

The jury in the case was excused today and will report tomorrow. Today Judge Fesler is hearing arguments on the law points involved.

SWITCHMAN IS KILLED

Frank Sours, a switchman, was killed at 2:30 this afternoon by a Northern Pacific train at Twenty-eighth avenue west. The body was taken to Olson & Crawford's undertaking rooms. Sours lived at 3215 Tower avenue Superior, Wis. No particulars of the accident were obtainable up to the hour of going to press.

OBITUARY

William L. La Follette, only brother of Senator Robert M. La Follette, died at Madison, Wis., April 30 of heart disease after a prolonged illness. He was 66 years old. His wife died in February, 1911. Six children survive.

Mr. La Follette was active in the recent Wilson campaign in Wisconsin and had been favorably mentioned for an important government position. He has held office as receiver of public moneys at the Chamberlain, S. D., land office and as railroad commissioner of South Dakota, and was the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor in that state in 1908, being defeated in the Republican landslide. Mr. La Follette had been editor of the Missouri Valley (South Dakota) Journal, which he founded and the Mitchell, (South Dakota) Gazette. He died at the home of his sister, the wife of Supreme Court Justice Robert G. Siebecker.

Mrs. George W. Ochs, 35 years old, wife of George W. Ochs, editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, died April 20 at her home at Elkins park, Philadelphia, after a brief illness.

Alton J. Palmer, inventor of the modern humane stock car, a pneumatic churn and several sewing machine improvements, died in Detroit, Mich., April 20 at the home of his son. Mr. Palmer was 55 years old. He was born in Homer, N. Y.

WANTS $15,000 FOR INJURY TO CHILD.

Four years ago little Ethel Shannon, then 11 years old, had one of her feet nearly blown off by stepping on a dynamite fuse cap. She was walking on Oneota street, near Forty-seventh avenue west, at the time.

Today suit was started in district court against the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railroad company, which is charged with responsibility for the accident.

The suit, which is brought by the girl's father, D. Shannon, involves a claim for $15,000 damages. It is claimed that employes of the Soo road in that vicinity during the summer of 1909 had left a number of the caps along the right-of-way and that children in the neighborhood had gathered them and had scattered them broadcast.

It is stated that the fuse caps were of bright and shiny copper and very attractive for children. The one on which the little girl stepped is alleged to have been one of the many left by the defendant company.

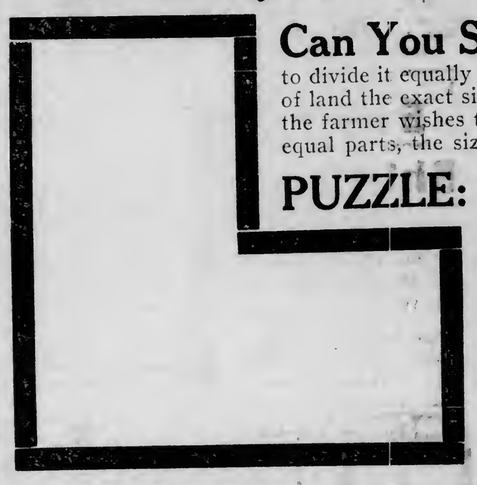
THREE-QUARTER SECTION OF LAND



Can You Solve It? A farmer owning the accompanying three-quarter section of land wishes to divide it equally among his four sons, so that each son will have a piece of land the exact size and shape as the other three sons. In other words, the farmer wishes to divide the three-quarter section of land in four equal parts, the size and shape of each part being the same.

PUZZLE: Divide the three-quarter section of land as described above with pen or pencil, on this or a separate piece of paper. Persons submitting correct answers to the above puzzle will be given their choice of the premiums named absolutely free.

FREE To every person submitting a correct solution of the puzzle the manufacturers who control and who are distributing this advertising appropriation will give free (besides the other premiums mentioned) a bona fide Manufacturers' Credit Voucher for $130.00, good only toward the purchase of any new Piano in our store.

For many years piano manufacturers and dealers have tried to reduce the selling expenses of pianos; the old way of paying solicitors, paying teachers' commissions and engaging great artists to play their pianos at fabulous sums is being eliminated and now it is a question of the best advertised piano, and one in which the purchasers are given the greatest possible value. This is the age of co-operation and the manufacturers correctly believe that the best way to market and introduce their product is to spend the advertising money in making special offers to the people rather than employ world-famous demonstrators at fabulous expense and making the people pay for such methods by asking a heavy price for the piano.

TO THE PUBLIC

The Health Department desires to make this City as nearly a "Spotless Town" as possible—to this end we appeal to the public to enlist their co-operation. We cannot accomplish results unless we have your support and co-operation. All good citizens ought to have sufficient civic pride at least to keep their places free from offensive rubbish or refuse of any kind, more particularly that kind of dirt or rubbish which affords a breeding and feeding place for flies. To delay in carrying out these suggestions means an unnecessarily early and large number of these pests. You will save yourself expense by doing this without a call from the inspector. We are determined to have this "clean up" either from your sense of decency or because of our sense of duty.

The Mass Consolidated mine will reopen within a few days with an entire new crew, replacing 265 men employed up till the time of closing of the mine Saturday.

UNDERWOOD BILL STILL UNAMENDED

Washington, May 1.—With the legislative machinery running smoothly and rapidly, the house today reached the first of the big rough places in the Democratic tariff bill, the sugar schedule.

Representative Underwood, at the throttle, drove the Democratic majority steadily ahead, disposing of the last paragraph of the metal schedule and plowing through the lumber and wood schedules without allowing an amendment. A fight to restore to the dutiable list shingles, which the bill placed on the free list, provoked a wealth of oratory, particularly from the representatives of the North Pacific coast states. They made much of the "Oriental labor" troubles on the coast, citing the present anti-Japanese agitation in California.

When the sugar schedule was reached it became apparent that more oratory in large volume was clamoring to be let loose, and Representative Underwood, following his declaration that he intended to put on the screws, secured an agreement to allow two hours debate on the sugar schedule and all amendments offered to it. Representative Boussard of Louisiana, representing the Democrats who oppose the free sugar provision of the bill, joined the Republicans in the futile battle to alter the committee rates.

CLEANS THE HAIR AND MAKES IT BEAUTIFUL,—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

In a Few Moments Your Hair Looks Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Abundant—No Falling Hair or Dandruff

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—In a few moments you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS ASKED TO JOIN PARADE

High school boys have been invited to join in with the old soldiers in the parade which will be held on Memorial day.

Marcus W. Bates, patriotic instructor for the local G. A. R., gave a short talk on the subject at Central high school yesterday.

"We want to make this parade the best ever," he said, "and we want you boys to take enough interest in the old soldiers to come out and help."

It will be remembered that last year, although Central high school boys were invited to participate in the street parade, none showed up.

A few high school students from the Duluth Industrial high school at West Duluth were in the line, but none from the uptown school.

WHY WE CURE MEN!

It takes a builder three or four years to learn his trade thoroughly. How long would it take him to learn all trades?

The doctor who spends four years at a Medical College is incapable of treating with success all the countless diseases of men, women and children. He knows a little of everything, but nothing thoroughly. We cure diseases and weaknesses peculiar to men. This is our sole field. The true specialist never attempts to do more than he can do WELL. His persistent study, diligent research, and scientific investigations are all on the line of a few diseases. A SINGLE CLASS OF THEM, on which all his efforts are concentrated, and to which his entire practice is strictly limited. Hence, he becomes supreme in his chosen field.

We do not pretend to know all about disease, in fact, our knowledge is very limited and extends to only this one class—DISEASES OF MEN. If you are afflicted with any disease that is peculiar to men, STOMACH TROUBLE, SKIN DISEASE, BLOOD POISON, NERVOUS DEBILITY, RHEUMATISM, OR ANY OTHER DISEASE OF A CHRONIC OR NEWLY CONTRACTED NATURE, we invite you to consult us and promise you a cure. Twenty-six years of hard and constant effort here have given us the means, methods and remedies to effect PERMANENT CURES. We assist every afflicted man to clear up and out of his body all poisons; we free him from his bad habits, we cure his maladies and return him to perfect health.

We publish no names, though we have the names of a number of men, many of whom had been given up as hopeless. Our principles are HONESTY AND INTEGRITY. We have no schemes to offer you, no "trial treatments," no cheap bargain-cures, but we DO offer you the advantage of our strict professional honesty, our superior ability and our successful experience.

A personal examination of your case is most desirable, but if it is impossible for you to call, send us an account of your trouble.

LAKE AND RAIL RATES MUST NOT BE ABANDONED

Decision of Interstate Commerce Commission Victory for Duluth.

Railroads Fail to Justify Proposed Increase in Tariff.

The traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club has a large share in a signal victory of Northwestern shippers over the railroads in a decision of the interstate commerce commission denying to the carriers the right to advance the lake and rail rates from the East to Duluth and other Northwestern points.

The decision of the commission is made in two cases, one involving proposed advances in class and commodity rates from points in Trunk Line territory to the Northwest and the other involving advances in class rates from Pennsylvania and New York to Northwestern destinations.

The tariffs in question were issued some months ago and protests were immediately entered by the traffic commissioner of the Commercial club of Duluth, the Minneapolis Traffic association and the St. Paul Association of Commerce. Francis W. Sullivan and G. Roy Hall of the Duluth traffic commission attended the hearings at Washington on the proposed advances and presented Duluth's objections to the advances.

The interstate commerce commission in its decision holds that the railroads have failed to justify the proposed advances, and determines that the present basis of rates must be maintained for a period of at least two years.

Touching on the first case, the commission points out that the joint through lake and rail rates to the Northwest through the Lake Superior ports, from Central Freight association territory east of the Indiana-Illinois state line, including the Ohio river crossings, have always been constructed, theoretically at least on the combination local rates to and beyond the port of Cleveland, with the Pittsburg rate as a maximum.

"With the local rail rate up to the port we have no concern here," said the commission. "It is the change in local lake-and-rail rates to the West from Cleveland that has occasioned this controversy.

"A few points adjacent to Lake Erie ports, other than Cleveland, have been exceptions to the general basis, those points taking joint through rates constructed on the lowest combination to and beyond the nearest port, of local rates to the Northwest; but in the tariffs under suspension, it is now proposed to make the through rates from these points by applying the Cleveland combination.

Theory of Rate Making.

"The theory has been that the lake-and-rail rate from both Cleveland and Buffalo to the Northwest were made on a relative basis with Chicago and the port-to-port rates from both Cleveland and Buffalo to Chicago were made on a definite scale of differentials under the all-rail rates from Cleveland and Buffalo respectively to Chicago, the rail and lake rates to Minneapolis then being constructed on a definite scale of differentials over the port-to-port rates to Chicago from Cleveland and from Buffalo. It is contended by the carriers that these differentials were departed from prior to 1911 because of the operation of the Rutland Transit line from Cleveland to Chicago, which set up its own scale of rates.

"During the operation of this line none of the boat lines controlled by the trunk line carriers made Cleveland a port of call. In 1907, the Rutland line ceased to operate from Cleveland. Subsequently, a boat line controlled by one of the trunk lines began to make Cleveland a port of call, and it not only accepted the scale of rates from Cleveland that the Rutland line had established and collected prior to retiring from that service, but it continued to maintain its scale for four seasons.

"In 1911 the local lake-and-rail rates from Cleveland were readjusted, and it is claimed that the boat line then re-established on the lake-and-rail traffic the scale of differentials as between Buffalo and Cleveland heretofore noted.

"The through rates were not changed at the time of the increase of the local lake-and-rail rates from Cleveland, and the purpose of the tariffs here suspended was to increase the through rates by applying the local rail rates up to the port as factors in combination with the lake-and-rail rates made in 1911 beyond the port.

Increase in Class Rates.

"As published in the tariff under suspension, the proposed class rates show an increase over the present rates, taking Minneapolis as a typical point of destination and Pittsburg, Columbus and Youngstown as typical points of origin.

"As explained by the carriers," the commission continued, "the increase in the through rates in the suspended tariffs will accrue entirely to the boat lines. But there is no contention that any need of more revenue on this traffic prompted the advances, and the fact that one of the interested carriers is to receive the benefit of the proposed increase is of course not conclusive of the reasonableness of the advanced rate.

"The carriers have presented no justification of the advances here proposed, but rely wholly on the propriety of lining up these rates to agree with the theory under which they are alleged to have originally been made."

The Second Case.

In the second case the carriers proposed to extend the Baltimore basis of rates to points in trunk line territory in Pennsylvania and Maryland. Heretofore the rates from that territory have been graded up to the Lake Erie ports.

"By tariffs that became effective Nov. 11, 1911, the respondents put in effect the present rates from Scranton and Williamsport to Minneapolis. It is alleged that they did this in order to line up those rates with class rates by lake and rail from Albany and Syracuse. It is also said that the reductions were made because certain all-rail reductions had been made from that originating territory to central freight association points.

"This is not made clear on records. The respondents admit, and the history of the rates shows, there has never existed any relation between the lake-and-rail rates from this territory to the Northwest and the all-rail rates from the points of origin to points in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

"The only other contention is that it was not until after the reductions in the rail-and-lake rates became effective on Nov. 11, 1911, that discovery was made that the new rates, being the ones now in effect, put Scranton on a lower basis than Pittsburg. It is alleged by the respondents that by one route the higher rate charged from Pittsburg is in violation of the long-and-short-haul clause of the act.

No Need of Revenue.

"We attach very little weight to this suggestion because of the indirect and circuitous nature of the route through Pittsburg and for the reason that, on the general theory heretofore noted of grading the rates down to the Lake Erie ports, the rates from Pittsburg might well bear the slight reduction necessary to put them on the Scranton basis. Furthermore, the carriers do not contend that the proposed advances are in any way influenced by the need of revenue.

"The carriers put forward the additional suggestion that inasmuch as the rates from this territory were reduced after Jan. 1, 1910, and that the proposed tariffs do not advance the rates to the same level that was in effect on that date, the burden is not upon them to justify the proposed advances.

"Counsel for the respondents admitted upon oral argument that he did not advance this theory with confidence, and the commission can not accept this view.

"Upon all the facts of record we are of the opinion and mind that carriers have failed to justify the advances here proposed, and an order will be entered, requiring them to cancel the tariffs."

Decision Does Not Affect Duluth's "Big Case" in Any Way.

Traffic Commission Hopes for Decision in It at Any Time.

The lake and rail rate cases just decided by the interstate commerce commission leave Duluth just where it is now in relation to lake and rail rates, and the decision does not forecast what the result of Duluth's lake and rail case will be, according to G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club.

Mr. Hall said today:

"The cases just decided by the interstate commerce commission involving rates for transportation by the rail-and-lake route from Eastern points to Duluth and the Twin Cities covered only the reasonableness of certain advances in these rates which were proposed by the interested carriers.

"One case involved rates from points in the states of Pennsylvania and Maryland east of Pittsburg; the other covered rates from Pittsburg and points west in Ohio and Indiana.

"The commission suspended the tariffs carrying the advanced rates and proceeded to inquire into the reasonableness of the advances. They have now determined that upon the whole advances were not warranted, this decision being based upon the reasons offered by the carriers for making the advances.

"In the Duluth lake and rail case the question of the reasonableness of the rates from all of the territory east of the Indiana-Illinois state and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers was raised and also the discrimination in the rates to Duluth as compared with those through Duluth to the Twin Cities. The cases just decided probably have very little bearing upon the question of the reasonableness of the rates themselves to Duluth and probably none whatever upon the question of discrimination.

"This decision has the effect of continuing the present basis of lake and rail rates to Duluth and is of great importance to Duluth business interests, as any advances in the rates via lake to or from Duluth would have the effect of reducing our natural advantages, which arise wholly from our location upon the greatest inland waterway in the world.

"This decision in no way forecasts the commission's course in the Duluth lake and rail case now pending. It had to do only with the published advances, and the decision defines no new policy that would seem to indicate the character of the decision in our case. We are expecting a decision any day and are naturally awaiting it with interest."

REINDICT JOHNSON.

Chicago, May 1.—An additional indictment, amendatory of a previous indictment, was returned by the federal grand jury charging Jack Johnson, the negro prizefighter, with violation of the Mann white slave act. The indictment alleges that Johnson brought Belle Schreiber, "otherwise known as Mrs. J. Johnson," from Pittsburg to Chicago, Oct. 15, 1910, "for immoral purposes," and "in perpetration of a serious crime." The fighter was in court when the indictment was returned and immediately entered a plea of not guilty. His trial is set for next Monday.

HEARST SUED BY CITY OF NEW YORK.

New York, May 1.—The city of New York has begun suit against William R. Hearst to recover $30,000 to cover damages obtained from the city by Mrs. Margaret Shay after the death of her husband, a policeman, who was killed by an explosion of fireworks during a celebration on the streets ten years ago. The corporation counsel holds that the fireworks were being set off under the direction of a political organization controlled by Mr. Hearst, and that Mr. Hearst and not the city was responsible for the policeman's death.

"The Story of the Orange" shows the development of this fruit from the time that the small trees are planted until the fruit is wrapped for market. "Fifty Miles from Boston" is a Western story, with all of its scenes laid in Arizona, with cowboys, Indians and the old stage coach used consistently in a very interesting story. "Not for Mine," a Majestic comedy, telling the story of a young girl who is to be married, but after visiting her married sister decided that married life is not for her. A newspaper story, "The Girl and the Grafter," is done in an excellent manner by the Tanhouser company and a comedy of country people, entitled "Boobs and Bricks," an American film, is highly entertaining.

Tonight McIntyre and Heath will be seen at the Orpheum in their old time favorite sketch "The Georgia Minstrels."

For years McIntyre and Heath have been trying to get away from "The Georgia Minstrels," not because they don't like it, but because they fear the public is growing tired of it. But the public shows no signs of being weary of the old classic. The new sketches such as "Waiting at the Church" and "The Man From Montana" are received warmly enough, but the managers and the public still demand the old one. In voting contests which are held by the two comedians, "The Georgia Minstrels" is generally chosen as the act preferred, and the fact that the two comedians are now receiving more money for the old act than at any time in twenty-five years, shows that it still retains its popularity.

"The Georgia Minstrels" will be the bill tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night, and on Saturday the sketch for which the most requests have been received will be presented. The box office records indicate that "The Georgia Minstrels" will outdraw either of the other two sketches.

Boyle Woolfolk will present at the Empress today, Friday and Saturday, a comedy with music entitled "The Time, the Place and the Girl." During a run of 463 consevutive nights in Chicago this piece was received with such unequivocal approval by the theater goers of that city, that it not only ran this length of time but exceeded in point of attendance any play that has ever appeared there. The reasons for this unusual success are ascribed by the management to the fact that the authors struck a new idea in musical plays and developed it with unusual skill. It is a comedy with unique characters and unique situations. It would be interesting if there was not a song in it. But with a pleasant accompaniment of attractive music, vivacious dances and pretty girls introduced legitimately, it has all the attractive features of both musical and legitimate comedies.

MISS JESSIE HOUSTON,
With "The Time, The Place and The Girl" at the Empress.

Briefly, the story is that of a pleasant, whole-souled young "gambler," square as a die and on the level with everybody but himself, and with the descriptive name of "Happy" Johnny Hicks. He and his pal, Tom Cunningham, son of a rich man, get into trouble through a fight which Cunningham has in a gambling house, and are forced to flee to a sanitarium in the mountains to escape arrest. Here they both meet their fate—Hicks in the person of a pretty trained nurse, and Cunningham in that of the charming daughter of a thrifty farmer. All of these characters, and many others almost as interesting, and the complications ensuing are original and amusing to an extraordinary degree. The production is staged by Ned Wayburn, a master of his craft, and there is not a conventional singing or dancing number in the twelve numbers seen in the play. Thomas Wilfen will be seen as "Happy" Johnny Hicks.

WILSON OUTLINES 1914 CAMPAIGN.

Washington, May 1. — President Wilson, according to Democratic house leaders, has proposed a cooperative plan for conducting the congressional campaign of 1914 so as to have the national and congressional Democratic committees work together.

Development of this plan, it was said, was the main reason for postponing the scheduled meeting of the Democratic congressional committee. The president's idea is understood to be to bring about a welding of the forces of both committees so that each will have a definite line of work to carry out from now until the congressional nominations, and that there may be no opportunities for clashes of authority or misunderstandings such as have occurred in former years.

Woman's Realm

A collection procession wound its way through the city streets yesterday and today, headed by an electric automobile carrying Mrs. G Herbert Jones and Mrs. W. C. Winton, members of the board of directors of the Children's Home who were collecting the garments and articles for the rummage sale which will be held tomorrow and Saturday at 312 West Superior street. Following the automobile were open wagons carrying an assortment of donations ranging from rocking horses, sewing machines and lace curtains down to old shoes and carpet rags. Following a short distance behind was a professional old clothes buyer and a salvation army wagon collecting garments and furniture.

The store was a scene of much confusion yesterday with its piles of clothing of all kinds and hats, chairs, books, dishes, shoes, and odd pieces of furniture which were being assorted by women of the board into departments ready for fumigation before the opening of the sale tomorrow.

Many new garments and articles have been donated by stores and factories and the women aim to give things of value at a low price so that the sale may be a benefit to the purchasers as well as to the Home.

WOMEN WILL HELP.

Will Take Part in Memorial Day Services.

Memorial services in the school this year will be participated in by the members of the women's auxiliaries of the G. A. R. posts as well as the G. A. R. Spanish war veterans, citizens' staff and Sons of Veterans, who visit the schools each year.

The services will be held Thursday, May 29, in all public schools in the city and the general Memorial services will of course be held on Friday, May 30, Decoration day.

Rev. Ralph Jones of Chisholm is suggested as a speaker of the day and the usual parade and decorating of the graves will be arranged.

"There will be one change this year," said Capt. Pressnell, "and that is that at the dinner which is so kindly provided for those actively engaged in the program of the day by the women, only those holding tickets will be admitted. Last year there was a general rush and many who had taken no part in the ceremonies secured their dinner, crowding out the veterans. The members of the G. A. R. and their families, the Sons of Veterans, the Spanish war veterans, the citizens' staff and those who assisted will be furnished tickets."

BENEFIT CONCERT.

Members of Clan Stewart Enjoyed Real Teat.

Members of Clan Stewart, No. 50, O. S. C., and their families thoroughly enjoyed a delightful entertainment of music and dancing last evening at Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street, which was arranged by the benevolent committee of the clan for the purpose of raising funds to carry on work by this department.

An atmosphere of unity and sincerity is always felt at gatherings of the Scotch people and their programs are always heartily appreciated.

Chief Alexander Anderson presided and an interesting feature of the evening was the reading of an original poem, "My Violin" by R. T. Stafford who followed his poem by a solo played on a violin which has been a treasure in his family for over 300 years. The number was full of beautiful sentiment and was heartily applauded.

Philip Gordon Brown sang two numbers, "The Standard on the Braes o' Mar" and "A Wee Bit Land" to both of which he was forced to respond with encores, singing Grieg's "I Am A Scot," and another selection. A duet, "Barcarolle" from "The Love Tales of Hoffman" by Mr. Brown and Miss Glenn Bartholomew was also a popular number. Miss Bartholomew also sang as a solo number, "The Land o' the Leal" and was encored.

The Lavick brothers in a violin duet and Henry Lavick in a violin solo were pleasing and were heartily applauded responding with encore numbers. The song, "Elegie," by Miss Dorothy Close was accompanied by a violin obligato played by Henry Lavick, with Miss Helen Close accompaning. Mrs. P. M. Young sang two vocal numbers pleasingly and R. T. Stafford played Scottish airs on the violin which were effectively done.

Alexander F. Melrose added much to the pleasure of the evening with two character songs, "The Barrin' o' oor Door," with his daughter as accompanist joining in the chorus with her father. "Grandfather Sam" was also a popular song.

John Galbraith, popular for his impersonations of Harry Lauder, sang "I Love a Lassie" and "A Wee Deoch and Doris," being insistantly encored.

Selections on the bag pipes were played by Robert Mowbray and Kenneth McGregor with Ossian Macaskill drummer and after the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" by the audience an exhibition of Highland dancing was given by Miss Helen McLeod, James G. Elder, Robert Mowbray, Robert Tulloch and Ossian Macaskill.

Alexander Guthrie made a short speech thanking the performers for their entertainment and telling of the plans of the benevolent committee.

Accompaniments were played by Miss Lillian Macaskill, Miss Melrose, Miss Close, Miss Annabelle McLeod and Mrs. H. George.

Bartz-Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bartz of 515 Ninety-ninth avenue west, New Duluth, announce the marriage of their daughter, Grace to George Johnson of the firm of Johnson Bros., which took place Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at their home, Rev. R. J. Stenberg officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for a trip to Woodville, Minn., and will be at home at New Duluth after June 1.

Dinner for Visitor.

Mrs. A. W. Crawford of the Belvidere flats entertained at dinner last evening for Mrs. A. D. Rice of Houghton, Mich., who left for her home today after a visit here. Covers were laid for twelve at a table pretty with a centerpiece of carnations and ferns.

Quiet Wedding.

The marriage of Gunhilda Elmquist to Joseph Voldstridze of Willow River, took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of Rev. J. A. McGaughey, 2109 West Second street. He performed the ceremony at 4 o'clock. The attendants were Miss Hulda Wickstrom and Gust Swanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Voldstridze will reside at 18 East Sixth street.

ENTERTAINMENT AT HIGH SCHOOL

SARA RUTH BATES.

A program of readings by Miss Sara Ruth Bates, reader, of Minneapolis, has been arranged by the members of the classes of mathematics of the Central high school for this evening at 8 o'clock at the high school auditorium. Mrs. Charles Weyerhaeuser of St. Paul, formerly a resident of Duluth, who has been heard here many times in vocal selections, will assist Miss Bates with several songs with Mrs. Robins, also of St. Paul, as her accompanist.

Miss Bates has a widely known reputation as a reader of artistic ability and the recital this evening promises to be of general interest.

The proceeds of the entertainment will go toward purchasing pictures of noted mathematicians for the room of Miss Agnes E. Wells, mathematical instructor.

RUMMAGE SALE

Wait for the rummage sale given by the ladies of the Endion M. E. Church, Friday, May 9th, at 312 West First St.

Appreciate Duluth.

Duluth is receiving a little advertising as a city of good musical appreciation in a most attractive poster which Corinne Rider-Kelsey and Claude Cunningham are using for their work this season. Both of these artists appeared in Duluth in a joint song recital given as one of the artists' concerts of the Matinee Musicale last winter, and a criticism of that concert, appearing in the Musical American, has been used on these posters.

Farewell Surprise.

Mrs. A. Rienkie was pleasantly surprised yesterday afternoon at her home 215 South Fifty-seventh avenue west by a number of her friends, the affair being planned as a farewell party as Mrs. Rienkie will leave next week for Mankato to reside. She received two handsome pieces of cut glass and the afternoon was spent playing five hundred, the prizes going to Mrs. Roukie, Mrs. Bolan and Mrs. Rollins. The following guests were present:

Woman's Council.

The May meeting of the Woman's Council will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the library clubroom with the president, Mrs. W. H. Burris, presiding.

A report on the Civic Welfore exhibit will be given and some new business will be taken up beside the routine reports.

TALKS ON THE "SUPER-CITIZEN"

Dr. Raymond Phelan Gives Interesting Address at Farewell Banquet in His Honor.

To become the super-citizen, the ideal citizen of the future according to Dr. Raymond Phelan, principal speaker at a banquet given in his honor last evening at the Commercial club by the classes in social economics which he has been conducting in Duluth as a branch of the University extension work, one will live happily, usefully and artistically and will govern wisely and justly. To accomplish this the super-citizen will be one whose education is never completed, he will always be a neighbor to his fellow beings and will be a politician not only on election day and budget days, but on every day of the year.

Dr. Phean also spoke of the extension work of the universities and a series of toasts was given with Courtenay Dinwiddie acting as toastmaster.

Right Rev. Bishop McGolrick was the first speaker advocating the extension work as broadening and of value.

Mayor Prince pledged the guests the willingness of the city officials for cooperation in social work and the solving of social problems.

Rev. George R. Gebauer was also a speaker using as his theme, the word "Duty," saying that every citizen should be trained to do duty at all costs.

Eugene Van Cleef of the Duluth normal school suggested a course in geography under the extension course next year and H. O'Conner of Superior, who is in charge of the extension work of the University of Wisconsin, there promised the co-operation of Wisconsin in anything that Minnesota may do.

B. C. Wade of the Y. M. C. A. responding to the subject, "Wise and Otherwise" brought up the need of proper care and the working out of systems for bringing up boys and girls and R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of schools advocated the development of the social centers as rapidly as possible.

Charles S. Mitchell said that extension work is doing for adults exactly what the schools are not doing—that they are giving the people an opportunity to study what they want to.

Miss Jean Poirier voiced the appreciation of the class in the work of the course this year.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Many Wives Fail in Their Duty to Husbands.

Isn't it possible for a woman to be an equally good wife and mother? I heard a woman declare that it was not—that when the time came every woman would find that she must sacrifice something to one side or the other. If a woman must be remiss in one, I presume it is better for posterity that she err on the side of being a devoted mother, yet the question arises with love in her heart for both, why should she not encompass both?

Most women fail, not so much in their duty to their children, as to the husband and father. That we all see, that we all readily excuse because children are a constant care, calling for repeated and ever increasing sacrifice, and because if only they shall received devoted mothering, we are pretty consistently of the opinion that this gradual divergence of interests between husband and wife, if not natural, is then something that cannot be helped, save in exceptional cases.

A woman who must be exceptional comes to mind as I write, though she would deny the allegation. The truth remains, however, that she is a good mother to three sturdy little sons, assigning herself their mother, companion and confidant; that she is an able housekeeper on an executive as well as a working basis and that she is a very great help and inspiration to her husband and also his companion, much as she was before the little boys came to encroach upon her time and ministerings.

When I attempt to study her mid her modest surroundings subject to the same perplexities that affect most wives and mothers, I have invariably come to the conclusion that she has succeeded because she is such a superbly natural mother. She has the mother instinct for every one. Combined with this is the desire to keep young, to progress and keep in touch with human events.

She has also made it a point to dress becomingly and daintily, as much that her children might be delighted and the gainers by her example as that her husband should find her charming and a woman to take pride in. Most women lavish every cent upon their children and make the cost of dressing them and the care of them their excuse for very plain, if not actual slack and dowdy attire. This is not fair to children, husband or wife. It teaches the first to be selfish oftentimes, and is a source of chagrin and disappointment to the husband.

Saves Auto; May Die.

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—Risking his life to avoid running into a light automobile, Driver Tim Shea of Fire Squad No. 34 steered his truck into an electric pole and received injuries, which, physicians say, will result in his death. Fireman Neal Collins was seriously hurt and ten other firemen received painful injuries.

ELEVEN HURT IN BIG FOUR WRECK.

Middletown, Ohio, May 1.—Two men were injured, probably fatally, and nine other persons more or less seriously hurt when Big Four passenger train No. 25 ran head on into a freight train a few miles north of this city early today. The probably fatally injured are:

Hedge Hitchcock, fireman on passenger train, Columbus, Ohio, internally injured; and Louis Gumbinner of New York, concussion of brain and multiple bruises.

WILL REJECTED FOR BAD FORM.

New York, May 1. — The will of James Cooper Wheeler, an author, has been denied probation because it was not properly witnessed and failed to recite that it was his last will and testament. Wheeler died in Chicago last September after he had gone there to contest the will of his daughter, who died under unusual circumstances on a lake, leaving her estate to her fiance.

NATIONAL BANKS' DEPOSITS LESS.

Washington, May 1.—Reports of the condition of national banks in response to the call of the comptroller of the currency on April 4, show a large increase in loans, but large losses in cash and deposits as compared with the previous call on Feb. 4. The loans increased $53,067,213; the cash decreased $45,133,495; deposits decreased $16,645,250, but showed a gain since April 18, 1912, of $256,735,956.

The total reserve of the banks on April 4 was $1,475,797,674, or $36,226,298 above the amount required by law.

Aeroplanes Burned.

Hempstead, L. I., May 1.—Five of the big hangars on Hempstead Plains aviation field, where some of America's foremost aviators learned to fly were destroyed today by fire.

Five aeroplanes were burned and several aviators and mechanicians had narrow escapes when the buildings collapsed. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

PRINCESS FREE WITH HER KISSES

PRINCESS ILEANA.

How would you like to have a princess stop you on the highway and demand a kiss? Sounds like fiction, doesn't it? But that is just what happens to a good many Roumanians at Bucharest. However, the princess who takes these liberties with her grandfather's subjects is only a little girl—the youngest of the daughters of the crown prince. Ileana is her name and she was born Jan. 5, 1909. Her mother who was Marie of Saxe-Coborg and Gotha is a born flirt and Ileana comes by her coquettishness by inheritance. When Ileana receives the kisses she demands, she says: "I know why you kiss me. It is because I am so charming. Mother says so."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MAY 4.

Genesis xxxix, xl: Joseph Interprets Dreams.

CONNECTION.

We saw Joseph sold his brothers to the Midianite merchants who had been scouring the country for any thing they could sell to the rich Egyptians and now he is in prison in Egypt for the simple reason that he was a true man. The merchants sold him to Potipher, chief of police, and he won the respect and confidence of his master and was put in charge of his household affairs. Unknown to him, his master's wife became infatuated with him and shocked him by her brutal declaration of herself. When he resisted and insisted it would be a base betrayal of trust her love turned to hatred, and we know that reversed love is the worst kind of hatred. Her false accusations led her husband to put him in the king's personal dungeon. But there he displayed the same qualities that had won out everywhere and soon the jailer put him in charge of everything. Among the prisoners were the king's head baker and head cup bearer.

THE LESSON.

I.

"And the chief butler t ld his dream to Joseph, and said to him, In my dream, behold, a vine was before me; and in one vine were three branches; and it was as though it budded, and its blossoms shot forth; and the clusters thereof brought forth ripe grapes; and Pharaoh's cup was in my hand; and I took the grapes, and pressed them into Pharaoh's cup, and I gave the cup into Pharaoh's hand. And Joseph said unto him, This is the interpretation of it: the three branches are three days; within yet three days shall Pharaoh lift up thy head, and restore thee unto thine office; and thou shalt give Pharaoh's cup into his hand, after the former manner when thou wast his butler. But have me in thy remembrance when it shall be well with thee, and show kindness, I pray thee, unto me, and make mention of me unto Pharaoh, and bring me out of this house; for indeed I was stolen away out of the land of the Hebrews; and here also have I done nothing that they should put me into the dungeon."

1. SYMPATHY.—Joseph should have sulked and slouched and grouched in prison, because he was brutally treated and he should have felt ugly toward all the world, including the rest of the prisoners and especially the jailer, but he did nothing of the kind; he was so confident in the purpose of God to accomplish something for him and for others through him that he smiled and kept cheerful and helpful. He mastered himself; no, he was mastered by God and that gave him mastery of others. People instinctively reposed confidence in him. He had been given complete charge of all the prisoners and no man did anything without his consent. The prisoners felt no resentment but trusted him as a friend. He was a leader by nature and training and experience. When he went in where these "officers" were and saw them so sad and inquired its cause, they felt he was a friend and told him their dreams, knowing it would not do them harm and hoping he could help them.

2. HOPE.—He gave the butler hope. He had been getting information from these men about the conditions at the palace and that was giving him greater opportunity. All this adversity was an opportunity, as adversity always is. He was at school preparing for his life work, and was storing up treasures of skill and experience and knowledge. But all this power did not lessen his sympathy or his delicate tact, and especially it did not lessen his sense of dependence on his God.

He had hard luck with his own dreams and most of us would have lost faith in dreams and everything else. The Egyptians went by dreams as all Oriental people have always done. God has always treated people on the plane of their knowledge and experience and often given them indications of the future or of their duty in dreams. We could hardly expect Him to do that way with us.

Notice that Joseph's confidence in himself was based on his confidence in God who had given the dream and would interpret it. His confidence in himself and his forethought and kindness and tenderness were all nurtured by that faith.

3. SELF-RESPECT. — Joseph never consented for a moment to confess to wrongdoing and he lost no opportunity to show that he was there unjustly. His confidence that God would defend and use him for high purposes did not keep him from watching for every chance to set himself right and get out of the prison. He didn't depend on God to do for him what he could do for himself. So he asked the butler to remember him and try to help him get out, but that butler was released in three days and forgot all about Joseph.

II.

The Dream of Death. 16-23.

"And when the chief baker saw that the interpretation was good, he said unto Joseph, I also was in my dream, and, behold, three baskets of white bread were on my head, and in the uppermost basket there was of all manner of baked food for Pharaoh; and the birds did eat them out of the basket upon my head. And Joseph answered and said, This is the interpretation thereof—the three baskets are three days; within yet three days shall Pharaoh lift up thy head from off thee and shall hang thee on a tree. And the birds shall eat of thy flesh from off thee. And it came to pass the third day, which was Pharaoh's birthday, that he made a feast unto all his servants; and he lifted up the head of the chief butler and the head of the chief baker among his servants. And he restored the chief butler unto his butlership again; and he gave the cup into Pharaoh's hand; but he hanged the chief baker, as Joseph had interpreted it to them. Yet did not the chief butler remember Joseph, but forgot him."

1. DISAPPOINTMENT. — When the baker heard that the butler's dream of the vine and the three branches meant that in three days he should again press the juice from the grapes and offer them to his master, he told his dream of the three baskets of bread of foods on his head from the top of which the birds ate the food, and he, too, hoped for a favorable interpretation. The court baker was an important person. He was an artist able to make all kinds of delicacies for the king and he must be trusted, too, as it was easy to put poison into the food. They kneaded dough with the hands, but when it was made in such large quantities it was kneaded with the feet. The baker was doomed to disappointment.

2. FIDELITY.—It hurt Joseph to tell the man his dream meant that in three days the king would lift up his head as he would that of the butler, but would lift it with a rope, the other end of it tied to a tree. It was a hard fate. The birds would eat his body and that was a dreadful doom to an Egyptian. We know how they tried to preserve the bodies of the dead, so that when their souls returned after 3,000 years of wandering they could re-enter their old bodies again, as their religion taught them, and begin a new existence.

3. FORGOTTEN.—The baker was killed as foretold and the butler was freed. Joseph had based his request for help in getting out on the ground that he was unjustly imprisoned and had been unjustly sold into Egypt, or "stolen" as he called it. He blames no person and thereby shows he is free from vindictiveness. Why did the butler forget him? Selfishness, or fear of being punished by the king, or a busy mind, or self-importance that regards all kindness as his due—one of these may have been the reason.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

In Oriental countries, as a general rule, there is not that disgrace connected with imprisonment as in other countries. The prisoner is generally regarded as an unfortunate man, most probably innocent of the crime imputed to him, but whose fortune may at any time change, and the prisoner of today may be the court favorite tomorrow. Hence it is very common for prisoners to confide in one another and to promise mutual aid, whoever first obtains his liberty being pledged to use his influence for the release of the other. Unfortunately, it is also very common for feeble human nature to forget in the day of prosperity the promises made in the adversity.—Long.

The prison is light when God is there, and chains do not chafe if He wraps His love around them. Many a prisoner for God since Joseph's time has had his experience repeated, and received tenderer tokens from Him in a dungeon than ever before. Paul, the prisoner, John in Patmos, Bunyan in Bedford jail, George Fox in Lancaster castle, Rutherford in Aberdeen, and many more have found the Lord with them, and showing them His kindness. —Maclaran.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1.—Why do the innocent so often suffer for the sins of others?

2.—Why are one's sufferings an opportunity to serve?

3.—Why does confidence in God require kindness to men?

4.—What are the advantages of cheerfulness in adversity?

5.—What is the special sin in ingratitude?

SEASON FOR PIKE OPENS

Fish Have Been Spawning in St. Louis River for Two Weeks.

Season for Black Bass Will Not Open Until June 1.

The season for taking pike in Minnesota opens today.

June 1 it will become legal to take black bass from the rivers and lakes of the state. The trout season opened April 15.

The pike have been running up the St. Louis river for about two weeks, seeking their customary spawning beds. Some have been taken with nets, out of season, but the number has not been very great.

A few of the more enthusiastic anglers will get out with their tackle today to try their luck, but the big parties will not be out until Sunday. Should the weather be favorable the river and bay will be dotted with fishermen. The pike fishing is not liable to be at its best for a week or two to come, however. The fish will not bite well while spawning but when that is over they will strike in a manner that sends the thrills shivering through even indifferent disciples of Izaak Walton.

No big catches of trout have been reported thus far this season. In isolated cases fisherman have come back with a fair showing in their creels, but as a rule the streams have been found too high and the water too cold for successful trips after the speckled beauties.

Duluthians do not have the fighting black bass within as convenient reach as the pike or the trout. They have to go much further for them. There are one or two lakes which contain bass within a day's trip, but they are not generally known. Those who are familiar with them are not advertising them as it would be but a short time before they would be fished out. The most common places are the lake district in the upper part of Itasca county and the lakes about Deerwood. Both of them are ideal and offer good sport.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

THE policemen of Lowell, Mass., are to be schooled in the primary knowledge of physicians and lawyers. Members of these two professions are to give the police daily lectures so that they may be able at all times to give first aid to the injured and to decide without consultation, such matters as "When does a man's home constitute his castle, and when does it not?" This is the order of Mayor O'Donnell, who adds that he is going to have moving pictures taken of the police in their workaday duties, and of the firemen as they answer their calls. These pictures will be shown in the local theaters for the purpose of making the public familiar with the arduous work of the men in uniform and of creating a popular sentiment in their favor.

Police regulations which are to be put into effect in Berlin April 13 will bar whistling and cane swinging and prohibits persons walking more than three abreast on the streets. Copies of the regulations include these and other unusual restrictions, as follows: Persons may not walk more than three abreast or stop or congregate for any extended period of time. Persons with umbrellas or walking sticks must not carry or swing them in any manner likely to imperil the safety of passers-by. No windows or doors of houses, flats, shops or restaurants in which music is being played may be kept open. No whistling, singing, shrieking, shouting or loud talking of any kind likely to endanger the quiet of the streets is to be permitted. Teamsters in charge of wagons, trams or trucks loaded with resounding metal of any kind are forbidden to drive in a manner calculated to cause nerve-shattering noises. No paper, remains of fruit, cigars or cigarettes may be thrown into the streets. The dragging of clothes of any kind—women's dresses or anything else capable of producing dust—is prohibited.

Lectures have been proposed for the Duluth policemen upon several occasions in the past but they have never been started. The men will soon be supplied with indexed pamphlets containing all ordinances they are expected to enforce. They will be instructed to familiarize themselves with the requirements. Present ordinances are ample to prevent congregating on the sidewalks as well as noises which disturb the peace. The dragging of clothes, including women's dresses, is not liable to be prohibited for a long while to come, although past campaigns have done much to eliminate the practice, considered decidedly insanitary.

BANKS MUST PAY INTEREST

Secretary McAdoo Revolutionizes Fiscal System of Nation.

Also Modifies Restrictions on Securities Demanded of Banks.

Washington, May 1.—The fiscal syste of the United States governing deposits of Federal funds in national banks, has been revolutionized by Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department with an announcement that all government depositaries, whether active or inactive, will be required to pay interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum beginning June 1, upon deposits of the government.

Simultaneously with this action, the secretary authorized an immediate increase of $10,000,000 in government deposits in the national banks, making the total $52,649,964, from which the Federal treasury will earn, under the new interest order, $1,053,000 annually.

There are indications that Secretary McAdoo intends to place still more surplus money from the treasury vaults in general circulation through increased deposits with the national banks.

Statement by McAdoo.

In a statement he said:

"With the banks paying interest on government deposits, the secretary may be justified in keeping larger balances in the national banks, thereby increasing the volume of money in circulation, and to that extent reducing the amount locked up in the treasury."

Mr. McAdoo also announced a radical change in the character of securities which the treasury department would accept for government deposits. Instead of requiring that the national banks secure treasury deposits exclusively with United States or provincial government bonds, they will be allowed in the future to secure 70 per cent with government bonds and the remaining 30 per cent with high-class state, city and county bonds, acceptable to the secretary of the treasury, to be taken as security at 75 per cent of their market value, but not to exceed par.

Overthrows Precedents.

This is the first time in history that the treasury department has called upon the banks to pay interest on what are known as active deposits or accepted, except in periods of financial stress, security other than government bonds.

Active depositaries are those which conduct a checking account for the government, cashing checks of the disbursing officers and replenishing their authorized government deposits from customs and internal revenue receipts deposited with them.

There are 900 inactive depositories, each holding government funds. For years there has been agitation in and out of congress to assess the national banks' interest on their government deposits.

Secretary McAdoo declared he did not anticipate any serious resistance on the part of the banks to the new policy.

POLICEMAN IS DISCHARGED

Chief Troyer yesterday afternoon summarily discharged Patrolman Wilfred Grandmaison from the Duluth police force. His action had the approval of the commissioner of public safety.

Grandmaison was found in the saloon at 721 West Superior street at 1 o'clock yesterday morning by other members of the police force. The policeman was tilting the lid all by his lonesome. The puzzle was explained when it developed that he had been furnished with a key by the bartender, who told him to help himself whenever he got dry, it is claimed. The policeman has been disciplined in the past for alcoholic indulgences.

Grandmaison would have completed fourteen years on the force had he served until today, having been appointed May 1, 1899. He is the first policeman to be discharged since the commission form of government became effective.

MINING MEN VISIT CUYUNA

Representatives of Furnace Interests Impressed With New Mines.

Several out-of-town men interested in iron ore and its smelting were in the city yesterday on their way back from a tour of the Cuyuna range. They had taken the tour under the guidance of W. H. Locker and E. J. W. Donahue, and the party consisted of J. N. M. Shimer of Shimer & Co., Pittsburg, Pa.; W. W. Wilkins, general manager of the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company of Ashland, Wis., and E. E. Marshall of New York, representative of furnace interests of the East. On the Cuyuna they visited the Kennedy mine, the Thompson mine, the Armour mines, the Cuyuna-Duluth Iron company's Ironton mine, the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine, the Williams-Carlson property, the Mangan Iron & Steel company's property and the Pennington mine.

The Easterners expressed the opinion that Eastern interests have no idea of the extent of the tonnage available on the Cuyuna range and especially of the manganese feature in connection with it. They predict a great future for the range. During their stay Mr. Shimer contracted for 20,000 tons of the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs ore for the Bethlehem Steel corporation, and Mr. Wilkins contracted with the same mine and with the Cuyuna-Duluth for tonnage for the Ashland furnaces.

Mr. Shimer a few months ago made the largest ore contract ever made in the United States. He sold to the Bethlehem Steel corporation 100,000 tons of Chilian ores, which the corporation will put on a line of steamers which will come through the Panama canal.

Negro Boy is Firebug.

Kansas City, Mo., May 1.—Ivy Nelson, a negro, 16 years old, was arrested as he was in the act of setting fire to an open air theater here. Part of the stage was destroyed by the blaze. The boy admitted that he had started two fires earlier in the day. He said he liked to watch the fire companies make a run. He was given into the charge of an inspector of the insane.

Heavy Snow in Canada.

Winnipeg, May 1.—A heavy fall of snow was general throughout Alberta province yesterday, according to reports received here. Farm work, as a result was retarded. Seventy-five per cent of the spring wheat in Southern Alberta is reported to be above the ground.

Signals of Distress

Duluth People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them.

Disordered kidneys give many signals of distress.

The secretions may be dark, contain sediment.

Backache is often present day and night.

Headaches and dizzy spells may occur.

Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Duluth evidence proves their worth.

Mrs. T. Vint, 116 Twenty-sixth St., W., Duluth, Minn., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and have found them very good for my kidneys. I had often read in the newspapers how Doan's Kidney Pills had cured Duluth people of kidney complaint and I gave them a trial. They cured me of backache and pains in my sides and made me feel better in every way."

A New Method of Baking Cakes

Mrs. Nevada Briggs, the baking expert, says:

"There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and evenly—give them time to rise before a crust is formed and the batter is stiffened by cooking."

"If using a gas, gasoline or oil stove, light your oven when you put the cake in and keep the flame low until the cake has doubled in bulk; then increase the heat until it is evenly browned and will respond to the pressure of the finger. If using a coal or wood range, leave the oven door open until the cake is in; then turn on the drafts and by the time the oven is at baking temperature, the cake will have raised sufficiently."

For rich, moist, feathery cakes Mrs. Briggs always recommends

KC BAKING POWDER

It is double acting and sustains the raise. You can open and close the oven door, turn the tin around in the oven or do anything else necessary, without any danger of making the cake fall.

Try your favorite cake next time with K C Baking Powder and see how much higher it will rise. Make it just as you always do, with the same quantity of baking powder. While K C is less expensive than the old fashioned baking powders, it has even greater leavening strength and it is guaranteed pure and healthful.

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescription can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Mason" writes: "For years I have been taking medicine to cure constipation, liver trouble and the usual diseases that come from that source. Headaches, sallow skin, kidney trouble, dark spots before my eyes, dizzy spells and twinges of rheumatism are getting worse."

Answer: Take three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). They are packed in sealed tubes with directions and are convenient, effective and highly curative for such ailments as arise from chronic constipation. If you are dyspeptic, also take tablets triopeptine.

• • •

"MRS. A. D."—Incontinence of urine can be cured by using the following: Tincture cubebs 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic 2 drams and comp. fluid balmwort 1 oz. Give from 10 to 15 drops in water one hour before meals.

• • •

"Oma W." writes: "I have suffered with catarrh of the head for many years. This has become so bad that it has affected my blood, also my stomach and bowels to a very great extent. I shall appreciate an immediate answer as I suffer greatly."

Answer: I would advise you to purchase a 2 oz. package of Vilane powder; take one-half teaspoonful of the powder and add to this a pint of warm water, snuff the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils several times a day. Make a catarrh balm by mixing one teaspoonful of powder with one ounce of vaseline, or lard will do, and apply as far up the nostrils as possible. For the stomach, bowels and blood I would recommend the following tonic: Syrup sarsaparilla comp., 4 ozs., comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., and 1 oz. of fluid ext. buchu. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

"Gloria" writes: "I would like you to prescribe a good hair and scalp treatment. I am bothered with itching scalp and dandruff. My hair is faded and falling and none of the remedies I have tried have done any permanent good."

Answer: Go to your druggist and obtain a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow Minyol. Apply as per directions. This treatment differs from all and I have actually seen the astonishing transformations which result from its use. The dandruff and itching are cured with two or three applications, while it makes the hair glossy, wavy and full of intense natural color.

"Myrtle" writes: "Owing to my extreme thinness I am frequently embarrassed by slighting remarks of young people. Can you prescribe a safe remedy to increase my weight?"

Answer: I have so many gratifying reports from the users of three grain Hypo-Nuclane tablets that I have become to regard these valuable little tablets as a specific and prescribe them to all who are aenemic, thin, wasting, nervous and debilitated. I recommend that you begin their use at once and continue regularly until your system is able to assimilate the fatty elements of your food; then you will grow plump and have plenty of red blood, with color in your complexion and bright sparkling eyes of health.

"Sick M. G." writes: "I have been affected for some months with rheumatism and have taken much medicine in vain. Please give prescription that will cure."

Answer: The most efficient prescription I have ever given for rheumatism is: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half ounce; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., and syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and at bedtime.

• • •

"Farmwife" writes: "You once recommended a home-made cough syrup. I tried it and found it the best cough and cold syrup that I ever heard of. It was so prompt in relieving the severest coughs and colds and a pint bottle made at home lasted so long that I have forgotten the ingredients. Kindly publish again."

Answer: The splendid laxative, home made cough syrup is made by mixing a 2½ oz. bottle of concentrated essence mentho-laxene with a home-made sugar syrup. Directions on the bottle tells how make and use. It is a fine, cheap remedy.

• • •

"Johnson" writes: "I am bothered greatly with indigestion. Things I like to eat nearly always cause a heavy ill-at-ease feeling in my stomach, and my breath is bad, while I am nervous, irritable and frequently cannot sleep."

Answer: A very excellent treatment which is widely prescribed for its gradual curative action, as well as the instant relief it affords, is tablets triopeptine, packed in sealed cartons. Take a pink tablet after breakfast, white tablet after dinner and blue tablet after supper. Continue and the curative agencies will soon restore natural digestion.

• • •

"Mrs. M. C." writes: "I am recovering from a long illness, but am very weak, nervous, sleepless and have little appetite. Can you give me a good tonic restorative treatment?

Answer: Have the following prescription filled and take a teaspoonful before meals: Syrup of hypophosphites comp., 5 ozs., tincture of cadomene comp., 1 oz. (not cardamom). Mix and shake well before using. This is a fine nerve tonic and system tonic for old and young.

• • •

John K. Mc asks: "Don't you think it is wise to take medicine to reduce my weight? I weigh about 55 pounds too much."

Answer: I do think so; and a very convenient and effective flesh reducer is sold in sealed tubes with full directions for home use. It is called 5-grain arbolene tablets, and any well-stocked pharmacy can supply them. They are safe and reliable.

BUT THREE WOMEN IN PENITENTIARY

North Dakota's Prohibition Laws Believed Responsible for It.

Bismarck, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are only three women prisoners in the state penitentiary and until recently there was only one. It is said that North Dakota has the smallest number of women violators of the law of any state in the union. This is attributed to the fact there are no saloons in North Dakota and consequently a smaller percentage of women of low character than in states where saloons are authorized under the law.

This makes it less likely that crimes occur in which women are participants. One of the women in the penitentiary was sent up for manslaughter and an effort will be made to secure a pardon for her. The other two were recently convicted on charges of white slavery.

FIRES CHECKED ON RESERVATION

One Settler on Fond du Lac Reserve Loses All His Buildings.

Cloquet, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several brush fires were burning not far from the city yesterday, and Indian Agent Cross went out on the reservation and with a party of settlers helped check a fire that started near the James Shotley place. Forest Ranger Percy Vibert was working with a crew of men north of the city, on the north side of the St. Louis river in a closely settled farming section. One farmer by the name of Tribbey lost all his belongings.

CONTRACTORS HELD LIABLE

Roseau County Ditch Builders Must Pay for Bridge Flood Damage.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1.—Contractors constructing drainage ditches Nos. 1 and 95 in Roseau county, are liable for the damage done to bridges by the recent floods in that section according to a ruling made by the attorney general's office.

The contractors contended the state drainage commission would have to appropriate additional funds for the repairs, but it was held that as the bridges had not been completed, the builders are responsible.

The firms involved are Foley & Gleason of Aitkin and the National Drainage company of Alexandria.

DROWNS GETTING DUCK.

Big Bay, Mich., Man Loses Life Falling Off Log.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 1.—Coroner Prin has returned from Big Bay where he investigated the drowning of Roy Crawford, aged 20, who lost his life while hunting ducks a few days ago.

After Crawford had shot a duck he tried to get it by "walking" a log, which was lying on the shore, to the point where the bird floated 1,000 feet out in the lake. When he finally reached down for his quarry he slid off the log and into the water. Several persons on shore witnessed the accident and made every effort to save him, but before they could get a boat he had disappeared. Several hours afterwards the body was recovered by the use of pike poles.

The young man is survived by but two relatives, his mother, with whom he lived at Big Bay, and a sister in Boyne City. He was the sole support of his mother. Crawford and his mother had made Big Bay their home for two years.

TWO NEW BANKS WITH SAME NAME.

Charlson, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two sets of people have decided to start a bank here and each claims the same name. A notice was recently filed with the register of deeds that A. I. Volkmann, E. F. Volkmann, and B. H. Edminsted of Fessenden had secured a charter for the organization of the First State Bank of Charlson. An application had been filed by Messrs. Livedahl and Everson of Ray and Charlson, and Benson of Charlson, for a new bank with the same name.

Summer School at Velva.

Velva, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The summer school for Mountrail, McHenry, Ward, Renville, Bottineau and Burke counties will be held in Velva again. Some times Velva had it and again Minot. It was thought because the school was held here last summer that probably Minot would win this year, but the heads of the different county educational matters were so pleased with Velva they are coming again.

TAX EXEMPTION

North Dakota Lessens Furniture Tax Burden on Poor.

Bismarck, N. D., May 1.—Under the new law enacted at the last legislative session the poorer people of North Dakota will again receive an exemption on furniture. This will lessen the taxes from $2 to $4 on the poorer residents of the state and increase the burden on those more able to bear it.

Years ago there was an exemption on household furniture but that was eliminated and for some years every one had to pay whatever assessed by the assessor. Under the new measure, after the assessors places a valuation of from 25 to 40 per cent on the furniture and turns in that amount, the county auditor deducts $50 from each assessment over $50, no matter how large. This eliminates the poorer people.

ED SMITH GOES ABROAD.

Republican State Chairman Is Fatigued By Legislative Activities.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 1.—Edward E. Smith, chairman of the Republican state committee and chief adviser to Governor A. O. Eberhart, left with Mrs. Smith Tuesday evening for Europe, where they will spend the summer. Mr. Smith was fatigued by the activities of the legislative session and takes the journey on account of impaired health, expecting to spend much of the time at Carlsbad and other watering places.

NORTH DAKOTA SEEDING IS MAKING PROGRESS.

Fargo, N. D., May 1.—Seeding has progressed rapidly during the last three or four days, and the hot winds of the first three days of the week dried off many fields upon which the farmers had been unable to go before. All the lowlands in the eastern part of the state have been seeded. As a result of the work being practically completed in this section many transient laborers have gone to the western part of the state where men are more in demand and higher wages are being paid.

LONDON, MINN., P. O. BLOWN BY YEGGMEN.

Albert Lea, Minn., May 1.—The postoffice safe at London in this county was blown by professional yeggmen Tuesday night. A wrench was used to screw off the handle of the safe and nitroglycerin was poured in the opening. Bolts of cloth muffled the sound and the burglary was not discovered until 7 a. m. Sheriff Subby notified all surrounding towns but no clue has been found. All stamps and money in the safe were taken, but the amount is not known here. The safe was wrecked.

DEMONSTRATION FARM

Will Be Established By Northern Pacific Near Cloquet.

Cloquet, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northern Pacific will soon have in operation a small demonstration farm about two and a half miles from Cloquet, on the farm of Ramsey Smith, on the state road to the experimental forestry station, and one of the finest farms in this section. The Northern Pacific has secured six acres along the road, and it will be used to demonstrate the value of various fertilizers to the soil in this locality. One acre will be planted without fertilizer, and the other five each with a different kind of fertilizer. Northern Pacific officials who visited the farms around Cloquet were greatly surprised at the possibilities in that line in this section.

SOME COMPETITION.

Implement Dealers and Farmers Testify in Harvester Trust Hearing.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 1.—Twenty-two farmers and implement dealers testified yesterday at the hearing of the defense to the anti-trust suit of the government against the International Harvester company.

Implement dealers from South and North Dakota, Minnesota and Iowa declared that they were not coerced into handling International products exclusively, and that competition of other companies was permitted them in purchasing their stocks of implements.

The government brought out, on cross-examination of witnesses, however, that from 85 to 100 per cent of binders, mowers and rakes sold in territory covered by these witnesses was of International manufacture.

BRUSH FIRES BURN AROUND COUDERAY.

Couderay, Wis., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Forest fires are burning at a number of places all along the railroad track through this section. So far no serious damage of any kind has been done, but if no rain falls for the next two weeks or so, it will be very dry, although the grass has started and there will not be any serious danger from the forest fires in this locality this spring. About twenty-five men were fighting forest fires near Crooked Rapids yesterday afternoon.

TWELVE INJURED IN MILWAUKEE COLLISION.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 1.—Twelve persons were injured, two seriously, when a work train of the local traction company crashed into an eastbound street car filled with passengers at Fourteenth and Villlet streets, Wednesday.

Mrs. Lockmeyer, 41 years old, and Charles Hartson, 27 years old, the most seriously injured, were taken to a hospital. The others received treatment at a drug store.

STATE OPERATES PLANT.

Marquette, Mich., Penitentiary Overall Contract Is at End.

Marquette, Mich., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ira Carley of Ingalls, E. C. Anthony of Negaunee and W. H. Johnson of Ishpeming, members of the state board of control are meeting at the state penitentiary here closing the deal by which the state will take over the factory equipment and stock of material of Schauer Bros., who have had an overall contract in the prison for several years past. The factory, in which nearly 200 men are worked, will hereafter be run on state account.

Pioneer Guide Buried.

Devils Lake, N. D., May 1.—William Gordon, pioneer guide of hunters in North Dakota, died at his home here and his funeral was held yesterday. He established the "Gordon pass" in 1882, known as a favorite hunting place of Louis W. Hill of St. Paul. Since then there has not been a year that Gordon has not headed a Hill hunting party.

ELECTRIC POWER FOR MINING WORK.

Marquette, Mich., May 1.—A. C. Harrington, manager of the Marquette County Gas & Electric company, intends to make several mining companies in the county proposals for furnishing them with electric power for the operation of their lighting and hoisting plants. The company's plant is capable of generating more than three times as much power as is now used. Mr. Harrington says the company is in position to furnish power for a number of mines and can give a guarantee of cheaper power than they can possibly secure through the operations of their steam plants.

The company is prepared to extend its lines to the extreme end of the county, if satisfactory contracts can be secured.

HIRING SOUND MEN.

Drastic Michigan Compensation Law Affects Munising Wage Workers.

Munising, Mich., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Due to the provisions of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation law, which has been found to be much more drastic than imagined at the time of its enactment, the managements of the various local industrial plants have adopted a policy of discrimination with reference to the labor they employ.

Alcoholics and the physically and mentally unfit have been put under the ban. Men of this class hereafter will not be employed knowingly and those who may now be on the payrolls will be weeded out. The official ruling that an employe is entitled to compensation even though he be injured because of carelessness resulting from intoxication or mental deficiency has caused the adoption of the new policy as a matter of self-protection. It has been held that irrespective of whether his own physical condition was primarily responsible for his inability to labor, an injured man shall receive compensation for the full time he is absent from work up to the maximum amount he may demand for such injury.

JUDGE STANTON TO ADDRESS GRADUATES.

Remidji, Minn., May 1. — Judge C. W. Stanton will deliver the commencement address of the Remidji high school. The exercises will be held May 29 and the baccalaureate sermon will be preached the preceding Sunday by Rev. S. E. P. White. Don Shannon will be valedictorian of the class as his average for the four years has been 89 per cent. Miss Anna Hedman, who had an average of 87 per cent, will be salutatorian. On Friday, May 16, the juniors will banquet the seniors.

Men Welcome Mother's Friend

A Duty that Every Man Owes to Those who Perpetuate the Race.

It is just as important that men should know of progressive methods in advance of motherhood. The suffering incident to child-bearing can be easily avoided by having at hand a bottle of Mother's Friend.

This is a penetrating, external application that relieves all tension upon the muscles and enables them to expand without painful strain upon the ligaments. Thus there is avoided nervous spells; the tendency to nausea or morning sickness is counteracted, and a bright, happy disposition is preserved that reflects wonderfully upon the charcter and temperament of the little one soon to come. You can obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at any drug store at $1.00. It preserves the mother's health, enables her to make a complete recovery, and thus with renewed strength she will eagerly devote herself to the care and attention which mean so much to the welfare of the child. Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 229 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their valuable and instructive book of guidance for expectant mothers.

GLADSTONE BANK CASE IS TRANSFERRED.

Escanaba, Mich., May 1. — Judge Flannigan has granted the motion of the defendants for a change of venue in the case of the people vs. David Hammel et al, in connection with the wrecked bank of Gladstone. The case has been transferred to Dickinson county.

Will Install Duluth Pastor.

Cannon Falls, Minn., May 1.—Rev. C. O. Swan will be formally installed as pastor of Emmanuel Swedish Lutheran church in Duluth on Thursday. Rev. P. A. Mattson, local pastor, and president of the conference, will make the charge to the minister and congregation.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Bismarck, N. D.—With a change in the police department in prospect, the new city commission has held two meetings and both times has adjourned without making any move. All other city officials were appointed at the regular meeting Monday evening. A fight is being waged against the present department chief, McDonald.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Miss Ina Currie has left for Madison, Wis., to attend the meeting of the National Self-Government association, which is to be held at the state university there the last three days of this week.

Williston, N. D.—In a letter to E. C. Carney, replying to an inquiry, Senator Porter McCumber says that the treasury department advises him that they expect to have plans completed and be in readiness to advertise for bids on the construction of the Williston Federal building some time next October or November.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Edna Rusche, the 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rusche of Skidmore avenue, died Tuesday. Pneumonia was the cause of her death. The funeral was held Wednesday.

Burlington, N. D.—Lightning struck a barn near Burlington and the barn, fourteen head of horses, six cows, several hundred bushels of oats and a lot of hay, all belonging to J. J. Booth, were destroyed.

Mandan, N. D.—The state bar association will possibly find it necessary to change the dates of their meeting, which was to be held at Mandan on Sept. 4 and 5, owing to conflicting dates with those of the national delegation meeting.

Stanley, N. D.—The Great Northern railway has ordered the three elevators at Stanley moved on account of putting in more sidetracks to take care of their growing business there.

Bismarck, N. D.—P. M. Connoby, who for a number of year has been parole field officer for the penitentiary, has resigned, and W. D. Dopkin of Flasher has been appointed in his stead.

Mandan, N. D.—The baby girl of Mrs. James Ford, who lives thirty miles south of Mandan, was poisoned from eating seed grain that had been treated with formaldehyde.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Milwaukee—Midwives of Milwaukee may organize a protective association to prevent losses through patients who fail to pay their bills, if the plan of Mrs. M. Heinen, president of a similar association at Racine, is carried out.

Marinette—The body of an unknown man found in the woods near Pembine, was buried today. It is believed he became lost and died from starvation.

Madison—Assemblyman Peavy returned from his home at Washburn where he went to arrange for the calling of an election for his own recall as mayor of that city. Mr. Peavey says that he called a mass meeting of citizens and that he was pleased with the outcome of his visit. The office is purely honorary.

Oconomowoc—John Williams, a farmer of Delafield, is dead as a result of burns received in trying to put out flames in the straw in his wagon box.

Madison—Eberhardt Keller, a harnessmaker of De Forest, confessed to State Fire Marshal T. M. Purtell that he set fire to the harness shop and dwelling of his competitor, R. H. Hansen, at De Forest. He was sentenced to serve four years at Waupun.

Racine—Judge Smedding sentenced August Brochat to ten days in jail, but gave him a respite until May 13, in which to finish his seeding.

Madison—Ransom a Moore, professor of agronomy at the University of Wisconsin, has been offered the post of assistant secretary of agriculture at Washington at a salary of $6,299 a year.

Marinette—When John Blovotsky, who was being held for an examination for insanity, was transferred from the county jail to a local hospital on Tuesday, he insisted on kissing each of the fifteen inmates before he would leave. As the prisoners include two not unattractive girls the authorities think Blovotsky is not as insane as other acts indicate.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Iron River—Some excitement was caused at Palatka by the discovery that the bakery firm of Nicolo & Visa had departed for parts unknown, leaving behind a number of good-sized debts. Those who have especially suffered are Calliari of Palatka, Fregetto of Stambaugh and Peter Dzanbazoff, caretaker at the Casplan clubhouse.

Negaunee—John Snowden, a well known Negaunee man who has been visiting in England since before Christmas has informed Negaunee friends that his mother, aged 70 years, passed April 2.

Calumet—Tony Orsolano, miner, 50 years of age, employed in No. 9 shaft of the South Hecla branch of the Calumet & Hecla mine, was instantly killed Tuesday morning. John Gastary and Joseph Losich were slightly injured. A skip had jumped the track in the shaft and had knocked loose a heavy timber guide, which fell down the shaft striking Orsolano, killing him instantly.

Marquette—The University of Chicago will, it is said, vote against any proposal to admit the University of Michigan to the Western Intercollegiate conference.

Houghton—The village council at its next meeting will be asked by the public schools to defray the cost of establishing two or more public bathing beaches for the youth of the village to be established and supervised by the schools, with Physical Director Wagner in charge.

Calumet — A sixty-page booklet has just been issued by the colonization department of the South Shore railroad, calling attention to the farming lands of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan and the opportunities that Cloverland presents to those desiring to follow the various branches of agriculture.

Hancock—The funeral of the late William H. Roberts took place at 2 Wednesday afternoon from the late home of the deceased, and from the Hancock Methodist Episcopal church. Henry Roberts, son of the deceased, arrived Tuesday morning from Arizona.

Calumet — Mrs. Henry Sullivan of Tamarack street, Laurium, has returned from Duluth, where she has been visiting relatives for some time.

Hancock—Ephraim Sanquist, the bartender of the Swanson saloon, who disappeared from town simultaneously with the vanishing of a sum of money from the till in the saloon, was captured Tuesday morning by Deputy Sheriff Vivian, after a search extending over the counties of Houghton, Baraga and Ontonagon. Sanquist, it appears, has been at Negaunee since leaving here.

Marquette—Frank Murphy, aged 24, a native of Marquette, died Monday of diabetis. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy of this city, he is survived by three brothers, Edward, Henry and Charles, the latter of this city, and three sisters, Mrs. Charles Gee of Youngstown, Ohio, and Mrs. Charles Kuhn and Mrs. Harvey Green, of Marquette.

Negaunee — The carpenters and masons are taking down the old Presbyterian church that was purchased by the school board for the site of the manual training building. It will take three weeks more to complete taking it down.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Ada — The Ada Commercial club is considering a county agricultural expert, who shall put in his whole time advising farmers. It has been decided to write the business men of all villages in the county to send representatives to a meeting to be held here to discuss means of raising funds to pay the salary of an expert.

Winona — Raymond A. Kent, superintendent of the Winona public schools, will be connected with the University of Minnesota during the coming school year. He has accepted an assistant professorship in the college of education of the state institution.

Waseca — This city is again a "wet" town. Seven saloon keepers were granted licenses today to sell liquor until July 1 and paid $500 each for the privilege. The Waseca city charter provides that all liquor licenses shall expire on June 30.

Bagley — F. S. Kalberg, owner and editor of the Clearwater Crystal, has sold a power press, paper cutter, and stapling machine to G. F. Jones of the Bagley Herald, and the report is that Mr. Kolberg is planning to sell out here and move West.

Bemidji — After five dogs were found dead and several more reported dying, a search was made in the vicinity of Doud and Dewey Avenue to find the cause, with the result that a large quantity of meat was found which was covered with strychnine.

Little Falls — Henry Souer met with an accident at the Pine Tree mill Tuesday morning which will probably result in the amputation of his left arm below the elbow. His hand was drawn into a chain and mangled in such a manner that every bone in the hand except one, and both bones in the arm, were broken.

Stillwater — The Rumely company is receiving additional orders for gas pull engines and a force of men are busy loading on cars for shipment. Two train loads were sent out Monday, one a train of thirteen cars with twenty-six engines, was sent to Winnipeg, and another train of ten cars with twenty engines, left for Brandon.

Brainerd — J. P. Saunders, the local forest ranger, is engaged in setting 11,000 young trees in the Pillsbury forest reserve of 2,000 acres situated eighteen miles west of Brainerd in Cass county, west of Gull lake.

Rochester—The members of the city council departed Monday night for their week's visit to Madison, Milwaukee, Oshkosh and La Crosse, to make a study of paving.

Moorhead — The Hopeman Construction company of this city has purchased outright the plant of the Chilson Concrete Supply company, located at Twelfth and Front streets, Fargo. The purchase includes the building, Northern Pacific leases, stock, tools, and machinery, with wagons and horses, and the Hopeman Construction company will operate the plant, thus giving the company a plant in this city.

Won Its Favor Without a Flavor

When you eat a breakfast cereal you want to do your own flavoring or seasoning. That's the reason you will choose for your morning meal. It is a natural, elemental food made of the whole wheat steam-cooked, shredded and baked a crisp, golden brown. It is not flavored or treated or compounded with anything and hence keeps indefinitely in the market—the standard cereal food eaten all over the world.

For breakfast heat the Biscuit in the oven a few moments to restore crispness; then pour hot milk over it, adding a little cream; salt or sweeten to suit the taste. It is deliciously nourishing and wholesome for any meal with stewed prunes, baked apples, sliced bananas, preserved peaches, pineapple or other fruits. At your grocer's.

Made only by The Shredded Wheat Company at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles and cures Constipation. It regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

CITY GARBAGE COLLECTION.

Dr. Webster, the new health officer,—or rather an old one returned,—announces that he will urge the installation of a municipal garbage collection system.

The Herald, which has urged this reform for years, is with him, and hopes the city commission and the public will be with him, too.

It will make garbage collection uniform, complete and systematic. It will make possible important saving in the cost of the service, and it will also make possible important profits in the way of utilizing valuable material in the city's waste which now is mostly lost.

Municipal garbage collection is a reform to which the new government may well give its earnest attention.

How the times do change! Time was when the secretary of war was the official peace angel.

PUBLIC BUSINESS AND PARTISANSHIP

Hugh T. Halbert, who is a sort of spokesman for the Bull Moose party in this state, approves the Underwood tariff bill and says everybody, no matter what his party affiliations, ought to get behind it and push.

That's interesting chiefly as illustrating a viewpoint all too uncommon among party men.

Mr. Halbert says the new bill is a consumer's tariff, and he's right. That's precisely what it is. And a consumer's tariff is what everybody—nearly—has been pleading for these half dozen years past. Therefore everybody—nearly—ought to be enthusiastic in his support of it.

But it is not so. As usual, everybody—nearly—is for a customer's tariff on the things he has to buy, and for a producer's tariff on the things he produces. Of course that makes it much less easy to produce what the country needs and what everybody—nearly—has been clamoring for so long.

Besides, there is altogether too much thinking in terms of party. Too many Republicans, just because they are Republicans, think it necessary to oppose the Underwood bill because it is a Democratic measure, and to do all they can to delay it and discredit it and defeat it. Too many Bull Moosers, just because they are Bull Moosers, are guided by the same false and unpatriotic lights.

Minnesota has acted wisely in ridding its legislative business of partisanship. It would be a blessing if congress, for once, could put patriotism and the instinct for justice above partisanship. Certainly, it would be a great help in tariff-making.

Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice has arrived to represent England at Washington. Here's hoping the gentleman fails to live up to his name.

PUTTING WILSON IN A HOLE.

A dispatch from Sacramento says that in talking with his "progressive" lieutenants Governor Johnson said: "To hell with President Wilson! Let's put him in a hole!"

We find it hard to believe that Johnson said it. It might be that the unspeakable Blease would say such a thing if the mood stirred him to do so, but the catalogue of possibilities ceases with him.

It is hard to believe that Johnson said it not only because it was an unpatriotic and indecent thing to say, but because Governor Johnson, as a vice presidential candidate on a ticket opposed to President Wilson, should be the last governor in the country to say it even if he thinks it.

It has been charged that Governor Johnson, in directing the anti-Japanese fight in California, has been in constant communication with Theodore Roosevelt, the creator of the party to which Governor Johnson belongs. It is known that Theodore Roosevelt loves disturbance and war. Nobody doubts that if he had been president this country would now be fighting Mexico, if the fight wasn't over. He fought President Taft's peace treaties, and as Taft did nothing more creditable than his work for peace, so Roosevelt has never done anything more discreditable than his sinister machinations against peace.

It is not pleasant even to think of the possibility that Roosevelt may be back of the California disturbance, and that its purpose is to make trouble for the president of the United States in order to work out some advantage for a political party. Nobody should believe such a thing until belief is inescapable.

But it is hard to harmonize the character of the facts behind the California agitation with the formidable character of what has grown out of it all.

The Japanese in California are said not to exceed two per cent of the population, and the number is not greatly increasing, if at all. The Japanese own, it is said, less than fifteen thousand acres in California out of a total land area of more than a hundred million acres—an acre in each six thousand. These figures are not alarming, and it is hard to trace the connection between them and California's mighty uproar.

And if it is anybody's intent to "put Wilson in a hole," we don't envy him the task.

Considering the sentiment of the country at large, it seems likely that Governor Johnson and the state of California are very much more in danger of getting into a hole than President Wilson and the United States.

Representative Sisson of Mississippi has been waving the bloody shirt in the face of Japan. Great Scott! Didn't the South get enough of war fifty years ago?

GOOD BUSINESS.

Secretary McAdoo, the upstanding business man and manager of big affairs whom President Wilson placed in charge of the treasury department, announces that after June 1 government depositories will have to pay interest on government money at the rate of 2 per cent.

This is so plainly a sound business move that it is a little startling to read that this is the first time in the history of the country that interest on government deposits has been required.

Banks receiving state deposits are glad to get it for the consideration of a moderate rate of interest. County depositories and city depositories also pay interest to the public. So should government depositories.

Another wise innovation announced by Secretary McAdoo is that 30 per cent of the securities furnished by government depositories may be in state, county and city bonds, the remaining 70 per cent to be government bonds, which are now required to the full amount.

It looks as though hereafter the banks will serve the treasury, instead of the treasury serving the banks, and this change is characteristic of the new order that came in with Wilson.

A while ago California was crazy to get a visit from some American battleships. Now she doesn't seem to care what flag they carry, just so they come.

CHEER UP!

The sugar raisers—and the sugar trust—are suffering keenly from an ingrowing conviction that lower sugar duties, with ultimate free sugar, spell RUIN.

Yet when the sugar trust, by artful juggling with the custom house scales, brought in vast quantities of sugar free of duty, the industry was not ruined, or even harmed—except morally.

Perhaps when the Underwood bill is a law, and the sugar duties are being reduced yearly with free sugar in sight, the sugar industry will bear up under it nicely.

Certainly ninety million consumers of sugar will find it easy to be cheerful under the infliction of free sugar.

If every day is Sunday in one section of the hereafter, probably in the other section every day is moving day.

The Voices of the Wood.

New York Post: To some people the trees talk—if you are to believe the people. They dare not try to put what they get into language, because they know that to do so will be to silence the trees. Living in cities they naturally get out of touch with trees, but put them back in the forest and, likely as not, they will be caught in a listening attitude, a listening and watching attitude. That little ripple up toward the topmost leaves that a painter would have to paint golden or liquid or both, if it were the impression he was after, delivers its message to the one who understands. That urgent sweep of the strong gray wind going westward communicates something to the trees and the trees pass it on—to the one who can hear.

"Take me back to the wood," said Jeanne d'Arc, "and I shall hear the voices."

The Flatiron Building Sways.

The Craftsman: There are many in New York who regard the Flatiron building not only from the standpoint of a curiosity but from that of beauty, as the eighth wonder of the world. In the top stories of this building the pendelum of office clocks sways so far over that it cannot come back of itself, only when aided by the return movement of the great structure. Ink is spilled from the wells with this ceaseless movement, for like the prow of a ship the "Flatiron" sways and gives with the elements.

Time Is Sometimes Kind.

Barnaby Rudge: Father Time is not always a hard parent, and, though he tarries for none of his children, often lays his hand lightly upon those who have used him well, making them old men and women inexorably enough, but leaving their hearts and spirits young and in full vigor. With such people the gray head is but the impression of the old fellow's hand in giving them his blessing, and every wrinkle but a notch in the quiet calendar of a well spent life.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE BLUE SKY LAW AND COPPER STOCKS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Now that our legislature has adjourned without passing the much-needed "blue sky" law regulating the handling of so-called securities representing shares in mining and other hazardous investment propositions, it would be well to inquire why the McGrath (senate bill) and Child's (house bill) measures were timed to be brought up at the eleventh hour and then so cleverly killed. "Slick work" probably explains it to the satisfaction of those opposed to regulation.

False quotations and fictitious sales published in one of our dailies mean nothing if they are not intended to fool the suckers and come-ons. Anyone acquainted with the local stock game knows that real transactions are few and far between, yet today's issue of a local paper carries the announcement that over 7,000 shares of stock changed hands on the curb on Tuesday. On investigation I find that those figures were furnished by one house that also furnishes quotations to "suit the occasion."

Some steps should be taken to stop this nefarious work. The special session of the legislature should enact a law drawn along the lines of the measure passed by the New York assembly making it a felony to engage in such practice.

Evidently the house furnishing the bald-faced misinformation referred to above believes that, in killing off the "blue sky" law, the legislature has let down the bars and invited all the scamps in the business to "go to it."

Yours truly,
ONE WHO WON'T BE FOOLED AGAIN.
Duluth, Minn., April 30.

A Court for Justice Only

Cleveland dispatch in the Milwaukee Journal: John Smith keeps a little grocery store. Among his customers is Mary Brown, a widow with three children. She works in a department store for $7 a week.

Usually Mary paid cash for her groceries, but a while ago she started a charge account. Her bill ran up to $10. John Smith pressed for payment. Mary asked for time. He decided to go to law. In almost any other city, substantially this would have happened:

An initial court fee usually of $4 or $5. Bailiff sent to Mary's home with a writ, a printed form with only a name or two filled in, but the bailiff would receive a fee for writing the writ, one for handing it to Mary or putting it under Mary's door, and mileage of five to twenty times the actual cost of his journey. Mary would appear, judgment be entered against her, her wages be attached and, under the rule prevailing in most places of employment, she would lose her job.

Now, this is what happened in Cleveland:

John told his story to the clerk of the "court of conciliation," a new branch of the municipal court, paid 50 cents for fees and was advised to "come in next Friday." The clerk turned to his typewriter, thumped out a brief note to Mary telling her of John's claim and advising her, too, to "come in Friday," and dropped this letter into the mail box, having first registered it.

Mary and John both stood before the judge—no lawyers, no jurors, no stenographers, no more court costs.

The judge asked Mary if she admitted the debt.

"I do, your honor."

"Then why not pay it?"

"I just pulled through before I ran this bill. Then baby got sick. The doctor had to be paid, because I never yet have taken charity. The doctor wrote a prescription and that meant money for the druggist. And the fact is that, though I've tried hard, I haven't yet caught up."

"Are you willing to sign an agreement to pay off this debt at the rate of $2 a month?"

Mary nodded assent. At first John was stubborn. But when the judge told him an attachment on Mary's wages would only get him a part of the claim, because she had only $7 coming, and would cause her to be discharged, throwing her three children into distress, the agreement was signed. Failure to keep it would leave the old way of justice still open.

This court of conciliation has been in operation a month. Its aim is to sift out from the regular municipal court the cases—about 60 per cent—which can be settled without a lawsuit. No lawyers are allowed before it. It saves perhaps 80 per cent of the present expense and gives both sides a full and fair chance to present its case without technicalities.

Startled the Monarch.

Tit Bits: On the first consignment of seidlitz powders in the capital of Delhi, the monarch became deeply interested in the accounts of the refreshing draught. A box was brought to the king in full court, and the interpreter explained to his majesty how it should be used.

Into a goblet he put the contents of the twelve blue papers, and, having added water, the king drank it off. This was the alkali, and the royal countenance expressed no signs of satisfaction. It was then explained that in the combination of the two powders lay the luxury, and the twelve white powders were quickly dissolved and as eagerly swallowed by his majesty.

With a wild shriek that will be remembered while Delhi is numbered among the kingdoms, the monarch rose, staggered, exploded, and, in his full agonies, screamed, "Hold me down!" then, rushing from the throne, fell prostrate on the floor.

There he lay during the long-continued effervescence of the compound, spueting like 10,000 pennyworth of imperial pop, and believing himself in the agonies of death—a melancholy and humiliating proof that kings are mortal.

A Solomon Come to Judgment.

Kansas City Journal: King Solomon had nothing on a Centralia justice of the peace before whom a colored man and brother was being tried for stealing a chicken. The prosecuting witness thought it was his fowl, but was not willing to swear. It being near sundown the local Solomon let the hen loose and watched her going home to roost. Result, the negro was fined $50.

Still Hope.

Lippincott's: Mrs. McGinty had waited long and patiently for her husband to come home on Saturday night with his week's pay. Finally, she decided to take the matter in her own hands, and she sallied forth to the police station to inquire if he was there.

"Is my Tim here?" she asked.

"No," replied the lieutenant; "but sit down; we're expecting him every minute."

The Cost of It

By Savoyard.

Washington, May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A year or so ago the country was startled by a declaration of Nelson W. Aldrich, who, perhaps, knew more about it than anyone else, that there was an actual waste in the conduct of the public business of our Federal establishment of above $300,000,000 per annum. That sum represents largely more than half the value of all the property of the state of Kentucky, real, personal and mixed, that was listed for taxation when Proctor Knott was governor of the "Old Commonwealth." And peradventure some boy may read this, and let him learn that of our sisterhood of forty-eight, there are only four "commonwealths"—Massachusetts and Pennsylvania at the North and Old Virginia and Kentucky at the South. All the rest are "states," except New York, where the writs run in the name of "The People." Recollect that, young fellow, it may aid you some time.

I was talking with a public functionary the other evening, a very intelligent man connected with one of the departments. Our theme was the public business, and I mentioned this statement of Aldrich.

* * *

My friend said the estimate was by no means extravagant, and then he cited these incidents that came under his observation, and he declared that they were only samples of ten thousand:

The army post at San Antonio needed 500 barrels of salt, or said it did, which is the same thing. That salt was purchased at Louisville, Ky., and shipped to San Antonio at a railroad freight charge of $1.25 a barrel. The salt could have been obtained in the city of San Antonio, within a stone's throw of the barracks, for less than the freight charges from Louisville.

* * *

Again—the San Antonio barracks needed a mule. That mule was bought in Kentucky, shipped to San Antonio, and a fellow was hired to go along and take care of the mule. His passage was paid both ways—"A-comin' an' a-gwine"—and it was perhaps the costliest mule even the American army ever bought, and that is saying a heap. Within a radius of ten miles of the soldiers quarters at San Antonio as good a mule could have been bought from any one of half a score of ranchmen at half the cost the American people paid for that mule.

And besides—"Ivory" soap sells for the same price in the largest metropolis and at the smallest hamlet. It is a standard article of domestic economy of universal consumption. The military post at Governor's Island, New York, wanted some Ivory soap. What was done? It was bought in St. Louis, Mo., and shipped to New York and the government paid the freight. About that time the garrison at St Louis, or somewhere out there, maybe Leavenworth, Kan., wanted some Ivory soap. What happened then? It was bought in New York and shipped to the West, and the people paid the freight.

You see money grows on trees here in Washington. The government gathers it, the railroads need it, and the paternal government makes business for the railroads in the way my friend narrated to me. It is but just to say that Secretary of War Dickinson saw some of this graft and socked the knife into as much of it as he was in reach of. But, lor, there must be team work—all public officials must work together to eradicate the graft.

It is estimated that the Spanish war cost $800,000,000 exclusive of pensions. Napoleon could have fought the war—Bismarck could have fought it—for $100,000,000. And it was a disgraceful war at that, an enterprise that no self-respecting government would have entered upon. If Tom Reed had been president Cuba would have been freed without the fire of a gun or the interruption of amicable relations with Spain.

To my mind there is no more fascinating story than that of Spain. It is a noble people, and to this day—and always, even before the momentous voyage of Columbus—there is a pride in the Spanish peasant that we cannot match in any state of our glorious Union. Priestcraft did its felon work, beginning when that lunatic Philip II was on the throne. I yield to none in my respect for the Catholic church, but I do wish Philip had never been born. He dragged Spain down from first place among the nations. What a pity he was not a Henry of Navarre!

There, I was talking about one thing and got off to another. But what would you have? Discussion is the spice of narration—read Don Quixote if you don't think so.

Mr. Morgan's Spectacles.

Manchester Guardian: A story of Mr. Pierpont Morgan, illustrative of the scale of his domestic affairs, reaches me. My correspondent was in a London optician's shop when another customer entered, and, striding up to the counter, brusquely inquired, "Can you make me another pair like that?"—presenting spectacles of the "goggles" type in tortoise-shell rims and gold frames. "Yes," said the optician, "I can." "Send them up to my place as soon as they're ready. You know who I am," were the laconic instructions given as the customer strode out of the shop as quickly as he had entered. The optician explained that that was Mr. Pierpont Morgan. The spectacles were delivered, and my friend, making inquiries in the matter, heard the end of the affair from the optician. Pierpont Morgan returned to the shop, and, speaking more effusively than on the first occasion, said: "Those spectacles were very good—very satisfactory, indeed. I shall want some more of them. I'm always missing my 'specs' after a change of clothes. Let me see (pausing and looking down on his waistcoat as if to interrogate it); I've eleven waistcoats—yes, eleven. Better make me a dozen pairs;" So a dozen tortoise-shell-rimmed and gold-framed spectacles were supplied to the millionaire, much to the satisfaction of the optician and rim-maker, who, between them, pocketed sixty guineas.

An Abridged Bible.

Gallipolis Tribune: An abridged Bible is being advocated—one that will contain only the vital parts of the great book, and that omits hundreds of pages of matter now not read at all except by students. No doubt such a Bible would become instantly popular, because it would all be interesting and to the point. In this age, none except students will wade through very long books. Everybody wants the truth boiled down to the very shortest space. The great story of the crucifixion is told in very few words, and all the essentials of the Bible for the average person could easily be covered in one-fifth the pages required for the whole work.

Not Yet Decided.

"Yes, sir—fiancee or sister?"

"Er—why—she hasn't said which she will be yet."

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

Still Young.

Princeton Union: The Duluth Herald is 30 years old and is becoming more frisky every day.

Well Covered.

Walker Pilot: Thanks to The Duluth Herald the legislature never experienced a chill during its entire session. It was well covered all the time.

Attracting Attention.

Crosby Crucible: The new commission government of Duluth is being watched with marked interest from all points—it being the first application of the commission law in the state—and it is already doing things that hold attention.

Right in Style.

Mahnomen Pioneer: Duluth has a new form of government. One of the features is a new lid that is said to fit tight and will keep its shape.

The Duluth Way.

Mankato Review: In Duluth the bartenders take the enforcement of the liquor laws in the right light and different from those of other cities.

Pretty Wise Now.

Menahga Journal: That man Hicken of the Duluth commission will know more about civic reform before he is many years older.

He Has the Throne, Though.

Good Start.

Sandstone Courier: The new commissioners at Duluth have started out in fine style and show that they have some opinions of their own as to how a city ought to be run. The lid has been clamped down tight, and if they receive the support of the people they will show to the world what a good, clean city is like. All hope that their efforts will be successful and that their good example will be followed by other cities where such reforms are needed.

Better Than Gold.

Better than grandeur, better than gold,
Than rank and titles a thousand-fold,
Is a healthy body and a mind at ease,
And simple pleasures that always please.
A heart that can feel for another's woe,
With sympathies large enough to enfold
All men as brothers, is better than gold.

Better than gold is a conscience clear,
Though toiling for bread in a humble sphere,
Doubly blessed with content and health,
Untried by the lusts and cares of wealth,
Lowly living and lofty thought
Adorn and ennoble a poor man's cot;
For mind and morals in nature's plan
Are the genuine tests of a gentleman.

Better than gold is the sweet repose
Of the sons of toil when the labors close;
Better than gold is the poor man's sleep,
And the balm that drops on his slumbers deep.
Bring sleeping draughts on the downy bed
Where luxury pillows its aching head,
The toiler simple opiate deems
A shorter route to the land of dreams.

Better than gold is a thinking mind,
That in the realm of books can find
A treasure surpassing Australian ore,
And live with the great and good of yore,
The sage's lore and the poet's lay,
The glories of empires passed away;
The world's great dream will thus unfold
And yield a pleasure better than gold.

Better than gold is a peaceful home
Where all the fireside characters come,
The shrine of love, the heaven of life,
Hallowed by mother, or sister, or wife.
However humble the home may be,
Or tried with sorrow by Heaven's decree,
The blessings that never were bought or sold,
And center there, are better than gold.
—Father Ryan in the Irish Standard.

Ten Commandments for Young Lawyers.

By Vice President Marshall:

2—Thou shalt not put before thee the god of money, to worship it, so that no fee can be large enough to cause thee to write a dishonest contract.

3—Thou shalt not take thy profession in vain, but teach thy clients to walk in the ways of peace.

4—Remember seven days in the week that thou shalt not chase ambulances, for a career is a worthy thing, and is not built in a moment.

5—Honor thy profession as thou dost thy sacred honor; and in so doing thou wilt not seek, nor confound litigation.

6—Thou shouldst not accept contingent fees.

7—Thou shouldst throw thy full weight against the allowance of counsel fees before the divorce cause has been brought to trial; for therein lieth the root of the divorce evil.

8—Thou shouldst use thy influence in favor of compelling one charged with a crime to testify in the cause; for the innocent man cannot thereby be harmed.

9—Thou mayest take the part of the admitted criminal; but not to bear false witness against thy neighbor, only to see that justice is performed, and tempered with mercy.

To Identify the Corpse.

Lippincott's: In the blanks which life insurance companies provide their medical examiners for use in recording the data of the examination of the applicant for insurance, they provide a space for personal marks which may be used to identify the insured after death. A Western company recently received a report from an examining physician with the following in the identification blank:

"He has a strong Cornish accent."

Six Men Defeated Fifty.

"A heroic encounter occurred on the Argyrocastro road, when a sub-lieutenant of cavalry, named Vouros, accompanied by five troopers, meeting a detachment of fifty Turks, attacked them, and after a fierce engagement twenty of the Turks were killed and the remainder made prisoners."

No Finger in Sausage.

Perham Enterprise: Joseph Meader, the butcher employed by Robert Weikert, says that his finger was amputated by a cog in the gasoline engine and not by the sausage machine, as stated in last week's Enterprise. The Enterprise regrets that it was misinformed.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Blindness does not deter Senator Thomas P. Gore from being a great lover of fine books. He is fond of books printed on high quality paper and handsomely bound. When he picks up a good book, he does it with an air little short of reverence. The fact that he cannot see it doesn't matter. All the time a book is being read to him he holds two or three more in his lap, caressing them almost as a child might caress a kitten. He thirsts for information, and just to have hold of a book that contains something he wishes to know seems to give him a sort of satisfaction.

* * *

When he has some one to read to him, as he does every night until 11 o'clock, he usually goes over to the bookcase and selects the books himself. He knows the exact location of half the books in his library—and it is a large library. Occasionally he will ask for a volume and nobody can find it. Then, like as not, he can go and find it himself.

* * *

He wastes no time on a book that does not fit his mood, and not infrequently he will listen to a dozen different works in the course of an evening. Maybe while listening to a book on the Panama canal he will think of Mill's essays and will ask the reader to switch to that. In that way he follows the line of least mental resistance, and with the book falling into his mood, he remembers it all the more readily.

* * *

All his office rooms and his study at home are piled high with all kinds of reports and pamphlets on practically every conceivable subject until the whole aspect of things is that of the morning after a young tornado, with the wreck undisturbed until the insurance adjusters arrive.

* * *

When it comes to newspapers, a half hour's reading will give the blind senator all he cares for. His secretary reads him the more important headlines and the index and the senator picks out one or two stories that interest him. He never reads anything pertaining to sports or any kind of police news, murders, suicides, and the like.

* * *

Before starting on a long journey alone, Senator Gore usually stocks up a suit case with about all the books it will hold, and trusts to luck to meet people on the trains who will read to him. In this respect he has little trouble. He runs across a surprising number of poor readers—business men who cannot pronounce words that they ought to know, and others who have no sense of inflection—but there are plenty who volunteer to read whatever he wants—though usually what he wants is something serious that doesn't appeal to the average traveler. Senator Gore has always had his best luck at bumping into good readers out through Iowa. But he says the best reader he ever met in his travels from coast to coast was a Pullman porter, a Jamaican negro.

* * *

Books, however, are relegated to second place as an educational factor in Gore's travels. He says he has learned more from people in the smoking compartments of Pullmans than he could have acquired in the same length of time from books.

"There are thousands of specialists traveling about all the time," he says, "men who know a whole lot about some one thing. When I have the good luck to find myself alongside of a specialist I try not to let him get away 'til he has told me his whole story."

* * *

Senator Gore judges character by a man's voice and laugh, especially the laugh. He says he can get a pretty fair idea of a man just by the way he laughs, even without hearing him say a word. There is the frank, open-faced laugh, the overdone laugh, the laugh that runs by forced draft, the perfunctory laugh, and the hollow, mocking laugh of villains—and every one is a character tip that Gore has learned to tabulate almost automatically.

* * *

A friend of Senator Warren, knowing the Wyoming man's habit of settling things occasionally by a toss of a coin, sent him recently an English penny, which has a head on each side.

"When in doubt," suggested a friend, "make it heads you'll do what you really want to do and tails you'll do what the other fellow wants."

Representative Bartholdt of St. Louis started out from Brooklyn, N. Y., a great many years ago with the spirit of adventure leading him to the Far West. He got as far West as Philadelphia, when he discovered, while sitting in his boarding house room, that he had just 5 cents to his name. In order to make the slate clean, Bartholdt walked to the window and threw away the 5-cent piece. Then he started to hunt for a job. Within a few days he had landed a place as proof-reader for a concern that published magazines in nine different languages. Bartholdt knew a smattering of one or two languages, and when he came to the others he had to read proof a letter at a time instead of by words or sentences. However, it was a comparatively lucrative position, and at the end of a few months he had saved up almost $7.

* * *

Though an approachable person, Senator Culberson of Texas has a quiet dignity about him that extends even to his less important acts. Nearly every day he rises in his seat in the senate and says:

"I move that the reading of the journal be dispensed with." And he does so in much the manner that he might assume if he were about to make an exclusive announcement of the second coming of the Messiah.

Public Health Purchasable.

Richard Barry in the Century: It is the contention of those that give their lives to the study of the subject that "public health is a purchasable commodity." The struggle, then, is between the death rate and the dollar rate. Contribute more money to the cause of public health and the death rate will go down. Forty thousand babies were saved in 1910 at an average cost of $18. It would have cost more to bury them, as the cheapest sort of funeral costs $25.

The appropriation for the care of the public health in New York is not niggardly; it is larger than in most cities. Still, it is not enough. Where the health officers ask for $1.50, they get $1. The excuse is that the rest of the desired money is needed to improve parks and streets, for the police and fire departments, for the city government, the water fronts, etc. Besides, the people of this city are absolutely obliged to spend about $100,000,000 a year on automobiles, candy, theaters, alcoholic drinks, tobacco, diamonds and such other urgent needs of life. What is left over, after those necessities are provided for, goes toward the preservation of health.

Grand Rapids has a sensation. Frederick A. Powers of Turner, N. D., having laid claim to the whole townsite and brought suit against every lot owner to clear title. By the treaty of 1855 the Chippewas became the owners of the land and Mr. Powers has purchased the title from the person who obtained the original patent.

The Charm of a Camp Fire.

David Grayson in the American Magazine: Did you ever sit by a campfire and watch the flames dance and the sparks fly upward into the cool dark air? Did you ever see the fitful light among the tree depths, at one moment opening vast shadowy vistas into the forest, at the next dying downward and leaving it all in somber mystery? And what a friendly and companionable thing a camp-fire is! How generous and outright it is! It plays for you when you wish to be lively, and it glows for you when you wish to be reflective.

Sanitarium Schools for Consumptive Children.

There has been a good deal written for this column on the subjects of open air schools, open window schools and prevention of tuberculosis in children; and, although some of the schools written about, such as the Elizabeth McCormick school of Chicago, have features in common with sanitarium schools, they have all been established to deal with the prevention rather than cure of tuberculosis. They have, as a rule, excluded the frankly tubercular child during the infective stages, and have been perfectly justified in so doing. There are children, however, between the ages of 5 and 14, who suffer with tuberculosis in the second and infective stages that are not by any means hopelessly doomed, and require sanitarium treatment, without being forced to fall behind in their studies so far that the time lost can never be regained. In recognition of this want, an open air school was opened in Hamilton, Ont., in January, 1911, for children afflicted with the advanced form of the disease, and a report covering the first eighteen months' operation is just at hand, showing some surprisingly good results in the physical condition of these pupils, while they were able to keep pace with the educational requirement of the public schools.

In this school, it will be remembered, the treatment of the disease always held first place, the educational feature being considered of secondary importance. Except in a few of the far advanced cases, however, regular school work was rarely interfered with, and the classes kept pace with similar classes in the city schools. In the period covered there were seventy-three patients admitted, and of these, fourteen have been discharged as apparently cured, fourteen have had the disease arrested, thirteen much improved and only one died. Considering that these were all frank cases of the disease in advanced stages, the results would seem to merit the trouble and expense.

These children discharged as arrested or apparently cured cases were prepared to re-enter the open window classes of the city schools, and take their place along with other children of their own age, which is an advantage that can hardly be overestimated. This school was a part of the mountain sanitarium and this institution defrayed all expenses except the salary of the teacher, who was supplied and remunerated by the Hamilton board of education.

The success of this enterprise, so far as the afflicted children were concerned, amply repaid the trouble and the money spent, but the good derived from such a school does not end with the children treated. These children when allowed to attend the public schools were dangerous sources of infection to others and their removal to the sanitarium must be looked upon as a far-reaching benefit to the other children attending the schools from which they were taken.

The idea of a sanitarium school should appeal to all interested in antituberculosis work, as well as those interested in the education and welfare of children of school age; and in communities having a publicly supported tuberculosis sanitarium, the scheme should not be difficult to carry out. Dr. Holbrook of Hamilton, the medical superintendent spoken of, says: "In the case of those children, they are taken during the period of greatest chronicity, and their education is continued when it had become impossible, or at least dangerous, in the city schools; and in addition to this, they are being taught what is to them of great importance, namely, the means by which they may preserve their own health instead of allowing consumption of early adult age to take toll of their lives."

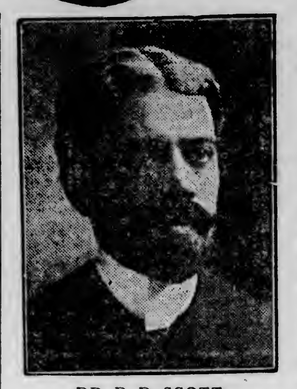
That the consumptive is better cared for, that his chances for recovery are much increased, and that he is happier, in a sanitarium than at home, are facts seldom disputed by anyone who has observed sanitaria patients, or who knows anything about the way these institutions are operated. And to convince an early case, where the chances of recovery with sanitarium treatment are as high as 85 to 90 per cent, that he is better off in a sanitarium is not often a difficult matter. In the advanced cases, however, where no honest hope of complete recovery can be held out as an inducement, it is sometimes impossible to make the patient see that it is to his own advantage to enter such a hospital and that by refusing to do so he is endangering the lives of those nearest and dearest to him. Although the time may be past where recovery can be expected, there are many stages of more or less complete invalidism which may be avoided, through the proper care of second stage cases. These patients are better fed in a hospital, have more fresh air and sunlight, learn to avoid secondary infections, and are relieved from many of the worries which are sure to bother them and retard progress when living at home. So, from the point of view of the sick one, the consumptive hospital is the best place for even secondary or advanced cases, and from the point of view of the family it is the only place; because it is constant personal contact with the consumptive which is the dangerous thing in regard to infection. All members of a family can hardly escape infection from an open case living in the same house, no matter how careful he may be; and such a danger should not be imposed upon children in particular who have, no doubt, inherited a pre-disposition to the malady.



DR. R. D. SCOTT.

Questions and Answers.

Water Drinking.

H. S. writes: Is there any danger in drinking large quantities of pure water? I have a child who, if allowed, will drink a couple of quarts each day.

REPLY.

No, there is no danger, provided it is taken in small quantities at a time, and is never very cold, or iced.

Fear of Menopause, or the Change of Life.

D. R. C. writes: What can you suggest as a physical and mental tonic for a nervous person who is nearing the menopause?

REPLY.

Cast fear aside. Live a moderate life, avoiding excitement and worry. Take daily outdoor exercise, and keep the mind occupied with congenial thoughts. Medicines are not necessary, and frequently do more harm than good. Constipation must be avoided, however, and this is best done through dietetic means. With a healthy body and mind, there is nothing to fear from the changes occurring at this period. To keep the body healthy, practice general hygiene, and mental health requires constant occupation; above everything else, the cultivation of cheerfulness.

Fever Sores on Lips.

B. J. T. inquires what is the cause of fever sores and what can be done for them.

REPLY.

Fever sores are due to absorption by the blood of poisons, usually of bacterial origin. Gastro intestinal disorders are the most common cause, although they appear regularly in some infections, as pneumonia and typhoid fever. For ordinary cases a thorough clearing of the intestinal tract is the best remedy. To relieve the itching and hasten their drying up, touch them frequently with strong spirits of camphor, or occasionally with aromatic sulphuric acid.

ISSUE CALL TO REV. F. O. HANSON

Trinity English Lutheran Congregation Wants a Permanent Pastor.

Rev. F. O. Hanson, pastor of the Trinity English Lutheran congregation for the past three months, who is field secretary for the Augustana Synod of Swedish Lutheran Churches of America, was extended an official call to become the permanent pastor of the congregation at a meeting held in the parlors of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, last night.

The call requests Rev. Mr. Hanson to take the position on Jan. 1, 1914, at which time his position as field secretary expires. While Rev. Mr. Hanson would not give out any official answer in reply to the call, he intimated to some of the trustees that he would accept, stating that he was becoming tired of roaming around the country with his family.

REV. F. O. HANSON.

Rev. Mr. Hanson was instrumental in organizing the local congregation last fall. He returned on Jan. 1 to take charge of the pulpit for three months, and during this time he has been instrumental in assisting the congregation in the purchasing of a location for its future home. This lot has been secured at the northwest corner of Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street.

Preliminary plans for the construction of the church were made last night. It was decided to build the basement this fall, which will serve as a meeting place for the congregation until next spring, when the superstructure will be erected. During the interval the congregation will hold its services at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street.

Rev. Mr. Hanson will leave the city within the next two weeks for the purpose of organizing congregations on the West coast. Provision has been made by the synod to send a student to fill the pulpit until Jan. 1.

REV. H. K. MADSEN

Lecture in the Norwegian language—"Norway's Greatest Man."

TONIGHT

Kaley-Dickey.

Miss Minnie A. Kaley and Thomas B. Dickey were married at 9 o'clock last night at the parsonage of the Grace Methodist church, 310 North Twenty-second avenue west. Rev. George E. Silloway read the service. They were attended by Miss Mary Woodard and Goldwin Branscombe. Mr. and Mrs. Dickey will make their home on West Seventh street.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. August Julen, 2105 West First street, entertained at a dinner party yesterday afternoon in honor of her birthday. The decorations were sweet peas, carnations and ferns. Covers were laid for sixteen guests.

Madsen Will Lecture.

"Norway's Greatest Man" will be the subject of a lecture to be given this evening by Rev. Hans K. Madsen of Chicago, former pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish Methodist church. The lecture will be given in the church. A program of music under the charge of A. O. Anderson will also be given.

Rev. Mr. Madsen arrived in the city yesterday. He is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Moe, 2207 West Third street. He will leave immediately following the lecture for Minneapolis, where he will spend a day before returning home.

Rev. Mr. Madsen was pastor of the local church for six years. During his connection with the local congregation he was instrumental in having the present handsome edifice erected at Twenty-fourth avenue and Third street.

Sacred Concert.

At a meeting of the choir of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, plans were made for giving the second annual sacred concert on June 6. The program for the affair will be worked out during the next week. Some of the city's best musical talent will be secured for the entertainment.

Parents' Meeting.

The monthly parents' and teachers' meeting of the Monroe school, Twenty-sixth avenue west and First street, was held in the assembly hall of the building last night. The principal feature of the meeting was addresses given by Mrs. Caroline C. Amer on "Music in the Home" and by J. R. Batchelor on "Organized Games for Boys."

The program also included bagpipe music and Scottish songs by pupils of the fourth and fifth grades, a dramatization by the first grade pupils and drills by the second and third grade girls. Miss Minnie Milne, principal of the school was in charge of the program.

Mothers' Club Meeting.

"The Relation Between the School and the Home" was the subject of an address given yesterday afternoon by Miss Katherine King, principal of the Bryant school before the meeting of the Mothers' club of the Bryant school district. Miss King advocated closer and better feeling between the parents and the teachers and a closer interest on the part of the mother in the school work of her children.

Spring Festival.

The annual spring festival given by the young people of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, will be held this evening in the church parlors. A program of music and songs has been arranged. Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom of the West Duluth Mission church and Rev. J. J. Daniels, pastor of the local church, will speak.

FARMER OF ODANAH SUFFERS BY FIRE

Others May Also Have Lost By Bad River Brush Fires.

Ashland, Wis, May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The forest fire condition on the Bad river reservation is probably improved.

The wind has gone down and a slight rain has set in. Only one farmer is known to have been burned out, John Harto of Odanah, but several other farmers may have suffered severe losses.

STORM CAR BARNS AT ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Asheville, N. C., May 1.—A crowd of 200 or 400 men and boys late last night attacked the barns of the Asheville Power & Light company, whose motormen and conductors went on strike last Saturday for an advance in wages of 3 cents an hour. Several windows were broken by volleys of bricks and stones. The police charged the crowd several times and arrested twelve men alleged to have been the ringleaders. The street car company operated six cars last night with strikebreakers under heavy guard.

NO TRUE BILL IN CHICAGO PROBE.

Chicago, May 1.—Grand jury investigation of charges of fraud and collusion in connection with the awarding of a million dollar contract for voting machines, has been concluded. After the examination of the last witness, reports were circulated that no indictments would be returned.

Cripple Creek Gold Output.

Cripple Creek, Colo., May 1. — The gold ore output of the Cripple Creek mining district for the month just closed amounts to 80,852 tons, carrying a gross bullion price of $1,194,232. This production is 32,000 tons in excess of the previous month and shows heavier tonnage and higher valuation than April, 1912.

A Spring Health Mistake Many Make

(Martyn's Health Guide)

"It is a common mistake, made by most people after the winter season, to think they can go through the summer enjoying good health without first ridding the system of the poisons and impurities in the blood which cause most spring ailments, fever and sickness. To act properly, giving needed energy and nourishment to the body, the blood must be pure.

"Of all spring-medicines none equals the good old-fashioned home-remedy made by dissolving ½ cupful sugar and one ounce kardene (which can be bought at any drug store) in ½ pint alcohol, then adding hot water to make a quart. It is easily made at small cost and a tablespoonful taken before meals will do wonders in purifying the blood, removing sallowness, pimples and restoring the liver to normal action. It restores perfect health and energy to a worn-out body—gives one vigor, an appetite and strengthens the body tissues of both old and young."

Pencil Scares Burglars.

New Haven, Conn., May 1.—Henry Wedland and Alexander Drummond of Brooklyn, N. Y., were captured by R. L. Davisson of Dayton, Ohio, a Yale senior, at the point of a silver pencil, while ransacking his room in Vanderbilt hall on the Yale campus. The burglars thought the pencil levelled at them by Davisson was a pistol.

ROWING

The Herald Sporting Gossip Is Reliable

TO the public and also those who own automobiles, this little drama has to do with two barbers and baseball. The man being shaved will be distinguished or tortured in the following lines under the name of the Patient. The barber shaving him will be called, to avoid confusion, the Home Barber. The barber at the next chair to the right will be designated as the Visiting Barber. The Home Barber is a Giant rooter, while the Visiting Barber is a Cub contender.

Patient, entering red, white and blue door, smiling at the beautiful manicure girl with gold tooth and diamond ring, and removing collar and cravat:

"Shave, please. Nothing more; hurry, have to make train."

Home Barber prepares lather, strops razor and plays strictly to form by saying it is a nice day, though it is beastly cold and trying to rain.

Home Barber: "I seen where this here Demaree is showing great form. Say, this McGraw can pick 'em; he's the little white father of baseball. The Giants ain't leading now, but they is the best team, take it from me."

Visiting Barber, after applying lather to nostrils and mouth of his customer: "Forget that, Frank; them Giants is false alarms, grab this from little me. Say me and Joe went down to Chi last July and see the Cubs knock this Rube Marquard out of the box in the fifth inning. You get the wrong dope."

Home Barber, leaning on the chest of Patient and shaking the lather brush in mild protest until it spatters over the dark blue serge of victim in Visiting Barber's chair: "Forget that stuff, Mat. Ain't it Shakespeare that writes about one swallow. One series ain't the whole season. Who won the pennant, Mat? Just pipe up quick with the little answer, cause it's little me that's askin' you."

Visiting Barber, placing elbow, unintentionally to be sure, on the windpipe of Victim: "Mebbe so; mebbe so—but Frank Chance was ter the hospital and all them Cubs was mad at Murphy. I took the Chicago papers and I took particular pains to get the dope, believe me, Frank."

Visiting Barber: "Them Giants is the biggest fourflushers in the two leagues; just grab that."

Home Barber: "O——oh! You you——————why you, Say there ain't no use talkin' to you."

The Home Barber strokes swiftly and vehemently, as you have seen the tail of a cat indicate its angry mood, and the razor speeds across the countenance of Patient, finally taking a large and perfectly healthy piece of skin off the cheek bone. Blood and towels add to the local color of the drama.

Apologies and a piece of court plaster follow in the order named.

Visiting Barber: "There is a lot of luck in baseball. The Giants ain't the whole thing—don't get that idee. Charley Dooin with a little luck would have won the pennant, take that from muh, bo."

Having finished shaving the Patient the Home Barber strode over to the nickel plated, marble-topped basin and permitted a towel to dangle in the boiling hot water that poured from the faucet.

He seemed to be in a daze. His air was abstract. He forgot to wring the towel out. He stepped back of Patient's chair, a beautiful white enamel thing, still engrossed in deep thought.

The Home Barber looked sad. Then his mood swiftly changed to anger hectic heat, as it were. He firmly placed the steaming towel on the face of Patient, and leaning on it with his two white hands, beautifully manicured and used to heat, he glared at Mat and spake thusly:

"You ought'nt to say them things, Mat. Baseball is honest and the Giants has the greatest team in the world. The Bostons beat them through luck. Try to be fair, and another thing Mat, you are so excited that you ain't givin' that gent a good shave."

As the Home Barber lifted h's hands a mere trifle to detect a speck on his diamond ring, the screams of Patient filled the shop. Even the manicure girl, ordinarily a very blase and matter of fact young lady, gazed with surprise and a slight tinge of alarm on the parboiled countenance of poor Patient.

He leaves the shop in a rage.

Home Barber: "Some day I hopes that I can buy a farm and don't have to take nothing from nobody. This waitin' on the public and kiddin' them all the time, ain't what it seems, now believe me."

Propose Return Match.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 1.—Negotiations were begun yesterday for a return match between Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion and Johnny Dundee, who fought a 20-round draw with him at Vernon Tuesday night. The contest was unsatisfactory in every way, according to the newspaper commentators today. Although Kilbane led easily on points, the draw decision was commended on the ground that Dundee was the aggressor and coming in at all times, although usually covered up.

Promoter McCarey and "Scotty" Monteith, manager of Dundee, expressed the hope of putting on the return match in two or three months, preferably July 4.

It was the opinion among fight frequenters today that neither boy would make good against a lightweight—the often expressed ambition of each. Kilbane did not seem to have the knockout punch and Dundee, with his peculiar habit of leaping into the air to launch a blow, also lacked a punch.

McCarty Outfights Moran.

New York, May 1.—Luther McCarthy outfought Frank Moran, the Pittsburg heavyweight in a 10-round bout here last night.

The fighting was at a fast pace for heavyweights. Moran did most of the leading and frequently the men stood toe to toe and exchanged freely their hardest blows, both receiving much punishment about the body. McCarthy relied upon a hard left to the face, but often left his guard open, enabling his opponent to get in a strong left hook. McCarty had the better of the first round, but Moran evened it up in the next. In the third the fighters' heads came together in a mixup, slightly cutting Moran. In the fourth Moran landed a straight left, drawing blood from McCarty's nose. The fifth was even, but McCarty took the next two. McCarty tied in the eighth, a left hook sending him to the ropes, and in the ninth Moran got in some more good blows. McCarty finished strong, landing often in the last round, while Moran, who kept boring in, was wild and missed most of his blows.

Gives Game to Buffalo.

New York, May 1.—President Barrow of the International league yesterday awarded the protested Buffalo-Baltimore game, played at Baltimore April 28, to Buffalo by a score of 8 to 7. The Buffalo club had protested the game because of the umpires' refusal to allow a run to score in the tenth when, with the bases full, a wild throw by Pitcher Roth hit the grandstand.

Upon investigation after the game, says President Barrow, it was shown that the grandstand in Baltimore is considerably less than ninety feet from home plate in which case the playing rules provide that a runner may score from third base without being "put-out."

Minneapolis, Minn., May 1. — The Bronks made six runs in the first inning of yesterday's game before Rice was sent to the dugout to think it over, and though the Dooks battled valiantly throughout the remainder of the game and overcame the large lead of the home team, Minneapolis finally copped the contest by the score of 9 to 8.

Rice didn't have anything but his glove and an earnest prayer for a change in the way things in general were breaking against him. He was finally yanked, but not until after the damage had been done.

Johnson went to the mound after the cruel riding of Rice and pitched some real baseball. Bush, a new comer to the Dooks, went in the last inning and worked and showed some stuff, though Unglaub secured the single that won the game off the delivery of Mr. Bush from the bushes.

It looked like a hopeless task for the visitors after the long lead accumulated in the opening round. But the Sox were game and kept coming all the time. Comstock was chased from the hill in the sixth when five runs were gathered off his delivery. Rube Waddell came to the rescue and finished the game strong.

JARNIGAN HOLDS ORE DIGGERS TO ONE HIT.

Virginia, Minn., May 1.—Grand Forks defeated Virginia by the score of 2 to 1 yesterday in by far the best game that has been played here during the present season. Jarnigan, the hurling star of the Flickertails, was on the mound, and he held the Ore Diggers to two hits. Faeth worked for the locals, and though hit harder than the visiting hillman, he was effective with men on bases and kept the hits of the opposition well scattered.

Brant scored the first run of the visitors by walloping the pill over the fence. Brant accomplished a similar feat yesterday and hopes to repeat the performance this afternoon.

Jarnigan scored the second of the runs of the visitors by hitting, advancing on an infield out and then coming home on Lyman's clout.

Weckler got the solitary local count through his own hit, two outs and a safe paste by Faeth.

SAINTS LOSE SLUGGING MATCH TO SUPERIOR.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1.—Superior scored four runs in the ninth inning of yesterday's game and won the contest by the score of 12 to 10.

With the Little Saints in the lead upon entering the home stretch it looked like a victory for the Joneses. Mike Kramer was on the mound when the explosion came, the visitors from the north country falling on the delivery of Michael and hitting him to several corners of the lot.

LeClaire started for the home team and was found frequently throughout the contest. Winters, the player Curtis obtained from the Kansas City Blues, was the hurler working for the Red Sox, and though he was hit hard he managed to remain and oop the game.

A high wind blew across the field and seriously interfered with the playing.

Giants Get Bumped.

Winona, Minn., May 1.—Winona played a ragged game in the field and the hits of the Maroons were bunched with the misplays of the home team, Winnipeg proving an easy winner by the score of 8 to 0. Thielman, the new hurler recently secured by Manager Tim Flood, was on the rubber for the Canucks and while he was bumped rather freely, he succeeded in keeping the hits of the Giants well scattered.

Reds Lose Close Game.

Chicago, May 1.—The Cincinnati "Reds" with the return of their regular playing paraphernalia gave the local Nationals a close call in the second game of the series yesterday, but lost, 3 to 4.

Suggs and Pierce were opposed to each other in what proved to be a pitchers' battle but with the luck of the game in favor of the Chicago flinger.

The locals were credited with two homers, on drives which were misjudged. Had these been played correctly the outcome might have been different.

In the fifth inning after one Chicagoan had been passed, Bescher misjudged Bridwell's liner to left center, and both the runners scored. Again in the next inning, Marsans was not set for Mitchell's hit and the ball rolled to the fence, the runner circling the bases. Bunched hits and a double steal gave them another.

The visitors started a rally in the last inning, when Pierce weakened, a single, an error and Almeida's clean drive to the clubhouse almost winning the game.

Both pitchers were given sensational support in the fielding. Score: R.

Rally In Seventh.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 1.—Brooklyn came from behind with a rally in the seventh inning and made it two out of three games in the series with New York. The score was 5 to 3, New York leading by 3 to 1 in the seventh, when with two out and men on first and second and two strikes on Cutshaw, the latter banged a long double to center, sending home the tying run. Hits by Stengel, Wheat and Davebert sent two more runs across.

Borth, Ragan and Ames gave way to pinch hitters, Crandall batting for Ames and finishing the game. Allen struck out three men in the last two innings. Ragan, however, gets credit for the victory. A fine line catch by Wheat, Stengel's batting and fielding of the pitchers were features. Manager McGraw was banished from the field on the ninth by protesting strike decisions. Score: R. H. E.

Make It Four Straight.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 1.—Pittsburg was unable to hit Steele to any extent yesterday and lost the fourth straight game, St. Louis taking the first game of the series, 6 to 1. Konetchy's single, a sacrifice and McLean's single, gave the visitors a run in the second. An error by Fox, by walk to Konetchy and singles by Mowrey, Cathers and O'Leary gave them three more in the third. O'Toole relieved Robinson in the fourth and pitched fine ball, only one run being made off him. Ferry pitched the ninth and allowed another run. Miller's single, an out and Butler's single gave Pittsburg its only run in the ninth. It was stated today that Hans Wagner may be able to play in Boston next Tuesday. Score: R. H. E.

Play Eleven Innings.

Boston, Mass., May 1.—Boston won its third game of the season after an eleven-inning pitchers' battle between James and Brennan yesterday, Boston 2, Philadelphia 1. James, a recruit twirler, has won two of the local team's three victories, each extra inning affairs. Boston's winning run was scored on Maranville's single, Capron's wild throw, a sacrifice and Myer's single. Maranville's error made Philadelphia's only run possible. The visitors filled the bases in the eleventh with only one out, but James held them scoreless. Score: R. H. E.

White Sox Win.

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—Chicago yesterday gave Dubuc one of the worst beatings of his American league career and defeated Detroit, 8 to 3. Consistent hard hitting coupled with loose fielding and battery errors enabled the visitors to win with ease. Cicotte was pounded hard, but he seldom failed in tight places and he kept Detroit's hits well scattered.

Weaver's wonderful fielding helped to cut down Detroit's run-getting. In the sixth he robbed Crawford of what appeared to be a clean single by a thrilling shot near second base and quick throw to first. Score: R. H. E.

Pitchers' Battle.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 1.—A pitching duel between Johnson and Plank here yesterday resulted in a victory for Washington, 2 to 0. Both the visitors' runs were made in the ninth inning, then with one out, Milan on second and Gandil on first, a double steal was tried on the ball on which Morgan fanned; Lapp threw to catch Gandil at second but neither Collins nor Barry covered the bags. When the ball went to the outfield, Milan scored and Gandil reached third. The latter scored on Ainsmith's single. Plank fanned twelve men to ten by Johnson and each gave only one base on balls.

Browns Win Shut-out.

St. Louis, Mo., May 1.—Baumgardner and Gregg engaged in a pitchers' battle here yesterday, the former having the better of the argument, St. Louis winning from Cleveland 2 to 0. Gregg was unsteady in the early innings but always pulled out without being scored upon. St. Louis won the game in the eighth. J. Johnston singled to left. Williams sacrificed and was safe when Olson fumbled the ball. Both runners advanced on Pratt's sacrifice and scored on Stovall's single to center. St. Louis played perfect ball in the field.

Chance's Men Lose Again.

New York, May 1.—The Bostons showed real world's championship form yesterday and defeated the New Yorks 8 to 1. They batted Schulz the first New York pitcher for fourteen hits and scored almost at will. Hoff held the visitors in the last two innings. Bedient pitched a fine game for Boston and received great support until the ninth inning when wild throws by Speaker and Engel prevented the box man from scoring a shutout.

Indians Are Shut Out.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 1.—Five hits with a base on balls in the fifth inning here yesterday scored four runs for St. Paul and sent Schardt of Indianapolis who had pitched a good game that far, to the bench. Harrington, who succeeded Schardt, did not better, and he was replaced by Merz whose error and wild pitch combined with a hit added another score to the visitors' total in the ninth. Win Through Errors.

Columbus, Ohio, May 1.—Timely hits mixed with passes and Columbus' errors gave Minneapolis eight runs yesterday. Libhart, after Bonnin had dislocated the first finger of Olmstead's left hand with a line drive in the fourth inning, finished the game and did not allow the home team a hit. Each of the Delehantys made saving catches for him. Score: R. H. E.

Mudhens Win Game.

Toledo, Ohio, May 1.—The speed of the Toledo club threw the Kansas City team off its stride here yesterday afternoon and the locals had little trouble in batting out a 7 to 1 victory. For four innings, Rhoades was able to evade disaster, but in the fifth an error, a single by Riley and Gardner's double, followed by a daring double steal gave the locals three runs to which they added four more off Rhoades and Zabel in the seventh when they bunched three hits with three of the visitors' errors. James was in grand form, holding the opposition hitless in every inning save the first and ninth. Score: R. H. E.

Pitching Wins Game.

Louisville, Ky., May 1.—The masterly pitching of Powell proved a stumbling block for Milwaukee yesterday and Louisville won the opening game of the series by 4 to 3. Chapelle's muff of an easy fly from Stansbury's bat allowed the locals to score their two runs in the first inning. One-handed catches by Chapelle and Hulswitt were features. Score: R. H. E.

BURMEISTER A LOVER OF GAME

New President of Northern League an Ardent Baseball Fan.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 1. — John Burmeister, a well known lumberman here and also one of the greatest patrons of sports in this city, was yesterday elected as the president of the Northern Baseball league, succeeding George A. Barton, who was compelled to give up the office through illness.

For a long time Mr. Burmeister has been not only an ardent follower of baseball, but of various kinds of sports. A big man physically and mentally, a true lover of clean sports, a keen business man and one who knows baseball, it is believed that he will prove a splendid executive for the new circuit.

It was only after he learned that it was the unanimous choice of the directors of the Northern league that he accept the presidency that Mr. Burmeister decided to accept the office. The salary of the executive offers no inducement to the new head, as it is his love of the game that was the propelling motive of acceptance.

It is expected that Mr. Burmeister will carry out the original intention of Former President Barton and go to the Head of the Lakes for the opening of the season at Duluth and Superior.

Coulon Scores Knockout.

Windsor, Ont., May 1.—Johnny Coulon of Chicago, champion bantamweight, last night knocked out Tommy Hudson of Detroit in the fifth round of a scheduled eight-round bout.

Burns Wins Match.

Burlington, Iowa, May 1. — Harry Hartman, a local wrestler, was defeated last night by Farmer Burns of Omaha, the former world's champion, who won two straight falls from him.

Billiard Honors to Chicago.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 1.—Chicago last night won first honors in the National Three-Cushion Billiard league on points, a series of six games giving Chicago 288 points and Pittsburg 273. While both cities equally divided the series in games won, Chicago players totaled the greater number of points

PRESIDENT BLUME SAYS DULUTH HAS A FAST TEAM

White Sox Are Placed Ahead of the Twin City Clubs.

Harry Blume, president of the Duluth Baseball association, returned today from Minneapolis, where he watched the Sox perform in two of the games against the Minneapolis Bronks.

"All of the teams of the Northern league are experiencing some trouble with their pitchers at this early date," said Mr. Blume. "This is true of the Duluth team as it is also true of about every club in the circuit. The cold weather has been mainly responsible for this condition.

"O'Brien has a crack ball club, taking the players in all the positions. I have seen Virginia, St. Paul and Minneapolis in action and I am of the opinion that the Dooks are stronger than any of these teams.

"The more I see of the team the better the outfield impresses me. Elmer Miller is playing the game of his life. This boy has set his mind upon going up this season, and if he maintains the gait he has started, surely he will be sold or drafted.

"Elmer Smith is a real baseball player; fast, has a good whip and is a hitter. McGraw is playing the best article of baseball he has ever given us, and when Muggsy is right there are few better ball players in the minors.

"Rhoades to date is playing as good a game at third as Leber ever played with the Sox. Schreiber covers more ground than Sours, though it is too early as yet to say whether he is the hitter that the Bull Durham collector was.

"Menlece is not and will never be the great fielder that Bluhm was with us, but he is hitting the ball harder than the player with the Toledo club.

"Woods looks like a real pitcher, but he is wild and has to cut out a lot of stuff in the effort to get the ball somewhere near the plate. We let Worman go, as we believed the pitching staff did not need the services of the veteran.

Cold Interferes.

"Cold weather has made it difficult for any of the twirlers to strike their true gait. Rube Johnson is going about the best of the lot, and right now he looks better than last season.

"St. Paul, Virginia and Minneapolis have provided cold weather for us, and until we strike some warm days it is hard to tell what our pitchers will be able to do. O'Brien likes the staff and says within a short time he will have all of his twirlers going at their true stride."

Here it is Wednesday—four days remain between this semi-cloudy diem and the opening of the season.

Plans are being perfected for the ushering in of the biggest opening day of the greatest baseball season in the history of the city.

There will be a parade, Mayor Prince will be the headliner in the honors at the baseball park, and there is to be a baseball contest between Duluth and Superior.

Duluth fans will hardly know the old park when they walk through the gate next Monday afternoon.

The grandstand has been enlarged, the third base bleacher moved back, and other alterations and improvements made that gives this city one of the best parks in the new circuit.

From the baseball talk going the rounds it is believed that 6,000 fans will witness the opening of the local season of the Northern league.

Everybody, it seems, is going to the opening, and Superior is going to send over hordes of fanatics, for the Red Sox have been doing some grand work and are at the present time leading the league.

It is time that the business men, every lover of baseball and the boosters for Duluth thought of going to the game of Monday.

An event long awaited—that of the coming of a league that we have wailed long and loudly for, is at hand. We have emerged from the bushes and are about to open our eyes to a better brand of baseball to mingle with bigger personalities and see some famous stars.

A new park almost has been constructed. Money without stint has been spent to put this town in the class of baseball that will compare with any minor in the country—and Monday is the opening day of the home season.

Carpenters are working at the park today, putting the finishing touches on the grand stand, bleachers and finishing the construction work on the ticket stand and gates. By Monday afternoon, when the first fan flies through the new turnstiles, the last nail will have been driven, the final detail completed, and all will be in readiness for the tossing of the conventional first ball.

If the weather man will but do the right thing by us and only smile, present indications point to a capacity crowd and a new attendance record for next Monday afternoon.

LOCALIZING SPORTS

The Proctor baseball team yesterday defeated the Boomerois by the score of 8 to 2. The contest was a most peculiar one, two home runs by each team and an additional run by Proctor proving the only counters of the game. Gardner and Lynch pitched some great baseball and the game was one of the best that has been played in Proctor in recent years.

The Franklin school defeated the Lowells yesterday by the score of 7 to 6. Smith and Unden worked for the winners and Davis and Donaldson for the Lowells.

Chris has been in North Dakota during the past year and won the title of champion of the Flickertail territory. Like wine, this old boy improves with age, for he never looked better in his life.

May Fine Cobb.

Chicago, May 1.—The belief that Ty Cobb would be reinstated with but a nominal fine was expressed last night by those who had interviewed members of the national baseball commission, which met here yesterday. The commission took up only routine matters at yesterday's session and adjourned until today when the Cobb case is to be considered. The commission is also expected to take up the proposed investigation of charges that professional baseball constitutes a trust.

Aviator Wins Prize.

Paris, May 1.—Ernest M. Guillaux, a French airman, with his aeroplane flight on Sunday last, when he traveled from Bairritz, France, to Kollum, Holland, a distance of nearly 1,000 miles, won a prize of $10,000 and the Pommery or single day distance cup, which was decided at sundown last night.

Competition for the Pommery cup, valued at $1,500, is open every six months and the prize is awarded to the aviator making the longest flight in a straight line between sunrise and sunset of the same day.

COUNTY AID TO BE ASKED

Appropriation of $1,500 for Employment of Agricultural Agent Wanted.

Effort Will Be Made to Organize District of Northern Counties.

An appropriation of $1,500 to be used to employ an agricultural agent for Duluth and vicinity will be sought from the county board at its meeting next week. This was decided upon last evening at a meeting of the agricultural committee of the Duluth Commercial club. C. P. Craig and W. C. Sargent were delegates to wait upon the county board.

The committee will make every effort to secure aid not only from the county but also from the state and Federal government in raising funds to permit of the placing of agricultural agents in this section. The committee has interested other counties in the work.

Mr. Craig was auhorized to make application to Dean Woods of the state agricultural college for state aid for a county agent and to secure the cooperation of other counties in forming a district, so that Federal aid could be requested.

The various civic organizations in the city will be invited to co-operate with the Commercial club in providing a products and livestock exposition for Duluth to be held in connection with an industrial show. A. B. Hostetter was delegated to confer with the Rotary club, the Retail Merchants' association and other organizations.

G. G. Harley, George B. Stone, A. B. Hostetter and C. P. Craig were appointed a committee to confer with the city council with regard to the establishment of public markets and suitable places for the care of farmers' teams.

Those who attended the meeting of the agricultural committee last evening were C. P. Craig, A. B. Hostetter, C. F. Coleman, W. C. Sargent and J. G. Williams.

CIGARETTE STARTS FIRE FATAL TO TWO

Helping Hand Annex at Kansas City Burns—One-Armed Man Hero.

Kansas City, Mo., May 1.—Twenty-three men were trapped in a fire that destroyed the Helping Hand annex, a mission lodging house, occupying an old four-story building at 403 Wyandotte street. Two are dead. They are:

FRED WATKINS, 38 years old; body not recovered.

Twenty of the men, employed about the place at night, were asleep on the third and fourth floors when the fire broke out. To Peter Klink, a one-armed inmate, is due credit for having saved the lives of several of the lodgers. He dragged a half dozen of the sleepers from the rooms and aroused others barely in time to effect their escape.

A cigarette dropped from a window in the rear of the building set fire to a transfer company's stables. The stables, with four horses and the lodging house, were destroyed in less than an hour's time. The property loss is estimated at $50,000.

Fred Watkins was a graduate of Oxford university and had a master's certificate in the British merchant marine.

WOULD COMMUTE WALKER SENTENCE.

Washington, May 1.—Attorney General McReynolds has recommended a commutation to one year of the five-year sentence imposed on I. B. Walker, vice president of the Union National bank of Dallas, Tex. Senator Sheppard of Texas, who had recommended a pardon, announced that he expected to see President Wilson on the case next Monday.

Walker, who borrowed money for himself from a Chicago bank with which the Union bank did business, did not exhibit the transaction in the bank's statement. In his trial the borrowing was shown to have been done with the consent of the directors of the bank.

Walker's sentence will begin immediately if President Wilson does not delay it or issue a pardon.

MEETING OF ODD FELLOWS

State Convention of Three Bodies in Duluth Beginning June 16.

Rebekahs and Encampment Will Meet at Same Time as Main Lodge.

On June 16 and for several days thereafter Duluth will be flooded with Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and members of the uniform rank or encampment. It is estimated that about 1,200 to 1,500 visitors will come to Duluth from all parts of the state during the period mentioned for the state convention of the order.

It is estimated that the encampment will furnish 200 delegates; the Rebekahs will furnish between 500 and 600 and the Odd Fellows proper will furnish about 500 more. Besides these there will be many visitors, such as the families of the delegates and members of the orders, not delegates, but interested in the lodge legislation.

The Odd Fellows met here the last time in state convention just twenty years ago. At that time Duluth was somewhat smaller than it is now and hotel accommodations were not so good nor so plentiful. The result was that the Odd Fellows and their affiliated bodies had a hard time of it to obtain places to sleep. Private houses had to open their doors to the delegates and help out the shortage of hotel accommodations, and in general the situation was embarrassing to the local committee. This time the committee in charge, which is headed by L. A. Simonson, is having an easier time of it on that score, and hotels are being interested in the matter at present.

Just now the committee is interested chiefly in the choosing of a place for the meetings. The committee has under consideration the Auditorium, the Armory, Coffin's academy, Woodmen hall at the West end and one or two other places. The meeting places will be decided upon very soon, for all arrangements must be made quickly, as there is only a month and a half between now and the time the convention will meet.

It is believed that the Duluth convention will be one of the largest the Odd Fellows and their affiliated orders have ever held in point of attendance.

EXPORTS NEARLY $7,000,000 A DAY.

Washington, May 1.—The United States has been exporting merchandise at the rate of almost $7,000,000 a day so far this year, as shown by figures announced by the department of commerce. The imports have run up to more than $5,000,000 a day. The statistics are for the first nine months of the fiscal year.

Great Britain has proved the best customer, having bought on an average of $3,760,000 worth of goods every day, a grand total for the nine months of $478,408,725.

Canada and Germany each have bought about $1,000,000 worth a day and the fourth best customer was France, whose purchases in the nine months were $120,786,314.

SULZER'S PRIMARY BILL IS BEATEN

Albany, N. Y., May 1.—Governor Sulzer's direct primary bill was defeated in the senate late yesterday by a vote of 8 years to 42 nays.

Despite this overwhelming defeat, Governor Sulzer will not oppose the plan of legislature leaders to end the regular session this week, provided a program he outlined last night is carried out. This calls for the passage of several bills still pending.

Chief among these measures are nine bills providing for the reform of stock exchange methods. The governor is particularly interested in the measures providing for the incorporation of the New York stock exchange and prohibiting discrimination in the printing or engraving of bonds or stock certificates.

The senate finance committee has agreed tentatively to report adversely to the senate Governor Sulzer's nomination of John Mitchell, former head of the United Mine Workers, for state labor commissioner.

BUHL MEN IN GUN AFFRAY

Shift Boss at Whiteside Mine Is Probably Fatally Wounded.

Another Is Wounded, and Dominick Gilberti Jailed After Chase.

Buhl, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a shooting affray following a drinking bout here last night in which bad blood was engendered, Peter Serratore, 40 years old, a shift boss at the Whiteside mine, was fatally shot and Dominick Pabatolo was slightly wounded by Dominick Gilberti, employed by Butler Bros., stripping.

Serratore and Pabatolo were removed to the Shaw hospital. Serratore is shot through the abdomen and will probably not live through the day. Pabatolo's wound is in the breast and is of a superficial nature.

Following the shooting, which occurred about 11:30 last night, just as Serratore and Pabatolo were boarding a street car for Lucknow, Gilberti made an attempt to escape. He was captured after a chase of about twenty minutes, in which the police were aided by a large posse of citizens. Gilberti ran across the Butler Bros. dump and was finally captured in a deserted shack, where he had taken refuge.

Gilberti Expresses Regret.

In jail here this morning he expressed regret for the shooting of Serratore, but indicated that he was not sorry for the shooting of Pabatolo, with whom he had a feud of some years' standing. Pabatolo and Serratore came to Buhl last night to meet a couple of countrymen who were coming from Pittsburg to take employment in the mines. They met Gilberti in town and with their friends, who came in on the evening train, did more or less drinking to celebrate the arrival of the newcomers. Gilberti tried to induce them to take employment with Butler Bros., stripping, where he is employed, and Serratore and Pabatolo insisted that they take a place at the Whiteside mine, where they are employed. Ther was a dispute, but apparently the five were the best of friends when they left to take the street car.

Just as Serratore and Pabatolo were preparing to board the car, Gilberti opened fire, discharging four shots. He then took to his heels and in his haste to make a getaway knocked a woman standing on the sidewalk nearby from her feet.

Gilberti has been a resident of Buhl for about three years. He has been in trouble before and had the reputation of being a guntoter. About a year ago he paid a fine of $100 and costs for shooting a neighbor's cow. He will not have an arraignment until the condition of Serratore is definitely determined.

HIBBING JOY RIDERS HURT

Two Drummers and Two Waitresses Narrowly Escape Serious Hurts.

Hibbing, Minn., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two automobiles were in collision on the road between Hibbing and Alice last night and, while no one was seriously hurt every effort is being made today to hush up the affair.

Two young women employed as waitresses at the Oliver cafe and two well known traveling salesmen narrowly escaped serious injury when the machine in which they were riding was struck in passing by an automobile being driven by C. R. Rhodes, near the cemetery hill.

Wheels Stripped Off.

The rear wheels of the car in which the traveling men and the young women were riding were stripped from the machine by the force of the impact and one of the young women sustained a dislocated shoulder and cuts about the body and limbs. The second woman received a severe cut over one eye. One of the traveling men was bruised about the hip, while the other escaped without injury. Both cars were going at a high rate of speed. The women were attended by a physician, but none of the party was seriously injured.

Second Collision Earlier in Day.

Five people narrowly escaped possible death and serious injury in a collision of automobiles going at a high rate of speed on a stretch of smoke-obscured highway about a half mile from the St. Paul mine on the Keewatin road yesterday afternoon.

Frank Dear of Hibbing was badly cut about the neck by broken glass from the wind shield, Morris Hostetler was painfully bruised and shaken up, C. H. Dickinson of the Itasca Mercantile company, Grand Rapids, was badly cut on the left hand by broken glass and bruised about the head, Mrs. Frank Dear sustained injury to one of her arms and Raymond Dear and E. J. Hipple sustained bruises of a minor nature.

Smoke Obscured Road.

Wood fires were running in the country near Keewatin yesterday and smoke drifting across the highway in thick clouds almost completely obscured the road for a considerable distance. The automobile containing Mr. and Mrs. Dear and their little son, Raymond, driven by Morris Hostetler, was returning from a trip to Swan lake when the smoke was encountered. Mr. Hostetler was driving at a moderate speed when the other machine, driven by Mr. Hipple on its way from Hibbing to Nashwauk with Mr. Dickinson, was encountered. Mr. Hipple was driving at a high rate of speed, intending to make a sudden dash through the smoke when the collision occurred. The occupants of both machines were thrown from their seats and both cars were badly wrecked. The Hipple machine was able to proceed under its own power and hurried back to Hibbing with the members of the party most severely injured. The party got a bad fright and that more serious consequences did not result is considered extremely fortunate.

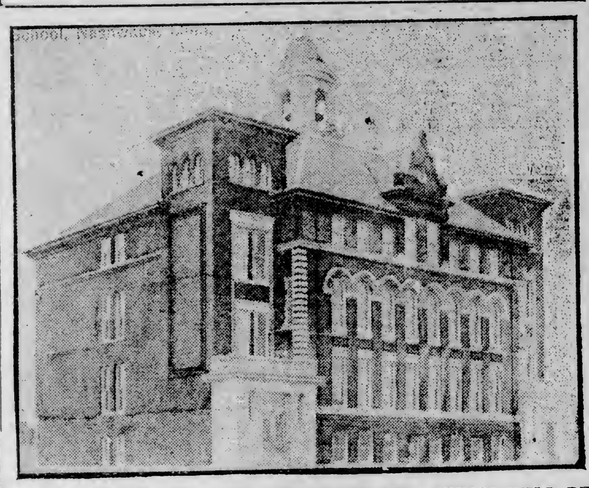
NASHWAUK SCHOOL THAT WILL BE MADE LARGER



NASHWAUK HIGH SCHOOL, TO WHICH TWO WINGS WILL BE ADDED THIS YEAR.

SAYS VIRGINIA NEEDS Y. M. C. A.

Minister Favors Using Old City Hall for Such Purpose.

Virgina, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Use the old city hall for a Y. M. C. A.," says Rev. Thomas Grice of the First M. E. church. "Build a new city hall that will be ample for the requirements of the city's needs so that it will not be necessary to have some of the departments of the city administration spread into half a dozen buildings as at present, then rent the old building for some good cause."

Mr. Grice points out that while the members of the Oliver Iron Mining company's force can all have the use of splendid club rooms, those of the independent companies have for the most part no place but the saloon or the pool room in which to spend a quiet evening without taking in the show.

CHISHOLM WILL BE BEAUTIFIED

Street Commissioner Has Started on Some Important Street Work.

Chisholm, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Commissioner Harrington has started the most extensive work ever undertaken by the village in the way of improving the streets and boulevarding the city as well as planting trees. A man experienced in tree planting will superintend the planting of the trees. Many streets must be raised or lowered to grade in places and the engineer has the work outlined and will keep the street commissioner and his crew busy. The work will be started on Oak street to the extreme south side of the town, and the work will be carried north as fast as conditions will warrant. Nearly every street and avenue in town will receive some attention and wherever possible the streets will be left in a finished condition as regards the curbs and tree planting.

Two thousand trees have been ordered and additional stock can be purchased on short notice according to the terms of the contract. The trees are mostly elms and Carolina and Norway poplars.

CHISHOLM MAN HELD.

Another Said to Be Implicated in Case Involving Young Girl.

Chisholm, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Upon a charge of carnal knowledge of a girl under the age of 14 Adolph Klippie was bound over to the district court in Judge Brady's court at Hibbing yesterday.

Klippie formerly lived here and roomed in a rooming house on Lake street for several months prior to being arrested. He was a switch man at the Monroe pit for the past few months. His continued attention to the girl aroused a suspicion on the part of her father who appealed to Humane Officer W. B. Brown who together with Probation Officer C. E. Everett of Hibbing set a trap for the young people. The girl confessed and it is said Klippie confessed.

Martin Vawkman also implicated in the case will be given a preliminary examination within a day or two. Vawkman is a fireman on the Great Northern railway and it is understood he has expressed a willingness to plead guilty to a similar charge.

VIRGINIANS WANT PARK BAND CONCERTS.

Virgina, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a demand the park commission should arrange for band concerts in Olcott park every Sunday afternoon and evening. A movement is now on foot to request the board to take steps while the weather is warm.

It is also asked that a number of open air concerts be given two or three times during the week nights on the main business street as this would draw a number of people from other towns.

BRUSH FIRES ARE CLOSELY WATCHED

Great Northern Orders Its Patrolmen to Keep Close Watch.

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Incipient woods fires, some of which threatened to do considerable damage, reported to State Forest Ranger Nelson in Hibbing last night, caused him to order out all the railroad patrolmen of the Great Northern in the vicinity of Nashwauk and Keewatin, as well as the patrolmen at several points along the line of the Missabe.

The biggest of the fires reported was in the vicinity of Keewatin and was doing some damage to standing timber. Fires were also reported in the vicnity of Marble and Nashwauk.

Fires Near Alice.

Two small fires were running in the country to the south of Alice last night and caused some anxiety to the residents of the outlying districts of the village. There were frequent calls to the fire department in Hibbing, but Chief Charles McIlhargey, after looking over the ground and taking precautionary measures, decided the danger of their coming up to the village was slight.

W. C. Barrett and Herman Antonelli last night aided a Finnish settler on the Wilpen road in putting out a fire which ignited a bath house on his place, just this side of Penobscot creek and threatened its destruction.

BRUSH FIRES BAD IN ITASCA COUNTY

Railroad Stations at Marble and Gunn Junction Are Destroyed.

Coleraine, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Forest fires have been threatening in Itasca county the last two days. The fire companies at Bovey and Coleraine have been called out to fight nearby fires. Neither of these villages are in immediate danger, but the authorities are taking no chances. Reports came from Gunn Junction on the Great Northern, near Grand Rapids, that the railroad station, section houses and water tank were burned there.

Marble Station Burns.

The Great Northern passenger and freight station at Marble was burned last night by forest fires south of town. For a time the entire town was in danger, but the fire-fighters had the flames under control before midnight. Early this morning the situation has been relieved by showers.

NEED SCHOOL ROOM.

Chisholm Board Will Not Delay Increasing Present Facilities.

Chisholm, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school board has ordered bids called for for all outside repairing and for building of fences around the buildings now unfenced. The Lincoln school will be among those that will be looked after.

The plans and specifications for the new school building will be ready for final acceptance on May 8. It is expected that a call for bids will be issued the bids to be opened on May 23 when if everything is favorable the contracts will be let for the immediate construction of the building.

The board has been badly hampered the last year for lack of room and the demand for another spacious school building is pressing.

You'll Be Healthier and Happier Every Day in the Year If You Regularly Drink

White Rock Water

Professor Koch, of Berlin, and other noted scientists agree that the drinking of a clinically pure carbonated water such as WHITE ROCK is one of the most efficient means of aiding digestion.

SOCIALISTS TO HAVE BIG TIME

Morris Kaplan and Others to Speak at Chisholm Next Sunday.

Chisholm, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Socialists are planning a big celebration next Sunday. A program has been arranged which will include some speaking of more than local character.

Morris Kaplan of Duluth will make an open air talk from the corner of First avenue and Lake street at 2:30 in the afternoon.

The Hibbing Socialist band will furnish the music and a big parade will be given headed by that musical organization.

In the evening a moving picture show will be given in the Workers hall. "The Cry of the Children," "The White Slave Traffic," "The Problem of Life," "Scenes and Travels You Have Missed," etc., will be among the pictures displayed.

TWO HARBORS BOY BORNE TO GRAVE

Last Rites for Bland Truman, Who Died Suddenly Early Tuesday.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Bland Truman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Truman, who died very suddenly Tuesday morning of heart failure, was held this afternoon from the residence. Burial was in the Two Harbors cemetery.

Bud Truman, a brother of the deceased, who resides at Biwabik, is here and will remain here until after the funeral. Miss Delia Truman, a sister who is teaching school at Castle Danger also arrived home yesterday.

PRAISES VIRGINIA.

Virgina, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. A. Marshall, the theatrical manager of Duluth, spoke in glowing terms of the future of the city of Virginia while here.

While Mr. Marshall did not give any positive assurance that he would erect a new theater here, he admitted that he has sized up the theater situation here and there seems little doubt that he will secure a house here before very long.

FORMER SUPERIOR WOMAN IS CALLED.

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. L. Cormack received a telegram announcing the death Tuesday at Oryille, Wash., of her oldest sister, Mrs. H. Roseman, a former resident of Hibbing and one of the pioneers of Superior, Wis. The news came as a sad shock to Mrs. Cormack as she had not been informed of Mrs. Roseman's illness. Mrs. Roseman was 65 years of age and moved from Hibbing to Washington about three years ago. She leaves a family of grown sons and daughters and will be well remembered by many friends in Hibbing and Superior. It is not improbable that the body may be brought back to Superior for burial.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

C. M. EVERETT IS BURIED AT TOWER.

Tower, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of C. M. Everett was held yesterday afternoon from the St. James Presbyterian church, Rev. Joseph Mopson officiating. The service had been postponed from Tuesday afternoon to await the arrival of relatives from a distance. Interment took place in Lakeview cemetery.

The steamer Erma D is engaged in towing logs, pulpwood and ties down Pike bay to this city for Ole Olson.

The Erma D was the first boat to reach Vermilion dam this season, making the round trip from Tower on Wednesday. She encountered no ice. She is the largest boat of the Lake Vermilion Navigation company and is commanded by Capt. Ed Heglund.

EVELETH WOMAN TO BE BURIED FRIDAY.

Eveleth, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of the late Mrs. J. C. McGillvary has been set for Friday morning at 8 o'clock from the St. Patrick's Catholic church. Rev. Timothy Culligan will officiate. The body will be taken to Hibbing for burial.

GREAT NORTHERN KICKS ON TAXES.

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A representative of the Great Northern road made application to the Stuntz township board for a reduction in the road's real estate taxes on a large share of their lands in towns 52-21 and 58-20. The total of the taxes on the tracts involved, about seventy forties, for the year 1912, was $1,423.61. A reduction to $266.24 is asked. W. F. McKay, county supervisor of assessors, attended the meeting.

HOW TO DESTROY THE DANDRUFF GERM

BY A SPECIALIST.

That the dandruff germ is responsible for nearly all the diseases to which the scalp is heir, as well as for baldness and premature gray hair, is a well known fact, but when we realize that it is also indirectly responsible for many of the worst cases of catarrh and consumption, we appreciate the importance of any agent that will destroy its power. We are, therefore, particularly pleased to give herewith the prescription which an eminent scientist states he has found, after repeated tests, to completely destroy the dandruff germ in from one to three applications. It will also almost immediately stop falling hair and it has in numerous cases produced a new hair-growth after years of baldness. This prescription can be made up at home, or any druggist will put it up for you: 6 ounces Bay Rum, 2 ounces Lavona de Composee, one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Mix thoroughly, and after stadning half an hour it is ready for use. Apply night and morning, rubbing into the scalp with the finger-tips. If you wish it perfumed, add half a teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. While this preparation is not a dye, it is unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color.

BRUSH FIRES RAGE NORTH OF TOWER.

Tower, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A forest fire prevails a few miles south of town near the Frederickson farm. The underbrush is furnishing the fuel for the fire and the atmosphere was smoke-laden all Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Gilbert Saloonist Fined.

Gilbert, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—V. Lechti, who runs the Club saloon, pleaded guilty in a justice's court here yesterday to giving liquor to three boys the youngest 9 and the oldest 11, and was fined $75 and costs. Range probation officers worked up the case after being notified of the boys being discovered drinking beer from a can in the rear of the Club saloon. F. Nyberg, another resident of Gilbert, paid a fine of $20 for selling a 5-cent package of Copenhagen snuff to Joe Jallen, 9 years old.

Put Virginia on Map.

Virgina, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new service of the Western Union combined with the Northern league baseball games being played here is helping to put Virginia on the map. The Western Union strung a special wire from the baseball grounds and the messages sent out over this wire have preference over all others so that the returns of the games may be rushed to the waiting public.

Alice Woman Buried.

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Peter Endmark of Alice, who died Tuesday, was held here yesterday from the Swedish Lutheran church, Rev. Mr. Idstrom officiating and burial was in Hibbing cemetery.

TO TRY INDIAN BOY.

Baraga County, Mich., Redskin Accused of Killing Father.

L'Anse, Mich., May 1.—(Special to The Herald)—Henry Shelafoe, an Indian, will be placed on trial in the circuit court for Baraga county at the term opening here next Monday. He is charged with murder. Shelafoe, who is little more than a boy, killed his father at Keweenaw Bay during the winter. He shot the older man dead in a saloon, after having had an altercation with the bartender. The father died because he interfered. It is believed the defense will be insanity.

JOB KEPT IN FAMILY.

Aged Iron Mountain, Mich., Mail Carrier Succeeded By His Son.

Iron Mountain, Mich., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although Richard James, a veteran mail carrier here, has been compelled to retire from the service because of poor health, the position he has relinquished is retained in the family. Mr. James is succeeded by his son William. The veteran had carried mail in Iron Mountain ever since the service was established in the Menominee iron range metropolis, twenty-two years ago. He is one of the best known and most popular men in the city.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seven Sunday school specialists of world-wide fame will be speakers at the annual convention of the North Dakota Sunday School association which will be held here June 10, 11 and 12. W. E. Carpenter of Brazil, Ind.; Prof. W. S. Athearn, Des Moines, Iowa; Dr. Frank McElfresh of Chicago; E. C. Knapp of Spokane, Wash.; A. Lincoln Hall of Philadelphia; Mrs. E. C. Knapp of Spokane, and Dr. Adam Gerbert of Philadelphia.

BEMIDJI FIRM LOSES $215 BY ROBBERY.

Bemidji, Minn., May 1.—O. C. Rood & Co. are mourning the loss of $215 taken by a sneak thief Tuesday night from the desk in the rear where Mr. Rood, who had been counting the day's receipts, $225, left it while he went out for lunch.

When Mr. Rood returned he found a back window broken and all of the money except a $10 bill and some loose change was gone. Mr. Rood believes that the thief watched him through a back window of the store, and when he went out, the thief quickly smashed the window and made his get-away. The police were notified at once, and outbound trains were watched, but the robber has not been caught.

JUVENILE PROTECTION IN GRAND FORKS.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Juvenile protection on the same plan that has been adopted in many of the large cities of the United States will be made effective in Grand Forks by the Juvenile Protection league, organized by citizens.

The plan of the association is to work in conjunction with the police department in the handling of all cases of juvenile delinquency. Miss Pearl Blough, formerly of Minneapolis, police matron of the city, is prominently identified with the movement.

To Teach in Philippines.

Chatham, Mich., April 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nat Hynes, for the last three years superintendent of the schools of Rock River township, Alger county, who recently resigned, will sail from San Francisco this week for the Philippines to enter the service of the insular government. Eighty other instructors from various parts of the United States will depart on the same steamship. Mr. Hynes has been appointed to a position similar to the post he held in Upper Michigan.

Eau Claire Sawmill Sold.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 1.—The big sawmill of the Daniel Shaw Lumber company, which was closed down last fall after being in operation more than fifty years, was sold yesterday to the John H. Kaiser Lumber company of this city. The deal included mill stock and real estate, the consideration not being named. The Kaiser company will operate its mill in this city and also the newly acquired plant.

Raising Club Funds.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club will be placed on a budget basis, and today the directors of the organization will conclude a three-day campaign which is expected to result in the completion of the fund sought. The budget will cover all departments of club activity, and is designed to place the organization on a better working basis.

Fergus Falls Church Burns.

Fergus Falls, Minn., May 1. — The old Presbyterian church, an old frame structure, was burned Tuesday evening along with the parsonage, an adjoining residence and two barns. The Fergus broom factory lost $1,500 worth of broomcorn in storage. The fire was set by boys.

CHILD NEARLY CRAZY ECZEMA ITCHED SO

Head and Face Raw All Over, Hair Coming Out Badly, Scales on Head. Simply a Sight. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In Six Weeks Sound and Well.

Coon Rapids, Iowa.—"When my little girl was two years old there was a sore came on her head just above the temple in her hair in the shape of a boil. It kept getting larger, causing her lots of pain. After a couple of weeks it broke out in pimples all over her head and face. She was a sight I tell you. It affected her eyes so she could hardly see. We thought she would go blind. Her head and face were raw all over. It kept getting worse all the time, and was just raw sores. Her hair came out badly when it was combed and we were afraid it would all come out. The eczema itched so it nearly set her crazy. By spells there were scales on her head as large as a quarter. She was disfigured; she was just simply a sight. She was cross and fretful all the time.

"I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. We could see an improvement the first week and she got better right along. In six weeks she was sound and well. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured her." (Signed) Amos Paslay, Apr. 16, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

The Story of the Technola Piano

PART II.

HERE is a moderate-priced player-piano possessing the structural features, the fidelity of workmanship and the high artistic ideals that characterize all the products of this great house. Based on their knowledge of the entire player field, both in this country and abroad, the Aeolian Co. makes the unequivocal statement:

—That no player-piano at any price (save only the Pianola Piano) is superior to the Technola Piano.

but always to protect—not one but runs far greater risk of sudden injury or death than the soldier or marine of our country does today. There is little danger of any of these ever seeing war, thank God! They will only have to parade."

The speaker pictured a possible foreign invasion as follows: "British authorities consider it might be possible for an enemy to land as many as 170,000 men upon their island in three weeks, and they believe they have provided a force sufficient to deal with this number. We could cope with seven times this number of invaders, if we could only induce them to accept our invitation to march far enough inland and partake of our hospitality until they were rested and gave us notice they were ready to begin operations. We would probably conquer without firing a shot. Thousands might decide to stay in the great West and work and save until they could buy a farm. We might turn invaders into citizens.

For World Police.

"I believe in the formation of an international police, never for aggression, always for protection, if needed, of the peace of the civilized world. This requires only the agreement of a few of the leading nations.

"Three or four leading peace nations combined, constituting, as they would, an overwhelming force, unbroken peace would almost certainly be ensured, for to break it would be folly. If ever it were broken, however, it would be well before resorting to force for the peace-preserving nations to first proclaim non-intercourse with the offender, no loans, no exchange of products, no military or naval supplies—above all, no mails—this would serve as a solemn warning and probably prove effective, but if not, then as a last resort force should be used. This plan seems the easiest and speediest mode of attaining international peace."

Mr. Carnegie deplored the failure of the senate to ratify the Taft peace treaties.

Benjamin F. Trueblood, secretary of the American Peace society, spoke on "The Present Demands of the Peace Movement."

Trueblood for Arbitration.

"We must urge," he said, "that all controversies not susceptible of adjustment by direct negotiation be submitted to the court of arbitration at The Hague, or to other tribunals which it may be found advisable to create at the moment. We have heard too much about 'national honor' and 'vital interests' and hair-splitting distinctions between justiciable and non-justiciable disputes. Are we not trying to conceal a hankering after war and pillage every time we use one of these vague and indefinable terms? There are no unarbitral controversies in our day between nations whose independence mutually is recognized."

Would Limit Armaments.

Mr. Trueblood said that when the present administration at Washington takes up the matter of arbitration treaties, every pressure must be brought on the senate to bring about the ratification of the compacts.

He also urged that the United States take the lead in securing an agreement among the powers for a limitation of armaments.

INDIAN USES KEROSENE

To Start Fire at Search Bay, Mich., and Loses Life.

Hessel, Mich., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Due, it is reported, to an attempt to kindle a kitchen fire with kerosene, Samuel Moses, an Indian, was burned to death at Search Bay in a log cabin in which he was sleeping. Only part of his remains were found. These were buried in the cemetery at Indian village, on Pine river. Moses was 30 years of age. His father and sister escaped from the cabin, the man with serious burns, suffered in a futile attempt to extinguish the fire and then to save his son.

STOMACH SUFFERERS, CHEER UP! TAKE SAMUEL'S "3-P" CAPSULES

Did you ever stop to think that stomach trouble makes a different person of you? It just turns your whole world upside down, makes you feel blue, downcast, despondent and unfit for pleasure or business. If you eat what you crave you have a sour stomach, heartburn, feel bloated, uncomfortable, full of misery—indigestion; you often have sleepless nights, are nervous and irritable, lack interest in the things in which you formerly took pleasure.

You, too, will praise "3-P" like Mr. J. F. Townsend, a prominent wholesale merchant of Columbus, Ohio, who says: "Your '3-P' has done me a great deal of good. I would hate to think I could not get them as they are certainly all you claim for them."

Now, this very day, stop dieting and starving your already weakened system. Thousands have found how needless it is to have a bad stomach by getting at the drug store a 25-cent package of this prescription after the formula of a famous French specialist, put up in easy-to-take, gelatin capsules.

Ask your Druggist for Samuel's 3-P Book on every packet for the name of Samuel and our Trade Mark of the figure 3 in the large letter P

All your stomach distress will go and with it that belching of sour, undigested food, and your nerves will tingle with renewed vitality; you'll sleep good and feel good.

WOMEN START FRESH FIRES

Suffragettes Burn Stable and Boathouse in Their Campaign.

Mrs. Belmont Criticizes the Course of the British Government.

London, May 1.—Miss Annie Kenney, one of the most prominent of the militant suffragettes, was arrested today as soon as she set foot in England on her arrival from the continent. A detective had accompanied her from Paris bearing a warrant charging her with conspiracy.

Miss Kenney was arraigned later at the Bow street police court and remanded until tomorrow by the magistrate, who refused to grant bail.

The police still are in possession of the headquarters of the Woman's Social and Political union, the militant suffragette organization in Kingsway. The telephone switchboard in the offices has been placed in charge of a detective.

Issue Their Paper.

The suffragettes managed this afternoon to issue their paper, the "Suffragette," in spite of the warning of the government counsel. The number consisted of eight pages, the front page containing only the one word, "Raided!" in large type. Most London news dealers refused to handle the publication and only a few women were selling it on the streets. The type and all the other printing materials were seized yesterday in the raid by the police.

Notwithstanding the activity of the police the campaign of arson conducted by the militant suffragettes was continued this morning. A large stable at Handon, a Northwestern suburb of London was set on fire and practically destroyed. A placard with the words: "Votes! Votes! Votes! Beware!" was found posted on the premises.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York, left for Paris today. Before leaving she said:

"The British government learns nothing from history. The present coercive measures against the suffragettes are bound to fail."

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt of New York intends to attend a meeting of protest against the payment of taxes by the duchess of Bedford. Distraint was levied on the property of the duchess on April 21 and a silver cup belonging to her was taken by the tax collectors to satisfy the claim. Tomorrow Mrs. Catt will make her first public speech in England at a meeting of the Actresses' Franchise league.

A boathouse on the Thames, opposite Hampton court palace, together with a number of boats, was destroyed by suffragettes early today.

AUSTRIA, ITALY AND ENGLAND MAY OCCUPY MONTENEGRIN PORTS

to an Antivari dispatch to the Mail. The majority of these are from Styria. A large number of Austrian troops also are proceeding to Antivari by sea.

A Vienna dispatch of the Times says that in the event of Austria attempting to coerce Montenegro there is little doubt that she would be supported by Italy, which probably would occupy Santa Quaranta and Avlona, while Austria would proceed against Lovichen mountain and Scutari. In order to avoid needlessly offending Russia, the action against Scutari would be carried out through Albania, not from Herzegovina.

Danger of Conflict.

The Sofia correspondent of the Times learns that the Greek and Servian forces now massed in Southern Macedonia aggregate 220,000. They are confronted by three Bulgarian divisions totaling 60,000 men. Almost all the remaining Bulgarian forces are still before Dulkir and Tchataija.

The Bulgarian government, the dispatch adds, is exhausting every means to arrive at a friendly arrangement with Servia and Greece, but the danger of a conflict is still imminent.

Peace Plans Progressing.

In the meantime arrangements are in progress for the definite conclusion of peace between the Balkan allies and Turkey. The European powers have requested the respective governments to appoint plenipotentiaries who when meeting in London will be invited to sign a draft of the preliminaries which the powers have already drawn up. This course has been adopted in order to prevent prolonged discussion.

"OLD ANDY IS NO MORE"

Herald building, resigning this position two weeks ago.

At the time of his death he had been reading the "Life of John A. Johnson." The bookmark indicated that he had read this book about half way through.

Wold was a member of Duluth lodge, No. 28, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. He was a member of the lodge's degree team and carried in his pocket a notification to attend the next meeting of the team. He also carried an identification shield showing membership in the Loyal Protective League of Boston, Mass.

The deceased had charge of the engineering plants of The Herald, McKay and Henderson buildings prior to his death. He was considered an efficient engineer and had a host of friends among the tenants of those buildings.

Little is known of his relatives. He is believed to have a brother, Arnt A. Wold, whose last address was given as Chetek, Wis. Coroner McComb sent a telegram to that city in the hope of locating Mr. Wold. The brother was here last year, at which time he occupied the room with Andrew.

The body will probably be held at the undertaking rooms until word can be heard from the brother. It is probable that the Odd Fellows will take charge of the funeral arrangements.

securities which would have preference over first mortgage bonds.

"If the railroads are forced to pay extravagant wages to men in train service, the burden must fall on the public. You will readily see, therefore, why, in considering your demands, we hold the public interest paramount.

"Already the traffic of a growing country has overtaxed the existing facilities; and the heavy burdens incurred through ill-advised legislation, such as extra crew bills—for which the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen is alone responsible—have forced on the railroads, and consequently on the public, needless expenditures of millions of dollars annually. All of these factors are making it impossible for many of the roads to provide those facilities which prudent foresight demands and which the interests of the public require.

"Gain all, Lose Nothing."

"In making demands for extravagant wages—wages entirely out of accord with the railroads' obligations as a whole—railway employes apparently act on the assumption that a strike that would tie up traffic would never be permitted by the public. They seem to think that if a strike is to be avoided the railroads must give way; that the public will force them to give way, believing that arbitration must take place; and that in the end the splitting of differences between what they demand and the wages they will receive will result in their favor. In other words, the employes have everything to gain and nothing to lose."

FREE LUMBER FIGHT

swered Leader Underwood, "and I would call them nuisances."

Representative Mondell of Wyoming called them "these little choo-choo affairs that are a cross between the bicycle and the automobile."

Attacked Metal Schedule.

Just before taking up the wood schedule, the last paragraph of the metal schedule was reverted to on a late amendment submitted by Representative Green of Massachusetts, who said he was acting at the request of Democrats in his district.

Greene, a Republican, declared that jewelers and jewelry workers in his district, who said they voted for President Wilson, had protested against the Underwood rate of 25 per cent on metals partly composed of platinum, silver or gold or plated. He said he had received a letter from 104 jewelers, who claimed to be Democrats, another from the North Attleboro Democratic town committee and one from the Democratic town committee of another town in his district, protesting against the Underwood rate and urging restoration of the Payne rates. An amendment to restore them was voted down.

May Finish by Saturday.

"I think we'll finish with the tariff in the house by Saturday night," Democratic Leader Underwood said last night after an all-day debate on the iron and steel schedule.

The metal schedule is only the third of the fourteen schedules, which are followed by the free list, the technicalities of the administrative provisions and the income tax plan, and many of the members of the house are prepared to see the debate stretch into next week. Representative Gardner of Massachusetts, one of the Republican members of the ways and means committee, figured on passage of the revision measure about next Tuesday night. But Mr. Underwood, smiling and confident, saw nothing to disturb the plan for shifting the scene of the tariff bill to the senate with the opening of next week.

The Democratic leader does not believe a special rule will be necessary to put the bill through. The plan is to have the measure adopted within an hour after the reading for amendment has been concluded. All day yesterday and again last night the Democrats, with their overwhelming majority, bowled over all amendments proposed by the Republicans and Progressives.

Heckled Palmer.

The iron and steel schedule was the particular subject of attack and Representative Palmer of Pennsylvania, in charge of that schedule for the ways and means committee, frequently was reminded from the Republican side of the fact that the South Bethlehem company was in his district. Representative Mann of Illinois, Republican leaders, and others charged that the duty on ferro-manganese was distinctly in the interest of the United States Steel corporation, with its subsidiary plants, and that the enhancement of value of ferro-manganese in this country, under the proposed advance in rates, should be sufficient to warrant the Pennsylvania member's indefinite continuance in congress.

Representative Stanley of Kentucky aroused Chairman Underwood with a statement that convict labor was employed in the steel mills of Alabama, that convicts were worked in the mines, and in some instances corporations had runners around police stations to pick up persons arrested for minor offenses and send them to the mines.

"I want to say," Mr. Underwood declared, "that I voted to put iron ore on the free list, thus affecting my own business, but I can't stand here and listen to a slander on my own constituency."

He emphatically denied Mr. Stanley's charges.

Miller Assails Stanley.

Representative Miller of Minnesota hotly resented what he characterized as the "habitual looseness of speech indulged in by Mr. Stanley." Mr. Stanley retorted that Miller's remarks were bold and impudent.

Mr. Miller repudiated the Stanley steel investigation committee.

BRYAN SEES JAPANESE

the extent of the restrictions placed upon aliens who are not permitted to become citizens, although the limitations are precisely those imposed in the existing treaties between the United States and Japan, China and other nations whose subjects are ineligible.

In the case of Japan, they are prohibited entirely from acquiring or holding land for farming or agricultural purposes, and it is declared that the passage of the act will put an end not only to the growth of Japanese farming colonies, but eventually to the colonies themselves. According to Senator Thompson, who has made a study of the bill the theory is as follows:

"Only citizens and those eligible to become citizens may be proprietors of land. They may employ Japanese and Chinese, but they cannot lease or otherwise give such aliens any interest or share in their proprietorship. Such land as is now held by Japanese and Chinese cannot be bequeathed to their alien heirs. It must be sold."

"The practical result of the bill," said Senator Thompson, "will be that all further acquisitions will be prevented, leasing colonies will be exterminated, and at the end of the present generation most of the land now held by Japanese and Chinese will be owned by citizens."

FIRE THREATENS ROYAL FOREST.

Celle, Germany, May 1.—A great forest fire has been raging in this district since Wednesday evening. It has devastated 10,000 acres and now menaces the village of Rebberlah and the royal forest. The flames today crossed the railroad running from Hanover to Hambury holding up the trains for several hours.

BRYAN FINISHES WESTERN MISSION.

Washington, May 1.—Secretary Bryan has telegraphed from Sacramento that he will leave that city tonight for Washington. If he can reach St. Louis in time he will deliver an address in that city at the American peace conference convention Saturday night. The secretary probably has communicated directly to President Wilson the latest developments in allen land owning legislation, but pending the final action of the legislature, officials here are silent.

PEACE IN PARIS LABOR CIRCLES.

Paris, May 1.—For the first time in many years May day appeared destined this morning to pass off without any disturbance of the peace, the general confederation of labor having decided not to call upon its members to demonstrate in celebration of "labor day." The government, however, took the precaution of posting strong forces of police in various parts of Paris, where they would be in a position to cope with any outbreak of disorder.

Growing Respect for Schoolmaster, Says Andrew Nelson in Address.

Election of Woodrow Wilson an Example of This Esteem.

The Duluth Schoolmasters' club held its April meeting and supper at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. The feature of the meeting was an address by Andrew Nelson, attorney at law, and member of the board of education.

Mr. Nelson referred to the fact that with Woodrow Wilson's election to the presidency, the stock of the schoolmaster has gone up, that in the Twentieth century responsibilities of the school man have expanded and at the same time the right-minded teacher is being held in higher esteem for his co-operation with the people.

In his address Mr. Nelson referred to the greater opportunity and the wider field open to the teacher of today, as compared with twenty years ago. The work of the teacher has become more practical as well as broader, and his aim is to fit boys and girls for life rather than to fill their minds with a lot of undigested and unrelated facts.

"Hence in these later days we have introduced manual training and vocational courses of all kinds into our curricula of study," said the speaker.

"Moreover, our educators have quite generally come to understand that their work comprehends not only the training of the intellect but the moulding, guiding and developing of the emotions and the will as well. As a result they have assumed to share with the parents the great responsibility of developing the character of their pupils and wielded along right lines. This fact has rendered the duties of the teacher most varied and complex, as compared with the teacher of the past generation.

More Sympathy.

"As a result of this increased responsibility and widened field of activity and usefulness, the public has begun to regard the teacher with kindlier sympathy and a better understanding and appreciation of his work. During the past ten years the respect for and the admiration of the profession of teaching has greatly grown, and this feeling of sympathy, respect and appreciation of the work of the teacher and the high quality of character, which the men and women who follow this work generally possess, has culminated in the election of Woodrow Wilson, a teacher of boys, as president of the United States."

Mr. Nelson also alluded to the fact that the schoolmaster is not the monk and recluse he used to be. He has come to understand that the most sagacious scholar is he who oftenest leaves his study to observe the men and women of the market place, just as the wisest politician is he who spends a large amount of his time in study and meditation. This attitude has made the present day schoolmaster an exponent of enlightened twentieth century democracy. This fact is an additional reason for the new esteem with which the public regard him. "The spirit of the new teacher is best exemplified in President Wilson, who throughout his work as a teacher burned with the desire to spread and promulgate true democracy in our universities," he said.

"The great voice of America does not come from the seats of learning. It comes in a murmur from the hills and woods and farms and factories and the mills, rolling and gaining volume until it comes to us from the homes of common men. Do these murmurs echo in the corridors of the universities? I have not heard them. The universities would make men forget their common origins, forget their universal sympathies, and join a class—and no class can ever serve America. I have dedicated every power there is within me to bring the colleges that I have anything to do with to an absolutely democratic regeneration in spirit, and I shall not be satisfied until America shall know that the men in the colleges are saturated with the same thought, the same sympathy, that pulses through the whole body politic."

Reports from standing committees showed definite organization toward results that count in a practical way. Among these were reports by T. F. Phillips, chairman of the boys' employment committee; Principal Leonard Young, chairman of the vocational guidance committee, and J. F. Taylor, chairman of the program committee. The date for the annual meeting was set for May 28, at which time officers for next year will be elected.

Among important actions was the unanimous adoption of resolutions commending Commissioner W. A. Hieken upon his strong stand for law enforcement.

BRITISH WORKERS CABLE PROTEST.

London, May 1.—An extremely hostile attitude toward the British delegation now on its way to the United States to arrange for the Anglo-American centenary has been taken by a section of British working men. At their head is Ben Tillett, secretary of the Dock Workers' union. An appeal sent by cable on their behalf today to Samuel Gompers, is as follows:

"British workers appeal to the American trades unions not to mask the Carnegie peace delegates' mission to America. They hope America will not support the suggestion that she should assist England in making war against Germany.—Ben Tillett."

MISSOURIANS RUSH TO GET INSURANCE

More Than Thirty Companies Decide to Stay in the State.

Kansas City, Mo., May 1.—More than ninety insurance agencies of this city, representing the fire insurance companies which have decided to suspend business in Missouri, closed their business here at midnight. The agents had instructions from the home companies to sign no policies after that hour.

The agents wrote hundreds of policies last night. One agent is said to have written policies representing $8,000,000 insurance during yesterday. Clients of old line companies whose policies were about to expire were eager to have their old policies renewed and this added to the volume of business.

Many Will Stay.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 1.—Superintendent of Insurance Revelle announced today that more than thirty foreign fire insurance companies have notified him that they will not leave the state on account of the Orr insurance law.

It was because of this statute that most of the companies in the Western Insurance union and in the Western Insurance bureau agreed to cease writing policies in Missouri after April 30.

WEED QUITS POSTAL BANK.

Washington, May 1.—Theodore L. Weed, director of the postal savings system since its establishment, presented to Postmaster General Burleson today his resignation effective June 30. Mr. Weed will engage in business in New York.

Duchess Is Better.

London, May 1.—A slight improvement was noted today in the condition of the duchess of Connaught, wife of the governor general of Canada, who was operated on a second time for abdominal trouble on April 29.

Twine Strike Settled.

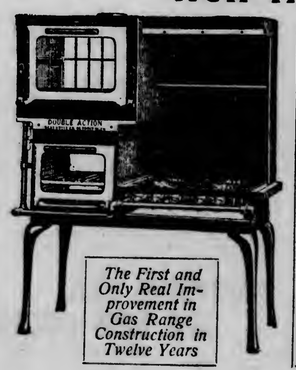
Be Sure to Specify This Gas Range for Your New Home or Flat Building



The First and Only Real Improvement in Gas Range Construction in Twelve Years

The Best Double Action Is Surely a Departure From the Old Style Gas Consumers—Let Us Show You Why

IT DIFFERS IN MANY WAYS.

There is no use denying that with the old style gas range whatever was being cooked in the oven had to be turned a number of times to prevent the bottom baking faster than the top, the top faster than the bottom, or the sides faster than the center. Uniform baking, or roasting was impossible without constantly changing the position of the food.

Broiling was rarely attempted owing to the fact that it was hard to accomplish without setting the broiler on fire.

Judging by outward appearance, the Double Action Gas Range, aside from the original features of dress, is practically like many other gas ranges—but there the likeness ends.

No other gas range heats its oven as does the Double Action.

No other gas range broils as does the Double Action.

The Double Action gas range is constructed on an entirely new principle and is different from all other gas ranges made. The Double Action gas range uses the heat in the oven twice, and is the only oven in the world that does. The Double Action gas range has only two rows of fire in the oven where all others have three or four, which means that the Double Action oven uses from thirty-three and one-third to fifty per cent less gas.

THE HERALD HAS A REAL CIRCULATION

The Duluth Herald leads all Minnesota newspapers (outside the Twin Cities) by thousands of daily paid subscribers, and this noteworthy circulation has been secured without the artificial aid of guessing contests, or cheap premiums in the form of frying pans, razor strops, foot warmers, pokers, rat traps, etc. The Herald enjoys the unique distinction of being the only Duluth newspaper that has not resorted to these circulation schemes.

HONEST CIRCULATION

The Herald is delivered by carrier every evening to 96 PER CENT of the homes of Duluth, thus combining QUANTITY with QUALITY of a high order. The Herald has proven its value as one of the most productive advertising mediums of America, and its advertisers are assured of getting what they pay for, and what they are entitled to—REAL circulation, substantial and solid, that produces the maximum of results.

WEST DULUTH GIRL IS THE BRIDE OF SOUTHERN MAN

MRS. C. W. MIDDLECOFF.

CHARNELL W. MIDDLECOFF.

A pretty home wedding took place yesterday when Miss Esther E. Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Murray, 428 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, became the bride of Charnell W. Middlecoff of Milan, Tenn. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First Methodist church, reading the service.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Charlotte McFarlane, Rev. Mr. Rice and the groom entered the parlor at 10 o'clock. The bride, accompanied by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Madeline Murray, followed, after which immediate friends and relatives entered.

The bride wore a handsome gown of cream brocaded satin with an overdrape of cream Spanish lace and pearls, the latter having been worn by the mother twenty-seven years before. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Another feature of the wedding was the gloves worn by the groom, which were the same as worn by the bride's father on his wedding day. The bridesmaid wore a pink figured silk organdy with Irish point lace and carried pink flowers.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Middlecoff left in the afternoon for Minneapolis, where they will visit a few days. A reception will be held for them there this evening. They will leave Saturday for the South, and after spending two weeks visiting various places, will make their home at Milan, Tenn.

Miss Murray was one of West Duluth's most popular young women. She was secretary of the Euclid chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, last year, and held a similar position with the West Duluth lodge, Royal Neighbors.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception for the bride on Monday evening. The home was prettily decorated in red and white streamers, bells and hearts. The guests were:

Mesdames Bishop, Scott and Middlecoff.

Misses Agnes Campbell, Mabel Sorensen, Charlotte McFarlane, Floretta Bujold, Laura McFarlane, Edna Ross, Mildred Winters, Mary Wolfrom, Clara Schulte, Clara Wolfrom, Mary Schulte, Alice Whalen, Cecila Schulte, Grace Smith, Belle Ashford, Ruby Mitchell, Hortence Carr, Hilda Hanson, Jennie Lind, Anna Murray, Gravell, Callahan, Madeline Murray, Nita Murphy, Melline Lowe, Grace White, Anna Brand, Esther Donald, Mollie Fink, Doela Fink, Elizabeth Fink, Ellyn Anderson, Gertrude Empete, Anna Legerman, Elizabeth O'Connor and Minnie Fedi.

prettily decorated for the occasion. Prizes in the various games were won by Mrs. E. A. Silberstein, Mrs. W. M. Evered, Mrs. Weddell, and Mrs. C. O. Applehagen.

The guests were: Mesdames—J. P. Buckley, W. M. Evered, E. A. Silberstein, M. C. Albenberg, C. O. Applehagen, Weddell, and S. J. Nygren.

PREPARING FOR ORATORY CONTEST

Team Will Be Chosen to Compete for Wallace Cup.

Pupils of the Duluth Industrial high school are preparing for the Wallace cup contest which will take place on May 11. Four members of the senior class will compete on either Monday or Tuesday for representation on the team that will uphold the honors of the West Duluth school.

These are John Davies, Esther Fieldman, Mabel Melin and Emeline Brett. Three judges will decide the championship, one of whom will be Robert E. Denfeld, superintendent of schools. The other two judges have not been decided on.

I. O. G. T. Meeting.

H. M. Jacobson of St. Paul, grand chief templar for the Scandinavian grand lodge of I. O. G. T. in Minnesota, is in the city today.

He attended the regular meeting of the Morning Star lodge last evening at Dormedy hall. He said that the law enforcement people all over the state are admiring the stand taken by the commission of this city. The Morning Star lodge now has a membership of 125 and has instructed its trustees to buy a lot on which to build its temple.

Election of officers took place last night. The following were elected for the next quarter:

Chief templar, Gust Hedman; vice templar, Hulda Soderberg; past chief templar, N. J. Nelson; lodge deputy, And. Berrilson; lodge secretary, Mrs. J. RACINE BUILDING WORK IS HALTED.

Racine, Wis., May 1.—The building industry in Racine practically is at a standstill as a result of the expiration of labor contracts and the subsequent refusal of contractors to meet demands for increased wages.

Several hundred union workers, including carpenters, lathers and journeymen plumbers, demanded various increases in wages ranging from 5 cents per hour to a flat increase of 50 cents per day.

Increases were granted to the tinners and electricians and they worked on without interruption. At present there is no indication of a settlement being reached.

Soo Line Yards' Fire.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1.—Fire, believed to have been caused by sparks from an engine, destroyed several buildings in the Soo line train yards last night, causing $25,000 damage. The work of the firemen was hampered by a strong wind.

STORAGE YARD IS PLANNED

Steel Plant Will Have Facilities for Handling Coal and Limestone.

Three Additional Open Hearth Furnaces Will Cost $760,000.

An immense storage yard for coal and limestone will be constructed at the steel plant.

This yard will be 1,000 feet long by 600 feet wide and will have sufficient capacity to store the necessary supplies of coal and limestone.

It has been officially announced that three additional open hearth furnaces will be constructed at the plant. These will cost $760,000. Another reheating furnace will also be erected. These additions were found necessary to balance the plant. The blast furnaces, it was found, would turn out more pig iron than the seven open hearth furnaces would handle, and the three additional furnaces were necessary for economical operation.

There will be ninety coke ovens in the new plant and these are now being constructed. They will have a capacity of 1,000 tons a day.

The plant presents a very busy scene these days. Work is evidently being rushed and six coaches are now needed to transport the workmen returning to Duluth in the evening. In addition to the men on the train there are many who reside in the boarding houses at Gary and New Duluth.

WILL MAKE THEIR OWN DRESSES

Graduation Not Expensive for West Duluth School Girls.

Grls of the senior class of the Duluth Industrial high school will not have to call on their mothers or dressmakers to make their graduating gowns or lingerie. The entire outfit, gowns, underskirts and other wearing apparel will be made by the eight girls in the class.

Miss Esther Perusse, teacher of sewing at the school, said this morning that the girls had become very proficient in dressmaking, and that the articles made by them would be a credit to many expert dressmakers.

PREPARING BIDS FOR NEW CHURCH

Contractors are preparing bids for the construction of the new Proctor Methodist church on the east side of the village. The bids, which will be separate for the foundation and superstructure, are expected to be all before the trustees of the church before the middle of next week.

The church will be modern in every respect. It will be 32 feet wide and 52 feet deep. A full basement will be constructed in which will be provided a large room for Sunday school classes and will be used for social gatherings during the week days, a modern kitchen and the engine room.

The main floor will be provided with a seating room for 150 communicants. A balcony which will seat fifty-seven more is also provided for. In the rear of the church will also be Sunday school rooms which will be provided with sliding doors in order that it may be thrown open when additional seating capacity is required.

Construction work will commence immediately following the letting of the contract. It is hoped by members of the congregation to have the church completed so that it may be dedicated early in the fall. The estimated cost of the structure is placed at $6,000. Most of this money has now been subscribed by the people of Proctor.

IS PROSTRATED BY THE HEAT

New Duluth Man Overcome By Sudden Change in Temperature.

The first heat prostration of the year reported in Duluth took place at 3 o'clock yesterday at New Duluth when Joe Krueger dropped in front of the fire hall at New Duluth. Krueger was picked up in a semi-conscious condition by Sergeant McDermott of the New Duluth police station and restoratives administered.

Krueger is an employe at the steel plant. The sudden change in the weather early in the afternoon is believed to have caused his sudden illness.

BICYCLISTS ARE TOO RECKLESS

Must Quit Riding on Sidewalks as Result of Serious Accident.

Boys will have to quit riding bicycles on sidewalks in this end of the city. That is the ultimatum issued by Lieut. C. R. Wilcox of the West Duluth police station this morning. A number of complaints have been received by the police of boys riding on the walks in a reckless manner.

One of these came in last night when two boys ran into two women on Fifty-seventh avenue near Cody street. The women were wheeling a baby carriage, which was overturned by the collision, the baby narrowly escaping death by landing on a grassy plot between the edge of the sidewalk and the stone curbing.

"We will have no more riding of wheels on the sidewalk," said Lieut. Wilcox this morning. "This ordinance will be strictly enforced where the streets are in condition so that riding on them is not a hardship. In the outskirts it is different; but even there, we will not countenance any reckless riding."

IN WEST DULUTH COURT

Pascal Dilber used abusive language at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maren, 5103 Main street last night after having filled up on stuff usually secured in barrooms. Officer Peterson was called and he was booked up as drunk and disorderly. This morning he pleaded guilty to the charge before Judge Lanners and was fined $35 and costs with the option of sojourning thirty days in the county jail. He chose the latter.

Mrs. Kastriner Hostess.

Mrs. M. Kastriner, 818 North Central avenue, was hostess at a rainbow party at her home yesterday afternoon. Games and music featured the entertainment. The rooms were Immigrants for Canada.

A special car of 200 immigrants who came to Duluth yesterday morning on the Northwestern line, left yesterday afternoon on the Canadian Northern road for Western Canada. They landed in this country last week and are being taken directly across the continent to settle on farms in Canada.

Train Discontinued.

The homeseekers' special train, which has been run every Tuesday morning by the Canadian Northern road since March 11, has been discontinued for the year. Most of the passengers on these specials were bound for farms in Western Canada, according to the local agent.

Flood Damage Repaired.

Through train service by direct routes has been resumed on all lines of the Baltimore & Ohio system. The bridge across the Miami river at Lawrenceburg, Ind., on the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern, twenty-five miles west of Cincinnati, which was destroyed during the March floods has been replaced. The total length of the bridge was 1,240 feet, of which 820 feet of steel work was swept away.

COMMISSIONERS IN FARGO CHOSEN

Assume Duties Next Tuesday and Have Already Apportioned Duties.

Fargo, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was a light vote in the city commissioners election yesterday because many traveling men living here were out of the city and many contracting firms had men at out-of-town points. H. F. Emery was elected president, Joseph Ames, Alex Stern, J. J. Jordan and R. B. Blakemore members in the order named. Blakemore was fourteen votes ahead of Thomas Baker and Seth Wright ten behind Baker. Two aldermen were among the candidates. They were last and the third from last. All members except Blakemore are Republicans, although party lines cut no figure in the election.

Commissioners Organize.

The new commissioners will assume charge of the city's affairs Tuesday, May 6, instead of Monday, May 5, as intended.

Jordan will have charge of the police and firemen, Stern of the finances, Ames of the streets and lighting, and Blakemore of the waterworks and sewers.

SOO LINE EMPLOYES WILL BUY SECURITIES

Fond du Lac, Wis., May 1.—A movement was launched here today looking to the organization of a co-operative association among Soo Line employes who have been in the service six months or longer. The plans were explained by M. R. Newhouse of the auditing department and A. R. Kipp, general superintendent of motive power for the Chicago division, and favorably received.

Under the plan, employes will be privileged to set apart a certain sum from their monthly earnings which is to be invested in Soo Line securities, each holder of one share, par value $1, in the proposed association, to have one vote in its management.

As the Soo Line payroll amounts to $9,000,000 annually, it is estimated that a saving of 5 per cent of the wages by employes in this way will create an annual investment fund of nearly $500,000.

The plan has the two-fold purpose of encouraging thrift and increased interest in the road on the part of the employes.

BILL WOULD PREVENT OPERATION OF TRAINS.

A letter addressed to the public, sent out by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, is to protest against a bill which has been reported favorably by the railroad committee of the state assembly in Pennsylvania. The bill, which is designated as one "to promote the safety of the traveling public and employes on railroads," it is asserted in the circular issued by the Pennsylvania road's officials, as really intended to make impossible the operation of a railroad in case of a strike affecting the higher grades of employes.

The bill provides that it shall be unlawful for any railroad to appoint any person to the position of conductor, engineer, fireman or brakeman, unless such person shall have been similarly employed on any road for eighteen months and shall for three months previous to such appointment been in the employ of the road appointing him to either of the four positions named. The effect of the three-months' provision, the Pennsylvania declares,

SESSION IS QUIET ONE

May and July Wheat Weak, Closing at Low Point.

Flax Has Reaction and Closes at Fraction Below Wednesday.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 1.—After a session marked only by its lassitude the market closed this afternoon in a tired sort of a way. Almost every cereal closed at the lowest point reached during the day. That was true at any rate of May and July wheat options on the Duluth, Minneapolis and Winnipeg markets, durum wheat on the Duluth board and flaxseed both in May and July options on the Duluth board.

May wheat closed ¼c below the close of yesterday and July wheat closed ⅝c below yesterday. May durum closed 1¼c below yesterday's close and May flaxseed dropped ¾c and July flax is down a similar amount from the Wednesday close.

Aside from flax in the coarse grains, barley was the only grain to fall off, dropping 1c from yesterday.

The general tone of the market this morning was weak. Trading was slow and the market had a listless air. In the meantime there was a drop in the prices of almost every cereal. Various causes are given, the most important one being the drop in the Minneapolis market caused by the fact that some of the mills there are about to close—at least rumor says so. Another reason given is that the only market open on the other side of the pond is Liverpool, the other markets being closed in observance of Ascension day, as is also the market at Buenos Ayres. Reports that Continental dealers are willing to resell cargoes received on account of excellent reports on crops in America and Argentine Republic does not help the price situation at all. There is scarcely any export business at present except that of flax from the Canadian Northwest, and this fact has a deteriorating effect.

May wheat opened at the same price as the close of yesterday, but soon sagged, going as low as ¼c under early in the day. July wheat opened at 92⅝c, ⅛c under yesterday's close, and soon dropped ¼c more. September wheat opened at 94¼c bid, which was ⅛c over the close, but soon lost ground and was quoted at 92⅛c.

May durum wheat opened at 94¾c, yesterday's closing price, but quickly dropped ¼c. July opened at 96c, yesterday's close, but went down ⅜c soon.

May flax closed yesterday and opened today at $1.32, but because of a narrow market went down to $1.32½. July also took a tumble of ¾c.

Cash Wheat Changes.

Cash wheat changes which took place today show that No. 1 northern on track and to arrive is ⅜c under July; No. 2 northern is 2@2½c under No. 1; No. 1 durum is at the July price to ½c over; No. 2 durum is 2c under No. 1. Flax on track and to arrive is ¾c to 2c under the July option.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Duluth car inspection: Wheat—No. 1 hard, 2; No. 1 northern, 38; No. 2 northern, 22; No. 3, 3; no grade, 3; winter, 2; durum, 16; mixed, 2; rejected, 1; total wheat, 89, last year 28; flax, 8, last year 3; rye, 2, last year 1; oats, 8, last year 1; barley, 31; corn, 1; total of all grains, 136, last year 38; on track, 125.

"Reports of our correspondents show an average condition of 91.7 compared with 93.2 last month and the government report of 91.6. The abandoned acreage as reported by the same correspondents is the smallest recorded. The floods in the central states were less destructive than believed a month ago, as shown in the returns of the three affected states. Kansas lost the largest amount of acreage and California had the heaviest percentage of loss. The average over the country was 2.1 and the total loss was 663,000 acres, comparing with 20.1 per cent last year and an acreage of 6,644,000. "Translating the May 1 condition into acreage suggests a crop of 670,-000,000 bu, should the condition be maintained to harvest. On the average of May 1 and the harvest condition of five years the suggested crop is 618,000,000 bu, and on a ten-year average of same character 510,000,000 bu."

Clearances reported are: Wheat, 75,-000 bu; flour, 15,000 bbl; corn, 60,000 bu; oats, 13,000 bu; wheat and flour equal to 143,000 bu.

Primary receipts and shipments are as follows: Wheat—Receipts, 565,000 bu, last year, 464,000 bu; shipments, 865,000 bu, last year, 326,000 bu. Corn—Receipts, 383,000 bu, last year, 594,000 bu; shipments, 383,000 bu, last year, 449,000 bu. Oats—Receipts, 488,000 bu, last year, 347,000 bu; shipments, 523,000 bu, last year, 590,000 bu.

S. S. Dunn, a farmer of Carrington, N. D., says that conditions for a good big crop are perfect in that part of the country. There has been enough frost in the ground and it is coming up just right to produce crops. Mr. Dunn, who was on the Board of Trade this morning, says that all that is needed now is a good heavy rain about June 15 and everything will be lovely, a big crop will be assured. There has been plenty of moisture, he says, and in low places there is yet too much water and seeding has been delayed. He does not expect to see seeding finished before May 15.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Nearly 2,000,000 Bushels of Wheat Delivered on May Contracts.

Chicago, May 1.—Because the greater quantity of wheat delivered on May contracts—1,895,000 bu—went into strong hands that option showed most strength. May opened ½c to ⅝c off at 91½c to 91⅝c and advanced to 92¼c. July started ⅛c to ⅜@½c off at 91⅞@92¼c, but in sympathy with May firmed up to 92⅝.

After a further slight upturn profit-taking caused a reaction from which there was partial recovery. The close was weak for May at 91½c, a net loss of ⅝c, and steady for July at 91⅝c, a net decline of ⅜c.

Corn advanced. May delivery of 60,-000 bu was mainly scattered. July opened a shade to ⅛@¼c off at 55⅞@56c to 56@56⅛c, but on fair buying went up to 56¼@56⅜.

A small additional uplift was met by selling that again lowered prices. The close was nervous with July ⅛c net lower at 56c.

Influential buying lifted oats. July opened unchanged to ⅛c lower at 34⅞c to 35c and went up to 35¼c. May contract deliveries were 405,000 bu, mainly scattered.

Better prices at the yards helped provisions. A net advance of 2½c to 5c was scored. July opened: Pork, $19.65; lard, $10.87½; ribs, $11.02½@11.05.

Closing cash: Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.04½@1.07½; No. 3 red, 95c@$1.00; No. 2 hard, 92@95c; No. 3 hard 92@94½c; No. 1 northern, 92½@94½c; No. 2 northern, 91½@93½c; No. 3 northern, 90@91c; No. 2 spring, 91@93c; No. 3 spring, 89@91c; No. 4 spring, 85@89c; velvet chaff, 89@94c; durum, 95@99c.

REMARKS—Light rain or snow fell over South Dakota and Northern and Western Minnesota, otherwise fair weather was the rule. Freezing weather prevailed in North Dakota and Montana.

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

‡—Maximum of yesterday, minimum of last night.
*—Highest yesterday.
†—Lowest for twenty-four hours, ending at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time.

Note—The average highest and lowest temperatures are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received, and the average precipitations from the number of stations reporting 0.10 inch or more. The "state of weather" is that prevailing at time of observation.

New York Grain.

New York, May 1.—July wheat closed at 99¾c.

Cotton Market.

New York, May 1.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 10 to 19 points on heavy covering and an active demand from bulls or reactionists who were encouraged by firm cables, reports of a smaller increase in acreage than expected and a bullish view of the near month situation owing to prospective shipments from both the New York and New Orleans stocks.

The advance ran the market into big selling orders which appeared to come largely from the South and with the forecasts indicating good weather, prices eased off several points from the best during the early morning.

The market was very nervous and unsettled toward the end of the first hour.

Futures closed steady; closing bids: May, 11.57; June, 11.59; July, 11.63; August, 11.41; September, 11.10; October, 11.04; December, 11.06; January, 11.03; March, 11.11.

STOCKS ARE VERY STRONG

Market Gives Best Exhibition of Strength for Long Time.

Stocks, Recently Demoralized, Go Upward in Spectacular Fashion.

New York, May 1.—Dependence on the foreign markets as a barometer of political conditions abroad was impossible in the stock market today, owing to the holiday at the principal foreign centers.

The absence of official news restricted trading. While the home market started higher, the period of strength was of brief duration, and the downward movement was resumed with some violence in spots.

High class stocks sought substantially lower levels, with a sprinkling of low records by investment and non-dividend paying issues. Speculative leaders showed considerable resiliency, rallying briskly where there was a cessation of liquidation to other quarters. Bonds were easy.

A strength on the first transactions but quickly eased off. Liquidation of some of the recent weak features was continued and several new prices were recorded. New Haven dropped as much as a point between sales, and fell back 3 points to 103. Illinois Central also touched a new low figure at 113, a decline of a point.

Creation of many additional low records by seasoned dividend paying stocks overcame the monetary display of strength at the outset and the general level fell to below yesterday's closing. Some improvement occurred afterwards but the rally caused a considerable contraction in the dealings.

The turn in the tide came with the definite announcement of a change for the better in foreign political affairs. Representative stocks, which had been chafing under the restraint imposed by the liquidation of minor issues, bounded up vigorously, and pulled the whole list upwards. Shorts hastened to cover and bid up prices materially on themselves in their anxiety to get stock.

Canadian Pacific sold 5 points above yesterday's closing and Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Copper and Steel from 1¾ to 2¾. Many stocks which had established new low records in the earlier downward movement, rallied to a point or more above yesterday's figures.

Immediate demands of the short interest having become satisfied, prices were allowed to slip back fractionally, after which the list became dull. Violent movements were common in the downward and upward swings, some active shares vibrating more than 3 points.

The market closed strong. Bulls took aggressive action again in the closing hour and lifted prices another peg. Strength permeated all quarters and stocks which were recently demoralized, such as Rumley, went up in spectacular fashion. In fact the market gave the best exhibition of strength that has been witnessed for a long time.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

Commissioner Hicken introduced the following resolution:

Whereas, There has been a wide difference of opinion among property owners of Duluth for many years past over the relative merits of several permanent paving materials and the climatic, topographical and rock and earth conditions in Duluth seem to give us a problem peculiar to ourselves to work out on this subject, and

Whereas, Our people who own property on streets about to be paved are periodically circularized and solicited to favor one or the other of various paving materials on the highways upon which their property abutts and naturally are not in a position, except possibly in isolated cases, to pass any intelligent judgment on such questions, based on their personal observation, and

Whereas, In former years property owners of intelligence with a fair degree of unanimity on different highways about to be paved, have expressed their preference for asphalt, creosoted block, bitulithic, sandstone block and brick pavements and such pavements have been laid in many other cities to a large extent and with apparent general satisfaction to the people and officials of most of such cities, and

Whereas, The city of Duluth has now under consideration the paving of First street from First avenue east to Sixth avenue east, which portion of said street is a heavily traveled street with traffic of all descriptions and would therefore provide an excellent test of the durability of any paving material laid thereon, and

Whereas, This commission is desirous of, using such paving material in each case as is in accordance with the wishes of the people who have to pay the assessments therefor, but also feels its responsibility to assist in any way it can to have such wishes intelligently expressed and believes that the principal competitive pavements can best be judged under like competitive conditions,

Therefore be it resolved, That the representatives of the five paving materials named, to-wit: Asphalt, creosoted block, bitulithic, sandstone block and brick, be and hereby are invited to lay, at their own expense, one block each on First street from First to Sixth avenues east (the respective blocks to be determined by lot unless otherwise agreed upon) on specifications submitted by such representatives for their respective pavements, as a demonstration pavement for the people of Duluth and surrounding municipalities, of the merits of their respective pavements, and be it further,

Resolved, That it is the purpose of this commission to endeavor to secure a similar test, to be made in the proper place, of the cheaper and less permanent paving materials.

Commissioner Hicken moved the adoption of the resolution and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas—Commissioners Hicken, Merritt, Murchison, Voss, Mayor Prince—5.
Nays—None.
Passed, April 25, 1913.
Approved April 26, 1913.

On motion of Commissioner Hicken the council adjourned to meet in the council chamber Monday, April 28, at 8 o'clock p. m.

POULTRY AND EGGS.

YOUR EGGS, CHICKS AND BREEDING STOCK WANTED.

Hundreds of people in Duluth and vicinity who are interested in poultry raising will buy eggs, chicks, breeding stock, incubators and feed during the present season. Somebody among this vast multitude wants what you have for sale. You can reach these buyers by inserting an ad in these "want" ad columns.

The Duluth Herald has the greatest circulation of any newspaper in Minnesota, outside of the Twin Cities.

RATES ARE LOWEST.

The charges for classified advertising in The Duluth Herald are less per thousand circulation than those of any other newspaper in Minnesota.

A "want" ad man will be pleased to call on you and give estimates as to how much space your ad should occupy and the cost.

FOR SALE
"FAULTLESS" HOUDANS.
This strain has been egg-bred from trapnest records since April, 1890. I have bred them 21 years for great layers and 12 years for large-size chalk-white eggs. These fowls are extremely hardy, have neither comb nor wattle to freeze, and are the best all-winter layers in open-front coops. "Faultless" strain Houdans have won every blue ribbon at New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia shows for past six years. Eggs and stock sold on honor. Send 10 cents for the largest illustrated poultry catalogue ever issued; it tells you how to breed these fowls, which average 250 eggs a year apiece; it tells you how to net $3,000 a year from 100 hens. E. F. McAVOY, secretary Houdan club, Cambridge, N. Y.

CITY WILL HAVE $1,000,000 BOULEVARD DRIVE ALONG THE SHORE OF THE LAKE TO TWO HARBORS

MELLEN'S "$102,000 PROFIT" ONLY REBATE ON POLITICAL GIFT

Head of New Haven Road Explains Puzzle in Finances.

Says Railroad Reimbursed Him for Republican Contributions.

Is Not Put Under Oath Lest He Claim Immunity Later.

Boston, May 2.—President Mellen, explaining the apparent profit made by him of $102,000 by the sale of the New Haven stock in 1904, told the interstate commerce commission today that the money had been paid back to him to reimburse him for contributions to the Republican campaign fund of that year.

President Mellen, appearing before the interstate commerce commission in his own behalf today, gave an unexpected explanation of some of the figures in the New Haven's books.

According to the government expert accountant, David E. Brown, there appeared an apparent profit of $102,000, made by Mr. Mellen personally by trading in the stock of the railroad company.

Used in Politics.

The first thing that Mr. Mellen said when he took the stand was that the money in question had been used in political contributions in 1904.

Fifty thousand dollars went to the Republican national campaign fund, he said, and other amounts to aid Republican state campaigns in New York, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Mr. Mellen advanced the money and the railroad company reimbursed him.

He made this statement:

"The transactions by which 19,835 shares of New Haven stock were sold to me in March, 1904, and I gave my notes to the New England Navigation company, have been questioned. This

DIRECT LEGISLATION WINS BY BIG FIGURE

Returns From Michigan Election Are Officially Counted.

Lansing, Mich., May 2.—According to the official count made by the state board of canvassers, the Republican, Democratic and Progressive parties finished in the order named in the recent spring election in Michigan. The entire Republican state ticket won with pluralities ranging from 28,000 to 47,000, and equal suffrage, which lost by a close vote last November, was defeated by a majority of 96,144. The Republicans polled nearly twice as many votes as the Progressives.

The amendments relating to the initiative and referendum on constitutional amendments carried by a majority of 42,404. The amendment concerning the initiative on statutes carried by 66,669.

The firemen pension amendment was defeated by a majority of 26,256.

JERSEY MEN HEAR WILSON

President Talks Right Out About State Reform Bills.

Jersey City, N. J., May 2.—Personal persuasion was President Wilson's instrument of action today as he conferred upon jury reform with Democratic members of the state legislature. It was the alleged abandonment by some of the legislators of the party pledge as to this reform and a revision of the Constitution which brought Mr. Wilson to his home state to appeal to the electorate.

The president had invited the legislators to meet him here today, to arrive if possible at a common agreement on the particular form of a measure which would take the power of drawing juries from the hands of sheriffs. While in his speeches at Elizabeth and Newark last night Mr. Wilson denounced some of the assemblymen who failed to support the party promises as affiliated with James Nugent, Jr., and his political organizations, the president admitted that

PISTOL DUEL IN PULLMAN

Giant Robber and Millionaire in Berth Fire Shots—Both Hurt.

Bold Bandit Escapes at Kansas City With His Loot.

Kansas City, Mo., May 2.—To rob the Joplin millionaire, Jesse M. Short, was the real object of the giant bandit who held up a Kansas City Southern passenger train in the Kansas City suburbs early today and the "holding up" of several passengers were merely incidental, according to the theory of the police who began a thorough search for the robber today.

After a lively duel with Mr. Short in the narrow Pullman, the robber fell off the train wounded, carrying $1,000 of Short's money, and the wealthy mine owner was left lying in his berth with three bullets in his body.

Physicians attending Short at a local hospital say he will recover unless unforeseen complications arise.

Two bullets were removed from Short's body today. One was taken from below the left shoulder blade. Another was removed from above the left knee. The robber's third bullet grazed the mining man's head, inflicting a slight wound.

Fired Seven Times.

Mr. Short said he fired seven times at the robber. Only two bullets were found.

The fact that a mysterious person of such stature had been seen about a local hotel where Mr. Short stopped reached the ears of the police, and eventually resulted in the theory that the bandit, who was considerably over six feet tall, had shadowed the millionaire and believed a Pullman berth the best place to rob him.

According to a telegram sent the po-

FARMERS ATTACK HARVESTER CONCERN

Charge Independent's Officers With Fraud in Selling Stock.

Chicago, May 2.—Suit directed at the Independent Harvester company, a $10,000,000 corporation with a plant at Plano, Ill., was filed in the United States district court here today.

The bill of complaint was filed by a committee said to represent 27,000 farmers who hold stock in the company. It charges the directors of the company with misrepresentation in selling stock, mismanagement of the affairs of the company and requests that the defendants be restrained from selling more stock and from interfering with the plaintiffs investigation of the books of the corporation.

Stock of the aggregate value of $6,000,000 is said to be held by farmers, and it is alleged that they were duped into paying $15 to $25 a share more than the stock was worth. One of the arguments said to have been used in selling shares was that the company was organized to "buck the trust off the map."

SQUEEZE THE LEMON TARIFF

Opponents of Underwood Bill Attack Schedules on Fruits.

Amendments to "Market Basket" Duties Are Voted Down.

Washington, May 2.—The fight over the proposed reduction of duties on citrus fruits opened today's debate on the tariff bill in the house. Despite the pressing of the bill as rapidly as possible by the Democratic leaders, the agricultural schedule, perhaps the vehicle of the last vigorous opposition by the minority, had not been finished at last night's session.

The schedules relating to wines, spirits, beverages, cotton, wool, silk, paper and sundries were in sight early today as likely to be acted upon before the close of tonight's session, except in the contingency of an unexpectedly protracted struggle against free raw wool.

The California delegation in the house opposes the proposed cutting of the rates on lemons, limes, oranges and other citrus fruits, which it claims would be injurious to their industry and open the gates to the foreign fruit industry.

The main opposition is to the provision that lemons in packages exceeding five cubic feet or in bulk shall be taxed one-half of 1 cent a pound. This is a cut of 50 per cent in the present tariff and the representatives of the citrus growing districts have been on guard against letting it pass without strenuous protest.

"Market Basket" Intact.

All efforts of the opposition to disturb the "market basket" reductions in the Democratic bill failed yesterday despite the fact that Republican orators sounded warnings of ruined industries, enforced idleness and empty cupboards to follow the enactment of the Underwood bill.

The first break from the solid front of the majority came when Louisiana Democrats, led by Representative Broussard, appealed to Republican Leader Mann for a share of time in which to speak against the sugar schedule, and when Representative Kinkead, a New Jersey Democrat, uttered a prediction that the senate would strike out the ways and means committee's 10 per cent rates on livestock.

The test vote on sugar came on an amendment offered by Minority Leader Mann to strike out the provision 500 LOVE LETTERS OF BROWNINGS SOLD.

London, May 2.—A packet of upward of 500 love letters of Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning was bought at auction today for $32,750 by a New York dealer. The bidding started at $3,000 and rose rapidly by bids of $250 each.

CHINESE REPUBLIC IS RECOGNIZED BY WASHINGTON FIRST

Interesting Situation in International Affairs Is Created.

Washington, May 2.—The new Chinese republic was formally recognized today by the United States. Charge d'Affaires Williams at Pekin cabled that he had delivered the formal recognition, as he was authorized to do upon complete organization of the new government.

Before Secretary of State Bryan left Washington for California, he announced that Charge d'Affaires Williams at Pekin had been instructed to extend formal recognition to the new republic of China as soon as the constitutional assembly had been properly organized in all its branches and provision had been made for the election of administrative officers. At that time it was expected that these preliminaries would occupy only a few days, but party divisions sprang up in the lower branch of the legislature resulting in deferring the completion of the work of organization.

Condition Is Fulfilled.

Now, however, with the election of Tang Hua Sung as speaker of the house, organization is perfected in both branches, the senate already having organized. The American charge was able to carry out his instructions from Secretary Bryan, and America is the first of the great powers to extend recognition to the infant republic.

It is expected that a new minister

SUFFRAGISTS IN BIG RALLY

Roosevelt and Nordica Will Have Part in the Exercises.

New York, May 2—With parade, pageant and appeal from the public platform, the women of New York city who believe in woman suffrage will hold a demonstration tonight and tomorrow in favor of their cause. Theodore Roosevelt has consented to be one of the speakers, and with Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, will deliver an address tonight at the pageant depicting woman's dream of freedom, to be given at the Metropolitan opera house.

Tomorrow afternoon what is expected to be the greatest woman suffrage parade ever held—30,000 strong—will move up Fifth avenue. When it is over men and women leaders in automobiles will appeal to the people in the plaza at Fifth avenue and Fifty-ninth street and a great meeting will be held in Carnegie hall at which prominent men and women workers

Elgin, Ill., May 2.—Bewildered by a shout as she stepped in front of an automobile last night, Mrs. Nancy Van Wicklin, aged 72, of Elgin, was run down and crushed to death. Katherine Pleavin, who was learning to drive the automobile, and her instructor, O. G. Elfring, were exonerated by the coroner's jury.

BULL HURLS DART; SPECTATOR KILLED

Valence, Department of the Drome, France, May 2.—An infuriated fighting bull in the bull ring here today shook its head so violently in trying to rid itself of the steel-tipped darts with which the banderillos had pierced its shoulders and neck, that one of the darts was torn out of the flesh and hurled among the spectators in the amphitheater. It penetrated the heart of a young man, who was instantly killed. A moment later the matador killed the bull.

HAS CHARGE OF PLANS FOR GREAT BOULEVARD

MAYOR W. I. PRINCE.

FIRST STEPS UNDER WAY

Will Extend From Eighth Avenue to Lake County Seat.

City Has Authority to Acquire Land Outside City Limits.

Along the rugged, hill-bordered shore of Lake Superior, stretching from the heart of Duluth to Two Harbors, will be constructed one of the most beautiful, parked driveways in the world.

The improvement, costing approximately $1,000,000, will be a gift to the public by a Duluth millionaire whose name for the present is withheld.

Duluth's new city commission, under the direction of Mayor W. I. Prince, has the preliminary arrangements for the acquisition of the right of way in course of preparation. Within a short time the first official steps looking to its accomplishment will be taken in the form of a resolution to be introduced at an early meeting of the commission.

The proposed boulevard will start at Eighth avenue east and London road. It will embrace London road for practically its full length. From Lester Park it will extend along the shores of Lake Superior to Two Harbors, the route going through parts of St. Louis and Lake counties, a distance of nearly thirty miles.

Have Authority.

The legislation giving the city council the authority necessary to acquire the right of way outside the city limits was passed at the 1909 session of the Minnesota legislature, four years ago. Since that time the immense improvement has been gradually assuming shape for final action and it

PEACE UP TO UNCLE SAM

Paul Reinsch Says America Will Largely Decide World Policy.

Prof. Hull Predicts Supreme Court of United Nations.

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—"Upon our action, our self-restraint and our sense of justice in dealing with such matters as Panama tolls, the policy of commercial equity known as the open door, and the treatment of aliens within our limits, our international credit depends."

This was the statement of Prof. Paul S. Reinsch of the University of Wisconsin, addressing the Fourth American peace congress today.

"No single thing," he said, "would weaken the position of American leadership more than if we should refuse to arbitrate or to settle in some other satisfactory manner the question of Panama tolls."

Prof. Reinsch said the success of the next Hague conference depends largely on the influence of the United States.

"World Supreme Court."

Prof. William I. Hull of Swarthmore college, spoke on "The Hague Tribunal, Its Present Meaning and Future Promise." He said in part:

"Out of the difficulties which now attend the international peace movement, ultimately will be evolved a plan whereby war will be abolished. The Hague tribunal can never be, of course, supreme of itself. Its right to existence, as well as its charter of liberties, arises from the international convention which has established it, while back of the international convention, lies the will of the nations. The United States supreme court is the visible and audible conscience of the American people; the international tribunal must

WOMEN PROMINENT IN STRIKE RIOTING

Wives of Foreign Laborers Help Rescue Men From Police.

Burlington, N. J., May 2.—Women again took a prominent part today in the most serious riot that has yet occurred during the strike of the workers of the several iron mills in this city. The women, who are mostly the wives of foreign laborers, with the help of men overpowered the police and deputy sheriffs and rescued a patrol wagon load of prisoners. The police and deputies used their clubs freely on the men, but no one was seriously injured.

The trouble started at the plant of the United States foundry, where 250 men returned to work.

NEW BILL ON ALIEN LANDS

California Assembly Has Possible Webb Bill Substitute.

Japanese Are Excited Again Over the Situation There.

DELAY FINAL ACTION.

Sacramento, Cal., May 2.—Final action by the senate on the anti-alien land law was postponed again today and the measure will not come up for a vote until next week.

Washington, May 2.—Secretary Bryan telegraphed today he had reconsidered his purpose to start at once for Washington and would remain in Sacramento until the alien land legislation is concluded.

Sacramento, Cal., May 2.—Another anti-alien land bill, compiled directly from the Webb act, now before the senate, but with a clause added, permitting aliens ineligible to citizenship to lease farming lands for a period of not exceeding three years, was introduced last night in the assembly. Its author, Assemblyman Bloodgood, Progressive, said he had obtained a statement from Governor Johnson that he had no objections to the new plan. The chief purpose served by introducing the bill, said Bloodgood, was to get the Webb act before the assembly so that no time would be lost when the senate bill is passed and sent across to the lower house, which will then have both the original Webb draft and the new draft with the exemption of the clause pertaining to leases, from which to choose.

The plan which exempts leases from

"AT THE END OF HIS ROPE"

John Quilty, "Honest Workman, Is 83, Blind and "Broke."

"You Might as Well Tote Me to the Poorhouse."

"Lissen, pard. When a man's 83, and has worked hard and fought for everything he's ever had, and has always played the game on the square, I guess he's just about got to the end of the rope when he finds himself too old to work, and broke. That's where I stand, pardner, and I guess you might as well tote me out to the poorhouse."

This is the manner in which John Quilty, a homeless and friendless man of 83, expressed himself yesterday to Charles Shogran, clerk of the poor commission. Quilty asked to be taken out to the poor farm. He said that he had a tough time of it lately trying to make both ends meet. Disabilities, incidental to old age, he claimed, had made it impossible for him to secure work. He was sent to the poor commission by the Hibbing authorities.

Quilty told the clerk that he was a native of New Brunswick, but that he knew of no relatives who were now living. He also stated that he had no immediate friends. The past eight years, he said, had been spent on the iron range, where up to recently he had been employed as a common laborer.

Several years ago, while living in Wisconsin, he was injured in a dynamite explosion, which left his face disfigured for life and impaired his eyesight very seriously. The explosion occurred while Quilty was blasting stumps. Following the accident his mind was temporarily deranged, and eight months were spent in a state institution for the insane. An operation was performed finally, which restored him to his mental capacity. His eyesight, however, was permanently disabled.

Quilty's only possessions are a suit of clothes, an overcoat and a pipe. He was removed to the county poor farm yesterday.

DULUTH WOMAN IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Mrs. Copper Heads Home Missionary Society—Next Meet at Brainerd.

Aitkin, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The convention of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Duluth district came to a close yesterday and the following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. E. K. Copper, Duluth; vice president, Mrs. A. L. Richardson, Aitkin; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. E. Goodwin, Duluth; recording secretary, Mrs. J. F. Pickard, Two Harbors; treasurer, Mrs. John Carlson, Duluth; secretary of literature, Mrs. L. A. Larson, Duluth; secretary of supplies, Mrs. Edith Armstead, Aitkin; secretary of mite boxes, Mrs. F. J. Slipp, Brainerd; secretary of evangelism, Mrs. J. W. Smith, Brainerd; secretary of young people's work, Mrs. J. F. Dyson, Henriette; secretary of children's work, Mrs. E. E. Satterlee, Brainerd.

Plan Akeley Celebration.

Akeley, Minn., May 2.—Akeley proposes to have an old time celebration of the Fourth here this year and to that end the Akeley Athletic club has appointed a committee consisting of Charles F. Scheers, R. F. Pray and M. J. Wooley to make arrangements. The organization of a baseball team was discussed at some length, and the matter was placed in the hands of the following committee: R. F. Pray, John Bell and J. J. Patten, to confer with the Commercial club.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Kinemacolor motion pictures.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville and talking motion pictures.
EMPRESS—"The Time, the Place and the Girl."

Amusement Notes.

Today and tomorrow will be "Fashion day" at the Lyceum. The latest Parisian and New York fashions will be shown in Kinemacolor. In addition to the fashions, the Bernese Alps with their magnificent snow-capped mountains and the Dolders will be shown. "The Substitute," a two-reel drama, is also included in the program. The special feature for today and tomorrow will be "A Southern Cinderella," a Broncho three-reel production full of vivid war scenes, set off with excellent photography and a delightful story that is effectual for its romance and human interest.

William H. Crane, who is booked for an early appearance here in his newest hit, "The Senator Keeps House," has returned from Europe and opened the most extensive tour he has made in years in the East. By the time the tour ends in June Mr. Crane will have covered every section of importance in America and will also make his first visit to the Pacific coast in several years.

For about the ten thousandth time the battered trunk, the broken trombone and the bass drum were dragged on to the stage last evening by McIntyre & Heath at the Orpheum theater, and the big audience seemed to get just as keen enjoyment out of the old "Georgia Minstrels" as if it were produced for the first time.

Probably 90 per cent of the people in the audience last evening had seen the sketch before. The jokes were familiar, but they were greeted like old friends. McIntyre and Heath have been presenting "The Georgia Minstrels" for something like twenty years, and the figure of 10,000 performances mentioned above is probably not excessive. But Mr. McIntyre's impersonation of the woebegone livery stable negro, who had been dragged from his comfortable home to join a minstrel troupe, would be funny if he didn't say a word. Heath is just as amusing in his role of the conceited, flashy worldly wise colored man. There is no star to this little troupe. Each is a perfect foil for the other, and the absence of either would leave a vacancy that could not be filled. "The Georgia Minstrels" is no longer hilariously funny because it is so familiar, but the enjoyment of watching it again is just as keen as the pleasure one derives from reading an old favorite book for the second or third time.

It will be repeated tonight, and tomorrow McIntyre and Heath will offer the sketch for which the most requests have been received during the week. They have three, "Waiting at The Church," "The Man From Montana," and "The Georgia Minstrels."

* * *

Changed from a musical comedy to a tabloid production, "The Time, The Place and The Girl," proved a distinct hit at the opening performance of the Empress theater yesterday.

Although the plot is an old one, it has been considerably changed and improved by the tabloid writers, who have injected newer songs, jokes and specialty numbers. The change is a pleasing one and should prove popular with Empress theatergoers.

The leading character, Johnny Hicks, a gambler, is very cleverly portrayed by Thomas Whiften, whose slang phrases scored a hit yesterday. He is also the possessor of a pleasing voice, which he uses successfully in several solo and duet numbers with Miss Frances Cossar, who plays Molly, the nurse.

Miss Jessie Houston introduces several new songs and dances, with the aid of a large chorus of young women. The numbers were all well received. Miss Houston appears in several stunning gowns. Jack McGowan introduces a new rag-time dance that is a novelty and well worth seeing.

The regular double reel motion picture opened the bill. "The Time, The Place and The Girl" will continue until tomorrow evening, with daily matinees.

TWO FARMERS ARE BIG FIRE LOSERS

Homes and Farm Equipment Near Jenkins, Minn., Destroyed By Fire.

Pine River, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two settlers, one living east and the other west of Jenkins, seven miles south of here, lost their homes and contents besides their machinery and implements by fires Wednesday.

The high wind that was blowing fanned meadow burnings into the brush and large stretches of the country have been burned bare of small trees and underbrush.

Fire Takes Everything.

Peter Peterson lost everything practically on the farm that the flames could consume. House and barn and contents of both were destroyed besides wagons and implements. Even the plow he was using at the time had the handles and beam burned. The flames came with such speed that he barely had time to unhitch his oxen from the plow and turn them loose. No insurance was carried by either of the losers.

CLOQUET PUPILS RENDER PROGRAM

First Grade Children of Washington School in May Day Festival.

Cloquet, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A very pretty May Day festival was given yesterday afternoon in Miss Pearl Bisson's first grade at the Washington school. The room was appropriately decorated with greens and there were more visitors than the room could comfortably accommodate.

Following was the program: Opening song, "Golden and Crimson Tulips;" butterfly game, Spring song; boys' drill; address to queen, Roy Sarchet; flowers' arrival; concert recitation, "The Doves;" closing song, "What Robin Says to Us." Jean Fleming, little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Fleming, was the queen of May and was seated on a throne covered with cedar boughs. Her attendants were Alice Thomson, Marion Cartwright, Exhilda Keable, Gladys Le Blanc. The roses were Isabel Caron, Cora Lave, Lillian Newton; daisies, Lena Joyor, Elsie Swanson, Emma Swanson; violets, Rebekah Collins, Lillian Nelson, Margaret Barker; buttercups, Hannah Thomson, Orpha Fulton; toadstools, Vivian Gleason, Myrtle Braafladt, Maxine Dolan, Margaret Ackerman; ferns, Hattie Ellers, Blanche Hawley; queen's guard, all the boys in the grade.

CAUGHT IN RAID.

Polk County Sheriff Arrests Blind-Piggers at Gully.

Crookston, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gully was the scene of the first blind-pig raid of the season yesterday when Sheriff Kelly and Deputy Holt arrested six men charged with blind-pigging or selling liquor without a license.

The accused are Siver Hole and Albert Amundson, who operate a restaurant, J. Hogg and John Bowers, who operate a drug store, Ole Nelson on two charges of selling liquor without a license and blind-pigging, and Robert Schmock, who is charged with allowing the sale of liquor in his livery stable. All the complaints were sworn out by W. A. Dodge, a citizen of Gully. All the accused, barring Bowers, who was ill, were arraigned before Judge Gossman and held under $500 bonds for each charge.

BANKS WANT SHARE OF $10,000,000 FUND

Secretary McAdoo Tells of Plan to Charge Interest.

Washington, May 2. — Numerous appeals from national banks for an additional share of the $10,000,000 of government funds which will soon be deposited by the treasury department, have been received by Secretary McAdoo. Some of the banks wanted as much as a half million dollars. Within a few days the treasury department will formally advise the banks of the plan to charge 2 per cent on government deposits and will then make arrangements to distribute the $10,000,0000.

In a statement replying to inquiries, Secretary McAdoo said that if the banks had been required to pay 2 per cent interest on their average government balances during the last sixteen years, the treasury would have been enriched by $30,610,381. He added that the largest amount of government money on deposit with the national banks at any one time during the last sixteen years was in December, 1907, when the total reached $259,994,000.

FAIRBANKS TALKS ABOUT CANAL TOLLS

Former Vice President Opposes Free Passage for American Ships.

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—That the United States is under a moral obligation to admit the ships of other nations to the Panama canal on the same terms on which it admits American vessels, was urged in an address befor the American peace congress here by Former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks.

"I do not believe," he said, "that we should put Great Britain to the trouble of resorting to an arbitral tribunal to determine a question that has no basis either in fact or on good conscience. The question is one which from every consideration of national good faith and national honor should be settled by ourselves, and if we rightly understand it, there can be no doubt that it will be settled in entire harmony with our manifest national duty.

"In the event, however, that we are unable to accept the view that we are not entitled to preferential treatment, then we owe it to ourselves and to Great Britain and other nations to submit the question to the determination of an impartial tribunal."

Mr. Fairbanks reviewed the history of the canal negotiations.

ALASKA GOVERNOR VETOES JAP BILL

Juneau, Alaska, May 2.—Governor Walter F. Clark vetoed the anti-alien fishing bill aimed at Japanese fishermen, just before the Alaska legislature adjourned sine die.

The bill passed both houses unanimously, but when the governor's message was received, there was no attempt to pass it over his veto.

The legislature, Alaska's first lawmaking body, had been in session since March 1. Among its notable achievements were the enactment of the following laws:

Votes for women; laborers lien mining laws, anti-white slave laws, establishment of prospectors' homes at Fairbanks and Sitka; creation of juvenile courts; repeal of poll tax and providing for an occupation tax.

NO DEATH DUTY ON MORGAN TREASURES

New York Senate Passes Bill of Exemption—Collection Is Insured.

Albany, N. Y., May 2.—Under the provision of a bill passed by the senate, the J. P. Morgan art collection will be exempted from the state inheritance tax, provided the collection is turned over "to a municipal corporation of the state for educational, scientific, literary, library or historical purposes within two years."

Insured for $23,000,000.

New York, May 2.—Contracts have been drawn insuring the art collection of the late J. P. Morgan for $23,000,000. The premium will be $102,800. All the fire insurance companies authorized to do business in this state have taken their full quota of the insurance, and about $4,000,000 has been placed abroad. The portion of the collection in the Metropolitan museum carries $15,000,000 at a rate of 60 cents per $100, and the books and art objects in the Morgan library are insured for $8,000,000 at a rate of 16 cents per $100.

NEILL CONFIRMED.

Senate Also Approves Appointments of Strong and Smith.

Washington, May 2.—The senate has confirmed the nominations of Charles P. Neill as commissioner of labor statistics; J. F. A. Strong of Juneau as governor of Alaska, and H. M. Smith as commissioner of fisheries.

The expected opposition to Dr. Neill did not develop much strength, Overman confining himself to a statement of his objections, but refused to resort to dilatory tactics. Nearly two hours were spent in a discussion of the reported policy of Secretary McAddoo to make changes in the customs service and replace present incumbents with men "more in sympathy with the administration."

Senator Penrose wanted an investigation made of the case of Chester W. Hill, collector of the port of Philadelphia, who was asked to resign so that a man more in sympathy with the administration could be given his job. Republicans were anxious to know what being in sympathy meant and whether or not William H. Berry, nominated by President Wilson for the post had that sort of a disposition. A resolution to investigate Hill's resignation failed, with a quorum not present and adjournment was taken with this patronage question still unsettled. Berry was not confirmed.

WOMEN DEMAND NEGRO'S DEATH.

Washington, May 2.—Women of Washington went to the District of Columbia court of appeals yesterday with a protest against the law's delay in the execution of Nathaniel Greene, a negro convicted and sentenced to be hanged for assaulting Mrs. Adelaide Grant.

The crime was committed last Christmas night, almost in the shadow of the dome of the national capital. Greene was sentenced to die March 25, but has been reprieved twice, his counsel fighting for a new trial on the ground that the court erred in refusing to accept a plea of guilty which would have made the negro immune from the death penalty.

The women urged an amendment of the statute which provides that unless the jury recommends capital punishment in assault cases, the maximum penalty shall be thirty years in prison.

NEW PASTOR IS INSTALLED

REV. CARL O. SWAN.

Rev. C. O. Swan was last evening officially installed as pastor of the First Swedish Lutheran church, Sixth avenue east and Third street.

Dr. P. A Mattson of Cannon Falls, Minn., president of the Minnesota conference of Swedish Lutheran churches, presided at the installation and delivered the installation sermon. He was assisted by the Duluth and Superior pastors of the conference.

Rev. Mr. Swan came to Duluth about a year ago from Minneapolis and during his charge here has done very effective work for his parish.

WANTS $412 FOR DOG-BITE

Isaac Maki Sues St. Croix Avenue Resort Keeper for Damages.

Says He Was Attacked and Bitten By "Ferocious" Canine.

Nellie Blaine, a resort keeper on St. Croix avenue, is defendant in a civil action brought in district court by Isaac Maki, who wants $412 damages for being bitten by a vicious dog said to be owned by the woman.

Maki claims that on the evening of March 15, last, while walking along the public street, more particularly the alley in the red light district, he was set upon by a ferocious dog.

The canine, he claims, was possessed of a sullen and vicious temperament and of an irrestible desire to attack, terrify and pursue him. The cur's teeth, he claims, got mixed up with the calves of his legs and a severe flesh wound was the consequence.

Maki says he called in medical attendance which cost him $12. In addition to this he asks $400 damages to his feelings.

The episode was aired in police court shortly after its occurrence. The Blaine woman was acquitted of the criminal charge of keeping a vicious dog. The police judge stated at the time that Maki probably had some redress in the civil courts.

AUSTRIA LIKELY TO MOVE BUT SLOWLY

London Expects No Precipitate Action Against Montenegro.

London, May 2.—Precipitate coercion against Montenegro by Austria-Hungary is not likely, according to information reaching diplomatic circles in London today. The powers, it is believed, will be allowed further opportunity of bringing pressure to bear at Cettinje.

The council of the joint cabinet of Austria-Hungary in its session at Vienna today, while it will discuss the details of the financial and military operations which may possibly be necessary ultimately to force the evacuation of Scutari by the Montenegrin troops, will, it is believed here, postpone any overt action.

Tip From Russia.

Cettinje, May 2.—The Russian minister to Montenegro has presented a curt note to the government urging immediate compliance by Montenegro with the demands of the European powers for the evacuation of Scutari and intimating that a policy of defiance was likely to lead to the ruin of Montenegro.

Railroads

STATE COMMISSION TO HEAR PLAINTS.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the purpose of hearing several complaints that have been filed recently, the state railroad commissioners will leave here aboard a special train next Tuesday, covering all points between this city and Williston. Three days will be spent on the tour of investigation, the principal cities at which stops and hearings will be held being Petersburg, Church's Ferry, Rugby, Minot, Williston, as well as several intervening places.

The commission will close its trip in Grand Forks Friday night of next week.

BROKEN JOURNAL CAUSES TRAIN DELAY.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Northern train east, due in town at 5:40 yesterday morning was delayed until after 9 o'clock about three miles west of town, by a freight car with a broken journal, which jumped the track, and blockaded traffic entirely until the arrival of the wrecking crew.

CAR ORDERS

The Northern Pacific has ordered twelve postal cars from the Pressed Steel Car company.

The Illinois Central has ordered 800 furniture cars, 500 refrigerator cars and 500 stock cars from the American Car & Foundry company.

The Seaboard Air line has ordered 500 box cars from the Pressed Steel Car company, 250 flat cars from the American Car & Foundry company and 250 hopper cars from the Standard Steel Car company.

The Grand Trunk has ordered 1,000 additional box cars from the Pressed Steel Car company, and has ordered 3,000 freight cars from the Canadian Car & Foundry company.

WANT RURAL ROUTE.

Proposed to Have It Established From Aitkin to Clear Lake.

Aitkin, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A petition is being circulated by N. O. Johnson who lives two on one-half miles from Aitkin for a new rural route to be established on the Clear Lake road. The proposed route will begin at Aitkin, going out on the Clear Lake road to within two miles of Glen, thence to the south side of Long lake, thence to Dam lake, following the road to Kimberly and return to Aitkin. If this route is established, two of the postoffices now at Valparaiso, Erick and Rossburg will be discontinued. Glen would probably be served from Malmo. The proposed route covers a distance of seventy-five miles and would serve more than 100 families.

Rural routes Nos. 1 and 2 were started yesterday morning with E. A. Marsh and Ed Fassett as carriers. No appointments have yet been made among the candidates who took the examination, April 12, temporary carriers serving in the meantime.

Primary Beaten Again.

Albany, N. Y., May 2.—Governor Sulzer's state-wide direct primary bill was defeated by the assembly early today after a long debate by a vote of 47 ayes and 93 noes.

The bill was defeated in the senate Wednesday.

GEN. AUBERT JOINS REBELS

Foreigners Are Warned to to Leave the Mexican Capital.

Eagle Pass, Tex., May 2.—Officials of the Carranza regime announced today from the constitutional headquarters at Piedras Negras that Gen. Trucy Aubert, the Huerta leader in Northwest Mexico, had joined forces with Governor Carranza.

No Compromise on Diaz.

Washington, May 2.—The Carranza forces claim all the territory about Torreon by occupation.

Confidential agents of the constitutionalists' movement here today received telegrams from Governor Carranza declaring he would never accept Felix Diaz as a compromise candidate for president, but would continue his fight.

A request was received from Senor Larre, director of posts of Mexico, at the postoffice department, that American mail intended for destinations in Mexico be routed via Mexico City to insure its safety. Department officials assert that mail to Mexico already was routed by Mexico City except in the cases of two or three towns in Nortern Sonora and Chihuahua, to which the American mail may be sent direct with assurance of safe transmission.

Americans Warned to Leave.

San Antonio, Tex., May 2.—A warning to Americans and other foreigners to leave the Mexico City while there is still rail connection with the coast, has been issued here by a representative of the Carranza government. The note asserts that Southern constitutionalists are preparing to advance on the Mexican capital.

Empalme Is Shelled.

Nogales, Ariz., May 2.—Insurgent forces evacuated Empalme today, after which the Mexican gunboat Guerrero began shelling the California gulf town preliminary to a land movement from Guayamas, where the Federal garrison was strongly reinforced yesterday. At Empalme are many American railway men, including Supt. J. H. Temple of the Southern Pacific of Mexico.

Train Is Dynamited.

Mexico City, May 2.—Zapata forces have dynamited a train on the Interoceanic railway near La Cascade, killing many and wrecking and burning the train. How many are dead is not known.

BANQUET FOR WARNER.

Aitkin Business Men Will Honor Member of Lower House.

Aitkin, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A committee of business men composed of Dr. W. T. Courtney, J. A. Casey, J. R. Foley, Jr., E. H. Krelwitz, and P. P. Botsford has been appointed to arrange for a banquet to be given next week for Representative C. H. Warner to show the appreciation of the Aitkin people of the work Mr. Warner has done in the session of the legislature just closed.

AGED FARMER DIES.

Andrew Moe, Living Near Midway, Passes Away After Long Illness.

Midway, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Andrew Moe, an aged farmer living in Carlton county near the Midway line, died yesterday morning after an illness of several months. He leaves a widow, two sons, and two married daughters. About two years ago his oldest son was accidentally shot and killed by a brother, who mistook him for a deer.

LEAP FROM SPEEDER IN NICK OF TIME.

McKenzie, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Lunner and two companions leaped from a speeder just in time to save themselves from being struck by an engine, running light. The speeder was hurled into the air and demolished. Lunner and his companions met the engine in a deep cut and at a curve, and had only time to escape from the speeder before the collision came.

Lawless Is Police Chief.

International Falls, Minn., May 2.—John Lawless has been appointed chief of police by Mayor Kane. He has been on the force several years. R. L. Kirkpatrick and William Dougherty have been appointed patrolmen. Daugherty has served on the extra force at times. Mr. Kirkpatrick has been employed at the paper mill.

$5,500 For Husband.

Ashland, Wis., May 2.—A circuit court jury awarded Mrs. Caroline Secord $5,500 for the death of her husband in her suit for $10,000 against the John Schroeder Lumber company, in whose mill here her husband was killed last fall while putting a belt on a trolley. She sued for $10,000.

SURELY SETTLES UPSET STOMACHS

"Pape's Diapepsin" Ends Indigestion, Gas, Sourness in Five Minutes.

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing — almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

Superior

May Get Rural Carrier.

W. J. Hicken, postoffice inspector of the Chicago division and Postmaster Anderson took an inspection trip over the proposed rural route south of Superior yesterday. Following the trip Mr. Hicken stated that he had been much impressed with the number of residents along the route, but would not give out a statement as to whether the route would be established. It is generally believed that this will be recommended to the department.

Runaways Caught.

Frank McTuwice, 15 years old, and Robert Warren of the same age, runaway boys from Hurley, Wis., were picked up by the police last night. The boys ran away from home about two weeks ago and have been tramping about the country since. Their parents have been notified.

Boat Club Meeting.

The Superior Boat club will hold its annual election at a meeting to be held in the clubhouse at Billings park on May 6. Plans for the year will be made. It is expected that a large number of applicants for membership will be received.

Assessors Begin Work.

City Assessor William Tiedeman and a corps of assistants commenced the annual work of assessing Superior property yesterday. It is expected that the work will take about a month.

POTATO CONFERENCE.

Will Be Held at Marquette, Mich., Next Saturday.

Marquette, Mich., May 2.—Leo M. Geismar, upper peninsula representative of the Michigan agricultural college extension bureau, and Col. C. W. Mott, of Menominee, secretary and manager of the Upper Peninsula Development bureau, will hold a "potato conference" with the farmers of the county at the city hall Saturday. The program will consist purely of impromptu discussions. It is expected that the farmers who attend will agree to raise uniform potato crops, that shipments may be made in carload lots.

North Dakota Postmasters Meet.

Jamestown, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—All postmasters of North Dakota have been granted a five-day leave of absence by Postmaster General Burleson to attend the state meeting at Jamestown, July 22 and 23. An effort is also being made by the program committee to secure a representative of the department at Washington for an address.

BIG SCHEME PROJECTED

Plan to Gridiron Province of Ontario With Electric Railways.

To Be in Connection With Government's Cheap Power System.

Toronto, Ont., May 2.—The project of gridironing the province with electric railways in connection with the government cheap power system has been advanced a stage. The step now being taken does not carry out the idea of state-owned electric lines. The government has been cautious enough to avoid any financial responsibility while providing a plan under which the construction of more radials becomes possible. The various municipalities of the province will get the railways on much the same basis as they now get the power, the government showing the way.

There is to be new legislation providing for the public construction and operation of electric railways. Under it municipalities will get what railways they want by applying to the commission, and will foot the bill by issuing debentures. The actual building of the railways can be done in any one of three ways. The municipalities may build, maintain and operate, or they may maintain and operate after the province has done the building, or they may decide to let the province build, maintain and operate. Whichever way it is done, the municipality gets a railway, with cheap power for its operation and the hydro-electric power commission gets another customer. The new lines can be built on the right of way of the power commission and this right will probably be exercised to a great extent, the municipality paying a rental to the commission.

The scheme, if full advantage is taken of it, will mean the increased development of the provincial power project on a very large scale. It will very largely increase the consumption of power supplied by the hydro-electric power commission, and this increased consumption will mean a general lowering of the cost to power users. The municipalities going into the scheme must, of course, contract to buy their power from the provincial commission. The credit of the province is not to be pledged in any way toward the work of construction, the government being apparently of the opinion that radial railways are not very sure moneymakers. At the same time, there is something in the scheme for the municipalities, and a good deal in it for the cheap power project. The government is providing a market for its own product.

Shall the City Buy?

Toronto woke up the other day and found the Toronto railway and the Toronto Electric Light company sitting on the doorstep. This was a surprise. The city has been yearning mightily for a chance to get hold of the railway these many years and has been looking forward to the time when —in 1921—the company's franchise would lapse and the whole system could be taken over. It has been darkly hinted from time to time that when the time arrived the company wouldn't get any fancy price for its plant, but would have to sell it to the city on a scrap-heap basis. This has always been a gloomy prospect for the shareholders of the railway and a bright and pleasing prospect to the strapholders. Moreover, the city has lamented daily over the inferiority of the service provided. So when the announcement was made that the company would readily sell to the city, not only the railway, but the electric-light outfit, there was a shout of joy.

Mayor Hocken convened the board of control, poured his story into their ear, and they all dashed up to the parliament buildings with a demand for special legislation to enable the city to grab the bargain. While this was doing the stock of the railway was hopping about as if there really was something doing. The street rumor was that the city would have to put up $20,000,000. Later the $20,000,000 increased to $21,000,000, and then another $6,000,000 was added to pay for the electric light plant. The total of $27,000,000 looks large to a lot of people and when the property owners are called upon to vote for the purchase there will be many who will vote in the negative.

Waiting for Mackenzie.

The arrival of Sir William Mackenzie from England will put the negotiations on a more definite basis. Sir William has been in England in connection with the finances of the Canadian Northern railway, of which he is president. The Canadian Northern is now in the transcontinental class, or nearly so, and its affairs call for much attention. Sir William is said to be quite ready to dispose of such side lines as the Toronto railway and confine his attention to the larger undertaking. Moreover, the millions which would go to the Mackenzie-Mann interests from the sale of the railway would probably be used to advantage in connection with the other Mackenzie-Mann enterprises in these days of scarce money.

There is some opposition to the proposed deal from friends of the provincial hydro-electric power commission, of which the Hon. Adam Beck is the head. The Mackenzie interests fought the provincial power scheme for years. The city of Toronto is now buying power under contract from the provincial commission. The street railway gets its power under contract from the Electric Development company, the great private-owned rival of the hydro, and a Mackenzie concern. The Beck people object to having one of their customers, especially the capital of the province, hooking up in any way with the Mackenzie interests. They say the proposed deal is a blow at the cheap power movement and they won't allow this blow to fall if they can help it. This opposition is proving to be a serious obstacle to the negotiations in progress between Mayor Hocken and the railway, and it looks as if the greatest experiment in municipal ownership ever contemplated hereabouts may have to be postponed for a while.

FINDS SACRED LAKE OF LIFE

Tribe in Which Men Are Slaves to the Women.

London, May 2.—That enterprising representative of King George V. P. Amaury Talbot, district commissioner of Southern Nigeria, has been making more queer discoveries and having more adventures. Incidentally, he recently escaped being butchered by natives who were laboring under a misapprehension regarding his intentions toward themselves, only by the skin of his teeth, but he must be getting used to that by now. For, besides being the only survivor of the ill-fated expedition that was captained by the late Lieut. Boyd-Alexander, Talbot, since he has been in Africa, has had one close call after another, sometimes in fights with the blacks, sometimes in encounters with wild beasts, and once or twice at the hands of the accomplished native poisoners of his district, where it is impolitic to go out to dinner without taking an antidote or two in one's pocket.

Talbot is the discoverer of the eerie Lake of the Dead, in Southern Nigeria, whereof the guardian is a giant python likewise of the Ekol tribe, the men of which are little better than slaves to the women, and his adventures among the latter and among men with buffalo souls, originally described in his correspondence, were set forth in greater detail in his recent book, in the "Sdawow of the Bush."

Lake of Life.

Soon after Talbot and his equally intrepid wife got back to Africa again, after their holiday in this country, the commissioner started out on a new expedition, which resulted in the discovery of a sacred Lake of Life, the existence of which had been kept as a jealous secret from the knowledge of Europeans. Something about this latest discovery of the commissioner was published in the London newspapers, but Talbot gives fuller details in the course of a letter, dated Eket, near Calabar, which I have just received from him.

"On the safeguarding of this Lake of Life, according to local beliefs," he writes, "the welfare of over 250,000 Ibibios depends," and then goes on to tell how close a shave he and his companions had from passing in their checks.

It seems that what we in America call graft is practiced pretty extensively by the up-to-date native officials of Talbot's district. Soon after his return, in fact, the commissioner discovered that the dusky clerks in the region had been indulging in wholesale corruption and he promptly imprisoned four of them. "The rest," he writes, "fearing revelations, started a rumor among the villagers that the expedition just starting out was to burn and slay, and that their sole chance was to anticipate events by murdering the white men."

Escaped By Accident.

It was only owing to the accidental failure of a signal that the commissioner escaped. Afterward, however, Talbot received a charming apology from the chiefs, expressing their satisfaction that they had not been led into the error of killing him before they found that the reports as to his intentions were untrue.

"To give you an idea of everyday occurrences. Last week a boy of 8 was brought up to me for stabbing a playmate through the heart, because the latter tried to take away a bit of string! Next day a woman with her forehead cut through to the bone from the hair line to the top of the nose, came to complain that her brother had done it because they could not agree as to the ownership of a few feet of yam patch. Another day a white man told us that in bicycling along a track which leads through one of the sacred crocodile swamps he fell over the rotting body of a woman, the skull cleft through and laid out as if in sacrifice with dozens of broken jars set round her.

"Today we have just learned that another man and woman are guilty of destroying the twins that were born to them. I just mention these cases to show you the sort of incident that is always happening out here."

SIXTY SPEAKERS ALREADY ASSURED

New York, May 2.—The general interest in the Recreation congress, to be held at Richmond, Va., May 6 to 10, is shown by the number of local committees appointed—more than 600 in all. Practically every state is represented. Some sixty speakers are already assured. Joseph Lee of Boston, the United States commissioner of education; B. P. Claxton, Dr. Richard Cabot of the Massachusetts general hospital, Charles W. Birtwell of the Sex Hygiene association, Seumas MacManus, the inimitable Irish story teller; Thomas Nelson Page, and others are upon the program.

So much interest has been shown in the introduction of vocal and instrumental music to the playground and recreation center, that it is hoped to have a demonstration of this delightful form of play at the congress. Such a demonstration was given at the congress in Washington in 1911, and proved both beautiful and suggestive for further efforts along this line.

The evening recreation center movement—which has received so much attention during the last year, and in which the daughter of the president, Miss Margaret W. Wilson, has shown so great an interest—will receive consideration at this series of meetings from experts in recreation for adults. Miss Mary P. Follett of Boston, who was instrumental in initiating the movement in Boston, will speak on the "Aims of Adult recreation," giving practical experiences in the building up of this department under the Boston public school system.

MUCH INTEREST IN THE C. O. D. PARCEL POST.

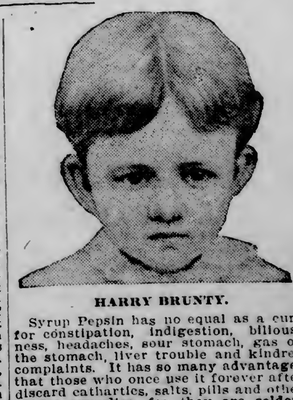
Washington, May 2.—Farmers are displaying a keen interest in the collect on delivery feature of the parcel post which is to be inaugurated on the first of next July. Of the many letters that have been received recently asking for information, at least 80 per cent have been pertaining to this subject. The letters, which come from every section of the country, indicate that the farmers are preparing to make extensive use of the C. O. D. feature as soon as it becomes operative. The postmasters of many of the smaller offices of the country report that they are receiving many inquiries about the new feature. At the present time the rural parcel post business is proportionately smaller than in the cities. The reason for this, it is reported, is that the people outside of the thickly populated sections are not familiar with the possibilities of the new service.

Fine Remedy For a Backward Child

Continue It For Only a Brief Period and the Good Results Will Surprise You.

A low state of the general health is now the accepted cause of backwardness in children. So in the case of a backward child it is best to look towards building up its health. It will usually be found that the main trouble is in the food, in lack of assimilation and digestion. Hence care should be taken in the kind of food given to the child. This, with plenty of air and exercise, should bring about a change for the better.

Watch the conditions of the bowels, to note whether the waste is being passed off or not, or whether it is being passed too freely. If either condition prevails give a small dose of that gentlest of all laxative tonics, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Thousands of mothers will testify to the wonders it has wrought in the lives of their own children, and for that reason legions of families like those of Mrs. J. E. Brunty, 1903 9th Ave., Nashville, Tenn., are never without it in the house. Mrs. Brunty writes: "Harry had always been constipated until I gave him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. I am certainly going to keep this medicine in the house in future for I know it to be good." It is pleasant to the taste and so perfectly safe that it is given to infants, and yet is equally effective for grown people. All druggists sell it and the price is only fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter for families who need it regularly.



HARRY BRUNTY.

Syrup Pepsin has no equal as a cure for constipation, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, liver trouble and kindred complaints. It has so many advantages that those who once use it forever after discard cathartics, salts, pills and other coarse remedies, for they are seldom advisable and should never be given to children.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a portal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots, How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength from Boyce's drug store and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

SURE NOW IT WAS A GHOST

Sentry Is Startled By a Dancing, Merry White Shape.

Discovery of Dungarees Does Not Relieve His Mind.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 2.—Ever since the battleship Arkansas put in at the navy yard for repairs and was berthed in drydock No. 4, the men of the crew have been half dreading something unusual might happen. Sailors the world over are superstitious and the men on the Arkansas are no exception. Tied up high and dry to a dock labeled hoodoo is not regarded by the men at the yard as a good omen; something is bound to happen, they reason.

The crew has had misgiving from the day the big vessel entered the yard and was made snug in the hoodoo drydock. No doubt if there had been another vacant drydock large enough to accommodate the Arkansas the captain of the yard or the navy department at Washington would have been appealed to and requested that the Arkansas be assigned to another drydock.

The power of that name hoodoo lurks continually about the battleship now and is felt by everyone. Therefore, it did not occasion a great deal of surprise when the news spread throughout the yard that the hoodoo dock, where fear itself lurks, was haunted.

A Dancing Ghost.

Sailors and marines shook their heads and exclaimed: "I knew something would hapen before the Arkansas left the yard." A ghost, the merriest kind of a ghost it is reported, was observed by a sentry the other night, stalking, or, rather, dancing merrily in a corner at the bottom of the dock.

Through the rain and darkness the sentry could just make out a mysterious white something as he describes it, jumping about with antics singularly like the turkey trot movements of the cabaret performers. It was the witching hour of midnight, with the stillness of desolation brooding over the yard. The sentry thought of the fatalities that have occurred in and about the drydock that caused it to be known in the navy as the hoodoo dock and the thought terrified him. A civilian under the circumstances would have been scared to death, but the sentry was armed and prepared for the worst.

So far as he could make out the apparition had no particular shape, and from where he stood the sentry could not distinguish either head, legs or body to the object, but something, he says, that shrunk at intervals to the size of a knapsack and then spread out as large as an army blanket and seemed to be struggling with snakelike motions to get a foothold on the smooth, wet surface of the stone blocks

"I never took much stock in ghosts," murmured the sentry, "but his merry nibs there certainly looks like one. Maybe he's a spy disguised as a ghost."

"Halt! Who goes there?" shouted the sentry, resolved to take no chances. No reply came from the bottom of the dock. The sentry raised his gun, aimed, but on second thought lowered his gun without firing.

Did Not Shoot.

"If I shoot, I'll wake up the ship's crew," he thought, "and if his nibs below is a ghost, I'll be laughed out of the service."

As he stood undecided peering down through the darkness a gust of wind sweeping around the stern of the Arkansas swept the indistinct and apparently incorporeal form away and it was lost to the sentry's view. He fought down his uncanny feeling, but, nevertheless, he was glad when the relief sentry came along and he was able to go to his bunk. He had a restless sleep, and it is declared by his mates that several times he jumped from his cot shouting at some imaginary object in the room.

The next day a sailor who had learned of the incident found a suit of white dungarees that had been used by a painter, twisted around a rope that was stretched from the Arkansas' rudder to a post in the corner of the drydock. It is thought by some that the apparition the sentry saw was nothing more or less than the trouser legs dangling fantastically in the air.

When this discovery was reported to the sentry he still had his doubts.

"Maybe it was dungarees I saw," he said, "but just the same, I don't like sentry duty at night in the vicinity of that dock. It's got a bad past."

TO GIVE GIRLS EQUAL CHANCE

New Jersey Women Are Planning a Free College Course.

Jersey City, N. J., May 2.—The New Jersey State Federation of Women has taken up the project of securing a free college course at Rutgers college, New Brunswick, for girl graduates of the New Jersey high schools similar to that now opened to boys.

It is argued by the women who have taken up the movement that the state college not only benefits state, but national aid, and it owes the youth of the state the equivalent in educational facilities which they cannot gain elsewhere. The college already receives boy graduates of the high schools into its agricultural department, but has no provision for girls, who are compelled either to go to college at their own expense—and few graduates of the high school are able to do this—or to forego higher education.

It is estimated that in June 2,400 pupils will be graduated from the state's high schools and that two-thirds of this number will be girls, the future mothers and teachers of New Jersey. The state provides no education for them except at the normal school, and yet, according to the rules of most boards of education, a college course is required to teach most high-school subjects.

Mrs. William Shipman Douglas of this city, chairman of the federation's committee on state college, has inaugurated a movement whereby the citizens of New Jersey shall be called upon to pay for the erection of a girls' building and dormitory near Rutgers in order that the state may not have the excuse that it has not accommodations and has not the appropriation to erect them. It is estimated that it will cost $100,000 to erect a suitable building, and the women have undertaken to raise this sum by means of a $1 contribution fund to be subscribed by the public.

The women's plan, which has been indorsed by President Demarest of Rutgers, is to build an affiliated college under an arrangement similar to that which exists now between Barnard and Columbia and to allow the girls full academic, scientific and agricultural courses, with the use of the library, museum, laboratories and college farm in common with the men. Instruction will be given in separate buildings and the college will not in the strict sense be co-educational.

It is the aim of those who are working for the project to have the money subscribed and the building erected by 1916.

ECCENTRIC SYMPATHY FOR SUSPENDED BOYS.

Greensburg, Pa., May 2.—Carrying into school a bulldog decked out in class colors and pressing their kisses on the canine before their scandalized teachers, the nine girl members of the Alverton high school joined five boy fellow-members of the graduating class in a strike, which threatens to wreck the graduating exercises.

The boys were suspended following their refusal to take down their class flag from the flagpole, where they had flung it to the breeze. The girls left in sympathy with their classmates, but were induced to return. However, they insisted on bringing their mascot, the bulldog, to classes with them, and passionately fondled and kissed him before their teachers.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO TIP GARBAGE MAN.

Cincinnati, Ohio., May 2.—"Do not tip anyone. It is decidedly un-American to tip anyone who gets paid for what he does. I hope that neither you nor anyone else will tip a public servant."

With this advice Judge Fricke, in police court, dismissed Mrs. Louisa Smith, who was arraigned on a charge of failing to have a garbage can covered. She was cited to appear in court by Mounted Patrolman Rawson. Mrs. Smith said that the collectors of garbage were rough in their handling of the can and lid, and that they threw the lid to all parts of the yard. She said that three weeks ago she found the cover of the can lying in the car tracks, twisted out of shape.

This remark drew the statement from the judge. However, he will help the police to enforce the covered garbage can ordinance.

NEED A DISTINCT AMERICAN LANGUAGE.

Arthur Ransome in the New Witness: When the American language throws off its pretense of being English and learns a natural pride, when it is possible to write American with the same scholarly care that Mark Twain devoted to the dialect of "Huck Finn," then the American spirit will embody itself in literature. Far more intimate will be that embodiment than any description of American life, however vivid, in a language that fluctuates between American and English, in words with two traditions, one English and one American, turn and turn about in the writer's mind. Nothing so much impedes English readers in their enjoyment of American writing as their obstinate assumption that they are reading their own language.

HAS UNDERTAKEN QUITE A CONTRACT

Gospel Pete Has Taken Job of Converting All Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., May 2.—Gospel Pete stood in the doorway of his sign decorated shack at Seventy-first street and Jackson avenue and told of his desire to become an evangelist and "fire bullets of truth" at every Chicagoan.

For fifteen years, in fact ever since Jan. 2, 1898, Peter Z. Pierson, preacher, author and itinerant upholsterer, has sought to reach the souls of men through his songs and preachings. His workshop is his front yard and while mending furniture he addresses passers-by or the crowds who wait for trains at the Parkside station, just across the street.

Over the door of his small cottage, Pierson has placed a large sign reading, Prepare to Meet Thy God.

This has been chalked at the side of the door, and within the little two-room house there are many other quotations, some original and some from the Bible.

"My work here is limited. I am wasting time talking to few. Soon I will close my house and try to find someone who will back me financially. I want a tent, a huge tent with opera chairs and electric lights. Then I can move to different sections of the city and deliver my message to thousands.

"No man can preach the gospel unless he is imbued with the spirit of God. Most ministers preach the doctrines of men and the devils.

"My signs already have converted souls. I was told last week of a man who saw my sign from a train window while going up to his home in Ohio. He was not a Christian. Today he is reformed and leading a good life. I do not go to church, for 'God dwells not in temples made by hand of man, but in me.'

Gospel Pete says he is going to live forever.

"My body will never die until the coming of Christ," he cried, and he brought down his fist emphasizingly upon a nearby table.

Pierson is tall and angular, a native of Norway, and probably 50 years old. He refuses to tell his age, however, because everything with him dates from his reformation as a drunkard fifteen years ago.

"I am nearly 16 years old," he continued, "for it was over fifteen years ago that a spirit came to me while I was working. And the spirit said, 'Peter, I need you.' I cried, 'Yes, Lord,' and my pipe went sailing.

"Never since then have I touched tobacco or liquor. Now I'm a warrior for God, and I'm afraid of nothing."

Peter's home is practically a wreck. Stones have been thrown through the windows—by his enemies, he says. But Gospel Pete has boarded up the holes and continued his preaching. He also has written many poems and songs. His chief song is entitled "The Last Call, or One Step to Hell."

THE CANOE FOOL SEASON.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: It is not too early to talk about the canoe fool. He emerges from hibernation as soon as the ice is out of the rivers, and begins to get himself drowned at once. He keeps it up all summer, and compels the newspapers to record obituaries of his achievements.

All canoeists are not canoe fools. The man who knows how to canoe, and also knows how to swim, is by no means a fool. He can enjoy one of the most delightful of sports, and grow brown and healthy and add years to his life.

The fool is the fellow who takes out a canoe because it looks like an easy way to show off. He is doubly a fool if he does not know how to swim. And he is worse than a fool if he imposes on others his inexperience and egotism. He is a dangerous fellow, who deserves abatement.

There are two good canoeing dont's. Don't try to paddle a canoe unless you have been thoroughly instructed and unless you are a good swimmer. Disregard of this don't leads to involuntary suicide. And don't coax a friend to place trust in your inexperience. This means homicide, and places you beyond human sympathy after you are yourself well drowned.

In brief, have a little common sense.

MAKES RHEUMATISM PROMPTLY DISAPPEAR

Crippled-up Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of Croxone Are Taken.

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can surely avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, does this because it neutralizes and dissolves all the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter all the poison from the blood, and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made for chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles, and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matterns not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to overcome the worst backache or urinary disorders.

LAWYERS PREY ON THE CONVICTS

Jefferson City, Mo., May 2.—That there are many lawyers and others in Missouri who make the big end of their living by preying upon convicts in the state penitentiary and upon their wives and relatives, was the assertion of Commissioner Blanton, member of the board of pardons and paroles.

He says these men go to the convicts themselves or to their families and hold out the cleim that they caa immediately procure their release if enough money can be raised with which to prepare the application and defray the expenses.

"They will even take the money of the wife who earns it by long hours over the washtub," said Blanton. "I have learned that it makes no difference whether the case is one that merits executive clemency or not. The same claims of influence are made no matter how hopeless the case."

Judge Charles A. Denton, who was pardon attorney during Governor Hadley's administration, first discovered the pardon brokerage system which operates in Missouri, and he strongly advised the convicts and their relatives with whom he came in contact, to avoid the payments of money to lawyers. To discourage the practice he finally announced he would parole no convict where he discovered that the lawyer was to receive a fee for presenting the application and making an argument.

PRISON LABOR TO BE USED ON OHIO ROADS.

Columbus, Ohio, May 2.—The employment of prisoners of the state in road building is to be tried out again this year by the board of administration. Highway Commissioner James R. Marker called on President Davey of the administration board during the last week, trying to make arrangements for prisoners to work on a strip of experiment roadway that will be built near West Jefferson.

Last year one road was built by prisoners, and Mr. Marker declares that it is one of the best pieces of road in the state. At that time no provision was made for the payment of any wages to the men, but they seemed glad to get out of the idle house and get a chance to do some work. They were housed near the work, and during the entire time they were so employed there was not one escape.

The experiment proved so successful that the board is anxious to extend the work, and now that provision has been made by the legislature to allow them wages for such work, it is believed that it will be an incentive for them to give even better service.

COURT BARS MOOT CASES

Minnesota Tribunal Will Only Consider Real Issues.

Upholds Lac Qui Parle County Liquor Suit Decision.

St. Paul, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota supreme court went on record today as refusing to consider moot cases. In a per curiam opinion the court says its activities should be limited to real controversies, and also points out that under the new rules the case in question could have been heard in time to make a decision of some value.

It appears that in the spring of 1912 the village of Louisburg, Lac Qui Parle county, was in the throes of a saloon war. One Ole Anderson brought action to restrain the village council from issuing a liquor license, alleging the saloon was within 1,500 feet of a schoolhouse. The license applied for was to begin April 1 and run a year.

In May the lower court decided for Anderson. Judgment was entered Sept. 6 and an appeal was taken Sept. 9, too late for the October term of the supreme court.

The court affirms the lower court, but refuses to pass on the legal points involved, as urged by counsel in order that a precedent might be established. The court says there is no real controversy now between the parties.

CITY BRIEFS

Queer Sense of Humor.
Acting upon the message which was telephoned to the police yesterday afternoon that Frank Sours, a switchman, had been killed in the railroad yards at Twenty-eighth avenue west, Coroner McComb hurried to the scene. He was unable to find any one who had been killed or injured. It looks as though some would-be smart person with a ghoulish sense of humor had sent the message to police headquarters

DULUTHIAN TO BE DELEGATE

Carl Svenson Among Those Going to World's Adventists Conference.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northern Union Conference of Seventh Day Adventists, which includes the state conferences of Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota, will be represented at the general conference, the world conference of the denomination, in Washington, D. C., May 15 to June 8, by a delegation of seventeen members, chosen by the executive committee of the Northern Union conference, at a meeting held here, the headquarters of the union.

The delegates will be as follows: Charles Thompson of Minneapolis, president of the Northern Union conference; W. H. Edwards of Minneapolis, secretary-treasurer of the conference; G. W. Wells of Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota conference; A. R. Ogden of Nevada, Iowa, president of the Iowa conference; C. J. Buhalts of Harvey, N. D., president of the North Dakota conference; C. M. Babcock of Reddield, S. D., president of the South Dakota conference; W. W. Ruble of Alexandria, Minn., F. E. Painter of Minneapolis; C. W. Heald of Nevada, Iowa; M. L. Andreasen of Hutchinson, Minn.; Prof. J. G. Lamson of Nevada, Iowa, principal of the Oak Park academy; W. D. Parkhurst of Des Moines, Iowa; J. W. McComas of Sharpsburg, Iowa; S. E. Jackson of Alexandria, Minn.; Carl Svenson of Duluth; and M. J. Fritz of Freeman, S. D.

Many Conferences to Attend.
These persons will be among delegates that will represent every one of the twenty-five union conferences in the United States, Canada, Europe, Australia and Africa, and the mission stations in Africa and Asia. While the delegates will number between 300 and 500, the number of persons to attend will swell to about 4,000, as believers from all parts of North America will flock to the scene to listen to the important questions concerning the whole denomination that will come up for consideration, and the explanation of Bible themes by leading ministers of the faith.

Every state in the Union will be represented by delegates; in fact, every country on the globe. All of the leading ministers in the United States and Canada will be among those in attendance. The leaders of the denomination in Europe and Australia, as well as those of the mission stations in Africa, Asia and the islands of the sea, will also come.

MRS. PAGE HEAD OF KINDERGARTNERS.

Washington, May 2.—The International Kindergarten union today elected these officers: President, Mrs. Mary Boomer Page, Chicago; first vice president, Miss Stella L. Wood, Minneapolis; second vice president, Mrs. Margaret J. Stannard, Boston; corresponding secretary and treasurer, Miss Catherine R. Watkins, Washington.

Plans for the erection of a statue to Frederick Froebel, to be one of a general group of memorials in Washington to great educators, are being completed. The delegates pledged more than $4,000 toward the statue, which is to cost $25,000.

Grain Being "Disced" In.
Lakota, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some grain is being "disced' into the ground this spring as a result of the small amount of plowing done last year. This condition is very unusual, as farmers have made the practice of plowing exceptionally well here in the last few years.

Seeding operation in Northern Traill county and Southern Grand Forks county are about concluded so far as wheat is concerned.

Cretonnes You Want for Trimming

A riot of gay colorings marks some of the new cretonnes and similar fabrics just received at our Drapery Department on the third floor. They're just what are wanted for trimming hats and coats. They'll give a smart touch to many things.

Prices 35c, 45c, 50c and 60c for many of the new kinds. A little goes a long way.

Would You Like a $25 Serge Coat for $19.50 Tomorrow?

One of the styles is quite similar to the cut alongside. They are made of heavy Lewis serges and are lined throughout with good peau de cygne.

They are cut in the new two-button, 48-inch length, in smart cutaway effects. They have long reveres trimmed with fancy silk collars. Choose from black, navy and tan in those heavy Lewis serges which, as you know, are one of the most satisfactory cloths on the market for many years.

Tomorrow We Plan on Surprising You By a Sale of Mighty Good-Looking Hats at $5.00.

You may choose from a big assortment of small and medium shapes trimmed in the season's most popular materials in the colorings of the hour. There are upstanding trims and flat trims. There are tailored and semi-dress hats.

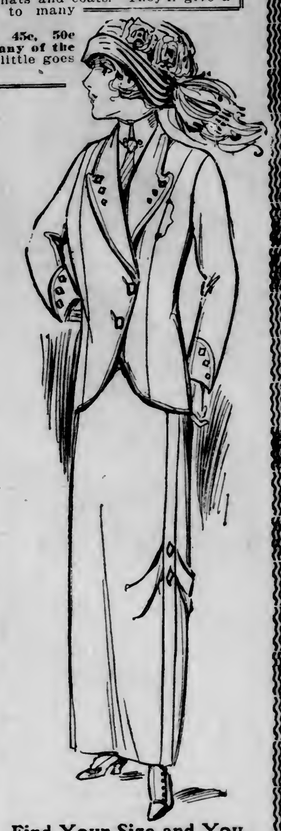
Duluth women appreciate style and and they will be quick to appreciate this opportunity to buy hats at $5.

We advise an early visit. The values are so convincing as to insure quick sale. And milliners who know their business are here to serve you. Tailored styles, $5.00 to $12.00. Dress hats, $8.00 to $40.00.

Hats for the Girls of Six to Sixteen Are Here in Glorious Variety

Ready-to-wear hats of remarkable styles are priced at $1.50 to $4.00. There are also imitation Panamas, sash-trimmed, and hemp and hair hats trimmed with flowers and ribbon that will sell at $2.50 to $7.50.



Find Your Size and You May Have a $22.50 or $25 Suit for $17.50

Diagonal serges, Bedford cords, Scotch mixtures and other popular fabrics are represented in the special lot of suits on sale Saturday at $17.50. They are principally in 36-inch semi-fitted jacket and three-piece skirt styles. The jackets are lined with splendid wearing peau de cygne. Colors include tans, browns, Kings blue and mixtures. Some of the jackets are in cutaway effects, others in square corner models. They are from our most popular lines of $22.50 and $25.00 suits, and because size lines are broken we offer choice at $17.50.

Girls' Dresses for School, for Vacation and Commencement Wear

Yes, and we must tell of pretty little dresses for confirmation, too. For confirmation—for graduation and for the wedding—the feminine fancy justly requires dresses of unusual beauty

And today we can only mention that new lines of dresses for girls of 6 to 18 are here, and they are altogether remarkable for their charming style enhanced by hand-embroidered touches.

These are selling at $6.50 to $15.00, other pretty little dresses are here at $2.50, $2.98, $3.50 and $4.50.

We believe that any girl may be fitted. There are sizes 6 to 12 years in children's dresses, sizes 13 to 17 in junior dresses, sizes 14 to 18 in misses' dresses.

In each line styles are distinct. They are fitting in line and fashion to the ages for which they are intended, and what a bother of making these save. See the above at the Children's Department, 2nd floor.

Little tots' dresses, sizes up to 4 years on sale at Baby Shop, 3rd floor.

Perhaps you remember that in the Bigelow Papers Lowell says that in New England "May" is frequently "Mayn't"—inferring that it wasn't safe to "change."

This condition is equally true for this region. and yet winter weights in underwear are too heavy to be comfortable, and summer weights are too light for safety.

To suit this period—the Globe Mills make underwear for the best New England stores and for us. The weight is just right for early season's wear. Of course, the garments are beautifully finished as all Globe underwear is. There are union suits, and separate garments—high or low neck—long sleeves or short sleeves—ankle lengths and knee lengths in various sizes and various styles.

Prices range $1.00, $1.19, $1.25, $1.35 and $1.50 the suit. The pants are made with band or tight tops and in ankle lengths or knee lengths. Prices, 50c and 65c the pair. All sizes. Perhaps the tight top suits are most favored because of prevailing styles in dress.

If we could tell you all the good news we have heard about Bon Ton corsets since Mrs. Griffin's visit, you would surely wish to see some of the ultra-fashionable models.

The present vogue demands a figure contour of lovely appearance—slender appearing and best of all natural—it sets off the gown to perfection and is much admired. If you will take advantage of our excellent service and let our corsetiere assist in selecting the proper model for your figure, we are sure you will have every reason to be pleased with the result.

Bon Ton corsets fit and cling with kid glove nicety. No steel ends protrude, no unsightly edges show. The gown will have the fashionable effect of an un-corseted figure.

These corsets sell for $3.00 and up, and if you will have them fitted you will understand why they are the favorite of French dressmakers.

TRUST PRETTY STRONG.

Iowa Implement Dealer Says Harvester Co. Has Barnum Market.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 2.—The International Harvester company has had everything its own way in Barnum, Iowa, for a decade, according to the testimony of J. A. Eastman, implement dealer of that place who testified yesterday in defense to the government anti-trust suit against that company. Eastman says 100 per cent of the binders, rakes, mowers and corn binders sold there during the last ten years were products of that company's plants. Other dealers, mostly from Iowa, testified that the International is at present 60 to 100 per cent strong in their territory. All declared they were not coerced into buying International machinery.

Twenty-six witnesses were examined yesterday, seven of them being farmers.

Pimples Should Be Watched

May be Means of Absorbing Disease Germs in Most Unexpected Manner.

Make Your Blood Pure and Immune With S. S. S.

The world renowned laboratory of the Swift Specific Company has collected a vast amount of information regarding the spread of blood diseases. In thousands of instances the most virulent types have been the result of coming in contact with disease germs in public places, and the apparently insignificant pimple has been the cause. It spreads with astonishing rapidity, often infecting the entire system in a few days.

It is fortunate, however, that there is a remedy to cope quickly and thoroughly with such a condition, and thanks to the energy of its producers the famous S. S. S. may now be had at almost any drug store in the civilized world.

This preparation stands alone as a blood purifier. It is somewhat revolutionary in its compositon, since it accomplishes all that was ever claimed for mercury, iodides, arsenic, and other destructive mineral drugs, and yet it is absolutely a purely vegetable product. It contains one ingredient which serves the active purpose of stimulating each tiny cellular part of the tissues to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. There are more cases of articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, paresis, neuritis, and similar diseases resultant from the use of minerals than most people are aware of. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book compiled by the medical department of The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with a special letter of advice, to all who are struggling with a blood disease.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day of your druggist. It will surprise you with its wonderful action in the blood.

MEAT PRICES AT HIGH POINT

Berries, Fruits and Vegetables Are Plentiful and Lower in Price.

Poultry Is Almost Unobtainable—Butter Has Pronounced Drop.

In regard to the high cost of living, there is slight difference this week in the produce market. So far as berries, fruit and vegetables are concerned where there are changes of price at all, the tendency is toward lower figures. There are quite a number of changes too, and almost all in important items. However, meats are unyielding and high. Meats of all kinds on which prices are quoted still cling to the high tenor that has characterized them for weeks and show no sign of change as to price.

Poultry is another department of provisions that sticks at the high rate, and it is predicted that it will remain around there for some time to come for poultry is scarce and bought up quickly as soon as it shows on the market. The Armour Packing company people here says that poultry is about cleaned up and is snapped up as rapidly as it can be obtained—in fact it is almost impossible to get a supply sufficient to meet the demand.

Hens are practically unobtainable and this week instead of there being quoted a range of prices from 18 cents to 20 cents, the price is made 20 cents flat. Frozen poultry is practically out of the market, all kinds suffering alike and in consequence the price has jumped materially. As to hens, it is not expected that there will be many obtainable until the spring laying season is over for just now "eggs is eggs" and mean money, as good prices are being paid for them and this product is of more value than the dead hen. After the laying season is over hens will again come into the market in plentiful quantities.

• • •

As to fruit, berries and vegetables, there is a tendency for prices to drop. Strawberries are the feature of the market. They are coming from Louisiana in pint boxes, and are of the finest quality. Produce men declare that they have seldom seen these strawberries equalled at this time of the year. Also the price has dropped considerably from what it was last week. For a case containing twenty-four pints last week Louisiana strawberries were bringing $2.50 to $2.75. This week the price has dropped to $2.35.

• • •

Green vegetables as a rule are 20 per cent lower in price than a week ago, particularly green onions, radishes and cucumbers. Parsley is out of the market. Head lettuce is scarce and high—in fact is difficult to obtain.

• • •

The new Texas cabbage is wholesome and appetizing to look upon. It is bright, green and crisp and is selling at a low figure.

• • •

Florida tomatoes are taking a high figure because of light receipts and so is Florida green top celery, which is the only celery in the market. Receipts of this are very light and accordingly the price has aviated.

• • •

Another toothsome table delicacy which is getting into the popular price game is asparagus. The price is reasonable and the stock is fancy. Last week it cost $1.35 per a dozen bunches. This week it is quoted on Michigan street at 95 cents for the same amount. It is claimed that the asparagus on the market at this time is some of the finest seen here in a long time.

• • •

The better supply of old potatoes has made the market in spuds more reasonable than before, and the quality of the stock received is holding up well also. The price is much more in keeping with the pocket book of the average householder than it has been. Last week old potatoes were quoted at 43 cents the bushel. This week they are 38 cents, which helps considerable.

• • •

In butter there have been a few reductions, but in cheese and eggs there is a slight increase. Creamery butter dropped during the past week 4 cents a pound, the price called for now being 30 and 31 cents. Dairy butter dropped only 1 cent. In cheese there has been an increase of price in three grades—Twins, Wheel Swiss No. 1, and brick—each going up 1 cent per pound. Eggs increased a half cent during the week.

• • •

Cuban pineapples are obtainable at a very cheap price just now, a drop of 75 cents a crate being registered during the past week. The grade of the pineapples is of high quality and at the price quoted the apples are looked upon as a bargain.

• • •

Grapefruit is still reasonable in price in the Duluth market, but indications are said to be for an advance very soon, so this is considered a good time to buy.

HARVARD MEN TO HAVE REUNION

Seventeenth Annual Meeting to Be Held at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—Graduates of Harvard university from all parts of the United States will come to St. Louis May 22 to be "college men" again and march under banners of crimson to tunes of favorite college songs at the seventeenth annual meeting of the Associated Harvard clubs, Friday and Saturday, May 23-24.

Members of the class of '84 will hobnob with those of 1912; the old battles of gridiron, river and diamond will be fought over, victories will be celebrated again and defeats explained from new angles.

The principal features of the meeting will be the banquet, which will be given Saturday night in the great main dining room of Hotel Jefferson. President Lowell of Harvard; Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, U. S. A.; Dean Briggs, Secretary of Agriculture Houston, H. A. Leekley of Oklahoma, and Percy Haughton, Harvard's head football coach, will be the principal speakers.

The meeting will officially begin Friday at noon with a luncheon at Hotel Jefferson which will be the delegates' headquarters, and where rooms have been engaged for them. Immediately after the luncheon will come the business session.

At 4 o'clock Friday afternoon the delegates will be taken in autos to Sunset Inn, in the foothills of the Ozark mountains, overlooking the Meramec river, thirteen miles from St. Louis, where dinner will be served on the porch.

At 8:30 o'clock the curtain will rise on a musical play that should be as good as any ever produced by the famous "Hasty Pudding" club. The music has been written by Max Zach, formerly conductor of the popular concerts of the Boston Symphony orchestra and now conductor of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra, and the words by Eugene H. Angert, a St. Louis Harvard man, and his sister, Miss Josephine Angert.

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning the delegates will march along the streets behind a band of music to the river, where a boat will be in readiness to take them for a river trip. Lunch will be served either on the boat or at a landing place yet to be selected. The return trip will be made in time for the banquet.

TRY NAVAL OFFICERS.

Captain and Navigator of the Arkansas Accused.

Washington, May 2.—The navy department has ordered the trial by general courtmartial of Capt. Roy C. Smith, commander of the battleship Arkansas, and Lieut. W. W. Smythe, who was acting navigator of that vessel when she was damaged last February by running upon a shoal in the vicinity of Celba bank, off the southern coast of Cuba.

The case will be heard at the New York navy yard May 12. Capt. Smith will be tried upon the charge of having improperly hazarded the vessel by taking her over a course which lay dangerously close to a shoal when there was available a wide channel showing deep and regular soundings.

The charges against Lieut. Smythe involve the questions whether he failed in his duty as acting navigator in that he did not fix the position of the ship by exact method, and whether he failed to inform the captain of the distance at which the ship would pass the charted position of the shoal.

The damage to the Arkansas resulting from the accident cost the government $50,000.

CELEBRATE WITH DEWEY.

Washington, May 2.—Twenty-one of the surviving officers who fought under Admiral George Dewey in the battle of Manila bay, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of the famous naval engagement here at the annual reunion and banquet of the Society of Manila bay. The officers, including Rear Admiral Asa Walker, who commanded the cruiser Concord, and the only survivor of Dewey's fleet captains, gathered around the banquet table to do honor to Admiral Dewey, president of the society.

Personal reminiscences of the battle were given by the diners. Those present were:

Admiral Dewey, Rear Admirals Asa Walker, Frank H. Bailey, George H. Colvocoresses, Hutch I. Cone, Bradley A. Fiske, John D. Ford and Thomas B. Howard, Medical Director John C. Wise, Lieutenant Commanders Henry V. Butler and William P. Scott, pay directors; William G. Gait and John R. Martin, commanders; Samuel H. Robinson and Montgomery M. Taylor, captains; Reynold T. Hall, Patrick W. Hourigan, Gustav Kemmerling and Charles M. McCormick, pay inspector; Eugene D. Ryan, surgeon; E. M. H. Marsteller, Edward W. Harden of New York and John F. Marshall of Norfolk, Va.

SURPLUS IN THE NATION'S PURSE.

Washington, May 2.—Footing up accounts for May 1, Uncle Sam found a deficiency of $3,654,000 for the month of April. Exclusive of Panama canal and public transactions, the receipts for April amounted to $53,452,000, while disbursements reached $57,106,000.

Up to date, for the current fiscal year, there is a surplus of ordinary receipts over ordinary disbursements of $8,966,000, against a deficit a year ago of $12,580,000.

Customs receipts for last month fell off $2,530,000, as compared with April, 1912, while internal revenue receipts increased $2,000,000. A big factor in the increased expenditures for the month just closed was the pension payments under the new law. These exceeded the pension disbursement of April, 1912, by $3,217,000.

The total general fund May 1 was $141,333,043, including a working balance for the government of $73,077,000, which it is expected, will soon be decreased by $10,000,000 under Secretary McAdoo's authorization for additional deposits in the national banks. Trust funds in the treasury at this time include $1,075,198,000 in gold coin and bullion. The mints during April coined $4,250,000 in gold.

Hanna Issues Requisition.

Bismarck, N. D., May 2.—Governor Hanna has issued requisition papers for Ben Rook of McLean county, who is wanted for mortgaging property he did not own and thus obtaining money under false pretenses. Sheriff Simon left yesterday for New Ulm, Minn., where the man is being held awaiting the arrival of North Dakota officers.

WHEN WHISTLE BLOWS CAT AWAKENS MASTER.

Sharon, Pa., May 2.—Mark Moeller, a steel worker of near Farrell, would not trade his pet Maltese act for the best alarm clock ever invented. He vouches for the story that within the last year he has not once arrived late at his work, while before "Tom" came into the family circle he was frequently tardy.

Moeller's cat wakens him every morning at 6 o'clock, and if he turns over for just a few more winks the feline begins clawing at the covers until Moeller arises.

Moeller used to have an alarm clock. Sometimes he would forget to wind it. He would oversleep and arrive late at work. There is a whistle at a factory close by, and this always blows at 6 o'clock. The cat knows when the whistle blows it is time for Moeller to arise, and it jumps on the bed and stays there until the sleeper is aroused.

The cat has been more reliable than the clock, and has not missed awakening Moeller, except Sundays, for several months.

MAILS A COCOANUT.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 2.—"Guess you'd better handle this carefully. Sounds like it might break," said a postman as he gingerly handed a big brown package over the desk at the Hotel English.

The clerk looked first at the package, then at the postman, with a puzzled expression on his countenance. He picked up the package and shook it. There was a sound of dashing water, then he saw the label, "Palm Beach cocoanut," and he laughed. It was not a patent bottle or an ostrich egg. It was just a cocoanut, but different in appearance from the kind offered in the local market. The smooth outer shell had not been removed, and the label and postage were pasted right on the nut.

The cocoanut weighed three pounds and it cost 24 cents to send it by parcel post from Palm Beach, Fla. The nut was sent to Homer I. Cutsinger.

INITIATION FESTIVAL.

May Be Held By Shriners in Panama Canal Lock.

Mobile, Ala., May 2.—Abba temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, propose to hold an initiation festival wherein "unregenerate sons of the desert will cross the hot sands" in one of the Panama canal locks before the water is turned into the lock this fall. Permission has been obtained from the government to use the lock and all that remains is to get the sanction of the imperial council, which meets in Dallas, Tex., May 12 to 17. This probably will be granted.

PROSECUTOR IS DENOUNCED

Socialists Ask Investigation of Conduct of Crow Wing County Attorney.

Great Crowd Participates in International Labor Day Celebration.

A resolution calling on Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith to investigate the conduct of County Attorney Fred Swanson of Crow Wing county who is claimed to be responsible for the release of George L. Payne, one of the alleged kidnapers of Theodore Sjogren, strike agitator, who was taken from Crosby to Brainerd in an automobile, was passed by the Duluth Socialists at their International Labor Day mass meeting at the Armory last evening.

The resolution states that the municipal judge at Crosby dismissed the charge against Payne on the motion of Mr. Swanson, who represented to the court that inasmuch as there were others who were equally guilty of the charge, it would be unfair to prosecute Payne.

The May festival of the local Socialists was preceded by a parade which started at the court house and which extended a distance of ten blocks. There were about 1,400 people in the line. The mass meeting was one of the largest in the history of the local organization. Red flags and red badges were much in evidence. A Finnish band headed the procession and the Zenith City band, a Scandinavian organization brought up the rear.

John Alvin Johnson presided at the meeting. He stated that Labor Day as observed in September is only the badge of capitalism and the "intellectual prostitutes of the press and pulpit vie with each other in praising this token of serfdom." The International Labor Day, he said was the only real celebration by the working class.

The Cuyuna Strike.

A. Miller gave a short talk in Polish which was followed by a few remarks from O. M. Thompson, state organizer for the Municipal Ownership party in Minnesota, on the miners strike on the Cuyuna range. Mr. Thompson stated that the press did not give a clear view of the situation. He said:

"The men went back to work at an advance from $2.50 per shift to $3 and $3.25," he said. "They were given four of the six demands they made, and their wrongs were in a measure righted.

"These men deserve great credit. They had no organization, yet they went on a strike, did not get into trouble, and helped to preserve order. It is the only time in history where laboring men have really stood by each other. They even requested that the saloons be closed for fear the deputy sheriffs might become intoxicated."

Mr. Thompson also declared that it was owing to the "spineless county attorney of Crow Wing county" that Payne did not receive a term in state's prison as he so richly deserved. The speaker declared that the attorney general had promised to investigate the incident.

The mass meeting also passed a resolution censuring the West Virginia authorities and Governor Hatfield for keeping "Mother" Jones in prison. The resolution demands her release.

Allen Strong Broms of St. Paul gave a talk in which he declared that anarchy would not redress conditions. He advised second sober thought on all questions affecting Socialism.

Miss Agnes Mae Johnson gave an interesting reading. She was decked out in Socialist red.

ONLY FOURTEEN VETERANS LISTED

Capt. Pressnell Getting in Touch With Those Eligible for Gettysburg Trip.

Capt. T. H. Pressnell has announced a list of fourteen veterans of the Civil war, living in Duluth and vicinity, who are eligible to attend the Gettysburg reunion at the expense of the state.

Capt. Pressnell believes there are many other veterans in the city and nearby towns who are eligible to make the trip and he is anxious to hear from them. Members of the First Minnesota, two companies of sharpshooters or any other regiments which took part in the battle of Gettysburg are eligible.

The list so far compiled by Capt. Pressnell follows:

Charles H. Safford, Company F, Fifth Michigan cavalry, Duluth.

Harrison Lyons, Company A, First Minnesota, Gettysburg, and wounded July 2, Verndale.

David Archibald, Company L, First Minnesota, Bay Lake.

Charles E. Harris, Company I, Seventh Wisconsin infantry, detached to Battery B, Fourth United States artillery at Gettysburg, 1723 East Fifth street, Duluth.

Otis H. Dyer, Seventeenth Maine infantry, Barnum, Carlton county.

William P. Strickland, Company K, One Hundred Twenty-first New York infantry, 21 Carlisle avenue, Duluth.

Charles H. Graves, captain Thirty-fourth infantry, U. S. A., and brevet lieutenant-colonel, U. S. A. Was on Gen. Graham's staff at Gettysburg. Address U. S. ambassador, Stockholm, Sweden. Col. Graves writes that he wants his name on the list and hopes to be here to go. He is anxiously awaiting the appointment of his successor.

S. A. Clark, Company F, Fourth Massachusetts cavalry, 1407 East Third street, Duluth.

T. H. Pressnell, Company C, First Minnesota, Duluth.

Skinner Operated On.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 2.—Otis Skinner, the actor, underwent an operation here yesterday for the removal of an abscess back of the ear. Dr. Lafayette Page, who performed the operation, said that while Mr. Skinner withstood the knife in good shape, his condition was serious.

CONSUL ASKS RIGHT TO HANDLE FUNDS.

Edgar Prochnik, Austro-Hungarian consul, with headquarters at St. Paul, yesterday petitioned the district court for authority to handle and distribute the funds of the estates of two of his fellow countrymen in this county. They are Bozo Rukavina, who died July 3, 1912, leaving an estate of $117.96 and a claim for wrongful death against the Wisconsin Steel company, and Mike Lamaitich, who died on July 17, 1912, leaving a personal estate of $216.50 and a cause of action against the Oliver Iron Mining company.

WILSON WIRES CALIFORNIA

Asks Caution in the Passage of Alien Land Measures.

Governor Johnson Opens Way to Suggestion From President.

"I take the liberty of calling your attention to the Webb bill which would involve an appeal to the courts on question of treaty rights and bring on what might be long and delicate litigation."

Governor Johnson immediately replied:

"I thank you very much for your suggestion. The fault may be due to the fact that we have endeavored to preserve affirmatively upon the face of our bill the existing treaty. I have referred the matter at once to our attorney general and I would be extremely grateful for any suggestions that would avoid the objection you mention."

Defer Action One Day.

Sacramento, Cal., May 2.—When the Webb redraft of the anti-alien land bill was reached in the senate yesterday Senator Curtin introduced a resolution proposing that the legislature defer to the wishes of President Wilson as expressed by Secretary of State Bryan.

The resolution set forth the facts surrounding the visit of Mr. Bryan to California and his conference with the legislators, and promised that the alien land bills would not be passed this session. However, it urged President Wilson to endeavor to obtain such treaty agreements as would reach the desired end.

At the earnest plea of the Democrats for more time in which to study the Webb redraft of the anti-alien law, the majority leaders in the senate agreed to a postponement for further consideration of the measure.

No Reconsideration.

The agreement was made with the understanding on all sides that the bill shall come to a final vote today, and that no motion to reconsider shall be made on behalf of either side after the last roll call.

During the argument on a motion by Senator Curtin to postpone, nearly every member of the Democratic minority on the floor declared he had not read the bill thoroughly, if at all.

On this representation Senator Thompson, majority leader, said there was no desire to embarrass any one, and unanimous approval was given to Senator Curtin's motion.

—THE— HOMECROFTERS' CORNER

Conducted by C. E. ROE.

Questions will be answered by Mr. Roe in this column.

In some sections of Duluth, good stable manure is scarce and the prices asked for hauling is seem almost prohibitive to wage earners. Yet the fertility of the soil must be maintained if the garden is to thrive and yield results worth while. While there is no one commercial fertilizer which can adequately take the place of stable manure, there are several which will prove valuable where the supply of stable manure is inadequate.

Everyone who has chickens should carefully store all refuse from the chicken coop in a dry place. Before applying to the garden this should be thoroughly mixed with land plaster or with crushed Tennessee phosphate rock. Do not mix with wood ashes or air-slaked lime as the lime immediately free the ammonia in the hen manure and robs it of more than half of its value. Land plaster is cheap and easily secured from any of the dealers in lime and cement. Broadcast the mixture sparingly after the garden has been spaded and rake thoroughly into the soil.

Wood ashes and air-slaked lime are both valuable fertilizers when used alone or together. The lime and potash contained in wood ashes are of special value to Duluth soils, but they should be stored where they can be kept dry until used upon the land. Air-slaked lime is not only valuable as a fertilizer but it will help to sweeten heavy soils and will destroy any harmful fungus which may have found lodgment in the soil. The soil here is deficient in lime and either of the above will furnish the necessary supply. They may be applied in the same manner recommended for chicken manure.

Bone meal or ground bone is almost an ideal fertilizer, but it should be used sparingly and thoroughly mixed with the soil. When used for hill crops, such as corn, a handful is sufficient for four or five hills. It is a good plan to hoe it in when you cultivate your corn for the first time. This fertilizer is sold by all of the large meat packing houses.

All stable manure contains a low percentage of phosphorus, which is largely used by the first crop after the manure is applied. South Carolina or Tennessee rock phosphate is an excellent substitute for restoring this element. From 25 to 50 pounds should be sufficient for the ordinary city garden or about 300 pounds per acre.

If you cannot get bone meal and want a fertilizer that contains practically all of the elements essential to plant growth, try the following:

Ten pounds nitrate of soda, five pounds muriate of potash, five pounds potassium sulphate, five pounds acid phosphate.

The nitrate of soda is the most expensive, but it is the only one in the list which will furnish the necessary supply of nitrogen. Where you have sod to turn under the decaying grass and roots will give you the needed supply of this element and you may omit it from the list. Fertilizers mixed in about the above proportion may be purchased at from 3 to 5 cents per pound. If you have a supply of wood ashes, use them instead of the muriate of potash and potassium sulphate.

The great danger with the amateur is that he will use too much when he applies commercial fertilizers.

placing sugar on the free list in three years. It was lost 88 to 186.

Representative Hardwick of Georgia, defended the rates for the majority, describing America's sugar industry as of the "hothouse" variety, unable to stand on its own feet and exacting excessive taxes from the people to support it.

Analyzed Sugar Rates.

Representative Underwood analyzed the sugar rates in the proposed bill, described the Louisiana cane industry as one that could not survive, and asserted that the rates in the bill would not affect the beet sugar industry.

Placing sugar on the free list would result in the turning of the Hawaiian islands over to the Japanese, said a letter Senator Works had read in the senate from the Episcopal bishop of Honolulu. It would drive nine-tenths of the white population, other than the boys, from the islands and leave it in the hands of the Japanese who might be able to exist on the reduced profits from work on sugar plantations, said the writer.

Rejected Amendments.

Among the rejected amendments to the agricultural schedule in the house are:

By Representative Kent of California, to put cattle on the free list; Willis of Ohio, sheep from 10 per cent to $1 per head; Woods of Iowa, meat from free list to 25 per cent; Sloan of Nebraska, meats to 15 per cent; Fordney of Michigan, all livestock from 10 to 25 per cent; Steenerson of Minnesota, potatoes from the free list to 25 cents a bushel of 60 pounds; Holgeson of South Dakota, barley from 15 cents to 25 cents a bushel; Morgan of Oklahoma, broom corn from the free list to $35 a ton; Fordney, barley malt from 25 cents to 45 cents per bushel; Browning of New Jersey, macaroni from 1 to 1½ cents per pound; Fordney, oats from 10 to 15 cents a bushel.

to China, accredited to the republic, will be designated to succeed Mr. Calhoun, who is now on his way home. Mr. Chang, the resident minister of China, probably will soon receive credentials from Yuan Shi Kai, the provisional president of China, in place of the credentials issued to him by the late Manchu government.

Message From Wilson.

The formal recognition of the United States was extended when Charge d'Affairs Williams delivered to President Yuan Shi Kai the following message from President Wilson:

"The government and people of the United States of America, having abundantly testified their sympathy with the people of China upon their assumption of the attributes and powers of self-government, deem it opportune at this time, when the representative national assembly has met, to discharge the high duty of setting the seal of full accomplishment upon the aspirations of Chinese people, that I extend, in the name of my government and of my countrymen, a greeting of welcome to the new China thus entering into the family of nations.

"In taking this step I entertain the confident hope and expectation that in perfecting a republican form of government, the Chinese nation will attain to the highest degree of development and that under the new rule all the established obligations of China which pass to the provisional government will in turn pass and be observed by the government established by the assembly."

Response by Yuan Shi Kai.

President Yuan Shi Kais response said:

"In the name of the Republic of China, I thank you most heartily for the message of recognition you have sent me, the sentiments of amity and good will which it bespeaks. The expression of greeting and welcome which it conveys at once testifies to the American spirit of mutual helpfulness, and adds another brilliant page to the history of seventy years of uninterrupted friendly intercourse between China and the United States."

This government's action has created a most interesting international situation and brings to the point the intentions of the five other powers, parties to the six-power loan negotiation from which the United States recently withdrew, announcing its purpose to recognize China and urging the others to do the same.

It is known that some of them, at least, required more than a mere organization of a national legislature, between which and the provisional executive serious friction already developed, and that they were originally disposed to await the installation of a president chosen by constitutional methods and with evident adequate support to maintain himself.

On the other hand, the recent action of Yuan Shi Kai in concluding a loan for $125,000,000, with the five-power group is expected to prove a powerful incentive to those governments to support Yuan Shi Kai by joining in the recognition of China accorded today by the United States.

lice early today from Grand View, Mo., by C. G. Gibson, conductor of the train, which continued on its way South, the total amount of loot obtained amounted to $1,100 in money and a $32 diamond. Of this Mr. Gibson said Mr. Short lost $1,000. W. F. Seafe, Neck City, Mo., $65, and F. A. Seaman, Eureka Springs, Ark., $35 and the diamond stud.

Conductor Gibson said the robber must have been wounded seriously as he left blood in pools in the Pullman aisle and on the platform from which he leaped.

Had Good Chance.

When daylight came the search for the robber went forward with double vigor. What in the dark was believed to be a trail of blood left after the bandit vanished with the dawn and a dozen detectives who searched the railway right-of-way from a mile on either side the spot where the robber disappeared found nothing to guide them. The escape was effected in a lonely region of switch tracks, mazes of box cars and market gardens, where a few minutes after notification the chances were all with the robber.

Cowed Negro Porter.

The train was just pulling out of the depot here when a tall man ran out of the darkness of the railroad yards and climbed up the steps of the observation car. He had a handkerchief over the lower part of his face and carried two pistols.

Oscar Allen, a negro porter, who saw him aboard the train, rushed out and ordered him away. The robber covered him with a pistol and said:

"I'm going to put over a trick here. You sit down there and be quick. I will need you."

After the train had gone about three miles the robber ordered Allen to go ahead of him through the train. In the sitting room of the observation car were W. J. Scafe of Neck City, Mo., and F. A. Seaman of Eureka Springs, Ark.

Robber's Voice Trembled.

The robber's voice trembled as he demanded their valuables, but they offered no resistance and gave him money and jewelry amounting to about $200.

Preceded by the frightened negro, the robber then entered the chair car where there were about a dozen passengers, all men.

"Hold up your hands," was the command with which the robber greeted them. The passengers readily complied with his demand and he passed along collecting their money and jewelry, all of which he placed in a large pocket of his coat made apparently for the purpose.

The robbery of the chair car was accomplished within five minutes and the surprised passengers obeyed the final injunction of the robber to sit down and remain quiet.

The Pullman car was entered next. After robbing two passengers from whom he secured small amounts of money the robber came to the berth occupied by Short.

Shot Through Curtain.

"Give me your money," the robber demanded in a whisper as he shook the sleeping man.

When awakened sufficiently to realize the import of the command, Short handed over $1,000 in money and a large diamond stud. As the robber turned to leave, Short seized his revolver and fired through the curtain. The robber returned the fire and both men emptied their weapons, each shooting blindly through the curtain which was perforated by almost a dozen bullets. One bullet struck Short's forehead, another went through an arm and a third lodged in his knee.

Short fell back in his berth and the robber fled toward the rear of the train. Passengers in other cars, aroused by the shooting, followed him. They saw him back out the door of the observation car and drop from the train, which was just being brought to a stop.

He left bloodstains in the aisles and on the car platform, and the passengers said he appeared to be badly hurt.

C. G. Gibson, conductor in charge of the train, when he heard the shooting seized a pistol and, accompanied by a porter, the brakeman and express messenger, started for the Pullman car. Before they could clear the aisles of passengers so they could use their weapons, the robber had leaped from the train.

Engineer Charles Haag and Fireman Peter Simmian knew nothing of the robbery until it was all over. The police here were notified by a passenger who, dressed only in his night clothes, ran to a saloon a quarter of a mile away and telephoned the report.

An ambulance was summoned to take Short to a hospital. Physicians there said that while his wounds were serious, they did not consider them fatal.

Short is one of the wealthiest mine owners of Jasper county, operating zinc and lead mines in that district. Six years ago he was a miner working for wages.

for the cause will deliver more addresses.

Outsiders Pouring In.

Delegations of women from neighboring states, many of national prominence, some coming by special train, with their own bands, began pouring into the city today to take part in the demonstration and it was estimated at national suffrage headquarters that more than 5,000 women from out of town would march in the parade.

Large delegations from Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the national capital are expected. It is said 2,000 men, twice the number last year, will march behind the banner of the Men's League for Woman Suffrage. Every state in the Union and Alaska will be represented in the parade by native daughters in greater or lesser numbers, with the nine suffrage states and Alaska given precedence in the order of the march.

Women in all walks of life, from society leaders to scrub women, will fill the ranks, and some forty bands will furnish music. Miss Inez Milholland, mounted, will head the procession as color bearer, and Miss Josephine Belderhasse will act as grand marshal.

Nordica as "Freedom."

Society women, actresses and opera singers will participate in tonight's pageant. Madame Nordica will take the part of Freedom. Forty-nine women, picked for their statuesque beauty, and forty-nine men selected for their Adonis-like proportions will represent in couples the forty-eight states and Alaska.

The pageant will follow the addresses of Col. Roosevelt and Miss Shaw, and an appeal for recruits to march in the parade. One hundred and seventy-five college women will act as ushers.

be the visible and audible conscience of the family of nations. The tribunal at The Hague must preserve national liberty and justice by confining the national dogs of war to the kennel of international law.

Predicts Great Tribunal.

"We have caught a vision beyond the permanent court of arbitration and the court of arbitral justice, of still a third Hague tribunal, which shall possess all the strength and none of the weaknesses of its predecessors. This supreme court of the United States of the World shall have all the permanence, all the power and prestige of precedent, and all the judicially representative character which have made the supreme court of the United States of America so illustrious. To attain this destiny, its judges must cease to be representative of the nations who are the suitors before the court, and must become representative of the family of nations, by whom the court is created and for whose life, liberty and pursuit of happiness it is destined to labor."

Edwin D. Mean of Boston, in speaking of "The Pan-Teutonic Pledge of Peace," said nothing would help the cause of peace more than the united action of Great Britain, Germany and the United States to stop the rivalry in naval construction.

some of the members of the legislature honestly opposed the jury reform bills in the last session of the legislature because of objections to the form of the proposals. It was these whom the president sought to convince.

Had Busy Day Outlined.

The president was due to meet today not only the Democratic members of the legislature and state party leaders, but Acting Governor Fielder and Mayor Wittpenn, rival candidates for governor in the approaching primary contest. His program for the late afternoon was a short automobile ride for relaxation before making his last speech here tonight. He planned to leave at midnight for Washington.

The president was greeted with cheers and enthusiasm as he faced the big crowds last night.

"It made all my pulses beat," said the president in his speech at Newark, "to think that I was to come to this great county of Essex that wants to govern itself but does not. I have come, therefore, to speak, not to you, but for you.

As to National Election.

"I want to say a few words about the Democratic party. I want everybody to realize that I have not been taken in by the results of the last national election. The country did not go Democratic in November. It was impossible to go Republican because it could not tell which kind of Republican to go. The only hopeful and united instrument through which it could accomplish its purpose was the Democratic party. 'There are certain things which we want dont,' the country said, 'not certain persons elevated. There are certain things we want demonstrated, such as that the government of the United States cannot be controlled by private interests. Now the Democratic party is going to have a try at making these things successful, and if not, we're going to have another try.'"

The president applied his reference to the national election to the situation, indicating that if the Democratic party in the state did not redeem its pledges, including jury reform, the people might try another political party at the next election.

stock was treasury stock and had to be listed on the stock exchange in order to be sold to the public. In order to list it, it was sold to me and I gave my notes to the company, which held the stock as collateral until sold.

"Bona Fide Transaction."

"All these shares were sold at the best obtainable prices and the entire proceeds, together with the dividends, paid to the company's treasury. The company received approximately $102,000 more than the price at which the stock was sold to me.

"The transaction was bona fide and was made without any expectation that any excess over the selling price to me would be realized.

"Between the time of the sale to me and the closing of the transaction I had personally disbursed out of my own funds considerable amounts, exceeding in the aggregate the sum of $102,000. These expenditures I had made, not for my own purposes or in any way for my personal advantage, but absolutely because I was president of the New Haven railroad.

"At that time, 1904, corporate contributions to campaign funds were customary and not illegal. Such contributions have not been since 1904 by the New Haven railroad through me, or, so far as I know, through anybody else.

Constrained to Contribute.

"In 1903 I contributed $50,000 to the Republican national campaign fund, and other sums for the Republican campaigns in New York, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Because I was president of the New Haven company, I had been constrained to make these distributions out of my private funds, which, as a private individual, I never would have made.

"On the closing up of the sale of these stocks, it appearing that an unexpected profit had been realized, my directors, who had been cognizant of my contributions for these purposes, thought proper to make me this allowance.

"I never personally received or retained one dollar to my own profit or advantage.

"All the transactions were fully explained to the auditing committee and were satisfactory to them as expenditures in furtherance of the company's interest and protection of its property."

Not all for Politics.

Replying to Commissioner Prouty, Mr. Mellen said that none of the money disbursed by the road had been used in an underhand way. He added that not all of the sum mentioned was used for campaign purposes, a part of it having been spent in the acquisition of pier leases. Mr. Mellen next explained several other note transactions, indicating that certain sums of money apparently unaccounted for were spent for pier leases and other transactions, "which were fully explained to the directors and approved by them."

Mr. Mellen was asked by his own attorney to explain a transaction in Boston & Maine stock by which J. L. Billard of Meriden, Conn., appeared to have made a profit of $2,700,000. He said

"Book values are not always the same as actual values. From Mr. Billard's point of view, what he was receiving was worth what it would actually bring in the market if sold."

Mr. Mellen appeared as a voluntary witness, and Commissioner Prouty would not allow him to be sworn or cross-examined lest the witness might later claim immunity in Federal proceedings now under way.

Commenting on his purchases of street railway lines, Mr. Mellen declared that all of the New Haven's trolley properties would in 1913 pay the New Haven 4 per cent on their cost.

EFFECTS OF POSLAM SEEN OVER NIGHT

"Now you see it and now you don't," is literally true of the magic worked by Poslam, the unequaled remedy on any affected skin.

By taking a small part of the skin where appear pimples, rash, blotches, etc., or which is unduly inflamed, itching or chafing, and applying thereto only a small quantity of Poslam, an overnight demonstration may be had of its remarkable properties, and enough Poslam for the purpose will be mailed free of charge, upon request, by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City. Eczema, acne, tetter and all itching skin diseases yield to Poslam as to nothing else.

POSLAM SOAP is the soap of soaps for daily use, for toilet and bath, as a means of improving color and texture of the skin and assuring its continued health. The best shampoo for dandruff.

the strict provisions of the original Webb act, is not viewed with favor by all of the majority party in either house.

Governor Johnson said:

"I told Mr. Bloodgood I had no objections to any amendment that softens the bill, so long as it does not affect the big thing involved, namely, the prevention of ownership by those who are ineligible to citizenship."

Japanese Excited.

Tokio, May 2.—The information contained in special dispatches from America reporting the failure of Secretary Bryan's mission and the probable passage of the land ownership bill by the California senate, has caused disappointment here and aroused popular sentiment again.

At a meeting of the American-Japanese society the speakers heatedly discussed the situation and pointed out the impotence of the Federal authorities as evidence of race prejudice on the part of Californians in their determination, at any cost, to rum or drive out the Japanese residents. Commercial retaliation against California was advocated.

The leading newspapers in Tokio express the belief that the last hope is gone and that the only recourse is the submission of the question to the Hague tribunal.

Should the bill be passed and signed the most influential commercial firm assert that irrespective of the government's attitude, they will decline to exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition and will decline to trade with California ports, directing everything to Seattle and Tacoma, without regard to cost.

TURK ASSUMES ALBANIAN POWER.

Athens, Greece, May 2.—A letter received here from Corfu states that Essaad Pasha, who was the Turkish commander-in-chief during the prolonged siege of Scutari by the Montenegrins, has formed a government at Tirana, where he has proclaimed the autonomy of Albania under the suzerainty of Turkey, and hoisted the Turwish instead of the Albanian flag.

Essaad Pasha has also written a letter to the metropolitan of Durazzo, stating that the Albanian government recognizes the authority of the orthodox church, to which it will offer its protection.

This letter further states that the Albanian government is in no way hostile to Greece, and that it recognizes the northern frontier of Epirus, in accordance with the demands of the Greek government.

Tirana, where Essaad Pasha has set up his rule, is in a district full of reminiscences of ancient Albanian princes.

It is about fifty-four miles south of Scutari and within twelve miles of Crotia, where the famous Albanian prince, Scanderbeg, resisted for many years in the early fifteenth century the flowing tide of the Moslem invasion of Europe.

Field Meet at Cavalier.

Cavalier, N. D., May 2. — (Special to The Herald.)—The annual field meeting and declamation contest of Pembina county will be held here next Monday, and there will be representatives here from practically all of the high schools in the county.

Bathgate, Drayton, Pembina, Hamilton, Cavalier, Walhalla and two or three other cities will have teams.

THE PUBLIC UTILITY BILL.

The question of state regulation of public utilities was left unsettled in Minnesota by the legislature, and it is a question of such high importance and far-reaching scope that in the time between now and the convening of the legislature it should have the best thought and the best public spirit of the state.

Nominally, the issue now rests with two committees of seven members each, one from the senate and one from the house. In the membership of these committees, it is good to see, progressivism is the dominant note.

These committees can, if they will, frame a public utility bill that will be fair, open and honest; that will conserve the interests of the municipalities, of the state and of all the people.

And nobody need expect that any other kind of a bill will be passed by the Minnesota legislature, with public interest and attention aroused as they have been by the controversy over this question.

If the committees, acting jointly as of course they should, will do this, the legislature at an extra session, if one is called, can pass a proper bill in a very short time, and adjourn.

And that's precisely what the legislature should do if an extra session is called, for no other legislation which there is reasonable hope of putting through in a reasonable time is pressing for consideration.

Some of the members of the committees are undoubtedly opposed to any state regulation law at all, but these should not let themselves stand in the way of the creation of an honest state regulation bill. Let them fight as hard as they can any attempt to juggle with the question in the interests of the public utility corporations. Let them insist that whatever bill is drafted shall rest solidly on a foundation of exact justice. But they should not play into the hands of those seeking more than justice for the public service corporations by drawing an issue between no state regulation bill at all and any kind of a state regulation bill.

While it would be much better to have no public utility legislation at all than to have a bill which would deal less than justice to the people, if the committees do their duty there will be no danger of an unfair bill. There is a public demand for a bill that will provide a state commission, amply equipped with power and expert assistance, which will act as a sort of supreme court in public utility matters. Such a commission can act for all the communities of the state, better than any of them can act for themselves. It can do this without violating the spirit of home rule, any more than the supreme court of the state violates the spirit of home rule when matters adjudicated in the local courts are sent up to it for review.

There is plenty of time in which to draft a strong, effective, honest and aboveboard public utility measure, and if the committees that have been appointed will do this there will be no trouble in putting it through the legislature quickly and settling the issue permanently.

Some of those people who are trying to amend the Underwood tariff bill in the house might just as well spend their time trying to solve the old problem of "How much wood would a woodchuck chuck if a woodchuck would chuck wood."

"DAMAGED GOODS."

Nothing illustrated more forcibly the spread of common sense regarding questions of illicit practices among the people than the public production recently in New York city of Brieux's play "Damaged Goods." Less than a decade ago such a production would have been forbidden. Today it is not only permitted, but is welcomed by the press, and the people are urged to see that all their children of 12 or 14 years of age and over are given an opportunity to see it.

The play portrays the physical effect upon men and women of the practice of the social evil. It illustrates the horrors of disease that spring from the practice, and the way in which the innocent are made to suffer for the faults of those they love and who love them.

According to students of this problem, one in every five of our present population is affected by diseases that grow out of illicit practices. Not that one in five practices these things, but the infections that arise from them are spread by means of the use of common utensils, even those in the home. It is on record that parents have become infected through using the same bathtub that has been used by infected children, though the children themselves had as yet no knowledge of or suffering from the infection. Pure and innocent wives and daughters and sisters are made to suffer for the faults of husbands and sons and brothers and fathers, and fall victims to the most loathsome and terrible human diseases.

This is the teaching of "Damaged Goods," the title in this case being applied to a young man who is everywhere regarded as of upright character and is welcomed in all circles, though it is admitted that he has "sown his wild oats." The play shows the harvest that springs from that sowing. It teaches a lesson that should be brought home to every young man and young woman.

The assessor'll get you of you don't watch out.

THE OFFICIAL "CLEAN-UP" DAY.

Monday has been fixed upon by Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, as a general "clean-up" day in Duluth.

The purpose of the city authorities is to make Duluth as nearly a "Spotless Town" as possible, and that's a purpose which should appeal to every citizen.

The Spotless Town is not only a clean town, but a healthy town, a town attractive to visitors, a town made better to live in and to labor in.

Most people, it is to be hoped, have not waited for official "clean-up" day, but have done their share toward the "Spotless Town" ideal already. For those who haven't, Monday is a good time to begin, or to finish if a start has been made.

To those who disregard the polite invitation of the health department to co-operate in this work, there is a polite intimation that what they fail to do voluntarily they will be compelled to do.

It will be much pleasanter all around if everybody gets in line and leaves nothing to be done by compulsion.

Oh, yes, what about the Fourth? If we insist on the kids not having fireworks, what are we going to give them in exchange?

SHOULD BE A MATTER OF COURSE.

When the St. Louis county board meets next week it will be asked to appropriate $1,500 a year for the employment of a county agricultural agent, this being an essential to securing the state aid of $1,000 a year provided by the legislature at its recent session.

This request should be granted as a matter of course, and in view of the public spirit shown by the county board in the past we haven't the slightest doubt that it will be granted.

In providing state aid for this work, Minnesota has taken an advanced stand for which the legislature is highly to be commended. Presently there will be government aid also, and a system of national, state and county co-operation in fostering efficient agriculture will result.

St. Louis county should be one of the first counties of the state to get in line with this splendid work, especially as the wise action of the legislature is due to the personal enterprise of a Duluth man, Charles P. Craig.

If Dr. Sun Yat Sen is really planning another revolution, he has at least got a good supply of material to work on.

THE SMOKING AUTOMOBILE.

Little by little, the advance of regulatory measures is making it possible for the humble pedestrian to live in streets full of automobiles with a fair degree of comfort.

The Illinois supreme court has just upheld a Chicago ordinance which forbids the use of smoking automobiles.

And that's rather an important gain for the autoless public.

It's not so important as the speed mania, perhaps, because that involves hazard to life and limb. But in checking the rampaging of the speed maniac the public is having the hearty co-operation of the automobile owners who can remember how it feels to be a pedestrian.

Good air made rank and suffocating by the reek of greasy fumes from smoking automobiles is a pity, and it is unnecessary. That's why Chicago passed an ordinance forbidding it. Evidently somebody owning an automobile disapproved it, because the ordinance was carried up to the supreme court of Illinois, which upholds it.

It sounds like a good ordinance. Where an automobile smokes, it is due to carelessness. It comes from too much oil. If the lubricator is properly adjusted it won't happen—at least not in such a degree as to constitute a nuisance. Some smoke is inevitable, very likely. When a car stops at a corner, complying with reasonable precautions for the safety of pedestrians, and then starts up quickly, a little smoke will be produced. But that's not the evil the ordinance in question was aimed at, which is the automobile that pours out a constant reek behind it in its travels. There aren't many such, of course, but evidently there are enough in Chicago to make it worth while passing an ordinance.

And now that the ordinance has been upheld doubtless it will be enforced, and doubtless other communities will adopt the same kind of a law.

Of course it's possible that the official objection to the use of the word "port" to designate one side of a ship is due to the existence of a wine of that same name.

A TASK ON ITS HANDS.

The British government has decided, in the matter of the suffragette movement, to shift from the defensive to the offensive.

It was high time. The British suffragette has become a good deal of a nuisance. That's putting it mildly in describing a movement which has window-smashing, arson, destruction of mail, bodily assault, and other violent tactics in its program.

But probably the government has a big task on its hands. It must cope with a lawless spirit embodied in the sex which always has claimed and usually has received treatment more tender than that accorded to offenders of the sterner sex. This spirit, probably, is pathological rather than social. The thing that has come over British womankind is hysteria of an uncommonly violent type, if it is not a positive mania. It's a delicate task to bring the power of the law to bear upon a mass of women so afflicted, but if England is to have any windows left whole it must be done.

We don't believe the suffragettes have accomplished much for suffrage. Certainly they have added no new dignity to womanhood. It will do no harm to the cause of equal suffrage, and it will tend to preserve public respect for womankind as a whole, if the suffragettes can be put out of business.

But we're glad it's the British government, and not us, that is facing the job.

The man who builds castles in the air may be his own landlord, but he often finds that there's still the devil to pay.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THOSE VACANT LOTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The man who is too busy or too lazy to cultivate his vacant lot should not allow it to remain bare or grow to weeds. There are plenty of people in Duluth anxious to care for a garden, and every owner of a vacant lot should endeavor to have it cultivated. The school instructors need vacant lots for their demonstrations, and the homecroft society would undoubtedly be glad to find people willing to cultivate lots for which the owners have no use.

The man who gives his vacant lot up for garden purposes gains in the value of the lot, for its appearance will be improved and the soil will not suffer by cultivation. In this connection, the members of the real estate exchange could do a great deal for the city. Every agent has clients who are holding vacant property for future returns, and a little correspondence might result in many people being given an opportunity to lower the cost of living by raising vegetables for their tables. Find the Good in People

American Magazine: If there isn't some good in everyone, what are they here for?

Anybody can point out anybody else's bad qualities. If you want to distinguish yourself go around pointing out good qualities.

Pick out the man whom everyone dislikes. Select the one you feel could best be spared from your office, from your circle of acquaintances, from the community in which you live. Ask yourself if there isn't something good about him.

Put him on a mental dissecting table. Cut him to pieces and see what's in him. Remember—you are looking for the good. Throw away the bad in him and forget it. Make a list of his good qualities. It will surprise you how many you can find.

The next time you hear him criticized, tell people the things you know about him—the good things. You'll at least be different and you'll find that it does you more good than it does him.

How would you feel if you knew that people whenever they talked about you talked only about what was bad in you. You know it's there, plenty of it, but you'd rather not have it talked about. It's much nicer to have only your good opinions discussed.

Give the other fellow the kind of a deal you like yourself. If you can say nothing good about him, say nothing.

There are mighty few people in the world we can't say something good about if we try. The trouble is, we don't try.

And yet, the more good you find in other people the more good other people will find in you.

Women, too, can make this experiment.

That Neglected Garden Plot.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Thousands of city dwellers pursue their lives year after year without learning the advantages to be attained through a backyard garden. They are neglecting one of the things which make urban life pleasurable and overlooking a health resource of incalculable value.

Leave thoughts of the counter, the bench and the lathe at quitting time and form the friendship of a keen edged garden tool. It will add years to your life and put cheer in your soul.

The State Legislature

Press Views on the Session.

Agrees With the Governor.

Owatonna Journal-Chronicle: The Journal-Chronicle for once agrees with Governor Eberhart on a public question, and that question is as to the proper way to regulate public utilities in cities. The governor favors a state commission of experts to whom shall be referred, and who shall have power to adjust, matters of dispute between citizens and public service corporations of all kinds excepting railroads, which are a big enough proposition to have a commission to themselves.

The Satisfactory Plan.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: The Herald-Review believes that the course of Governor Eberhart in vetoing the Nolan bill, the purpose of which was to give every community the right to regulate the public service corporations within its borders, will be indorsed. The plan of state regulation has been found by far the most satisfactory where it has been employed.

The Real Spendthrifts.

Le Sueur News: Minnesota is a spendthrift and the legislature makes it so, says the Anoka Union. The News does not agree. It is the people at home, and not the legislature, who are to blame. We send men to the senate and house and gauge their value by the appropriations they bring home to us. At least too many of us do this. We forget their efforts toward economy. Forget that they labored to kill many appropriations and forget the members if they do not show financial returns for the county. There are eighty-six counties, and total the amount brought home by the eighty-six and you have your spendthrift.

A Notable Change.

Baudette Region: With senators and representatives coming under the nonpartisan basis we can elect men instead of partisans next year.

State Extravagance.

St. Peter Free Press: The appropriations passed by our legislature for the next two years exceed the $21,000,000 mark and have the earmarks of reckless extravagance in a number of instances. But while every taxpayer emphatically objects to this ever-growing extravagance he unconsciously gives it his hearty support when it happens to benefit his own locality. This applies with particular force to members from state institution towns and makes it possible to form combinations directly responsible for so much waste of public funds. It is almost unbelievable that a state with a little over 2,000,000 people should need $1,000,000 per month to run its business. And yet that is the condition confronting us in Minnesota. And the remedy? A little more common sense business methods, applied with the same painstaking way as is done by successful business men in their affairs at home.

Humane Legislation.

Fergus Falls Journal: The most humane piece of legislation ever adopted in Minnesota was the mothers' pension law passed at the session just closed. This law provides that instead of sending dependent children to the state school at Owatonna, that the state give monthly allowance to mothers, allowing them to keep them at home and properly educate them. And in order not to encourage wife desertion, a supplementary law was adopted, providing for the arrest of wife-deserters, compelling them to work for the county, and giving their compensation for the support of their children.

Real Progress.

Sandstone Courier: Hereafter there will be no Democrat or Republican representatives or senators, or county officers in Minnesota. Each office-seeker will have to stand on his own qualifications and fitness for office, rather than the indorsement of any political organization. This new plan is being heartily indorsed in all parts of the state by all except a few of the old-time politicians and ward heelers who will hereafter be thrown out of a job. Our law-making bodies will not be split into two opposing political factions and more real progress ought to be made.

The Race to Death

Scribner's: In 1904 England had 202,000 tons of warships in the Mediterranean and none in the North Sea.

In 1907 England had 135,000 tons of warships in the Mediterranean and 166,000 tons in the North Sea.

In 1912 England had 126,000 tons of warships in the Mediterraean and 481,000 tons in the North Sea.

At last accounts England had 50,000 tons of warships in the Mediterranean and 500,000 tons in the North Sea.

There has been a steady increase of the navy in Germany. In 1900 the tonnage of warships and large cruisers over 5,000 tons was 152,000; in 1911 it was 823,000. The number of heavy guns in 1900 was 52; in 1911 it was 320. The horse power of engines in 1900 was 160,000; in 1911 it was 1,051,000.

The naval crews in 1900 numbered 28,326; in 1911, 57,353; and in 1913 the German naval personnel will consist of 3,394 officers and 69,495 men. Between 1900 and 1911 the tonnage of the British fleet increased from 215,000 to 1,716,000; of the German fleet from 152,000 to 829,000.

In ten years British naval expenditure has increased from $172,500,000 to $222,500,000; in Germany the expenditure has jumped from $47,500,000 to $110,000,000; in America the increase is from $80,000,000 to $132,500,000. Out of these total sums Great Britain spends one-third, America one-fifth and Germany one-half on new construction.

Outing: The non-swimmer, fearing the water, very naturally tenses his muscles as he struggles to keep his head above the water, until he is as hard as a rock, and like a rock he sinks. Whereas the swimmer having no fear, relaxes his muscles, and hence becomes buoyant. The explanation is is a simple physical one. Tense, taut muscles increase the specific gravity of the body and make it sink in water. Loose, relaxed muscles (given an ordinary supply of air in the lungs) will make the body float.

Demand and Supply.

Lippincott's: It had been a "habit" with Algy, who was now a senior, to approach the pater for extra money.

"My father never gave me half as much as I allow you," said the much-imposed-upon parent angrily, one morning when his son's demands had been particularly excessive.

"Were you satisfied?"

"Certainly I was."

"Then why should he?"

A Conclusion.

Judge: "What finishing school did Miss Bridge attend?"

"'The School for Scandal,' I should imagine."

Legal Superstitions

From Bench and Bar.

We hear much of the superstitions pertaining to certain forms of religion and of their somewhat remarkable persistence in a materialistic if not skeptical age, a survival that is but incompletely explained by the difficulty of differentiating faith from credulity, or by the tendency—old as the human race—to attribute natural phenomena to supernatural causes and to magnify both by tradition. Though not so much discussed, the law also has its little superstitions notwithstanding the prevalent conception of that science as cold, unemotional and severely logical.

For instance, what useful purpose is served by inserting in a bond, conditioned for the payment of money, a penal sum of twice the amount of the actual debt? Bonds have been thus drawn since the days of Lord Coke, and the printed forms in common use today contain the ancient penal clause. By the letter of such a bond the obligee is clearly entitled to recover the full penal sum on the obligor's default in paying the sum specified in the condition. But has the obligee, for these two or three hundred years, ever been allowed to recover more than the actual debt with interest and costs?

By another common practice deeds are made to recite that the grant is made "in consideration of the sum of $1, good and lawful money of the United States of America, to me in hand paid, the receipt whereof I hereby acknowledge," or some equivalent formula. The idea that a deed must express a consideration is ineradicable and equally fixed appears to be the superstition that a consideration of $1 is quite as effective as a consideration commensurate with the value of the estate granted. Lawyers learned in the law of real property know better, of course, but such is the popular notion. It is elementary that as between the parties a deed is perfectly valid without any consideration at all; otherwise there could be no such thing as a conveyance by way of gift.

Why do we begin a will with an invocation to the Deity and a recital that the testator is "of sound mind and disposing memory?" Does the former aid the testator spiritually and does the latter furnish any evidence of his testamentary capacity? And why do we so often insist on attaching a seal opposite the testator's signature? Our statutes do not require a will to be sealed, wherefore the seal is wholly superfluous, as the law books have long advised us.

Then there is the invariable custom of writing "as" after the venue of an affidavit or an acknowledgment. What legal efficacy do these two letters possess? How many lawyers even know what they mean? It is only lately, we believe, that the painstaking author of a very useful little book succeeded, after much antiquarian research among the pipe rolls and other interesting lore, in ascertaining the original significance of the abbreviation, which is "scilicet," or "to wit." The omission of the letters is now quite immaterial.

Many generations of lawyers learned in equity pleading have followed the ancient practice of concluding a bill of complaint with the solemn assurance "And thus your orator will ever pray, etc." Apparently no modern lawyer knew what the decaudated formula meant, until recently a well-known author ran the thing to its lair among the ancient rolls of the court of chancery and found that (before it lost its tail) it was a prayer for the health and longevity of the king!

These are only a few of the superstitions that have survived the days when the trial by battle and the criminality of witchcraft were finally eliminated from that law which is our proud heritage and which has been so fondly praised as "the perfection of human reason."

Triumph in Translation

New York Post: A correspondent writes from the University of Wisconsin:

The following letter, received by the college of agriculture at the University of Wisconsin, may interest your readers. Not unnaturally, it was at first regarded as having been written in some strange European dialect and was passed on to my polyglot colleague, Prof. Prokosoh, who takes the writer to be a Czech living among German-American farmers. I transcribe literally:

"Juplis Sintmi Ildlbet som kajn sit cum trajn tobaku sit Cebic sit Angens sit tomitos sit bic sit persin sit klober sit svit Corn sit Begi sit Flat tenap sit Cjun Cumbrist sit. jer (?) Trulii

"ANTON ROTH.

Black River Falls, R 7 Viss."

The translation offers only slight difficulties as soon as one has grasped the fact that the letter is supposed to be English, transliterated by means of European vowels:

"You please send me a little bit some kinds seed can try (i. e., for instance, perhaps) tobacco seed, cabbage seed, onion seed, tomato seed, beet seed, parsnip seed, clover seed, flat turnip seed, cucumber seed. Yours (the only word illegibly written, perhaps indicating, as Prof. Prokosch suggests, that in this case he was willing to admit a little uncertainty about his English!) truly."

Phonetically interesting are "trajn" and "cjun," in both of which the "n" represents his attempt to convey the strong nasal of the American pronunciation; further, "lidl," as it is frequently spoken in these parts; "bet" for bit, because our "I" is open, and "begi" for baga, also an unfamiliar sound to him.

Fatal Admission.

Judge: A man who had been troubled with bronchitis for a long time called on a rather noted doctor. After a few questions, the doctor told him he had a very common ailment that would readily yield to treatment.

"You're so sure you can cure my bronchitis," said the man, "you must have had great experience with it."

"Why, my dear sir," confided the doctor, "I've had it myself for over twenty years!"

Paraphrasing the Immortals.

London Globe: Tennyson's "Brook" and Scott's "Lochinvar" were recently set for paraphrase at a girls' school. The conscientious students set to work with a dictionary: Here follow specimens of the results: To bicker down a valley—"To have an undignified quarrel in a low place among the hills." He staid not for brake—"He never stopped for a mechanical contrivance to reduce speed by means of friction."

The Baby.

"A baby in the house" said she,
"Is like a new wave on life's sea."
Sadly he answered, "I should call
This one of ours a sudden squall."
—Judge.

Not Meaning to Knock.

Judge: Miss Cutting—So sorry I couldn't see you when you called, but I was just having my hair washed.

Miss Sharpe—And the laundries are so provokingly slow about returning things!

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Kenyon of Iowa is a quiet, courteous person whose demeanor is usually marked by a spirit of much tolerance. But there are certain things that get on Kenyon's nerves, and one of these is short-haired women lobbyists.

As he was about to enter the senate chamber the other day, one of these obstructed his path and began to talk to him about something that seemed to require a great deal of language to reveal its true self.

Kenyon listened for just a moment and then said:

"Madam, we can both save a lot of time if you will just tell me, in a sentence, what it is that you're after. Whatever it is that you want, I can assure you that I shall be against it."

Almost any afternoon, between 5 and 6 o'clock, one may see a bunch of ten or a dozen small youngsters hanging around a hotel near the capitol waiting for a man with a round, amiable face, and smoking a briar pipe. The youngsters make such a racket that the hotel people glare at them and try to frighten them away, but they won't go. The man they are waiting for is Representative Frank T. O'Hair, Uncle Joe Cannon's successor. He got acquainted with the kiddies in sauntering about the neighborhood with his pipe, and they like him because he always hands them picture cards and things, and has a drawling, plausible way of talking to them.

Senator Stone of Missouri has a pair of long thoughtful legs, and when he finds himself in a cramped space they become a great care to him. Not long ago Stone took his first ride on the monorail car that is operated in the subway between the capitol and the senate office building. There is also an electric automobile, making frequent trips back and forth, and there is little or no danger of a senator having to wait or walk. But what we started to tell about was Senator Stone's ride in the monorail car. The thing looked simple enough, but the seats face each other as in a Pullman car, and are so close together that they remind one of the seats in a theater balcony. Unless a man is a human jackknife he has absolutely no chance whatever. Senator Stone noticed this and got out of the car, pondering deeply over the grave difficulties of modern transportation methods. Then he took the elevator to the senate chamber and set to work drawing up a resolution to do away with the monorail system in the subway.

Representative Billy Kent of California was asked to make a speech before a convention of architects holding sessions in Washington. Billy didn't pose as any savant on architecture, but he took a chance and made a speech. Among other things, he handed them this:

"Sometimes I think—especially when I note the architecture prevailing in Washington, where every precaution is taken to keep fresh air out of the homes—that the American Indian is the wisest builder of all. He puts up a tepee that he can tear down in not to exceed a minute and a half. If he doesn't take it down, it soon wears out and falls down itself. Wouldn't it be fine, though, if the buildings here in Washington were equally perishable?"

Col. T. Roosevelt possesses a dormant and unheralded talent as an imitator. As he and his party were headed for New York toward the close of the campaign last fall, his nephew, George Roosevelt, remarked that he would be glad to get back to the little old town in time to see the opening of the Metropolitan Opera house for the season.

The colonel shook his head. "Mrs. Roosevelt persuades me to go to grand opera about once a year," he remarked, "and I might like it all right if it didn't take them so long to say or do anything. Somebody will discover that somebody is dead, and, instead of simply saying that the king is dead, he will say he is de-he-he-he-head, and he will go on saying it for twenty minutes, after which one of the women singers will take up the line, and then they will both say it for a while."

And the colonel went on to imitate just how they would do it. Those who heard him declare that imitations like he can do would be worth eight-bits of any vaudeville-goer's money.

Senator Brandegee of Connecticut has a half-savage way of kidding his senatorial colleagues that keeps many of them wondering whether to laugh gayly or get mad. Brandegee is a bachelor and has a streak of cynicism in his talk that is often coupled up with facts about those around him. One of the most frequent victims of his teasing is Senator Stephenson.

The story is that Governor William Sulzer of New York is responsible for young Vincent Astor going into the experimental farm business on a big scale. He fell into conversation with the young man one day, talked to him glowingly of the possibilities of becoming a great humanitarian by the experimental farm route, and young Astor took his advice.

When in Doubt Pass a Law.

American Magazine: When something happens that we do not like, what is the first thing we say? There ought to be a law against it. Every time! That is the unconscious tribute we all pay to the queerest, the most naive and stupid superstition in a world where all superstition dies hard enough—that all you need to do to stop anything is to pass a law against it.

No amount of experience, apparently, will free the minds of men from the incubus, the hoodoo, of this extraordinary superstition. No matter what the issue! If you want to stop gambling, spitting, combinations of capital or of labor, prostitution, college fraternities, the high cost of living, arson, saloons, monopoly in restraint of trade, the turkey-trot, burglary, tips, walking on the grass; whatever it is, there is only one thing to do—pass a law against it. Then everybody will be contented; everybody will believe that the offense will cease at once, or at least as soon as you have gotten a sufficient number of people in jail. Only get enough laws passed, and above all, if you can only get enough people in jail, you have realized the average man's millennial hopes.

How Ohio Saved a Little Money.

Farm and Fireside: The State of Ohio saved the tidy sum of $13,600 in one transaction by taking advantage of parcel post to send out the automobile tags for the present year. Instead of an average cost of 12½ cents for each tag sent last year, the tags went this year for 8 cents each by parcel post.

Her Ideal.

His upper teeth protrude,
His nose is flat and red;
He is uncouth and rude,
He has a bullet head;
His ears hang out in space,
His eyes are blurred and small;
Some men have manly grace,
But he has none at all.

His legs are bowed, the hair
Is thick upon his hands;
He works for wages where
A wiser man commands;
His speech is coarse, his brow
Is slanted back and low;
He cares but little how
Earth's glories come or go.

The stars to him are bits
Of distant light, no more;
He chews a cud and spits
Serenely on the floor,
He is a brother to
The silent, soulless clod,
But there's a woman who
Regards him as a god.

"Honest Man" a Woman.

Philadelphia Ledger: A wealthy man died in Brussels, leaving nearly the whole of his fortune to a young woman who was entirely unacquainted with him.

He was a very eccentric man, and set out, like Diogenes, in search of an honest man. His "tub" was an omnibus, and his lantern a small coin. In the omnibus he took his seat near the conductor, and always showed himself very obliging, passing up the money of passengers and returning the change, but to the latter he always managed to add a franc, or a half-franc. Then he would watch those to whom it came. They would count it carefully; notice the extra coin, and invariably slip it into their pockets. No one thought of the poor conductor, whose meager salary of three francs a day could ill spare such a loss.

But at last a young woman passed hers back with: "Conductor, you have given me half a franc too much."

"Diogenes," delighted, followed her home, made inquiries, and as the answers were satisfactory, made his will in her favor, though he never gave her warning that her half-franc was going to bring her a million.

BLIND MAN'S MEMORY.

Recalls Voice He Had Not Heard for Twenty-Two Years.

Vancouver, Wash., May 2.—The ability of Fred Lester, recently stricken blind, to recognize a man by his voice whom he had not heard speak for twenty-two years, was demonstrated here. Having lived in the city for so many years, Mr. Lester goes about by use of a cane. His eyes look normal.

When standing at Fifth and Main streets he was addressed by G. W. Holder, who had come to Vancouver for a short visit, after being away twenty-two years. He asked Mr. Lester if the car went past a certain point, and when Mr. Lester had answered the question, he added, "And, Mr. Holder, I am pleased to greet you." It was not until then that Mr. Holder recognized his friend of long ago.

Eugenics.

Now that the facts of heredity are beginning to be worked out, a new science has arisen, and is being rapidly developed. This is the science of eugenics, and the interest which is manifest would lead us to believe that mankind, for the first time, is seriously taking thought for the welfare of future generations. While men have busied themselves for years in improving breeds of cattle, horses, pigs and sheep, and in developing new and wonderful varieties of plant life; race culture, so far as humans are concerned, has been left pretty much to itself. In view of this fact, it is almost surprising to students of eugenics, that the operation of natural selection, almost entirely unassisted, has caused the race to develop as well as it has. In Darwin's "Descent of Man," is found the following paragraph, which years ago called attention to man's carelessness, so far as race culture is concerned.

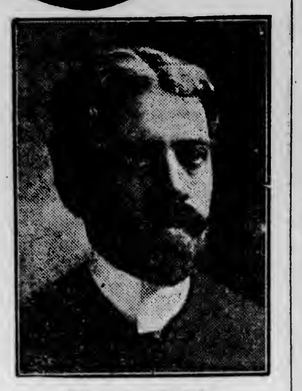
"It is surprising how soon a want of care, or care wrongly directed, leads to the degeneration of a domestic race; but except in the case of man himself, hardly anyone is so ignorant as to allow his worst animals to breed.

"With savages, the weak in body or mind are soon eliminated, and those that survive commonly exhibit a vigorous state of health. We civilized men, on the other hand, do our utmost to check the process of elimination; we build asylums for the imbecile, the maimed and the sick; we institute poor laws, and our medical men exert their utmost skill to save the life of everyone until the last moment. Thus the weak members of civilized society propagate their kind. No one who has attended to the breeding of domestic animals will doubt that this must be highly injurious to the race of man."

The practice of eugenics may be either positive or negative; the first would encourage the parenthood of those worthy, while the latter would prevent, as far as possible, the mating and consequent parenthood of the unfit; either physically or mentally so. It is in this latter field that the great opportunities lie for betterment of the race; and positive eugenics may be left to take care of itself, being constantly assisted by the influence of natural selection. A few of our states are attempting to control the propagation of the feeble-minded, the insane, the epileptic and the criminal, by the enacting of laws prohibiting marriage of such; but, until there is a strong public sentiment aroused among the people these laws will have little effect in controlling the situation. The hopeful signs for the future are that so many people are beginning to interest themselves in this new science, and that broad-minded altruism is on the increase.

True, there is a lot of energy being wasted rather foolishly by enthusiasts who have failed to grasp the bigness of this question of heredity, and would hope to better the immediately next generation by forcing all candidates for marriage to pass a physical examination. Anything that might tend to check the spread of venereal diseases is, of course, not to be scoffed at; but to dub such efforts as part of the practice of eugenics would appear ridiculous. On the other hand, the sterilization of criminals is a move in the right direction, provided the "born criminal" is carefully separated from the temporary criminal, through influence of environment. In the latter cases the remedy is through education, while in the former sterilization would appear the most humane and effective remedy.

A few of the purely hereditary physical and mental diseases should be a bar to marriage, when these are likely to result of the deterioration of the race, but these are rarely if ever disclosed by a physical examination alone, and what is really needed more than a physician's certificate is a certificate by a trained psychologist, before a marriage license is issued. The psychologist will discover more of the really transmissible qualities which might be disadvantageous from the race culture point of view in a half hour's conversation than the physician will be able to find out through the most searching physical examination.



DR. R. D. SCOTT.

We have not yet arrived, however, at a point where we can intelligently throw more restrictions about the marriage tie; and here it would be well to quote Mr. Galton, the founder of eugenics, on this question. He says: "The institution of marriage as now sanctified by religion and safeguarded by law in the most highly civilized nations may not be ideally perfect, nor may it be universally accepted in future times, but it is the best that has hitherto been devised for the parties concerned, for their children, for home life and for society."

And it might be added that too much interference with marriage will defeat the very purpose which it attempts to further.

"Housecleaning."

Spring housecleaning now confronts every careful housekeeper, and while this upheaval and clearing out of winter dirt is a health measure of first importance when done sanely, it may be made the starting point of much ill-health.

It is, admittedly, disagreeable work, and in all such tasks the tendency is either to slight it or rush it, and in either case as much harm as good will result. The wise housekeeper will, however, try to avoid these extremes and while conserving her own health and strength will make riddance of all dirt which might carry the germs of disease. A little planning beforehand and apportioning of the work so that instead of doing it all in one day, a week is taken to cover the entire house, will result in a much cleaner and healthier home, without injury to the workers, than the more frequent method of tearing things to pieces in the morning and overworking every one in an effort to finish before nightfall.

Soap and hot water, sunlight and fresh air are the germ-destroying agents which have proven the most reliable; and it should be the germs hidden away in the dust and dirt of dark corners that are made the objects of attack, and not so much the visible dirt itself.

Make sure that all dark corners are thoroughly cleaned, and if anything must be slighted let it be the rooms where the greatest amount of sunlight and daylight is available. To clean a house for the approval of chance callers, generally means cleaning and polishing only the best lighted and ventilated portion, and slighting the parts really essential to the health and well being of the family.

Housecleaning done at the expense of health, especially of the mother's health, is rarely a benefit to the family, and this is the point which requires emphasis and serves as an excuse for discussing the subject in this column. Many a woman is forced to consult a physician or lay up sick for a week after the annual scrub-out, just because she neglected to do it sanely, and in rushing things disabled herself, and in all likelihood left much dangerous dirt undisturbed in her anxiety to finish before she dropped. The entire family, but especially the children, suffer on her account; and it is questionable whether more benefit or harm results from the work done. The sane, moderate way of doing things is the easy, healthful way; and when all women learn this and attempt to carry it out, they will save themselves and families both trouble and discomfort, they will have cleaner and healthier homes, and spring housecleaning will cease to be a dreaded event.

Questions and Answers.

Nervousness After Exercise.

J. B. writes: I am troubled with a certain nervousness at times as follows: After walking any distance, long or short, returning to my home or elsewhere, am all unstrung. My hands shake a great deal, am unable to handle a pen, and am also shortwinded. I cannot attribute it to anything in particular, except that there may be some heart affection. Have a good appetite, sleep well and have no pains whatsoever. Please let me have your advice.

REPLY.

Your symptoms suggest a fatty heart or general arterio-sclerosis. Have a careful examination made of your heart and blood vessels by some careful physician who will take time to study your case, and if organic heart disease is present, put yourself in his care and follow implicitly his instructions as to diet and exercise.

Pyorrhoea.

C. E. D. writes: Will you kindly say what is the cause of tartar formation around the teeth and gums. This is a yellowish looking substance and has a very offensive odor. What should be done for prevention or cure?

REPLY.

You describe a beginning case of pyorrhoea, and the sooner it is put in the care of a good dentist for treatment, the better will be the chances for cure and the saving of the teeth. There is no treatment which you could carry out at home with any success, and it is not the easiest condition to master, even when tackled by a first-class, energetic dentist.

BRIDE IS DYING

As Result of Effort to Have Three Hundred Dances.

Beaver Falls, Pa., May 2.—Mrs. John Kuzlus is reported to be dying as a result of her effort to establish a mark of 300 dances at $1 a dance at her wedding. She collapsed when within seven of her goal.

In keeping with a Polish custom each male guest was permitted to dance with the bride after depositing a silver dollar in a hat. Two hundred and ninety-three dollars had been contributed and the bride was exhausted, but urged by friends to reach the 300 mark she made a desperate effort.

She fell fainting while dancing with the 294th depositor. One of the men explained:

"Julia was all right, but her legs wouldn't hold out."

RECIPROCITY IS IN FAVOR

Rural Districts of Western Canada Are Still Strong for It.

Victory of Sifton Government in Alberta Due to This Feeling.

Ottawa, Ont., May 2.—The general election which has just closed in Alberta shows that the Sifton government has been returned to power by a large majority. In a house of 56 members the opposition will not at the most have more than 18 members, and the likelihood is that the number will be either 15 or 16. On account of the change in the dominion government it was thought that the Conservatives would have made more of a gain than they did. The generally accepted reason for this is that the reciprocity issue still lives in the west, no matter what may have happened to it in the east. That the pact played a strong card in the contest is shown by the constituencies which returned Liberals and those that returned Conservatives. All the cities, with the exception of one member returned in Edmonton, returned Conservatives. Attorney General Cross, who was elected in Edmonton for the Liberals, would have been returned on personal grounds no matter what his political views, because he is immensely popular with the people. The cities are either opposed to reciprocity or indifferent, while the rural districts are strong for it. That being the case, the Liberals made almost a sweep among the farmers and grain growers, whose motto and battle cry are wider markets.

The expected reduction in duties upon goods entering the United States has merely whetted the appetite of the Westerner for the whole bill of fare as arranged by the reciprocity deal. Under the deal he was to get free what he will obtain only under the decreases if they are finally put through, by paying 15 and 10 per cent, and 10 per cent on wheat is about high enough in most instances to keep it out.

Following the recent election in Saskatchewan there is no denying the fact that reciprocity appears to be a trump card in the West for capturing votes. Some time ago the Sifton government in Alberta was about split in twain over local and personal quarrels. The chief bone of contention was the question of constructing a railway to the northern country. The premier had to resign, and even lost his seat in the contest. Attorney General Cross also left the cabinet, and for a time it seemed that he was to take about half the party with him. But when the Laurier government was defeated the Alberta Liberals saw that if they were not to share the same fate they would have to get together. That is what was done. Mr. Cross entered the cabinet and pulled, with Premier Sifton, all the party in one fold, with the exception of Former Premier Rutherford, who shared the fate of all solitary kickers against the political machine. Both parties put the steam roller to him and he disappeared with a big majority against him at the late contest.

Canadian Good Roads.

The minister of agriculture has introduced in the Canadian parliament a bill to improve the highways. This bill was introduced last session, but was amended by the senate in such a way that the government refused to proceed further with it. The minister said the bill was to help in making the lot of the farmer and the settler more contented and happy. In this regard it would be on the same lines as the rural mail delivery service and the bill to aid agriculture throughout the dominion. The minister said there was no intention of interfering in the slightest degree with provincial jurisdiction. There was no reason why the two governments—dominion and provincial—could not work in harmony in a matter of that kind. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that all parties were agreed as to the principle of the bill. The only difference was as to the manner in which the money was to be expended. The senate threw out the bill because the government would not allow the provinces to spend the money; the minister wanted to control the expenditure himself. While the minister said that the money was to be divided pro rata between the different provinces he refused to incorporate that in his bill. The senate did not kill the bill—it only amended it—and the government killed it afterwards. As the bill stood, all the money could be given to one province. The money might be all voted in bulk. In the opinion of the leader of the opposition, the provinces should have the say, and the money should be voted to them direct. The minister said that the money would be voted to them separately in the estimates, to which Laurier replied that if such was the plan it should be so stated in the bill.

Quick, Easy and Positive Cure for All Foot Torture

The following is said to be the surest and quickest cure known to science for all foot ailments: "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for fully fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." The effect is really wonderful. All soreness goes instantly; the feet feel delightful. Corns and callouses can be pealed right off. It gives immediate relief for sore bunions, sweaty, smelly and aching feet. A twenty-five cent box of Calocide is said to be sufficient to cure the worst feet. It works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Don't waste time on uncertain remedies. Any druggist has Calocide compound in stock or he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house.

Woman's Realm

A program of artistic worth was thoroughly appreciated by those who heard Miss Sarah Ruth Bates, reader and Mrs. Charles Weyerhaeuser, soprano, in their concert last evening at the assembly hall of the high school under the auspices of the classes in mathematics of the school.

Miss Bates in her readings displayed a versatility and understanding of human nature remarkably true and her character numbers were especially enjoyed. "The Unexpected Caller," "Mortification of the Flesh," "The Widow Doodle" and other character numbers were given with irresistible charm and a group of numbers read to musical accompaniment were equally as pleasing. Among these were "In May," "Cornstock Fiddle" and others. Miss Bates also gave "Hiawatha's Wooing" to the musical setting arranged by Gole which was given with dramatic force a little over-strained.

Mrs. Weyerhaeuser who is well known in musical circles here appeared first in a group of German songs given with delightful simplicity and ease and every one was keenly enjoyed. She responded to an enthusiastic encore with "The Pine Tree" and her second group of English songs included, "Four Years Old," "My Star," an old English ballad, a lullaby given with such charm and sweetness that she was forced to repeat it and "The Chimes."

Mrs. Charles Dudley Robinson of St. Paul played the musical accompaniments for both Mrs. Weyerhaeuser and Miss Bates in truly artistic and comprehensive style making of the whole a delightful finish.

The three artists are guests of Mrs. E. P. Towne at her home, Twenty-first avenue east and Jefferson street, and they will appear in a recital this evening in Superior. Mrs. Weyerhaeuser, who is Mrs. Towne's sister, will be here for a week.

Win Prizes.

Miss Isabel Patrick and Mrs. Jay Cooke Howard won the prizes at the second bridge party in the series being given by Mrs. W. G. Baldwin this week at her home, 2615 East Fifth street. The game was played at six tables yesterday. At the first of the series Wednesday afternoon the prizes were won by Mrs. E. G. Church and Mrs. John Mullin.

The game was played at eight tables again today.

NEW YORK ILLUSTRATOR AND HIS NEW MODEL OF FEMININE BEAUTY

—Copyrighted by George Grantham Bain.

JAMES MONTGOMERY FLAGG.

This is the James Montgomery Flagg girl of 1913. Mr. Flagg, who is one of the most active and successful of young illustrators, has created each year a new type of American girl. Each year he has found it more and more difficult to discover some new, rare and untried type of beauty. Each year he has triumphed over the difficulties which have confronted him and the magazine editors have breathed a sigh of relief as the mails have come to them weighted with hundreds of Jamesmontgomeryflagg drawings, with which to fill up their advertising pages.

This year Mr. Flagg was hard put to it. His feverish fancy conjured up a face and figure transcending in loveliness all of those which had in the past made glad the hearts of millions of recipients of the calendars of hams and other choice works of the higher art. In desperation he left his studio one afternoon to find refuge from his own doubts and fears in the operation of his 50-horse power automobile. Driving out the Boston post road, Mr. Flagg was thrown suddenly from his equilibrium—not by one of the series of large ragged holes which the state of New York has permitted to accumulate but by the sight of a wondrous vision in the field beside the road. Hastily putting on his brake as he threw his clutch out of position, Mr. Flagg gracefully skidded his car across the ditch and almost to the feet of the beautiful girl who, bending over a dandelion patch, was wholly oblivious of his approach.

With practiced control, Mr. Flagg introduced himself and broached the subject of a motor ride. Having persuaded her to trust herself to his fatherly care, he turned his car about and drove madly, deliriously back to his studio. There he unfolded to her his desire to make her the Jamesmontgomeryflagg girl of 1913. Coy at first, she finally consented. Since the discovery of this supreme type of feminine loveliness, Mr. Flagg has been deaf to all telephone calls. He has even been absent from a session of the Dutch Treat club. Already he has completed 157 drawings of his new scarecrow model and expressed them to editors. And he is still hard at work.

MAY PARTY.

Tea at Endion Church a Success.

The parlors of the Endion M. E. church were the scene of a charming May-day party yesterday afternoon at which the members of the Qui Vive circle of that church were hostesses. Pussy willows, baskets of flowers and a doll's may-pole dance arranged for the centerpiece on the large serving table made the room attractive and small tea tables each with a centerpiece of yellow jonquils and Spanish daisies were placed about the room. Mrs. W. F. Hovis, Mrs. C. H. Merritt and Mrs. C. C. Colcefair received the guests assisted by Mrs. J. T. Melgin and Mrs. L. N. Newton and presiding at the serving table were Mrs. W. H. Kingston and Mrs. E. C. Bradley. In charge of the small tables were Mrs. J. L. Strong, Mrs. R. B. Liggett, Mrs. F. B. Cronk, Mrs. George Hart and Miss Helen Harbison.

During the afternoon piano solos played by Miss Winnifred Hicks, Miss Lucy Wood and Miss Hortense Carr were much enjoyed as were also vocal solos by Mrs. Neil B. Morrison.

Birthday Surprise.

Miss Mary Holt was hostess at a surprise birthday party last evening in honor of Miss Sylvia Trudeau, at Garfield social hall. The evening was spent in music, dancing and games and refreshments were served to the guests.

May-Day Revels.

Wellesley, Mass., May 2.—Wellesley college's 1,300 girls carried out the time-honored revels yesterday. A party of seniors, carrying pails of foaming soap suds and dressed as scrubwomen, in the morning, scoured the statues on the college grounds until they fairly shone. Later in the day, dressed as boys and girls of various periods, students appeared on the green in hundreds. The culmination of their gambols was the annual May pole dance with the crowning of Miss Edith F. Jones of Los Angeles, the freshman president as the queen of May.

WOMAN'S COUNCIL MEETING

Routine Reports of Committees Given---Suggestions Made for Improvement of School Ventilation---Report on Civic Welfare Exhibit.

Little of importance was accomplished at the regular meeting of the Woman's Council this morning and owing to a small attendance many committees were not heard from. Routine reports were given of the work planned.

Mrs. C. F. McComb, chairman of the poor farm committee, reported several visits made to that institution and said that she could find nothing to criticize in its management. She took with her on her last visit papers printed in the Swedish language "which went like hot cakes," she said, and if any citizens want to do something which will be a real kindness to those who must live there the donation of reading matter printed in foreign languages will be especially welcome. Any who have reading material of any kind which they will send out there may communicate with Mrs. McComb, 1125 London road, or may leave it at the downtown Abbett drug store.

Mrs. E. W. Matter spoke of plans for playground supervision during the coming season and reported that the committee on education will have cards printed giving the truancy and curfew ordinances and other rules pertaining to the schools to be hung in the school buildings next fall.

Mrs. J. T. Watson, also of the educational committee, spoke of the subject of ventilation in the school buildings, saying that she had visited the C. C. Salter school and that the method used there of shutting off the various rooms from the ventilating system so that the windows may be opened without spoiling the circulation throughout the building has proven most satisfactory and can be put in all the buildings with practically no expense and very little work on the part of the janitors.

Mrs. Watson also spoke of the matter of lighting the school rooms and the placing of seats so that the children's eyes may not be unduly strained.

Mrs. Arthur Barnes, chairman of the committee of the civic study class of the Woman's Council, which had charge of the welfare exhibit recently held in Duluth, reported on the expenditure of the money given by different organizations for its support, and a vote of thanks was given the class for its arrangement of the exhibits and its supervision.

Mrs. Barnes reported that most of the details prepared and shown on charts at the exhibit will be gotten up in pamphlet form.

Mrs. O. L. Mather of the streets and alleys committee reported that the city will sprinkle the streets with oil this summer and in urging the advantage from this course asked the women to be patient with the first discomforts of having the oil tracked into their homes.

Miss Jean Poirier sent a communication to the council urging that body to give its indorsement to the appointment of Miss Eliza Evans of Minneapolis who is one of three women under consideration by Governor Eberhart as state inspector working under the minimum wage act and the matter was referred to the executive board of the council for investigation and action.

Miss Poirier sent in her resignation from the council which was tabled as the members were unwilling to accept it without urging her to reconsider her decision.

The Teachers' association was admitted to membership and given the privilege of sending delegates to the council, and the Central W. C. T. U. was suggested for membership.

Dinner Party.

The members of the Monday afternoon bridge club will entertain their husbands at a dinner this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fuller, 206 Winona street. Covers will be laid for sixteeen.

Linnaea Branch.

The Linnaea branch will meet this evening at 8 p. m. at the home of Miss Nora Esse, 222 West Fourth street.

Church Meetings.

The Forward Guild of the First Presbyterian church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. N. S. Mitchell, 1417 East First street. The subject will be "The Christian Solution of the City Problems," with Mrs. Norman D. McLeod as leader.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Morgan and little daughter, Roberta, of Minneapolis, are expected Saturday to be the guests of Mrs. Morgan's parents, Capt. and Mrs. E. S. Smith, of Lester Park.

Miss Marie Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stewart, 427 Forty-second avenue west, is ill at her home with typhoid fever.

H. Johnson of this city is in New York this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tischer of Grand Marais are guests at the home of the latter's parents, 709 East Second street.

Mrs. W. H. Dempster and daughter, Miss Dorothy, of Los Angeles, Cal., are visiting the former's sister, Mrs. C. W. Bridenthal, of 1429 East Fourth street, for about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Kiley of Grand Rapids, Minn., were guests in the city yesterday en route from a trip to Minneapolis.

Mrs. Mary Daugherty of 311 Second avenue west has as her guest her sister, Mrs. P. Boyce, of Menasha, Wis., who was called to the city on account of the illness of their mother.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Tallant of Woodland avenue leave the first of the week for their farm, Pinehurst, near Nemadji, Minn., where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. G. C. Blackwood and daughters Edith and Clem, of 111 Park terrace have moved to 2324 Minnesota avenue for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Black of the Chatham flats have taken the camp "Fort Dodge" on Park Point for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Shepherd of the Ashtabula flats have gone to Park Point where they have taken a cottage at Twenty-eighth street for the summer.

Mr and Mrs. Albert Abraham of 1429 East Superior street are in Chicago on their way to West Baden and St. Louis, Mo., where they will spend several weeks. Their daughter, Mrs. A. H. Schwartz of 1603 East Superior street is with them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gidding are spending a few weeks at French Lick, Ind.

Mrs. Clark and Miss Clark of Sarnia, Can., are here visiting Mrs. E. N. McGiffert of 1511 East Second street, who is ill at St. Luke's hospital.

LOYAL TO HER BROTHER.

Youth's Companion: Katherine had been brought up to believe that talebearing was despicable, but there were times when her greedy twin strained her principles to the snapping point.

"Katherine," said her mother one day, "is it possible that you and Howard have eaten that whole bag of peppermints that I meant to take to grandmother, just because I left the bag on the table?"

"I didn't take one of them, mother," said Katherine, indignantly, "but Howard—well, I shan't tell tales, but you just smell him!"

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Better Protection Is Needed for Girls in the Cities.

Placarding every railroad station in New England with information that shall furnish the country girl coming to the city with a means of protection is the aim of the Young Travelers' Aid society of Boston.

Efforts to protect the young women strangers in the cities should be redoubled owing to the numerous suspicious disappearances that have recently occurred.

Probably the average country girl who seeks to earn her living in the city is amply protected against its evils on her arrival. Usually there are relatives or friends formerly residing in her home village to whom she can turn. They meet her at the station and see that she is safely and comfortably settled. In addition, the bonafide country girl is doubly intrenched behind her mother's warnings. She is not the ignorant trusting little girl, fat as butter and smelling of new mown hay, who accepts the advances of any smiling stranger, after the custom of the innocent country girl of the story book.

Not she. The pitfalls of the railway station, the handsome, ingratiating stranger and her ignorance of the city are usually taken into consideration before she leaves the home nest. I don't suppose she goes astray once in ten thousand times when she leaves her home for the city for the purpose of earning her living. Country mothers and fathers are not unacquainted with the dangers, and I have no doubt that the large majority not only prepare their daughters' minds for their self-protection on entering a strange city for the first time, but arrange as well for their reception.

It is after they get there that they need the supervision of some kindly and not too critical friend and adviser; some one to make a business of overseeing ever so tactfully their mode of life, their friends, their work, health and pastimes.

The moment the interests of friends abates she begins to have the homesick feeling and her spirit craves companionship and sympathy; then, unless she is particularly well hemmed in by true and tried friendships and the conventions, the greatest dangers of the city besiege her.

There ought to be a society or societies into which the young girl and the young man entering the city life for the first time are gathered and carefully instructed and guided until friendships and habits of life under the new conditions are formed. It isn't getting there that is fraught with the greatest danger. It is finding the right environment after one arrives.

BABIES NOT TO WALK TOO SOON.

Philadelphia Inquirer: The prevention of childish abnormalities, such as curvature of the spine and bow legs, were discussed by Dr. Dudley Morton at the weekly mothers' clinic of the Children's Homeopathic hospital a few days ago.

"While many mothers are proud of the child that can toddle around the room when 10 months old," said Dr. Morton, "they should do everything to keep it from walking at that age. It is too young and the bones of the leg and back are weak. Bow legs and in some cases spinal curvature always result to the lifelong regret of the mother. Many mothers take the child that is just beginning to walk and exhibit it to the neighbors and relatives. The occasion is one of rejoicing, but dire results are sure to follow if the child has been permitted to walk too soon."

NEGROES SAVE LOUISIANA LEVEE.

New Orleans, La., May 2.—A dozen negro men took the places of sand bags and checked the wash over the top of the Poydras levee, thirteen miles south of here, until sand bags were obtained. Last night 1,000 men, working by the light of torches and bonfires, built a new semi-circular levee behind what threatened to be a disastrous crevasse. The engineers expect to avert a break.

A stream two inches deep was flowing over the levee, of which large sections had sloughed away, when the danger was discovered, and 2,000 bags of sand were sent for, but the 10-minute wait would have been too long, so the dozen negroes risked their lives by lying on boards so placed as to prevent the wash until bags were brought. A moment after they left the earthwork slipped into the river.

MAN DECLARED DEAD RETURNS.

Topeka, Kan., May 2.—After an absence of more than seven years, during which time the courts had declared him legally dead and had given his wife judgment for a $3,000 insurance policy on his life, W. H. Caldwell came to Topeka yesterday to testify for the insurance company in an application for a re-hearing of the case. Caldwell has been declared legally dead on the testimony of Jane Caldwell, his wife, who said her husband mysteriously left home and that all efforts to locate him had failed.

In a deposition, Caldwell said he quarreled with his wife before leaving Topeka. He has been in the duck hunting business since in California, he said.

SHOWS $5,000 ROLL; MURDERED.

Joliet, Ill., May 2.—Michael Kane, a barber, displayed in a saloon $5,000, which he had inherited from his father's estate. Next day his body, with the skull crushed as by a stone, was taken from the Des Plaines river. Clews unearthed by the police indicate that Kane struggled furiously with two men who assaulted him near the river bank, and that one of them dashed his brains out.

FILIPINOS KEEP SLAVE SYSTEM.

Washington, May 2.—Whether human slavery exists in the Philippines is a question asked by the senate of Secretary Garrison. Senator Borah read a letter from Secretary Don C. Worcester of the Philippine government saying slavery did exist in Manila but that the Philippine assembly had declined to pass remedial legislation.

Campbell Nominated.

Washington, May 2.—Edward K. Campbell of Birmingham, Ala., has been nominated by President Wilson to be chief justice of the United States court of claims to succeed the late Justice Stanton J. Peele. Mr. Campbell, who is a native of Washington county, Virginia, has been a lifelong friend of Representative Underwood, the Democratic house leader, and identified with all of the Underwood political campaigns. He headed the Underwood marching club at the national convention last year.

GETTING GRAY? JUST APPLY A LITTLE SAGE TEA TONIGHT

Sage Mixed With Sulphur Restores Natural Color and Lustre to Hair.

Why suffer the handicap of looking old? Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance.

Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use; but listen, avoid preparations put up by druggists as they usually use too much sulphur, which makes the hair sticky. Get "Wyeth's" which can always be depended upon to darken beautifully and is the best thing known to remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

By using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair. It does it so naturally and evenly—you moisten a sponge or soft brush, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time which requires but a few moments. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored and it becomes glossy and lustrous and you appear years younger. Max Wirth.

BIG CELEBRATION PLANNED FOR MIDSUMMER'S DAY

LOUIS LEVIN, President.

C. J. CARLSON, Vice President.

O. W. OLSON, Treasurer.

Preparations are well under way by the Swedish-American National league for holding a monster celebration of Midsummer's day on June 24. The principal features of the celebration will be a parade through the city winding up at Lincoln park and a picnic with a program following at the park.

The program will commence at 9 o'clock with the parade. The speaking will take place beginning at 10:30 o'clock in the park. The program committee is now in communication with well known Swedish speakers and it is expected to know within a week or two whether they will be here to take part in the program.

The afternoon's program will include a baseball game races and various feature sports, such as tug-of-war, egg races, sack races and many ladies contests. Band music will also feature the entertainments.

Louis Levin is president of the association. The other officers are: C. J. Carlson, vice president; C. E. Johnson, secretary, and O. W. Olson, treasurer. Eight Swedish organizations are represented in the association. Each has a committee of five members. The organizations and their representatives are as follows:

TROUT FRY FOR MILLER'S CREEK

Old Trout Stream Will Be Restocked This Year.

Miller's creek will be stocked with trout fry, according to information just received by lovers of trout fishing in the West end. Several gallons of the fry will be sent to local game wardens to be dumped into the creek this month.

Charles Mork, F. H. De Vohn and Joseph Olson recently communicated with the state game and fish commission asking that the creek be stocked. The letter received a reply stating that the matter would be taken up immediately and that within a short time a supply would be sent to Duluth for that purpose.

Miller's creek was at one time well patronized by lovers of fishing. In recent years the fish have disappeared, although occasionally one is caught in the upper part. It is proposed to dump the fry into the creek about a mile or two north of the Fourteenth street and Piedmont avenue crossing.

STRAWBERRY PLANTS CHEAP

Those school children who have entered the garden contest and intend raising strawberries will not have to worry about getting plants. Dr. O. A. Oredson, chairman of the committee announced yesterday that the committee had made arrangements for supplying the plants to the children at 1 cent each.

"The plants are recommended to be of the best and hardiest variety," said Dr. Oredson. "We will supply those children who wish to raise the berries with the plants at 1 cent each. This I believe is just what they cost the committee."

The children are taking a great deal of interest in gardening. In all parts of the West end they can be seen after school hours digging up the garden and planting the seeds. In some instances seeds planted a few days ago are already beginning to sprout.

Dr. Oredson said that any information regarding the securing of free seeds or the strawberry plants can be had by inquiring of the committee. The other members are L. A. Simonson and James Maghan.

The meeting of the Brotherhood will be thrown open to the women of the church this evening. A program of music will also be given.

Superfluous Hair Truths

DeMiracle

The Cheapest in the End

If you use a simple toilet preparation and it proves to be worthless, you only lose money. When you use a questionable depilatory, however, it is a very serious matter because you not only lose money, but you take the grave risk of permanent disfigurement.

—If You Value Your Face

use De Miracle, the one safe, perfected hair remover of proven merit. Remember, the injury caused by the use of doubtful hair removers will either result in permanent disfigurement or cost you many dollars because it will take months or possibly years to gain control of hair growths that have been stimulated by the use of such preparations.

Only Guaranteed Hair Remover

Others advertise "Guaranteed," but give no guarantee. De Miracle is the only depilatory that has a "binding guarantee in each package. Avoid permanent disfigurement by refusing substitutes offered by dishonest dealers merely for a few cents more profit. If your dealer will not supply you, send $1.00 direct. FAIR WEATHER DURING APRIL

Only Nine Days on Which Sun Did Not Shine.

Duluth had unusually fair weather in April, according to the monthly summary of weather conditions issued by the weather bureau.

Only nine days were entirely cloudy, fifteen being clear and six partly cloudy. Snow fell on four days and rain on four, the total precipitation being 1.75 inches, compared with 2.58 inches last year, and a normal precipitation for the month of 2.14 inches.

The mean temperature for the month, 40 deg, was above the normal for the month, 38.4 deg. The warmest day was April 15, when the temperature went to 79 deg., and the coldest was April 7, with a temperature of 23 deg. The snowfall was 4.5 inches, and the greatest precipitation in any twenty-four hours was on April 2 and 3, when .67 inches of precipitation occurred in the form of snow.

The prevailing direction of the wind was northeast and the greatest velocity occurred April 10, when the wind blew at the rate of forty-nine miles an hour from the northeast. There were thunder storms on April 2 and 22.

STUDENTS HOLD FAIR.

Kansas University Has Something Unique, It Is Claimed.

Lawrence, Kan., May 2.—Opening the first biennial Kansas university exposition today by pressing a button in his office at the state capitol in Topeka, Governor George H. Hodges caused to unfold a large scroll that delivered a message from him formally beginning the "Jayhawker fair."

The Kansas university exposition is an innovation in college affairs. The buildings contain exhibits of the work done by the students in the class rooms.

The exposition is also a minature "world's fair," with a "Pike," where booths are managed by various student organizations. McCook field will be the scene of a constant whirl of athletic contests during the two days of the fair. The campus is a vast spread of flags and bunting.

The display of the work of the students is the primary attraction. Among other features will be the May fete tomorrow, conducted by the Y. W. C. A. of the university. A May pole with quaint and picturesque dances by gaily attired girl students and led by the Queen of the May, the "most popular girl on the hill," but whose identity has been kept secret, will add charm to the affair. A circus will be held in the gymnasium tonight. Every one of the 2,500 students has a part in the exposition.

HOUSE IS STRUCK DURING STORM

Duluth had its first severe electrical storm of the spring last night. Lightning flashed, thunder rolled and the rain came down in great volume.

Lightning struck the home of Frank Johnson, 1915 East Sixth street, shortly after midnight, knocking off the chimney and went out under the roof. Some of the bricks fell out on the floor, but no damage was done in the living rooms. The bolt was not followed by fire.

FOOL THEIR FRIENDS.

Michigamme, Mich., May 2. — Local friends of Miss Eleanor N. Dower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dower, of this city were pleasantly surprised this week by the announcement of Miss Dower's wedding at Butte, Mont., where she has lived several years with an aunt and is cashier for the Montana Independent company, to Joseph Armstrong, mining engineer at the Blackrock mine in Butte. According to a Butte paper the couple gave their friends the slip when they quietly motored to St. Joseph's church and were married by Father McCormick, after which they left for the coast on their honeymoon.

"Both the bride and groom laid their plans well," says the Butte paper. "Not even the bride's aunt, Mrs. Kate Earls, 624 South Montana street, with whom she made her home, knew anything concerning the nuptials. Miss Dower left home ostensibly to spend the afternoon with girl friends. Stylishly tailored, she met her intended husband and their attendants up town and from there went quietly to the church. The priest was in on the secret and he held his peace, while friends who later in the day got wind of the affair were scurrying hither and yon just for one meager crumb of information.

"Mr. Armstrong is a surveyor at the Black Rock mine and was formerly connected with the city engineer's office. He is a graduate of the Missouri College of Mines at Rolla. Miss Dower is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dower of Michigamme, Mich."

Bargains Extraordinary!

We are not much on using big words, but "EXTRAORDINARY" is not too strong to convey the most unusual values thrown out in this sale of parlor sets.

Our leading offer is six distinct patterns in three-piece sets, five in golden oak, one in mahogany, all with genuine leather seats. They are not so elaborate as the above picture shows, but are, nevertheless in styles of the so-called "massive" order. The seats are "plain" upholstered. Choice at Twenty-three, Sixty-five.

Regular Values Run from $40.00 to $45.00

$23.65

Three-Piece Parlor Sets

These sets are not heavy, but the design is quite pleasing. Seats are of genuine leather—unusual for sets at this price. Most stores put imitation leather in their inexpensive sets. We believe in real leather. The frames are finished in mahogany. We shall sell only a limited number of sets at this special figure. Come late and perhaps get left.....

$19.95

Would Be Cheap at $30.00.

Three Piece Parlor Sets

Four different patterns in mahogany, styles more like picture above, with genuine leather upholstered seats and backs. The styles are of a kind that "take" well with our customers, and you will say that never before have you seen such value. Not very many of these sets left—this is a hint to come early.....

$36.75

Values $52.00 to $58.00.

Owing to the figures at which these sets are sold, we ought to have the cash on the spot. However we will consider short term payments to good payers as a special accommodation.

SAYS STOCK IS NOW WORTHLESS

W. D. Callan Claims He Was Victimized in Consolidation Deal.

W. D. Callan is not satisfied with his joint venture with A. H. Krieger, dealer in asbestos goods and other building material, which was entered into several months ago and in district court filed suit yesterday asking for a judgment of $2,500 against him on the ground that fraud was practiced when Krieger induced him to consolidate their businesses, which were of a similar nature.

Callan asserts that defendant agreed to take over his business and to allow $2,500 for his stock, good will, etc. Callan claims that Krieger represented that his business at that time was prospering, which he (Callan) claims he has since learned was not true.

Callan was given shares of stock in the A. H. Krieger company to the amount of $2,500. He now asserts that the stock is worthless and asks for a money judgment.

WANTS $15,575 FROM RAILROAD

In district court yesterday, she filed suit against the Virginia, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railway, the Virginia-Winnipeg branch of the Canadian Northern in which she asks for $15,575 damages. The case has been placed for trial on the May term calendar.

In her complaint, plaintiff alleges that the accident occurred on April 18, 1912 at Cook, Minn. She claims that the coach was dimly lighted and that while she was walking in the aisle the train gave a sudden lurch which caused her to stumble over some baggage which she claims blocked her passage. In falling she claims that she struck against a seat and was badly bruised.

OUTLOOK IS VERY BRIGHT

Development Association Directors Pleased With Immigration Movemcnt.

Figures Show That Northern Minnesota Is Settling Rapidly.

Enthusiasm and optimism prevailed at a meeting of the executive committee of the Northern Minnesota Development association at the Commercial club today. Members of the committee expressed gratification over the results of the recent legislative session, as they affect Northern Minnesota development, and they see one of the best years in the history of Northern Minnesota ahead.

The meeting was attended by President C. M. King of Deer River, Secretary W. R. Mackenzie; C. A. Allbright of Brainerd, C. L. Conger of McIntosh, M. N. Koll of Cass Lake, and H. V. Eva of Duluth.

The morning session was given over to a discussion of finances and the future plans of the association.

"Statements have been made that the association is in financial trouble, but they must have been made under a misapprehension," said Secretary Mackenzie. "The various counties have pledged sufficient funds to carry out all of our plans, and the money is now being sent in. We will carry on an active campaign of advertising Northern Minnesota, and we will have money enough for all our purposes."

President C. M. King expressed the pleasure of the members of the committee over the results of the legislative session.

"The session was a triumph for Northern Minnesota," said Mr. King. "After a long, hard fight we obtained a reapportionment that gives substantial justice to this part of the state. Good roads and drainage have been given a substantial boost. We are especially pleased over the law giving the state investment board authority to sell the foreign bonds by a majority vote. We regret that the public domain bill did not pass, but we could not expect to get everything we wanted at one session."

Settling Fast.

M. N. Koll of Cass Lake declared today that more settlers will take up their homes in Northern Minnesota this year than in any year in the history of the state. He pointed to a table, showing the destination of cars of immigrant movables passing through Minnesota Transfer in the first three months of 1913 compared with the movement in the first three months of 1912. In 1912 the destination of the cars was: Minnesota, 670; North Dakota, 278; Montana, 157; Washington, 25; Oregon, 12; Idaho, 1. In 1913 the movement was: Minnesota, 1,018; North Dakota, 404; Montana, 219; Washington, 28; Oregon, 10; Idaho, 5. More cars were destined for Minnesota than for the other five states combined.

Mr. King just returned today from St. Paul, where he attended a hearing by the state highway commission at which final approval was given to Itasca county's part of the Duluth and St. Vincent road.

"The county auditor has begun to publish the notices, and we will immediately start work on the building our section of the highway," said Mr. King. "The action of the state highway commission yesterday authorizes Itasca to go ahead with the work, which will involve an expenditure of $116,680.09. We are going to push the work as rapidly as possible, and Duluth will have a great outlet to the West. In the other counties the plans for the road are in various stages of progress, and we are urging them to move as rapidly as they can."

The executive committee also talked over the plans for the Hinckley meeting of the Development association to be held next month.

MOTION IS MADE FOR NEW TRIAL

Injured Man Will Make Another Effort to Obtain Damages.

A motion for a new trial in the personal injury action brought by John Pajunen against the Oliver Iron Mining company will be brought on for argument at the special term of the district court Saturday morning.

Pajunen, employed at the Norman mine near Virginia, sued for $15,000 damages, claiming that after he had been sent into an ore chute with directions to clean it out, a load of ore was dumped upon him, injuring him severely. The case was tried at the present term of court and the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant. The new trial is asked on the ground that the verdict was not in accordance with the evidence and on the ground that the court erred in its rulings. The case was tried before Judge Fesler.

Demurrer Is Sustained.

Judge Dancer has sustained a demurrer which has been interposed by attorneys for the defense in the lawsuit which George St. George, administrator of the estate of Max Donni, has against the Mullery-McDonald Lumber company. The action involves a claim for wrongful death and is brought for the benefit of Elizabeth Donni, aged 42, widow and two daughters, Mary and Florence.

The complaint states that Donni and a fellow worker were engaged in the work of unloading logs from loaded flat cars and that a stake gave away, allowing the load to fall on them. Both sustained fatal injuries. The court held, in ruling on the demurrer, that the complaint did not clearly allege that the company was to blame for this condition, and as such did not state a cause of action. The demurrer was overruled, but the plaintiffs were given an opportunity to file an amended complaint.

STATE SUPREME COURT RULINGS

St. Paul, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Federal employers' liability act does not have to be pleaded specifically in order that one asking damages may come within its provisions. The facts stand for themselves.

This opinion was handed down in two cases by the state supreme court today. One is that of Bernard McDonald against the Railway Transfer company, Minneapolis, and the other that of Edward Denoyer against the same company.

Both men were injured while employed by the defendant company as switchmen in the Minneapolis milling district yards.

Lawyer Wins Case.

Because he was young and inexperienced when he made the contract, the supreme court today awarded Joseph J. Moriarity, a Shakopee attorney, a verdict of $665 against G. R. Mahoney, et al, heirs of the estate of Michael Moran.

In April, 1911, Moran died, leaving $40,000. The heirs employed Moriarity, then but recently admitted to practice, to probate the estate. He agreed to do the work for $100.

Numerous complications followed and the young lawyer was obliged to obtain the assistance of an older practitioner, H. J. Peck, now dead.

He asked for $2,675, but later cut this in half. The lower court awarded him $665 and this verdict is sustained. Commissioner Taylor wrote the opinion.

East Grand Forks Loses.

The city of East Grand Forks cannot recover from J. Gordon Steele, a Minneapolis public accountant, the amount of the funds embezzled by its city clerk, according to an opinion handed down by the supreme court today.

Steele was employed to examine the accounts of city officials and was paid $750 for two inspections. He reported the books in satisfactory condition. It was discovered later that the city clerk had embezzled $7,323.28, which the city tried to recover from Steele, alleging negligence on his part in not discovering the shortage.

HANGING GARDENS FOR ZENITH CITY

Hanging gardens which proved a success last year on a number of lamp posts and window sills in the downtown section may again be tried out this year. Members of the local Commercial club will advocate having more of them installed on posts in the downtown section.

Last summer these flowers hung from posts along Third avenue west, between Superior and First streets and on a few posts on First street. It is likely that the property owners will be asked to decorate some of the posts on East Superior street, and a request made of office tenants whose offices face on the principal thoroughfare to place similar decorations out of their windows.

The scheme has been tried out in Minneapolis for three years and given that city considerable reputation. Local people believe that this scheme can be carried out with as great success in this city.

WEATHER IDEAL FOR PLANTING

Prospects Bright for Crops in Red River Valley.

The weather has been ideal for planting in the Red River valley and all through Northwestern Minnesota this year, according to C. L. Conger of McIntosh, who is in Duluth today attending a meeting of the executive committee of the Northern Minnesota Development association.

"We have had more or less cold weather, but very little rain and the conditions have been almost ideal for working the soil," said Mr. Conger. "This is the third week in which the weather has been suitable for farm work and the seeding is well advanced. We had a good crop in that section of the state this year and business conditions have been good."

Mr. Conger, who is a banker at McIntosh, is a frequent visitor to Duluth and a great friend of the city.

"We are watching the progress of Duluth with considerable interest and much gratification," he said. "It is part of Northern Minnesota and we regard the city as our own. I believe Duluth has a great future as the country around develops, and we in Northwestern Minnesota are glad to have a part in the development, both of the country and of this city."

BEMIDJI REVIVAL.

Evangelistic Campaign to Be Held in Especially Built Tabernacle.

Bemidji, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The building of a tabernacle was begun Wednesday on the Marin property at Seventh street and America, and it will be completed by May 9, the date set for the launching of the evangelistic campaign to continue from then until June 8 under the direction of Rev. I. E. Honeywell of Oak Park, Ill., a former associate in church work of "Billy" Sunday.

The building will be 42x80 and will seat 1,000 persons. In the place of Rev. S. E. P. White of the Presbyterian church, Dr. E. H. Marcum is acting as president of the committee. Rev. Chas. H. Flesher of the Methodist church, is secretary of the committee and other members are Rev. Chandler of the Baptist church, A. E. Warfield, George Smith and S. E. Hurlocker.

MILWAUKEE ARRESTS.

Sensational Disclosures Expected in White Slavery Probe.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 2.—Government secret service men and Milwaukee police yesterday arrested two girls, Rosa Cucuzza and Angia Gusselli, as the first step toward undermining an extensive white slavery and criminal gang which is thought to be working in the Third ward.

It is alleged that the two girls were brought here from Paterson, N. J., after being imported from Italy by a gang of white slavers. It is said they have made important confessions to the police which may lead to a wholesale arrest in the Italian colony.

According to the police there is an organization of Milwaukee Italians who work in conjuction with another in Paterson. They not only import girls from Europe for white slave purposes, but also carry on a system of blackmail and murder.

Chief Jansen of the Milwaukee police department said that he thought he had got at the bottom of the seven murders which have taken place in the Third ward during the last year, and that the expected developments would uncover the greatest gang of criminals working in the country.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

DULUTHIAN GIVEN $500

Rev. Father Lynch Among Beneficiaries of Late Brainerd Man.

Judge Holland's Will Aids Churches, Brainerd and Many People.

Brainerd, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The will of the late Judge George W. Holland who died April 23, which has just been offered for probate is marked by the broadest generosity in which love of friends and kindred is equally exemplified with love for this city where he lived for forty-one years. Duluth and Superior men are remembered in the will, a priest in the Zenith City and a newspaperman in the Wisconsin city getting nice bequests. Other bequests go to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Brainerd, Grand Rapids, Aitkin, Park Rapids, Lansing, Minn., as well as to Mountain View, Cal., and Seattle, Wash, relatives or friends.

His love for his home city of Brainerd is shown by bequests in which twenty-two churches of the city, the Carnegie library and the Salvation army share as well as the Masonic order, in which two properties believed to be rich in iron ore are presented to the city, of sufficient value, as stated by the judge, to pay all the city's debts, such are some of the remarkable provisions of a will the like of which has never been seen in this state or section.

Remembers Old Friends.

Old friends are remembered and they include lawyer associates, doctors, editors, Northern Pacific railway engineers and passenger conductors, a Catholic priest, stenographers, and the janitor. The estimated value of the estate at this time is $152,000 in personal property and $150,000 in real estate. The latter, however, may show considerable increase. The residuary legatees named in the will, to take equal shares, are the two nephews, George D. La Bar of Brainerd and Harman W. Spencer of Malome, N. Y., and four nieces, Mrs. Clara E. Lord Luse of Eugene, Or., (now dead), Mrs. Leafy Spencer Fizzell of Montreal, Can., Mrs. Stella Holland Person of Minot, N. D., and Mrs. Mary Holland Church of Long Prairie, Minn. The executors named in the will are George D. La Bar and Arthur B. Church, husband of Mrs. Mary Holland Church.

Many Brainerd Bequests.

Brainerd—Dr. James L. Camp, $1,000; Dr. A. F. Groves, $1,000; R. P. Nelson, $1,000; Adam Brown, $1,000; Winifred V. Small, $1,000; Hilda E. Carlson, $200; Attorney W. H. Crowell, $1,000; Attorney W. HINCKLEY HIGH SCHOOL DEBATERS

Hinckley, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Hinckley high school debating team who last Saturday successfully debated the negative side of the feasibility of the government ownership of railroads with the Rush City team are now champions of the Third and Eighth congressional districts.

This team has debated both sides of the question, winning a unanimous decision over Mora, Two Harbors, Coleraine and a two to one decision over Kasota, the champions of the Third district.

Rush City, their opponents, have defeated Humboldt of St. Paul and Brainerd, sustaining the affirmative both times. The winner of Saturday night's debate will contest for the state championship at Minneapolis, in two weeks.

AFFINITY GETS WORST OF DEAL

Whipped By Wronged Woman Who Is Released By Milwaukee Court.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 2.—That affinities have no standing in Milwaukee courts, and that married women have a perfect right in beating them when they invite the attentions of their husbands became known in district court yesterday when Miss Annie C. Meyers was banished from the city and Mrs. E. D. Mickel was found not guilty of a charge of assault and battery.

After many futile attempts to have Mickel's affinity desist her attentions to Mickel, Mrs. Mickel met Miss Meyers on the strett, it is said, and is alleged to have severely beaten her. Mrs. Mickel dressed almost in rags, knocked Miss Meyers to the pavement and tore the stylish clothing of the affinity into shreds. Miss Meyers then had Mrs. Mickel arrested.

Educated Her Husband.

Ten years ago Mrs. Mickel first met her husband. She was than a factory hand at Racine, Wis., and without money. They were married and the husband went to college on the dowry of his wife. Later Mickel secured a position.

Miss Meyers secured a place in the office of Mickel's employers shortly afterwards, according to Mrs. Mickel, and her husband forgot about his home and family with the result that she and her two children were reduced to poverty.

The assault case was heard by Judge Neelen in chambers and the outcome was that Miss Meyers was ordered to leave town in five hours, and Mickel was restored to his family and promised to support them.

YEAR IN WORKHOUSE.

Given West Allis Pair Who Kidnaped Girl in Revenge.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 2.—Bound, drugged and kept a prisoner in a country roadhouse for two days by two men with whom her father had had trouble, was the fate of Katie Plebba, the 16-year-old daughter of John Plebba of West Allis, near here.

Samuel Hervat and Remus Vlasic, were given a year in the house of correction by District Judge Beele B. Neelen following testimony in court yesterday.

On the night following the banishment of the two men from the hotel of Plebba, they met Katie, took her to a motion picture show and then carried her to a roadhouse. Here, according to the testimony of the girl, they forced her to drink whiskey until she became intoxicated. Then she said she did not know what happened until the next morning when she awoke in a dark room. The door was locked and the blinds fastened.

That night the men returned and she was again forced to drink whiskey. The men also drank and went to sleep. One had opened the shutters for fresh air, and when the men were asleep, she tied the bedclothing together and made her escape from the house.

She reached home, told the story, and the arrest and convictions followed.

TO OPEN PLANT AT DEVILS LAKE

Fargoans and Others Interested in Starting New Power Plant.

Fargo, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo will be well represented at Devils Lake tomorrow when the official opening and inspection of the new power plant of the Western Utilities company will be made. Eighteen stockholders, directors and bankers interested in the state's development will go from here. Both Minneapolis and St. Paul will be represented, and the consulting engineer, Mr. Pillsbury of Minneapolis, will also be with the party.

At noon Saturday the visitors will be guests at a luncheon given by the Devils Lake Commercial club.

The Western Utilities company, of which F. E. Corson of Fargo is president, purchased the electric light business at Devils Lake a few months ago from A. B. Kerlin and have greatly increased the power and the capacity of the plant with entirely new material. In addition to lighting the city, the company will furnish power for the operation of the new Chautauqua railway line.

PINE CITY BANQUET.

Northern Pacific Officials Are Guests of Men's Club.

Pine City, Minn., May 2.—With ex-Congressman J. Adam Bede as toastmaster and several Northern Pacific railway officials and State Supt. Schulz as guests, the Men's club entertained at a banquet Monday evening, the chief object being to attempt an arrangement with the railroad, whereby a car could be sent from this place to connect with the train that leaves Taylors Falls every Monday morning. The officials of the road present were George A. Dodell, general manager; C. L. Nichols, general superintendent; J. B. Baird, general freight agent of St. Paul, and T. B. Quinn, train master, and A. V. Brown, division superintendent of Duluth. Prof. W. J. McAdam, president of the club, opened the meeting and appointed J. Adam Bede toastmaster, who presided in his usual happy manner and, having something humorous to say when introducing the speakers. Mr. Godell was the first one called on and responded by saying that it might not be possible for the company to furnish a car, but that the company might have a sleeper attached to the train leaving Minneapolis Saturday night and leave it at Pine City until the early train Monday morning, making it so that tourists could be here over Sunday and still be in the Twin Cities in time to go to work Monday morning. C. G. Schultz spoke on the educational work in the state and especially along the lines of the Northern Pacific. Several of the local men spoke also. On the whole it was a fine meeting and will in all probability work for the benefit of the citizens of this place and the traveling public generally.

JUDGE SMITH RETIRES.

Veteran Mill City Jurist Leaves Bench, Suffering From War Wound.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 2.—John Day Smith, who has been a judge in the district court of Hennepin county for eight years, late yesterday tendered his resignation to Governor Eberhart. It was accepted and Joseph W. Molineaux appointed as Judge Smith's successor. Under a law passed by the recent legislature, Judge Smith will draw his regular salary until the expiration of his term. He is a veteran of the Civil war and an old wound which has never healed has undermined his health. The law was passed especially for Judge Smith's benefit.

RAISING MORE PORK.

Hog Products of North Dakota Show Annual Gains.

Fargo, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota will raise and sell more pork this year than before, according to Secretary Cooper of the Better Farming movement. There are 284 entries in the pork contests inaugurated in the state under the auspices of the association. These are mostly among the adult farmers. Corn contests have been the vogue for two years and now the question of something to eat the corn is being taken up.

At the South St. Paul stockyards last Fall 66,000 hogs were sold from North Dakota. This year Secretary Cooper is confident the number will be 90,000.

NORTH DAKOTA HELPS ITS RURAL SCHOOLS.

Bismarck, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rural schools of North Dakota will be greatly benefited by the acts of the last legislature.

Under the provisions of new laws rural schools of the first class get state aid of $150 and second class $100. The consolidated schools of the first class got $600 and those of the second class, $500. This is a great encouragement to the schools for improvement.

Sanborn, Wis., Grange Meets.

Sanborn, Wis., May 2.—The second meeting of the Sanborn grange was held Wednesday night, with a number of new members present. The meeting was well attended although the dry weather and danger of forest fires kept quite a number at home. The grange was organized on April 9 by State Deputy John F. Wilde of Rhinelander, Wis., assisted by H. W. Geller, agriculturist for the South Shore road.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—J. S. Stein was sentenced to one week's suspension from the University of Wisconsin after being convicted of introducing dances of an indecent character into a university affair by the student court.

Neal—The prompt action of Miss Freda Kline, a nurse at the Clark hospital here, saved the life of Harvey Casperson, six years old. The boy had fallen into the river and was being carried beyond reach when one of his playmates called for help and Miss Kline, coming from the hospital, plunged into the water and pulled him out. Miss Kline's home is at Weyauwega.

Fond du Lac—Frank Enders, 30 years old, of St. Cloud, Wis., and August Hockrein of Calvary, employed at the Chicago White City, wanted just one more fishing trip before returning to their work. St. Cloud—Fred Schultz, the farmer who appeared before Probate Judge Klasen in a hearing to determine his sanity, was taken to Fergus Falls by Deputy Sheriff Bettenburg. Schultz will be placed in the detention hospital for a short time, as it was not determined that his mind was affected.

International Falls—Mrs. Laura Day was adjudged insane by Doctors Swinnerton, Osborne and Ghostley in probate court Tuesday and was removed to the detention hospital at Fergus Falls.

Bemidji—Mrs. A. C. Wilcox, a well known resident of the town of Northern, died in the Samaritan hospital Tuesday night following an operation and the birth of a daughter.

Crookston—John Green, a contractor, died Tuesday, aged 43. He leaves a wife and two children, Mabel, a junior in the Crookston high school, and John, aged 11, and one brother, M. F. Hayes of Des Moines, who is seriously ill.

Cambridge—Henry Hanson, manager of the Isanti creamery, had his left leg broken just above the knee on Tuesday while handling ice from the icehouse to the creamery.

North Branch—Carpenters from Stillwater began Monday repairing the McClure building on the south side of Main street. Mr. McClure will tear down the part formerly occupied by Carlson's harness shop and will erect a brick building in its place.

A TRIP out to the baseball park discloses the vast amount of labor that is bedone there in preparation for the opening of the season, which, Bill, is next Monday afternoon. The new grand stand is practically completed, but there is a deal of work on the grounds before the umpire calls play for the first home game of the 1913 season.

Fans feasting their eyes over the field next Monday will behold a brand new diamond. Tons of material have been dumped over the infield and out on to the outfield. A huge steam roller is doing the work of making the infield hard and smooth, and in the future a hard-running outfielder will not encounter the danger of plunging into a hole and falling on his bean.

Several hundred pounds of green paint have been ordered and all the space upon the fence that is not covered by the multitude of signs that are being painted there at the present time, will be of the shade that deliglits the artistic eye of the sons of Erin.

There is one big main entrance, flanked on both sides by offices. On the right going into the park is the ticket office, now almost completed, and on the other side is the office of the club. A gentle ascending sidewalk takes the stand patrons into the stand, while to each side are the entrances to the bleachers.

With the crew of men working at the present time there is no doubt but that everything will be in readiness for the opening home game of this season. And when the fans gather for the opening contest they will find a baseball plant that is a testimonial to the belief of the members of the Duluth Baseball association in the future of the game in Duluth.

MIKE CANTILLON, president of the Minneapolis Baseball association, is surprised by the article of baseball that is being shown by the teams of the Northern league. He imparted this much to President Blume and several other of the officials of the league at Wednesday's game in Minneapolis.

"I thought that this would prove to be only the ordinary minor league, such as we have had in this section of the Northwest for several years," said Cantillon. "As a matter of fact some of the players in the Northern are ripe for higher company. The class of baseball shown to date has compared almost equally with the American association baseball we have had in Minneapolis during the present season."

MR. BLUME brings the information from the Twin Cities that no more popular successor to George Barton could be found than John Burmeister. Every Twin City newspaper man, according to the statement of the president of the Duluth club, has heartily and enthusiastically indorsed the Minneapolis lumberman for the office, the St. Paul press workers being just as lavish in their praise of Mr. Burmeister as their brothers of the fourth estate of the neighboring city.

Before he accepted the office Mr. Burmeister called upon all of the sporting writers of the Twin Cities and informed them that if he accepted the office he would do so with the distinct understanding that the league was to be conducted upon the plan of the larger leagues of the country, and that no partiality would be shown to anyone, to any newspaper or to any baseball club of the circuit.

IN Wednesday's game at Minneapolis one of the Bronks batters lined out a long fly to Elmer Miller with a man perched on third. Elmer came in and took the fly and then heaved strong and true to the plate, nipping the runner at the stone block. Mike Cantillon arose from his seat and looked long at the boy who was slowly and unconcernedly walking back to the right to play for the next hitter.

"Can he hit, though?" questioned Cantillon.

Shortly after this Miller came to bat and slammed the pill up against the fence for three bases.

Yes, Miller is going pretty well this season.

THE more one observes the race in the American league just that much more is the conclusion formed that the going is between the Boston Red Sox, Philadelphia Athletics and the Washington Senators. It is difficult to figure any other team in the chase to the extent, at least, of making a serious fight for the flag.

In the older major one can figure at least four teams in the chase, with New York, Chicago, Pittsburg and Philadelphia all possessing some of the greatest players of the old organization.

Pittsburg has shown wretched form to date, but this has been one of the characteristics of the Clarke organization during the early days of the season. Some believe the Cubs are playing ahead of their game. Maybe so and maybe not. With free managerial reins Charley Dooin may make a real fight for the flag this season.

Cincy has surely shown nothing to date. Brooklyn is being closely watched by the critics. Not much is being expected from St. Louis and the Boston Nationals sure do look sad.

Some critics of the American league are of the opinion that Hughey Jennings does not possess the energy he exhibited during the winning years of his regime. It is too early as yet to pass judgment upon the success or failure of Frank Chance. It must truly be that he has a sad baseball aggregation in the lowly Yanks.

At that there are rumors of a trade in the air. Chance, unless he has lost his cunning and judgment as to baseball players, may pull a deal that will put some strength into the Highlanders.

"Grandma is dead," the urchin cried,
And he lamped the boss most teary eyed.
His shock was quick, great was his grief;
And then the boss found swift relief;
He remembered Monday was opening day.
"That's bad, indeed," the old man said;
"Your grandma repeats at being dead.
But, kid, I hope it doesn't rain;
Like you, I want to see that game—
For Monday is the opening day."

LOCALIZING SPORTS

Yesterday was the first decent day the oarsmen have encountered. It was promptly taken advantage of and the longest row of the year was taken. Three eights were out and some of the new men discovered what it means to start the real work of the season.

The Longview tennis courts are almost ready for play. These courts promise to be better than last year and plans now maturing call for some pretty tournament play.

Return Match Called Off.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 2.—Promoter Tom McCarey decided yesterday that the public was not enthusiastic over the prospect of a return Kilbane-Dundee fight. He immediately began planning for a meeting between Kilbane, who is featherweight champion, and Eddie Morgan, who is classed as the featherweight champion of England.

McCarey hopes to get Morgan and Kilbane in the ring for twenty rounds about the middle of July.

Churches Form League.

Pratt, Kan., May 2.—The churches of Pratt have formed a baseball league. Each Sunday school has a team, and the contract signed by each player stipulates that he will not "use tobacco, swear or flirt." He must attend Sunday school at least three Sundays out of the month. Failure in any of these requirements ends the contract.

A schedule of fifteen games has been arranged for the season. Sunday games are barred.

Change Schedule.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 2.—It was announced here yesterday that the Indianapolis-Louisville American association game scheduled for the latter place May 10 would be played here, because that date is "Derby day" in Louisville. May 10 is also the opening date here for the federal league.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 2. — The Bronks took the final game of the series with Duluth by the score of 10 to 4. Monty Woods, the southpaw, was on the slab for the visitors and he was easy for the Bronks, being found for a total of ten clouts, and in addition to this was wild and unsteady throughout.

In addition to the ability of the home players to hit the curves of Woods, his team-mates played a ragged game, and the errors of the visitors contributed to the scores of the locals.

Unglaub shifted his lineup. The Broncho leader went from first to third, playing Catcher Warner on the sack. Leverett pitched the best baseball he has shown the present year and held the Dooks to six hits.

Rhoades of the visitors poled one over the fence in the fourth inning, this being one of the longest hits made at Nicollet park during the present season.

VIRGINIA LOSES THIRD STRAIGHT TO FLICKERS.

Virginia, Minn., May 2.—Grand Forks made it three straight by winning the final game with Virginia here yesterday by the score of 7 to 5.

Watkins was not hit freely, but five blows being gathered off his delivery, but the hits of the Flickertails came at opportune times and counted with the untimely errors of the Ore Diggers.

Lyman hit for another home run yesterday, the third he has made in three days. The score:

RED SOX DROP FINAL GAME WITH ST. PAUL.

St. Paul, Minn., May 2.—Jones' Colts took the final game of the series with the Superior Red Sox here yesterday by the score of 7 to 4.

Mike Kramer was on the mound for the Little Saints and while he was found freely, he was effective with men on bases and steady in the pinches. Both Lampman and Chicken were found at opportune times, Lampman being driven from the hill in the fifth round.

In addition to pitching steady ball Kramer got a single and triple and assisted materially in the run getting of his team mates.

WALTER JOHNSON.

This wonderful twirler is pitching the greatest baseball of his career. He has gone something like thirty-six innings without being scored on and has been a complete puzzle to all of the batsmen he has faced this season. It begins to look as if the wonderful Swede is going to eclipse all of his records of the past.

Maroons Go Hitless.

Winona, Minn., May 2.—Winona took the final game of the series from Winnipeg yesterday by the score 6 to 0. Snow held the Canucks hitless and was given faultless support. He hurled a remarkable game, not even the semblance of a blow being made off his flinging. The play of the visitors was ragged, the hits of the Giants being coupled with the misplays of the visitors. Reds Get Even.

Chicago, May 2.—George Johnson, the big Indian twirler of the Cincinnati Reds, had everything his own way yesterday and Cincinnati defeated Chicago 8 to 4.

Yesterday's victory is the third of the season for Cincinnati and the honor of winning fell to Johnson in all three.

Johnson had the locals baffled until the ninth inning, when he showed signs of weakening and gave way to Mordecai Brown, former pitcher of the Chicago Nationals. Brown, with the bases full and one out, in this inning, showed his old-time skill and retired Chicago without further damage. Toney injured his finger in trying to stop a hot bounder off Hohlitzer's bat and retired. Evers said the injury was not serious.

Three of the runs scored by the locals were due to the errors of Cincinnati.

Batteries—Johnson, Brown and Clarke; Smith, Toney, Leifield and Archer. Umpires—Owens and Guthrie.

Brooklyn Wins Again.

Brooklyn, May 2.—Charles Stengel was the hero of Brooklyn's victory over Boston yesterday. The final score was 4 to 2 and Stengel was responsible for three of the four runs. On his first time up, he hit for a home run. In the second inning with Miller on base and two out, he slammed out another home run. Hummel, who got three hits, scored the fourth run on his double and Wheat's single. Stack pitched an erratic game, but was saved several times by sensational fielding.

Three hits in a row gave Boston its first run; a pass and two singles sent in the second. Gervais finished the pitching for Boston and disposed of six batters that faced him in the last two innings. Benny Meyer was put off the Brooklyn bench for talking too much. Score: R. H. E.

Giants Are Shut Out.

Philadelphia, May 2.—Alexander, who last week pitched an 11-inning tie against New York, shut out McGraw's team here yesterday afternoon, 1 to 0. The visitors got six hits, three of which were made by Shafer and two by Snodgrass. Only one New York runner reached third base.

Killifer threw two men out trying to steal second and broke up a batting rally in the third inning by catching Snodgrass napping off second base. Four hits were made off Tesreau in seven innings, he being taken out to permit McCormick to bat for him. Knabe and Dolan divided these safeties.

The only run of the game was scored in the sixth inning on Shafer's wild throw on Alexander's grounder and Knabe's two-bagger. Score: R. H. E.

Lose Fifth Straight.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 2.—Pittsburg lost the fifth straight game yesterday afternoon, St. Louis winning a slugging match. Camnitz's wildness in the first inning when he walked three men and a triple by Oakes netted St. Louis four runs at the start. They added another in the fifth and two more in the sixth when Cathers, batting for Sheckard, doubled with two men on bases. Pittsburg rallied strongly in the last two innings, scoring three runs in the eighth and two in the ninth. Robinson, who pitched the ninth for Pittsburg, allowed St. Louis three hits and two runs after two were out. Perritt was hit hard and Sallee went to his rescue in the ninth. Viox, playing short for Pittsburg, had four hits, three singles and a double. Score: R. H. E.

Highlanders Lose Again.

New York, May 2.—The New York Americans were defeated again yesterday, the Athletics winning the first game of a four-game series, 4 to 2. Keating, the only New York pitcher who has won a game this season, went well for five innings, not a man reaching first base until McInnis singled in that frame.

In the sixth the Athletics won the game when they scored three runs on singles by Brown, Oldring and Collins, Oldring's steal and two errors.

Brown pitched well for Philadelphia, the first of New York's two runs being scored on errors by Baker and Collins. He had to retire from the game in the eighth inning when he injured his pitching hand, stopping a hard drive from Cree's bat. Score: R. H. E.

Philadelphia	0 0 0 0 0 3 1 0 0	4	5	3

Tigers Lose.

Detroit, Mich., May 2.—Harry Lord, ably assisted by the other members of the "heavy" end of Chicago's batting order, pounded Mullin to every corner of the lot yesterday and the visitors defeated Detroit, 8 to 5. Jennings' men hit Russell hard in the fifth and eighth and the Chicago southpaw became unsteady in the ninth, but sharp fielding cut off each Detroit rally. It was the seventh straight defeat for the locals and five of them were sustained at the hands of Chicago.

Chicago won the game in the seventh. Lord started the inning with a triple to right and four more hits, coupled with errors, brought five runs across. One of Cobb's hits was an infield tap, on which an unsuccessful attempt was made to retire a base runner at third. The score: R. H. E.

Cleveland Wins.

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—Wellman's work in the sixth inning caused his own downfall and Cleveland won the second game of the series from St. Louis, 3 to 1, here yesterday. Falkenberg was steady in the pinches, holding St. Louis safe when runners were on bases.

In the sixth three infield hits filled the bases for Cleveland, with one out. Lajoie hit to Austin, forcing a runner at the plate. Wellman lost control and walked Birmingham and hit Graney, forcing in two runs for Cleveland.

St. Louis scored their only run on Stovall's single, steal and Agnew's hit. Cleveland tied the score in the fourth inning on Olson's double and Lajoie's single. Olson and Stovall batted well, both getting three hits. The score: R. H. E.

St. Louis	0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	1	7	1

Champs Win Again.

Boston, May 2.—Boston easily defeated Washington yesterday, 8 to 2. O'Brien kept the visitors' hits well separated. Four pitchers were used by Washington, Hughes lasting but four innings, during which time Boston scored four runs. Engle captured a liner from Ainsmith's bat in the second inning and doubled up Morgan, who had reached first on a single. Capt. Wagner injured one of his fingers in taking a throw at second and will be out of the game for several days. The score: R. H. E.

Win In Eleventh.

Toledo, Ohio, May 2.—Driving out three hits in the eleventh inning, Kansas City scored the deciding run of a thrilling combat here yesterday afternoon. After holding the enemy to three hits in ten innings, George allowed Walker to double as a starter in the eleventh. A sacrifice by Carr and singles by Drake and Tannehill scored him. Toledo also made a grand finish, having three men on bases and none out, but were unable to get over the winning run. A single by O'Connor which Bluhm lost in the sun, allowed the visitors to tie the score in the sixth. Poor coaching lost Toledo a chance for two runs in the eighth, when they had three men on and but one out. Score: R. H. E.

Saints Score at Will.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 2.—A base on balls, a hit batsman, three singles and a home run by Riggert gave St. Paul a lead of six runs in the first inning here yesterday. Indianapolis got three in the first and one in the ninth, while St. Paul added eight more to those made in the first. Every man on the St. Paul team scored one or more runs, and all except Autrey hit safely. Link, who succeeded Kaiserling fared no better, though he was allowed to finish the game. The score: R. H. Senators Win Again.

Columbus, Ohio, May 2.—Smith's hitting and base running contributed a great deal to Columbus' 8 to 6 victory yesterday over Minneapolis. The visitors got a start in two innings by two errors. Manager Cantillon used three pitchers, each being scored upon. Shelton's outfielding was a feature. The score: R. H. E.

PITCHER RICE DRAWS RELEASE

Irish Orator Cuts Twirling Staff to Four Workmen.

It was announced at the baseball headquarters today that Pitcher Rice has been released. The new member of the Dooks was given several opportunities to make good and failed to show anything that impressed the Orator.

As it is at the present time, the Irish leader believes he has one of the best pitching staffs in the league. Johnson, Blancke, Woods and Brackett are the men the Dook will depend upon as long as they show their present form.

Johnson and Blancke have been going great. This same is not true of Monty Woods, the only southpaw on the team. But Darby still believes that the portside flinger has the goods, and he will give him a thorough opportunity to show whether the opinion of the Sox pilot is justified.

Brackett has pitched some fair baseball, but as he is a warm weather worker, it is believed that he will round to within a short time.

Tinker Signs Kling.

Chicago, May 2.—Manager Joe Tinker of the Cincinnati team has signed John Kling, the catcher, who will report for duty at Cincinnati next Sunday. In exchange for Kling, Tinker gives Boston C. McDonald, an infielder, and a cash consideration. The size of the latter was not announced, nor was the salary Kling is to receive.

Pelky Wins.

Calgary, Alta., May 2.—Arthur Pelky battered Andy Morris of Boston so badly at the Manchester arena last night that Referee Tommy Burns had to stop the bout in the eighth round. Pelky and Luther McCarthy are to meet here on May 24.

Bill Is Defeated.

Sacramento, Cal., May 2.—The proposed anti-prize fight bill, making the promotion of a prize fight in this state a felony, and attendance at one a misdemeanor, was defeated by a vote of 38 to 24 in the lower house last night.

BURIAL AT TORONTO.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Frank J. King of St. Thomas, N. D., who died at Rochester, Minn., Tuesday evening, was treasurer of the North Dakota Medical society, having held that position three years. He also was president of the Grand Forks District Medical society.

Dr. King's burial will take place at Uxbridge, Ont., the place of his birth in 1864. He was a prominent Mason and had been accorded membership in several world-wide medical organizations.

ELABORATE PLANS MADE FOR BASEBALL OPENING

Automobile Parade, Headed By Band, Will Start From City Hall.

Mayor Prince Will Share Honors of Bill With Two Teams.

A band, scores of automobiles, banners, scores of amateur players and multitudes of loyal fans will make up the greatest opening day parade in the history of baseball in Duluth.

Plans for the opening game of the season which comes on next Monday afternoon are being made at the present time.

The band has been engaged. This chortling joy thing will march at the head of the big parade. Then will come the two uniformed teams, the rival White and Red Sox. Mayor Prince and other of the members of the commission will occupy conspicuous places in the line of march, or ride would perhaps be more fitting.

Arrangements have been made for the securing of a large number of automobiles. Dealers of Duluth and many private owners have generously promised the officials of the Duluth Baseball association the loan of machines for the day.

All amateur players in uniform who wish to march in the parade will be admitted to the opening game free of charges.

President John Burmeister and Frank Force, one of the best known of the Minneapolis sporting writers, have promised to be on deck for the grand opening of the season—an event that is due to eclipse all of the past inauguration baseball exercises.

Old precedent will be followed in that the cavalcade will get under way from the city hall. Here is where the parade will form, and the line of march will be down Superior street, with horns tooting, drums beating and banners flying in, let us hope, the balmy breezes.

Mayor a Headliner.

Mayor Prince, one of the real ardent fans, will be one of the headliners on the opening day. He is going to throw the first ball and the city has an executive at the present time who can really heave the pill.

While the pennant won last year by the valiant Sox will not be unfurled at the baseball park, as pennant day is coming later, it is probable that the emblem of sweet victory in the short-live International league will be proudly waved in the parade to the park.

Every fan of Duluth is requested to take part in the parade. Every owner of an automobile is asked to aid in making this an event that will show that the well wishes of the Zenith City are behind the Northern league, the best baseball association by far that this city has ever played in—at least since the halcyon days of the old Northwestern league.

But two days intervene and then comes the first game of the home season. Superior will open the home season today and it is likely that some of the bugs will cross the bay and size up the Red Hose. Virginia will be the opponents of the Curtis tribe and it is very likely that our hated rivals will be in the lead again by the opening day series here.

Literally speaking droves of fans are coming over from Superior to attend the opening day at Athletic park. The exodus of fans, the hegira, so to speak, is expected to swell the attendance here to the biggest crowd that has ever attended the opening game. With weather such as yesterday it is believed that the capacity of the park will be taxed and the seating accommodations have been considerably increased since last season.

The series with Minneapolis was completed with the game of yesterday. The Sox open at Winona today and play there for three games. The touring Sox will leave the city beautiful Sunday evening and arrive here Monday morning bright and early.

To date the Sox have won three games and lost four. The worst the Dooks can do is to return home with three wins and seven losses. But out of the ten games that they will have played before coming home for the long series, if the weather is right, it is expected that the Sox will have an even break, for it is believed that we will cop two out of the three at Winona.

ON THE IRON RANGES

VIRGINIA P. O. IS VERY FINE

New Federal Building Costing $60,000, First on Range, Is Open.

Of Red Facing Brick, Stone Trimmings and Very Up-to-Date Structure.

Virginia, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Virginia's new postoffice, the only Federal building on the iron ranges, is now being used.

The new postoffice is the only one in the entire state which has been fitted with special departments for parcel post and savings bank business.

The building, erected at a total cost of more than $60,000, is artistic, adequate and complete in every detail. It is constructed of red facing brick with stone trimmings and six immense stone pillars rising from a splendid flight of steps to the cornice of the roof of the main front, giving the building a look of grace and solidity. The structure is as near fire-proof as possible. The floors are all of steel and concrete and the walls solid brick with steel lath beneath the plaster.

The internal arrangments are modern and complete with special departments for parcel post, general delivery, registered mail, savings bank and money order business.

The architects have provided ample room for the accommodation of the large number of people who crowd to the postoffice on the arrival and departure of the mail and there are nearly a thousand mail boxes, each fitted with three keys.

The postmaster's and the assistant postmaster's rooms are both large and airy.

Special sorting tables have been provided and one of the features is the addition of four carriers' windows for holidays.

Special Wagon Entrance.

A special wagon entrance has been provided in the rear with a driveway wide enough to allow the mail wagons to turn round easily. A wide and ample vestibule permits the unloading of mail in the dry and without dragging any unnecessary dirt into the main office.

The money order and savings departments are railed off from the main office and are provided with separate windows and safes. The safes for this department are double, one being built into the wall and absolutely fire proof, while inside of this again there is a money safe with burglar proof doors and locked steel cash compartments.

A feature is the addition of a clubroom, or "swing room" as it is called, provided expressly for the use of the mail carriers between shifts and while waiting for incoming mail.

Everything in the new building is of the best possible standard and neither time nor money has been spared to make the building perfect in every degree. Considerable attention has been paid to detail work in the construction of the building, such as coloring all cold water pipes blue and all hot water pipes red to facilitate distinction in case of repairs or changes, also all cold water supply pipes are covered with asbestos as well as hot water service pipes so that the temperature of the cold water will be kept the same summer and winter.

Virginia is getting just as good or even better mail service than any city of its size in America, receiving mail daily over five railroads, and there is a possibility of inter-town mail being carried over the new electric system as soon as arrangements can be made with Uncle Sam.

CHURCH'S DEBT PROMPTLY PAID

Voluntary Subscriptions Wipe Out Indebtedness on Gilbert Edifice.

Gilbert, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the Methodist church which was dedicated last Sunday are proud of the manner in which the church's debt of $1,200 was wiped out during the two services held when the people voluntarily pledged $1,200, the amount due upon the improvements made.

At the dedication services a special musical program was rendered and the church was beautifully decorated with flowers.

The pastor, Rev. T. B. Shorts was assisted by Rev. E. K. Copper of Duluth, and Rev. Mr. Burns of Minneapolis, Rev. Mr. Tibbetts and Rev. J. E. Turner of Gilbert. The morning and evening sermons were delivered by Rev. Mr. Burns of Minneapolis, who made very eloquent addresses.

Give Ely Professor Surprise.

Ely, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grade pupils at the high school building gave a surprise party yesterday afternoon in honor of Prof. Phillip Schweickhard. Mr. Schweickhard has been for the past two years principal of the grades, but leaves at the close of the present school year to take work at the university.

SOOTHES AND HEALS

Do not let the disease extend along the delicate mucous membrane, gradually going from the nose to the throat, thence into the bronchial tubes, and then downward until the lungs are reached and you are in danger of consumption.

Hyomei will relieve all curable forms and stages of catarrh. It is so uniformly successful in this common yet dangerous disease that it is always sold on money back if not benefited plan.

There is no other treatment for catarrh that is like Hyomei or just as good. None can take its place, none give such quick and sure relief and at so little cost. Its medication is breathed through a pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, thus reaching the most remote cells of the air passages, killing the catarhal germs and soothing and healing the irritated mucous membrane.

Begin the use of Hyomei today and you will soon find that the offensive breath, the droppings into the throat, the discharge from the nose, sniffling and all other symptoms of catarrh are overcome. The complete outfit costs but $1.00. Extra bottles of liquid, if later needed, 50 cents at Boyce drug store and druggists everywhere.

ELY DWELLINGS BADLY NEEDED

Ely, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The growth of the city has at no time been spectacular, but has gone on quietly and steadily, while the building of dwellings has not kept pace with the growth in population, until now it is almost impossible to rent houses here, unless a person just happens to secure a recently vacated building. Last year several fine residences were built here, and the present season promises to see a number of others erected, but at the present time no dwellings are available. Even rooms in private homes are very scarce.

AURORAITES TO DISCUSS PAVING

Feasibility of Improving Jackson Street to Be Considered May 21.

Aurora, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The question of paving Jackson street, the principal business street, will be discussed by the citizens and council at a meeting which will be held in the council chambers of the village hall Wednesday night, May 21.

The cement sidewalks, curbs and gutters which were put in last fall passed through the winter in excellent condition and are giving entire satisfaction. As a result there is considerable demand for paving. There is also some opposition and the hearing will be held to give all parties interested an opportunity to be heard.

The streets have been cleaned and the village is now presenting a first-class appearance.

FATHER SEEKS CHILD.

Itasca County Man Claims Daughter Mysteriously Disappeared.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Gustafson of Max asks the newspapers to assist in finding his daughter, Miss Ida Gustafson, who left her home in Max, at noon April 20, and has not been seen since.

The girl is 16 years old, 5 feet tall, weight 120 pounds, light complexion. When she left the house, she told her father that she was going to hunt partridges, but her father does not believe that she is lost. He accuses Matt Peltola, 27 years old, also of Max, who disappeared about the same time as the girl, of knowing her whereabouts.

Peltola is described as 27 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, weight 150 pounds, dark complexion, and when last seen wore a mixed black and brown suit, and black hat. Mr. Gustafson firmly believes that the man is responsible, and offers a liberal reward to anyone who will furnish any information concerning Miss Gustafson.

STOP AT BROOKSTON.

That Village Will Be Headquarters for Ore Train Firemen.

Brookston, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under a new arrangement on the Great Northern railway this year Brookston will be the headquarters for fifteen or twenty firemen throughout the ore season. The men who fire the huge Mallet locomotives used in the ore service will work from Allouez to Brookston, where they will take eight hours' rest before going on duty again. At Brookston another fireman will board the engine and work to Kelly Lake, the end of the run.

On the return trip, from Kelly Lake to Allouez, one man will fire the entire distance. The trip from the docks to the mines is all up grade, and a fireman is compelled to shovel coal the entire distance. The large engines consume nearly twenty tons of fuel going from the docks to the mines, while on the return trip about half of that amount is used. Last summer a great number of firemen played out during the hot weather, but under the arrangement now in effect the officials think the men will stand the work better, be more satisfied with their occupation and trains will get over the road with less delay.

BURIED AT VIRGINIA.

Last Rites for Mrs. Gertrude Wing Formerly of Duluth.

Virginia, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of the late Mrs. Gertrude E. Thorp Wing, formerly of Duluth, who died in More hospital, Eveleth, April 28, was held here Wednesday at 9 a. m. from Our Lady of Lourdes church, Rev. Father Powers officiating, and interment was made in Calvary cemetery. She is survived by her mother, stepfather and married brother living at Superior.

Mrs. Wing was born at Wausau, Wis., March 17, 1893, and was married at Duluth, Nov. 30, 1912, and became a widow three months ago.

Most of her girlhood days were spent at Hurley, Wis. She was well liked among her acquaintances and the news of her death was a terrible shock to them.

$26,255 ON DEPOSIT.

Virginia Postal Savings Bank Has Substantial Sum in Trust.

Virginia, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. O. Pederson, who is in charge of the postal savings department of the local postoffice, reports that he has $26,355 now on deposit by local people, with $2,540 deposited during April and $1,007 withdrawals. Money orders for $3,202.53 were purchased during the month just closed at the local office.

IN AUTO COLLISION.

Grand Rapids Man Has Exciting Time Near Keewatin.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. H. Dickinson is home after a most exciting trip to Keewatin and Nashwauk. He left Keewatin for Nashwauk Wednesday morning by auto. On the way from one town to the other the machine ran through a dense cloud of smoke from the fires burning in the vicinity, and in the middle of the cloud ran head-on into another machine going toward Nashwauk.

Both cars were going at a fair rate of speed, but none of the occupants was injured seriously. Both wind shields were smashed and the occupants of the cars were all more or less cut. Mr. Dickinson sustained several deep cuts on his left hand and face, but is able to be about today.

GREAT NORTHERN REQUEST DENIED

Stuntz Township Board Declines to Grant Tax Reduction.

Hibbing, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Northern Iron Ore Properties company will have to pay its taxes on its ore holdings in this township amounting to $1,433, as the Stuntz township board denied its application for a reduction to $266.14 after checking over every item.

Most of the Great Northern lands in this vicinity are not available for purchase as agricultural lands and one forty on which the town board placed a valuation of $240 was recently sold for $5,000.

Explanation to County Board.

The board sent the following letter to the county board explaining its action:

"In regard to the application of the Great Northern Iron Ore Properties company, asking for a reduction of the valuation of its lands in the township of Stuntz, we have taken considerable time and checked every item in said application, and we positively object to any reduction whatever as the lands are not assessed for any more than other lands of a similar character in the same locality. We made a thorough canvass of the assessment at the time it was levied, during the month of July, 1912, and we are convinced that there was no injustice done to any one. We think that the assessment was fair as it was possible for us to make it and respectfully ask your honorable body that the assessment stand as it now is."

ARE GIVEN LICENSES.

Hibbing Council Grants Permission to Sell Liquors.

Hibbing, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lewis Quayle, having established that he was not connected with a brewing company, the village council last night granted him a saloon license, which had been held up pending the new plan followed on the license question. Latchen was also granted F. G. Whyment, J. Morrisy and Charles Shubat. Herman Fantini's application was turned down because it was not in proper form and his saloon ordered closed until the application meets the legal requirements.

John Eastman and Peter McDermott were appointed patrolmen and John Simonitsch a special policeman. Joe Rooney was named assistant city engineer to succeed William McLeod, resigned. Anton Larson was appointed as assistant scavenger.

BEMIDJI MAN KILLED.

Chester Gracie, Employed on Canadian Northern, Fatally Hurt.

Virginia, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—While uncoupling cars in the local Canadian Northern yards yesterday afternoon, Chester Gracie, switch foreman for the road, lost his footing; was run over and both legs severed. He was rushed to a hospital and died within an hour.

Gracie was 33 years old and came here from International Falls about a year ago. His parents live at Bemidji. He was a member of the Elks and several railroad organizations, who will take part in the funeral service, the arrangements for which are being made.

PLANNING FINE MUSIC.

For Dedication of New Gilbert Catholic Church.

Gilbert, Minn., May 2.— (Special to The Herald.)—The choir of St. Joseph's church is making preparations for special music at the solemn services, which will be given on the occasion of the dedication of the new church. The dedication services will be held in the near future and a number of outside bishops will be present on that occasion.

AURORA SOCIALISTS OBSERVE HOLIDAY.

Aurora, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aurora Socialist societies observed the international May day holiday yesterday afternoon with a big parade and appropriate services in the Socialist Workers' hall. The parade was headed by the Finnish Socialist band and took in the principal streets of the village. The services at the hall consisted of speeches and recitations.

Big Mining Suit Dismissed.

Virginia, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Holding that W. T. James of Ely had failed to establish a cause for action in his suit against John Costin, Jr., of Virginia, to recover 62,500 shares of stock in the Chandler Mining company of Ely, estimated to be worth $90,000, Judge Hughes has dismissed the action.

To Play With Chisholm.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—William "Cork" Whaling, who has played with the local baseball club for several years, left today for Chisholm, where he has signed with the Chisholm Trolley league team for the season. Whaling is regarded as big league timber by old baseball fans, and was offered a chance to try out with the Duluth team earlier in the spring. He declined the offer, however, preferring to stay with the bush leagues for another season.

Have Color in Your Cheeks —Be Better Looking— Try Olive Tablets.

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

These Olive Tablets oil the bowels—yet have no oily taste. They are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil.

If you want a clear pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

MINE BOSS DIES OF HIS WOUNDS.

Buhl, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Serratore, the Whiteside mine shift boss who was shot Wednesday night by Dominick Gilberti, died at the Shaw hospital this morning.

Dominick Gilberti, his slayer, was arraigned today and bound over to await the action of the grand jury. He will be charged with murder.

Diminick Pabatolo, the other man shot by Gilberti, will recover, as his wound is of a superficial nature. After his arrest, Gilberti expressed great regret for shooting Serratore, declaring that the assault was directed principally against Pabatolo.

BURY CONDUCTOR AT BEMIDJI.

Virginia, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Chester Gracie, fatally injured in the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific yards west of Virginia on Thursday afternoon, will be held at Bemidji on Sunday. He was conductor of a switch crew and a former conductor on the M. & I. road between International Falls and Brainerd. He was a member of the Elks at Bemidji and also of the Order of Railway Conductors and Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and Knights of Pythias, and is 33. His legs were cut off under the wheels. His father lives at Bemidji.

RED LAKE FALLS SCHOOL BURNED

High School Totally Destroyed at Loss of About $25,000.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local high school was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The building was worth about $24,000, and the loss is partially covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

POPE PLANS TO SEE CARDINALS.

Rome, May 2.—Pope Pius is most impatient to resume his work, and has decided to begin his receptions of the cardinals tomorrow, commencing with Cardinal De Lai, secretary of the consistorial congregation, and Cardinal Pompili, vicar general of Rome. The pontiff wishes to discuss with Cardinal De Lai several questions concerning America, and he has not seen Cardinal Pompili since he was appointed vicar general.

CITY WILL HAVE $1,000,000 BOULEVARD DRIVE ALONG THE SHORE OF THE LAKE TO TWO HARBORS

now appears that it is ready for the legal procedure which must be taken by the council and the courts.

The bill making it possible for Minnesota to acquire a boulevard which will stand head and shoulders above anything of its kind in the country is entitled "An act to authorize any city of the state of Minnesota now or hereafter having more than 50,000 inhabitants, to lay out, open, build, maintain and improve roads, streets, avenues, boulevards, parkways or other public highways outside the corporate limits of such city, and to acquire property for such purpose outside said corporate limits, by gift, devise, purchase or condemnation."

Outlines Steps.

The bill outlines all the steps which must be taken. Under it the city council can, by a three-fourths vote of all of its members, pass an ordinance to acquire and maintain such a driveway, inside and outside the city limits. The new parkway will pass through Lake county and the officials of that county welcomed the proposition with open arms, the immeasurable advantages of such an improvement being apparent at the initial statement. The officials of Two Harbors and Lake county have agreed to co-operate to the fullest extent and in any manner possible with the city authorities of Duluth.

No costly expense will devolve upon Duluth or Two Harbors or St. Louis or Lake counties. The driveway will be constructed for them and the people through the generosity of one of Duluth's wealthiest and most public-spirited citizens. The beautiful, parked boulevard will be an indestructible monument to his liberality, his unprecedented public spirit and abiding faith in the greatness of Northern Minnesota.

It is believed that the proposed right of way will be secured at very little cost, as the benefits to the property through which it will pass will far exceed any damages for practically its whole length. Already many of the property owners have signified their willingness to dedicate without charge such parts of their holdings as may be needed for the roadway. Undoubtedly most, if not all, of the others will gladly do the same.

Value of Driveway.

The possibilities of the parkway along the scenic shores of the lake, famous for years over the civilized world, are unlimited. The advertising which it will bring to Duluth and the tributary territory cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. Hundreds and thousands of travelers and tourists will be attracted to Duluth who might otherwise not pass through here. It will be a great factor in the development of the country between Duluth and Two Harbors and beyond. It will be a paradise for owners of automobiles and all lovers of the outdoors. It will make much more accessible the trout streams and the hunting grounds which it will cross.

The grandeurs of the North Shore will be opened as could be possible in no other way. Its wealth of scenery will be made more inviting, more appreciated and more enjoyed, as it will be more attractive, more desirable and much more easily reached.

Roger's boulevard and the Duluth park system, with its pretty shaded drives and walks, will grow and improve, but they will be infinitely augmented by the million-dollar parkway which will skirt the north shore of the lake, with all that nature offers to make it the most wonderful of its kind on the continent.

Preliminary Steps.

In passing the ordinance which will initiate the proceedings for the proposed parkway, the council will describe as nearly as possible the property which it will be necessary to acquire. The city attorney will be directed to institute the necessary proceedings for its condemnation. The city engineer will be directed to make a plat and survey of the real estate. The council may amend or modify it as it shall deem necessary. When the plat and survey have been adopted they will be filed in the office of the register of deeds, becoming notice of the pendancy of an action by the city against each parcel of real estate described for the condemnation. When this has been done, the city attorney shall make application to the district court for the appointment of three disinterested appraisers to fix damages and benefits.

The notice of the application shall be served upon the property owners affected at least twenty days before the date of such application. The commissioners are directed to file their findings in writing with the clerk of the district court, notice thereof to be given by publication in the official paper of the city. Appeal from the awards may be taken by the property owners within thirty days after the publication of the notice of the filing with the clerk of the district court. The appeals will be tried as other causes originally commenced in the district court. The city has one year from the date of the final determination of the awards in which to pay them, with interest at the rate of 5 per cent. The council may by a three-fourths vote abandon the proceedings within twenty days of the filing of the report of the appraisers of the district court. The compensation of the commissioners will be fixed by the court.

Several miles of the proposed new driveway will be within the most attractive residence section of the city, as it will embrace practically all of London road. The boulevarding of London road has been proposed at various times in past years, but under the present arrangement it will be improved in a manner undreamed of by those who have had the project under consideration. For its entire length, from the heart of Duluth to the center of Two Harbors, the parkway will be wide enough to accommodate as much traffic as the average city street, and will be of the most substantial construction, with all improvements which will tend to make it the most beautiful and attractive. The foundation will be of the best, the drainage facilities will be given the most careful attention and the surface will be smooth and hard and kept in the acme of condition. Much of the way is naturally wooded and full advantage of this will be taken. As the work progresses other trees will be planted until the entire length is adorned with shade trees. Many other lesser improvements will be added from time to time, until the driveway will lack no feature which will tend to add to its beauty and attractiveness.

DIABETIC LEG AMPUTATED

Physicians know that operations on diabetics are nearly always fatal, operations commonly making new centers for gangrene, which often shows in this disease. Therefore, the following successful operation on a diabetic will interest physicians and diabetics generally.

Patient, a San Francisco business man, was taken to the St. Winifred Hospital suffering with a gangrened leg. It was an old case of diabetes and the gangrene had extended so far that the severance was between the knee and thigh.

The physician did not attempt the operation till he had eliminated the sugar with Fulton's Diabetic Compound. The consulting physicians felt it would be fatal, but the operating physician knew what he could do in such cases after he had eliminated the sugar, and proceeded with the operation.

The operation was based on the ability of Fulton's Diabetic Compound to eliminate the sugar in diabetes. If you have diabetes and are of middle age or over you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Diabetic Compound before giving up. It can be had at druggists supplied by Leithhead Drug company.

SPRING SEEDING NOW WELL ALONG

Crookston, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seeding has progressed most satisfactorily in the Red River valley counties this week.

Senator S. D. Works of Mankato has arrived to direct operations on his 2,000-acre farm at Beltrami and in an interview said: "I am surprised at the amount of seeding done in this section. It has been a backward spring everywhere, but apparently an average amount of seeding has been done. We have more grain sown on the Beltrami farm than at this time last year. The weather is cool but the drying winds have put the ground in fine shape on the surface and there is an abundance of moisture underneath. The prospects at this time certainly look good."

Big Tractors in Fields.

The drying weather the past few days has made it possible for the big tractor plows to get into the fields, and this will vastly increase the acreage of coarse grains to be sown. There is a larger unplowed acreage than last spring, and this will reduce the wheat acreage, but if the weather remains fine, permitting the gasoline tractors to plow steadily, the flax, barley, oats and corn acreage will be largely increased over last year.

Every good day now means the finishing of wheat seeding by many farmers, though farmers behind time will continue to seed wheat up to May 15 and 18. Quite a number of farmers have already seeded their oats. All of the first sown wheat and oats are now up and looking very vigorous.

ANTI-FRAT BILL DEAD.

Wisconsin Assembly Refuses to Receive Resolution Abolishing Societies.

Madison, Wis., May 2.—The anti-fraternity fight practically was ended in the legislature yesterday by the assembly's refusal with nineteen dissenting votes, to receive Anderson's resolution directing the regents to eliminate the societies by Sept. 1, 1914.

The Sawyer resolution for a faculty investigation will come up next week.

Bills passed by the assembly included: Extending non-partisan law to county officers. Empowering fire and police commissions in second and third class cities to fix salaries of firemen and policemen. Establishing fire and police commissions in fourth class cities.

The assembly passed the Gannon bill permitting referendum on the question of abolishing the use of voting machines.

RESINOL RELIEVED ITCHING AT ONCE

And Cured Skin Humor in a Month.

Brooklyn, Nov. 1, 1912.—"At first little red spots were seen on my arms and body, which I noticed were getting larger every day. They itched me so much that I scratched myself until I bled. There were times when I stood up all night and scratched. I was troubled about three weeks, during in which time I used ——, which seemed to do me no good whatever. Then, finally, I thought of trying Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. As soon as I applied Resinol Ointment I felt much relief. After using it a few times, I noticed the sore spots slowly fading away, and in about a month I was cured completely." (Signed) Adolph Schoen, 742 Shipherd Avenue.

The soothing, healing balsams in Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, penetrate every tiny pore of the skin, clearing it of all impurities, driving away eczema, rashes, ringworm, psoriasis, and other eruptions, and making pimples and blackheads impossible. Prescribed by physicians for eighteen years. For free samples write to Dept. 16-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Practically every druggist sells Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap.

FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. SATURDAY
For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Showers tonight or Saturday; not much change in temperature; moderate to brisk northeasterly winds.
Precipitation Underscored
EXPLANATORY NOTES.

RAIN

The weather man let the May 1 movers get away clear and then he sent the showers. The thunderstorm last night awoke the sleeping city and today is gray and damp. Showers are predicted for tonight or Saturday.

There was a raw spring fog a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:52 and it will set at 7:18 this evening, giving fourteen hours and twenty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Much cooler weather prevails in the Michigan Copper country. Light in heavy frosts occurred last night in Western Montana, Idaho, Southwestern Oregon and Northern Utah. During the last twenty-four hours light rain fell over Western Ontario, Eastern and Southern Minnesota, South Dakota, Western Iowa, Southern Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Northwestern Oregon and Southern Florida. Conditions favor further showers at the Head of the Lakes today and tonight or Saturday."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 2.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m., Saturday:

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; cooler in northeast portion tonight.

Upper Michigan—Showers tonight or Saturday; cooler in extreme east portion tonight.

Minnesota—Unsettled weather with probably showers tonight or Saturday.

North Dakota—Mostly cloudy with probably showers tonight or Saturday; warmer in east portion tonight.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; frost probably tonight.

Upper Lakes—Moderate easterly winds on Superior and moderate southerly winds on Michigan and Huron. Showers on Huron and fair weather on Michigan and Huron tonight and Saturday.

Do You Envy Others Their Health?

Thin, impure blood is a standing invitation to sickness. It is is an open door that the grip, malaria, neuralgia, sciatica, rheumatism and nervous troubles find easy to enter and prostrate the defenceless body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will build up and purify the blood until it becomes a health-bearing stream. No part of the body can escape their beneficial influence. Their effect is general and soon the appetite picks up, the digestion becomes good, the eyes brighten, the liver becomes active and the skin takes on a healthful tint.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50 or will be sent, postpaid, upon receipt of price by the

RUMMAGE SALE WELL PATRONIZED

Full advantage was taken of the rummage sale which opened this morning at 312 West First street for two days under the direction of the board of directors of the Children's Home, and crowds filled the shop selecting garments, books, hats or furniture to suit their fancy from the large assortment gathered together. Everything donated for the sale was fumigated last night so there could be no objection on the ground that such sales are insanitary. Many brand new or nearly new things were given which were eagerly purchased at small cost to the buyers.

Many more donations have been received which will be fumigated this evening and will be put on sale when the store opens tomorrow morning.

SAYS NEW HAVEN MAY GET LINE TO DULUTH

President Mellen Declares Project Has Not Been Given Up.

Boston, Mass., May 2.—Questioned regarding stock of the Rutland railroad, held by the New England Navigation company, President C. S. Mellen said today that the New Haven tried to acquire the Rutland to obtain a through line to Chicago, Duluth and other points on the Great Lakes in order that the New Haven might control the rate situation from New England to lake ports, and not be dependent on the rates charged by connecting lines. The acquisition had been halted by litigation, but he believed the New Haven soon would be permitted to complete the purchase.

Mr. Mellen was testifying before the interstate commerce commission, regarding the New Haven road's finances.

In addition to getting a through line from New England points to the Great Lakes, he said, the New Haven would then be able to operate trains all the way from New York to Montreal over its own tracks.

Minot, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next Wednesday and Thursday the annual meeting of the North Dakota Medical society will be held here.

President N. Davis of the Minot city commission Wednesday morning will welcome the gathering; and Dr. John Montgomery of Ardoch will respond. A. J. McCannell of Minot, president of the state commission, will then deliver his annual address.

FIRES NEAR SPOONER.

Canadian Northern Starts Fire Which Is Soon Checked.

Spooner, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of fires were reported running over the burned-over lands. A fire that burned over considerable territory near Graceton was set, it is said, from a Canadian Northern engine Tuesday afternoon. The company's patrolman, Clayton Harvey, reported it at once and secured help and the fire was soon checked. The dry weather this spring has left the rank grass weeds in fine shape for a conflagration and great care should be used in starting any fires at this time unless it is certain that the fire has no chance of getting beyond control. The air has been smoky all week.

RAPID RIVER DITCH WORK IS COMMENCED.

Spooner, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—S. V. Topping, who has the contract for the construction of judicial ditch No. 13, which lies on the range line between towns 160-30 and 160-31, began work this week and he intends to carry on the work as fast as possible until the ditch is completed. When this ditch and roadway is completed the Rapid River settlers will have a direct road from their claims to town.

About three miles of ditch was dug last fall before the ground froze.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

COBB IS GENTLY SLAPPED ON WRIST

Georgia Peach Must Pay $50 as Penalty for Holding Out.

Chicago, May 2.—Ty Cobb was formally and permanently reinstated in organized baseball and fined $50 by the national commission here yesterday.

Ae decision by the commission, given out in answer to the Detroit Star's appeal for reinstatement, was practically a declaration of principles, for in the decision Cobb was criticised severely for his actions during the period he was "holding out," the Detroit club was commended for its recent stand and censured for its former passive policy regarding him and notice was served on other clubs that in case of failure to discipline players whose actions are "detrimental to the game" the commission will act itself.

The commission reserved news of any other action it may have taken and if the proposed congressional investigation into the alleged baseball trust were discussed at all, as reported, it was ignored so far as a formal report is concerned.

The report on the Cobb case follows:

"Player Tyrus Cobb, who avers that he was not aware that his status was affected by his failure to report at the start of its 1913 pennant race to the Detroit team, of which he has been a member for several seasons, on April 25, notified the commission that he had entered the service of that club with the request that he be declared to be in good standing. It appears that the player's failure to report to the Detroit club was due to inability to agree on terms with that club. Subsequent to the beginning of the American league season, however, after a brief conference with the president of his club, these differences were amicably adjusted. If the only question involved were the compensation of the player, the commission would have been inclined to pass the matter. The commission, however, cannot permit the conduct of this player in the past to go unnoticed.

Actions Harmful to Game.

"Recognized as one of the greatest players of the game with a salary as high as any in the profession, his actions on many occasions were such as not only to break down the rules of discipline established by his club, but harmful to the game's interest. Instead of negotiating with his club on a business zasis during the early spring he issued ultimatums through the press to arouse public sentiment in his favor.

"Without going into details the commission is informed that in the past the player has been guilty of frequent violations of essential regulations of his club. His public conduct in many instances is too well known to patrons of the game to require comment thereon by the commission except to serve notice on him and all other players that a repetition thereof will not be permitted to go unpunished in the future, from a realization that the game's welfare is of more importance than the interests of an individual player, however great his ability.

"The Detroit club is to be commended for its recent stand and censured for its former passive policy in dealing with the player in matters of this kind, and notice is served on all clubs that in the event of failure on their part in the future properly to discipline the players whose actions are detrimental to the game, the commission will of its own initiative take proper action.

"The player's reinstatement will be made permanent during good behavior on payment of a fine of $50 to the secretary of the commission within thirty days after this finding."

To Dairymen, Grocers and Other Milk Vendors:

Your license to handle milk has expired. It will be renewed by the health department to those of you who have complied with the ordinance governing the sale and production of milk. Those of you who have not complied and are not complying with said ordinance will be restrained from the selling of milk until such time as you comply with the same.

TO WELCOME TEAM.

Holiday at Grand Forks Next Monday for First Game.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Forks will be materially strengthened during its series in Minneapolis, commencing today, by the addition of "Bunny" Kuehn, outfielder. Kuehn was signed up several months ago, but failed to report on account of business. He played part of last season with Duluth, and probably will hold down the right field position with Grand Forks.

Henry of the Grand Forks pitching staff, has left the squad on account of personal business at home, and Brogan has been released. After the first series at home next week Lohr and Foster expect to cut down their pitching staff to four men, two of the present flingers having to leave.

Mayor M. F. Murphy of Grand Forks has declared next Monday a civic holiday, and the city will take the afternoon off to welcome the team home. There will be the usual opening day festivities.

Finish Training.

Denver, Colo., May 2.—Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, Wis., and Jimmy Clabby of Hammond, Ind., are resting today, having finished their training for their ten-round bout at the Denver Athletic club arena tonight. The fight has been advertised as deciding the middleweight championship.

OTHER BODY FOUND.

Corpse of Amil Annis, Drowned Last Fall, Taken From Rainy River.

Spooner, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Amil Annis, who was drowned in the Rainy river last fall with Michael Carry, whose body was recovered last week, was found day before yesterday at the sorting boom a few miles up the river. The pair lost their lives when they left Sleeman for Clementson last fall in a rowboat and their craft capsized.

Iron River Boy Shot.

Iron River, Wis., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Elmer Essvein, aged 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Essvein of this city, is recovering from a bullet wound he sustained a few days ago. He was crossing the Pettingill field, just south of town, when he was struck by a stray bullet, fired by an unknown. It struck him in the side but was easily removed and he is not in danger.

Unequal Property Division.

Dickinson, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—An unequal division of his estate was made by John Schonelcin, whose will has been filed for probate. To seven of his children he leaves but $5 each, and to two others he gives the remainder of his estate, valued at about $15,000.

REGULATION OF TAXICABS

Commissioner, Chief of Police and Chauffeurs Reach Agreement.

At a meeting between Commissioner Hicken, Chief Troyer and chauffeurs at police headquarters yesterday afternoon, an agreement was reached as to the rules governing machines on West Superior street during the summer months.

Six cars will be allowed on the upper side of Superior street between the east line of the Lyceum and the west line of the Boston lunch counter. None will be stationed in front of the theater entrance at any time.

Five cars will be allowed on the lower side of that block of Superior street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues west. One will be allowed east of the Manhattan building and the other four between the west side of the building and the Spalding hotel Two cars will be allowed west of Fifth avenue, one on each side of Superior street near the corner. West of the Soo depot, on the lower side of the street, no restrictions will be placed. No machines may stand on Fourth, Fifth or Sixth avenues. The chauffeurs must at all times have a space of eight to ten feet between their machines. No one firm or individual will be allowed to occupy more than one stand. This will prevent any concern having a monopoly on the stands. As soon as one rig pulls out, another may take its place.

SIGNS OF UNCOMMONLY BIG HOGS.

Denver Republican: A group of traveling men were swapping flood experiences the other night in the lobby of a local hotel, and after discussing the serious aspects of the flood the conversation turned into a more frivolous channel.

"A friend of mine who owns a large plantation in the Mississippi lowlands," remarked one of the group, "tried some time ago to sell his place to a Northerner who was intending to settle in that neighborhood. My friend showed him around, exploited all the good points of the establishment and emphasized the fact that the land was unusually fertile and well supplied with numerous outbuildings in addition to the comfortable home of the owner.

"The Northerner, however, noticed that on all the fences and outbuildings and even around the bottom of the home was a dirty, yellowish mark, and he demanded the cause of this. My friend explained that the greater part of his livestock consisted of hogs and that the discolorations were due to the 'porkers' rubbing up against the fences and buildings.

"The prospective purchaser seemed satisfied at this, but kept his eyes open for more 'hog signs.' As they drew closer to the river on their tour of the plantation the discolorations appeared higher and higher above the ground, some of the trees being marked a good ten feet above their base. The Northerner halted abruptly.

"'I don't believe your plantation is just quite what I am looking for,' he stated, 'but there's one thing I would like to get an option on and that is your entire drove of hogs.'"

DIPPEL RESIGNS FROM CHICAGO OPERA COMPANY.

ANDREAS DIPPEL.

Andreas Dippel, who organized the Chicago Opera company, has resigned. No reason is given but it is likely the dissatisfaction between the directors of the company and the general manager was due in some part to the severe criticisms of its productions which have been published this season and especially in New York.

CONVERTED BY A BREATH

State President of Suffragists Tells Why She Wants Vote.

Smell of Whisky on City Official's Breath Aroused Her.

Mrs. P. L. De Voist, state president of the Equal Suffrage association, spoke on woman's suffrage at the meeting of the West Duluth Women's Christian Temperance union, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. Bevier, 3909 Oneota street. Talks on this subject were also given by Mrs. R. P. Boyington and Mrs. Joseph Cochran.

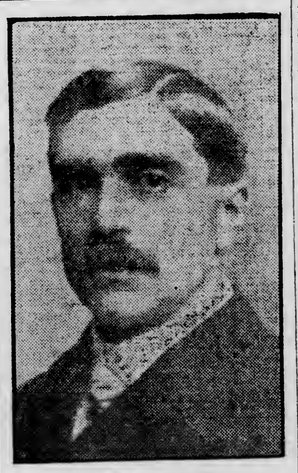
"I am a believer in woman's suffrage by accident," said Mrs. De Voist. "As a member of a committee for the Twentieth Century club I once had occasion to interview a city official with the request to suppress a dance hall license. On calling on him he appeared before us reeking with the odors of liquor. We presented our request, praying in the interest of our children to suppress the nuisance in the vicinity of our home. He curtly told us that similar dance halls were located in other sections of the city, and as much as intimated that it was not the business of women to bother with such matters In other words, that we should not complain if our children were led on the downward path by reasons of these places. I then readily saw why it was necessary for women to have the ballot. The mothers' point of view is necessary in the deliberations of our lawmakers, whether it be in the city councils or the state legislature."

Mrs. Boyington said that she did not believe the office or factory was the place for women or girls. "They should be in the home, taught how to become good housewives and mothers, but they should be given the ballot in order that they might properly use their influence in protecting the home."

At the business session plans were made for handling the banquet of the Western Curling club next Tuesday evening. The program also included songs rendered by Mrs. David Adams, accompanied by Mrs. George King. The society also held a home cooking sale.

The next meeting will be held on May 15 at the home of Mrs. I. P. Swangle, 10 South Fifty-eighth avenue west. The hostesses will be Mrs. Swangle, Mrs. T. F. Olsen and Mrs. J. S. Rollins. Mrs. B. H. Smith will be leader, presenting the subject of "Patriotism."

CURLERS PLANNING THEIR BANQUET



J. ALLYN SCOTT.

J. Allyn Scott will be toastmaster at the annual banquet given by the Western Curling club Tuesday evening at the Dormedy hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street. Officers of the club announced last night that Mr. Scott had been selected for this place.

The banquet will commence at 7:30 o'clock. The supper will be served by the members of the W. C. T. U. Immediately following the supper a program of addresses and music will be given, in which the winners and donors of trophies will speak.

Among those on the program for short addresses are: Frank H. Wade, president of the club and winner of the Esterly cup; E. E. Esterly, donor of the cup; Dr. C. R. Keyes, winner of the club championship; E. J. Zauft, winner of the Commercial club cup and the Grand Avenue pharmacy cigars; Ed Holland, winner of the Union Match and Bagley cups; and Charles Ilitis, winner of the Henricksen cup.

Short addresses will also be given by the officers of the club. These are A. H. Donald, vice president; E. G. Kreidler, secretary and W. B. Getchell, treasurer. Following the program the members and guests will spend the evening dancing in the larger hall.

ELY SCHOOL TEAM HAS CLEAN RECORD

The Ely school baseball team is already laying claim to the championship of the school league for the city. The team has played five games and won each of them by decisive scores.

The fifth game was won yesterday from the Irving school aggregation by a score of 17 to 3. The Ely battery had their opponents at their mercy, all the time and were at no time in danger.

Following are the games and scores played to date by the teams: Ely 25, Fairmont 6; Ely 8, Longfellow 6; Ely 11, Adams 6; Ely 13, Bryant 11; and Ely 17, Irving 3.

Russell Method is the team's manager and plays in the pitcher's box or second base and Bernard La Crosse is captain, and holds down the first sack. The other players and the positions are: Dewey Scanlon, catcher; Arthur Anderson, pitcher and second base; Arthur Nyman, second and short; Harry Nyman, third and center field; Ralph Nichols, third and short; Carl Johnson, right field; Romeo Duetch, left field; Alec Westerlund, George Gibbons, Emil Anderson and Henry Lindskog substitute positions.

The team will begin playing the second games with each of the above teams on Saturday. The game tomorrow will be against the Fairmont team.

RUSHING WORK ON TRANSFER ROAD

Several of the Bridges Are Already Well Under Way.

Construction work of the Spirit Lake Transfer railway between Adolph and the steel plant is being rapidly pushed. W. D. Mathews and C. R. Oberland, superintendents for W. M. Mather company, which has the bridge work contract, have a crew of seventy-five men at work in the vicinity of Short Line park.

Some of the bridges are already well started. One of the bridges near the park will be ready for the steel within another week. Mr. Mathews said yesterday that the company expected to have the greater part of the bridge work completed within two months.

WILL ENTERTAIN COMMISSIONERS

New City Officers Will Hear West Duluth's Needs.

Mayor Prince and members of the city commission will be the principal attraction at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening. The club members will present to the commissioners a number of proposed improvements for this end of the city, and will ask their support to further these interests.

Among the improvements which will be asked are street improvements and the construction of a public building for firehall, police station and municipal court room. The club members will ask for the improvement of Grand avenue between West Duluth and the city proper, and also to the Western suburb, as well as assistance in completing the Getchell road to the city limits.

OFFAL THROWN IN THE STREET

Residents of Fifty-third avenue are complaining of the neglect of the health department in the matter of ordering the cleaning up of blood, hair and pus left by a veterinary surgeon on the corner of Fifty-third avenue and Bristol street. It is alleged that nearly a pail full of the stuff was dropped on the street, that dogs were last evening scattering it around and that school children have walked through it.

"The stuff was left there yesterday morning by a veterinary when dressing the leg of a horse," said R. T. Smallidge, 221 North Fifty-third avenue this morning. I called up the health department twice yesterday but apparently no attention has been paid to it. Children going to and from school tracked it around yesterday afternoon and this morning and last night dogs were scattering it about the street. If something is not done by the department at once the stuff will begin emitting a foul odor."

CHILDREN SAVE $1,500 IN ONE YEAR

Savings deposits made by children of the Ely school will amount to over $1,500 this year. For the eight months ending April 30 the deposits amounted to $1,469.74.

The deposits by months were as follows: September, $204.80; October, $285.98; November, $157.52; December, $122.46; January, $208.56; February, $184.10; March, $162.27; and April, $144.05.

LAST OF SERIES OF MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

The last of a series of mothers' meetings to be held this year at the Ely school will be held next Friday afternoon. A program of addresses, as well as music and recitations by the children is planned.

J. R. Batchelor, physical director at the Y. M. C. A. will speak on "Playgrounds and Organized Games," and S. L. Potts, manual training instructor at the Duluth Industrial high school will speak on "The Value of Manual Training."

The Ely school teachers who will act as hostesses will be Miss Julia Stobbs, Miss Jane G. Doran, Miss Minnie Fedi, Miss Elizabeth Horman and Miss Johanna Strate. The meeting will be held in the kindergarten rooms.

WILL GIVE SERIES OF BIBLE LECTURES.

Rev. F. E. Linder of Chicago has arranged to give a series of Bible lectures at Ohley's hall during the next two weeks. The first lecture will be Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The other lectures will be given on Wednesday and Friday evenings and on Sunday, May 11, at 3 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Linder will speak in Swedish. There will be no admission charged nor will there be any collection taken up.

Ishkanian Will Speak.

Dr. A. T. Ishkanian, who is in the city in the interest of amalgamating the temperance societies will speak Sunday morning at the Plymouth Congregtaional church, Fifty-fourth avenue west and Bristol street. In the evening Dr. Ishkanian will speak at the Fond du Lac church.

Club Will Meet.

The Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club will hold a meeting this evening at the Merritt school, Fortieth avenue west and Sixth street. Only routine business will be taken up.

Annual Meeting.

The congregation of the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues, held its annual meeting in the parlors of the church last. Following a supper served by the women a business session was held, at which reports of the various societies were read and officers elected.

The reports showed that the societies had enjoyed a successful year and made substantial growth in membership and finances. The officers elected were as follows: Trustee, Forest Kent; deacon, C. E. Hamilton; deaconesses, Mrs. George Little, Mrs. C. E. Dahlquist and Miss Bertha Buell; clerk, Miss Mary Barnes; treasurer, A. C. Ritchie; Sunday school superintendent, Forest Kent; and musical director, Miss Mary Barnes.

MRS. PANKHURST IS PUT INTO HOSPITAL

Militant Suffragettes Declare "It Is to Be Real War" Now.

London, May 2.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, was today, with the consent of the authorities, removed from the house in which she had been staying in London to a sanitarium at Woking, where she will remain under the supervision of the police. She traveled in a motor ambulance which was followed by a taxicab conveying several Scotland Yard detectives, who were on duty to prevent Mrs. Pankhurst attempting to flee the country.

Bow street court was crowded this morning when a band of militant suffragettes, who were arrested in the police raid on the headquarters of the Woman's Social and Political union on Wednesday, were brought up before the magistrate on a charge of conspiracy under the malicious damage act. The prisoners included "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond, Miss Harriett Roberta Kerr, Miss Agnes Lake, Miss Rachel Barrett, Miss Laura Lennox, Mrs. Beatrice Saunders and Miss Annie Kenney. With them were also Clayton, the analytical chemist, taken into custody last night at Richmond, and Sydney Drew, the printer of yesterday's issue of the "Suffragette," who was arrested this morning.

Plots Are Revealed.

Some interesting documents seized by the police were read by the prosecuting counsel. They were intended to show Clayton's connection with the militant movement. One of them was addressed to Miss Annie Kenney and regretted the delay in supplying some chemical preparation she had asked for.

"The exact proportions are very difficult to get," it said, adding, "Please burn this."

Several other suggested plots were made known.

"Real War."

"From now on it will be war, and real war."

This was the deliverance of the presiding officer, Miss MacAuley at the militant suffragettes' weekly meeting in Essex hall. The women cheered the announcement lustily.

That the belligerent suffragettes are not daunted by the capture of their stronghold and the arrest of their leaders, was evidenced by the attendance which far exceeded the capacity of the hall. Hundreds of women who were unable to squeeze in remained outside the gates throughout the meeting.

In attempting to suppress the militants' union, Miss MacAuley declared the government had tackled a bigger job than it was able to carry through. No amount of coercion, imprisonment of its members, or torture by forcible feeding would make them abandon the fight until victory had been won, she said.

The debate on the second reading of the woman suffrage bill will begin in the house of commons Monday. Both sides are actively canvassing. The fate of the bill is doubtful. The general opinion prevails, however, that it will be defeated by a small majority.

BISHOP MORRISON AT INTERNATIONAL FALLS.

International Falls, Minn., May 2.—Rt. Rev. Bishop Morrison of Duluth, bishop of this diocese of the Episcopal church, arrived Wednesday from the northwestern part of the state and held services. A class of communicants was admitted to membership Wednesday.

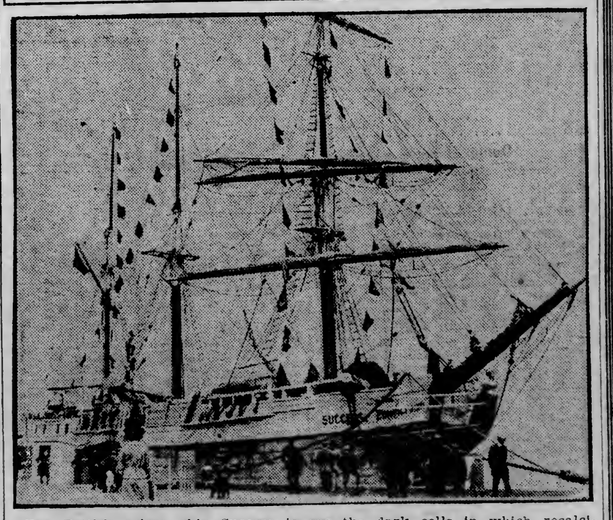
BRITISH CONVICT SHIP, SUCCESS



The British prison ship Success is said to be the oldest ship in the world. It is now 123 years old. It is the last survivor of England's fleet of transports used in carrying convicts to overseas penal colonies and as floating prisons in the harbors of Australia. The Success was launched in 1790 at Moulmain, British Burmah. She was built by coolie labor but the fact that she is seaworthy today is testimony to the excellence of the craftsmanship. She is built of teak, has a tonnage of 589 and is 138 feet long. She was not intended for a convict ship but sailed for ten or twelve years in the spice, ivory and tea trade. In 1802 she became a prison ship, and she is now a floating museum. On board visitors see the dark cells in which recalcitrant convicts were confined, the whips with which they were flogged, the irons with which their limbs were weighted. Then there is a pleasant-looking iron contrivance, something like a primitive stove in appearance and weighing 92 pounds. This a balky convict would be compelled to wear and carry about with him. The "wooden maiden" was a figure lined with spikes like the "iron maiden" of Nuremburg, in which a convict was enclosed. Other forms of torture are illustrated in the devices on board the ancient convict ship. It is moored at a wharf in North River, New York, having come from Boston, where it was on exhibition recently.

MARKET WEAK AND LISTLESS

Closes in Both Wheat and Flax Are Below Thursday's.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 2.—At the end of a session of extraordinary quiet the Duluth grain market closed, generally speaking, below the close of yesterday but with a slight recovery over the opening prices this morning. May wheat is ¼c under yesterday's close but ⅛c over the opening; July wheat is ⅜c under yesterday's close but ⅛c under the opening. In durum the close was the same as yesterday. Flax was soggy all during the session and May closed 1¼c under yesterday's close while July lost 1½c.

Oats closed ⅛c off; rye and barley remained unchanged, and cash wheat closed 1⅜c over May option.

Duluth traders today are having a very quiet time of it. The market is the quietest that it has been for a long time. There is scarcely anything doing in any of the grain options and traders are awaiting developments. The trades are so few that the tally clerks have no difficulty in keeping track of them and everybody is loafing.

The market started out at a falling off all along the line because of weak cables, Liverpool opened ⅜d to ⅝d under yesterday's close and a further drop ensuing quickly. It is said that the weak opening in Liverpool was induced by favorable crop news from America and reports from Argentina that showed much better prospects than have been expected. Strong selling in Chicago also contributed to the weakness.

May wheat opened ⅜c off, being quoted at 89⅛@89⅜c and soon dropped further, going as low comparatively early in the session as 88¾c, but recovering somewhat. July opened ⅛c off, at 91⅝c and going down to 91¼c to 91⅜c. September opened at yesterday's close, 92⅜c and held pretty well around there. There was but little activity in any of these options.

May durum opened ¼c off, 94¼c, slipped down ⅛c and then got back to the half. July durum opened ½c down, 95⅛c, but recovered.

Flax Goes Down.

May flax closed yesterday at $1.32¾, opening the same today, and sagged as low as $1.31, the drop continuing gradually through the early hours of the session. July flax closed and opened at $1.34½ and slid down to a loss of ¼c.

It is claimed in the case of flax that with the bulge that it has been having during the last two days, buyers have all they need, and some of them were willing to part with some of their holdings. Consequently the market sagged, and there is hardly a flicker of activity in any of the options today.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,439. Fairly active demand at unchanged prices.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Weakened By Both Foreign and Domestic Conditions.

Chicago, May 2.—Foreign and domestic conditions today combined to weaken wheat. Liverpool cables were sharply lower on the improved European political outlook, and in this country crop reports were optimistic. At the start the market was ¼c to ⅝c lower. July opened at that range, first figures being 91c to 91⅜c and eased off to 90⅞c. A rally to 91c followed.

Prices temporarily receded on hindrance to export business on refusal of English buyers to accept new American demand for sight draft payments. The close, however, showed a little rally with July at 91¾c, a net loss of ¼c.

Lightness of demand lowered corn. July opened ½c to ¼c off at 55¾c to 55⅞c and went down to 55⅜@55⅝c.

Fair buying of oats by large houses lifted prices a little after a weak opening. July began a shade to ⅛c off at 34⅝@34¾c to 34⅜c and touched 34⅜@34⅞c.

Provisions were irregular, from 2½c lower to 7½c higher. Trade was light. July first quotations were: Pork, $19.65; lard, $10.85; ribs, $11.05.

Closing cash: Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.02 @1.05; No. 3 red, 96c@$1.01; No. 2 hard, 92@93c; No. 3 hard, 90@92c; No. 1 northern, 92@93c; No. 2 northern, 91@92c; No. 3 northern, 90@91c; No. 2 spring, 91@92½c; No. 3 spring, 90@91c; No. 4 spring, 85@89c; velvet chaff, 88@92½c; durum, 94@98c.

HEAVINESS IN STOCKS

Hesitation at Opening Succeeded By Declines Under Pressure.

Most of Leaders Show Losses of About Half Point.

New York, May 2.—Foreign political news continued to dominate the market. Cables reported a distinct relaxation of tension in Europe and an improvement in the foreign securities market. Urgent selling having ceased and liquidation having been completed in the volatile stocks, bull traders found little opposition in marking up prices.

The market lacked the snap and vitality of the previous day and the list showed some sensitiveness in spots. While the main movement was upwards, the hesitation apparent at intervals prevented a uniform upturn.

Weakness in New Haven which broke nearly to yesterday's lowest after an early show of strength, caused a resumption of pressure elsewhere, and noon prices average below yesterday's close.

Bonds were irregular.

Some of the active stocks eased off at the opening today, following yesterday's sharp advance, but most of the list held fairly well. Lehigh Valley and Canadian Pacific, which lost a point each, were the heaviest. Steel and St. Paul were fractionally lower. The copper shares and Illinois Central made further gains.

After absorbing a considerable quantity of profit-taking sales created by yesterday's bulge in prices, the market began to mend slowly, and by 11 o'clock most stocks were quoted fractionally above yesterday's close. Southern Pacific, Can and Rubber were especially strong.

Small offerings depressed the market further after mid-day. Weakness of semi-investment shares had a depressing effect on the speculative issues.

Conflicting reports from abroad regarding the political outlook put a stop to active trading and the volume of business dwindled to nominal proportions. Selling was not persevered with after the active features had been forced under yesterday's final figures, but neither did the list show any indication to go up when pressure was relieved. The market closed heavy. Traders sold rather more freely on the display of weakness in Pullman and Virginia Chemical, which declined 2½ and 3 points respectively. Most of the leaders showed losses of ½ point or so when the session ended.

Cotton Market.

New York, May 2.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 4 points. Cables were better than due, but there was considerable Liverpool selling here, somewhat more favorable European political news and a private report placing the increased acreage at 4.7 per cent. On the other hand there was continued covering as well as further support from reactionists, and after selling about 2 to 5 points net lower the market rallied to about the closing figures of last night.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 11.85; middling gulf, 12.10. Sales, 2305 bales.

MARINE NEWS

MANY DELAYS ON THE LAKES

Ice Interferes With Progress and Docks Are Congested.

Flood Damage Holds Down the Movement of Coal.

In addition to delays at the ore docks in Lake Superior and the grain elevators in Buffalo, the boats are having considerable trouble with the ice. Unless a southwest wind comes along they will be hampered by the ice for many days to come.

Boats arriving at Duluth report large fields of ice in Lake Superior, even as far down as Two Harbors. The boats are all following the north shore where the ice appears to be less solid.

Ships damaged by the ice are more numerous than the first reports indicated and although the amounts are small in the individual cases, the total will aggregate a large sum. How much the repair bills will be cannot be estimated.

With the exception of vessels crossing Lake Superior the boats are having very little trouble in making the regular summer time. There are several large fields of ice which are reported unbroken. The ice looks soft on top and appears to be very thin, but heavy windrowed ice of considerable thickness is underneath.

But these delays on the water are not very much greater than those at the ore docks and elevators at the present time. The ships are losing some time loading at the ore docks in Lake Superior, while the grain boats are delayed in Buffalo. Owing to the recent floods coal is also coming very slowly, but faster than last week.

Marine men along the lakes expect these delays to end before the week is out, and that the movement will be normal by the first or the middle of next week. All the boats on the lakes are now in service, it is understood.

POLLOCK RAMMED BY THE HUBBARD

Will Have to Be Docked for Repairs Before Loading.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—While lying at anchor during the night several miles above the Soo, on account of the ice, the steamer Pollock was rammed headon by the downbound steamer Charles Hubbard early this morning. The Pollock, which was light upbound, sustained considerable damage forward. Her stem was badly twisted and she will have to be docked before she can be loaded. All damage was above the water line. The boat is lying above the Soo waiting for orders. The Hubbard sustained some damage to a few plates forward, but nothing serious.

GRAIN RATES MAY BE INCREASED

Boat Owners Say They Are Losing Money on Account of Delays.

Although there is a congestion of boats at Buffalo and a slight delay here owing to slow deliveries, in addition to the many delays on the lakes owing to the ice, the rate for grain still remains at 2¼ cents.

Boat owners are not all guaranteed dispatch upon arrival at Buffalo. Local shippers who are interested in Eastern elevators or own elevators themselves, are paying but 2 cents a bushel to the boat owners. They promise dispatch at Buffalo and these boats have not been delayed at all.

It is understood that the boat owners are asking for guarantees and that as a result the present rate may go up to 2½ cents until the congestion and delays are over. The owners say that 2¼ cents, under present conditions, is too cheap and that there is a loss to the owners on every trip. Where the boats regularly make three trips, they are now making two, they say.

Just what turn this rate may take within the next day or two, is not known, but that a change is coming, is expected by many.

ALONG THE LAKES

Coal receipts at Milwaukee last week broke all first-week records, totaling more than 300,000 tons.

Notices have been sent out by the Anchor line announcing that the passenger season will open June 3, with the starting out of the Octorara from Buffalo for Duluth. The Tionesta will leave on June 7, and the Juniata on the 10th. The Octorara will leave Duluth on June 9 for her first return trip down the lakes.

Masters of vessels navigating the upper Cuyahoga river are warned to keep as far as possible to the west side of the channel to avoid submerged piles and sheet piling that will serve as the foundation for the new concrete dock of the American Steel & Wire company, just below the Erie railroad bridge.

* * *

M. Sullivan's drill boat, Exploder, which has been lying at Amherstburg, Ont., has been fitted out and has started work on Ballards reef, lower Detroit river.

* * *

The steamer Wilpen arrived at Ashtabula Wednesday with the first cargo of ore to go to the Eastern port this season.

* * *

The steamer Kearsarge, which was damaged by ice at Straits of Mackinac, will return to Chicago to make permanent repairs. She is at Depot Harbor light.

* * *

The steamer L. W. Robinson was damaged going through the St. Lawrence river Wednesday.

* * *

The cargo of the William A. Rogers, which arrived at Erie Wednesday, consisted of 423,296 bushels of grain, the first grain cargo of the season.

* * *

North Tonawanda, May 2.—The steamer Alaska, owned by the O'Connor Transportation company of Tonawanda, has been sold to a marine firm of Windsor, Ont. The Alaska has been chartered for a trip to Duluth to bring a cargo of lumber to the local port and after discharging cargo here this month she will be transferred to her new owners. The vessel cleared Wednesday morning for Duluth.

Day and night shifts are reported working at the Buffalo grain elevators.

* * *

Buffalo, N. Y., May 2.—Fighting her way through the twelve miles of ice that lies outside the local harbor up as far as Point Albino, the City of Erie, C. & B. sidewheeler, plowed into this port at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning carrying about 100 passengers and a cargo of package freight. This is the first arrival of a passenger vessel for this season.

* * *

Bells operated as fog signals, which form part of the equipment of the Canadian light vessels stationed at Limeklin crossing, Detroit river, have again been placed in service, after having been shut off for a few days because residents of Amherstburg objected to their continuous tolling.

* * *

A trip was made over the new barge canal Wednesday by State Engineer John A. Bensel. The trip was made from Rochester to Buffalo and included Bushnell's basin, Adams basin, Brockport, Albion, Medina and Lockport. The trip was concluded at 9 o'clock the same evening. Engineer Bensel said that the work on the canal would be completed by the opening date of the canal next month. The work cost approximately $3,000,000 and was likened in some respects to the Panama canal.

BOATS MUST USE THE LIVINGSTONE CHANNEL

The following notice has been posted in local marine offices:

"Government authorities have decided that all downbound boats that do not use Livingstone channel, except for good and sufficient reasons, accidents, etc., will be reported and licenses revoked."

The above action is taken, it is understood, because of the immense fields of ice in the channel and the danger to the larger vessels should any blockades occur.

LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER DIES OF HEART FAILURE

Escanaba, Mich., May 2. — Capt. Peter J. Peterson, lighthouse keeper at this port, dropped dead Wednesday night from heart failure. He was born in Christiania, Norway, in 1852, and had an eventful career. On his maiden trip as a mate sailing from Arendal, Norway, in 1880, he rescued eight men from a sinking ship and was awarded a gold medal by Queen Victoria, on which was inscribed: "From the British government for gallantry and humanity."

Grounds in Channel.

Detroit, Mich., May 2.—The Livingston channel at the mouth of the Detroit river was completely blocked late yesterday by the grounding of the steel barge Sagamore and all shipping must use the old Canadian channel until the barge is released.

The Sagamore which was being towed down by the stamer Victory veered sharply soon after entering the channel, ran hard and fast on the east shore and swung with the current until her stern rested on the west bank. It was not known last night how badly the barge was damaged.

Recommended Drafts.

Posted in the local transportation offices are the following depths of the draws through the various locks and cannals on the lakes: Canadian lock, 19 feet, 1 inch; Poe lock, 18 feet, 10 inches; Welland canal, 14 feet; Lime Kiln crossing, 20 feet; Buffalo harbor, 19 feet, 2 inches; Conneaut, 18 feet, 6 inches; Ashtabula harbor, above bridge, 17 feet, 6 inches; below bridge, 19 feet; Fairport, ore dock, 19 feet, 6 inches; elevators, 18 feet, 6 inches.

Ice Drifting In.

Unless the wind changes within the next twenty-four hours, there is a likelihood of the harbor becoming so filled with ice that navigation will be impeded. During the night considerable ice drifted through the canal and boats are having considerable trouble getting around. The wind is coming from the east.

Lumber Boats Coming.

The first lumber boats of the season will arrive tomorrow morning to load lumber for the Eastern ports. The boats went through the Soo yesterday. They are the C. H. Bradley, M. W. Page, Delaware and Brightie. If the ice conditions are favorable, the boats will dock at once and load lumber.

Move to Detroit.

Amherstburg, Ont., May 2.—Members of the engineering force attached to the office of the United States district engineer in Detroit, who have made their headquarters in Amherstburg for many years, are moving to Detroit and improvement work on the lower Detroit river channels will hereafter be under supervision from the Detroit office.

Coal Receipts.

Since the first of the week 229,022 tons of coal have been received at the various coal docks in Superior. Of this total 133,737 tons were bituminous and the remainder anthracite. Coal is now arriving at the various docks every day.

JIM HILL RAILS AT WORK OF CONGRESS

He Would Have Lawmakers Take Vacation for Ten Years.

St. Paul, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congress should adjourn and stay adjourned for ten years in order to better conditions in the United States, according to James J. Hill, who was the principal speaker at a meeting held last night for the purpose of boosting St. Paul and the Northwest.

Mr. Hill turned from the commercial progress of the Northwest long enough to attack congressional legislation, which, he said, had prevented a more rapid influx of immigration. Laws that have been passed recently are responsible for the flood of immigration to the Argentine Republic, he asserted.

"If we could just tie a bell on each one of our illustrious statesmen who is trying to keep workmen out of this country, box them all up together and adjourn congress for ten years, I believe the country would see an unprecedented period of prosperity," Mr. Hill said. "Business men then would carry on big undertakings without fear of legislative interruption."

DISASTER WROUGHT BY CANADIAN FIRES

Report Is Made By Officers Who Visited Stricken Region.

Winnipeg, Man., May 2.—W. S. Wood, government immigration agent at Moosejaw, and Leon Roy of Winnipeg returned to Moosejaw after a trip through the country visited by prairie fires south of here, where they gave relief to hundreds of settlers in Ogema, Willow Bunch, and Viceroy districts. They found many serious cases, but could do nothing for the settlers excepting those who had not obtained patents. A conservative estimate of the loss is $1,000,000.

Gus Limburg, a homesteader, and his daughter, Mrs. Pease, were burned to death, and her son, Arthur, now is in a Weyburn, Sask., hospital in a precarious condition. There are reports of several other deaths. Mounted police are out investigating.

PREUS WILL INVOKE NEW BLUE SKY LAW

Questionable Insurance Schemes Are to Be Attacked By Him.

St. Paul, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Insurance Commissioner J. A. C. Preus is preparing to proceed against questionable insurance promotion schemes under the limited "blue sky" law passed at the recent session of the legislature, it was stated today. The law was urged upon the legislature after Mr. Preus saw there was small chance of getting a general "blue sky" law through, and it is drastic enough, he believes, to safeguard the public interests.

The law is similar to the one drafted for the national convention of insurance commissioners by its legislative committee, of which Mr. Preus is the chairman. It was adopted by the convention and similar bills have passed in many states this year.

The law gives the commissioner large powers.

POSTOFFICE HAS MADE MONEY.

Washingon, May 2.—A surplus of $186,508 of postal receipts over postal expenditures for the first half of the current fiscal year, ended Dec. 31, is shown by the quarterly report of Charles A. Kram, auditor for the postoffice department, submitted to Secretary McAdoo and Postmaster General Burleson.

The added revenues from the December quarter amounted to $70,322,827, an increase of $11,138,798 or 19 per cent over the preceding three months. Expenditures aggregated $66,027,987, an increase of $2,847,849.

$60,000 STOLEN IN SIX YEARS.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 2.—Accused of having embezzled more than $60,000 during a period covering six years, W. J. Ranney, chief clerk in the office of the auditor of the Santa Fe railway here, was arrested last night and lodged in the county jail.

The specific charge on which Ranney was arrested was the alleged theft of $670, but Acting General Maanger Sibbard was authority for the statement that the total amount of the shortage would approximate at least the larger sum.

DEFEAT OF "FREE RAW WOOL" IN CONGRESS IS PREDICTED AT CAPITAL

Schedule K. of New Tariff Bill Taken Up By the House.

Representative Payne Offers Substitute for New Provisions.

Washington, May 3.—"Schedule K," the much discussed, always disputed, wool tariff, upon which the Democrats maintain the Republicans stumbled in their fall from power last fall and over which their own party is divided, brought the tariff fight in the house today to a climax.

It was apparent early in the day that free raw wool, as projected in the administration bill, was in for a three-cornered fight, the Republicans demanding a duty of about 18 per cent, supported by some of the Progressives, and the wool insurgents of the majority demanding a 15 per cent duty, which they claimed was the original judgment of the ways and means committee until President Wilson took a hand.

Heavy Orntorical Artillery.

Though approved by the Democratic caucus after a two-day fight and almost certain to come through the house struggle unscathed, the wool schedule brought out the heaviest oratorical artillery of the opposition, and many predictions were made that free raw wool would not stand the fire in the senate, but would eventually come

BAROMETRIC BATTLE KEEPS COUNTRY COLD

Washington, May 3.—The first hot spell of the year is forcing an early appearance of the straw hat and the peek-a-boo waist in all the Atlantic coast states. On the other hand there is a cold spell in the Northwest and West that is keeping these same articles of spring wear in storage.

For the last four months, according to weather bureau officials, unusually high temperatures have prevailed through the Atlantic states, and abnormally low ones throughout the western section of the country. This condition, in the language of the "sharps," primarily is caused by a conflict of a high barometric pressure over the South Atlantic ocean with a corresponding lower pressure that has made its habitat in the northwest for the last four or five months.

Out in Wyoming, the Dakotas and down in Arizona and in nearly all the Pacific coast states there has been freezing weather.

WILSON JOINS SIGHTSEERS

Not Recognized Until at Top of Washington Monument.

President Is Pleased at Meeting of McCombs and McAdoo.

Washington, May 3.—President Wilson ascended the Washington monument today and held an informal reception in the tower at its summit.

The president had strolled away from the White House accompanied only by Joseph Murray, one of the secret service men, and had stopped for a few minutes to watch a "kids' ball game" when he suddenly took a notion to join the crowd of tourists who daily gather at the monument.

At first the president was not recognized but when one man spied him and insisted on shaking hands the entire party grouped about the president and greeted him.

Gave Seat to Woman.

When he descended the elevator was crowded so the president gave up his seat to a womn passenger and stood during the trip down, which takes several minutes.

President Wilson returned to the White House at 8 o'clock today after a two-days' speaking trip to New Jersey. He expressed himself as pleased with his reception in his home state, and confident that the reforms he advocated ultimately would be accomplished.

The president had no engagements for the day and planned a holiday. He started out walking early, and did not expect to be in his office except for a brief period. Tonight at 7 o'clock he is to press a button opening a religious exhibition in Chicago.

Talked With McCombs.

One of the incidents of the trip which afforded the president much satisfaction and which did not become known until today was his meeting in New Fargo Man Fills Himself With Poison—Is Likely to Die.

Fargo, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although David L. Sundquist, a railway engineer, took the contents of four phials, each containing a different poison, late last night, he still was living early today. Doctors hold out little hope for his ultimate recovery.

MRS. STANLEY McCORMICK AND MRS. CHARLES PARKER.

The suffragettes are holding a great parade in New York today. The American suffragettes run to parades as their English sisters do to arson. They had a parade in Washington in March and another in April. All the women in line wear "Votes for Women" hats, which cost less than 40 cents. Mrs. Stanley McCormick is seen wearing one of these confections at the left of this picture. The other figure is that of Mrs. Charles Parker, who is marshal of the Massachusetts Political Equality union, a feature of the parade. Mrs. McCormick is the treasurer of the National Woman Suffrage association.

COUNTESS IS KILLED AS TWIN SISTER WAS IN 1910

Henley, Eng, May 3.—"Death by the accidental discharge of her own shotgun," was the tragic fate this morning of the countess of Cottenham, wife of the earl of Cottenham. The countess' twin sister, daughter of the marquis of Abergavenny, was found dead in 1910 with a gunshot wound through the heart, in the grounds of the family residence in Oxfordshire.

Today's affair was at first a mystery and it was not known whether she had been murdered, had committed epicide or had been accidentally shot, until the earl of Cottenham himself testified at the coroner's inquest at noon.

Earl Testified at Inquest.

He said that he had been out with his boys, and when he returned and found his wife missing he instituted a search which resulted in the discovery of her body with the gun beside it near the stump of a tree over which she had evidently stumbled, at the same time accidentally discharging the weapon. The jury thereupon returned a verdict of accidental death.

The countess was an enthusiastic huntswoman and a fine shot. She frequently roamed alone with her shotgun through the preserves of her estate at Elvenden Priory.

Both Sisters Divorced.

The twin sister of the countess was Lady Violet Nevill, who became Countess Cowley and whose divorce suit against Earl Cowley in 1897 created a widespread sensation.

The countess of Cottenham first married John Blundell Leigh and also went through the divorce court in 1899, her husband being the plaintiff and the earl of Cottenham the co-respondent. She married the earl of Cottenham in the same year. They have three sons, who are all living.

Will Extend Woman Suffrage.

Christiania, May 3.—The constitutional committee of the storthing has decided unanimously to introduce a bill bestowing the franchise upon women for all elections. With a radical majority in the storthing, the passage of the bill is assured.

MONSTER "VOTES FOR WOMEN" PARADE HELD IN NEW YORK

Thirty Thousand Women and 2,000 Men Line Up to March.

All Walks of Life Represented in Ranks of the Suffragists.

New York, May 3.—The streets of New York were astir today with the fluttering yellow of woman suffrage. Bedecked in this color, hundreds of women from all over the country poured into the city to reinforce many thousands more pledged to march up Fifth avenue this afternoon in probably the biggest parade ever held for the cause of "votes for women."

The muster roll indicated an army 30,000 strong, augmented by 2,000 male sympathizers brave enough to dare the taunts of unbelievers and the "antis." Perfect weather conditions inspired the marchers.

While platoons of police began to take positions along Fifth avenue to protect the parade from possible disorderly demonstrations, the marchers, recruited from every walk of life, began to gather this forenoon in Washington square and nearby cross streets. They were due to swing into New York's famous throughfare of wealth and fashion at 2 o'clock, and to the music of forty bands march eight abreast to the plaza at Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue.

Two Mass Meetings.

Upon disbandment at that point, the program called for two mass meetings, one to be held in the plaza, another at Carnegie hall nearby at which prominent speakers, including Dean Sumner of Chicago, were to make addresses. In front of the great New York public library at Forty-second street and Fifth avenue, reviewing stands had been erected from which city officials and other persons of prominence might review the parade.

Under the command of Miss Josephine Beiderhasse, chief marshal, the local paraders mustered behind the banners of the seven woman suf-

ASK DIRECT VOTE ON NATIONAL PRESIDENT

Connecticut Legislators' Resolution Is Sent to Marshall.

Hartford, Conn., May 3.—The resolution passed by the general assembly memorializing congress to propose an amendment to the Constitution to provide for election of the president and vice president of the United States by direct vote of the people, having been signed by Governor Baldwin and sealed by the secretary of state, was forwarded today to Vice President Marshall.

HEIRESS WHO RAN AWAY WILL LIVE WITH MOTHER

MISS RAMONA BORDEN.

New York, May 3.—Ramona Borden will live in California hereafter. She is leaving her father and going to live with her mother. Since her father and mother separated she has had no home. Recently her father put her in a sanitarium and Ramona ran away. When her father found her in Boston, she came back with him to New York, but meantime her mother had been sent for, and when Ramona had seen her it was agreed that she should go west with her mother to live. Ramona says she will be contented with the new conditions.

RATES ON WYOMING COAL ARE TOO HIGH

Commerce Commission Directs Readjustment in the Northwest.

Washington, May 3.—Readjustment of freight rates on coal from mines in Wyoming to destinations throughout the Middle West and Northwest was directed by the interstate commerce commission today in decisions of several cases brought by the Sheridan (Wyoming) Chamber of Commerce against the Burlington and other Western and Northwestern roads.

Wyoming coal was found by the commission not to be moving freely in commerce. It was held "the facts in these cases demonstrate the necessity of promulgating rates which will allow this coal to find a market in the territory described. In order to accomplish this result there must be a free interchange of traffic at reasonable joint rates."

Commissioner Meyer, who prepared the opinion, suggested a scheme of rate readjustment providing for certain reductions and equalizing differentials. This scheme the railroads are directed to carry out. If they do not the commission will issue a positive order on the subject.

ASSEMBLY WILL ENACT SAME TERMS

Webb and Bloodgood Measures Are Made Identical in Terms.

Governor Johnson Will Withhold Signature to Hear From Wilson.

JAPAN NOT SATISFIED.

Washington, May 3.—It was learned here today that the Webb bill in its present form is not satisfactory to the Japanese government. Though there may be an amendment in the lower branch of the California legislature or in conference, it is believed the Japanese can only await the return to Washington of Secretary Bryan, and then take the matter up diplomatically.

Sacramento, Cal., May 3.—Governor Johnson is expected to have in his hands tonight an alien land law barring from ownership of California soil Japanese and other aliens ineligible to citizenship.

He has agreed to delay signing the bill until opportunity shall be given for hearing whatever protests President Wilson may desire to make. In the governor's own words, this delay will cover a "reasonable time;" probably not more than ten days, certainly not more than thirty.

Although the act is designed to exclude all aliens ineligible to citizenship, it is drawn in conformity with treaty obligations and guarantees to every alien his full treaty rights, omitting the phrase "ineligible to citizenship," objected to by Japan.

With this program at hand, the assembly picked up today the work of the senate and began final consideration of the Bloodgood bill, which is identical with the Webb redraft of the alien bills passed early today by the senate.

Follow Senate Program.

It was planned by the administration floor leaders in the lower house to adopt the same procedure followed

OLD LIFE IN MINE SAVES MILLIONAIRE

Kansas City, Mo., May 3.—Jesse M. Short, wealthy mining man of Joplin, Mo., who was shot three times yesterday by a robber who held up a Kansas City Southern passenger train here, was in a favorable condition today, according to the statement of his physicians.

To a sturdy physique, acquired at labor in the mine, Short owes his life, the doctor says. One of the bullets fired by the robber, after he had taken Short's purse containing $1,000 in currency, grazed the left lung.

Police continuing the search for the robber, who also was severely wounded in the duel with Short, were at sea today. Blood stains and the discarded empty purse of Short, found yesterday in an onion patch several hundred yards from the spot where the robber leaped from the moving train, formed the only definite clue the police had to follow.

CANADIANS PRAISE PEACE POLICY OF UNITED STATES

Speak at American Peace Congress Held at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—"A century of Anglo-American peace," was the general topic for consideration at the Fourth American peace congress today.

William Renwick Riddell, justice of the supreme court of Ontario, reviewed the history of British-American relations for the last 100 years and said that questions more difficult of settlement than any settled by war had been adjusted peacefully between the United States and Great Britain.

"The determination of the English-speaking peoples," he said, "that they will conclude their disputes by peaceful means is final and irrevocable, and must in the nature of things have a tremendous effect on the world at large.

"No one expects or desires a political union between the United States and Great Britain, but there is a growing sense of unity that must guide the future actions of both peoples."

John Lewis, editor of the Toronto Star, spoke on the identity of the interests of the United States and Canada.

No Recourse to Sword.

Justice Benjamin Russell of the supreme court of Nova Scotia said it was a settled understanding among the English-speaking peoples of the world that no possible question could arise between them that was not capable of adjustment without recourse to the sword.

"That being so," he said, "our first duty is to have this understanding formulated in a treaty from the provisions of which there shall be no excepted questions. No controversies can arise that will awaken more passionate feeling in this country than the Alabama question of the last century, and no decision can be given on any future controversy that would be more bitterly resented throughout Canada than the Alaskan boundary award.

"Yet, I believe, there is no man living but would agree that if these settlements had been worse than they popularly are supposed to have been from the Canadian point of view, they still would have been better than the most successful war over the points in controversy.

"The proposed reservation of questions affecting 'the honor of the nation,' which figured so largely in recent discussions of arbitration, is nothing better than that notion of honor that formerly obliged a man to present his body as the target for a duellist."

PRESIDENT AUGUSTE OF HAITI IS DEAD

Four Candidates for Office Are Before National Assembly.

Port Au Prince, Haiti, May 3.—The president of the republic of Haiti, Gen. Tancrede Auguste, died at 9 o'clock last night after a brief illness.

The national assembly was convoked today to elect a successor as chief executive. Four candidates were prepared to present their claims to the office—Judge Luxembourg Cauvin, former minister of the interior; Michel Oreste, a prominent senator; Gen. Beaufosse Laroche, minister of war, and Gen. Bellard.

In official circles and among the general public the opinion prevailed that Gen. Bellard would obtain the nomination.

Quiet has reigned everywhere since the president's death but precautions against any possible outbreak were immediately taken by General Polteviln, the commander in chief, who ordered all the troops to hold themselves in readiness to suppress disorders. The public, however, did not seem inclined to indulge in any disturbances.

President Tancrede Auguste had occupied his office only since Aug. 9, last year. He succeeded General Cincinnatus Leconte, who met a tragic death together with four hundred officials and soldiers in a fire which destroyed the national palace on Aug. 8. It was reported at that time that he had been the victim of intrigue but nothing was officially revealed to confirm the theory.

GIOVANNITTI AND MATES ARRESTED.

Hopedale, Mass., May 3.—Arturo Giovannitti, Joseph M. Coldwell and Caleb F. Howard, Industrial Workers of the World organizers, who are leading the strike at the foundry of the Draper company, were arrested today charged with violating the town ordinances. Giovannitti and Joseph J. Ettor were tried and acquitted of the charge of the murder of Anna Lopizzo during the strike in Lawrence more than a year ago.

HOUSEWIVES BLAMED FOR HOUSE SERVANT "PROBLEM"

Official Investigator Reports on Various Forms of Employment.

New York, May 3.—Domestic service is a grave problem, not because servants are scarce, but because so many of them are incompetent; and this incompetency is due largely to the attitude of employers. In these terms a lesson was read to the American housewife today by Herman Robinson, municipal commissioner of licenses, in his annual report.

The report is based on Commissioner Robinson's investigation of the employment agencies of the city. The employment agents assert that employers as a rule give too little to servants when they have them, do not sufficiently provide for their comfort and do not take into account their ambitions.

"The social standing of the servant," says Mr. Robinson, "is the most important factor in the problem."

The report says that agencies that used to get employment for cattle attendants on trans-Atlantic steamers have ceased to exist because since October no American livestock has been shipped abroad. College men who formerly worked their way to Europe and back as cattle tenders no longer have this opportunity.

During the year the bureau approved 112,900 contracts between performers and managers of theatrical employment agencies. Vaudeville performers during that period paid a half million dollars to agencies for getting them employment.

SUFFRAGETTES SET SCHOOLHOUSE AFIRE

Half Million Dollars Worth of Sheds and Freight Also Burned.

Aberdeen, Scotland, May 3.—One of the public schools of this city was burned this morning by militant suffragettes. The damage amounted to $2,500. A large quantity of suffrage literature was found scattered about the building.

Freight Sheds Burned.

Bradford, Eng., May 3.—Extensive sheds belonging to the Midland railroad, containing much freight, burned down here last night causing a loss of $500,000. Nineteen loaded freight cars and quantities of dry goods and carpets were consumed.

Mysterious fires have broken out in these sheds on three successive Friday nights. The militant suffragettes were suspected of arson, but there was no proof of this. The latest fire was evidently incendiary, for the firemen discovered it had been started simultaneously in several parts of the building. The firemen were able to save the adjoining buildings only by the utmost efforts.

Earlier in the night a fire had been started in some cars loaded with straw in another yard, apparently to divert attention from the principal scene of operations of the incendiaries.

AMUNDSEN TO SPEAK.

Chief Attraction at Crookston Sons of Norway Celebration.

Crookston, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Great preparations are being made for the 17th of May celebration here under the auspices of the Sons of Norway. While there is a good program of local speakers, including Rev. J. C. Roseland and County Attorney E. O. Hagen, and a fine parade is being arranged, the chief attraction is Capt. Roald Amundsen, who will speak in Norwegian at 4 p. m., and in English at 8:30 p. m., both addresses being in the opera house. Big delegations are coming from all surrounding towns.

Going After Back Taxes.

Wahpeton, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Escaping taxation for sixteen years there will be a heavy assessment for the entire period made on 170 acres of land adjoining the townsite of Wahpeton. The assessor has been instructed to assess for all back years, which will make a tax this year of something like $10 per acre on the land. There is no record of a protest having been made by the owners of the land over the failure to be made to pay taxes.

RADICAL CHANGES IN THE CITY'S SCHOOL SYSTEM

Junior High Schools Will Be Established in Two Buildings.

Continuation School Is Planned and Special Course Outlined.

The board of education at its meeting last evening decided on a radical change in the school system of the city in authorizing the establishment of junior high schools in which the seventh and eighth grades of various grade schools and the first year classes of high schools will be grouped.

The board also decided to establish a summer continuation school and entertained suggestions for industrial and agricultural courses.

Next year one junior high school will be established in the Washington grade building and another in the Robert E. Denfeld Industrial high school building in West Duluth, if it is completed.

In the Washington school, the eighth grade classes graduating this year from the Nettleton, Franklin and Washington schools will be grouped with the new seventh and eighth grade classes of those schools. There will be no radical changes in the courses the classes would cover in the system as now arranged, though some modifications will be necessary.

As soon as the new Denfeld building is completed, the advanced Industrial high school and the junior high school will both be housed in it. The junior high school will include the first year class of the Industrial high school and the seventh and eighth grades of the Fairmont, Longfellow, Ely, Irving, Merritt and Oneota schools.

One in East End.

As soon as a building of sufficient size is available, another junior high school will be established in the West end.

The committee on schools recommended the junior high school plan at the meeting last night, and submitted with the recommendation a tentative plan outlined by Superintendent R. E. Denfeld. The plan provides a working basis for a new system that is expected to work out for the improvement of the whole plan of education in the city.

"We are working this out on a common sense basis," said Mr. Denfeld this morning. "The work of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades is very similar in many respects and the three grades logically should be grouped together. At the same time the congestion that now exists in various grade buildings will be relieved and the demand for new and larger buildings will be considerably lessened. There will be some modification in the courses, but very little, and the organization will be much more efficient than the present plan."

No junior high school may be established at the West end for the present on account of the lack of a suitable building. A room large enough to house about 600 students is necessary and such a room can not be arranged in any of the present buildings in the West end.

Continuation School.

The board last evening established a continuation school to be conducted from June 23 to Aug. 1 in the Washington grade and manual training building. The object of the school is to give boys and girls an opportunity for special study and students of the Duluth schools will be given credit for satisfactory work. Courses will be provided in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades and the high school, with additional manual training, mechanical drawing, domestic science and domestic art courses.

The tuition for the grades will be $3 for the six-weeks' course with an additional charge of $1 if manual training or domestic science or art is included. For high school academic work the tuition will be $4; for mechanical drawing, domestic art, chemistry and physics, $5; and for shop and domestic science courses, $6. Classes will meet every day at 8:30 a. m. and in academic work will continue until 12:30. In the shop work there will be afternoon classes. Thirteen teachers will be required and the estimated expense is $1,600, of which it is expected $1,000 will be returned in tuitions.

Industrial Course.

Supt. Denfeld suggested to the board the advisability of establishing an industrial course, in which four years' work might be done in three years, with part of the work done in shops of the city under practical working conditions.

The course as outlined by Mr. Denfeld provides for academic work, including English, algebra, geometry, civics, United States history, physics, chemistry, physiography or biology.

The new course would involve a longer school day. Under Mr. Denfeld's plan, the school day would begin at 8:30, with the time until 10:20 occupied with mechanical drawing. The remainder of the noon period and the time up to 2 o'clock would be given to academic subjects, and from 2 to 5 or 5:30 would be given to shop work. At the present time only two periods, or eighty minutes a day, are given to manual training.

That would be the program for two years, and in the third year the boys would be given places in local industries for work every afternoon from 1 to 5:30. An educational co-operation committee was named in connection with the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, recently with the same idea in mind, and the school authorities would work with the Commercial club in obtaining the co-operation of local industries.

School and Business.

"This is an attempt to co-ordinate school with business, as is done in some of the cities, or, better still, it is an attempt to introduce a plan similar to the one adopted in Cincinnati and nearly like that now in vogue in Fitchburg, Mass.," said Mr. Denfeld in his report. "This plan, however, cannot be carried out unless the business forces of the city co-operate with the educational forces. There are several occupations in this city that offer opportunities for training, and our schools could work in harmony with them. For example, machine shop, foundry, forge shop, pattern making, wood turning, carpentry, cabinet making, wood finishing, electric wiring, stationary engineering work, automobile repairing, plumbing, steam fitting, sheet metal work, painting, bricklaying, concrete construction, architectural and mechanical, sheet metal and structural drafting. It is an aim to put the schools in close touch with a larger number of activities and to make the school training of the child as practical as possible. Much has been said against the high school training; that it does not fit the boy for the things that he may find it necessary to do; that it does not give him a start toward the manual training work that he finds in the world about him to which he may wish to apply himself after he leaves school.

"I am, indeed, greatly interested in this problem, and would like to see the school do all that is possible toward making boys that are interested practical workers. Education is not necessarily theory, but education should assist in making the manual worker more efficient by co-ordinating practice with theory, and so graduate the boys from the high school into the work that they have chosen and give them the power to become efficient workers."

Course in Agriculture.

Mr. Denfeld also submitted to the board a suggestion that an elective course in agriculture be established for the junior or senior year, in order that high school boys might have an opportunity to do work preliminary to entering agricultural colleges. He said that several boys from the Duluth schools have entered agricultural colleges and they would have been helped greatly by such work in high school. Other boys having a taste for such subjects would also be benefited he said.

Both suggestions of the superintendent were referred to the committee on schools.

All bids for the four-room addition to the Lakeside school were rejected last evening and the board ordered the plans and specifications revised. The lowest bid involved an expenditure of $47,751, whereas the board has only about $21,000 available for the work. The funds for new buildings this year consist of a tax levy of $60,000 to take care of the E. R. Cobb school at Woodland and the addition to the Lakeside school and a $200,000 bond issue for the Robert E. Denfeld high school and the R. S. Munger school at Twelfth avenue east and Eighth street. The bond issue will be required in full for the two schools, and the Cobb school will cost $38,790, leaving only $21,210 for the Lakeside school. An effort will be made to bring the plans and specifications within that amount.

The board last evening decided to establish the following manual training and domestic science departments:

Adams school, carpenter shop and possibly cooking room.

Endion school, carpenter shop and possibly cooking room.

Whittier school, carpenter shop and cooking room.

Jackson school, sewing or cooking.

Lakeside school, cooking.

Washburn school, cooking.

For the past year the work formerly performed by the truant officer has been performed by the visiting nurses. More vigorous work is necessary, according to Supt. Denfeld and he recommended last evening that a truant officer be employed next year.

BUREAU WILL BE CONTINUED

Any Information Desired About Duluth Will Be on Tap.

During the tourist season of 1912, M. M. Hanna, at 410 West Superior street, operated a general information bureau, along the same general lines as the bureaus located throughout the country. Strangers coming to the city and particularly tourists who are accustomed to the service in other cities, were taken care of by Mr. Hanna and his assistants in a manner that called forth their earnest commendation and appreciation.

Private rooming and boarding accommodations were furnished, hotel rates and accommodations were explained, boat and train schedules were furnished, trolley car rides, automobile trips, trips up the river and to the mines, to Isle Royale, Piney Ridge, Lake Vermilion, to the various fishing places nearby, theater attractions, baseball games, moonlight rides on the lake, points of interest in the city, such as the parks, steel plant, industrial section, the docks and elevators were all featured and explained. Literature on Duluth and vicinity was distributed lavishly. The bureau will again be in operation this season, and a special feature will be the planning of one, two and three-day trips for parties whose time is limited, the idea being to have them see the city to the best advantage during their short stay. It is possible that a combination outing including a sight-seeing trip of the city, Lake Superior whitefish dinner, and a trip up the river by boat may be arranged. Tourists and strangers come into the city who want directions to reliable stores for their shopping. This information is at hand, even to the extent of calling attention to bargains advertised in the Duluth papers. That the bureau was appreciated and really is a valuable means of advertising and boosting the city is forcibly expressed by a local business man who was in close touch with its operation. He says:

"In regard to the information bureau you operated last season, it was very plain to any one who was in as close touch with its operation as I was that you were all the time giving information as to where to go and how to get there, and to all the points of interest in and around the city, which people could not get as conveniently anywhere else. It was surprising to me how many people were constantly coming in to take advantage of the free information, and how well they seemed to be taken care of. I consider the bureau, the way you managed it last year, more of a public benefaction than anything else."

OFFERS TREES TO CHILDREN

Cloquet Man Will Give Pupils Young Apple Trees to Plant.

Cloquet, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. C. Hornby, manager of the Cloquet Lumber company, has offered to give to the school children from 200 to 250 apple trees to be planted at their homes. The pupils in the upper grades will first be given the opportunity to secure these trees.

At the school farm, known as Hornby Field, they are making ready to plow, and the high school boys who are taking agriculture are making portable chicken coops for the farm. About 200 little chickens were secured some time ago as an experiment in poultry and later they will be placed at the farm.

Taking State Examinations.

School children are very busy with state examinations, preparation for high school commencement and eighth grade graduation. In both high school and eighth grade there will be large classes, though the list will not be definitely made out until next week. Miss Agnes Gorham has won the honor of being valedictorian, and Miss Amy Collins that of salutatorian. The girls have kept closely together as regards marks during the entire four years, Miss Gorham's final average was 90.85 plus, and Miss Collins' average 89.67 plus.

IRONWOOD WOMAN DIES.

Pioneer Woman, Leaving Many Children and Grandchildren, Called.

Ironwood, Mich., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. James Shouldice, an old and respected resident of Ironwood, who came here in 1886, died yesterday from a complication of diseases.

She was born Feb. 1, 1842, in the province of Quebec, Can., and on April 6, 1860, was married to James Shouldice. She is survived by her husband and the following six daughters and three sons: Mrs. Samuel McNally of Masham, Can.; Mrs. Dave Fraser of Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. Thomas Smith, Mrs. Charles Hydeman, Mrs. Samuel McCrossen and Mrs. Robert Exworthy of Ironwood, James and Alonzo Shouldice of Battle Creek, Mich, and Samuel Leonard Shouldice of this city. She also leaves one brother, John O'Hara, who is 78 years of age, of Vancouver, B. C. Mrs. Shouldice is also survived by thirty-one grand children.

All the children were here, and with their parents, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary on April 6, 1910.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon from the home, with services at the First M. E. church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Healey. All the children with the exception of the oldest daughter, Mrs. McNally of Canada, are here for the funeral. Interment will be made in Riverside cemetery.

CROOKSTON GETTING READY FOR BIG U. C. T. MEETING

JOHN J. KELLY,
Chairman Hotel Committee.

C. W. FINAL,
Senior Councillor Crookston Council.

Crookston, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—All plans for the grand council of the United Commercial travelers here June 12, 13 and 14, are moving along nicely. John J. Kelly, chairman of the hotel committee for the grand council, has not only listed all the hotels for accommodations for visiting traveling men and others here, but is also canvassing the entire city, and will be prepared to furnish accommodations for 2,000 visitors, which is believed to be ample for the crowds that will be here. The new White Way will be formally opened during the convention.

WARROAD TO VOTE.

Special Election May 22 on Bonding Lighting Question.

Warroad, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A special election will be held May 22 for the purpose of voting on a $30,000 bond issue to finance the erection of a water works system and an electric lighting plant.

Cards were received here this week announcing the marriage of the Rev. John G. Larson to Elizabeth Kribs of St. Cloud in that city April 26. Mr. Larson was pastor of the Episcopal church of this city until a few months ago.

J. C. Comlins returned Tuesday from a ten days' trip to East Grand Forks.

Paul Marschalk returned home from St. Paul last week. Mr. Marschalk is one of the representatives to the legislature from this county.

Thomas Smith and Court Chase have returned from an extended trip through Western Canada where they had been looking up some business locations. The gentlemen returned quite satisfied to remain in Northern Minnesota.

J. G. Stein is sick this week with mumps.

Miss Grace Sawyers returned the first of the week from Crookston where she had been attending one of the business colleges of that city.

Miss Esther Alldrin, who is attending school at Thief River Falls spent Saturday and Sunday at her home here.

Mrs. Hallgren of Comfort, Minn., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alldrin of this city, this week.

Chief Engineer Granger of the boundary survey, arrived here this week and is getting the government boat in readiness to leave for the northwest angle where work will be resumed for the season.

Harry Strickler of Zippel, Minn., was transacting business in town the first part of the week.

Rev. Fr. Dumoulin, who has had charge of the Catholic parish here for the past year, has been transferred to Akeley. Father Bossus will succeed him in the work here.

Another Indian Meeting.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota Chippewan will hold another meeting or council here next Tuesday to consider various matters affecting the several tribes, according to a circular letter issued by Joseph Northup, chairman, and Warren, secretary. A similar meeting was held here Feb. 4, when a proposed organization of the Chippewas was discussed but no action taken.

CHILD IS KILLED NEAR RUGBY, N. D.

Rugby, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Annie Haugen, aged 14, had her head almost completely blown off near here yesterday by the accidental discharge of a twelve-gauge shotgun.

The girl found the gun in a woodshed and was playing with it when the accident happened. The full double charge went into her neck. She was the daughter of M. Haugen, a farmer.

SAVED BY DAUGHTER.

North Dakotan Would Have Perished But for Child's Act.

Enderlin, N. D., May 3.—The heroic work of his daughter saved Anton Skramstad, a farmer near here, when his home burned. Most members of the family escaped from windows in the second floor but Skramstad became confused and walked down stairs directly into the room where the flames were worst. He was burned and fell unconscious. His daughter dragged him out, but his injuries are such they may prove fatal.

TRAPPER MISSING; HIS DEATH FEARED.

Towner, N. D., May 3.—Peter Maarud, aged 71, a trapper, either committed suicide or met accidental death in the Mouse river, near his home, six miles from Towner. A search begun yesterday when neighbors, alarmed at his failure to appear for three or four days, investigated. His traps were all set and there was nothing that would give any clue as to the reason for his disappearance.

HURLEY TOWN BOARD MAKES APPOINTMENTS.

Hurley, Wis., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the last meeting of the town board several more appointments were made. Sam Swanson was re-appointed fire steward at a salary of $65 per month; John Jewel was appointed assistant fire steward and highway overseer at a salary of $50 per month, and Dr. E. B. Stebbins was appointed health officer at a salary of $150 per year.

ANTI-TRUST HEARING.

Sioux Falls Harvester Company Probe Will Be Ended Today.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Implement dealers testifying Friday in behalf of the defense in the government anti-trust suit against the International Harvester company, some of whom handle competing lines, declared that the International always conducted its business properly as a competitor. Four witnesses were dealers who compete with the International only in "side lines."

Government counsel made a point of this, holding that witnesses were competing with the International in main lines, but not in plows, windmills or minor products.

Dealers handling International products declared on the stand that they were not coerced into handling that line. Several witnesses testified that the clause in cgontracts compelling International dealers to handle that line exclusively, was not enforced. Hearings in Sioux Falls close this afternoon to be resumed in St. Paul, probably Monday.

HOT WEATHER.

Chicago Sees Straw Hats and Eastern Cities Warm Up.

Chicago, May 3.—Midsummer weather visited Chicago yesterday, the temperature being 85 deg. in the afternoon. This was more than 20 deg. above the normal for early May. Straw hats made their first appearance.

New Yorker Dies of Heat.

New York, May 3.—Friday was the hottest May 2 in the history of the local weather bureau. The mercury climbed up to 87 during the early afternoon and remained there two hours. One heat prostration was reported—the first one of the year.

At 88 in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, May 3.—With the official thermometer registering 88 deg. at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, it was the hottest day of the year and the hottest May 2 ever recorded by the local weather bureau.

AGED IRON MOUNTAIN WOMAN TO CELEBRATE.

Iron Mountain, Mich., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—On May 15 Mrs. Charles Kredava, who resides at 719 Fairbanks street, will celebrate the 101st anniversary of her birth. She has resided in Iron Mountain for more than thirty years. Mrs. Kredava is in full possession of all her faculties.

Identity Still Mystery.

Grafton, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The officials are no nearer the solution of the identity of the hired man who burned with O. J. Mulligan when the latter's home was destroyed. A number of seeming clues have been run down but none have helped to clear the mystery.

Manahan To Be Candidate.

St. Paul, Minn., May 3.—James Manahan, congressman-at-large, will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for representative in the new Tenth district, according to announcement made Friday by George S. Loftus, his political manager.

SALT RIVER WATER PROTESTS BASELESS

Secretary Lane Tells Users They Have Made No Case.

Washington, May 3.—Lewis C. Hill, supervising engineer of the southwestern division of the reclamation service, who constructed the Roosevelt dam in the Salt river project in Arizona, today made a statement of the operations on the project at the conference between Secretary Lane, reclamation officials and water users.

Secretary Lane said frankly to the conference that after two days consideration of the Salt river project no facts indicating fraud or gross wastefulness had been developed and proved, and no constructive statements had been offered. It was his desire to obtain suggestions for the improvement of the service—suggestions upon which possible changes in the law and regulations might be based.

It was likely the Salt river project would not be disposed of by the conference before the conclusion of today's session.

Must Label Infected Meat.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota is the first state in the Union to have a law which compels the handling of the meat of condemned cattle apart from the other meats. Under this law all meat from infected cattle, when offered for sale, must be labeled as infected, and in the markets it must be handled on a separate block.

KILLS BEAR CUBS.

Trapper Near Blackduck Frightens Off Mother and "Gets" Offspring.

Blackduck, Minn., May 3.—Charles Williams encountered a she bear and four cubs about two miles north of town a few days ago. The older animal attacked the trapper, who quickly dispatched a bullet toward her with the result that she turned around with an ugly growl and fled. Going a few steps further he discovered three cub bears which doubtless accounted for the fighting spirit of the old one. All four were brought to the ground and Mr. Williams now holds the record as the champion bear hunter.

ADMIT THEIR GUILT.

Four Caught in Gully Blind-Pig Raid Plead Guilty.

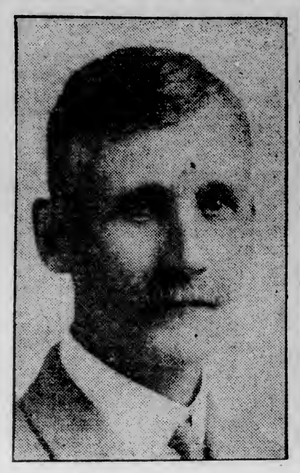
Crookston, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four of the six men from Gully, arrested for blindpigging, Robert Schmock, a liveryman; Albert Amundson and Sivert Hole, proprietors of a restaurant, and Ole Nelson, pleaded guilty and were fined $50 and costs each, amounting to $90 in each case. In Nelson's case another charge was not pushed, but will be if he strays from the straight and narrow dry path in future. Dr. John Bower and John Hogg, proprietors of the drug store at Gully, pleaded not guilty and their cases will come up May 8.

IMMIGRANTS COMING.

Workmen Right From Europe to Work in North Dakota.

Lisbon, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ransom county will secure farm and other help direct from Ellis Island, N. Y. A. H. Laughlin, former commissioner of agriculture, took up the matter with the immigration department in Washington and through the assistance of representatives in congress from this state secured a promise of seventy-five men. Nearly all of them will be farm laborers, though some of them are skilled mechanics, a few being carpenters. They are mostly Norwegians, Swedes and Germans, though there will be some English, Irish and Scotchmen. Their coming will greatly relieve the conditions here and the farmers are elated.

LETTER CARRIERS WILL SEND DELEGATES TO SAN FRANCISCO



R. G. MALCOLM.

J. F. McDONALD.

Zenith Branch 114 of the National Association of Letter Carriers held an enthusiastic meeting last evening.

Delegates were chosen to represent the branch at the nineteenth convention of the association to be held in San Francisco the first week in September. The delegates elected were: J. F. McDonald and R. G. Malcolm. The convention is held biennially, the first one being the Portland convention in 1905.

Mr. McDonald has been prominently identified with the branch since he began as a letter carrier having held many important offices. He is now president in his third term and has represented the local branch several times at its national conventions.

Mr. Malcolm is serving his twentieth year in the service, has been among the leaders in local matters affecting letter carriers. He has held the position of collector of the Letter Carriers' Fraternal Insurance society for ten years and has been of the representatives at all conventions since 1901. He is now chairman of the committee on arrangements to take care of the tenth annual convention of the Minnesota State Association Letter Carriers to be held here June 28 and 29, at which they hope to entertain in true Zenith City style the letter carriers representing branches from all parts of the state.

Branch 114 is a lively factor in association matters and the members are enthused and want to make the convention a red letter day in state annals.

CALIFORNIA SENATE PASSES ALIEN LAND BILL

yesterday by the senate and to begin at once the long debate that must necessarily precede conclusive action. The effect of the senate's almost unanimous decision was expected to hasten the vote.

Since the Bloodgood bill is identical with the senate bill already passed, it will be sent on passage at once to the committee on enrollment, there to be compared with its companion measure. When the identity of the two acts has been verified the committee will report back to the house and the bill will be sent to the governor for his signature.

Vote 36 to 2.

The administration anti-alien land holding bill drawn by Attorney General Webb passed the senate early this morning by a vote of 36 to 2, after nearly ten hours debate. The only negative votes were cast by Senators Cartwright, Democrat, and Wright, Republican.

1—Aliens eligible to citizenship may acquire and hold land to same extent as citizens.

2—All other aliens are limited to the specific rights conferred upon them by the existing treaties between the United States and the nations of which such aliens are citizens or subjects. In the case of the Japanese, the bill prohibits ownership of farming or agricultural lands, while permitting them to own residences and factories, manufactories and shops.

3—Leases of agricultural lands by such aliens are permitted for a period not exceeding three years. There is a question as to whether renewals would be lawful.

4—Aliens ineligible to citizenship cannot inherit land. Upon the death of an alien land holder, his property shall be sold by the probate court and the proceeds distributed to his heirs.

5—The state specifically reserves its sovereign right to enact any and all laws in future with respect to the acquisition of real property by aliens.

6—Present holdings of ineligible aliens are not affected except that they cannot be bequeathed or sold to other aliens classified among those not eligible to citizenship.

Party Lines Dropped.

In the closing hours of the debate partisanship was lost sight of. Democrats and Progressives voted together in response to what they took to be a demand of the people of California. Their only difference in the end was over the question of whether the bill was drastic enough.

The futility of Secretary Bryan's mission was shown in the vote of his own party. Nine of the ten Democrats voted contrary to the advice which he brought from President Wilson, while not a single Progressive yielded to his expressed wishes.

Might Appeal to The Hague.

Washington, May 3.—If the question between the United States and Japan should not be settled within the next three months, it was intimated here today, Japan might make a formal request for the submission of the issue to arbitration at the Hague tribunal.

The special arbitration treaty between the two countries, negotiated in 1900, which is believed to cover the case, will expire by limitation unless renewed on Aug. 24. It will be necessary for Japan to claim the benefits of the treaty before that date.

The particular provision of the treaty is:

"Differences which arise of a legal nature or relating to the interpretation of treaties existing between the two contracting parties and which it may not have been possible to settle by diplomacy shall be referred to the permanent court of arbitration and board at The Hague by the convention of July 29, 1889; provided, nevertheless, that they do not affect the vital interest, the independence or the honor of the two contracting parties or do not concern the interest of third parties."

Diplomatists here do not believe the question of Japanese honor as it has been referred to in connection with the California situation would be held to be of such a nature as to come under the exemption of questions of honor as referred to in the treaty.

Secretary Bryan has telegraphed President Wilson he would leave Sacramento tonight and would arrive here next Thursday. Until that time the president, it is understood, will make no comment.

frage organizations with headquarters in this city. Those from out of town gathered under the banners of the state from which they came.

National Association in Lead.

The order of march placed the National Woman's Suffrage association in the lead, with Miss Inez Milholland, mounted color bearer. Followed then the congressional committee of the association from Washington, led by Mrs. Alice Paul and Lucy Burns; then women voters from the nine suffrage states and Alaska. The latter were garbed in white, with laurel wreaths and golden stars in their hair, and bore aloft a map of the United States showing the states where "victory has been won."

Mrs. Richard C. Burleson, who had intended taking part in the parade, was unable to be present, and several prominent women, including Rev. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and Miss Jane Addams, have gone to Europe for the International Suffrage Alliance meeting soon to be held at Budapest.

The woman's political union, divided into "professional groups" and "business women," prepared to fall in next. The last named included department store clerks, stenographers, telephone operators, milliners, dress and white goods workers and domestic servants from the suffrage nations, Norway, Sweden and Finland, in national costume.

Societies in Line.

The Equal Franchise society, the New York State Woman Suffrage association, the women's suffrage party, the college league, the men's league for women suffrage, delegations from the non-suffrage states and the Political Equality association followed in order named.

The woman's suffrage party turned out wearing yellow George Washington straw hats, adorned with yellow rosettes; and every man in the parade carried a yellow suffrage flag. The men's division mustered behind Oswald Garrison Villiard and Mrs. Beatrice Forbes, Robinson Hale on horseback and a cavalcade of other prominent men and women in couples.

Conspicuous in the line-up was the little group of pilgrims commanded by "General" Rosalie Jones, who are famous for their cross-country marches —to Albany and to Washington. They were attired in their pilgrim cloaks and hoods and their battered walking boots. Indians, cowgirls and a prairie schooner were the other features which attracted attention.

Thousands at Meeting.

Last night a demonstration attended by several thousand persons, men and women both, was held for the cause in the Metropolitan Opera house. Theodore Roosevelt, appealing to the East and especially to New York state to grant votes for women, and holding that it is woman's right to be represented on the floor of the state's coming constitutional convention, was the principal speaker.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, called upon the country's women to add five new stars to the suffrage flag in 1914, and four new stars in 1915. A brilliant pageant with tableaus depicting "Woman's Dream of the Future" was a feature. The audience took every opportunity during pageant and speeches to show its enthusiasm by waving the triangular flag of the cause.

When Col. Roosevelt concluded speaking, Mrs. Shaw made an appeal for funds. Amounts as high as $100 were contributed from all parts of the house. Within twenty minutes from the time the collecting of subscriptions began, nearly $10,000 was pledged.

Ovation for Roosevelt.

Col. Roosevelt was given a prolonged ovation. He spoke a trifle huskily at times. He dwelt on the Progressive party's ideal of government as correlated with votes for women, and attacked the underworld as opposed to equal suffrage.

York with National Chairman William F. McCombs and Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department at the home of Col. E. M. House.

It was the first time that Chairman McCombs and Secretary McAdoo, who was vice chairman, had met since the early days of the campaign. Differences of opinion as to the management of the campaign were said to have existed between the two, though their relations with Mr. Wilson were always of a warm cordiality. In view of the widespread significance, politically, that had been attached to the situation, the president was glad to meet his two friends for a social chat, especially since Mr. McCombs was scheduled to sail for Europe today for several months' rest.

Ambassadorship Talk Revived.

The departure of Mr. McCombs for Europe revived talk here of the circumstances under which he declined the president's offer to be ambassador to France. There was an intimation that while Mr. McCombs was going abroad for a rest he might be offered the same post later and would accept. So far as is known the president has not determined upon anyone else for this post.

To Escape Office Seekers.

New York, May 3.—Chairman McCombs, who sailed for Europe today to escape insistent office seekers, announced that he will continue his law practice upon his return.

Majority Leader Underwood championed the schedule with all his force on behalf of the ways and means committee and the president. As he did in caucus, Mr. Underwood declared the president was as much entitled to consideration in the making of the tariff as any other citizen, and he lauded him for his general approval of the measure as it came originally from the committee.

Committee Not Unanimous.

The open secret that the ways and means committee had first favored a 15 per cent tax on raw wool was freely discussed in the debate, and that the final vote of the Democratic members in committee was not unanimous was openly declared and unchallenged.

Many of the Democrats, freed from the binding rule of the caucus, were outspoken in their opposition to the schedule, the protesting majority members coming from Ohio, Texas, Indiana and other Western states. Those who voted against it in the caucus but who agreed to stand by the majority were silent in today's discussion, which promised to continue tonight.

Payne Offers Substitute.

Representative Payne offered as a substitute for the new wool schedule the Republican wool bill he introduced in the last congress. Representatives Murdock and Martin also had amendments. The schedule was read under an agreement for three and a half hours' general debate. Mr. Underwood urged that purely political speeches be avoided.

Representative Garner of Texas explained that those who advocated duty on wool first succeeded in committee, but free wool followed suggestions of the head of the party, the president.

"That," he added, "is nothing dishonorable. There isn't a gentleman on the Republican side who hasn't listened to suggestions from a Republican president."

Chocolate Rate Amended.

During the debate late yesterday the chocolate paragraph was amended raising to 25 per cent ad valorem the rate on sweetened chocolate imported for retail trade. The rate on unsweetened chocolate was left at 8 per cent. An attempt to raise the rates on potato starch failed.

At the end of the agricultural schedule, Representative Treadway of Massachusetts offered an amendment providing that the rates in the present Payne law should remain in effect until a "nonpartisan tariff board" can have time to report on the schedule. This evoked an extended debate, but went down to defeat by a vote of 46 to 68.

Schedule H, spirits and wines, was then taken up, but no amendments were even suggested to that schedule.

The split in the Republican minority of the ways and means committee on the question of offering a substitute for the cotton schedule was evidenced during the consideration of the cotton tariff. Representatives Moore of Pennsylvania and Fordney of Michigan insisted that minority substitutes were a waste of time, but Representative Gardner of Massachusetts offered a substitute for three paragraphs of the cotton schedule, a compromise between the Underwood and the Payne tariffs. This was voted down, along with all other amendments from the Republican side.

Some General Politics.

Many of the speeches really dealt with the paragraph of the tariff under consideration, but general politics and partisan personalities featured the debate.

Representative Thomas called the Progressive party a "patent medicine advertisement scheme," and criticized Representative Payne of New York for reflecting on President Wilson because the president went to New Jersey in connection with state legislation.

Representative Heflin of Alabama, declared that people did not realize that the real tax on the American dollar under the present tariff law was $2,400,000,000 instead of $300,000,000 of revenue tax, and arraigned the Republican claim that the law protected the American farmer and laborer.

ARGUE NELSON CASE IN SUPREME COURT

Kansas City Publisher's "Contempt" Denied By His Attorneys.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 3.—Arguments in the contempt of court case against William R. Nelson, editor and owner of the Kansas City Star, formed the principal order of business on the program of today's session of the Missouri supreme court. The case came to the supreme court on appeal from Kansas City, where last February Judge Joseph Guthrie of the Jackson county circuit court found Mr. Nelson guilty of contempt and sentenced him to a day in jail.

The sentence resulted from the publication in Mr. Nelson's paper of an article stating that Judge Guthrie had refused to dismiss a divorce suit settled out of court until attorney's fees had been paid. The article stated the couple who filed the divorce suit had been reconciled, and asked the judge to dismiss it.

Commissioner Charles C. Crow of Kansas, appointed by the supreme court to take depositions in the case, filed his report April 19, recommending that Mr. Nelson be discharged, and stating that the article which Judge Guthrie held contemptuous was substantially true in so far as a layman could report correctly a court proceeding. The report held Mr. Nelson had no "malicious intent" in publishing the article.

Attorneys for Mr. Nelson and a friend of the court, representing Judge Guthrie, were allowed an hour each for arguments today.

INDIAN PRINCESS CALLS OFF WEDDING

Daughter of Gaekwar of Baroda Starts Sensation By Her Action.

Bombay, India, May 3.—A sensation was caused today by the sudden breaking off of the projected marriage of Princess Indira, only daughter of the reigning Gaekwar of Baroda, to Prince Jitendra, son of the maharajah of Cooch Behar. The wedding was to have taken place in Calcutta on Monday next.

The princess announced her decision last evening and sailed this morning for England.

Elaborate preparation had been made for the ceremony, in which descendants of the two most prominent native rulers in India were to have been united. The reason for the step taken by the princess has not been divulged, but it is understood that it is probably a question of caste.

Such an occurrence is almost unique among the ruling families of India, and it is said to be traceable to the princess' unusual intimacy with English and American customs and life. The maharani of Baroda, her mother, is the author of "The Position of Women in Indian Life," and has advanced ideas on the subject.

The Gaekwar of Baroda rules over 8,000 square miles of territory and has 2,000,000 subjects. He is one of the wealthiest men in India and is a man of high education. His son, Shrimat Jaisingrao, studied at Harvard, and the Gaekwar himself has visited the United States.

Any Bank Rather Than No Bank

Better to have saved and lost than never to have saved at all. Even to have saved for years only to find your savings swept away is better than not to have acquired the saving habit.

But there is no need to see your savings swept away. There are many good and safe banks in which you may place implicit confidence. This is one.

Wisely and conservatively managed, it places its customers' interests above its own. It takes no dangerous risks with the funds intrusted to its care.

Savings Accounts can be opened here with as little as One Dollar, and we pay 3 per cent Compound Interest.

STRIKE CRIPPLES SALOON TRADE.

Paterson, N. J., May 3.—The silk workers' strike, which has now lasted nearly three months, probably will result in radical diminution of the number of saloons in Paterson. Many saloon keepers have not taken in enough money in weeks to pay their lighting bills, and say they will not apply for renewal of their licenses.

OTIS SKINNER IS VERY ILL.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 3.—The condition of Otis Skinner, the actor, who was operated on here last Thursday for acute mastoiditis, is causing the specialist considerable worry. His physician said today that the actor was recovering nicely from the operation, but that the poison from the abscess had infected Mr. Skinner's entire system.

MISSION EXHIBIT HELD IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, May 3.—The "World in Chicago," an exhibition and pageant illustrative of work in missionary fields all over the world, opened here today. One hundred missionaries were present. In the pageant "Darkness and Light" hundreds of persons are engaged. The show, which is for the benefit of foreign missions, will last five weeks.

APPEALS FOR HALF HOLIDAY

Mayor Urges Business Men to Remember Baseball Opening.

Says Duluth Is in Good Baseball Company at Last.

To the Citizens of Duluth:

The baseball season in Duluth is about to open, Monday, May 5, having been set as the day for the first game, the contesting teams being Duluth and Superior.

This game marks the commencement of baseball in this city under the auspices of the newly organized Northern league, a realization of the dreams of baseball enthusiasts for many years past, and which promises to give us the best season of baseball we have ever experienced. For some time past the people have eagerly anticipated the day when Duluth might become a member of a baseball league in which teams from St. Paul and Minneapolis were also entered, in order that Duluth might compare favorably with any of the cities of approximately 100,000 population, in matters pertaining to the great national game of baseball.

We must not lose sight of the fact that all the credit for a good baseball team, lies entirely with a few men who have worked unceasingly to make the game a success, giving freely of their time and also of their money.

Now that the desire of the people has been fulfilled, it becomes their duty to make an effort to lift the burden of expense from the baseball leaders by liberally patronizing the games to be played here this summer. It is to be hoped that Athletic park will be filled to overflowing on opening day, not only to cheer the home team in their efforts, but as a testimonial to the management that the people want to co-operate with them in their efforts to give us good, clean sport.

Not only does the game afford a great deal of enjoyment to its patrons, but a first-class professional team does an inestimable amount of advertising for the city.

It is to be hoped that all the business houses and offices will co-operate to the extent of declaring Monday afternoon a half holiday in order that their employes may attend the opening game and lend their efforts to make it a success.

Let us all get together and boost for the home team and attend the games often, as upon the patronage and support accorded this year, depends the success of the venture. It is now up to us to decide whether we want Duluth to be considered a real, live city or to be classed among the antiquated villages.

W. I. PRINCE,
Mayor City of Duluth.

Duluth, May 3.

BRAINERD NATURALLY DULUTH'S TERRITORY.

That good roads and good railroad service are making Brainerd and vicinity Duluth's territory is the opinion of C. A. Allbright of Brainerd, who is here on business. He says that the Moorhead-Brainerd road is ready for bond-voting, and as that is part of the Duluth to Moorhead road, it will place Brainerd right at Duluth's door.

It is expected that the road will be completed this fall, said Mr. Allbright; and he added that it is now much easier for Brainerd people to come to Duluth to do their trading than it is to go to St. Paul as they have been doing. Duluth is made much nearer by the improved Northern Pacific service, and the new good road will make it much closer for autoists.

AAD TEMPLE PATROL IS PLANNING A FRIENDLY INVASION OF FARGO, N. D.

J.W. McDONALD
PRES. PATROL

THOS. P. BRADLEY
POTENTATE

A.H. PAUL
CAPTAIN PATROL

Duluth Nobles of the Mystic Shrine are looking forward with considerable anticipation to a "big time" which has been sheduled at Fargo, N. D., during the first week in June, when the Fargo Masonic bodies and El Zagel Shrine will celebrate a "Grand Masonic Homecoming and Shrine Jubilee."

El Zagel temple has issued a special invitation to the Nobles of Aad temple of this city to be present on "Shrine Day," Friday, June 6. The Duluth Shriners have accepted and have sent back word to the Fargo Nobles that they will be "there with bells on."

Potentate Thomas P. Bradley, his official divan, the officers and members of Aad patrol and the Third Regiment band are expected to leave Duluth on a special train on Thursday evening, June 5. It is expected that in all between 75 and 100 local Shriners will attend.

Prof. A. F. M. Custance and his "Shrine girls" were given a special invitation to attend, but owing to the close of the school work at this time and the approach of graduation exercises, it could not be accepted. The Fargo Masons sent word that they would pay all expenses for this trip and see that the girls were well taken care of.

The special train will probably leave Duluth sometime Thursday evening, June 5, and will arrive in Fargo the following morning. The Duluthians will probably return Sunday.

The Fargo Nobles have arranged a Grand Masonic and Shrine pageant in which Aad patrol will take part. This will be held at 9:30 o'clock on Friday morning. In the afternoon there will be prize exhibition drill in which ten or twelve patrols from the Northwest are expected to participate. President J. W. McDonald of Aad patrol declares that the local drill team is expected to bring home the "first money." In preparation for this event, Aad patrol have been drilling for a number of weeks.

On the evening of Shrine day at Fargo there will be a ceremonial by El Zagel temple of Fargo. On Saturday, June 7, a fire festival and civic day entertainment has been arranged.

The twentieth anniversary of a big Fargo fire will be celebrated at this time.

The officers and members of the patrol, who will attend in a body, are: J. W. McDonald, president; William A. Coventry, vice president; Albert H. Paul, captain; Wallace P. Welbanks, first lieutenant; Charles C. Jones, second lieutenant; William A. Coventry, first sergeant; George A. Sherwood, second sergeant; Philip M. Hanft, bugler; Albert E. Botsford, Henry E. Grieser, August J. T. Hanft, Eugene W. Hanft, John Jenswold, Jr., Fred L. Koehler, Walter T. Leonard, Adolph J. Levy, John Smith, Robert R. Grant, Alex S. McDonald, Henry P. Gardner, John Cox, Ray Williams, Hogan Lindahl, Walter J. Johnson, Frank G. Scribner, Horace Brown, F. H. Ham, Ralph Pond, R. L. Lamphere, R. E. McFarlane, F. H. Farrell, James Kelly, Arthur Lane.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

THE mayor of Derby, England, is an enthusiastic educationalist. In order to become acquainted with school conditions in his borough, he made a tour of all the elementary schools and conducted his visits with a good deal of formality. In doing this he hoped not only to awaken public interest in the schools but to arouse civic interest in the children by giving them a short talk on the town's history and its charters.

The English mayor is evidently an enthusiastic educationalist for advertising purposes. American schools are visited by their various superintendents, or other executive officers, at frequent intervals. Their visits are not formal and they are not accompanied by a retinue or a brass band. They know what is going on all the time. Nor do they depend upon single, formal talks to instill civic patriotism and pride. The children's love of city and country is developed from the time they enter the schools and is emphasized and nurtured through the years of their public schooling, not only by the teachers but through the various programs which mark the occasion of all national holidays.

"SAFETY FIRST" IN THE SCHOOLS

Children Will Be Taught How to Avoid Accidents.

"Safety first" is spreading to the schools as well as among the railroads, and it is more than likely that a day or so each month will be set aside soon in the Duluth schools to be devoted to lectures of safety, illustrations of what to do and what not to do and the like. Children will be taught how to avoid serious accidents when crossing the streets and will also be shown how to be cautious at all times without being foolish. The city authorities indorse the proposed movement and hope that it will be brought about, for it will lighten the burdens of the police and other guardians of public safety, as well as preventing many serious accidents.

The plan has been inaugurated in various parts of the country and a league has been formed for its furtherance. Almost a quarter of a million children have been enrolled in the league. It is received everywhere with enthusiasm by the children, whom it is formed to benefit.

CURLING RINK MAY HOUSE EXPOSITION

Agricultural Show to Be Held in Connection With Industrial Display.

G. H. Bate, secretary of the Rotary club, is today looking over the new curling rink in the hope that it can be used for the proposed agricultural show in the fall, which will, if arrangements can possibly be made, be held at the same time as the proposed industrial exposition and home products affair.

It is hoped that these events can be held at the same time in order that a more comprehensive idea of what Duluth can and will do for the farmers now in this section and those who would come, may be learned. The proposal by the agricultural committee of the Commercial club that this be done in order to increase enthusiasm for farming hereabouts is being endorsed by each one who is asked about it, and there seems but little doubt that there will be a concerted movement started very shortly toward its fruition.

It is also likely that the show, if arranged, will take place in advance of the county fair, which is held each fall at Hibbing.

CAPITALISTS HALT ALASKA?

Washington, May 3.—As a result of testimony before the senate territories committee, representatives of the Morgan and Guggenheim interests in Alaska will be asked what they know of alleged threats to retard the development of the territory.

J. E. Ballaine of Seattle, before the committee yesterday, declared George W. Perkins had told him several years ago that the Morgan interests never would permit the development of Alaskan railways until coal claims there were obtained under government patents.

DECIDES BOY IS HER SON.

Opelousas, La., May 3.—After a second examination of the child taken from a tinker at Columbia, Miss., recently, Julia Anderson of North Carolina has declared she believes he is her son. Thursday she could not identify the boy as her own.

The Anderson woman's changing doubt and belief was regarded as paralleling that of Mrs. C. S. Dunbar of Opelousas, who, with her husband, claimed the boy as their son, Robert, kidnaped last August.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar asserted they would not give up the boy. They said they thought the Anderson woman was sincere in her belief. Nevertheless, they say, they think the trip and excitement have so dazed the woman that she is incapable of careful consideration.

If you will write me, as suggested above, in answer to this advertisement this very day, I positively can and will equip you, with twenty complete, combined, ready-to-start, live, lucrative mail order businesses, which you can begin operating right in the privacy of your own home, without an office, or any outlay for office equipment.

I CAN SET YOU FREE! I can deliver you from the grim grind! I can liberate you from the treadmill of the time-clock! I can tear the well-worn shackles of wage-slavery from your hands and feet! I can lift the thorns of boss-brow-beating from your forehead! I can do these things, brothers and sisters, because I was fixed just exactly as you are when I went into this business and made all this money. I had the same miserable doubts and mongrel fears—I, too, was once hand-cuffed to a job and gagged and speechless with boss-fright; ever-cowed, ever-cringing, ever-afraid of getting fired! Those were the things I decided I would be forever free from, and so I am! And so you, too, can be, if you will make up your minds to believe in me and write to me before this day's sun falls behind the horizon.

I will say no more—the opportunity is here, with its arms outstretched; today, right now, Dame Fortune raps on your door, and this message of mine to tell you about it has cost me thousands of dollars to send—it is flashed today across the country to all the ambitious men and women of America in all the walks of life—there is oceans of room for all of you in this business!

Whatever you do, get that letter or postal off NOW asking for my FREE BOOK, "How To Achieve Mail Order Success." Address, WALT C. CUNNINGHAM, President, The Mail Order School, Suite 6251, Brecht Building, Denver, Colorado.

WILL ASK BANKS FOR TIPS ON LAW.

Washington, May 3.—Thirty questions designed to bring out the views of bankers and economists about where and how the nation's currency system is at fault and what remedies are needed, were laid before the senate banking committee by Senator Hitchcock.

The list was referred to a sub-committee and probably will be sent to bankers throughout the country. Answers will be considered with any oral testimony that may be taken in making up the committee report.

REAL ESTATE FRAUD CHARGED.

Lafayette, Ind., May 3.—Joseph L. Snyder and Samuel F. Hall, two local real estate men and prominent socially, were arrested today on charges of being implicated in a confidence game in Chicago, and were turned over to the Illinois authorities. W. C. Myers, son of the leading banker of Francesville, also was arrested on the same charge.

Leonard A. Busby, 1428 East Fifty-seventh street, Chicago, the alleged victim, says he was swindled out of his $25,000 home in Evanston and an Indiana farm. Busby says he traded his home to Myers and Snyder for a farm. He said the farm was sold to him at $165 an acre, but it was worth only $50 an acre. The three men were taken to Chicago.

WANTS PAINT CREEK PROBE.

Washington, May 3.—Despite the settlement of the West Virginia Paint Creek coal strike, Senator Kern, the majority leader, is determined to press his senatorial investigation of conditions which led to it. He declared that appeals from Former Senator Watson to abandon the investigation because the strike was ended would be disregarded, and he would bring up his investigation resolution when the senate met Monday.

MICHIGAN BLUE SKY BILL SIGNED.

Lansing, Mich., May 3.—Governor Ferris has signed the Mobile bill, placing state fraternal insurance societies under state regulation, and also the so-called "blue sky" bill, which aims to prevent the sale of fraudulent stocks or securities.

COUNTY OUT OF DEBT.

Todd County Settles Last of Its Bonded Indebtedness.

Long Prairie, Minn., May 3.—Todd county is paying off its last dollar of public indebtedness this week. Bonds issued thirty years ago this month to secure funds with which to build the courthouse mature on May 16 and the county board has made arrangements for the payment of these bonds.

The money has been on hand for three years but the owners of the bonds refused to accept it as the bonds drew 7 per cent.

The original bonds were $25,000; $5,000 was paid some years ago; the balance or $20,000 is to be paid this week. The bonds are owned by parties residing in New York. It is not known who these parties are as payments are made at the Chase National bank at New York city but it is believed they belong to two aged women who are the heirs of the party who made the original investment in the bonds.

Want Woman Judge.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 3.—Petitions have been prepared asking Governor Johnson to appoint Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz as one of the six additional superior court judges recently authorized by the legislature for Los Angeles county. Mrs. Foltz is a Republican, and as a lawyer has practiced for years at the Los Angeles county bar. In the last campaign she supported Mr. Taft.

Silk Strike Spreads.

Jersey City, N. J., May 3.—Responding to appeals of silk mill workers in Paterson, where a strike of 15,000 workers has been in progress for several weeks, between 6,000 and 8,000 workers in the silk mills in northern Hudson county, near this city, have gone on strike. They make the same demands as the Paterson strikers—an eight hour day at an increase of about 20 per cent in wages. Ten hours is the present day's work.

Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets

Right Corsets for All

THE large woman may be majestic and stately or she may be shapeless and dowdy—it is all a matter of her corset and the way she wears it.

The manufacturers of Warner Corsets do not recognize one type of figure-perfection only, but have planned so thoroughly for the needs of every woman that the tall, the short, the slender and the plump may be alike improved in figure and carriage. You will never know the full beauty-possibilities of your figure, till you have worn the right Warner model.

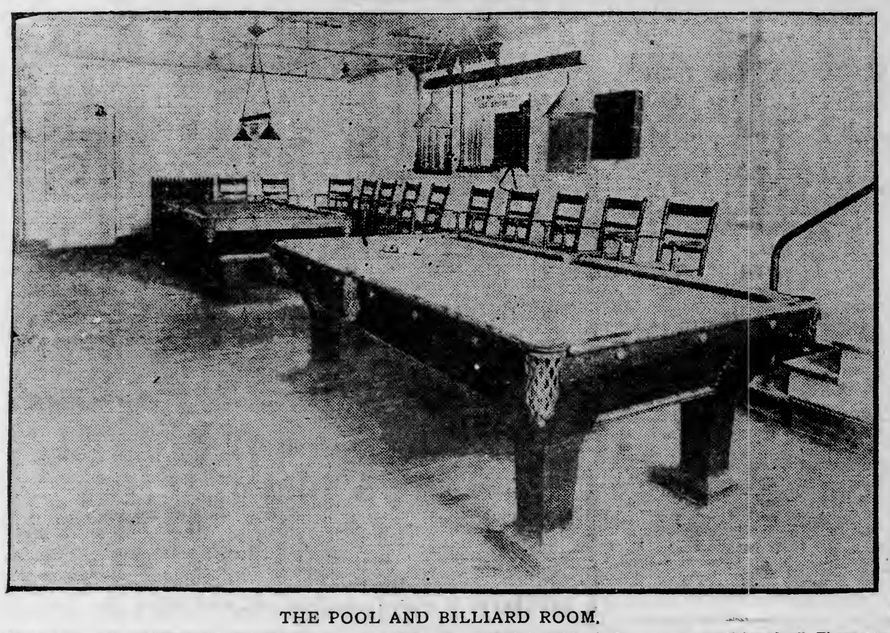
STREET RAILWAY COMPANY PROVIDES CLUB ROOMS FOR USE OF EMPLOYES

THE READING ROOM.



THE POOL AND BILLIARD ROOM.

At a cost of about $5,000 the Duluth Street Railway company has recently completed club rooms for the use of its employes. The rooms are located in the rear of the car barn, part of which has been partitioned off forthis purpose.

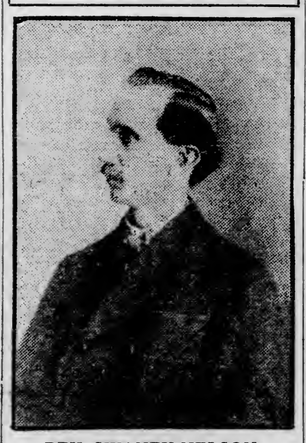
On the main floor is located the pool tables and lunch room. The lunch room is patterned after the style of dairy lunch rooms of the city. Adjoining this room the company has just installed shower baths for the employes.

The second floor is arranged for a general lounging room for the men. A branch of the public library contoining 200 volumes is placed at their disposal. The room also contains large library tables, a pianola, settees and easy chairs.

On one side of this room six small bedrooms are partitioned off. These are used for employes who happen to be caught out on the runs late at night.

A school for the employes is conducted in the latter room every Thursday, at which one of the officers of the company instructs the men in their duties on the lines. Religious meetings are also held in this room twice each week. Members from the Y. M. C. A. have been conducting the latter meetings.

MAKING PLANS FOR CONVENTION



REV. SWANEY NELSON.

A committee on general arrangements for the purpose of making the preliminary plans for taking care of the annual conference of Swedish Baptist churches of the United States and Canada to be held Sept. 9 to 14, was appointed at the meeting of the congregation of the First Swedish Baptist church last night. The conference will be held in the local church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street.

Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the church was appointed chairman of the general committee. The other members are Andrew Bergquist, Louis Bergquist, August Viren, Carl Person and Fred Paleen.

The preliminary plans include asking for the co-operation of the congregations of the Third Swedish and Swedish Finnish Baptist churches of West Duluth and the Bethel Swedish church of the East end, also the arranging for entertainment of delegates, musical programs for the days of the convention, and numerous other details.

Another meeting will be held within the month at which subcommittees will be selected for the purpose of carrying out of the minor details of the convention.

The congregation also selected Rev. Swaney Nelson to represent it at the annual convention of Minnesota churches to be held June 11 to 14 at Fergus Falls. It also made arrangements to supply credentials to any other members of the congregation who might wish to attend the conference.

It is expected that there will be about 400 regular delegates attend the national meeting here in the fall. It is planned to provide each of these with free lodging and breakfast. Local church people are of the opinion that fully 1,000 other members of the denomination will take advantage of cheap rates to the convention and will visit the city at that time.

Surprised By Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coon, 2214 West Third street, were pleasantly surprised by a number of their friends at their home last evening. Five hundred was played. Prizes were mon by Miss Mildred Olson, Mrs. J. Scholtes, J. MacGregor and Warren Crosby. The other guests were Messrs. and Mesdames J. McGregor, C. Emerson, M. Crowley, F. McNaughton, Ivers, J. Canval, J. Scholtes and F. Coons.

ROOSEVELT MAY SPEAK HERE

Will Be Invited to Celebration of Mindegave Society.

Committees for the purpose of working out the program and entertainment for a Fourth of July celebration to be given by the Nindegave society for the purpose of raising the $1,000,000 fund to be donated to Norway next year, were appointed at a meeting of the society held last night at L. A. Simonson's office. The society promised to raise $10,000 in St. Louis county as its share of the gift.

It was planned to hold the celebration at the ski club grounds north of Chester park. Invitations will be sent requesting Former President Theodore Roosevelt to be present, or in case he cannot come to have Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin give the principal address. Odin Halden, county Auditor, will take the matter up with the former president and the senator.

The committees appointed are as follows: L. A. Simonson, chairman; P. A. Nelson, Peter Fosness and Peter Severson of Proctor; publicity, John C. Wesenberg; sports and games, A. G. Anderson; finance, Odin Halden; decorations, John J. Moe; tickets, George Thrana. The personnel of the latter five committees will be selected by the chairmen.

The Mindegave society was organized last fall and has a membership constituting committees from nearly all Norwegian societies of the city and range towns. The officers are: Dr. H. Hovde, president; John J. Moe, vice president, and L. A. Simonson, secretary.

GOVERNMENT WINS IN COAL LAND CASE

Colorado Fuel & Iron Company Surrenders Nearly 3,500 Acres.

Denver, Colo., May 3.—Coal land involving 3,400 acres and valued at approximately $1,000,000, was surrendered to the United States government yesterday by the Colorado Fuel & Iron company in consideration of the dismissal of a suit involving 5,800 acres owned by the company.

Dennett Is Pleased.

Washington, May 3.—Fred Dennett, commissioner of the general land office, expressed gratification over the news of the settlement of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company case.

"It is a distinct victory for the government," he said. "That part of the land surrendered under the proceedings of compromise, aggregating nearly 3,500 acres, is very valuable. The original suit instituted by the government was for the recovery of about 9,000 acres. As to that part above 3,500 acres there probably was some doubt in the minds of the officials of the department of justice as to whether they could make a case in court."

COURT LIMITS STATE TAXING AUTHORITY

Interstate Receipts Held Not Liable to Levy By Ohio.

Columbus, Ohio, May 3.—In a decision handed down by Judge Thomas M. Bigger of the common pleas court, Ohio taxing authorites are denied the right to assess the interstate receipts of Ohio corporations. The decision was in the case of the Buckeye Pipe Line company, from which the state sought to collect $200,000 in taxes.

Judge Bigger based his decision largely on what are known as the Texas-Oklahoma cases, as decided by the United States supreme court.

MONTANA FEELS UTAH'S STRIKE.

Salt Lake City, Utah, May 3.—The strike of men employed in the various trades here has spread to Idaho and Montana. Vice President E. B. Smith of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers has called out all the employes of the concerns in other cities in which President R. W. Nicol of the Salt Lake Electric company is said to be interested. The cities in Montana and Idaho, whence the strike order was sent, are Butte, Billings, Helena, Great Falls, Missoula, Lewiston, Boise, Pocatello and Twin Falls, and Ogden, Utah. It is claimed nearly 200 men will quit work.

CARE FOR 1,000 GIRLS A YEAR.

Chicago, May 3.—One thousand girls a year come to the local Salvation Army rescue and maternity home, and of the children born there 85 per cent are illegitimate, according to the testimony of Miss Anna Hanstin, superintendent of the home, who was a witness before the legislative investigating committee today.

"We have taken care of all kind of girls—drug fiends, drunkards and women of the underworld, but the last predominate," said Miss Hanstin. "The only promise we exact of applicants is that they will nurse their own babies and take them with them when they leave."

UPSET, BILIOUS, SICK? "CASCARETS"

No Headache, Biliousness, Bad Taste or Constipation By Morning.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway through these alimentary or drainage organs every few days with Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters.

Stop having a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, coated tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

RAINS QUENCH FOREST FIRES

The rains of yesterday and today are reported to have squelched the forest and brush fires which were beginning to assume dangerous proportions in the country tributary to the city. Railroad men state that the fires which were blazing along their tracks have been put out and believe that the trouble has been ended for this spring.

MARQUETTE'S OLDEST MASON PASSES AWAY.

Marquette, Mich., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mirza Ransom Manhard, the oldest Master Mason in Marquette, and a pioneer hardware dealer of the Upper Peninsula, died Thursday of diabetes.

The passing of Mr. Manhard marks the close of a long and successful career as a business man in this city, which dated back to 1861, when, at the age of 21, he arrived from Canada. He was born in July 9, 1840, in Brockville, Ont., and was the son of William and Sarah (Clark) Manhard, both deceased. He is survived besides his son, by a brother, Howard Manhard of Walla Walla, Wash., and his sister, Mrs. Foster, who lives with her son, James C. Foster, in Newberry.

Mr. Manhard was the oldest Master Mason in Marquette, not in years, but in membership. He was a member of Marquette lodge, No. 101 of which he was master in 1874-1875. He was also a member of Marquette chapter, No. 43, R. A. M. of Lake Superior commandery, No. 30, Knights Templar, of which he was a past commander, and was a noble of Ahmed temple. Among the many Masonic distinctions he carried was that of founder and first patron of Presque Isle chapter, No. 103, Order of the Eastern Star.

CONVENTION IN SILENCE

State Association of Deaf to Meet in Duluth in July.

All Proceedings Will Be Conducted in Sign Language.

Next July Duluth will entertain the oddest convention the city has ever seen, when the annual meeting of the Minnesota Association of the Deaf will be held here.

All of the proceedings will be conducted in the sign language. The public will be invited to attend the convention and see the proceedings. The silent convention will be a decided novelty.

The Minnesota Association of the Deaf has about 300 regular members in good standing. The object of the association is to assist the aged and infirm deaf people of the state, and to assist young men and women to acquire a college education. The members have been active in suppressing imposters, and have had arrested and convicted about thirty in Duluth in the last two years.

The school for the deaf at Faribault is just completing its fiftieth year. It has enrolled in that period 1,577 students. Forty have later taken college courses and hold degrees. The graduates are engaged in about every occupation in which hearing is not imperatively demanded. They hold upward of $3,500,000 of real property in the state, and not one of the graduates of the school in fifty years has ever been convicted of criminal offense, nor is one dependent upon public charity.

Victor Spence of Faribault is president of the association, Dean Tomlinson of St. Paul, secretary, and Fred Brandt of Minneapolis, treasurer.

Jay Cooke Howard is chairman of the local committee making arrangements for the convention, and he is being assisted by H. L. Stafford, treasurer, and Miss Petra T. Fandrem, secretary.

DECLINES TO BE PRISON WARDEN.

Wausau, Wis., May 2.—Thomas H. Ryan has declined the position of warden of Fort Leavenworth prison, which was tendered him a month ago by President Wilson.

"The offer was in many ways attractive," he said, "but so much out of my line of professional work that I have thought it best not to consider it further."

WILSON TALKS ABOUT TARIFF

Says Protests Against New Bill Are Not From the People.

Last New Jersey Speech Contains Words on National Affairs.

Jersey City, N. J., May 3.—President Wilson last night interpreted the fight in New Jersey for jury reform and constitutional revision as part of the struggle of the American people to obtain, through the Democratic party, equal justice to all and special privilege to none.

Though he made no reference to legislative policies pending in Washington, the president indicated that the protests being voiced against the tariff bill were those of the special interests and not the masses.

"Some of my fellow citizens and some of their colleagues in Washington," he said, "now think that they are hearing the voice of the people of the United States when they are only hearing the part that has become vocal by moving down to Washington and insisting upon its special interests.

Who Make the Noise.

"As I sit in my office in Washington there are windows only on one side of the room and those windows look out upon a park and the Potomac river and the shores of Virginia on the other side, and I cannot see Washington from those windows, though I sometimes think that I can because Washington behind me is seething with special representatives of little things who are almost storming at the doors of the office itself, whereas out here are the cool, large spaces of the United States. And I would rather hear the whispers coming in at these windows here than the strident arguments coming at those doors."

The president had spent a strenuous day fighting throughout for the reform which he came to New Jersey to advocate. Last night, in the last speech of his trip, applause and expressions of approval interrupted him frequently as he assailed the influences in the state which he claimed were managing the populous country for private purposes.

KEEPS TWO WIVES ON $12 A WEEK.

Chicago, May 3.—Milo L. Lyon, a night watchman, has acquired a niche in the divorce court hall of fame for having succeeded in leading a double life for seven years on a salary of $12 a week. Judge Petit, in the circuit court, granted a divorce to Mrs. Margaret A. Lyon when she proved to him that Lyon had maintained another wife and three children during this time while he supported her and their four children, the oldest of whom is 21 years.

SUE ROCK ISLAND FOR $15,000,000.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 3.—Suit for approximately $15,000,000 in back taxes will be brought against the Rock Island Railroad company by the supervisors of Polk county, in which Des Moines is located, if the company refuses to pay this amount. The supervisors, in a resolution, authorized formal demand for the sum, and legal proceedings will be begun if necessary.

It is claimed the Rock Island company concealed $160,000,000 in moneys, credits and corporation shares and stocks during the last five years. Rock Island officials here deny that there has been any concealment of assets from county tax assessors.

Tobacco Habit Easily Conquered

A well-known New Yorker who has had wide experience, has written a book telling how the tobacco or snuff habit can be easily banished in three days without any return of the craving.

The health improves wonderfully after the nicotine poison is out of the system. Calmness, tranquil sleep, clear eyes, normal appetite, good digestion, manly vigor, strong memory and a general gain in efficiency are among the many benefits. No more of that nervous feeling; no more need of pipe, cigar, cigarette or chewing tobacco to pacify the morbid desire. The author Edw. J. Woods, 534 Sixth Ave., 889 E New York City, will send his book free on application, to anyone who writes to him.

CHAUFFEUR IS FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

Four Owners of Cars on Jury That Convicts Reckless Driver.

Chicago, May 3.—Lawrence Lindbloom, a chauffeur, who in 1910 ran over and killed Joseph Weise, was yesterday found guilty of murder by a jury in the criminal court and was sentenced to fourteen years' imprisonment. The evidence showed that Lindbloom was driving thirty-five miles an hour when his car struck Weise.

This was the first conviction for murder by automobile in Cook county, although there have been several convicted for manslaughter.

In instructing the jury, Judge Cooper said it had been shown that Lindbloom was driving his machine in such a manner as to endanger human life and they should find him guilty whether the killing was accidental or intentional.

Lindbloom, according to the testimony, ran the machine for two blocks after the accident, and stopped only when Weise's body became entangled in the machinery and stopped the automobile. The defendant testified he had been unable to stop in a shorter distance.

Four automobile owners were on the jury returning the verdict.

UNCLE SAM WILL TEST NET WEIGHTS.

Washington, May 3.—Preparatory to enforcing the "net weight" amendment to the pure food law, which requires the weight of contents of food packages to be marked on the outside, the bureau of chemistry is about to begin test shipments all over the country to determine what degree of shrinkage may be allowed in the regulations. Experts of the bureau will also go about testing automatic-weighing and bottle-filling machines.

TAFT OIL LAND ORDER AT STAKE.

Washington, May 3.—Assistant Attorney General Ernest Knaebel will leave Washington today for Cheyenne, Wyo., to argue on May 7 a case of far-reaching importance, testing the validity of the sweeping oil land withdrawal of President Taft in 1909. Upon the results of the Cheyenne suit and a similar case filed at Los Angeles, Cal., will depend the government's claim to thousands of acres of oil land in many Western states valued at millions of dollars.

President Taft made the withdrawal upon the assumption that he possessed the power, without action by congress. The act of June 25, 1910, affirmatively conferred upon the president the power to make the withdrawal. Between the original withdrawal in 1909 and a second confirmatory withdrawal under the act of congress, however, thousands of entries were made upon the lands.

John Mitchell Turned Down.

Albany, N. Y., May 3.—The Democratic senators in conference voted to sustain the adverse report of the senate finance committee on Governor Sulzer's nomination of John Mitchell of Mount Vernon, the labor leader, as labor commissioner. Later in regular session the senate rejected the nomination of Mr. Mitchell by a vote of 28 to 15. All the Republicans supported the nomination, but it was voted down by the Democratic majority.

Marriage to Negro Annulled.

Chicago, May 3.—The marriage of 16-year-old Emma Hanson of Niles, Mich., to George S. Thompson, a negro, aged 44, was annulled in the circuit court here yesterday. Thompson is held in jail, and it is said will be charged with the violation of the Mann act. He testified that the girl's parents had told him she was 17 years old.

Theatrical Man Kills Himself.

Boston, Mass., May 3.—While playgoers were being entertained at the Boston theater last night, William H. Lothrop, assistant manager of the house and widely known in theatrical circles, committed suicide by shooting. No reason is known for his act.

Have You Stricture; Are You Nervous or Fagged Out?

MEN

Have You a Bad Stomach, Varicose Veins or Rheumatism?

Or are you secretly suffering from the effects of early indiscretions or excesses. Do you have bad dreams? Are you gloomy, despondent or melancholy? Do you feel tired, exhausted and discouraged? Do you lack energy and ambition? Do you have vital drains, the result of weakness due to mistakes in early life? Do you have specks before the eyes and dull headaches? Are you easily frightened? Do you lack confidence in yourself? To be strong, vigorous and manly you must stop the vitality leaks. Then you will build up your mental and physical powers, and restore strength to weak organs as well as increase your money-earning power. Every man should awake to his true condition and not neglect his case by reason of false modesty.

You should not listen to people who are unfamiliar with the character of these ailments when proper treatment would save you much suffering and misery.

MEN, WHAT YOU WANT IS A CURE!

Our treatment will stop drains or vitality leaks. Our system of vitalizing will restore strength, power and vigor to weak organs. Our blood purifying, blood vitalizing treatment will drive blood poison out of your system, and do for you what no other treatment will do—cure you to stay cured. Successes are based upon indisputable and time-proven facts.

We do not want you to pay us one dollar for treatment unless you are perfectly satisfied in your own mind that we understand your case and its treatment.

Do not let money matters deter you from coming here at once. You will have no trouble to make satisfactory arrangements with us for a cure.

Our fees are reasonable and no more than any man is able and willing to pay. Moderate charges, fair dealings, faithful service and speedy cures are responsible for our large practice.

PASSING OF LANDMARK

Last Services Will Be Held in St. Paul's Church.

Old Building Is Closely Identified With Duluth's History.

"Memories of Old St. Paul's church" will be the subject of Dr. A. W. Ryan's morning sermon tomorrow at that church, the services tomorrow being the last which will be held in the old church. St. Paul's Episcopal, corner of Lake avenue and Second street.

Dr. Ryan has been rector of St. Paul's church for the past twenty years, leading in its steady growth, and A. F. M. Custance has been organist and choir director there for over twenty years, having added a great share to the success of the work which the church has done.

The first service was held in the old church on Christmas day in 1869. The church has been added to from all sides, making the present building, which has been as it now stands for about twenty-one years.

Two of the rectors of the church have been made bishops, Bishop F. R. Milspaugh and Bishop William M. Barker and another rector, Rev. Charles Cummings, was the founder of St. Luke's hospital in 1882.

Anothe rector, Dr. Poole, is now a professor of divinity at Faribault and one of the brilliant speakers was Rev. John Wainwright whose great grandchild, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Christensen, was baptised in St. Paul's church Easter evening this year.

The old church has been the scene of many weddings, notable in the history of Duluth.

Members of St. Paul's church have always been prominent on the boards of management of charities and philanthropies and in civic affairs generally.

The new church at Seventeenth avenue east and Superior street will be ready for services by next Sunday.

FAIRBAIRN HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Former Duluthian Victim of Accident in Southern City.

Charles T. Fairbairn, formerly of this city and well known here and on the ranges as the general manager of the Republic Iron & Steel company for a number of years, now general manager of the Southern division for the same company with headquarters at Burmingham, Ala., was struck by an automobile Thursday morning while crossing a street in his home city and his hip bone was fractured and he sustained other bruises. Following an X-ray examination at the South Highland Infirmary where he was taken after the accident the fracture was located and no other injuries reported.

F. J. Webb of this city, general manager for the Republic Iron & Steel company received a message from Burmingham stating that Mr. Fairbairn is getting along very well and resting nicely.

TWENTY-FIVE NEW CITIZENS

Four Are Refused Second Papers By Judge Cant.

At the monthly naturalization hearing held at the courthouse last evening by Judge Cant, twenty-five foreigners renounced allegiance to their native lands and swore fidelity to Uncle Sam. Four were denied citizenship.

Frank Rittell, who told Examiner Doe that if he had the $4 he had spent for first papers back, he would make no further effort to obtain full naturalization papers, was denied them upon the recommendation of Mr. Doe. The court also denied the applications of three other men who had been back to their old homes during their five-years' residence in the United States required by law. The residence must be continuous.

NETHAWAY WOULD SUCCEED MAXFIELD

Stillwater Man Is Candidate for Immigration Commissioner.

St. Paul, Minn., May 3.—J. C. Nethaway of Stillwater, former county attorney of Washington county, was today added to the list of candidates for state immigration, to succeed H. J. Maxfield. Mr. Nethaway was a candidate for the place when Mr. Maxfield was appointed, and was also at one time a candidate for assistant attorney general.

It is expected the vacancy will be filled before Governor Eberhart goes East next week, although the resignation of Mr. Maxfield does not go into effect until Aug. 1. Members of the board are desirous of making the selection as soon as possible, before candidates become too numerous.

NOT REPRESENTATIVE.

Fond du Lac Indians Object to Council Led By James I. Coffey.

Cloquet, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief Mike Diver of the Fond du Lac band of Indians called a council at the Indian village April 29 of which he was chairman, and Ben Loomis, secretary, to protest against the council previously held by James I. Coffey and other young men of the reservation, April 21. Resolutions were passed to the effect that the Coffey council was attended by only fourteen or fifteen young, mixed breeds and none of the older Indians; that Coffey does not live on the reservation and they do not want him to represent them; that they will not participate in the Cass Lake council of next Tuesday and "that it is our wish and desire to manage our own affairs ourselves and not have the affairs of our reservation confused or entangled with that of other reservations in this state."

Kensal, N. D., Paper Sold.

Kensal, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Editor Tufford has sold the Journal to E. D. Lum and L. P. Hyde of Valley City. The new owners will increase the equipment and greatly improve the paper.

Grafton to Have New Jail.

Grafton, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new county jail is to be constructed. This was decided upon by the commissioners following years of agitation and criticism of the fearful dungeon which has been used for that purpose. The new building will be two stories with basement and 32 by 65 feet, thoroughly modern and sanitary in every respect. Bids will be opened May 27.

Kindergartners Adjourn.

Washington, May 3.—Springfield, Mass., was selected as the next meeting place of the International Kindergarten union at the concluding session of that organization here.

TWO SWITCHMEN WIN.

Important Supreme Court Ruling on Liability Act Operation.

St. Paul, Minn., May 3.—The supreme court Friday upheld two decisions of the Hennepin county court in suits brought by switchmen against the Railway Transfer company. E. W. Denoyer is entitled to $1,500 awarded him and Edward McDonald will get $2,500. Both suits were brought under the Federal employers' liability act.

The transfer company appealed, alleging that the plaintiffs made no formal reference to the liability act in the complaint. The supreme court ruled that this is not necessary, it being sufficient to allege facts to bring the case within the terms of the act.

The decision is considered important as it expresses the opinion of the state courts on the operation of the employers' liability act.

SIX THOUSAND GET MORE PAY.

Kansas City, Mo., May 3.—Six thousand men, 1,500 of whom will live in or near Kansas City, will receive an increase in wages as a result of an agreement reached here between representatives of the various unions of shop crafts and the Missouri Pacific stock in the nine months ending March 31. In the same period the company's final surplus, after deducting nine months' dividends, was over $2,000,000 better than for the corresponding nine months of 1912.

Aside from the increase in gross earnings, the Northern Pacific's close attention to maintenance work and the beginning of a liberal program of repair work have featured the year. Of the nine months' gain of $7,605,941 in gross earnings about 60 per cent has been consumed by higher expenses. The more liberal outlay for maintenance accounted for $2,359,000 of this increase in expenses. Larger transportation costs accounted for most of the rest. Taxes were $455,931 higher than last year in the nine months.

Railroads

MANY STAPLES TRAINS.

Twenty-Four N. P. Passenger Trains Pass Through There Daily.

Staples, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—To protect human life at the crossing of its tracks here the Northern Pacific railway is putting up an electric tower with the latest improvements in the way of warnings of approaching trains.

The location of the tower is on Sixth street, at the crossing which divides the north and south sides of the city. At one time this city was located on the south side but since the growth started it has built up on both sides, the tracks dividing it in halves. The tower will be 22 feet in height, 13 feet by 21 feet and of brick. The De Mar Bros. of this place have the contract for building it. This tower will tell of the approach of trains when still at a great distance. Staples has twenty-four passenger trains daily now. Two new ones have been added the past week, one a fast Winnipeg flyer and the other the Duluth coast train.

SOO MAY NOT BUILD.

Financial Stringency May Halt Building Line Across Berthold Reservation

Ryder, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whether the Soo will extend its lines across the Berthold reservation this summer is the all-absorbing topic here. Hundreds of car loads of material are on the ground, the surveys are completed, a number of new towns have been started and in some instances stores have been erected in them, but the line may not be built this year after all. Contractors who have arranged to secure meat and feed supplies here have canceled their orders and it is announced the Soo will wait till next year because of the difficulty in financing the construction of the extension in view of the unsettled political conditions. Residents of the reservation are greatly wrought up over the apparent failure of the extension this season, as they had regarded it as a positive certainty.

Earnings Increase.

New York, May 3.—After apportioned charges, the Northern Pacific earned just about 7 per cent on its and Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroads. The men were also granted a nine-hour day. They have been working ten hours. The agreement goes into effect at once, being dated May 1.

The Rock Island granted an increase of 2 cents an hour to the men of the crafts, and the Missouri Pacific an increase of 1½ cents an hour. The increase affects boilermakers, machinists, blacksmiths, sheet metal workers, car men and painters as well as the helpers.

An increase of 2 cents an hour, granted recently to the shopmen of the Iowa Central and the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroads, was ratified by the heads of the unions.

Yardmasters Incorporate.

Papers of incorporation for the United Yardmasters' association, a new organization with headquarters in Duluth, were filed yesterday with the secretary of the state.

The association has been formed for the purpose of fostering co-operation and study among yardmasters and their assistants throughout the country. Branch divisions will be created wherever there are enough masters, either in the United States or Canada. The membership fee is placed at 25 cents.

The incorporators are: J. Murphy, Peter J. Sheehan, Daniel J. Flynn and Harry S. Conroy, all of Duluth.

WILL KEEP ORDER AMONG STRIKERS.

Charleston, W. Va., May 3.—In furtherance of his plans to maintain law and order in the strike regions of Cabin Creek, Governor Hatfield has appointed Maj. James J. Pratt, John Moore, a labor leader, and Deputy Sheriff C. H. Trowbridge to have absolute control of the policing of the district, and the only persons authorized to make arrests.

A similar commission for Paint Creek will be named later. Both districts still are under martial law.

Killed By Her Husband.

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—Mrs. Emma Hoehn was shot and killed at dinner here by her husband, Frederick Hoehn, from whom she had been separated. Hoehn went into his wife's home without knocking, and asking her to make up with him. She ordered him from the house, whereupon he shot her three times.

Maybray Gang Man Fined.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, May 3.—Isidor J. Warner, under indictment with J. C. Maybray and eighty-seven others for swindling by means of fake horse races and other sorts of sports, voluntarily appeared before Judge Smith McPherson in the United States district court yesterday and pleaded guilty. He was fined $500. The fine was paid.

Farm Buildings Burned.

City Has Fund of $235,000 Available for Improvements.

Several Contracts Have Already Been Let From This.

The monthly report of City Treasurer Grant McLean shows a balance of $277,040.56 in the permanent improvement revolving fund, out of which fund are paid the contracts for street improvements which were started last year or sooner, Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss estimates that the city has $235,000 available for that fund this season. The latter sum includes $90,000 of certificates which have not yet been sold, but which can be placed at any time under arrangements already made.

Out of the $235,000 available must come the $85,000 for the five contracts awarded last week, about $35,000 for the pavement of East First street, and approximately $35,000 for the paving of Twenty-third avenue west. Deducting the known coming expenditures as given above, the fund will have approximately $80,000 available for additional street improvements. Among the most pressing is the improvement of Seventh street from Fourth avenue west to Fourteenth avenue east. This will be graded to a width of forty feet to Seventh avenue east and to a width of thirty feet between Seventh avenue east and Fourteenth avenue east. The additional width west of Seventh avenue east is due to the contemplated extension of a street car line on that part of the street. The district is well built up and it will not be long before the extension will be made. The estimated cost of the job is $82,000, but Commissioner Murchison anticipates that a much more favorable bid will be received when the bids were opened next week.

Other Jobs.

Other jobs calling for early attention are the improvement of Princeton avenue and Vermilion road, estimated at $27,000; Vernon street, estimated at $17,000; Allen avenue and Eighth street estomated at $9,000, and the sewer system of Duluth Heights. Because of lack of funds in the revolving fund these cannot all be let this season.

Among the jobs started last season are the improvement of East Fourth street between Twenty-third and Twenty-seventh avenues, Parkside avenue, Twenty-seventh avenue west, Kent road and the Park Point sewer system. Money is being held in the fund for all of them as well as for the Polk street sewer, the construction of the outlet of which is still pending. No assessments can now be made for jobs until they are completed and the cost known.

LANDLORD'S CLAIM IS DISALLOWED

Probate Court Holds Agreement of Boarder Does Not Constitute a Will.

In probate court, Judge Gilpin has disallowed the claim of W. A. Smith, a boarding housekeeper at Virginia, to the estate of John Herbert, and has declared that the agreement which was entered into between Smith and Herbert prior to the latter's death, cannot be construed to have the effect of a will.

Herbert was a boarder at Smith's place and the agreement which Smith presented to probate court showed that Herbert had paid Smith $15 a month for board and lodging and that there was an understanding that all of his estate was to go to Smith, his landlord, after his death.

A short time before his death, Herbert was injured while in the employ of a mining company. He received a cash settlement and at his death his estate was worth about $1,800.

In probate court, relatives of Herbert protested against the estate being given to the landlord on the agreement. It was claimed that Herbert was an eccentric character and made a number of such agreements.

Shy at Wahpeton Fair Job.

Wahpeton, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A man is wanted to take the presidency of the Richland County Fair association and wipe out the $10,000 deficiency. During his absence George Van Arnam, county judge, was elected president, but he declined. Vice President Hughes, who served seven years as secretary, declines advancement and Secretary Woods will not quit his present position.

Hooray! Baby To Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear the Greatest of All Human Blessings.

It is a comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."

This is a penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous, twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the babe.

The occasion is, therefore, one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress cannot be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, prenatal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generation to come.

You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. Write to-day to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 230 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for an instructive book.

MANAGER IS CHOSEN

H. A. Berg Will Have Charge of Remedial Loan Association.

Harry A. Berg, who has had several years experience as a loan agent in Duluth, has been selected as manager of the Duluth Remedial Loan association which will open offices within the next few days at 402 First National Bank building.

This was decided upon this morning at an adjourned meeting of the board of directors. It has been decided to take over the offices of the Security Mortgage Loan company which discontinued business here a short time ago.

Mr. Berg, who will be manager of the remedial loan business, was manager of the business of Security Mortgage Loan company for several years.

It is expected that the new company will be in a position to make loans on Monday, May 12. At the directors' meeting today, provision was made for office furniture, stationery blanks and other equipment.

NEW GARAGE AND AUTO AGENCY

Carter Car Will Be Sold in Duluth By G. Obermeyer.

Duluth has a new auto garage and a new auto agency. The car that is being handled is the Carter car, a nifty and competent machine.

G. Obermeyer, the local agent, who has established himself in a handsome garage on First avenue west between First and Second streets, will soon give a public demonstration of what his car can do in the way of heavy hauling as well as in the way of speed. In this connection he tells the following:

"A most unusual motor car test was made last week when Teddy Tetzlaff, the great racing driver, went for a drive over the country roads of California in a Carter car. Tetzlaff has always driven the most powerful geared racing cars he could secure, but when he drove the Carter car up 50 per cent grades and on the rough country roads at a rate of fifty-five miles per hour, he was astonished and enthusiastically declared that the car was a wonder.

"Tetzlaff is an expert mechanician, but he would hardly believe that such efficiency could be embodied in such a simple car. The Carter is the car that has been attracting so much attention because of its ability to climb 50 per cent grades and carry a full load at the time.

"This was the first car to successfully adopt the simple form of gearless transmission, and although it has not been pushed to any great extent, it is today one of the most popular medium-priced cars."

To End St. Croix Logging.

Stillwater, Minn., May 3.—The St. Croix Boom company will commence sorting logs Monday. There are 15,000,000 feet in the boom and about 50,000,000 in the flowage of the Nevers dam. It is expected all these will be turned over to owners in this city early in the summer and that will finish logging on the St. Croix.

PROTECTION FOR "EASY MARKS"

A scheme for saving "easy marks" from parting with their money has been evolved by the postal department. This scheme is especially directed against the Spanish fortune game, practiced by swindlers of Europe.

A blacklist containing 1,000 names of these foreign swindlers is kept on file at the local postoffice and any letter addressed to them will be withheld, according to information given out by Postmaster A. F. Cook. There is no law to prevent the people of this country from receiving these pathetic letters telling of fortunes hidden away, but the department has adopted the better method of preventing the swindlers from getting the answer.

WEST DULUTH TELLS ITS NEEDS TO COMMISSIONERS

Hicken Says Lid Is Not as Tight as It Will Be.

Prince Asks Citizens to Crystallize Sentiment on Improvements.

"You gentlemen may think that the lid in Duluth is tight, but I want to assure you that it is not and that I know it," said Commissioner W. A. Hicken last night at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club. "But I want to assure you that it will not take us long to find the leaks and when we do we will cement that seam so that it will not leak again. The idea is here to stay and will stay on while the present commissioners are in power."

The meeting of the club was one of the best attended held this year. Prominent among the features of the meeting were addresses given by the members stating forth the needs of this end of the city. Those were enumerated as the highway between Duluth and West Duluth, the road to New Duluth for the ultimate building of the street car line extension; the completion of the Getchell road so as to connect with Proctor and the farming community north and west on the Morris-Thomas road; the opening of Roosevelt street and other intersections crossing the Northern Pacific railroad and running in an eastern and western direction, and the condemnation of the present firehall and the building of a new one.

David Sang opened up the discussions. He mentioned the completion of the Grand avenue road to the steel plant and the finishing of the Getchell road as being the principal needs of this end of the city. He congratulated the commissioner of public safety on the lid question and the stand the entire commission had taken in this matter.

Poolroom Evil.

Harry W. Lanners, judge of the West Duluth municipal court, said that it was not the intention of the club to criticise the work done by the commission, but to ask for its co-operation in getting improvement for this end of the city. He praised the work accomplished by Commissioner Hicken in placing a lid on Duluth. He also touched on the poolroom question, stating that in many instances these were the breeding spots for crime and that the young boys often took their first downward step as a result of the influences surrounding them. He also said that in some of the pool halls a substitute for beer was sold under the name of malt ale. This he averred was an intoxicant. He said that the use of morphine and other obnoxious drugs resulted from frequenting those places.

M. J. Filiatrault also touched on the New Duluth roadway and stated that another just as important factor was the paving of a thoroughfare between West Duluth and Duluth. He said that the property owners of Oneota street and Superior street stood ready to have this work done and that the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad was willing to pay its share.

Bridge Problem.

"The bridge situation is another important question in this end of the city," said Mr. Filiatrault. "The city has built a great many wooden structures in past years, made repairs on them hundreds of times and today they are ready to be torn down, useless and in fact dangerous. What the commission should do is to take lessons from the past and when a bridge question comes up, to either make a fill of it or else construct a concrete bridge which will last for some time. The opening of Roosevelt street and other streets leading to the western end of the city which crosses the Northern Pacific railroad should be reopened at the earliest moment. The railroad should be compelled to give back these valuable right-of-ways."

P. H. Martin spoke of the immediate need of a highway to the farming community and said he hoped the commission would find its way to lend its support to the immediate completion of the road over the hill.

Mayor Prince was called upon to speak. He congratulated the club on its activities in municipal affairs and assured the members that the entire commission was always willing to hear suggestions from the body. "We realize that this end of the city is on the verge of its most rapid growth. Substantial improvements are being made everywhere. We are greatly impressed with the magnitude of the steel plant and other industries of this end of the city. We also realize that the most pressing need is transportation facilities between the city proper and West Duluth, and between West Duluth and the steel plant.

"A recent inspection of the fire hall convinced me that it is not what it should be, but we have assurances that it will probably last a short time longer. It is our purpose to ask this community to crystallize its sentiment on the improvements most needed and they will be taken care of as soon as it is possible to get around to them.

Appalling Problem.

"The problem of public improvements is an appalling one. You can multiply your needs with that of every other section of the city and you can see what we are up against. All we can do is to ask the club to simmer its needs at present down to the most urgent ones in order that they may be first carried out. The members of the commission are all anxious to co-operate heartily with the West Duluth Commercial club.

"The city is said to be addicted to a disease called 'Hickenitis,' but I assure you that there will be no need to feel in danger of it," said Commissioner Hicken. "I have survived the disease for a great many years. The disease is here to stay, but it will hurt no one.

"As a member of the commission, I wish to say that we are only human and may err in our ways. But the error will be only of the mind and not of the heart. It is our intention to serve the community to the best of its interest.

"The city has been working under a 'panic charter' for years. It has been handicapped. The roads have been run down. We are now in a constructive period and the commission is going to give the best there is in them to pass over this period safely.

"The watchword will no longer be 'Watch Duluth Grow,' but it will be 'Watch West Duluth Grow.' We are not going to make any promises we cannot carry out and we are not in any way tied down to any special interest and therefore can give the city the best there is in us for its government.

"In the matter of building bridges I would advocate the issuance of bridge bonds. Let the future geenrations help pay for concrete bridges and permanent improvements of like nature. A fund for paying off such bonds can be set aside each year and we will be able to enjoy the pleasure of having the improvements now."

Thomas Olafson called the attention of the commissioners to the practice of the Canadian Northern in switching cars at the Redruth street crossing. This intersection he said was used by many people wishing to get to the Thomson road. The switching crews he averred kept the highway in a continual hazard and hs advocated that the commission compel the road to provide either a watchman at the crossing or else compel it to do less of its switching at that point. He also said that the company left a large number of its freight cars on its spur track leading through Fairmont park.

"There will be three principal business sections in Duluth. The first will be uptown, the second in West Duluth and the third in the vicinity of the steel plant," said W. C. Sherwood. "In a few short years it is probable that West Duluth will become the principal business section. Duluth is today the best city in the Northwest. Reports from Denver say that there are 12,000 vacant houses there and in Spokane there are 7,000 vacant buildings. Even conservative Portland is overbuilt. Here it is different. We find it difficult to get homes for those seeking them.

"I am glad that we have a commission that knows no section, one that will treat all alike. It will assure us of a speedy realization of a good highway between the city proper and the western end of Duluth."

County Commissioner Charles Kauppi promised financial support from the county towards the building of the highway over the hill. He said that the county was willing to give its aid if the city did its share which would amount he said to about $3,000.

W. B. Getchell said that one of the matters which had not been mentioned was that of purchasing the addition to Fairmont park. He stated that condemnation proceedings for th's property had already been started and hoped to see the present commission carry them out.

J. J. Frey enumerated a number of the improvements wanted and complained also of a poor method of laying cement sidewalks in this end of the city. A short talk was also given by M. T. Carlson and A. G. Macaulay.

DRIVERS STRIKE AT A FUNERAL

Demand Pay Before Bringing the Mourners Back Home.

When mourners attending the funeral of Arcangelo Pitorcia at Calvary cemetery were ready to return home yesterday afternoon they found they confronted a "strike" among the three hack drivers. The drivers refused to bring them back to the city unless they found the $15 due them for their services immediately forthcoming.

Antonio Puglisi, proprietor of a macaroni factory in West Duluth, who had charge of the arrangements, objected, but his objections were of no avail, the drivers stating that he would have to "come across" before the party of six men and six women could ride. He "came across."

Last evening Mr. Puglisi appealed to the police but was informed that he would have to interview an attorney. In speaking of the "strike" this morning he said that the mourners did not get their money's worth as they were put out of the rigs on arriving downtown instead of at West Duluth as bargained for.

He intimated that court proceedings would be started to get back some of his money.

LIBRARY WILL BE OPEN ON SUNDAY

West Duluth Adults Will Have Chance to Exchange Books.

As a result of activity of members of the West Duluth Women's Christian Temperance union the West Duluth public library will be kept open on Sundays. The new order will go into effect tomorrow and the branch will be held open for the public from 2 to 9 o'clock.

An assistant will be at the library from 2 to 6 o'clock, during which time people will be able to exchange books. After 9 o'clock only the reading room will be open. The new feature is expected to prove popular with residents of this end of the city.

Miss Francis Earhart, Duluth librarian, announced this morning that no children will be permitted on Sundays, it being the wish of the librarians to give the institution over to the adult population entirely.

MILL REPAIRED AND WILL REOPEN

Rainy Lake Plant Will Operate Double Shift All Winter.

The Virginia & Rainy Lake sawmill on Grassy Point, which has been closed down for a week while repairs have been made to the machinery, will start operations again on Monday morning. A double shift similar to that employed during the past winter will be used.

The mill employs 350 men on its two shifts. The management expects to cut about 30,000,000 feet of lumber this summer. A supply of logs that will keep the mill operating continually is on hand and several train loads are scheduled to arrive each week to keep the booms well filled.

The mill closed down last Saturday and during the past week has been given a thorough overhauling. A number of new safety devices have been installed.

OFFICER HURT WHILE STOPPING RUNAWAY.

While trying to stop a runaway horse at 6 o'clock last evening, Lieut. Charles E. Wilcox of the West Duluth police station badly injured his left leg and left hand. A horse and rig belonging to Bilsey & Peterson was coming at full speed west on Grand avenue and in making a grab for the animal the lieutenant was thrown to the street, and dragged several feet, one wheel of the wagon passing over his leg.

This morning he was able to be about but limped slightly. In addition to injuring his leg and hand he had his clothes badly torn.

RAISE WAGES AT STEEL PLANT

Company Adds Twenty-Five Cents a Day to Present Scale.

The Minnesota Steel company has taken a step that is important to the laboring men working at the new steel plant and those who will hereafter be employed. The company has raised the wages of this class of labor 25 cents a day. Heretofore the company has been paying $2.25 a day, but found it necessary to raise the figure to $2.50 a day. Considerable difficulty has been found in obtaining the necessary number of laboring men for work in the construction of the plant, and it was felt that only by offering an inducement in the way of additional wage could a sufficient supply be kept on hand.

The work is increasing daily, and with the determination of the company to increase the plant beyond the original plans, added to which is the desire for haste in construction, it became necessary to enlist the services of all the men obtainable.

About 300 to 400 men are affected by the rise in wages, and others who will now be enrolled will also be affected in the same way.

BALFOUR LEE PASSES AWAY

Had Been Employed By Lumber Company for Sixteen Years.

Balfour Lee, 60 years old and a well known resident of the city, died early this morning at his home, 840 Garfield avenue, of pneumonia. He was taken sick only last Monday.

Mr. Lee has been in the employ of the Alger-Smith company for sixteen years and at the time of his death was acting as superintendent. Besides his wife, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Louis A. Leppke of Omaha, Neb., and three sons, Robert E., Albert J. and Charles B. Lee of this city. The funeral arrangements have not been completed. Interment will probably be at his former home at Alpena, Mich.

SAYS U. S. MUST HELP IN ALASKA.

Washington, May 3.—Falcon Joslin, president of the Tanana Valley railroad told the senate territories committee today that about the only way to assure railway construction in Alaska from the seacoast to the interior was to provide government assistance. Mr. Joslin approved the Chamberlain bill authorizing a government bond issue of $35,000,000 for the construction of 733 miles of road.

MARINE NEWS

FIFTEEN BOATS CAUGHT IN ICE WITHIN SIGHT OF DULUTH HARBOR

BUCKING THE ICE PACK.

None of the boats which left the Duluth and Superior harbors after 11 o'clock last night was able to make any headway after getting out of the entries.

The ice outside of the harbor was jammed up thick after the heavy winds of yesterday had ceased blowing late in the evening and most of the boats were caught just outside of the canal.

A number of incoming boats have been sighted within a few miles of the harbor and they have practically given up all hope of getting out of the ice for several hours. The steamer Shenango, which is coming for an ore load, is fitted out with wireless and local officials of the Shenango Furnace company have been communicating with her all morning. She is about two miles out.

The captain of the vessel reports that the ice is very thick a few miles out and that it is impossible to break through at present. A change in the wind is expected and should the shift come before nightfall it is believed that the boats will be able to get into the harbor. The J. C. Wallace, Ward Ames and Zenith City are also reported marooned in the ice several miles out. There are about twenty boats in all within sight of the harbor.

The Northern King, which left at 11:30 o'clock last evening and the first of the boats to get jammed in the ice, began moving just about noon. She was making little headway at the time. With a change of wind it is believed that the boat will be able to make a path that the other boats will follow.

Several boats are also reported jammed in the ice outside of the Superior entry.

It has been very foggy during the morning and it has been rather hard to make out the names of the boats marooned just outside of the Duluth entry. The boats that left since 11:30 o'clock last night are: McIntosh, Norway, Ball Bros., Samuel Morse, J. H. Bartow, Livingstone, L. C. Waldo, M. Mullen, William A. Paine and the Northern King. The last boat left here at 6:30 o'clock this morning, it being the McIntosh.

No boats have arrived since late last evening. The last boats to enter the local harbor were the steamer Fitch and the barge Maitland. The Maitland is the first barge to arrive in the local port this season.

HALF GRAIN STOCKS GONE

Boats Have Taken 16,000,000 Bushels Since Opening of Navigation.

Rush to Reduce Stocks Before Assessor Makes His Visit.

Nearly half of the 32,000,000 bushels of grain, which was afloat or in storage at the Head of the Lakes during the past winter, has already been shipped to Eastern ports.

Up to last night the total shipments from Duluth and Superior amounted to 14,248,000 bushels. There are several elevators, which have not yet reported their shipments yesterday, and it is the belief of local shippers that the total will easily reach the 16,000,000 bushel mark. This would make it exactly half of the 32,000,000 bushels afloat and stored here during the winter.

Of the total shipped so far it is estimated that about 6,000,000 bushels have been shipped from Superior and about 10,000,000 bushels from Duluth. Most of this grain has been shipped to Buffalo, although small cargoes have been sent to several of the small Eastern ports. Nearly 6,000,000 bushels of grain is estimated to be afloat in the Buffalo harbor at the present time, owing to the delays in reaching the elevators.

The reason such a record shipment has been made is that most of the shippers were anxious to get their grain out of the elevators before May 1, after which a tax is charged by the state for all grain stored here. This is also true of Wisconsin.

From now on the grain shipments are not expected to be so heavy. The season has now been open since April 17, when the first boat left the local harbor.

AMERICA NOT IN ICE PACK

North Shore Boat Left Port Arthur Several Hours Late.

The steamer America of the Booth line is expected to arrive in the local harbor late tonight.

It was thought this morning that the steamer might be jammed in the ice several miles off the harbor, but local officials of the line received word this noon that the America did not leave Port Arthur until 6 o'clock last evening and as a result is somewhat delayed. She was scheduled to leave Grand Marais this noon, arriving here tonight.

Had the boat left yesterday noon according to schedule, she might have been caught in the ice jam several miles out of the city. The boat is not equipped with wireless and it is impossible to communicate with her.

Grain for Sandusky.

Sandusky, Ohio, May 3.—Several consignments of grain will come to this city from Duluth, was the announcement received at the Baltimore & Ohio railway freight office Thursday afternoon. The names of the carriers were not announced. Little grain has been shipped through Sandusky for several years.

Body Is Found.

The mysterious disappearance of Harold Sharkey, son of C. H. Sharkey, master of the steamer Scranton, at Fort William last fall, was solved Thursday, when a body identified as that of the boy, was found in the Fort William harbor. Harold was on a trip up the lakes with his father and while the boat was in the harbor disappeared.

SHOALING IN HARBORS

United States Engineer Inspects Ontonagon and Grand Marais.

Examinations of the Ontonagon and Grand Marais harobrs were made last week by Capt. E. D. Peek of the corps of United States engineers. It was discovered that a considerable amount of shoaling has occurred at the Ontonagon harbor, while a sand bar has formed at the entrance to the Grand Marais harbor.

The complete report of the inspection trip follows:

"An examination of the Ontonagon entrance and harbor made April 28, 1913, by the United States watchmen shows a considerable amount of shoaling to have occurred since the dredging last summer. In the lake approach the available depth is 14 to 15 feet, where the depth last August was from 17 to 19 feet. eBtween the entrance piers the dredged canal on the western side now has a least depth of about 15 feet. The channel leading from the entrance piers to the lumber dock on the east side of the harbor has a depth of about 15 feet, and about 9 feet up to the Commercial dock. On the west side of the harbor there is an available depth of only 7 feet up to the Ontonagon Lumber & Cedar company's dock.

"With present depths vessels could enter and take on moderate loads of lumber at the east side of the harbor. A dredge will be sent down to the harbor and started on the removal of shoals as soon as ice conditions in the lake permit.

"An examination of the entrance of the Grand Marais harbor by the United States inspector on the date of April 29 shows no change in the depth of the channel with a width of about 200 feet, the same as found in July, 1912, but shoaling has occurred in the lake directly in front of the entrance where a sand bar has formed at a distance out of about 300 feet from the front light, having a least depth of 16 feet at low water for a distance less than 100 feet. The bar is narrow and extends nearly across the front of the entrance. Outside and inside of this bar the depth is greater than 20 feet. This bar will be dredged out at as an early date as possible. Until this is done vessels should use caution in entering.

"It may be noted that there is better water over the easterly portion of the above mentioned bar. About 100 feet to the east of the center of the channel there is a depth of 18 feet over the bar, and at a distance of 200 feet east of the center of the channel there is a depth of 20 feet. By bearing this fact in mind vessels with a greater draft than 16 feet might be able to enter the harbor unless the sea should be too rough."

SCHOONER GOES DOWN

Iron City Sinks After Being Rammed By the Cole.

All Members of Crew Escape in the Life Boats.

Detroit, Mich., May 3.—The schooner Iron City, 187 feet long, went to the bottom in the St. Clair river today after a collision with the steamer Thomas F. Cole, 580 feet long. Her crew escaped safely in lifeboats. The Iron City, owned by White, Gratwick & Mitchell of Tonawanda, N. Y., was upbound when the accident occurred at the head of Harsen's island, opposite Algonac.

The Cole, downbound, is said to have escaped serious damage. The cause of the accident has not been determined.

STEAMER W. H. MACK REPORTED ASHORE

Boat Runs Aground in Fog at Whitefish Point.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has been received here that the steamer W. H. Mack of the Jenkins fleet is ashore at Whitefish Point. No particulars are yet obtainable, the only word being received is the fact that she is ashore and that a tug is needed. The tug Schenck of the Great Lakes Towing company left this morning to try to pull the steamer off.

It is presumed that the Mack went ashore in a fog.

ALONG THE LAKES

An inspection certificate was refused the steamer Charlemange Tower, Jr., which wintered at Milwaukee, by Local Inspector Van Patten and Collins of that port. Rotten condition of the boat's hull was the reason for the refusal.

IF BUSINESS INTERFERES

With Baseball, Postpone Business for Once, Say Commissioners.

Much Routine Business Is Transacted at the Morning Session.

Who will be so bold and brave as to declare that Duluth's new city commissioners do not stand sponsor for the great national game of baseball?

Because the baseball season opens in Duluth Monday afternoon the meeting, which the commission had scheduled for 3 o'clock that day, was continued today until Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Just before the meeting adjourned at 12:15 today Mayor Prince announced that the commission had been extended an invitation to attend the opening game in Duluth. He stated that automobiles will be provided to form part of the procession, which will start from the city hall at 2 o'clock. Would the commissioners accept the invitation? Yes, indeed; they would accept the invitation.

Some one pointed out that the commission had planned to hold a meeting Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. No official action to that effect had been taken, the agreement having been informal. Therefore the commission adjourned today until Tuesday morning instead of until 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Routine Meeting.

Necessary routine business was transacted at the commission meeting today, called shortly before 12 o'clock. The payroll for the month of April was read and approved. The new commission passed upon the amounts due the officials who held office under the old form until noon of April 14 as well as upon those who have been working for the city since that time under the commission form.

City Clerk Charles S. Palmer stated that he is daily receiving requests from outside municipalities as well as from Duluthians for copies of the new charter and the housing ordinance, with scattered calls for other ordinances. At the next meeting the commission will probably give an ordinance appropriating from $200 to $250 for the purpose its first reading.

An ordinance allowing $260 for the purchase of a new motorcycle for the police department was given its first reading, as was another allowing $630 for the purchase of a team of horses for the fire department.

The ordinance appropriating $8,000 for lumber for the current season was given its third reading and passed.

The first application for a license to sell cigarettes under the new law was received from the Stone-Ordean-Wells company. It was referred to the division of public safety.

The contracts for sprinkling city streets with water were finally approved. An ordinance has been passed allowing $15,000 for that purpose.

A. Terryberry, architect, asked the commission to set a date for hearings on the new housing ordinance. He stated that some of its provisions are discriminating and unfair. The sentiment of the commissioners appeared to be that ample opportunity had been afforded to express opinions upon the ordinance before it was passed. The communication was referred to the division of public safety. The hearings were not held before the old council but were conducted by a special committee appointed to handle the proposition.

The Salvation Army asked that it be exempted from the provisions of the wheelage tax. The army has three single wagons and has already paid the $9 required by the ordinance, but would like to have the money refunded. Doubt was expressed as to the advisability of establishing such a precedent. The communication was received and filed.

TAKES FAMILY ON ARCTIC TRIP.

Seattle, Wash., May 3.—Capt. Frank E. Kleinschmidt, who made an extended cruise of the Bering sea and the Arctic ocean last year gathering specimens of birds and animals, for the Carnegie Museum of Pittsburg, left today on the power schooner P. J. Abler for another cruise of seven months in northern waters. Capt. Kleinschmidt is accompanied by his wife and two children, and two taxidermists.

In August the schooner will put in at Nome, Alaska, to pick up Marshall Schuli and A. M. Collins of Philadelphia and Dr. Elting of Albany, N. Y., who will join Capt. Kleinschmidt in a big game hunt in the Arctic.

HISTORY OF DULUTH AND ST. LOUIS COUNTY IS OUTLINED IN THE DUSTY RECORDS NOW ON FILE IN THE VAULTS OF THE NEW COURTHOUSE

SOME INTERESTING THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT THE EARLY HISTORY OF THIS COUNTY.

St. Louis county was organized on March 3, 1855, under the Minnesota territorial government and by the proclamation of Hon. Willis A. Gorman, second territorial governor.

First county board. Met on Minnesota Point on Jan. 4, 1858. Consisted of Vose Palmer, E. C. Martin and Zach T. Brown. Martin was chairman. A. B. Robbins selected as clerk.

First official acts of the board. To define limits of the three commissioner districts and receive petition from H. L. Wheeler, E. F. Ely and others for formation of school district at Oneota.

First county officers: A. B. Robbins, clerk and auditor; J. Dunphy, register of deeds; E. G. Swanstrom, treasurer; J. R. Carey, judge of probate; E. C. Young, surveyor; Michael Houle, sheriff; J. B. Culver, superintendent of schools.

First deed on file—Dated June 6, 1856. Transfers from Rion H. Bacon to Edmund F. Ely, for $1,500, present townsite of Oneota, described in the instrument as being located in section 8, 49-14, St. Louis county, territory of Minnesota.

First assessed valuations, of which there is a record, were made in 1860. Total for county, $8,830,570, divided as follows: Township of Duluth, $35,195; Oneota, $33,371; Fond du Lac, $11,460.76, and Carp River, $16,-810. Last county valuation, made in 1912, was $311,383,370.

First tax levied for county purposes was made in 1861 and was for 10½ mills on the dollar.

First bonded indebtedness of the county was in 1860, when county board obtained authority from state legislature to issue $150,000 as a bonus for the Lake Superior & Mississippi railroad, since acquired by the Northern Pacific.

First site for county buildings was ordered bought at a meeting of the county board on May 14, 1859. Log jail erected, afterwards replaced by present jail.

GATHERED AT RANDOM FROM EARLY RECORDS PRESERVED BY DISTRICT COURT CLERK.

First session of district court, of which there is a record, was held Aug. 5, 1859. Probably held in the upper story of the old Luce warehouse, where United States land office was located. Judge S. J. R. McMillan presided.

First attorney admitted to practice in St. Louis county was Samuel Badger. He was appointed district attorney at first session of court held here. The only other acts of the court of which there is a record were to adopt scroll seal and admit a citizen to bail for offense not shown in the record.

First civil lawsuit recorded in this county was filed in March, 1859. Case was entitled Daniel G. Cash and James H. Kelley vs. Benjamin A. Armstrong. This was the famous Chief Buffalo land grant case which dragged in the courts for years.

First criminal case in the records is that of state vs. Thomas Stokely, charged with the murder of George Northrup. Stokely was indicted Aug. 9, 1870, and after trial, which lasted several days, was found guilty of murder in the second degree. Sentenced to life imprisonment. Fifteen years later, pardoned.

First marriage license was issued to Walter Van Brunt and Mary Saxton on Feb. 15, 1871, by J. P. Carey, then clerk of the district court. Married five days later.

First applicant for citizenship papers was Thomas T. Williams, a Welchman, on May 13, 1867. The first "second papers" were taken out by Jacob Kauffmann on Aug. 11, 1871. Henry Truelson, former mayor of Duluth, was one of Kauffmann's witnesses.

First estate probated was that of Samuel Frank, who died in 1870. Petition for administration filed on Jun. 16, 1871, with J. P. Carey, judge of probate.

First insane man committed from this county to state institution was Jonas Peter Johanssen, by Probate Judge E. F. Parker, on Jan. 8, 1874.

First divorce granted in St. Louis county went to Elizabeth Stevens. She was given a separation from her husband, Ebenezer Stevens by Judge James M. McKelvey, on Aug. 13, 1870.

FIFTY-FIVE years have come and gone since Hon. Willis A. Gorman, second territorial governor of Minnesota, issued the proclamation which gave St. Louis county its first breath of official life. And as the years have rolled by, the makers of early county history have dropped off one by one and today there is scarcely a man living who has a very clear and distinct recollection of the events which transpired during the pioneer days of the 50's. However, some valuable early records of early county affairs have been preserved for posterity and it is largely from these—incomplete as some of them are—that the best material for county history is to be found.

Duluth has always been the seat of county government. It naturally follows that considerable of the early history of the city and county is common to both. When the county was organized, Duluth was a straggling community of new wooden shanties and Indian huts overlooking a beautiful natural harbor and Superior street was a blazed trail through a virgin wilderness. The pioneers of Duluth were also the pioneers of St. Louis county. Most of them have lived long enough to see Duluth develop into one of the most important inland ports of the world, to witness St. Louis country grow from a bleak wilderness into one of the richest counties in the United States.

History Committee.

The public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club has a subcommittee on early city history. This committee has been detailed to compile and write the early history of the city. If such is now being done, it might not be amiss to suggest that early history of the county's organization and of the county courts be given due consideration. A research through original records, obtainable at the courthouse, would probably unearth many interesting bits of early history which have long been forgotten.

Official records of St. Louis county earlier than 1858 cannot be found and although the county was created during the month of March, 1855, little seems to have been done in the way of actual organization until about three years later. Many of the early records, especially those of the district court, are obscure and disconnected. The proceedings of the county commissioners, however, have been carefully preserved by the various county auditors from A. B. Robbins, first clerk of the board in 1858, to Odin Haiden, present incumbent.

Old Record Book.

In the auditor's office there is an old record book which contains entries which were made by the clerk of the county board since the first meeting. It is well preserved for an old book, although the cover is somewhat worn and the writing a little faded. The book on its fly leaf has a mark which indicates that it was purchased from one George Newton, a bookseller and station at Superior, Wis. A photograph of this book is shown above.

Vose Palmer, E. C. Martin and Zach T. Brown comprised the first board of county commissioners. The old record book states that the first meeting of the commissioners was held on Jan. 4, 1858. This meeting is said to have been held at the home of the clerk, A. B. Robbins, who lived on Minnesota point. No business was transacted except to select E. C. Martin as chairman. An adjournment was taken until Jan. 19, 1858.

The second entry in the old record book states that the meeting was held at the "town of Du Luth" on Jan. 19, 1858. The same three members of the board were present. The first resolution which was passed follows:

"Resolved, That the county shall be and hereby is divided into three districts.

"That the First district shall extend from the meridian line east to the line between range 14 and 15, that is to say, town 48, 49, 50 and 51, range 15 west.

"That the Second district shall be composed of towns 49, 50 and 51, range 14 west.

"That the Third district shall be composed of towns 50, 51 and 52, range 13 west; towns 51 and 52, range 12; and town 52, range 11."

Assessors Named.

The next business was the appointment of assessors. William Q. Allen was chosen in the First district, Lemuel Cochrane in the Second and Peter Von Blarcum in the Third.

The first petition received by the board came from H. L. Wheeler, Edmund F. Ely and others who asked for the establishment of a school district at Oneota.

For the purpose of having a route selected for a road between "Fond du Lac and Buchanan," the board appointed Leander C. Palmer and Levi Coffee as road examiners. The commissioners next passed a resolution providing for the establishment of six school districts, and then adjourned until the following day, Jan. 20, 1858.

That the liquor question has been in existence in St. Louis county ever since there has been a county board is clearly indicated by a resolution which the board passed at the adjourned meeting. The board instructed its clerk to post notices in public places to the effect that the board was ready to "receive applications for license to sell spirituous liquors, by less measure than the quart."

A few of the interesting events which transpired at the board meetings within the next few years follow:

Oneota Organized.

On Sept. 14, 1858, the town of Oneota was organized, the board acting upon a petition bearing forty signatures headed by W. E. Wright, A. B. Merritt, F. A. Buckingham and E. H. Hall.

In March 1859, F. A. Buckingham of Oneota was granted a license at the rate of $5 per year for a ferry for team and pedestrians from Rice's Point, Duluth, to Connor's Point, Superior.

In January 1860, the board granted J. Dunphy, register of deeds an appropriation of $15 "for the purpose of purchasing fuel for his office, for the use of himself officially and for the county board at their meetings."

In February 1860, a dispute arose among the commissioners as to who was entitled to the office of auditor. H. E. Wright and Jerome Merritt both claimed the office. It was finally agreed to compromise on a third man, one William Epler. Epler the minutes show, resigned in June. Samuel Badger, Jr., was appointed to succeed him. Later Jerome Merritt succeeded Badger.

The first change in the personnel of the board came in November 1860, when Edmund F. Ely of Onetota succeeded Vose Palmer as chairman. At that time some of the county officers were E. G. Swanström, treasurer; Michael Houle, sheriff; Sidney Luce, (late mayor of Duluth), register of deeds, and Lewis H. Merritt, county auditor and clerk of the board.

On May 13, 1862, Luke Marvin, father of L. A. Marvin, present deputy county auditor, was elected by the board to the office of county auditor which he held for several years.

Feared Indians.

In September 1862, the board took precautionary measures against any outbreaks from the Indians, then threatened. A resolution was passed appointing R. B. Carlton to employ, if he thought it necessary or advisable, a suitable person to keep a watch over the Indians in that vicinity and upon the least suggestion of trouble give the alarm to the citizens.

At the September meeting in 1862, the board levied a county tax of 10½ mills and so equalized the assessments making "lands on the shore of the lake valued at $2 per acre, and those further back, $1.25 an acre." Town lots in Duluth, Rice's Point, Oneota and Fond du Lac were assessed uniformly and taxed at $1 per lot.

On Jan. 1, 1863, E. G. Swanstrom was seated on the board. He held the office of county commissioner for sixteen years. The other members of the board at that time were R. B. Carlton and Harvey Fargo. Carlton, chairman of the board, died in 1864, and was succeeded by Fargo as the presiding officer of that body.

In September, 1864, acting upon President Lincoln's last call for volunteers, the board ordered a special levy of 9½ mills on all taxable property in the county to meet the emergency of an appropriation of $1,500 to be used as bounties for volunteers. At that time, Michael Houle, sheriff, resigned in order to enlist as a soldier in the Union army. He was St. Louis county's first sheriff, and was succeeded by Lewis H. Merritt.

In January, 1866, the county transacted its first piece of big business when it secured authority from the legislature to issue bonds for $150,000 as a bonus for the Lake Superior & Mississippi Railroad company, which later was taken over by the Northern Pacific. The railroad was considering building from St. Paul to the Head of the Lakes. The county board feared that unless some drastic action was taken, the then thriving village of Superior would land the railroad terminal and consequently the future of Duluth would be secondary to Superior. Luke Marvin and E. F. Ely were largely instrumental in securing the bond issue. The money was raised and paid over to the railroad company. The railroad came to Duluth instead of Superior.

On May 2, 1868, George R. Stuntz was employed by the county board to make the preliminary survey of a road to be built from Duluth to Lake Vermilion. He was paid a salary of $5 per day.

Superior Street a "Road."

On March 2, 1870, the county board designated "Superior street, through the town of Duluth as a county road."

During the early part of 1872, the old courthouse square at Sixth avenue east between Second and Third street, was taken over by the county from Sidney Luce, J. D. Ray, S. B. Robbins and others. The deed was given in the name of J. D. Ensign, now senior judge of the district bench.

On April 23, 1872, the board authorized the auditor to advertise for bids for the moving of the county jail forty feet and for the building of a plank fence around it. The fence was a 4-board affair, twelve feet high and enclosing a space 30 by 40 feet.

On August 16, 1873, the board decided to curb the expenses of caring for the poor, if possible, and passed a resolution requiring all county dependants, not in the poor house, to appear before the county auditor on the following Saturday and show cause why they should receive any further aid from the county.

On May 14, 1875, the board allowed bills of $3 each to Dr. S. S. Walbank and E. F. Parker for "examining crazy Kate." Who "Crazy Kate" was does not appear on the record.

On Nov. 31, 1876, the board again decided to draw a finer line on spending money for charity and the commissioners passed the following resolution: "Resolved, That the board will pay no bills hereafter presented for the board of persons kept in boarding houses of the city of Duluth called tramps."

On March 18, 1879, Martin Kusnierek and Martin Lopak, who were both well known in Duluth, with others petitioned the board for the organization of the town of Custer in 52, 53-14. The petition was granted, but the state auditor objected to the name of Custer, and it was changed to Gnesen.

Up to 1871, little effort had been made towards securing a court house and home for county offices. The first meetings of the board were held at the homes of Duluth pioneers such as A. B. Robbins, who lived on Park Point, J. B. Culver on First street between Second and Third avenues east, and E. C. Martin in Portland, now a part of the city.

First Courthouse.

In 1871, the board rented the second story of a building at 325 East Superior street from J. D. Ensign. The building was erected the year before and is still standing, as shown in a photograph above. This was the first building rented by the county in which there were more than one of the county offices. The district court did not hold its sessions there. It was, however, the first step looking toward a county courthouse.

During the month of July, 1874, the county offices and court offices moved into the J. D. Ray block, which is now standing on the lower side of Superior street east of Fourth avenue east. The Ray block was referred to in the papers at the time as being the "first courthouse." Two years ago the front of the building was remodeled. A picture of the block as it looks today is shown herewith.

The county board took a 5-year lease on the Ray block at the rate of $1,000 per year. At the expiration of the lease, the board accepted a proposition made by W. L. Banning for a five-year lease on the Banning block, still standing on the northeast corner of Second avenue west and Superior street. The county offices occupied the Banning block until Jan. 3, 1884, when the "old courthouse" at Sixth avenue east and Third street was erected by the county. This building served until 1909 when the new $1,000,000 courthouse was built and first occupied.

The site of the present courthouse was at one time a favorite roosting place for immense flocks of wild pigeons, according to the stories which are told by pioneer residents.

First Term of County.

The first term of the district court in St. Louis county of which there is any record was opened in Duluth on Aug. 2, 1859, by Sheriff Michael Houle. Hon. S. J. R. McMillan was the judge. The judge probably started for Duluth in what he considered ample time, but did not arrive until Aug. 5. Nothing was done at this term of court except to appoint Samuel Badger district attorney and to admit one of Duluth's oldest citizens to bail for an offense that is not named in the records. There is nothing to show where this term of court was held. Judge Ensign, senior member of the district bench at the present time, says that it was probably held in the United States land office in the upper part of the old Luce warehouse, which once stood on Lake avenue. The record shows that in 1860 a judgment of foreclosure was made by Judge McMillan at his home in Stillwater. From 1859 to 1869, there appears to be entered eighteen judgments of default.

The first grand jury was selected in January, 1858, by the county board. There is no record of the appearance of this jury in any court. The names selected by the board were: John Maher, John Johnson, Lewis Saulsson, Adolph Wasmer, Michael Smitz, Ely Peterson, William McIntire, Josiah Tallmadge, Daniel Martin, John Parry, Leander Palmer, John McIlvany, George R. Stunz, William Nettleton, Andrew H. Connor, Amos Woodbury, Benjamin Rice, A. B. Robbins, Charles Chester, H. W. Wheeler, L. H. Merritt, H. C. Forbes, L. E. Wright and Webb Carlton.

The August term of 1869 was held in the second story of a frame building on the corner of Second avenue east and Superior street on the site now occupied by the old Masonic temple. Of this term of court, Judge Ensign has preserved the following memoranda:

"Edwin F. Parker was, I think, the oldest resident attorney and was acting as county attorney. Albert N. Selp was admitted to the bar. The grand and petit jury was present but there was nothing for them to do. The court at this session vacated the old plat of Portland."

First Criminal Case.

The August term of 1870 was a busy one and in many ways an important one in the history of the local court. It was at this term of court that the first criminal case, of which there is any record, was tried. Duluth pioneers will all remember it as the Stokely-Northrup murder case. A brief history of the case is as follows:

George Northrup, a son of a well known Duluth family in the early days, was set upon by a gang of Philadelphia toughs employed on the railroad which was building into Duluth and was stabbed to death. There was no provocation for killing and the affair was undoubtedly the outcome of a drunken brawl in which Thomas Stokely, the murderer and his associates were involved. The murder occurred during the month of August, 1869.

Justice was barely organized in Duluth at that time and following the apprehension of nine of the rioters concerned in the murder there was a strong impulse to lynch the entire outfit. But better judgment prevailed. A preliminary examination was held before a justice of the peace at which five of the rioters were found to be involved in the crime and were held to the next grand jury which did not sit, however, until a year later.

Stokely and his fellow prisoners were kept under guard the first night in the cooling room of a lager beer brewery just back of the town and the next day, under a strong escort, were taken to St. Paul to be kept in the Ramsey county jail until time for trial.

The first criminal indictment returned in the county was brought against Thomas Stokely and four others charging them with murder in the first degree. This indictment was returned on Aug. 9, 1870. Thomas H. Pressnell, now deputy clerk of the United States district court, was foreman of this jury.

When the cases came on for trial, each of the five men demanded separate trials. Judge James M. McKelvy was the presiding judge. E. F. Parker, county attorney, appeared for the state and H. J. Horn and A. N. Selp for the accused man.

Stokely, the prisoner, came from a very prominent Philadelphia family, but he was sort of a black sheep in the flock. His father was at one time mayor of Philadelphia and a man of considerable means and influence.

Stokely and his attorneys fought the case to the last inch. Eighty-one jurors were examined before twelve were selected to try the case. The jurors who sat on the case were Onisimus Durocher, A. J. Kirk, N. P. Albertson, J. B. Bell, John Brandt, Henry Elliott, H. E. Crinn, R. W. Ellison, Simon Milanson, Gotlieb Brown, John Hollengreen and John C. Frogner.

Lasted Six Days.

The trial lasted six days, the jury bringing in a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree on Aug. 20, 1870. Willis A. Gorman, former governor, made the closing arguments to the jury for E. F. Parker, county attorney, and H. J. Horn pleaded for the liberty of his client.

Stokely was sentenced to life imprisonment. Several years later, he was pardoned. A petition signed by several of the murdered man's relatives as well as the court which sentenced him was probably largely instrumental in securing his release.

One of the other men indicted with Stokely for the offense was tried and acquitted. The trials of the other three were transferred to Ramsey county. Edward R. French, who was tried for the murder of John R. McDougal on Aug. 8, 1870, in Carlton county, was acquitted by a jury at this term of court.

At the August term the court held its sessions in the lower story of a two-story frame building on the southwest corner of First avenue west and Superior street. The term started on Aug. 5 and was not finished until Sept. 3. Among the attorneys admitted to practice at that time were J. D. Ensign, who has been district judge in this court since 1889, Daniel G. Cash, W. W. Bilson and James J. Egan.

The term of February, 1871, was held in the Ray block with Judge R. P. Ranney presiding. The school children of Duluth had a vacation at this term in order that they might have the privilege of attending the sessions.

The August term of 1872 and the February term of 1873 were held in a hall at Third avenue east and Superior street over a saloon and restaurant.

Up to 1874 St. Louis county was in the Seventh judicial district, the legislature in 1870 having provided for two terms a year, the third Tuesday in February and the second Tuesday in August. In 1874 the legislature put St. Louis and thirteen other counties in the Eleventh judicial district. O. P. Stearns was appointed by the governor to the bench.

The first term of court under the Eleventh judicial district was held at the Ray block in 1874 in the lower room on the east side of the building. Judge Ensign, who has some data on this circumstance, notes that the furniture used in the court room and in the county offices was of the "plainest and cheapest kind."

The First Sheriff.

The first records in the sheriff's office start with Zach T. Brown, who held that office from 1869 to 1872. Mr. Brown, however, was not the first sheriff. The county commissioners' proceedings mention Michael Houle as sheriff in 1859. L. H. Merritt was appointed by the board to succeed Houle, who resigned to enlist with the Union soldiers in the Civil war.

Brown served as sheriff from 1869 to 1872, when he was succeeded by George Berkleman, who held the office from 1872 to 1876. Louis Meining, father of John R. Meining, present sheriff, was a deputy under Sheriff Berkleman. Berkleman was succeeded by S. C. McQuade in 1876. McQuade held the office for several years.

THE TEST OF GREATNESS.

London Telegraph: "I call no man great till I have seen him in adversity." On that tolerably ancient thesis one of the new plays is constructed. Most of us have no desire to be proved great, or see those who belong to us so distinguished by such a process. It is nevertheless probable that the majority would agree with the principle. We do talk as if it were easy to cut a fine figure while all goes well with you. Perhaps it is not quite so easy as it seems. Perhaps some of the banal, gross people of your acquaintance might have been quite worthy if they had never made money. Success does not always improve the character.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

London Globe: There is always something doing in Kansas (U. S. A.) A Methodist bishop staying at a hotel in that state asked the porter for "a drink." Kansas is a prohibition state. Five minutes later he was "horrified"—the account says—at being handed a bottle of whisky. Lucky it was not the finest champagne.

HERDING THE SPORTING SHEEP AND GOATS INTO THE DOPE CORRAL, AS SEEN BY BRUCE

TOMORROW, complete rest and preparation—and then comes the opening day of the home baseball season. This, Brother Fans, is not the ordinary initiatory event; far be it from such. We have come to the point in the baseball destiny of Duluth where those interested in the great national game must be shown; to the turn in the national pastime lane where a season's play will determine whether the fastest minor league baseball can be made a paying proposition in this fair city.

Mind, this article is not one of the pessimistic kind. The writer is of the opinion that baseball is going to be placed upon a firm financial basis here during the year of 1913. But before the opening of home festivities for the season it is not outside the purview of these few lines to set down some pertinent facts for the serious consideration of the fans.

We had converse recently with a solid business man of this city. He stated that he had grown tired of baseball in the past; that he did not know whether the present conditions would be any better.

This cit evidently looks upon the darker side of things, especially baseball. He condemns without a hearing, which is the very essence of unfairness.

The baseball proposition this season is charmingly simple and direct. If Duluth, a city of some 80,000 souls, wants baseball it will patronize the game; if we don't care for a pastime that is played in every hamlet, village and city in this wide expanse of country, the fact will become tragically apparent during the present season.

For several years we have been longing to get into the company of the Twin Cities. This has been accomplished, but not without expenditure of considerable coin of the realm. We are in Class C company, possess the largest population of any league of that rating in the United States—and we are ready to open the season.

What are you going to do about it, Mr. Fan?

The grandstand at Athletic park has been enlarged and the grounds have been improved. A guarantee of $800 was deposited before the opening of the season by the directors of the Duluth Baseball association. The manager of the White Sox has been liberally supplied with money and told to get the best team he could. All these things have been done and we are now ready for the coming home of this team—all ready for the opening of a long series of games on the home lot.

Baseball teams cannot be adequately judged or censured for loose playing in the first week of the season. This is more especially true when the weather has been anything but favorable to any kind of effort approaching perfection. Teams of the American association and of the two major leagues have been playing just as loosely in many instances as some of the teams of the new Northern.

There is weeding to do, and every team in the league has the money and the disposition to make improvements where time discovers the need of improving. A man settles to his stride of effort; a race horse often runs a very bad first quarter; and this is more particularly true of the start of a baseball season.

However, this article is going to make no excuses for any games that have been played in the Northern. There is no need for it. We are going to have the best baseball in the history of the game here—or at least since the almost fabled days of Joe Quinn, Mark Baldwin, Red McMillan and the rest of that illustrious crew,—or those behind the game are thoroughly and horribly mistaken in their premises.

Therefore let us combine to make Monday's opening the greatest by far in the history of the game here.

Baseball is a thorough business proposition. It advertises a city, it is a very good thing for the community. Most booster cities are good baseball centers. Duluth was chiefly instrumental in the organization of the Northern league, and this city should be one of the banner towns of the circuit.

The opening gun booms Monday. Let us make the reverberations of this booming so distinct that it will be heard over the Northern league circuit.

Some people have been heard to wonder what would become of the Detroit baseball team without the eminent services of Tyrus Cobb. And this suggests the wonderment as to the dreary path of the Washington Americans without the trusty flinging arm of Walter Johnson.

As the days pass and the standing of the Cubs remains unshaken at the head of the N. L. the embarrassment of some of the Chicago critics is approaching the acute stage. Hughey Fullerton will surely have to construct an ingenious alibi.

A New York critic has declaed that Gunboat Smith might become a greater fighter than Bob Fitzsimmons. Unde the charitable and elastic terms of "might" it would be quite possible to predict the world's lightweight championship for our distinguished townsman, Kid Paul.

NORTHERN AS COMPARED TO AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Comparing the scores of the teams of the Northern league in the games of yesterday with those of the teams of the American association, and it will be found that the better contests were staged in the big cities, Minneapolis and Grand Forks had a real baseball contest, while St. Paul and Winnipeg had a nip and tuck game all the way through. Duluth and Winona played a loose game. Minneapolis and Columbus in the American association had eight errors between them and St. Paul and Indianapolis also accumulated the same number of boots. Comparing the errors of three games it will be found that three of the association contests contributed twenty errors against nineteen of the Northern league teams, and yesterday was some ragged day in the Northern.

HOPPE TO MEET KOJI YAMADA

World's Famous Billiardists to Play for the Championship.

What bids fair to be the most interesting championship billiard match scheduled in many a moon will be held at Hotel Astor, New York, on the night of May 27, when William Hoppe, of the latter city, world's champion at both styles of balk line—18:1 and 18:2—will be called upon to defend his 18:2 crown against Koji Yamada, the sensational young Japanese. They will play 500 points.

Ever since Yamada gained the distinction of being the only player to win a single game from Hoppe in the big 18:2 tournament at New York last fall, billiard enthusiasts on two hemispheres have longed for the time when the pair would meet in conflict, and now that their desires are to be satiated, they will await the result of the coming match with keen interest.

That the brilliant little Oriental is a worthy foe for Hoppe or any other master of the cue and ivories there is no doubt, but while he possesses rare skill and has the credit of a victory over the champion, he lacks the seasoning of Hoppe, and unless he plays at his fastest clip when they cross cues on May 27 he is destined to defeat.

Hoppe, in all likelihood will average thirty or better against the little brown man, and that should win. However, Yamada recently won a match from George Slosson at Los Angeles with an average of fifty, and if Koji should strike this kind of speed when he faces the New York wizard the 18:2 emblem may be taken across the seas to the land of the thousand autumns. In such an event it would be left to one of our many stars to journey into the bailiwick of the Jap and bring it back.

TINKER BOOSTS CUBS.

Shortstop Joe Says Evers May Land the Old Flag Thing.

Chicago, May 3.—Joe Tinker, manager of the Cincinnati Nationals and former shortstop of the Cubs, is out with a boost for the league-leading Cubs. Even though the former Cub star likes nothing better than to nick the Cub hide, he admits that they are going to make a big noise in the present National league race. Tinker actually believes that with any kind of luck Evers should pilot his charges to a pennant. The great work of the team so far is credited to the great hitting strength and fielding ability of the club. The Red manager has watched the Cubs closely during the series with his team and is convinced that Evers has perfected a well-oiled machine.

To Tinker's way of thinking the Cub pitchers ought to improve with hot weather and if four or five men can take their places regularly on the hill the Giants and Pirates had better look out. Joe says he realizes the Cubs have the edge on many of the teams now because of their excellent spring training trip, but they should maintain the same pace even after the race wears down to a stern grind.

Fight to a Draw.

Denver, Colo., May 3.—Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, Wis., and Jimmy Clabby of Hammond, Ind., claimants of the middleweight championship, fought ten fast rounds to a draw here last night before the Denver Athletic club. There were no knockdowns.

Clabby displayed great cleverness, his left jabs to the face and impenetrable defense worrying McGoorty considerably. McGoorty's punches, although landing less frequently, carried more force, a right to the face drawing blood from Clabby's nose in the fourth.

The first round was a feeling-out process. In the second and third Clabby had a shade. In the fourth, fifth and sixth McGoorty landed solid rights and lefts but missed repeatedly in the seventh and eighth. The last round saw both men fighting hard, opening with an exchange of rights to the head and followed by heavy exchanges.

Both were strong at the finish.

Dual Track Meet.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 3.—Cornell and Michigan will meet here today in the first big dual track meet of the year. The Michigan team arrived yesterday and went over the track in the afternoon. The outcome of the meet is very much in doubt and neither coach would claim victory last night.

One of the hottest contests outside of the intercollegiates will be the half-mile race between Haff of Michigan and John Paul Jones, Cornell's intercollegiate record-holder.

Killed By Aeroplane.

Oakland, Cal., May 3.—While assisting Roy N. Francis to start a hydro-aeroplane for a test over the bay yesterday, Herman E. Janssen, a Los Angeles aviator, lost his balance and fell forward into the whirling propeller of the machine. Janssen was instantly killed, his head being cut off. Francis made an effort to stop the machinery, but was too late.

Dundee Challenges Wolgast.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 3.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion, and Johnny Dundee, New York featherweight, will box twenty rounds at the Vernon arena on the night of June 3, if Wolgast accepts an offer made to him today. Dundee expressed a desire to meet Wolgast after Dundee's manager, Scotty Mentieth, had seen the former champion in action with Harlem Tommy Murphy at San Francisco.

"LET'S GET OUT AND BOOST," SAYS A FRIEND OF THE GAME

To the Sporting Editor of The Herald:

Reading your dope on baseball, I know there are a whole lot of things you want to say anent attendance, etc., and still hate to start so early in the season, so here's a few ideas from "MUH," and if you think the cause will be benefited, why slip them over.

Duluth has long clamored for big baseball, and it sure has a chance to get it now, and what is more to the point, it will be an everlasting shame if baseball is not one of the greatest successes in the line of sports in this town this summer.

The success of this league depends on Duluth. That's as plain as day to anyone familiar with the game, and it is up to the good citizens and, in my opinion, especially to the men who made and continue to make such a big success of the curling club and the boat club to sit right in and do all in their power to place the national game where it rightfully belongs in the city of Duluth. Other sports advertise a city, but a successful baseball team is in a class by itself when it comes to advertising. There is nothing can compare with it.

What is it that makes a successful baseball team and a successful league? It's the attendance, and in this respect is Duluth going to play second fiddle to such towns as Winona, Virginia or Superior? Everything depends on the start, and so let each and everyone start right in now and boost for a half holiday on May 5, opening day.

Reading the reports of dear Darby's performers so far, it would seem he has some baseball team, and with the opening day Monday every American merchant cannot help but make his blood tingle long enough to say "Half holiday all round, boys," and the surest way to insure this is start a column off in your up-to-date paper something like this:

"We hereby agree to close our places of business on Monday, May 5, from 1 p. m. to enable our employes to welcome the most promising team in the new Northern league, and further to show that we can expand when we get the opportunity to do so."

I am sure everyone notes the great line of improvement being made at our old Athletic park, and to the management I would like to suggest if it can possibly be done, in addition to the regular score board, just go one further and have a real up-to-date board showing the National league, the American league and the American association, and since there is a wire running right to the park, everyone would be posted right up to the minute at very little expense. This would add to the metropolitan appearance of our big league.

The sum and substance of the whole thing is, Duluth now has a chance to show whether it is a real American city or just a "would-be," and a good word on all sides will do the work. Yours truly,

Duluth, May 1. MUH.

WHITE SOX OPEN WINONA SERIES WITH A VICTORY

Giants Are Defeated in Initial Contest By Score of 9 to 6.

Waddell Beats Flickers and St. Paul Harpoons Winnipeg Tribe.

Winona, Minn., May 3.—Darby O'Brien's chesty White Sox from the icy environs of Lake Superior hopped all over the humble home guard yesterday and took the opening game of the three-day series by the count of 9 to 6.

While all of the visitors figured more or less in the humiliation of the Giants, Messrs. Blancke and Miller were the chief offenders among the visiting geentlemen.

While the members of the home guard are credited with garnering eleven hits off the slants of Blancke, it might be said of that mound performer that he held the home hitters just about where he pleased and squelched them promptly when they showed tendencies to overcome the lead of the Sox.

In addition to getting a single and triple, Miller also pulled down a long clout and then made a perfect throw to Rhodes at third, cutting off a runner who presumed that it would be perfectly safe to advance a base on the deep fly.

O'Sullivan, who acted as if he had something worse than a rubber heel, started the hill labor for the Giants. He lasted until the third round and was then relieved by Ted Corbett, who fared but little better, as five counts were gathered while the pitching department was in charge of the former Texas league mound man.

Some Base Stealing.

One of the features of the contest was the stolen base by O'Brien, this being one of the few times in the history of local baseball that the commander of the Sox has had the audacity to perform such a feat. Old Sam Menlece also pilfered one and some of the fans at the park suggested that the game be christened old men's day in honor of the sprightly endeavors of the two veterans of the opposition.

Neither O'Brien or Menlece showed in the least that they were suffering from the ravages of age, as it was the timely hitting of these two that swelled the score of the Dooks.

While the play of the visitors was ragged, they compensated for the defects in the field by sterling work with the bludgeon. Most every member of the visitors is credited with a run and every one of the Sox, with the exception of Pitcher Blancke, made one or two hits during the game.

Duluth looks stronger to the local fans than Winnipeg or Grand Forks, the two members of the Northern that have just finished their engagements here.

ST. PAUL WINS THE OPENER FROM WINNIPEG

St. Paul, Minn., May 3.—By getting to Dietrick and Peasley in the fifth round and again bombarding the slants of Peasley in the eighth round, the Little Saints took the opening game of the series with Winnipeg by the score of 7 to 6 here yesterday.

The opening game with Tim Flood's Maroons displayed the fastest and snappiest baseball of the season to date, both of the teams showing some real ability and speed.

Winnipeg made one in the initial round through two hits and a stolen base and retained the lead until the fourth, when the Jones band came through with the tying run. In the following round the shoots of Dietrick were hit to several parts of the lot and Peasley, one of the stars of the Canucks, was called to the mound.

In the eighth the locals fell on the offerings of Peasley and gathered two more runs.

Neidenfeur pitched a fairly steady game until the final round, when with people on the bases young Lodge was called from the coop and retired the visitors without a run. Score: R. H. E.

RUBE WADDELL HOLDS THE FLICKERS HELPLESS

Minneapolis, Minn., May 3.—Old Rube Waddell did the come back act yesterday and in the doing inserted all the frills and thrills that are often left out of this seldom staged specialty. With the Rube showing flashes of the form that stamped him as the greatest left-hander of the game, Bob Unglaub's Bronks defeated the Grand Forks team by the score of 3 to 0 in the opening game of the series.

During the soiree but three hits were gathered off the snaky shoots of the Reuben. Nothhing even approaching a bingle was gathered by the Flickertails outside of the trio of swats. With men on the towpaths the eccentric one was at his best, striking out eleven of the gentlemen from North Dakota at stages of the contest when hits might have prevented the application of the calcimine.

Wilson for the Fosterites also hurled an excellent brand of baseball. But six hits were gathered by the Little Millers, but these came at times when they accomplished the most good.

Yesterday's game was by far the best of the season.

Cubs Win Another.

Chicago, May 3.—Smith's generosity in giving passes, coupled with an error and opportune hitting, gave Chicago a 4 to 1 victory over Cincinnati yesterday. The visitors' lone run resulted by Becher's triple and Evers' error when he threw into the stand in an attempt to head off the runner at third. Smith held the locals to four scattered hits but could not find the plate at critical times.

Cheney was a little wild but managed to keep the visitors to half a dozen well-scattered hits.

President Murphy of the local Nationals today announced the sale of Outfielder Knisely and Infielder McDonald to the Birmingham, Ala., club, of the Southern league. These players came to Chicago in the Tinker deal.

Pirates Finally Win.

Pittsburg, May 3.—After suffering five straight defeats, Pittsburg nosed out St. Louis yesterday afternoon by getting long hits off Griner at the right time although the game was either side's until it was over. Hendrix was rather wild but he kept nine hits fairly well scattered and nine St. Louis runners were left on bases. Hard hitting by Miller won the game for Pittsburg, his three-bagger and two-bagger figuring in the run-getting. Two doubles, a triple and a single gave Pittsburg three runs in the second inning. Hendrix's wildness had given St. Louis a run in the first and a double play by Butler and Miller saved him from further damage with the bases full. With St. Louis runners on first and third and a run needed to tie

Giants Lose Again.

Philadelphia, May 3.—The most of the action in yesterday's game between Philadelphia and New York was confined to the seventh inning, the former winning by 4 to 3. Seaton and Demaree battled until the seventh inning with one run against each. Then two passes off Seaton and Merkle's single filled the bases. McCormick who batted for Demaree, singled, scoring two runners. Crandall went in to pitch in the home team's half. With two out Philadelphia won the game on Killifer's single, a pass to Cravath, who batted for Seaton, Paskert's double, and Knabe's single. After Lobert received a pass, Marquard took Crandall's place.

In the eighth Dolan disputed a decision by Umpire Byron and was ordered off the field. Chalmers, who took Seaton's place, ended the game by fanning Burns with runners on third and second. Score:

Win in Ninth.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 3.—Boston evened up the series with Brooklyn yesterday by hammering out a 4 to 1 victory in the ninth inning. The score was tied at the end of the eighth after a fine pitchers' battle between Tyler and Allen. With two on bases in the ninth, Mann smashed out a long liner to center just as the base runners started a double steal. Stengel was coming in fast to back up an expected throw to second, and the ball shot over his head for a cleanup home run. An infield hit, an error and Wheat's double in the fourth, scored Brooklyn's only run. Boston made its other tally in the seventh on a single and Sweney's three-base hit. Tyler pitched a splendid game. Score:

Highlanders Lose Again.

New York, May 3.—The Athletics won another close game from the New York Americans here yesterday, 6 to 5. Manager Mack used four pitchers to land the game. Houck, who started, was very wild, issuing six passes on balls before he was taken out in the fourth inning. Bender, who finished the game for the Athletics, was invincible until the ninth when the New Yorks scored their fifth run on a pass, a single and a sacrifice fly. Ford started for New York and was hit hard, Fisher finished strong. Collins and Baker were responsible for four of the Philadelphia runs. A curious incident of the game was the Highlanders' jog around the bases in the fourth when they scored four runs on errors and passes with the aid of only a scratch infield hit.

White Sox Win.

Detroit, Mich., May 3.—Easterly's long double to center in the ninth after Borton had beaten an infield tap by inches, broke up a red-hot pitchers' battle yesterday, and gave Chicago the fourth straight game of the present series. World's Champs Lose.

Boston, Mass., May 3.—Washington, playing faultless ball in the field, bunched hits in taree innings yesterday, and won from Boston 6 to 4. Groom allowed the world's champions but one hit up to the sixth inning. Then three singles and two bases on balls gave Boston three runs, tieing the score. Washington bunched hits again in the seventh inning, netting two runs, and Boston in the eighth tried to even it up again, but one run, made possible by Speaker's triple, was the locals' best attempt.

Win Easy Game.

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—Cleveland won easily yesterday from St. Louis by the score of 9 to 2. The visitors hit Stone and Mitchell hard and run the bases wild. Blanding pitched steadily throughout the contest. Cleveland scored two in the first, after two were out on bases on balls, an infield hit and Lajoie's double. St. Louis came back in the first and scored a base on balls and two singles. In the third, Chapman's safe bunt, a sacrifice hit and Lajoie's second hit scored another for Cleveland.

Cleveland scored four runs in the fourth. Land and Blanding singled. Land stole third and scored when Wallace fumbled D. Johnston's grounder. Mitchell relieved Stone and Chapman singled, scoring Blanding and Johnston, and took second on the throw. Chapman then stole third and home. After two were put out, a balk by Blanding with the bases full forced a runner over the plate for St. Louis in the fourth. Jackson's triple, an error and Land's single scored two runs for Cleveland in the ninth. Score: R. H. E.

Kaws Defeat Hens.

Toledo, Ohio, May 3.—Charlie Carr's three singles and a double were the chief features in the Kansas City club's 8 to 5 victory over Toledo. In the first inning he drove home a run with his single. In the third he sent in another, while a third scored in the seventh and two more in the ninth. Carr also tallied one run. Covington and Reagan of the visitors, were driven from the mound in the first inning when Toledo took a one-run lead after Kansas City had hit Stovenson hard. Leake, who followed Stevenson, was hit hard in the seventh and ninth. In the latter round, he turned his ankle and retired in favor of Williams.

Champs Win.

Columbus, Ohio, May 3.—Six hits for eight bases in the fifth inning off Pitcher Cook constructed a safe lead for the Minneapolis team yesterday, five more runs being scored later off Pitcher Bruck. Columbus was defeated, 12 to 6. Patterson pitched steadily, Bonnin and Shelton getting half the hits he allowed. Altizer, Williams and Killifer each came to the plate five times and never failed to get on base. Each made three runs.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 3.—A base on balls, an infield hit and a single scored Ashenfelder in the ninth here yesterday, allowing Indianapolis to win from St. Paul, 9 to 8. The game was marred by poor playing in which the locals were the worst offenders. A single and home runs by Krug and Crandall in the eighth gave Indianapolis three runs and the lead, while a single, a sacrifice, a passed ball and Reilly's error tied the score in St. Paul's half of the ninth inning.

These two photographs show the reconstruction work now almost completed at Athletic park. One picture shows the addition to the grandstand, the new stand forming a mild angle with the old and thus making a subdued horseshoe effect out of the whole. The other picture is of the new entrance to the grandstand and bleachers, the ticket office being on the left as you enter and the club office on the right. These improvements will give Duluth the best park in the new circuit outside of Lexington park, St. Paul, and Nicollet park, Minneapolis.

INVENTOR OF THE SPIT BALL UNKNOWN TO FAME

Probably no innovation introduced into the game of baseball in the last twenty years has made such an impression on the game itself as the much discussed "spit ball," says a New York sport writer. Indeed of the many thousands of athletic young men who daily play the game as a means of livelihood it is doubtful if any of them could tell you off-hand who the actual discoverer of this famous delivery really was. About 90 per cent of the players and sporting writers throughout the United States are under the impression that Elmer Stricklett was the man who invented and first used the "spit ball." But such is not the case. Were it not for the facts in the possession of the writer, which this article will disclose, it is probable that the origin of the famous "spit ball" would become as deeply shrouded in mystery as the author of that equally famous baseball classic, "Casey at the Bat."

The "spit ball" has now been in use ten years and although many of the star pitchers refused to use the new delivery, claiming it would ruin their arm, they were gradually forced to adopt it in order to compete with their rivals, who resorted to the use of the saliva shoot exclusively and were meeting with phenonomenal success, as was the case with Chesbro when he came within one game of winning the championship for Clark Griffith's New York Americans. The latter, however, was not the originator of the damp fling, but one of its most successful exponents, as was the late Arthur (Bugs) Raymond. Indeed his Buglets could do more with the wet delivery than the inventor himself. The writer, who was instrumental in sending Raymond to the big league, having played with him at Charleston, S. C., in 1907, saw him pitch some remarkable ball games without resorting to the use of any other delivery. Raymond, when pitching, chewed slippery elm incessontantly and the spittle thus produced when applied to the ball gave it an extraordinarily sharp break. One rather startling effect produced by the advent of the moist ball was the sudden form reversal of several big league twirlers. Men who were regarded as only ordinary pitchers suddenly blossomed forth as stars of the first magnitude, as witness the case of big Ed Walsh of the Chicago White Sox. Walsh was not regarded seriously by any of the baseball sharps, yet by the use of the "spit ball" big Ed has made a record that is second to none; in fact, many of the foremost baseball men of the day regard Walsh as the premier pitcher of all time.

Now for the real inventor and how he came to discover this pesky enemy of high batting averages. As before stated, Elmer Stricklett was not the inventor of the "spit ball." I have personally refrained from making this announcement before on account of Stricklett being in the big league as a member of the Brooklyn club. The fact that he was generally looked upon as the originator of the saliva shoot was quite an asset, and no doubt helped to keep him on the pay roll of the Club Across the Bridge. But as Stricklett has passed out of the big show and is now working in one of the smaller leagues (where, by the way, you work just as hard for half the money) I think it is about time that credit should be given to the actual inventor, who is none other than Frank Corridan, who formerly pitched for the Philadelphia and St. Louis clubs of the National league. In 1902, Corridan who was working for Billy Murray at Providence, was loosening up before the game one day when he absentmindedly wet his fingers and applied them to the ball which he cut loose with all the speed he had. The result astonished him, the ball taking the sharpest kind of a break from its original course. Frank tried it again and again, each time with the same result. He finally called George Hildebrand, a young outfielder from the coast, who was with Providence at the time, and repeating the performance asked Hildy to get a stick and see if he could hit the new shoot. The latter did as requested, but his attempts to solve the curve were infantile. Corridan immediately set to work to gain control of his new discovery. Hilderbrand in the meantime had left Providence and returned to California where he joined the Sacramento club, with which Stricklett was playing at the time. George showed the new delivery to Stricklett and the latter practiced it assiduously, finally gaining splendid control of the slippery ball. That fall the Nationals and All-Americans, two clubs composed of select players from the big leagues, made a trip to the coast. The Nationals stopped at Sacramento for a three days' engagement and the first day's game Stricklett pitched against Chesbro, who was then in the National league, and the big leaguers were overwhelmingly beaten. Stricklett using the "spit ball" all through the game, had the Eastern stars bewildered. Chesbro, who was quick to see the possibilities of the "spit ball," practiced it faithfully all winter and what he did to the various clubs of the American league the following year is history.

LUTHER M'CARTY LOOKS GOOD TO QUAKER CRITIC

Philadelphia Sporting Writer Declares That the Big Cowboy Has All the Earmarks of a World's Champion.

Philadelphia, May 3.—Some of the fight fans who saw the McCarty-Flynn bout were disposed to sneer at Luther's ability because he didn't put Flynn away. They feel that if the cowbody is of championship material he should have finished Flynn in a few punches.

There is little justification for such reasoning, writes James C. Isaminger in the North American. Champions don't always put their adversaries away in less than six rounds. It took Jack Johnson fourteen rounds to stop Tommy Burns and twelve rounds to stop Stanley Ketchel, although the late lamented Stanley was many pounds lighter than Flynn is today.

Jeffries was in sorry physical condition when he fought Johnson, yet Johnson didn't send him into the land of nod with half a dozen belts. It took the black champion fifteen rounds to dispose of the once great fighter.

Johnson didn't damage Flynn much more at Las Vegas last July 4 than McCarty damaged Flynn Wednesday night. Johnson didn't knock out Flynn. Flynn was on his feet when the referee stopped the bout because Jim's face was badly cut up and bleeding. This was in the ninth round.

Unquestionably Johnson could eventually have finished the fireman, but as instrumental in securing his release.

down for ten seconds. Nobody says that Johnson hasn't a punch, yet he didn't knock out Flynn.

In 1907 Flynn and Johnson had their first fight and the black boxer knocked out his rival in the eleventh round. But had they been fighting in Philadelphia, Flynn would have lasted the six rounds and then some of the critics would have spread the story that Johnson didn't have a punch.

As a matter of fact, few fighters are going to stop Flynn inside of six rounds. He sticks his head down and fights close. He keeps his jaws covered and is hard to hit fairly, although at a distance it is easy to jab his head off. Flynn has had great experience in fighting men who are his superior in height and weight. Every time he is hit he runs into a clinch and wrestles his opponent around the ring.

Fought to Limit.

He fought for the sole purpose of lasting six rounds. He got away with it, although he was badly punished. His mouth and nose were bathed in blood during the bout. When he appeared on the street Thursday, evidences of the punishment he received the night before were plain.

Over his mouth was a big welt of protruding flesh. His nose was puffed and both of his eyes looked as if something had used a hammer on him. Flynn is a hardy fellow, who would take a punch at a brick wall if he didn't like the wall. No man ever showed more courage than he in the bout with McCarty. Had there been the slightest yellow in his makeup he never would have kept on his feet six rounds.

In truth, Flynn is a tough fellow, the trial horse of the present-day heavyweights, just like Tom Sharkey was the trial horse of the heavyweights of more than a decade ago. He is not a champion, neither was Sharkey a champion, and while not as good as Sharkey was, he must be accounted a dangerous customer. A heavyweight who stops or knocks out Flynn gets immediate recognition.

Only one man ever knocked Flynn out in jigtime, and he was built just right to beat Flynn. That man was Sam Langford, one of the greatest fighters in the ring. The sawed-off black knocked out Jim in 1910 in one round. In another meeting Flynn stayed eight rounds with Langford, only to receive the knockout punch.

To say that McCarty is a weak hitter because he failed to put away Flynn inside of six rounds is unjustified, because Jim has fought every heavyweight from Johnson down, and of this number only Langford finished him under six rounds.

McCarty impressed the fight fans as possessing great ability. He fought carefully, under explicit instructions from Billy McCarney, his astute tutor. It looked as if McCarty had much in reserve in the way of hitting that didn't come out.

"I told Luther to be careful," explained his manager the next day, "and not break his hands. Flynn is just the kind of tough fighter on which a man is likely to fracture his fist. McCarty will do a lot of fighting in the next year or two and I don't want him to break his hands in any six-round bouts in which there is nothing at stake."

Cowboy Is Cool.

The coolness and poise of the cowboy were noticeable. He never lost his head a minute and Flynn gained nothing by his frantic infighting. His attitude was like the bulldogs when a chick started to peck at his side.

"Let the chick peck," mused the bulldog, "it can't hurt me."

McCarty is easily the best of the white hopes. He knocked out Al Palzer, who was a bigger New York pet than Gunboat Smith is today. He also finished every prominent heavyweight who has faced him, including Flynn, Kaufman and Morris. He has yet to fight Gunboat Smith, whose reputation is based on having whipped Bombardier Wells, a typical dub English heavyweight.

Gunboat has a punch, all right, but he has not met anybody but dubs all his life. He has been beaten by dubs. On March 9, 1910, at Oakland, Cal., Jim Barry of Chicago not only knocked out Gunboat in nine rounds, but broke the sailor's jaw doing it. The next year the pair met again, Barry winning in six rounds.

Too much faith must not be put in the championship pretensions of a fighter whose jaw was broken by a fighter of Barry's caliber. Far be it from the writer to underrate the ability of the sailor, but it can't be said he has the record of a McCarty.

McCarty's destinies are in the hands of a shrewd manager. Every Philadelphia fight fan knows Billy McCarney, and McCarty will carry the best wishes of Philadelphia every time he enters the ring.

Keep your eyes on McCarty.

MAJOR LEAGUE PLAYERS VERY FOND OF ICE CREAM

Detroit, Mich., May 3. — Major league ball players as a class, race or division of society, whichever they might be called, are about as free from the ordinary weaknesses of the flesh as any body of men in the world.

Wine, women and song trouble them very little in the playing season and even their gambling is of that mild and friendly nature which makes it more of a pastime than a means of enriching one's self. But there is one from which comparatively few of them are free. Eating ice cream is this failing.

Almost without exception the stars of our national game are slaves to frozen dainties of any sort and in the course of a summer the sixteen clubs in the two select circuits probably consume several tons of the frigid confections. The Tigers are particularly gripped by this gastronomic vice, and on several occasions this spring they have cleaned the hotels that entertained them of every bit of ice cream, sherbet, punch and frozen pudding.

The first day that the Detroit players were in Gulfport the Great Southern's steward laid in just the ordinary supply of ice cream that he had been accustomed to provide for the number of guests then under the tavern's roof. Before the dinner hour was forty-five minutes old there wasn't a bit of ice cream in the place. The same thing happened the next evening and there were loud wails from the men who dined late because none of their favorite dessert was forthcoming.

Then the steward began to realize that he had a lot of ice cream fiends on his hands and the order for this dish was increased to double the supply that would have been needed were the guests less voracious in one particular direction.

In several other hostelries the same performance has been seen. So heavy has the Tigers' demand for the frozen stuff been at luncheon that there was only enough left over to fill the first few orders to come in at dinner time. And loud were the roars of those athletes whose waiters brought back word that there was nothing doing on the chilled confection.

Fully 90 per cent of the Detroit players eat ice cream for one meal a day and about 75 per cent—these being the real slaves to the food—take it both for luncheon and dinner. Up to date, none of the athletes has been seen to eat it for breakfast, but this is due to the fact that there is none found in the list of "eats" at that hour rather than to any disinclination to tackle it.

Some of the boys who were forced to do without anything in the frozen line for the morning meal have been seen to sneak out to a drug store or confectionery foundry about 10 o'clock to wrap thtmselves around an ice cream soda or sundae and it is a matter of custom to surround one of these delectable offerings between luncheon and dinner.

The big leaguers are great people to eat sweets, anyhow. Pie runs next to ice cream in popularity, though it is a poor second. The rest of the play on the dessert division of the card is scattering, with no single article worthy to be mentioned in the same breath as ice cream, pie and pie "a la mode."

Many of the men who entertain each afternoon on the ball field make their lunches exclusively of soup and dessert, sometimes two or three kinds of the latter, with ice cream sure to be the piece de resistance. The vanila flavored cream is a top-heavy favorite with chocolate a fair second and the rest nowhere, except when fresh strawberry is offered, when it gets a fair third. Water ices are not at all popular, being regarded by the players as poor infringements on real ice cream; a sort of culinary sacrilege.

Just as Napolean said that he could fed his army on soup and bread, so might a baseball general declare that so long as his commissary department provides plenty of good apple pie and ice cream he can fight his way to the pennant. In the national game, a cold stomach is the sign of a heart warm with content.

Rochester Has $150,000 Fire.

Rochester, N. Y., May 3.—A fire that called out the entire fire department yesterday afternoon leveled a space of two city blocks and destroyed one of the largest lumber yards in Rochester and at least twelve dwelling houses, with an estimated loss of $150,000. The blaze started in a pile of shavings in the lumber yard. Two firemen were injured.

At the Lyceum

For this visit Mr. Crane will be seen as Senator Christopher Larkin, a member of the upper house of congress, in Martha Morton's comedy of the present, "The Senator Keeps House." It is one of those charming and homey plays in which William H. Crane is seen at his best and gives the distinct touch of Crane characterization to a role which is typical of men of affairs.

The audience first gets in touch with the senator when he is caught at the disadvantage of trying to run his own home after his servants have been induced to desert him. There is a land claim some schemers are trying to work through congress and thinking to further their cause they introduce into the senator's household the lady who would supposedly benefit most if Senator Larkin were to recommend the payment of this claim through his select committee of the senate. The lady straightens the senator's domestic tangles so successfully that he comes to regard her rightly. When almost persuaded that the land claim is worthy of consideration he discovers that his erstwhile housekeeper would be the chief beneficiary of the claim. Disappointed but not convinced the senator proves his worth in the grasp of affairs where a man has a chance and he also learns the truth regarding the claimant. The establishment of her innocence of personal wrong-doing gives the story the needed dramatic go with its appealing under-current of heart interest. The senator having proven his inability as a domestic genius does his man's work in that rugged straightforward art which has endeared Billy Crane to America and there you have the substance and charm of a play with him in the stellar role.

The story was brought out in New York last year and remained for four months at the Garrick theater where it made a real sold hit. For this tour Mr. Crane has his metropolitan production and the support of the same clever company that appeared with him then. In the cast are Mabel Bert, Zeffie Tilbury, Marion Kerby, Lorraine Frost, Harry Harwood, Jack Devereaux, Raymond Walburn, Charles Riegel and Bud Woodthorpe.

This tour is also doubly interesting in its relation to Mr. Crane's distinguished career, for it is the fiftieth season that he has been a figure on the American stage and a credit to his profession.

The third week of the kinemacolor pictures will open at the Lyceum tomorrow and the program for the week includes many novelties. Tomorrow the kinemacolor program consists of a two-reel drama, "Return of the Prodigals," which is a real romance of the gold mines. Rich in dramatic and human interest, showing how Jim Bradley lost a wife and found a fortune, shot a thief and recovered a son. "President Wilson Reviewing the Baby Parade at Asbury Park" is also included in tomorrow's program. In his capacity as governor of New Jersey it was the duty of President Wilson to review the annual baby parade at Asbury park and excellent pictures of the president were obtained when the kinemacolor camera man perpetuated the events of that day.

Tuesday and Wednesday the program includes "Keeping Up With Hubby," a bright comedy sidelight on the clothes question and by picturing the processes which transform a "Frump" in a wife into a sensational beauty, turns an impending domestic drama into a hilarious French farce with all the spectacular trimmings. On the same days will be shown "Geysers in New Zealand," showing the famous geysers on this beautiful island.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday the kinemacolor dramatic subject will be "Ofia, the Woman Spy," which is a detective story of gripping interest, its every feature portrayed by kinemacolor, and ending with the thrilling escape of the girl spy in a Beleriot monoplane. On these same days costumes for the street will be shown and scenes of Skansen, Sweden, in which are gathered countless relics of her wars and countless mementoes of the great events in her wonderful history. This quaint old city is Sweden's pride.

Charming Frances Starr is coming to the Lyceum shortly in her new play, "The Case of Becky," direct from her more than successful run at the Belasco theater in New York city, word to this effect having been received today by Manager Marshall of the Lyceum. The date of this important theatrical event will be announced later.

At the Orpheum

Next week's bill at the Duluth Orpheum contains several names which are well known to regular patrons of vaudeville.

Duluth has never seen the act presented by Miss Norton and Paul Nicholson, although it has been touring the first-class vaudeville theaters for two or three seasons. It is called "A Dramatic Cartoon," and is the work of Miss Norton. It is more of a character sketch than a mere playlet, and it is said to be charmingly humorous and irresistible in its appeal. It shows a bit of the home life of a ribbon counter girl and a $7 a week department store clerk who are married and are trying to keep house on their small income in their still smaller flat. The scene itself, before the actors appear on the stage, never fails to draw a hearty laugh from the audience and put the spectators in a mood to enjoy the sketch which is to follow. When the performers appear the clever stage "business" and the artistic work of both Miss Norton and Mr. Nicholson but add to this first good impression, if critics in other cities are to be believed.

For two years Mr. Nicholson was the principal comedian with "The Girl Question," and was featured with that musical comedy. He has a big following in all parts of the country and is especially popular in the West, where he is better known than he is in the East. Miss Norton has shown herself to be both a capable actress and an author with a keen sense of humor and insight into human nature.

Second in importance on next week's bill will be the Ofedos' Five Musical Germans. The five members of this family are all said to be musicians of more than average ability. Miss Katherine Gorman is one of the few women who has been successful as a cornet player. She plays several other instruments well but she has specialized on the cornet. There are two other young women in the act besides Miss Katherine. All three are said to be more than usually attractive in appearance and their beauty has attracted almost as much comment and attention as their playing. The other two members of the little company are father and son. The boy, whose name is Hulbert, has been called a "drum virtuoso." He has spent as much time and hard work on the study of how to play the drum properly as most musicians spend in preparing to play the more difficult musical instruments and so expert has he become that one critic called him the "drum virtuoso." The five members of this talented family play many different musical instruments, and the act has been a very popular one in other cities.

What promises to be a very enjoyable act is that presented by Dorothy Brenner and Joseph Radcliff. They are two former musical comedy stars—and two of the few who have made good in vaudeville. They have prepared a musical duologue which they call "At the Flower Stand," and they use it to exploit their singing and dancing. The sketch is simply used to hang together a few songs, a few dances, and an imitation or two, with some bright and snappy comedy thrown in for good measure. There is no act more popular than a first-class singing and dancing act, and Miss Brenner and Mr. Radcliff are said to have such a number. They have both appeared in several musical comedy successes, the last one being "The Never Homes."

Moran and Wiser promise a real novelty in what they call "boomerang hat throwing." These two men make a number of headpieces of various kinds describe all sorts of figures in midair before returning to the throwers. These two men have but recently come to America. In Europe the difficulty and accuracy of their work made them an instantaneous hit in the music halls.

The Le Grohs are another European team which is just beginning a tour of this country. They also have a novelty act which is highly spoken of in their advance notices.

Walter De Leon and "Muggins" Davies have an act composed of songs, dances and dialogue which they present in an artistic way. They were recently stars in the "Campus," and their present act is said to offer an excellent opportunity to display Miss Davies' beauty and ability and De Leon's dancing and comedy. Their songs are said to be all original and full of cleverness and comedy.

The seventh act on the bill will be offered by Marseilles. He calls his flat, harried thus the three solemnly swear "Never More." As they utter the word the door suddenly opens and the two wives and daughter supposed to be in Atlantic City enter, they demand an explanation of the vow and it is with great difficulty that they are finally convinced that "Never More" is the name of a race horse, a "sure thing."

Later the chorus girls appear on the scene and after an ordeal that is very trying on Mr. Doppledae, his wife is finally convinced that the three girls are his nieces from Australia.

Shortly after the wives and sweetheart leave the house to bet on the horse "Never More." They are arrested for speeding by the same traffic cop, and the complications become more mixed than ever. However, the farce is brought to an end in mutual explanations, forgiveness and happiness.

The acts is a most excellent one, the gowning splendid and numerous songs and specialties are introduced during the action of the farce.

* * *

The chorus girls will have their innings at the Empress theater when Boyle Woolfolk's elaborate musical comedy, "The Bell Hop," plays there for three days, commencing with Thursday matinee, May 8.

While many things are said of "The Bell Hop" as a play, its witty qualites of dialogue and construction are reported to be overshadowed by the beautiful bevy of girls that crowd the stage, and each one is entitled to a position in the beauty gallery. The striking things about it all is that these girls are so different from those those who frisk and beam through other musical comedies. There is nothing mechanical about these girls. Boyle Woolfolk has assembled a superior cast for "The Bell Hop." The principals are artists in the musical comedy line, the ladies are fair and good to look upon, the man are strong and handsome. This attraction has been playing in the South to big business and it makes the jump from St. Louis, Mo., to Duluth in order to fill the date here.

* * *

Another tabloid musical comedy to be seen at the Empress in May is "The Girl Question," a companion piece to the "Time, Place and Girl."

The "Girl Question" was produced at the La Salle opera house after the "Time, Place and Girl" and duplicated the great success of the former.

The "Girl Question" is considered by Boyle Woolfolk, the producer, to be the gem of all tabloid musical comedies and has the best and most expensive cast of any of his attractions.

Raymond Paine plays the part of Con Ryan. Mr. Paine will be remembered in the "Candy Kid" and the "Millionaire Kid." In this role he has the best opportunity he has ever had to display his unusual talents. Others in the cast are Mae Taylor, last season featured with the original company of "Louisiana Lou;" Lee Johnstone, late of the "Modern Eve" company; Hans Herbert, Corey Hunt, Jack Anthony, Billy Elmer, Inez Nesbit and Al Ludlum. There are nine principals in the cast, that many being necessary to give an adequate performance of this charming little play. It is a play, indeed, more than a musical comedy as the songs are only incidental. The "Chicklets," a dainty dancing act, which has made a great success in vaudeville, comprises the chorus. All in all the "Girl Question" is almost in a class by itself for miniature musical comedy.

* * *

Quality and quantity have been the principal factors in the construction of "Merry Mary," the merriest of all musical offerings, and which the theater loving public of Duluth will have an opportunity of witnessing at the Empress on May 25, 26, 27 and 28.

* * *

The Empress offers in May the latest success in abbreviated musical comedies. "Whose Little Girl Are You?" is different from its predecessors inasmuch as it is a real farce, uproariously funny, with a dozen songs and specialties interpolated during its action.

The cast is small but quality takes the place of quantity in this instance. Morris and Thurston are featured with the attraction and are well known through having been at the head of the'r own company for the past ten years. The songs were written by Boyle Woolfolk, who is also responsible for the music in "A Winning Miss" and "The Sunny Side of Broadway," and others. A chorus of eight charming girls helps materially to make the show one of the big successes of the vaudeville season.

* * *

A bright and breezy musical comedy coming to the Empress this season is Joseph E. Howard's greatest success, "The Flower of the Ranch." In writing this charming musical play he seemed to scorn the tropical lands and impossible situations dear to the average lover of comic opera, and turned to the far West for a setting, the result being a piece which has delighted metropolitan audiences for fifty weeks at a time and is meeting with equal success "on the road."

Howard has contributed music to

will continue all week with a daily matinee.

* * *

"Madame Sans Gene," has occupied an important place in the drama for many years. In America, the role of the Washerwoman Duchess was created by Miss Katherine Kidder, who has many other notable dramatic achievements to her credit. Miss Kidder has taken the theme and characters of this Napoleonic play and written them into a one-act sketch called "The Washerwoman Duchess" in which she will be seen over the Orpheum circuit.

* * *

Elsa Ruegger, the eminent cellist, has sailed for Europe, where she will spend her summer recrating at the watering places. She will return early in the spring and immediately begin the tour over the Orpheum circuit which has been arranged for her.

* * *

Miss Orford's wonderful elephants defy description. It is safe to state that never before have elephants attained so high a degree of schooling. Miss Orford began her American tour at the Palace theater in New York and will shortly be seen over the Orpheum circuit.

* * *

The quaint and delightful Dutch characters portrayed by Sam Chip and Mary Marble have been transferred to a new sketch by Herbert Hall Winslow, called "The Land of Dykes." The vaudeville stage boasts of no more delightful exponents of bright comedy than Chip and Marble. Their coming tour of the Orpheum circuit will probably be anticipated with the keenest pleasure.

* * *

A comedy by George Ade called "Speaking to Father," capably acted by Milton Pollock & Company, will be one of the Orpheum circuit features next season. The little playlet is typically "Georgeadeish" and is replete with that brand of humor responsible for the authors universal fame.

* * *

When "The Trained Nurses" begins its Orpheum circuit tour, Gladys Clark and Henry Berman will twinkle as stellar illuminaries in the sparkling musical comedy. When the piece was first produced the pair enjoyed only featured prominence. Their enormous personal success, however, not only justified, but made their promotion necessary.

At the Empress

"Don't Lie to Your Wife," a hilarious farce in three acts with musical interruptions by Campbell B. Casad, with Dave Lewis starred, will be seen at Empress for four days commencing Sunday, May 4. The story in brief concerns the rambling from the straight and narrow path by three congenial spirits who are never supposed to step from the main highroad of travel.

Amos Doppeldae played by the inimitable Dave Lewis is the principal character—he is the man from the flat upstairs. Arthur Pringle, a young man engaged to Doppeldae's daughter, likewise George Benedict, a bosom friend of the two are first seen in Doppeldae's apartment discussing the result of their "white light adventure." It seems that the three women nearest to them, Mrs. Doppledae, her daughter, and Mrs. Benedict, had departed for Atlantic City. Immediately thereupon, Doppeldae had suggested a bit of "high life for a change." Doppledae, Benedict and Pringle start out in their machine, stop long enough to pick up three frivolous young women of the chorus and go to Coney Island.

On the return their automobile is affected by the dissipation and hits up a speed very much out of accord with the traffic regulations of the city, the jolly party is arrested, but bribe a policeman and are allowed to go free.

The first act finds the three in Doppledae's apartment, headachy and remorseful; their plight is added to by the recollection that Amos in an unguarded moment had invited his new found friends to his apartments for the day; on the top of this a theatrical press agent scenting a good advertisement for the theater at which these three chorus girls work, discovers the yarn and visits Doppledae's flat, harried thus the three solemnly swear "Never More." As they utter the word the door suddenly opens and the two wives and daughter supposed to be in Atlantic City enter, they demand an explanation of the vow and it is with great difficulty that they are finally convinced that "Never More" is the name of a race horse, a "sure thing."

Later the chorus girls appear on the scene and after an ordeal that is very trying on Mr. Doppledae, his wife is finally convinced that the three girls are his nieces from Australia.

Shortly after the wives and sweetheart leave the house to bet on the horse "Never More." They are arrested for speeding by the same traffic cop, and the complications become more mixed than ever. However, the farce is brought to an end in mutual explanations, forgiveness and happiness.

The acts is a most excellent one, the gowning splendid and numerous songs and specialties are introduced during the action of the farce.

The chorus girls will have their innings at the Empress theater when Boyle Woolfolk's elaborate musical comedy, "The Bell Hop," plays there for three days, commencing with Thursday matinee, May 8.

While many things are said of "The Bell Hop" as a play, its witty qualites of dialogue and construction are reported to be overshadowed by the beautiful bevy of girls that crowd the stage, and each one is entitled to a position in the beauty gallery. The striking things about it all is that these girls are so different from those those who frisk and beam through other musical comedies. There is nothing mechanical about these girls. Boyle Woolfolk has assembled a superior cast for "The Bell Hop." The principals are artists in the musical comedy line, the ladies are fair and good to look upon, the man are strong and handsome. This attraction has been playing in the South to big business and it makes the jump from St. Louis, Mo., to Duluth in order to fill the date here.

* * *

Another tabloid musical comedy to be seen at the Empress in May is "The Girl Question," a companion piece to the "Time, Place and Girl."

The "Girl Question" was produced at the La Salle opera house after the "Time, Place and Girl" and duplicated the great success of the former.

The "Girl Question" is considered by Boyle Woolfolk, the producer, to be the gem of all tabloid musical comedies and has the best and most expensive cast of any of his attractions.

Raymond Paine plays the part of Con Ryan. Mr. Paine will be remembered in the "Candy Kid" and the "Millionaire Kid." In this role he has the best opportunity he has ever had to display his unusual talents. Others in the cast are Mae Taylor, last season featured with the original company of "Louisiana Lou;" Lee Johnstone, late of the "Modern Eve" company; Hans Herbert, Corey Hunt, Jack Anthony, Billy Elmer, Inez Nesbit and Al Ludlum. There are nine principals in the cast, that many being necessary to give an adequate performance of this charming little play. It is a play, indeed, more than a musical comedy as the songs are only incidental. The "Chicklets," a dainty dancing act, which has made a great success in vaudeville, comprises the chorus. All in all the "Girl Question" is almost in a class by itself for miniature musical comedy.

* * *

Quality and quantity have been the principal factors in the construction of "Merry Mary," the merriest of all musical offerings, and which the theater loving public of Duluth will have an opportunity of witnessing at the Empress on May 25, 26, 27 and 28.

* * *

The Empress offers in May the latest success in abbreviated musical comedies. "Whose Little Girl Are You?" is different from its predecessors inasmuch as it is a real farce, uproariously funny, with a dozen songs and specialties interpolated during its action.

The cast is small but quality takes the place of quantity in this instance. Morris and Thurston are featured with the attraction and are well known through having been at the head of the'r own company for the past ten years. The songs were written by Boyle Woolfolk, who is also responsible for the music in "A Winning Miss" and "The Sunny Side of Broadway," and others. A chorus of eight charming girls helps materially to make the show one of the big successes of the vaudeville season.

A bright and breezy musical comedy coming to the Empress this season is Joseph E. Howard's greatest success, "The Flower of the Ranch." In writing this charming musical play he seemed to scorn the tropical lands and impossible situations dear to the average lover of comic opera, and turned to the far West for a setting, the result being a piece which has delighted metropolitan audiences for fifty weeks at a time and is meeting with equal success "on the road."

Empress Notes.

Max Spiegel's "College Girls" opens in Richmond, Va., over the Weil's time.

"Whose Little Girl Are You?" will appear at the Grand theater, Sioux City, Iowa, the first half of the week commencing May 5, inaugurating the new tabloid policy of that playhouse.

Eddie Allen of "The Sunny Side of Broadway" company, is grieving over the loss of his mother, who died last week.

"The Bellhop," which appeared in Hammond, Ind., recently, is one of the best shows that has played in that city this season.

"The Petticoat Minstrels" has proven one of the best attractions and novelties in tabloid this season.

Louise Willis is playing a character role in "Henpecked Henry," a tabloid musical show, owned by Halton Powell and W. S. Butterfield, and is scoring the success of her career. She has a meaty part and through the exercise of skill and personality, forces the role into a prominence not really intended by the author.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

William A. Brady is to send out this spring for a fortnight's trial a new play by Jules Eckert Goodman called "The Man Who Found a Way," with Cyril Scott as the star. If it meets expectations it will be routed for next season.

• • •

Elizabeth Murray and George Fawcett have been engaged for the new Otto Hauerbach-Rudolf Friml comedy, "High Jinks," to be produced by Arthur Hammerstein next September. It was at first said that Tom Lewis and Miss Murray were to be featured in the piece, but Lewis set what was considered a prohibitive price on his services and Fawcett has been substituted.

• • •

"Les Deux Verrants," a French version of "The Great Divide," was given a production at the Paris theater Des Arts April 11, with a fair reception.

Tully Marshall, who has been playing "The Talker," has in rehearsal a new piece by Marion Fairfax, as yet unnamed. It will be produced in Chicago before the company leaves. Eva Macdonald, leading woman with "The Talker," will play the opposite lead to Marshall in the new piece.

• • •

Charles Frohman has had no less than four of his most popular stars on the Pacific coast this spring—Maude Adams in "Peter Pan," John Drew in "The Perplexed Husband," Madam Nazimova in "Bella Donna," and Blanche Bates in "The Witness for the Defense."

• • •

Donald Brian, who has just closed a long and very successful tour in "The Siren," is planning a visit to Europe where a musical play in which Mr. Brian may be seen next season is now being presented in one of the continental capitals, and he wants to see a few performances of it. Later on he will take his real vacation somewhere in rural America.

• • •

Thomas A. Wise, in "The Silver Wedding," the comedy by Edward Locke, will be an early attraction at H. H. Frazee's Longacre theater, New York, next season. Mr. Wise and his company will finish the present season with the current engagement in the Cort theater.

• • •

Reports are persistent that Maxine Elliott will return to the stage next season. Until now Miss Elliott has no play with which to make her re-entry, but after diligent search she seems to have unearthed a piece suited to her talents. Miss Elliott will be again under the direction of the Shuberts, with George J. Appleton occupying his former post as personal manager.

• • •

Ward and Vokes have again bid goodby to each other. The old firm has dissolved partnership. Once before they separated and went their individual ways, only to join hands again. Vokes expects to enter vaudeville. Ward and his wife, Lucy Daly, will start together next season in a musical play. It is also reported that Vokes has married Marie Francis of his company.

• • •

Hattie Williams has sailed for Europe. She is going to spend most of her time abroad in London, Paris and Berlin, combining some business with much pleasure, for in London Charles Frohman has asked her to be sure to see a certain one-act play that is being presented in that city and in which she may possibly be seen later on in this country. Miss Williams' co-star in "The Girl From Montmartre," Richard Carle, has retired to his country place in New Jersey and has already begun to gather energy for the tour which Mr. Frohman is planning for him and Miss Williams next season in a new musical play. The one-act play that Miss Williams is to see in London will probably be incorporated in the new musical piece just as Barrie's "A Slice of Life" was inserted in the play of "The Girl From Montmartre" this season.

• • •

Beverly Sitgreaves appears this week in a dramatic version of "The Passing of the Idle Rich," written by Frederick Townsend Martin, the society leader of New York.

• • •

Arthur Laceby, the comedian, has written a book on his early stage struggles. He calls it "The Struggles of a Bad Actor."

• • •

Florence Rockwell, leading woman with Robert Mantell, will close her season late in May. Miss Rockwell has engaged in a repertoire of nine Shakespearean plays this season, opening with Mr. Mantell early in September.

• • •

Valerie Bergere, a dramatic artist who has been a popular favorite in vaudeville for many seasons, is to appear in a dramatic production next year. Miss Bergere is the most distinguished vaudeville producer in the United States.

• • •

Ethel Wright, leading woman with William Hawtrey for the past three seasons, has joined a company presenting a vaudeville sketch by Lee Arthur. It is called "Burglary a la Mode," and Miss Wright is surrounded by a cast of eight men.

• • •

Arthur Row, well known in standard and classical plays, has contributed two important articles to the current magazines, one dealing with Sarah Bernhardt and the other with the late Richard Mansfield. Mr. Row is now appearing with Jane Corcoran in a dramatic sketch.

• • •

Henry Mortimer and Ian Maclaren are among the incorporators in New York of the United Theatrical association, an association formed by players and playgoers for the purpose of producing important new plays and making notable revivals during the season.

• • •

Olive Briscoe, the singer and comedienne, who is at present appearing in vaudeville, was formerly a "heavy" woman, in the dramatic sense. In the popular days of the melodrama Miss Briscoe won unstinted hisses from the audience by reason of her portrayal of the type of adventuress without which no melodrama was complete.

• • •

Charlotte Granville has engaged Agnes Dorntee to appear with her in "Book-taught Burglary," a comedy sketch written by Henry Stanford, in which she will make her vaudeville entry within a fortnight. The sketch is a travesty on the crook plays that are dominant at the present time and likewise on the unrest among society women seeking new pastures for excitement.

LATEST HAPPENINGS IN AUTO WORLD

HIGH SPEED IN AUTO BUYING

Some Dealers Have Already Exhausted Season's Allotment of Cars.

Roads in Vicinity of Duluth Are in Good Condition.

During the past period of perfect spring weather, the motor industry and sales in Duluth received a decided impetus, and some of the local dealers are about up to their allotment of cars and are endeavoring to induce the factories to allow them a few more. Not only in Duluth have the sales been heavy but on the ranges and in all of the tributary territory auto buying has been going on at high speed. The rainy weather does not make much difference for it is to be expected and it is recognized that it will serve to make the roads hereabouts better ultimately.

Owners of cars are keeping the garages busy these days overhauling their cars for the summer service. Every garage in the city is working to the limit. Every owner leaves orders to have his car ready quickly for nobody can tell when the next period of fine weather will pop in, and then all auto owners will want to be out a-spinning.

• • •

Speaking of roads, those about the city and out in the country are said to be in exceptionally fine condition for this time of year and forecast fine highways for the summer season. The news of the gift to the city by a certain millionaire of Duluth of a parked highway from the center of the city to Two Harbors was not the least pleasant news which the motorists of the city have received this spring. Of course Rome was not built in a day, nor will this road be built in a season, but it holds out a vision of a motorists' paradise in the not far distant future. It will be one of the finest motoring boulevards in the world.

• • •

It seems that more and more owners of cars have become determined to get acquainted personally with their machines and their workings. Auto owners are becoming obsessed with the idea that they should learn all about the machine and many of them are going to school. The most popular motor school apparently is that conducted under auspices of the Y. M. C. A. at Haley's garage, 310 East Superior street and 309 East Michigan street. The school is held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays of each week and is well attended. It has classes for beginners, for intermediates and for advanced students and the instruction is said to be very thorough. Auto owners who have taken the course claim that they have saved many dollars by the acquired knowledge of the cars and their foibles.

Admittedly it is pleasant to loll back in the tonneau seat, have a hired driver keeping the car under control, and review the scenery as it whisks by with kaleidoscopic rapidity and variety. But your true motor-car enthusiast of the owner class is not thus idly content. He may be content, even if his hands are not on the steering wheel—although the thrills of the pilot are the real thing—but, if he understands his car, the song of the motor, running rhythmically, is a sweet melody, and the slightest miss is a discord which requires instant attention and investigation.

The "miss" may be ever so slight, but if the car is attuned it will sound like the roll of thunder and it will mean that immediate action may avert future complications and trouble. The chauffeur might notice it and simply say to himself that an overhauling in the garage would be in order when the trip was ended. But if the owner was wise he might take a stitch right there on the road which would save him nine in the garage or the repair shop later on. If the car owner is wise and acquainted with his car, the instant that the discord in the even action of his engine is noticed he will know that the miss must be occasioned by one or the other of a very few things and that the fault is to be found in one or the other of a very few places. He will be able to locate his trouble either in ailing magneto, possibly due to water having short-circuited it; in a broken or loosened wire leading to one of the cylinders; a fouled or choked spark plug, or a badly carbonized valve. Again, if he is on personally friendly terms with his car, and all cylinders are working but the engine is pounding or coughing, he knows that the trouble is to be located in the carburetor, being due to a too rich or too weak mixture of gas and air, or to some impediment or dirt which has gotten into the gasoline and choked the carburetor or needle valve.

"Among the many elements to be considered in the purchase of a motor truck," says J. T. Peacha of the Interstate Auto company, Duluth agents for the Kissel Kar trucks, "is the relative space occupied in housing a truck as against that required to stable sufficient horses to perform the same haulage duty. Let us take five horses and equipment—two teams and a single rig—as compared with a three-ton Kissel Kar truck.

"It takes fifty square feet to house a horse standing still. Five horses will occupy, therefore, 250 square feet. For three wagons about 230 square feet is required, or a total of 480 square feet. For turning radius, storage of feed, harness, blankets, etc., 240 more feet is required, bringing the amount of square feet to 720. A three-ton Kissel Kar truck, on the other hand, occupies, standing, about 115 square feet of floor space and requires about 120 square feet for manipulation, a total of 235 square feet, as against 720 square feet occupied by its haulage equivalent in horse flesh. Rather astonishing to one who has never considered it, but here is a real saving in housing area of 485 square feet—some real estate.

"Business men with any considerable amount of cartage may very profitably take the time to look into the items of horse maintenance expense, not forgetting the important one of real estate, as well as operating economy and efficiency."

The latest addition to Duluth's growing list of industries is the new filler and vulcanizing plant of the Chemical Rubber Company of Minnesota, which will manufacture chemical rubber, the new substitute for air in automobile tires. The product, when vulcanized, resembles rubber in almost every particular. In fact it is a perfect synthetic rubber. Costing but one-tenth the price of rubber and making as perfect and more durable a substitute, its possibilities in the commercial field are unlimited. E. J. Filiatrault, the president of the Chemical Rubber company, received an interesting letter from F. A. Hall of Chicago, in which he tells of an interesting tour through the Eastern states last summer with chemical rubber in his tires. In telling of his experience he writes enthusiastically as follows:

"We left Chicago July 5, last year, in a 'Chalmers Six' and also with chemical rubber in our tires. As we were leaving the garage several of my acquaintances predicted that we would soon have to give up our contemplated tour, inasmuch as we had chemical rubber in our casings. One predicted that my rear axle would crystalize, another that we would not be able to stand the jolts on the rough roads, as no tire filler was as easy riding as air; another said that my casings would soon be ruined from the heat which would be generated by reason of the filler. These remarks made me more anxious than ever to prove that my judgment of chemical rubber was right, in spite of the fact that it was an experiment with me, and a new thing to practically every car-owner in Chicago. So to show them what confidence I had in chemical rubber, I deliberately took my pump, tire repair outfit and jack and left them in the garage. I guess they thought I was headed for the nearest asylum, judging from the looks on their faces.

"We spent a week touring through Ohio in the vicinity of Sandusky. At the Cedar Point hotel the morning we were leaving, I noticed four touring cars all laid up for tire repairs, and one of the cars had traveled a good many miles on a flat rear tire. I thought of my friends' advice and smiled. The main highway from Sandusky to Fremont was very rough and as rain threatened we made faster time than necessary, in spite of the rough roads. Before reaching Fremont the rain caught us and, believe me, it knows how to rain in that country. We passed one party of young people who were repairing a tire, and I will never forget the tired and woe-begone expression on their faces. Over these roads the car road easily, and my wife and I could not distinguish any perceptible difference in the riding qualities of air as compared to chemical rubber.

"From Fremont we went to Warren, then to Ashtabula, then to Conneaut, thence to Buffalo. The roads were rough and muddy, but we traveled this distance without a moment's delay, and I venture to say that on this part of our tour we passed from fifteen to twenty cars that were pulled up alongside the road for tire troubles. Our tires looked good, except one cut on my rear tread, which had vulcanized without having to take the tire off the rim.

"We left Buffalo for Boston via Niagara Falls, Batavia and Rochester. We went from Boston to New York, then to Atlantic City, then to Philadelphia, and then back to Chicago. We traveled in all, according to my speedometer, 6,297.3 miles, and the only tire trouble in all this mileage was the one cut on my rear casing. I did not have a blowout, nor a puncture, and never ran the car above my top speed. The car rode as easy as on air, my rear axle is still working smoothly, and I traveled the rest of the season on the same casings, getting over 9,000 miles on my rear set, and one front tire is still on my car and in good shape. By the way, my friends, who did so much predicting, are all users of chemical rubber now.

"I wish the Chemical Rubber Company of Minnesota the success that I know it deserves, and if you have any doubting Thomases in your territory, send them to me, and I feel confident that I will be able to send them back home shouting for your product."

Fearing the invasion of American automobiles, German manufacturers in a document have flayed the United States product and on the heels of their ire Civilingenieur Huge Schoembs —lecturer and expert licensed by the government—after an actual investigation in this country has exploded the statements of the auto makers of the mother country. He has written them stating conditions as they do exist.

N. L. Blake, manager of the Electric Service & Repair company, 922 East Superior street, local dealers in Hudson cars, today told of the situation which in interest outstripped the recent controversy between English and American makers.

The impressions of the German manufacturers, because American motor car factories created large numbers of automobiles each year, was that our product was hastily built. They threatened damage to American trade in Germany. Herr Schoembs at one factory in Detroit went deeply into the subject. He was amazed at the minute care taken in smoothing out the cylinders of motors, of grinding gears to the ten-thousandth of an inch, of the myriad inspection in putting cars together, of the time spent road-testing each car to make certain of its absolute dependability. In a communication to German automobile publications and manufacturers of cars in that country he gives his findings. His investigations were made at the factories of the Hudson Motor Car company of Detroit, makers of the well-known new Hudson Six phaeton.

"After having read that document and having come to this country, I am deeply surprised to find the minuteness and care which the Hudson company takes in smoothing out the cylinders of the motor, in testing each motor for hours before it is even allowed to be placed in a chassis, and how the minutest details of motor car building are taken care of," said Herr Schoembs. "American methods outstrip European methods in that. Cars are built in far larger quantities in this country. A huge production brings prices down. That is why a car of Hudson quality can scarcely be purchased for double the sum in Europe.

"The thoroughness of Hudson workmanship, the inspection of the work between each process, surprised me. I had no idea where such quantities of automobiles were built such care could be taken. I was amazed to see men stop their machines while building motors and inspect their own work with delicate instruments. These men are more than machinists or mechanics—they are real experts.

"Another thing that impressed me was the factory service school class which is very thorough and is planned and carried out along systematized lines by Hudson officials. In more ways than one America is ahead of most European countries in manufacture and care of the cars."

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

The attention of the automobile world is already being attracted to the road race from Los Angeles to San Francisco to be run July 4 and which will be the most important event of its kind in the West this year. This is a contest that has been held frequently under varying conditions of route and the like and it is now regarded as a standard test for automobiles contending for honors in the West.

The first official entry for this spectacular race is a Cadillac entered by Don Lee, the Pacific coast dealer. The second is also a Cadillac, entered by S. A. McKee, who has previously achieved some startling performances. The contest is an undertaking of large nature, necessitating the work of several committees for a number of weeks. The exact route has not yet been determined, but will be either the coast or the inland or valley route. Business men in various cities are clamoring to have their cities included on the trip and are offering many inducements.

The entrance of the Cadillac for the coming contest recalls the fact that this car now holds the records between Los Angeles and San Francisco. The following are its records:

From Los Angeles to San Francisco over the inland route, a distance of 490 miles, 17 hours 5 minutes; the coast route, 14 hours and 49 minutes; from Los Angeles to San Francisco and return by the coast route, 32 hours and 35 minutes; and the same trip by the valley routes, 39 hours, 8 minutes.

The question of carrying to the highest court in the land the constitutionality of the automobile registration tax will be considered at the next meeting of the executive board of the American Automobile association. While there has been an acquiescence for several years on the part of motorists in accepting this tax when the money was employed in highways progress of one kind or another, especially in those states where it was paid in lieu of a personal property tax, the legislatures of the past winter have shown such a marked inclination to increase fees to an exorbitant degree that the A. A. A. officers have taken up the matter with the state divisions of the national body, with the result that President Laurens Enos appointed a special committee to prepare and present a report at the meeting to be held in Baltimore, May 8.

Where the registration tax has been in lieu of all other taxes, and the money used exclusively for road maintenance, as in New York state, there has been slight objection on the part of the motorists over the unconstitutional discrimination against one class of road user, as long as the amounts paid were within reason. The protest recently has accumulated strength in those states in which the owners of motor-driven vehicles are called upon to pay a registration tax, personal property tax, and still another tax for the driving of the car. Double taxation and discrimination against one class of road user are the two points which invite attack on the ground of unconstitutionality.

The case that may be carried up originated in New Jersey, which state calls for three payments by the automobile owner: registration of car, driving license, and property tax. The A. A. A. state organization instituted the suit, which has had adverse decisions in the New Jersey courts.

A Mercedes car, equipped with a Silent Knight engine, will be one of the contestants in the third annual 500 mile International Sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis motor speedway, May 30, the entry having been made by E. C. Patterson of New York, well known sportsman and general manager of Collier's Weekly. Pelette, the Belgian millionaire, who has driven his own cars in many of the important European races, has been nominated as driver, having consented to take the wheel because of his personal friendship for Patterson and because he has no car of his own which comes within the limitations prescribed by the speedway management for this year's race. The car will be shipped from Europe in a few days and will be given a thorough workout at the Indianapolis motor speedway. Pelette has been testing the car in Europe for some time and it is said that recently he averaged ninety miles an hour over an ordinary road which is not especially noted as an automobile path.

Shattering all previous speed records, not excepting those of aviation, Jules Goux, the French motor pilot, has succeeded in covering 106 miles, 307 yards, in an hour, driving the Peugeot car which he will pilot in the third annual 500 mile International Sweepstakes race, at the Indianapolis motor speedway, May 30. The best record made in a motor car heretofore was that of Percy Lambert, who driving a Talbot car made 103 miles 114 yards in an hour. Goux's new record beats that of Vedrine, the aviator, who held the world's speed record, having made a flight at Chicago in which he covered 104½ miles in an hour.

Not only did the Frenchman shatter the hour mark, but he set new records for the 50 and 100-mile marks. The former distance was negotiated in :28:18.65 and the latter in :56:29.93. The former records were by Lambert. He made the fifty miles in :29.04 and the 100 miles in 57:49.48 on Feb. 15.

It is hard to appreciate the real speed which Goux attained. He traveled a distance of 106.29 miles in sixty minutes, or at a rate of 155 7-10 feet a second. If the car was equipped with 34x4 wheels each wheel would have made 62,832 revolutions for the entire distance. The average touring car engine at a 3½ to 1 ratio would have to turn over 3,665 times each minute to keep the pace. It has been figured out that if the driver had applied both brakes he could not have stopped his car in less than 1 1-10 miles or 6,850 feet.

Comparing the speed of the Peugeot to the muzzle velocity of a 13-inch gun used in the United States navy, it is found that Goux traveled more than 1-10 as fast as a ball from one of the large guns. The speed of the bullet is approximately 1,400 feet a second. These comparisons will assist, no doubt, in giving some faint idea of the great speed of the car.

British pride is said to have sustained a terrific blow by the success of the Frenchman, as the natives of England believed the marks set by their countryman could not be lowered. Goux has been after the records for some time and in his last attempt came close to breaking the mark for the hour. Tire trouble alone kept him from the goal. He kept right on trying, however, and the result has been another proof added to the long list of those which assert that perseverance conquers all things.

It is expected that the present mark will stand for a long time, but others may try just as hard, as it would seem that the limit has not been reached. Human endurance will have to be figured on when it comes to lowering the mark and a limit will no doubt be established some day. What that limit will be can not be prophesied, but in all probability it will be great enough to overstep the present mark if a mechanical product be found which will stand the strain.

Mexicans, either Federal or insurrecto, were not the only people who took long chances in the recent revolution which resulted in the overthrow of the Maderist government and the death of the president and vice president. There was at least one American whose life was several times at stake, and who escaped unharmed only to utilize the experiences through which he had passed as an asset in his business.

The man was H. Geoffery Fletcher, Mexico City representative of the American Motors company, who, in a recent letter to his firm, tells of a thrilling midnight ride of several miles with a motor car load of Mexican refugees and Federal soldiers' carbines pressing against his side. He tells, too, how, when the fighting was over, he made the same trip on an investigating tour, and struck on an excellent means of demonstrating the superiority of underslung automobiles; a road so rough that even crawling over it at a snail's pace in the daylight showed a thousand and one opportunities for a wrecked car.

"Shortly before midnight on the Sunday that the second revolution broke out in Mexico City, I was roused out of my hotel by a squad of Federal soldiers and informed that my car was needed to transport government sympathizers to the outskirts of the city, away from the fighting zone," writes Mr. Fletcher. "At the orders of a Mexican captain, half a dozen refugees were piled into my little American Underslung Roadster, and a soldier who had been detailed to the duty poked an ugly-looking carbine into my ribs, grunted fiercely that I was to 'drive like the devil' in the direction he indicated. Then began the wildest ride in which I ever participated.

"Though I put the lever over in high gear and gave the motor all the gasoline it would take, that soldier kept urging me on faster and faster. In the city it was not so bad, but after leaving the pavements there were no lights and the road became rougher and rougher. My escort would not allow a slowing down, so for five miles I drove the car at full speed over a trail that would discourage a mountain goat. That alleged road was so rough that I could foresee nothing but a wreck ahead, and several times we were tilted at alarming angles, as we plunged up and down sand hillocks or ran along the steep side of a gully.

"The performance of the little roadster was an excellent proof of the advantages of underslung construction, for an overhung car could never have made the trip without being broken in pieces."

George A. Kissel, returning home after his successful trip to the Pacific coast, expresses his impression of the Far West with enthusiasm, incidentally describing the organization of the new $500,000 corporation, which, under the name of the Pacific Kissel Kar branch, will market Kissel Kars in all the states west of "the Great Divide."

"We went first to Texas and then through to Southern California," said Mr. Kissel in Milwaukee, "and while the motive of the trip was a business one, we managed to sandwich in a great deal of pleasure. What do I think of California? Well, I am anything but a poet and therefore cannot adequately describe the majesty of nature prevailing out there, further than to say that we found it a wonderland. Our only regret was that we could not include the Northwest in our trip owing to the necessary length of the negotiations leading to the formation of the Pacific branch. I had hoped to complete the tour with a visit to Seattle, Portland, Tacoma, Vancouver and the other great cities of the Puget Sound country, but time unfortunately forbade.

"The cities I have named, as well as those of California and other points, will have early attention from the new corporation. It is the intention to erect buildings at many points, designed to carry out in every detail the Kissel Kar policy of service to owners, as well as to provide adequate sales facilities to meet the results of an intensive campaign.

"I have no doubt but that the Panama exposition in San Francisco in 1915 will be the most successful World's fair ever held and I believe that thousands will motor there from Eastern points. Trans-continental trips no longer offer serious obstacles to good drivers."

To be able to say that one had driven his car into every state of the union would be a proud boast for any automobile owner. The claim will shortly be made by Howell L. Williams of Bristol, R. I., if present plans do not miscarry. Mr. and Mrs. Williams made a long trip from Rhode Island to Los Angeles, Cal., last summer in their 6-cylinder car, going by way of Chicago, Denver, Salt Lake city, Seattle, and thence down the coast, visiting a large number of states en route, as a result of numerous side trips.

They now plan to return by a zigzag route through the Grand Canon to Texas, thence north to Montana and the Dakotas, east to Chicago, down the Mississippi valley to the gulf and finally north again through the Atlantic coast states. This routing will take them through all the remaining states of the union and thus enable them to make good their boast.

Williams, who is an enthusiastic motorist, says "My Knox car gave me such splendid service on the trip West, negotiating without mechanical break down roads which seemed well nigh impassable, that I naturally have unbounded confidence in its ability to bring me safely through the remainder of the strenuous journey. Although my car is only a four-cylinder model, it has ample power to cope with the severe conditions encountered in transcontinental touring and its hill-climbing ability, particularly on high gear, has never ceased to be a marvel to me. We hear a great deal said about six-cylinder cars nowadays, but I cannot understand how anyone could desire more power or flexibility than is afforded by my four-cylinder car and I have certainly given it a thorough enough test to know what it can do in this respect."

ATTENTION, AUTOMOBILE OWNERS!

FOUND AT LAST! WHAT? CHEMICAL RUBBER

The Long-Looked-For Substitute for Air in the Automobile Tire

RIDES LIKE AIR. ENDS TIRE CARE.

Can you afford to be without Chemical Rubber?
Or do you enjoy these tiresome delays?
Remember how you cussed last summer.

Use Chemical Rubber in Your Tires and Bid Good-bye to Punctures, Blowouts, Rim Cuts, Long Delays, Aggravating Disappointments, Soiled Clothes, Dirty Work, Ruined Casings, Spoiled Inner Tubes.

Chemical Rubber is not a gum, gelatine mixture paste, powder or cement, and it contains nothing injurious to your tires.

☛CHEMICAL RUBBER ADDS FROM 100% TO 400% TO YOUR TIRE MILEAGE, SAVES 95% OF YOUR TIRE UPKEEP, AND IS NOT AFFECTED BY HEAT, COLD OR CLIMATIC CONDITIONS.

CHEMICAL RUBBER

Chemical Rubber is a combination of chemicals, in cold liquid form, which becomes a perfect synthetic rubber when vulcanized. It does NOT lose its resiliency under heat, cold, or climatic conditions.

HOW IT IS APPLIED

The tire is first filled with air, until the pressure usual to the size of the tire is obtained, then Chemical Rubber in cold liquid form is injected into the tube through the air valve. The air is then ejected by special process, which permits a displacement of air for chemical rubber. This enables us to absolutely duplicate the resiliency of air by controling the pressure on the liquid chemical rubber, thereby duplicating the resiliency of the air. (Please note that Chemical Rubber filler is NOT placed inside the casing in several pieces or in one large piece, similar to a sausage, such as many of the fillers on the market are applied). The Chemical Rubber requires an inner tube, and its resiliency and pressure on the casing can be adjusted accurately. After the cold liquid is injected in the tube and the required pressure has been obtained the tire is placed in our specially constructed vulcanizing oven, under 110° of heat, (approximately summer heat) and allowed to remain for a period of eight hours. Chemical action taking place, the liquid becomes chemical rubber, properly vulcanized. It is extremely difficult for any one, unless they may be a rubber expert, to distinguish the difference between genuine rubber and this substitute.

An inner tube thus filled with Chemical Rubber will last as long as the automobile, as it can be easily changed from a worn-out casing to a new one. One can readily understand, by filling the tube under pressure, that every atom of space in the casing is properly filled, and there is an equal pressure on every portion of the casing, thereby insuring greater results from your tire mileage.

The tubes once filled, eliminate all further use of extra rims, tubes and tires. You may as well throw your tire repair kit away, along with your pump, and laugh at the other short-sighted motorists changing tires as you whizz by. Wherever you go, you are confident that no tire trouble will mar your trip and that you are sure of getting home.

REMEMBER, we guarantee Chemical Rubber to eliminate your tire troubles, such as PUNCTURES, RIM CUTS, BLOW OUTS, and to add from 100% to 400% to the life of your casings.

Mr. E. J. Filiatrault, of the Mutual Auto Co., who is president of this company, and men of similar character and business integrity, who compose the personnel of THE CHEMICAL RUBBER CO., protect you on this guarantee. We have just completed a modern, up-to-date plant, which adds another link in the chain of Duluth's manufacturing industries, and we cordially invite you to call on us and give us an opportunity to introduce you to Chemical Rubber and its home.

ONCE INTRODUCED TO CHEMICAL RUBBER, YOU WILL MAKE A VALUABLE AND INSEPARABLE FRIEND

Our Plant Is Now in Operation and Filling the Many Orders Already Received From Duluth and the Range Cities. Get your Order Placed Early as Present Indications Prove That Our Plant Will Be Worked to Its Capacity All Summer Long.

NORTHERN MINNESOTA'S BUSINESS AGENT.

Good reports from the Northern Minnesota Development association are always good news; and there were some good reports from it in The Herald last evening.

The N. M. D. A. is the business agent of Northern Minnesota. It has brought the northern counties to a realization of their common interests. It has knitted them together in a mighty work of development that is already bearing rich fruit. It is not saying too much to assert that this live wire organization has put Northern Minnesota ahead ten years.

The association is maintaining an immigration agency that is bringing in new settlers. It is maintaining a good roads committee which is wisely directing the most essential line of development work. It is laboring in many ways for the common good of the northern counties.

These endeavors cost money. Money put into the support of the association is money will invested.

In the past the money has come from private subscriptions. A few have borne the burden, though all have benefited. Thanks to the Bouck law, allowing counties to appropriate a limited amount of money for this invaluable work, the expense can now be distributed so that all will share in it, and none will feel it.

The counties should be prompt in contributing their respective shares. St. Louis county should head the list, for no part of Northern Minnesota can grow and prosper without its profiting St. Louis county.

The N. M. D. A. is at its flood tide of usefulness to Minnesota, and it should be supported liberally.

Whisky isn't the only curse of civilization that the Indian has fallen a victim to. The other day a Michigan aborigine started a fire with kerosene.

IT CAN'T WIN BOTH WAYS.

California apparently wishes to go it alone and defy the nation in the matter of alien ownership of land.

But it asks national—and international—support for its Panama Pacific exposition.

It can't expect to win both ways. California should have a care.

The standpatters didn't even try to amend the tariff schedules on wines and liquors. Apparently that schedule will bear investigation.

GETTING AWAY WITH IT.

Mr. A. builds a house. He uses the cheapest possible grade of lumber, the poorest quality of nails, the most slipshod of workmanship wherever the workmanship will not show. Then he puts on several coats of paint, and stands back and admires the place. It is as good-looking a house as any in the neighborhood, and it attracts attention and favorable comment from passersby. He has done a slovenly piece of business and has got away with it.

But what sort of a house has he built? It is not warm, for the only sure means of insuring warmth have been neglected. It will not wear well, for it contains nothing that will stand the tests of time, either in material or workmanship. It just looks good, and so far as the ordinary person can see, it is all its appearance claims for it. So he has little trouble in disposing of it when he puts it on the market, and he gets for it a price such as should have been paid for a better article. Once more he has got away with it.

It was a contemptible piece of business. He has cheated a man who trusted him by dealing with him, and has made himself contemptible in his own eyes. Sooner or later that man who dealt with Mr. A. is bound to find out the truth about the house. That will finish his dealings with A., and also it will finish all chance of his friends dealing with A. For the victim will not be silent to them about the character of the man who "stung" him so severely. And even if he wished to be silent, the condition to which the house will soon drop will be eloquent testimony as to the work of the man who built it.

But houses are not the only things subject to such deals as this. You can cheat a man when you are shoveling his sidewalks or tending his furnace or keeping his books or doing any other work for him, just as shamefully as you can when you build him a house. And you can get away with it just as smoothly, too. You may go for days or weeks or months or years without getting caught. You may get away with it indefinitely, in fact. But what do you gain by it?

One thing you will gain when you are found out—as you are sure to be sooner or later—will be the contempt of the man for whom you worked and the loss of any chance that he will help you to something better, either in his own employ or that of somebody else.

Another thing you will gain will be your own contempt. You may not realize it now. You may think you are doing something smart, something praiseworthy, but the time will come when you will realize the contrary.

And a third thing you will gain will be a character that you can't even trust yourself. The man who systematically cheats others will come eventually to cheat himself. By practicing deceit you will build up a character that is weak and contemptible, that will be a curse to you and all who may be associated with you. And all because you yield to the temptation to do things that need to be "got away with" instead of being able to stand on their merits.

It isn't worth while, mentally, morally or financially. Honest service is the first requisite of continued honorable employment. Honest service doesn't need to be "got away with."

This idea of having revolver fights in sleeping cars is likely to undo a lot of work that has been accomplished to make upper berths popular.

THE FLY.

The typhoid or house fly is a bad sign, pointing two ways.

It points back to a place of filth wherein it was bred.

It points forward to the spread of disease, whose germs it bears from the place of filth in which it luxuriates.

There is an old fairy tale about a tailor who killed nine flies at a blow, and who thereupon labelled himself "hero" and strutted about.

If you kill one fly now, you kill a million at a blow; for you destroy the ancestry of a million flies.

Andrew Carnegie says the safest job is one in the U. S. army or navy. Would Andy imply that our national defense service is of the chocolate order?

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED!

The railroads of the East have determined to ask the interstate commerce commission for an increase of 5 per cent in freight rates.

So far as this request is concerned, if the railroads are entitled to charge more for their services we hope the commission will permit the increase.

And if they are not entitled to more we hope they won't be allowed to charge more.

But that isn't what interests us in this item.

It is that the railroads, when they want to increase freight rates, have to come and ask the people—through the people's agent, the interstate commerce commission—for permission to do so.

Once upon a time, when the railroads wanted to put freight rates higher, they put them higher. That's all there was to it. The rule was to charge all the traffic would bear; a very simple rule and very convenient for the railroads, but one that didn't suit the people.

So now, when they think they ought to be getting more money for their public service, the railroads have to ask the public for permission to charge more.

It shows how far this nation has traveled toward real rule by the people, for the people.

But it took a long time. The people demanded an interstate commerce commission for years before they got it. When they got it, it was impotent for good. Its powers have been increased but slowly. Only within a short time has it become of any real service. And it isn't yet what it ought to be and will be. When it has the physical valuations of all the railroads, and can base rates on that firm foundation, it will be complete.

But the fact that railroads can't increase rates without getting public permission is mightily encouraging.

Gen. Aubert, after all, is only giving President Huerta a taste of his own medicine.

"ALL MEN ARE COWARDS".

The psalmist didn't say in his heart, "All men are cowards." At least if he did he failed to make legible note of the remark. But would he have been very far off if he had? Think a moment.

Almost any day as you ride or walk along the streets you can see some dozens or scores or possibly hundreds of youngsters between the ages of five and fifteen, scooting about on roller skates. They seem to put no effort into the thing, and yet they travel at a rate several times as great as that of the average pedestrian. In fact, there isn't a man who walks the streets of this or any other city who covers the ground as easily or as rapidly as they do.

Every once in a while some observer of the youthful skaters nerves himself to say that that would be a pretty good way to go to and from work. It would save time and carfare, and would accomplish wonders in the way of rapid locomotion. And at the same time the skaters would get the benefit of outdoor exercise.

But did you ever see a business man or a clerk going to his work on roller skates? Never! They may realize the saving of time and energy, they may even realize the fun there would be in it, but they don't do it. They watch the kids enviously, and think how they'd like to adopt that mode of transit, but the fact remains that they don't do it.

Why? To put it in accepted "kid" language, "because they dassent." They have the ability, perhaps, and they might be able to raise the price of the skates, and they have the desire. But they haven't the courage to take it up. Of course if others would do so at the same time, that would be different. But these men haven't the nerve to begin it. They're too big cowards.

Some day some fellow with the courage of his convictions is going to begin going to and from work on roller skates. Then the rest will take it up, and there will be great wondering why they didn't do it before. But just at present they haven't the courage. Men are wonderfully brave about some things, and wonderful cowards about others. If you don't believe it, just try to persuade yourself into this roller skate idea and see where you get to.

Now that Browning's love letters have been sold at auction, watch for the smoke of the conflagration in those homes where the women believe in the ultimate greatness of their mates.

CONSISTENCY.

The attitude of the "Progressive" leaders in congress toward the Underwood tariff bill proves two things that hardly needed proving:

1. The leopard cannot change his spots.

2. It's hard to teach an old dog new tricks.

And still another:

3. Though masquerading under a new name, the "Progressives" are still what they always were—Republicans.

The "Progressives"—we use the quotation marks because we resent the arrogance which takes, as the name of a political sect that has its being only in the personality of an exploded individual, a word of great dignity and wide scope—are opposing the Underwood bill, and from their arguments nobody unfamiliar with recent political schisms would take them to be other than standpat Republicans.

The Underwood bill is precisely what the Bull Moosers professed to desire when they were seeking votes in tariff revision sections last fall. It is not a free trade bill. It is not even exclusively a tariff for revenue bill. Though making sharp reductions in the interest of the consumer, it leaves ample protection—all the protection any industry ever was entitled to get. It is a fair bill, and an honest bill. It is a bill which every citizen, seeking public good rather than party advantage, ought to embrace eagerly.

Yet the "Progressives," so-called, vie with the standpatters of the Republican party in the futile effort to stop it by heaving straws into its path.

In the Bull Moose platform of 1912 you will find these words: "We demand tariff revision because the present tariff is unfair to the people of the United States. Fair dealing toward the people requires AN IMMEDIATE DOWNWARD REVISION of those schedules wherein duties are shown to be unjust and excessive."

And though these Bull Moosers declared for a tariff commission, they held that "the work of the commission should not prevent the IMMEDIATE adoption of acts reducing those schedules generally recognized as excessive."

And now the representatives of the Roosevelt party in congress are opposing the thing they clamored for, so earnestly that they are indistinguishable from Republicans still unashamed to wear the old label.

Why?

Because—and only because—the Roosevelt party can win political prosperity only be defeating the attempts of the Democratic administration to meet the demands of the people.

Mr. Mary, quite contrary, how does your garden spade?

A TALE OF KITCHEN SINKS AND BACKACHES.

Truly, habit is the greatest nuisance in life.

Kitchen sinks are put so low, as a rule, that it is backbreaking work to labor over them. Housewives and servants, after "doing the dishes," have cricks in the back. If the sinks were higher, work would be easier and less painful.

Arthur P. Kellogg in the Survey magazine tells how this came about. It is a mere silly survival of an ancient fact—a custom grown into habit after the need of it has passed.

"The old wooden sinks," says Mr. Kellogg, "were built in the days when dishwashing and such tasks were done in wooden tubs and buckets with high sides, so that a low sink was comfortable to work over. Moreover, it was before the time of running water, the tubs and buckets were heavy, and the lower the sink the less the lift."

And now, though the wooden tubs and buckets have been replaced by metal sinks, and though running water does away with the necessity of lifting, the new sinks still "scrooch down by the floor."

A woman has come to the rescue, however. Madge D. Headley noticed, in looking over a philanthropic model tenement building, that the twentieth century sink is as low as the ancestral sink of the nineteenth century. Thousands of women have groaned with backache from low sinks, but have let it go at that. This woman went to a manufacturer of sinks.

"Why are sinks made so low that they give women backaches three times a day?" she asked him.

"I'm blessed if I know," he said after thinking it over. Then he went to work to figure it out, and did. So he saw the stupid folly of it.

And now he has designed a new sink, "a sort of sink on stilts, or a daddy-long-legs of a sink, and in no time at all now it will be on the market."

Housewives, in building homes hereafter, will if they are given a chance insist on having kitchen sinks made at convenient heights, for of course nobody, now that this discovery is made, will make any more of the old-fashioned kind that put the ache in backache.

Yes, Madeline, there is very, very much difference between the soil prophet and the soil profit.

THE NATION'S GOOD FAITH IS INVOLVED.

Another reason why the California situation will bear watching is that a nation, as an individual, should be jealous of its good name.

Panama canal legislation enacted by the last congress proposes a flat violation of a treaty obligation to Great Britain.

California's proposed legislation threatens a violation of our treaty obligations to Japan.

This country cannot afford to stand shamed among the nations as one whose pledged word is worthless.

Will Lakeside or Woodland produce the first dandelion?

"OUR DAILY BREAD."

Not much cool, calm, deliberative public spirit can be looked for from a man with a stomach long empty.

History bristles with a thousand instances of this big fact.

Yet it remained to this day for statesmanship to discover it and to recognize it in its program.

Nobody has expressed it more lucidly and more convincingly than Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States.

In "The New Freedom" he says:

> Now, everything that touches our lives sooner or later goes back to the industries which sustain our lives. I have often reflected that there is a very human order in the petitions in our Lord's Prayer. For we pray first of all, "Give us this day our daily bread," knowing that IT IS USELESS TO PRAY FOR SPIRITUAL GRACES ON AN EMPTY STOMACH, and that the amount of wages we get, the kind of clothes we wear, the kind of food we can afford to buy, is fundamental to everything else.
>
> Those who administer our physical life, therefore, administer our spiritual life.

It is this new recognition of the vital relationship between physical well-being and spiritual grace, public spirit and citizenship that has made the new order of things in public life so practical and so widely appealing.

Some of these mornings have been beautiful between 4 and 6 o'clock—don't you think so?

Acre Yields Are Going Up.

Farm and Fireside: For twenty years past the tendency in all the leading crops has been toward steadily increasing yields per acre. Take corn. In 1890 the country's average yield of corn per acre was twenty-three and one-half bushels per acre. It has fluctuated since then, with good and bad seasons; but the tendency has been steadily upward, and in 1912 the average reached twenty-seven bushels, the highest it had known to that time.

Wheat shows a like experience. In 1890 it was a fraction below twelve bushels average per acre; in 1912 it got up to a fraction above fourteen bushels. The increase was steady and persistent.

Oats in 1890 averaged a trifle under twenty-five bushels. In 1912 they just topped a thirty-bushel average per acre.

Potatoes went just a bit over seventy bushels per acre in 1892. Then they climbed upward till they were ninety-six bushels in 1912.

Barley increased its average yield from about twenty-one and one-half to twenty-five and one-half between 1890 and 1912.

Rye made the greatest proportional gain, going up from eleven and three-fourths to sixteen and one-half bushels in that same interval.

Buckwheat rose from thirteen to over nineteen bushels in the same period.

Hay went up from 1.2 to 1.4 tons per acre.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

DEFENDS MORMONISM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In reply to the article "On Mormonism" that appeared in your paper April 30, which stated that polygamy is still practiced among the Mormons, I wish to say that there has not been a plural marriage sanctioned by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints since Utah became a state and there were less than 4 per cent of the male population lived it when it was practiced most extensively.

Guaranteed rewards of $1,000 each have been posted for several years for reasonable proof of each and every plural marriage performed or sanctioned by the church since September, 1890. No one has yet made any attempt to claim the reward, which still holds good.

The Book of Mormon was not taken from the Spaulding story, as stated in the article. Prof. Fairchild of Oberlin college in Ohio examined the Spaulding manuscript and compared it with the Book of Mormon. He then testified over his signature that there was no similarity between them, and that the opponents of Mormonism would have to look elsewhere for an explanation of the Book of Mormon.

Hats

Frank M. Bicknell in Lippincott's: Strangely variable and contradictory are the customs that govern the hat while it is on duty! In comparing the French with the Germans, would not one say that the former have more of that surface politeness which goes to make good manners? In the reading room of the National library at Paris men wear their hats freely if they choose. In the Royal library at Berlin (Josiah Flynt tells us) a cripple was once sharply rebuked by an official for coming to the desk with his hat on, though the heavy load of books he was bringing made it almost impossible for him to carry it in his hand.

The visitor to New York's public library meets natives who tiptoe along the outer corridors with bared heads, wearing an awed, impressed, oppressed air rather amusing to the citizen of a city that has always had a real public library. Probably after awhile familiarity will cause New Yorkers to feel less ill at ease within the portals of the Bryant Park reservoir of literature and learning.

We occasionally see in a public library some such notice as: "Gentlemen will please remove their hats on entering this room," leaving us to infer that the man who keeps his hat on may not necessarily lack gentle breeding, else the wording might be: "Gentlemen will and others must, etc." Most students who use public libraries habitually know that when the hands are burdened with books (perhaps also with umbrella, bag, and other impedimenta) it would be convenient to wear the hat on the head; is there one single sound reason why not? To take off one's hat in an art gallery may afford somebody else a better view of the pictures, but to doff one's hat to a collection of books, most of which are invisible, seems not of vital importance.

Men take off their hats in an elevator car if it contains ladies. When it is crowded the hats must be held at arm's length, high in the air, or risk being crushed; though nowhere else would they take up less room or be less in the way than on their owners' heads. And if men pay this homage to the gentle sex in the elevator, why not in the steam or trolley car?

The custom of taking off the hat in church prevails widely, but do not the Friends keep theirs on during divine service? And would not a devout Jew consider it highly irreverent not to wear his hat in the synagogue? There comes to us from England a story of a certain vicar who denounced as being in the last degree sacrilegious the conduct of a party of ladies who came to inspect the interior of his church bareheaded. O Inconsistency, thou art a jewel, a paste diamond!

Apart from the dictates of convention, would not the wearing of the hat in church seem more in accord with that abasement which prompts the repentant sinner to cast himself upon the ground and try to hide his face? Why not hide it under his hat and save trouble?

As with one extremity, so with the other. Try to enter an Eastern mosque or temple with your shoes on, and see how far you will get; try to enter Grace or Trinity church with your shoes off, and see how far you will get! So after all, one is tempted to think there is about as much or as little reason in some of our strictest unwritten laws as there is in the mandates of Simon when he says: "Thumbs up! Thumbs down! Wig-wag!"

Acorn and Princess.

Farm and Fireside: A German princess on her death bed ordered that her grave be covered with a great granite slab and that around it should be placed solid blocks of stone and the whole be fastened together with clamps of iron, and that on the stone should be cut these words: "This burial place, purchased for all eternity, must never be opened."

It happened that a little seed was buried with the princess, a single acorn. It sprouted under its stone covering; its tiny shoot, soft and pliable at first, found its way through a tiny crevice between two of the slabs. And there it grew, slowly but surely, and there it gathered strength until it burst the clamps asunder and lifted the immense blocks and turned the whole structure into a mass of upheaved rocks. The oak grew to be a mighty tree, and, according to the story, it still stands overshadowing the now opened tomb of the princess.

Grass After a Bonfire.

Farm and Fireside: Everybody has noticed that the year after you burn a brush-heap, at that place the grass will be the brightest green, rank and luxuriant; but not everybody takes the hint and supplies his land round that little green spot with potash and lime in some form. That's what the fire in the brush-heap has done, though. Nature gives us a suggestion of what good farming is in that way. We will be wise to act upon it.

An Eternal Quest

From Current Opinion.

Is the sum of human happiness increasing or decreasing? What brings us our keenest joys and what our most poignant sorrows? Which is the more vivid—joy or pain? Such are a few of the questions considered by E. B. McCormick in a recent article in the Edinburgh Review. To augment human happiness, he reminds us, must be the desire of every person. It is the main object of some, the declared object of many, and at least a collateral consideration with most. Accordingly, the question of how to further this object must be, and must remain, the most absorbing and momentous of all subjects of human inquiry.

If little has been done to envisage the subject scientifically, it is perhaps because the question hardly admits of scientific treatment. For example, those who set out to give practical effect to altruistic impulses might be expected to begin by asking (which they never do) whether it is better to enhance happiness or diminish woe. As Mr. McCormick, writer, puts it:

"The distinction is by no means fantastical. Of 100 persons who are, as to 10 per cent in bliss, as to 10 per cent in anguish, and as to 80 per cent in moderate contentment, should one aim at mitigating the woe of the 10 per cent or at adding to the satisfaction of the 80 per cent?

"The answer to this question depends on the answer to other questions, as:

"1—Is pleasure as desirable as suffering is undesirable?

"2—Can any amount of happiness in A compensate for suffering in B?

"3—Can any previous or subsequent felicity outweigh the worst suffering?

"It is in the nature of such questions that, though of real practical importance, they are largely unanswerable because the answers depend on data so difficult of access. For any given person "utmost joy" and "worst suffering" are unknown. As regards himself and his constitution, a man is bounded by his personal experience; as regards others, he is bounded by the five walls of his senses and the prison of his personality. He can never really escape from his own prison or penetrate that of another. All a man can be sure of is the stream of sensations and emotions which traverse his own personal consciousness between birth and death. The universe presents, and must present, itself to every man in terms of his own experience. All else is vague and inferential.

"It is this sheer ignorance and inexperience, personal, ancestral and racial, which lie at the root of all the differences which separate human beings in ideals, beliefs, policies and systems of conduct."

To the question, What constitutes happiness? the writer answers:

"Stated physically, we may say that pleasure (of which happiness is the generalized form) is the furtherance, pain the hindrance, of life. Happiness, therefore, is in proportion to the fullness of the life generated, to the volume of freely flowing nervous energy, of functional activities and affections, combined with the fullness and permanence of the provision afforded for their satisfaction."

Now life, as Herbert Spencer has shown, is a correspondence between the organism and its environment in which there is a constant process of change going on in the one to fit changes in the other. The desiderandum, therefore, is to provide and preserve this harmonious correspondence, this regular interplay, this moving equilibrium of subjective and objective conditions.

As civilization advances, as society grows in organization and strength, the physical disasters, cold, pain, hunger and other fleshly ills, tend to diminish, but the problem is not abolished. The ground is merely shifted. Mental and psychic needs come to the fore. No doubt the complication and multiplication of sensibilities mean a great increase in the capacity for pleasure, but quite obviously they are accompanied by a corresponding increase in the capacity for suffering. The average longevity increases. So also do the number of idlers, invalids and lunatics. Compassion conserves the unworthy, instead of leaving them to the wolves that wait at the door of the improvident, the weak and the undisciplined; and so the army of civilization marches ever more slowly and laboriously, encumbered by an ever lengthening retinue of parasitic camp followers and sick and wounded. Not only is progress impeded by the conservation of the unfit, but also by the instability and impermanence of the higher types.

A New Hybrid Bird.

In Farm and Fireside the editor reports the case of the recent crossing of a guinea fowl and an ordinary chicken. The editor owns the trio—Papa Leghorn, Mama Pearl Guinea and Offspring What-is-it. In regard to the hybrid the editor says in part:

"We are going to keep this happy family together, and see if we can carry the extreme further. The voluntary mating of these birds under ordinary farm conditions is very remarkable. We rather expect to hatch more hybrids this summer; but the really interesting phase of the affair will come when the test of the offspring as to fertility is made. We cannot say as yet whether it is a male or a female, but we rather incline to the belief that it is a hen. It slightly resembles a female hen-hawk. Its voice is about midway between the characteristic notes made by a hen and a guinea fowl and its manner and style of carriage are sufficiently in contrast to the corresponding qualities of Papa Brown Leghorn to be considered feminine.

"If so, will it lay? If it lays, will it follow the law of fecundity of which Dr. Raymond Pearl tells us, and lay according to the rule prevailing in its father's family, or will confine itself to fifty or sixty eggs a summer, as does its mother's people? Will its eggs be fertile, or will they refuse to hatch as do those of most hybrids? The Indian jungle fowl is a much closer relative to the common chicken than is the guinea, and readily crosses with the domestic fowl, but the hybrids are usually infertile, like the mule."

Evening Time.

At evening time let there be light;
Life's little day draws near its close;
Around one fall the shades of night,
The night of death, the grave's repose;
To crown my joys, to end my woes,
At evening time let there be light.

At evening time let there be light;
Stormy and dark hath been my day;
Yet rose the morn divinely bright,
Dews, birds, and blossoms cheered the way;
Oh for one sweet, one parting ray!
At evening time let there be light.

At evening time let there be light;
For God hath spoken—it must be.
Fear, doubt, and anguish, take their flight,
His glory now is risen on me!
Mine eyes shall his salvation see
—'Tis evening time, and there is light.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Making Faces.

A solemn duty rests on us all to be good looking. One who has come to mature years with an unattractive face is guilty of moral failure. He has left undone something he ought to have done.

We say our faces are the gifts of our ancestors, and this is partly true. Past generations gave the physical features we must bear through life. Any amount of wishing or working will not change the length of one's nose or the color of his eyes or the set of his chin. But the physical features can be molded and beautified by our own efforts.

A close observer of the president of the United States has said, "Woodrow Wilson is a handsome man, but he has made himself so; nature set out to make him homely." And then the writer, who quotes the above remark goes on to say, "The handsome gray-blue eyes and long jaw were given him by nature, but the firm mouth, the strong lines of the face, the keen but kindly look of the eyes, the thoughtful but untroubled brow—all these Mr. Wilson has put into his own face by years of self-mastery and mastery of difficult and arduous tasks."

It is open to us all to be handsome, but on the same inexorable conditions. He who makes a noble face must make first a noble soul. The picture will not be better than the artist who paints it.

The tools really effective in face building will not be found on the toilet table. Cream from a jar or powder out of a box may do something for the complexion, but the real secret of good looks lies deeper. The spirit of a man or woman is the real architect. The face becomes through the years a pretty accurate register of one's inner thoughts and motives.

Some of the most unattractive faces one sees in the street have been the most carefully groomed. All that exterior treatment can do has been done, but still the result is not a pleasing one. The lines of selfishness, the glint of greed, the marks of dissipation—these testify to a life lived disorderly with God and men. All the rouge and massage in a metropolis will not change the indelible impression.

But goodness, purity, kindness are face builders, too. There are people in the world one is drawn to instinctively. The evidence of nobility of character is plain in their very countenances. "I like that face," we say, and really mean we like the person behind it.

It is thoroughly well worth while for a youth to reflect on the presentment of himself that his friends are to behold forty years from now. Is there a more disheartening spectacle than an old man's face grown repulsive through the effect of ill-spent years?

And is there anything more attractive than the serene expression of one who has lived well and in the exercise of kindness? The thoughts of many years have registered themselves in a countenance that is at once beautiful and strong and winning. It is given to some men, and to more women, to reach the beatitude of which Longfellow speaks in Michael Angelo,

The light upon her face
Shines from the windows of another world.
Saints only have such faces.

AN ABSURD IMPUDENCE

By SAVOYARD.

Washington, May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—William R. Hearst is again in a state of mind and somewhat agitated about matters and things as one would expect from a perennial candidate for president, the doleful politician of the sorrowful figure, to whose piping no statesman of a particle of respectability dare dance. The Sansculottes, 'tis true, tread the measure, but America is no more France than Hearst is Danton, and I submit there is an illustration of contrast that exhausts the order of contrariety.

Champ Clark, a noble fellow, a man made for public work, in the legislature, but no more fit for executive than I for priest, would have stood a far better chance at Baltimore in 1912 if Hearst had not been for him, and when, after the soap-box primary in Chicago last spring, Mr. Clark, as honest as the sun, as guileless as a child, sent that dispatch of gratitude that Hearst displayed all the way across the first page of his "Yaller," the defeat of Clark was then and there nailed down.

• • •

In the White House Clark would have been the most unhappy of mortals and it would have come to him with poignant disappointment, more acute than to any man of his day, the truth, uneasy the head that wears a crown. The day he entered that mansion as president, Joe Bailey, who has his extravagant admiration, and W. R. Hearst, who has his misplaced gratitude, would have fought for possession. Clark is the most impressionable man of our politics who ever achieved his prominence—his is a great big heart as well as a glowing mind, and he would have fallen a victim to one or the other of the two discredited adventurers—Bailey and Hearst. And yet it is possible that, driven to desperation, Clark would have pronounced a plague on both your houses and emancipated himself from both, but, as I said, he has a very genius for the impressionable and that unfitted him for executive station, especially such as that of president. His field is on the floor of the house of representatives, that ought to be a greater and more to be desired place than senator. Why a man like Champ Clark wants to be president or speaker I can't understand. A rough and tumble on the floor is what he was made for. There is his theater.

Hearst supported Clark for the nomination because he supposed he would own him if elected, and own him he would unless somebody had waked Champ up and then Champ would have owned himself and his rage would have been violent, perhaps terrible. What a great service it was the Democratic party did Champ Clark at Baltimore! He ought to be forever grateful.

• • •

For some reason or other Mr. Hearst issues a manifesto, garrulous, incoherent, absurd, to announce that he condemns the Woodrow Wilson administration. Nobody expected him to do anything else. Everybody knew he would do that very thing. There was nothing else for him to do. Mr. Hearst is a candidate for president as he was in 1904. If Wilson's administration is successful, Hearst will be hopelessly in the lurch. As for the Wilson administration, it would be a miserable ingrate if it did not thank Mr. Hearst for his opposition. Let him keep it up.

Most ignorant of what he is most assured, the prince of the "Yallers" is distressed because President Wilson has expressed the opinion held by everybody who knows anything about it that the London Times is a good newspaper. The charge is puerile, stupid, but no more a sample of impotent and malicious asshood than Mr. Hearst's confusion of Federalist and Democrat. When he comes to discuss these two opposing political thoughts Mr. Hearst recalls Tobe Grider's show down at Bowling Green, Ky., that was "so damned bad it was right good." Wilson met congress face to face as George Washington did, and Mr. Hearst would have us believe that it is treason against the principles of Thomas Jefferson, who likewise would have met congress face to face if he had been capable of making a speech. Hearst charged that Wilson was a Federalist before the nomination at Baltimore last year. Nobody believed him then and nobody believes him now.

• • •

Mr. Hearst admits he is for a protective tariff and yet claims to be a Jeffersonian. Then he asserts that Wilson is a free trader and at the same time a Hamiltonian. There is a screw loose there—a regular absurdity. Why have two parties in this country in favor of a protective tariff? Insatiate archer, will not one suffice? If he is a protectionist why don't he join a party that believes in protection? Why does he pretend to be a member of a party that denounces protection as privilege, robbery, unconstitutional and infamous? If he is a Democrat, why doesn't he make a stagger at being a Democrat?

He is wild, rambling, incoherent—like Ed Marshall's duck, drawing about two inches of water, swimming on the bosom of a placid lake, blissfully and defiantly unconscious of the fathomless depths beneath, when he gets on his reciprocity hoss, that is not in the Democratic platform. Reciprocity is a word the late James G. Blaine gave the Republican party for campaign cry. We hear of it in state papers, in congressional debates, in the public press, on the stump, at the cross-road, and at the kneading-trough; but nobody has seen the reciprocity Mr. Blaine so brilliantly and so pertinaciously contended for enacted into the law of the land. It is a thing to talk about, not to practice—to promise, not to perform. Economically, reciprocity is an antidote for a protective tariff; politically, it is an apology for a protective tariff. It is an admission that if a people would sell, they must also buy, whereas protection teaches that it is as wicked to buy as it is excellent to sell. Sell everything and buy nothing is the exhortation of the protectionists, for in their lexicon a market place is a place where you may sell and shall not buy. They teach that when you sell it is impossible for you to lose, and if you buy it is impossible for you to gain. They believe that exports make wealth, and imports make poverty.

• • •

In our day whenever you hear a man talking about reciprocity, all he means is the immortality of the Payne-Aldrich tariff. It takes years to get a reciprocity treaty into action, and no wonder the G. O. P. is for it. It is the last resort of an Aldrich, a Cameron, a Smoot, a Dalzell, a Hearst. It means, and all it means is, that our congress shall not legislate on the tariff until we get the consent of other countries to the enactment. It was invented for no other purpose in the world but to preserve a protective tariff. That was its mission when it first showed its face in England in 1785, and there it postponed an honest revision for nearly three score years. That is all the mission it ever had in this country, to conserve the robbery of protection. And Mr. Hearst would lay this cuckoo egg in the Democratic nest!

• • •

The following by Hearst would be amusing if it were not so impudent:

"I have cattle ranches in Mexico, and it is proposed under Mr. Wilson's policy to bring beef free into the United States.

"It would advantage me considerably, from a merely sordid point of view, to have Mexican beef allowed free into the United States market.

"But as a patriotic American citizen and a Jeffersonian Democrat I do not believe that Mexican beef or any other Mexican product should be allowed free into the markets of the United States until American goods are allowed free into the markets of Mexico."

Now that means, if it means anything, and doubtless it means nothing—that means that we shall not give our laboring population cheaper meats until Mexico will let us. If Mr. Hearst were president, he would stand before Mexico, hat in hand, back bent, eyes furtive, "Please let us fix a tariff that will purvey cheaper meats for our hungry." I don't say that Hearst is in the pay of the Beef trust, but I do say that if he was a henchman of that cormorant he would write precisely what he did write in the foregoing passage from his absurd, impertinent, insolent and prating criticism of the Wilson administration.

• • •

And he sounds like the Bruce of Bannockburn when he says he is opposed to free print paper for the same reason he is against cheaper meats for his Sansculottes. How about the income tax? And besides, his Mexico ranch is made to do office of a campaign fund in his absurd race for president. By the way, the Republicans are very anxious to get Hearst's stuff into the Congressional Record.

HEALTH & HAPPINESS

By Dr. R. D. Scott.

Rural Tuberculosis on the Increase.

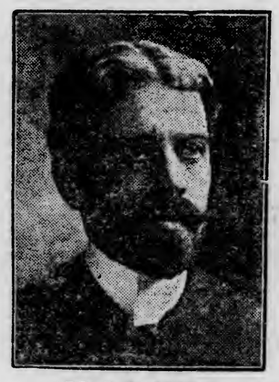
There appears little doubt that, while the spread of consumption is beginning to be controlled in the cities and large towns of our country, it is still on the increase in the country districts. The reason for this is not hard to find, for the country has been looked upon as possessing so many advantages—fresh air, good food, plenty of sunlight and no overcrowding—that it has been left pretty much to itself in the great educational campaign which has been waged against this disease during the last half score of years.

The fact that infection by close personal contact is the big factor in spreading tuberculosis has been partially lost sight of in the enthusiasm produced by the cure of beginning cases through the agency of fresh air, sunlight, good food and rest. And the rural districts being provided in abundance with these essentials to cure, has been neglected to a certain extent, by the anti-tuberculosis educationalists. The awakening is, however, at hand and Wisconsin, Illinois and other states have recently instituted state-wide, county surveys, to inquire into the status of rural tuberculosis.

The results, so far as they have been ascertained, have been rather surprising; for even counties so ideally situated and economically prosperous as Lafayette county, Wisconsin, have been found to yield a higher death rate from this disease than some of the adjoining cities. Along with this disease, however, is has become apparent that the causes are lack of proper board of health supervision and ignorance as to the infectious nature of the malady among the rural residents themselves. The first cause can be remedied by making it compulsory for householders as well as physicians to report to the health authorities all cases of open lung tuberculosis and the second can be greatly curtailed by the cooperation of the weekly and daily press with our educationalists who have so materially assisted in the education of the city residents.

The state and county anti-tuberculosis societies are thoroughly alive to the situation, and will not fail in supplying both literature and speakers to communities where these agencies would appear to be of value; but some interest in the work must be stirred up in every locality where cases exist, and co-operation between local enthusiasts and the officers of county and state societies is necessary for the attainment of best results.

Country tuberculosis is not diffused in the way the urban district is, but is usually found, two or three cases at a time, in one family or nome, and is plainly due to close contact infection. The reporting of these cases when discovered, if followed by proper instruction in the care of the patient, and his care of sputum, eating utensils, etc., will be the last step toward checking the spread of infection. Disinfection of houses after death or removal is the next most important duty of the authorities, but before these things can be satisfactorily carried out the people must be educated to their necessity; and it will be found surprising to city workers how densely ignorant the average rural resident is on the subjects of cause and spread of consumption. So, it is "up to" the better educated city resident to carry this educational campaign into the most remote corners of every county, with patience and persistence, and the county and state health boards require to have the backing of all good citizens in the enforcement of law.



DR. R. D. SCOTT.

School Diseases.

"Children of school age contract such diseases as measles, scarlet fever and diphtheria much more frequently than older persons. All that has been learned about the modes of transmission of certain diseases; notably diphtheria, indicates that the taking of a large number of children out from their restricted family and neighborhood relationships and bringing them into contact with a much larger group, will increase the opportunities for infection. As regards opportunities for infection furnished by the school, it must be admitted that while the slate, the common drinking cup and the roller towel are fast passing away, sufficient facilities for the transfer of disease germs still exist in the friendly exchange of pocket handkerchiefs, lip-moistened lead pencils, chewing gum and the like. The school playground, as well as the school room, must be considered in its bearing on the subject of school diseases. The significance of school attendance on the public health side lies not only in the assembling of children in a room, but also in the bringing into more or less intimate association a number of children who would otherwise not have met at all. Increasing the number of associates must necessarily increase the chances of infection. Diphtheria and scarlet fever show a marked increase in the autumn when the schools open, and an equally definite decrease in the summer when the schools are closed.

"The discovery of the part played by the healthy germ-carrier throws light on the probable origin of certain obscure cases of infection," says Prof. E. O. Jordan of the University of Chicago in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical association. "A child in a family in which a case of diphtheria exists may bear in its throat living diphtheria bacilli without manifesting any sign of disease. If this child is allowed to enter school a playmate may acquire the bacillus without in its turn becoming definitely ill. This second child, however, may take the germ home and pass it on to a non-school-going child in the same family, who then may develop a typical case of diphtheria. Methods of control of school and institutional outbreaks of diphtheria are therefore coming to be focused on the detection and exclusion of the carrier. Disinfection of innocent chairs and tables and even school closure are in general found to be less effective than the discovery and isolation of the living bearer of diphtheria germs. When school attendance is regarded by bacteriologic findings school epidemics quickly subside."

Questions and Answers.

Pyrrhoea Not Always Incurable.

F. L. inquires of pyorrhoea, where the teeth have already become loose, is an incurable disease.

REPLY.

No, it is not so considered by good dentists. To save the teeth which have already loosened will, however, take skillful work on the part of the dentist, and patient attention to the regularity of treatment on your part.

Care for Oily Skin.

H. L. S. writes: Please advise me of the cause, cure and preventive treatment for oily skin on one's face?

REPLY.

The causes are predisposing and aggravating. Under the first head is the particularly thick skin with large glands which is inherited by those suffering from oily skin, while under the second head come questions of diet, exercise, bathing and general care of the skin. The hereditary predisposition, of course, cannot be removed; but by avoiding rich foods, particularly sweets and rich pastries, taking plenty of outdoor exercise, daily hot baths and cold plunges, with brisk rubbing of the entire skin, the skin as a whole may be put in such a healthy condition that the face trouble will entirely disappear.

Farming For the Love of It.

THE BEND IN THE ROAD. By Truman A. De Weese. New York: Harper & Bros. $1 net.

The bend in the road is the place where the city man sometimes gets to from which he can see off over the open country, get the whiff of the soil and feel the call of the land. Mr. De Weese describes the experiences of a city man who arrived at that point, heeded the call, and by the rejuvenation of a bit of land that had been deserted and allowed to go to waste, built a country home for himself and family. He tells of the work that he was able to do himself and that which he hired done for him. He describes the life on his farm, and the benefits that he and his family derived from it. And above all he puts into the mental nostrils of his reader the odor of the land and gives one a sense of the pleasures of watching things grow under one's own hand. The book gives one a desire to go and do likewise, and at the same time puts the reader in touch with the pleasures and advantages to be found in that kind of effort.

How to Run the Farm.

A MANUAL OF PRACTICAL FARMING. By John McLennan, superintendent of farms at the New York State School of Agriculture at Alfred, N. Y. (The Macmillan Standard Library series). New York: The Macmillan company. 50 cents net.

With the continuous success of the once scorned scientific farming methods there has grown up a demand for information about these methods, among the men and women who are unable to attend the schools where they are taught. This volume is intended, and is admirably fitted, to fill that demand. The writer takes up the various problems that have been dealt with especially by the agricultural schools, and shows the results attained and how they were secured. He makes no claims for originality, but gives the "practical application of scientific facts to the every-day problems and conditions as they are found on the farm."

As a very brief statement of some of the subjects discussed it may be said that they include soil and its nature, its preparation, fertilization and drainage; a discussion of the various kinds of fertilizers and their application; the use of lime; how the various kinds of plant life grow; crop rotation; stock feeding; milk and cream handling and testing; and the treatment of calves, horses, sheep, swine and poultry, and also points about the orchard.

The Future of Our Farms.

THE COUNTRY LIFE MOVEMENT IN THE UNITED STATES. By L. H. Bailey. (The Macmillan Standard Library series). New York: The Macmillan company. 50 cents net.

The author makes a careful distinction between the work he takes up for consideration and the "back to the land" work. He is not discussing the getting of people back to the land, but the problem of keeping those on the land who are already there, and making their lives happier and more worth living. He thinks that the work that has been done to that end, of the country life commission appointed during President Roosevelt's administration and the efforts to bring the people of the rural communities together both for purposes of business and pleasure. The labor problems and the relations between the farmer and the middleman come in for discussion and also the relation of the farmer to the conservation problem.

Mr. Bailey views the matter of country life from every angle in the interests of both the men and the women. His work would be worth while if for no other reason because it treats seriously and thoughtfully of a subject that presents problems that are demanding solution.

Masefield Verse.

THE DAFFODIL FIELDS. By John Masefield. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25 net.

In his various books of verse Mr. Masefield has made many admirers and, perhaps, truth to tell, an equal number of critics. In this volume he takes up the narrative form, with the style of the sonnet for each separate stanza. The story is that of sin and its punishment.

As for the quality of the verse itself, it suffers from the old, old difficulty of narrative. In places where the author evidently felt the need of movement of the story he fell somewhat short of the full poetic expression, though he would doubtless defend himself by the claim that the unevenness of his characters talk naturally. But there is good reason for doubt as to the virtue of forbidding poetical expression to people, however humble, who are of sufficient importance to have their chronicles written in poetic form. But Mr. Masefield's volume is far from being of low quality. The sympathy he feels with his subject is evident throughout, and it really is no mean achievement to produce so extended a work of poetry in this form and always maintain the metrical and rhyme structure.

Among the Magazines.

At a time when the Democratic policy regarding the Philippines is in the balance, two articles in the May Atlantic are of marked interest. The first entitled "The Philippines by Way of India," is written by H. Fielding-Hall, for many years a British pro-consul in Madras. Through close association with the natives during a quarter of a century, Mr. Hall has come to have a knowledge of the Oriental mind and a sympathy with Oriental people such as are rare indeed to find in the West. Mr. Hall's Atlantic article treats mainly of the psychological difficulties which Americans meet in attempting to adapt the Anglo-Saxon mind to Oriental ideas and ideals. The second article, treating more specifically of governmental and physical questions, is Bernard Moses's "American Control of the Philippines." It will be remembered that Prof. Moses was a member of the first Philippine commission and is an expert student of government. "The Cost of Modern Sentiment," by Agnes Repplier, is a caustic criticism of the sentimentality which is gradually usurping the place of principle in the ordering of American thought today. "Insects and Greek Poetry" is a very charming lecture delivered by Leland Ossian on Greek poetry to a Japanese audience, introducing it to the East the aesthetic ideals of the West in a very interesting way.

Among the articles in the May Century stand out pre-eminently: "The Hayes-Tilden Contest for the Presidency," by Henry Watterson, a companion article to his "Grant-Greeley Campaign," which won wide comment and appreciation; "Schedule K," a clear and authoritative exposition of the wool situation by N. I. Stone, formerly chief statistician of the tariff board; "A War Worth Waging," by Richard Barry, telling how New York city has by means of improved sanitation, milk dispensaries, etc., doubled the length of life of her citizens within half a century, and "The Widening Field of the Moving Picture," by Charles B. Brewer, in which the scientific, artistic, commercial and educational phases of the subject are treated in detail and illustrated with many photographs. The stories of this number include "The Elixir of Youth," by Albert Bigelow Paine; "Her Own Life," by Allan Updegraff; "The Tachypomp" (in the series of reprints of classics of the last generation) by Edward P. Mitchell, and "Them Old Motheaten Lovyers," by Charles Egbert Craddock. And there is a further installment of Mrs. Burnett's "T. Tembarom."

The fifth article of President Wilson's "The New Freedom" appears in the World's Work for May. It is a plea for publicity in all governmental activities and is entitled "Let There Be Light." William Bayard Hale writes on "Watching President Wilson at Work"—a picture of the president's methods in the White House and of the quickly shifting drama of public events at the heart of the national government. In the editorial department is an especially complete review of the achievements of the late J. P. Morgan and an analysis of his significance as the leader of the movement which produced the most striking financial phenomenon of our times. "Small Investors' Money for Home Building" is a review of the building and loan associations as an investment opportunity for people of moderate means. The career of "The New Chief of the Secret Service" is described by Frank M. White, who tells especially of Chief Flynn's exploits in running to earth two leaders of the American "black hand." Carl Holliday, in "The Moving Picture Teacher," describes some of the many new uses of the cinematograph in the teaching of history, science, literature, and other subjects. Thirty-five teachers of the Washington Irving high school tell "What We Are Trying To Do" to make healthy and successful women of city-bred girls by methods that subordinate high averages in formal scholarship to the development of capacity for interest and happiness in real life.

In the May issue of the Engineering Magazine the leading place is devoted to an article by R. S. Hale, entitled, "Depreciation Accounting." The general conclusion that Mr. Hale endeavors to establish is, not that depreciation is unimportant; but that no system of accounting can, except by accident show the real value. The illustrated features of this issue include an article by Dr. J. A. Flemer, on the work done in determining the exact location of the Alaskan boundary, so long in dispute, together with the survey methods employed; the fifth instalment of the series on "Hydroelectric Power," by E. A. Lof; the second paper by David M. Myers on the "Combustion of Waste Fuels," taking up sawdust and wood waste; the sixth and final instalment of the Harrington Emerson series on "Efficient Railway Transportation," in which is considered the four ideals to be attained; a paper by Henry Williams, calling attention to the woeful lack of adequate paint material for the protection of structural steel against corrosion; and an article by Clarence H. Stilson, on "The Production and Working of Sheet Brass."

This week's Life has a center page cartoon with a real touch of sentiment. The title is "The Heirloom." It shows the hallway of an old Colonial house, the present occupant of which, reduced by poverty, is obliged to part with one of her most precious heirlooms—an old mahogany cradle. The shades of all the ancestors who have in turn owned it, appear in the hall and on the stairs, while the poor woman tearfully opens the door to allow the purchaser to carry away his precious burden. Nobody succeeds so well as Life in these real human touches.

Burton E. Stevenson's new novel, "The Destroyer," centers around the mystery of the blowing up of a French battleship. The opening chapters of the story appear in the May monthend number of the Popular Magazine. In this issue of the Popular Magazine are short stories by Charles E. Van Loan, A. M. Chisholm, Francis Lynde, Donal Hamilton Haines, Emerson Hough, Rupert Hughes, George Pattullo, Edwin Balmer, Charles R. Barnes, J. J. Bell, Courtney Ryley Cooper, Frank Condon; a serial by John A. Moroso, and a complete novel by Morris McDougall.

TESTED AS A CHILD THE POWER OF PRAYER

Margaret Deland, who has drawn such interesting pictures of children in her latest novel, "The Iron Woman," was, it seems, a serious child herself. She once tested the truth of her teachings on the efficacy of prayer. Looking earnestly at a curtain hanging from the window, she commanded: "Curtain, come to me!" And then was face to face for the first time with life's realities. Mrs. Deland recently explained that the beloved Dr. Lavendar of her "Old Chester" was a composite of two friends of her childhood.

BELGIUM'S STRIKE FOR MANHOOD SUFFRAGE

The Goal: "One Man One Vote."

By GRAHAM TAYLOR,
President of Chicago School of Civics and Philanthropy.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

The nation-wide strike for manhood suffrage in Belgium, which paralyzed the industries and almost suspended the normal life of the people, and which seems to have made a long stride toward gaining its object, was foreshadowed two years ago.

On Aug. 15, 1911, the streets of that gay, medieval capital witnessed scenes which every American who looked on knew were making history. Over 60,000 men, from larger and smaller places throughout Belgium, took a day off without wages and paid their way to the capital of their country in order to voice their protest against the unjust inequalities of the suffrage. The show of force by the extraordinary police and military precautions betrayed the furtive apprehension of both the municipal and national governments as to what might happen. With no sign of timidity or intimation of being overawed, this vast industrial army marched for hours—a silent, grim, determined, united, unarmed—between long files of armed soldiery which lined the curb and past stronger detachments of all arms of the service massed at strategic centers.

The great procession assembled at the Socialist headquarters, a large and impressive building bearing the significant name, Maison de Peuple, the House of the People. The permanent background of the stage in the assembly hall of that building is a colossal head of Jesus of Nazareth, the reverent work of a Belgian Socialist. The House of the People is the most practical expression, or perhaps demonstration, of the co-operative commonwealth in miniature which is to be found anywhere in the world. Starting with a sack of potatoes and a bag of flour, these wage workers in ten years erected a building costing $250,000. Of this sum, which was loaned by the national bank, they had then paid $100,000 and had asse verb three times as much as the balance due on the mortgage, which they continue to reduce by annual payments.

In this four-story, semi-circular building, at one of the principal business centers, ample accommodations are provided for a great variety of practical agencies. A cafe, which paid a profit of $2,400 in three months, shares the front of the ground floor with a large co-operative department store, where dry goods, house furnishings, clothing, meats, groceries, butter and milk, hats, hosiery and shoes are sold. A bakery with a capacity of 125,000 loaves of bread a week, a coal depot with twenty-nine delivery carts, a laundry and a clothing manufactory are among the business enterprises conducted here.

The 19,000 co-operating families receive as their share of the profits 12 per cent of the money they pay for bread, 6 per cent of what their groceries cost them and 5 per cent of the purchase price of their clothing. Among the protective features are an employment bureau for men and women, a pharmacy and a corps of thirteen physicians rendering free service to all members of one year's standing, and a sick benefit society with 8,000 members. Singing and ethical classes are maintained for children and a well-trained orchestra and choral club for adults. Small halls adequately provide for the meetings of the trade sections, and a great auditorium, seating 2,436 persons, rallies the festival gatherings and supplies room for political mass meetings.

955,070 have 1 vote;
336,866 have 2 votes;
704,549 voters, having two, three or four votes, cast 1,717,781 votes, a majority of 88,523 over those having one vote;

One man one vote!

In Belgium a man over 25 years of age gets an extra vote if he owns property. He is granted another vote if he has a university diploma. He casts a fourth vote if he is over 35 years of age, is the father of a family and pays taxes on more than a certain amount of property. The majority of the industrial population thus have only one vote, while the rural, well-to-do and richer people outvote each wage-earner by two, three or even four votes. The rural population thus controls the city industrial population and the church is charged by the Socialists with controlling the rural vote.

Against this rule of the minority, this great demonstration of 1911 was a protest. But to the onlooker from abroad it then seemed to be a patriotic proclamation of Belgium's one great hope of national evolution without revolution. The primary cause of the movement which has culminated in the present national strike was the defeat of the Liberal and Socialist coalition in parliament by a combination of the government and clerical forces in the elections of 1912. The Socialist congress summoned to meet the issue brought to a crisis by that event decided upon a general strike as a last resort if all other means of obtaining manhood suffrage failed. But before resorting to that measure a general suffrage bill was introduced into parliament by the Socialists and supported by the Liberals. As serious consideration of it was refused by the clerical and government authorities, a general strike was voted on April 14.

Whatever immediate effect this national political strike may have, those who are the keenest observers concede that the making of history is in the movement of Belgian labor for one-man one-vote suffrage. It is even predicted that it portends the separation of the Walloon and Flemish provinces, or a dynastic crisis, short of which, we are told, will have ended the new young king will stop the too rapid course of events by his interposition.

Certain it is that a movement of the people capable of maintaining and increasing for so many years a labor vote in parliament until it numbers more than one-third of the total must be reckoned with. If now the tolerance of this Belgian Socialist party toward those who honestly oppose its principles and methods, at this supreme crisis in its history and the national development, grows with its strength and equals its determination, it will improve the greatest opportunity the Socialist cause has ever had in the sphere of practical politics to demonstrate and promote its co-operative commonwealth.

SOCIETY

SUNDAY—Organ program at 4:15 and vesper service at 4:30 at Pilgrim Congregational church; Magbiah club will meet at Foresters' hall at 3 p. m.

MONDAY—Board of directors of Matinee Musicale will meet at Y. W. C. A. at 2 p. m.; Loyal Temperance Legion will meet at 4 o'clock at parlors of First M. E. church.

TUESDAY—Last meeting of the Bishop's club at clubrooms in cathedral hall at 8 p. m.; Drama league meeting at 10 a. m. at Spalding hotel; Mrs. H. W. Wasson will entertain at afternoon party for her daughter, Shirley; Business Women's club will meet at 8 o'clock at the library clubroom; annual business meeting of Linnaea society at 2:30 o'clock at Foresters' hall, room B.

WEDNESDAY—Wedding of Miss Lillian Gowan and Carver Richards; meeting of Woman's Auxiliary of Trinity pro-cathedral at home of Mrs. W. E. A. Le Quesne, 4217 McCulloch street, at 2:30 o'clock; annual birthday party of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Clement's Catholic church in evening at church parlors.

THURSDAY—Informal teams and parties.

FRIDAY—Central W. C. T. U. will meet at Y. W. C. A. at 2:30 o'clock.

SATURDAY—Bridge parties and informal entertainments.

With a few final club meetings and a large number of bridge parties, May-day teas, luncheons, breakfasts and informal affairs the general state of moving and house cleaning, into which all Duluth seems to have plunged, was varied to some extent, but apron and cap was a much more usual costume during the past week or two than afternoon gown or ball dress.

Several affairs of general interest were given among them, being the banquet on Wednesday evening at the Commercial club for Dr. Raymond Phelan of the University of Minnesota by members of his class in "Social Economics," which he has been conducting under the university extension branch, at which covers were laid for forty. A May-day tea at the Endion M. E. church Thursday afternoon was one of the prettiest church affairs of the season, a large number of women dropping in for an informal hour and a cup of tea.

Parties for June brides will create the next general wave in social circles and the sewing for June weddings will keep many busy.

NORMAL NOTES

Monday morning in chapel the children of the first and second grades gave a series of folk dances, "The Sleeping Beauty," "The Bleking" and "The Ribbon Dance," were given with much childish ease and abandon. Olive Scandling accompanied them at the piano.

President Bohannon spoke of the state appropriation of $70,000 which has just been made for an east wing on the building and an enlargement of the assembly room.

Mr. Seymour of St. Paul gave a lecture on "Haroun-al-Raschid" at chorus period on Tuesday.

The girls of the Glee club were entertained Tuesday noon by their director, Miss Taylor, at an enjoyable luncheon in the music room. The following girls were present: Helen Terryberry, Alice Pastoret, Ruth Monger, Margaret Grannis, Margaret Lewis, Lucile Hoar, Bess Warren, Ragna Dahle, Anna Brand, Margaret Taylor, Mary Myron and Bertha Hopkins.

Mr. Van Cleef met the members of the Thalian and Greyzolon societies for a special meeting in the assembly hall Wednesday noon. He urged that a stronger school spirit be shown in the interest of publishing the school annual and suggested that immediate action would be necessary. The following prizes are offered: $2 each for the best poem and the best story and a copy of the annual for the second best poem.

Estelle Fitzgerald entertained a number of girls at a picnic at Chester park Wednesday afternoon. Those present were: Veronica O'Hara, Margaret McCrum, Bernice Provenski, Doris Wilson, Margaret Gleason, Callista Coffey, Ruth Monger, Irene Campbell. Miss Vera Brown was guest of honor.

C. H. Frazee had charge of the Wednesday evening house meeting of Torrance and Washburn halls. He talked on the subject of "Reality and Illusion. Among other things, he defined science as refined common sense, and as human experience tested and set in order. Real words are those whose meaning we know in terms of life and experience.

Ruth Scott, a former student of the school, was guest of honor at a luncheon given by the "Senior Seven" Thursday noon.

Miss Margaret Gleason was hostess at a birthday spread given in her room, Tuesday evening, at Torrance hall. Those present were, Margaret McCrum, Veronica O'Hara, Estelle Fitzgerald, Irene Campbell, Ruth Monger, Mabel Smith and Doris Wilson.

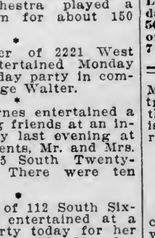
OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Vacations Are Necessity in Modern Business Whirl.



A well-known physician recently recommended a vacation of at least four weeks each year, and eight if possible. Both periods are all but impossible to a large body of people who count themselves fortunate in securing the two weeks which many are even now looking forward to with longing. But though most of us have to keep our noses pretty close to the grindstone, not a few keep them there with the idea of money-making uppermost. Money, and yet more money, that is the governing motive, with little thought of how little anyone is able to take out of this world.

Lots of grumpy old fogies do not believe in vacations in any guise or form. Of that I am well aware. They have never taken one, never felt the need of one, therefore they are to be dispensed with. The man who has never taken a respite from his cares and who bitterly argues against them, is his own worst traducer. Possibly many a man has had, or believed that he had, to forego them, but if he is the right sort he does not attempt to belittle their value.

Never in any history or account of any people that I have happened to cast my eyes upon have I read of any such application to business and pursuit of the dollar as has affected my country people of the present day. The effect upon future generations is bound to be disastrous unless we halt and learn to play more. I have often thought to myself that we might, without detracting from our business interests in the least, for I have observed that many of the "busiest" and most slave-bound in their own estimations, at least, are persons who do a tremendous amount of work with their feet and mouths, and wide flourishing of arms, and not half enough with the brains that the Lord gave them.

They have hypnotized themselves with the belief that everything will go wrong unless they are at hand to see that it goes right. They become slaves to the idea, and year in and year out tirelessly attend to the details of their business, becoming every year more doubtful of the trustworthiness and ability of those whom they employ to relieve them of part of the burden.

I believe we should live just as long and more comfortably if the dollar sign took a less prominent place in our minds.

"MY DAD'S VIOLIN"

A FEATURE of the concert given on Wednesday evening under the auspices of Clan Stewart, No. 50, O. S. C., was the reading of an original poem by G. T. Stafford on "My Violin" followed by a solo which he played on a violin 300 years old which has been an heirloom in his family for that time. The number was received with sincere appreciation. The poem follows:

"In old Southern Wisconsin, where I lived when a boy
With my brothers and pals, 'twas a season of joy,
For we all loved each other, yet we thought it no sin,
When we all loved another—'twas my dad's violin.

If that old fiddle could talk, it would tell of 'way back,
Of its trip 'cross the ocean in an old sailing smack
To its home in this country. For three hundred years
It had sung to our people in their joys and their tears.

He played on this fiddle for many a year—
All 'round through the country, bringing people good cheer.
They would start in the evening until daylight set in;
They would dance to the tunes from my dad's violin.

Once, for all players there was held a contest,
With a prize for the one who could play reels the best;
When the contest was over, the judges stepped in
And tied the blue ribbon on my dad's violin.

On the Wisconsin river, where I ran when a lad,
On some trips I took down that old fiddle of dad's.
Those nights how the raftsmen would cut up a 'shinn,'
To the strains of the music on my dad's violin.

And once in disaster, when our end it seemed near,
Our raft went to pieces by striking a pier;
But I grabbed that old fiddle and quickly jumped in,
And I swam to the shore with my dad's violin.

It has been many years since we laid him away,
But we keep the old fiddle—I have it today.
In all kinds of weather through thick and through thin,
I have carried that fiddle—my dad's violin.

So I love this old fiddle, who would be so severe
As to chide me for loving that old violin?
For a message of love from my departed chum
Comes to me in the tones of my dad's violin.

Sometimes around home, when things don't go just right,
I am all out of sorts, feel most ready to fight,
Nothing looks good, when I'm ugly as sin—
My wife goes and hands me my dad's violin.

Sometimes on hard trips, when there's snow on the track
And I feel some like swearing to see the pointer walk back;
I forget all about it, when once I get in,
And I play up a tune on my dad's violin.

And when I am through with this old violin,
I shall send it on down with my nearest of kin—
When they die, may they go where they'll see satan's grin,
If they'll sell that old fiddle—my old dad's violin.

And when I am through with this earthly career,
I will hope friends and brothers may stand round my bier;
Some may want a sermon, or perhaps sing a hymn—
I hope someone will play on my dad's violin."

NEWS NOTES OF WORLD'S GREATEST MUSICIANS

PADEREWSKI has just completed a series of concerts in the cities of his native Poland, where the usual success has been his fortune. He has played in Cracow, Lemburg, Posen and Warsaw to enormous houses. The receipts of these concerts, amounting in each case from $3,500 to $5,000, he gave to local charities or monument funds, deducting only the local expenses of the concerts. Before going to Poland he played with the Gewandhaus orchestra in Leipsic and his success has been the chief sensation of the season there. Although there is a strict rule in the Gewandhaus against encores, he was forced to play five of them before the audience would let him depart. The musical public in Germany is now asking whether he will renounce the resolution made over twenty years ago never to play again in Berlin.

• • •

It is definitely settled that Geraldine Farrar will create the title role in Giordano's new opera, "Madame Sans-Gene," at the Metropolitan opera during the season of 1913-1914. The opera is based on the play of the same name dealing with the adventures of the famous washwoman duchess at the court of Napoleon I., which Madame Rajane and Miss Ellen Terry played in this country years ago. There is also a possibility that Miss Farrar will essay the role of Carmen. It is well known that both Mr. Gatti-Casazza and Mr. Toscanini are anxious to have her try, and she has long cherished an ambition to play the part.

• • •

Fritz Kreisler and Paderewski spent several weeks together last summmer at the same watering place in Eastern Switzerland and Kreisler suggested that Paderewski should write a violin concerto for him. Paderewski took the matter under advisement and it is likely that he will do what Mr. Kreisler has asked. There is little chance, however, that Kreisler will have the work for his tour in America next winter, as Paderewski has been so occupied with concert work that he has had little time to devote to composition. Kreisler, may, however, play Felix Weingartner's violin concerto which he brought out in Europe last fall. He regards it as a most interesting and effective work.

Dr. Muck has just been playing in Boston the Fifth Symphony of the late Gustav Mahler. The Boston Symphony orchestra first played the work during the season of 1905-06 after it had been specially revised for Mr. Gericke, who was then conductor, by the composer. Dr. Muck and Mahler were intimate friends. Mahler followed Muck as conductor in Prague when Muck went to Berlin. An idea of the difficulty of the work may be had from the fact that the Boston Symphony orchestra under Dr. Muck had no less than nine rehearsals devoted entirely to this symphony before it was ready for performance.

LAST MEETING.

Bishop's Club Will Close Year With Musical and Social Hour.

THE last meeting of the Bishop's club will be held in the clubrooms Tuesday evening, May 6. Wessinger, and Misses Elizabeth Sullivan, J. Mahady, M. Stone, Helen Fitzgerald, Pearl Chalk, Lillian Gowan, Mary Shesgren, and Elizabeth Halley. The program, as arranged, follows:

Vocal solo—"Summer" ..... Chaminade
Mrs. Leo A. Ball.
Piano solo—Selected .....
Miss Mary Bradberry.
Reading—"Tobe's Monument" .....
Miss Lelia Sparks.
Quartet—"The Lonely Rose" ... Hermes
J. S. Lynn, R. J. Hamp, J. L. Golez and J. Belanger.

Business Women's Club.

The Business Women's club will meet Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the library clubroom. A talk on "Good Things to Eat" will be given by Mrs. Alice Warren and Dr. Sarah McClaren has charge of a musical program which will be given.

Organ Solos and Vespers.

Miss Lela Lowe will play a 15-minute organ recital tomorrow afternoon at the Pilgrim Congregational church preceding the regular Sunday afternoon vesper services which commence at 4:30 o'clock. Miss Lowe will commence her program at 4:15 and music by the quartet and choir of the church, with Miss Faith Rogers at the organ, will feature the services. Everyone interested is cordially invited to attend.

$400 FOR HOME.

Annual Rummage Sale Has Again Been Most Successful.

AT 10 o'clock this morning over $400 had been taken in at the rummage sale which was conducted yesterday and today by the board of directors of the Children's Home for the benefit of that institution, though that amount included several checks sent in at this time as donations to the Home fund.

Mrs. K. A. VanLoo, who managed the sale last year so successfully has had full charge this year with Miss Elizabeth Hoatson, chairman of finance and Mrs. F. D. Day as cashiers. Other members of the board have aided materially in the collection and selling of the articles donated assisted by:

Mesdames—
Ben Miller, Ed. Windom, Simmons, Steele, G. W. Glass, F. W. De Vey, F. Curtis, W. P. Abbott.
Misses—
Bernice Crowley, Jessie McLeod, Marjorie Ferguson, Mae Jeffrey, Margaret McKindley, Marion Schmidt.

The stock of material for the sale held out pretty well and the sale will be continued until late this afternoon.

EXECUTIVE MEETING.

Matinee Musicale Board Will Plan Work.

The new executive board of the Matinee Musicale will meet Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the assembly hall of the Y. W. C. A. for a discussion of plans for next year. Mrs. John A. Stephenson, the new president of the organization will preside for the first time.

Linnaea Society.

The last meeting of the year of the Linnaea society will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Foresters' hall, Room B, and election of officers and reports for the year will feature the meeting. A full attendance is desired. After the business session a social hour will be held with Mr. Otto Gavert, Mrs. A. Hendricksen and Mrs. Gust Holmquist or Seattle as hostesses.

Will Assist in Program.

Mrs. Fred G. Bradbury, pianist, and Miss Valborg Gunderson, violinist, will assist on the program to be given by Miss Faith Helen Rogers, pianist, on Tuesday evening, May 13, at the Pilgrim Congregational church. Their program will be announced later.

St. Paul's Auxiliary.

St. Paul's branch of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal church will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. Welbank, 428 East Second street. The subject will be "Alaska," with Mrs. John Swinland, Mrs. Henry Taylor and Mrs. Neil Morrison as leaders.

Study Meeting.

The Trinity pro-cathedral branch of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal church will meet next Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. W. E. A. Le Quesne, 4217 McCulloch street, Lakeside. Mrs. M. F. Jamar, Sr., will be leader of the study class.

Temperance Legion.

The second meeting of the Loyal Temperance Legion will be held on Monday afternoon at the parlors of the First M. E. church at 4 o'clock and all children interested will be welcome.

Central W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the Central W. C. T. U. will be held Friday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. building.

Drama League Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Drama league on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Spalding hotel and a full attendance is expected. Reports from the national convention, held in Chicago last week, will be given by Mrs. S. R. Holden, president of the Duluth branch and other delegates who attended.

RUNNING THE HOME

How a Bride-to-Be Set Out to Find a Flat and the Problems She Encountered.

Martha Bensley Bruere in Good Housekeeping: I went flat-hunting once with a bride-to-be. Her husband-elect had a small salary, and she was trying to plan to save part of it. The memory of our day together is like a monologue broken by dashes.

"There isn't any use in my looking at this flat. It's only got a gas stove, and you know perfectly well that gas costs $1 per thousand. Oh, yes, I know this only costs $30 a month, but where am I going to keep the flour barrel and the sugar barrel? Henry can't possibly afford to have me buy them in small quantities, they're so much more expensive. I've simply got to have a storeroom.

"Oh, no, there wouldn't be room in this bedroom for the sewing machine. You know ready-made clothes cost so much. I know this flat is cheap and the view is lovely, but where are the laundry tubs? There aren't any? Well, then, it's simply out of the question. You know it costs at least $1.50 a week to send the clothes to the laundry, and I simply can't afford it.

"Where do you store the coal? What, you haven't any place for it? Well, then, we can't consider this. I've got to have room enough for at least two tons; it's much cheaper that way. Where are the clothes to be dried? What, there isn't any place? You've made the roof into a garden? Well, I can't help it if it is pleasanter; my clothes have to be dried somewhere."

This young bride, of course, showed a pleasing disposition to stand up to her share of the matrimonial labor as she saw it—but she saw crooked. She just fitted the old adage of penny wise and pound foolish, which is a very common failing in both members of a matrimonial firm. Suppose this bride had refused to take the price of gas as final, and instead of clinging frantically to the ancestral coal hod, had gone forth as the people of the East side did in New York city and organized a campaign to bring gas down to 80 cents?

Suppose instead of accepting the unreasonable difference in the price of flour and sugar by the barrel and by the pound, she had made herself into a little private investigating committee to find out what was the matter? Suppose instead of giving up her roof garden and her lovely view, she had accepted the flat without laundry tubs or drying facilities and sent her laundry out? If a farmer's wife can get her laundry done for 50 cents a week through a co-operative laundry why can't a city wife do the same thing?

The woman who insists upon pottering about her home, doing by hand a large amount of work that could be better done by the public utilities—the power plant and factory—is simply soldiering on her job, misapplying her brains and abusing her husband. For we women have turned over to our husbands nine-tenths of the work our mothers used to do in their homes.

We have turned over the education of our children to the men, the making of our clothes to the men, the smoking of the hams, the dripping of lard, the canning of vegetables for the winter; and of course the men, being trained to make money, don't run the housewife's end of their job well. They put little children into factories, they overwork the women who were once our household servants and are now the factory workers, and they fix prices, not with reference to the consumer, but to their bank accounts.

We cry against the high cost of living and then add to that cost by pottering about the house at useless work when we ought to be out seeing that the schools are run right, that the clothing factories are run right, the packing houses, the creameries, the laundries, the electric power plants and all other public servants.

If we are to run our homes as successfully as our grandmothers did, if we are to do our share of the work of the matrimonial firm, we have got to spend as much time over the cotton and woolen mills as our ancestors did over the spinning wheel and loom, and so on through the whole list of domestic activities.

The new profession of matrimony is not a new profession at all. It is really just the old profession adjusted to modern conditions! The woman who talks about the woman's sphere or the man's sphere instead of the human sphere isn't fit to be a wife and mother. And the man who talks of matrimony as if it were a little private luxury instead of the public business of producing efficient citizens has no right to a vote.

Nine-tenths of the business of running the home today is the business of running the public utilities and seeing to it that we get the best service for the least reasonable cost for the use of all our households.

WALTZ AND TWO-STEP FORGOTTEN

Dancing Instructor of Chicago University, a Guest in Duluth, Says New Fancy Dances Have Replaced Old Favorites Entirely.

Will Duluth take kindly to the Tango and some of the other new dances which have become so popular in other cities? This is the question which is interesting lovers of the dance this season. The boat club, where dancing is one of the principal features of the season's fun, refused to allow anything but the waltz, two-step and schottische last season, and the members are wondering if they will have to stick to them this year.

Mrs. Helen Shores Savage, formerly of Duluth, who is here to spend the summer with her sister, Mrs. A. E. Walker, 2103 East First street, has just finished a course of training in the Hinman school of dancing at Chicago, having assisted in teaching at Chicago university and in the ballroom and fancy dance classes conducted by the school throughout the city, and according to her the waltz and two-step are without place on dance programs there.

"Everything is the Tango or the Boston," said Mrs. Savage, "and other modifications of these two dances and the fancy dances are being taught by Miss Hinman in all of her classes, except for the very little children, who, of course, are given the waltz and two-step to give them the motion and steps for a solid foundation for their dancing.

"Miss Hinman always works out her dances in the highest and most dignified form and she is putting all the dances, which have caused so much comment, right into her class work and giving them as they should be danced. The feeling against some of these dances has entirely given away and all Chicago is simply crazy about the fancy dances. When well done they are most attractive and graceful and make the dance interesting for its variations instead of the monotony of the same dances all the time."

Some of the dances which Mrs. Savage says have become the most popular, besides the Tango and the Boston, are the Tango two-step, the Parisian waltz, the Aerial waltz, the Adeline waltz, the Astor barn dance and the Hesitation waltz, all graceful and pretty.

Works at Hull House.

Mrs. Savage has conducted a class in dancing at Hull house during her winter in Chicago, with forty little foreigners as members of the class. "My, how they do love it and how well they dance," said Mrs. Savage. "They have the instinct for music, most of them, and they take naturally to the dances. We gave folk dances and ring games mostly with a little of the regular dancing. This is an interesting feature of all of Miss Hinman's work, she mixes the folk and gymnastic dances with the social dances in nearly all of her classes and keeps the interest right up to the top notch. 'Pure joy is the essence of every one of her classes, and children and grown folks simply love the work."

A few of the fancy social dances have been tried here but without much approval, but an effort will be made for permission to dance the fancy dances at the boat club during the summer.

DRAMA LEAGUE CONVENTION

Mrs. S. R. Holden Reports on National Gathering in Chicago, to Which She Was a Delegate.

NEVER have I felt such a unity of purpose and corelating power as was manifest in the national convention of the Drama League of America, which I attended last week in Chicago," said Mrs S. R. Holden, president of the Duluth branch of that body who has just returned from that city.

"The convention was an inspiration to everybody and all sides of the work were represented. The aim of the drama league is to fill the need for support of the good drama and make it successful. The vaudeville and moving pictures are taking away support from the drama and as a result writers are not producing plays. This condition the league feels that it must change and by united effort throughout the nation to make the drama a success. Among the speakers and delegates were actors, managers, playwrights, educators, prominent business men and women from all over the country, gathered there for intercommunication and exchange of ideas and methods.

"The movement is not a woman's movement as was evident at the convention to which half of the delegates were men. It is not a club movement, but a movement of civic and national importance which will give to cities the best the stage affords and insure their support. It is movement which should have the support of all the clubs of the city. They need not lose their identity but simply lend their influence to the big scheme to make of the theaters the highest form of education and amusement.

"Here in Duluth," Mrs. Holden said, "we will have to make our own amusements and what the branch here is looking forward to is the erection of a fine arts building here which will accommodate music, art and the drama. The building could contain an ampitheater which would be suitable for dramatic work, for musicales and concerts and a floor for galleries, club rooms and other interests could be arranged taking in all of the interests of the city."

Duluth Complimented.

The Duluth branch of the Drama league, which is but one year old, was complimented on its accomplishments at the national meeting, the report given by Mrs. Holden being warmly applauded and in a discussion over the situation here which followed a suggestion was made that a course of good bulletined plays, varied in nature, be arranged for and advance subscriptions sold to assure an audience. This method has worked out most satisfactorily in the musical work here and will probably be carried out next season for the drama.

"The Drama league is perfecting its organization," continued Mrs. Holden, "drawing the branches into a more compact form for easy co-operation and are getting down to a better business basis. One of the special aims is to sink individuality and simply work for one big broad purpose.

"Mrs. Seymour, who is state organizer for Minnesota, made an excellent speech on organization and the value of the leagues in small towns and cities.

"Another feature which was of particular interest to the Duluth women there was a talk by Miss Hazel Mackaye, a sister of Percy Mackaye, on 'The Pageant's Future in the Life of the People,' who is in charge of the dramatic training for the pageant, 'Darkness and Light,' which will be put on in Chicago this summer by 4,000 people.

"The Junior Drama league work and the educational side of the program was discussed thoroughly and much inspiration was given by educators from all over the country and others interested in that phase. The universities and colleges were well represented among the delegates. The magazines have helped wonderfully in the work of the league and the idea was presented from the standpoint of stagecraft, of morals, of methods of acting, of writing and of listening to plays."

At the meeting of the league which will be held Tuesday morning at the Spalding hotel formal reports will be given by Mrs. Holden, Mrs. Herbert Dancer and Mrs. George Morgan on the convention and the program outlined for next year will be presented.

The Duluth branch has adopted a design of birch trees for the programs for the Junior Drama league work, and the design to be used on programs of the league proper is of pines and pine cones. Both of these designs, made by Miss Gertrude Carey are chosen from native Duluth scenes.

APPLE TREES COMING.

Children Will Plant 1,000 Trees and Shrubs This Year.

THE apple trees and shrubs ordered by the school children through the agricultural department of the Twentieth Century club will arrive the first of next week for distribution. An order for about 1,000 apple trees and small shrubs was sent in this year and the children are eager to get them planted and cared for. About 12,000 trees and shrubs have been sold to the children of Duluth by this club during the past five or six years since the work was first started and the interest has kept up from year to year and the club feels that it has really accomplished something for the city and the children in this work.

Choose Club Days.

The heads of the various departments of the Twentieth Century club, the Literature, Education and Home, Art, and Science and Philanthropy met yesterday afternoon and arranged for definite club days for the work during the coming year. Tuesdays and Fridays were chosen for class work with the regular monthly tea to be given on the first Monday of the month and the executive board meeting on the third Thursday.

High School Notes

The first annual banquet of the Commercial club of the Central high school was held last evening in the gymnasium. The members of the club were hosts to the junior students in the commercial department. The decoration effect, in the senior class colors, was well carried out with black and gold streamers and daffodils. President Ray Jacobson acted as toastmaster and briefly reviewed the activities of the society during the past year. He also outlined the policy which will be followed by the club next year. Toasts were responded to by Prof. F. B. Carey, head of the commercial department; George Mahan, Bessie Brower and others.

Following the banquet, the initiation of the juniors took place with Bessie Bower as master of ceremonies, after which an impromptu program of games and music was enjoyed. The club was organized this year for the purpose of creating a broader interest in the work in the commercial courses, and the members wish to perpetuate the work of the society. It is in view of this fact that the juniors were initiated, so that they may become imbued with the progressive spirit of the club and be ready to take up the work next year.

By the unanimous decision of the judges, the junior debating team was awarded the championship of the high school Friday morning in chapel. The debate was the last in the series of interclass contests and the third-year students have an undisputed title. The winning team upheld the affirmative side of the State High School Debating league subject, "Resolved, That the United States government should own and operate all interstate railroads," while the freshmen argued against the resolution. The big issues of the question were thoroughly threshed out by the debaters whose delivery and thought showed careful preparation.

The junior team was made up of Max Donnauer, Albert Olson and Oliver Vivian, while the freshmen were represented by Jacob Garon, George McFarlane and Charles Le Richeux.

Supt. R. E. Denfeld and Professors H. A. O'Brien and E. P. Gilson acted in the capacity of judges.

The annual freshman dance will be held this evening in the halls of the Central high school. As this is the initial attempt of the first year students as hosts to the upper classmen and their friends, an added interest is being taken in the affair. A novel idea in the decoration of the halls has been worked out by the committee in charge of the function, and it is the concensus of opinion that one of the most elaborate and enjoyable parties of the year will be credited to the class of 1916. The committee follows: Margaret Hough, Beatrice Miller, Edna Lacker, Clinton Johnson, Gerald McCormack and Stanley Troyer.

Miss Effie White, faculty advisor, has aided the committee materially in making arrangements for the dance.

An attractive and delightful concert program, featuring Miss Sara Ruth Bates in musical readings and impersonations, was given at the Central high school Thursday evening. Mrs. Charles Weyerhaeuser, singer, and Mrs. Charles Robinson, accompanist, assisted Miss Bates. Each artist gave a number of selections, all of which were enthusiastically received by the large audience. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the high school mathematics classes, the members of which, at the suggestion of Miss Agnes E. Wells, head of the higher mathematics department, are attempting to purchase pictures of famous mathematicians for the decoration of the recitation rooms. Unqualified success has attended the efforts of the students and the pictures are assured.

The weekly meeting of the stump was held in Prof. Olson's room Thursday afternoon. The bill brought before the club for discussion provided for the fortification of the Panama canal. After a somewhat lengthy discussion the bill was laid on the table for future reference.

At the session the members voted to present watch fobs to the debaters on the winning team in the freshman-junior contest. These attractive trophies will be awarded to the juniors during the chapel period next Friday.

All the meetings of the club are now conducted according to parliamentary law and this innovation has proved a decided success, being extremely popular with the "Stumpers." Several bills yet remain on the calendar and these will be brought before the legislators at the regular meetings before the society disbands for the year.

The fourth talk in the series of vocational lectures to the girls of the upper two classes, being conducted by the local branch of the Collegiate Alumnae, was given Thursday afternoon by Miss Meeker of the Associated Charities. "Social Work as a Vocation" was the subject of Miss Meeker's instructive and interesting lecture which was heard by an unusually large number of girls.

Miss Meeker pointed out the value of the various aspects and phases of social work in the community and stated that there is a large call for social experts and that girls might engage profitably in this important work.

During the chapel period Wednesday morning Marcus F. Bates, a Civil war veteran and a member of the Citizens' Staff, addressed the students of the high school. Mr. Bates spoke about the coming Decoration day exercises and announced the preparations that are being made by the Citizens' Staff in order to make the exercises of the patriotic day this year one of the biggest successes ever. He stated that the parade in the morning will be one of the features of the day's program, providing that the vagaries of the weather man do not interfere. A large silk flag will be given to the school that has the largest representation in the boys' division of the parade. Mr. Bates urged the boys of the high school to organize and take a leading part in the Memorial day parade. The presidents of the four classes will immediately take steps to ascertain the number of boys who will take part in the exercises, weather permitting, and will each be given a small flag to carry.

McIntosh

McIntosh, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The associated schools of the Putnam school held an industrial contest Monday at the high school gymnasium. The gymnasium was beautifully decorated and the handiwork of the pupils of the various districts was arranged around the room and covered all the walls. There were on display fancy work and sewing of every description executed by the girls and manual training work done by the boys, industrial maps, rattan work, booklets, drawing, writing, rope work and a great many other practical things that are being taken up in the associated schools. The business men of the town furnished prizes for the prize winners. That the exhibit was very extensive is shown by the fact that about 250 received prize ribbons. The gymnasium was packed with the pupils from the associated districts and their parents. Supt. Jedlicka and the teachers of the McIntosh Putnam school deserve credit for working up the enthusiasm in the districts for this contest. A Dainty Toilet Article.

Every lady who desires to keep up her attractive appearance, while at the theater, attending receptions, when shopping, while traveling, and on all occasions should carry in her purse a booklet of Gouraud's Oriental Beauty Leaves. This is a dainty little booklet of exquisitely perfumed powdered leaves, which are easily removed and applied to the skin. It is invaluable when the face becomes moist and flushed and is far superior to a powder puff as it does not spill and soil the clothes.

It removes dirt, soot and grease from the face, imparting a cool, delicate bloom to the complexion. Sent anywhere on receipt of 5 cents in stamps or coin. F. T. Hopkins, 37 Great Jones street, New York. Adv.

BIRTH CERTIFICATE NOT "AN INSTRUMENT"

Baby Substitution Case Is Ended By Ruling on Demurrer.

San Francisco, May 3.—With the order of Judge Dunne of the superior court sustaining the demurrer of Dr. W. W. Fraser, the Slingsby baby substitution case has practically come to an end.

Dr. Fraser was charged with having signed a birth certificate declaring a baby presented by Lieut. Raymond Slingsby and his wife to be their legitimate offspring, with knowledge at the time that a foundling had been substituted as the family heir.

Judge Dunne held that although the birth certificate signed by defendant might be false in some respects, the document was not an instrument within the meaning of the code and that, therefore, it could not be false in any particular.

A valuable estate left by Slingsby's father, who had been a clergyman in England, was involved. The Slingsbys are now in Paris, according to the latest information received here.

A faultily constructed chimney caused the fire, which started while the family was asleep. The father was badly burned.

WHEAT ACREAGE NEARLY SEEDED

Moisture Latter Part of Week in North Dakota Big Benefit.

Fargo, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Not over 10 per cent of the wheat acreage in the state remains to be seeded according to conservative estimates. That is chiefly in the northwestern part of the state. The week has not been favorable for field work, but considerable progress has been made even with the adverse conditions.

The moisture that came Thursday and Friday was regarded as making ideal conditions in all sections of the state where seeding was completed. The cool weather helped the wheat that was up to stool and root and the precipitation, especially the snow, packed the soil and stored up additional moisture for the crop.

In the eastern and southern counties rapid progress has been made in preparing the land for barley, potatoes and corn. The acreage for the latter will be large. In the northern and western counties the farmers have been so busy seeding wheat little other work has been done. A considerable percentage of the oats is seeded in the eastern and southern counties.

POTATO GROWING CONTEST PLANNED

Gogebic County Fair Urges Children of Two Counties to Compete.

Ironwood, Mich., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the annual meeting of the Gogebic County Agricultural society the dates for this year's fair were fixed at Sept. 9 to 11.

The old officers were re-elected: President, F. J. Hager; vice president, Joseph Davis; secretary, J. C. Thomas; treasurer, E. B. Williams; directors for three years—Ed Neidhold of Wakefield, E. A. Ormes, Marenisco; B. H. Darling, Watersmeet; W. Bonifas, Bonifas.

The society will inaugurate a potato-growing contest among the school children of Gogebic and Iron, Wisconsin, counties, offering liberal prizes for the best exhibits of Sir Walter Raleigh potatoes at the fair.

TALK ON JOURNALISM.

Madison Professor and Editor Address Sigma Delta Chi.

Madison, Wis., May 3.—Prof. Edward F. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, Hamlin Garland, the author, and Richard Lloyd Jones, editor of the Wisconsin State Journal, addressed the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi, the journalistic fraternity, last night. Delegates are present from sixteen universities.

Prof. Ross' subject was "Commercialism in Journalism."

"There never was a time when so many men of high character were in newspaper work as now, or when the profession of journalism was so attractive to spirited young men," he said. "Nor was there ever a time when the public was so much in need of a copious, continuous supply of truth about current happenings in order to safeguard its essential interests. At the same time the great economic strata upon which journalism is erected, are creeping—creeping downhill, morally speaking, and very few newspaper men realize what is happening."

For relief, Prof. Ross looked to an endowed or a public press.

LUMBERJACK "SKY PILOT" GOING TO KALAMAZOO

REV. "JACK" McCALL.

Cloquet, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. "Jack" McCall, known as the "Sky Pilot" of the lumberjacks, and who has been located in Cloquet for a couple of years, leaves about the middle of May for Kalamazoo, Mich., where Rev. McCall has accepted the position of superintendent of the mission rescue work in that city. Mr. McCall has become widely known in this section and has made many friends, not only among the people with whom he works, but among all with whom he comes in contact. He returns to Kalamazoo to act as superintendent in the same mission where he was converted a number of years ago, and where he worked after his conversion for seven years.

BALL BAT BLOW FATAL FOR YOUTH.

Lisbon, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The injuries to Lyle Loop, the boy who was struck by a flying baseball bat, proved fatal. The body was taken to Fond du Lac, Wis., for burial.

GRAIN IS SPROUTING.

Generally Favorable Conditions in Red River Valley.

Crookston, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seeding was stopped the last day of the week by a general shower which fell last evening for several hours. While but half an inch of rain fell, the ground will not be fit to work till Monday. It is estimated that from 60 per cent to 75 per cent of the wheat seeding is finished throughout the Red River valley. In the southern section and in the sandier eastern portion of the same counties, where the drainage near the Red river is exceptionally good, practically all the seeding of wheat is finished, while in the central portion of the same counties not over 50 per cent is done. The grain is sprouting rapidly and no complaints have been received of low percentage of germination, the farmers having exercised greater care than usual in seed selection owing to the scare created by the discovery of grain showing poor germination in tests late in the winter.

PLUMBER BADLY BURNED

Sticks Redhot Iron Into Gasoline Tank With Usual Result.

Lisbon, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—While repairing a gasoline tank E. A. Webster, a local plumber, was terribly burned. He inserted a redhot iron into the tank and an explosion immediately resulted. His right arm was terribly burned and the hair singed off his head. The force of the explosion damaged the building and broke out the windows.

Wakefield Township Wins.

Bessemer, Mich., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the circuit court of Gogebic county. Judge Cooper directed a verdict in favor of the defednant in the suit of the Sunday Lake Iron company vs. The Township of Wakefield. An appeal will be taken to the supreme court.

FAILS TO RECOVER HONEYMOON MONEY

Mill City Woman Loses Suit Against Niece for Money Advanced.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 3.—Mrs. Sarah H. Knight of Minneapolis, failed in her suit to recover $5,700 from her former niece, Mrs. June Jeremy Zier, said to be a Pittsburg heiress. A jury in district court returned a verdict Friday in favor of Mrs. Zier. She left for Pittsburg.

Mrs. Knight claimed that she loaned the bride the money with which to pay her honeymoon expenses, and to supplement the income the husband's earnings and the wife's allowance from her guardian. Mrs. Zier denied that the money was loaned.

MAXFIELD QUITS.

State Immigration Agent Retires After Controversy With Board.

St. Paul, Minn., May 3.—State Immigration Commissioner H. J. Maxfield has tendered his resignation to Governor Eberhart. The action followed a stormy meeting of the board Thursday at which Mr. Maxfield is said to have disagreed with certain members. The trouble arose, according to board members, over the failure of the commissioner to obey the rule made by the board a year ago, that lists of those inquiring for state lands should not be turned over to real estate agents.

MAY HAVE NORMAL IN MINOT ARMORY.

Minot, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is probable that the Minot normal school sessions will be placed under way next fall in the Minot armory. That scheme was submitted to the normal board of control in session here Thursday. No definite decision was made.

Because of faults found in the foundation of the normal school buildings it will be impossible to complete any of the structure on time.

EBERHART GOING EAST.

To Interview President and La Follette on Public Utilities.

St. Paul, Minn., May 3.—In an effort to obtain information which will enable him to frame a public utilities commission bill, Governor Eberhart will leave May 7 for a trip through the East during which he will confer with President Wilson and Senator La Follette. When he returns to Minnesota he will have outlined the bill which will be submitted to the legislature in extraordinary session next fall.

REST DAY PROVISION.

Far Reaching Measure Is Advanced in Wisconsin Legislature.

Madison, Wis., May 3.—A far-reaching measure was sent on its way to enactment Friday when the assembly ordered to engrossment the bill requiring all employers except railroads to give their employes one day's rest in seven. The house first refused to except operators of railroad trains from the bill, but afterward heeded the argument that the Federal laws do not permit a state to regulate the hours of labor of trains carrying the mails.

A resolution was adopted extending the time for the reception of new business from May 6 to May 13.

Assemblyman Minkley offered a resolution of sympathy for the English suffragettes. It was adopted.

By the terms of a bill introduced by Senator Teasdale, it is unlawful to permit any minor to "linger or loiter in or about any billiard table, pool table, pigeon hole or bowling alley kept for gain."

CAUGHT AFTER CHASE.

Texas Man Accused of Misusing Mails Arrested in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 3.—Charles O. Carpenter of Houston, Tex., was arrested here last night by Postoffice Inspectors A. E. Otto of Chicago and Hugdal of St. Paul after a chase by Inspector Otto of four months, which is said to have extended all over the country.

Carpenter is accused of having sent threatening and obscene letters to Chevalier C. Verde, said to be an Italian nobleman of Palmero, Italy. The letters, it is claimed, related to the Italian's wife, formerly Miss Mabel Lucile Greig, daughter of A. F. R. Greig of Chicago and a well-known society leader of that city.

APPLETON MEN WIN.

Get Bank Case Against Them Transferred to Another Michigan County.

Escanaba, Mich., May 3.—David A., Walter F. and Roy Hammel of Appleton, Wis., were granted a change of venue here yesterday by Judge R. C. Flanigan on the criminal charges pending against them, growing out of the failure recently of their private bank at Gladstone, Mich. The cases were sent to Iron Mountain.

The Hammels, now living at Appleton, are pleased over the result of their fight to take the cases from Delta county.

Judge Flanigan said that probably three-fourths of the people in Delta county either lost money in the bank crash, or were connected with persons who did, and that fact might operate against the defendants in getting a trial by an unprejudiced jury.

ARRESTED AT SICK MOTHER'S BEDSIDE.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 3.—Thomas Brown is held at police headquarters charged with desertion from the United States navy, for the sake of a mother who he believed was dying and needed him. Brown was arrested at his mother's bedside by two city detectives late yesterday.

A circular from the navy department telling of Brown's desertion fell into the hands of the two detectives.

Brown was giving his mother her medicine when the detectives walked in.

"You are Thomas Brown?" asked one.

"Yes," answered Brown.

"You are wanted for desertion from the United States navy."

At the word desertion, Mrs. Brown fell back on her pillow, sobbing and begged her son not to leave her. While the detectives waited the son arranged with neighbors to watch the sick woman until friends could come to her assistance. Then he went with the detectives.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Iron Mountain — The Athletic association has elected these officers: President, Oliver Evans; vice president, R. C. Downing; secretary and treasurer, Hugh McLaughlin; directors, Gustav A. Gersch, George J. Eisele, Isaac Unger, Albert E. Robbins, Frank M. Milliman, Oliver Evans, Hugh McLaughlin.

Escanaba — After forty-seven years continuous service on the Northwestern railroad, William Manley of Escanaba, the oldest employe in point of service on the Northwestern and one of the best known railroad men in the state, has retired from active service and is placed on the company's pension roll.

Ishpeming — The contest to increase the membership of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. is now being conducted among the boys. As an inducement to get as many new members as possible a special summer rate is offered to them.

Marquette — About one hundred and twenty-five people took in the excursion to Big Bay Wednesday evening to attend the first annual dance given by the Big Bay members of the Marquette lodge of Loyal Order of Moose.

Calumet — Word was received here Thursday of the death at Owen Sound, Can., of Mrs. Robert Simpson, aged 82, mother of Harry, Andrew and David Simpson of Calumet. Mrs. Simpson's death was the result of a two years' illness and was not unexpected.

Houghton — The annual delinquent tax sale will be held next Tuesday morning in the office of County Treasurer Bram. This will be for the delinquent taxes of 1910 and preceding years.

Hancock — Supt. E. A. La Rowe has left for Marquette and Ypsilanti to engage a number of teachers for the coming year. Mr. La Rowe is especially anxious to secure a competent science teacher to take the place of L. H. Sloan, who will resign at the end of the present year.

Calumet — Joseph Trudell, marshal and chief of the Red Jacket fire department, left for Chicago to undergo treatment by a specialist. Mr. Trudell suddenly became ill Thursday and for a time it was feared he had suffered a stroke of apoplexy.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

La Moure, N. D.—The officers of the local fair are discouraged over the lack of interest and enthusiasm shown by the citizens of La Moure in the fair and threaten that unless there is a change in conditions no effort will be made this year to give an exhibition.

Milton, N. D.—Cavalier county is to have a six-team baseball league with Nekoma, Milton, Wales, Langdon, Munich and Clyde in the organization. In order to keep the expenses down a resolution was adopted that no team could have more than two outside players.

Cogswell, N. D.—Cogswell is to be represented again this year in the Argent county league and a team has been organized with a half a dozen of last year's players as the nucleus. A strong battery will be signed. The rivalry between Cogswell and Milnor and Forman has always been bitter.

Wahpeton, N. D.—An effort is being made to arouse the Wahpeton fans to action. Little interest has been shown in a ball team this spring. The city has always had a strong aggregation because the local support by Wahpeton and Breckenridge made it profitable. The town will have a team before the month is over.

Langdon, N. D.—The season of the Cavalier County Baseball league will open about May 20 under plans adopted at a meeting yesterday. A three-months' schedule will be played, and it is expected that the league will be successful, as a great deal of interest is being shown in the organization.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The University of North Dakota will be represented by a strong team at the Minnesota-Dakota conference meet at Huron, S. D., May 24.

Fargo, N. D.—The Crookston, Minn., Automobile club will do all in its power to assist the Fargo council of the United Commercial Travelers in their auto trip to the grand council meeting to be held in the Minnesota city next June.

Bismarck, N. D.—Senator Frank S. Talcott, who has been appointed warden of the state penitentiary, who assumed his duties Thursday, handed in his resignation as senator from the Seventh legislative district to Governor Hanna. This will mean that there will have to be an election to fill the vacancy.

Fargo, N. D.—Rev. Charles A. Macnamara, district superintendent, has returned from the meeting of Bishop Luccock's advisors, which was held recently in Helena, Mont. This was in every way a great meeting. There were twenty-one district superintendents, and in addition the college presidents of Montana and North Dakota.

Bismarck, N. D.—Under the new law regulating the time that county treasurers shall take office, the change in that office was made Thursday throughout the state. County treasurers heretofore changed office on Jan. 1.

Bismarck, N. D.—The state hail insurance law was upheld by Judge W. L. Nuessle this week, who granted an order directing an issuance of a peremptory mandamus upon State Auditor Carl O. Jorgenson, requiring him to credit the state treasurer with warrants drawn by the commissioner of hail insurance and paid by the treasurer.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Milwaukee—Julius Skepped, aged 92, a resident of Wisconsin for sixty-nine years, died Thursday in the home of his son, Joseph P. Skepper, 1012 Thirty-third street. His wife died April 7, at the age of 87 years.

Sturgeon Bay—Sturgeon Bay is celebrating the opening of her new Carnegie library building just completed at a cost of $12,661.64. It is built of cut Sturgeon Bay stone.

Oconomowoc—The home of Mrs. Martin Hildahl, east of Okauchee, was entered by a stranger. He struck Mrs. Hildahl, an elderly woman, knocking her down. Her cries scared the fellow away.

Waukesha—Thomas H. Taylor ran his new automobile into a passenger train Thursday. He jumped and escaped injury, but the machine was demolished.

Madison—To await the outcome of the investigations by the special committee on state fair relocation, the committee on agriculture agreed to report without recommendation the Everett bills for improvements on the state fair grounds.

Fond du Lac—The Very Rev. Lawrence Vorwoerk, one of the founders of the Capuchin order and for terms guardian of the monastery at Mount Calvary, was buried at Mount Calvary cemetery. Father Vorwoerk's death occurred at Detroit last Friday at the age of 71.

Grand Rapids — J. Wilbur Cochran, one of the oldest practicing attorneys of Wood county, who died on Tuesday, was buried on Thursday under the auspices of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of which he was a charter member. Mr. Cochran came to Grand Rapids from Buffalo in 1871. He is survived by his widow and two sons.

Madison—The joint committee on finance on Thursday voted to indefinitely postpone the Bowe bill for the purchase of six blocks in the heart of Madison at a cost of $2,500,000.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

International Falls — Tom Hayes, salesman for Greengard's clothing store, has brought suit against L. Rifkin for $5,000 damages for defamation of character. Hayes was formerly employed by Rifkin.

Stillwater—The Stillwater Boat club will be active in providing for an artistic arrangement of boathouses and providing for dockage in front of the upper levee. It will apply to the city council at the next meet, next Tuesday night, to take action in the matter.

Ada—Hans Austinson, a prominent farmer and pioneer resident of Norman county, suffered a paralytic stroke while eating supper Saturday evening of last week. Since that time he has gained only partial consciousness and there is grave doubt as to his total recovery from the stroke.

Isanti—C. P. Tellefson, who lived on the Lois Chapman farm at Spencer Brook, was found dead on his couch Saturday by Henry Peters, who, with his wife, lived in the same house with Tellefson. The Isanti county coroner decided that there was no necessity for an inquest. Neighbors of Tellefson kindly bought a coffin and he was buried on Sunday. He has no known relatives in this part of the country.

St. Cloud—The official call for the thirty-first annual convention of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, to be held here June 16, issued by Secretary W. E. McEwen of Duluth, contains a fund of information as to hotel rates, railroad fare, representation and the object of the convention.

East Grand Forks—Madonna Carney, aged 10, of East Grand Forks, lost four toes when a motorcycle driven by Ed Suprenault collided with her at a street corner.

International Falls—Ed Hagen, who recently accepted a position with the Minnesota and Ontario Power company at International Falls, has received notification of his appointment as district court reporter by Judge Nye at Moorhead and will assume his new duties June 2.

Moorhead—Peter Anderson, a young man of Comstock was on Tuesday evening committed to the insane hospital at Fergus Falls.

Long Prairie—The acreage pledged to the new pickle plant has now passed the 100 acre mark. Numerous farmers have this week signified their intention of planting cucumbers and have added their names to the list.

Rush City—On Friday afternoon, May 9, Miss Lindberg and pupils of district No. 35 will give a mother's day program as their closing exercise. This will include the crowning of the May queen and the May pole drill.

Wadena—Sunday evening while fishing along Union creek near this city with a torch, Eddie Koch, the young son of Ed Koch, Jr., was seriously burned about the face when an oil can in which he carried a supply of kerosene, exploded.

St. Cloud—Henry L. Chalgren, a stonemason of Sauk Rapids, was probably fatally injured as the result of a fall while at work on a house in the East side. Chalgren was brought to St. Raphael's hospital here and physicians performed an operation, but discovered that two coils of his intestines had been broken.

Stillwater—The prison arrivals Thursday were Antoine Perrault from Mahnomen county, convicted of crime against a woman; William Mason, Anoka county, forgery; August Klar, St. Louis county, burglary in third degree.

Minneapolis—One of the heaviest fines recently imposed on convicted resort keepers in the district court was imposed by Judge Jelley on Albert Engman, proprietor of the Imperial hotel, Washington and Third avenues south. Engman had served three months of an indeterminate sentence in the reformatory. He appealed to the supreme court, but the appeal was dismissed, the original judgment set aside and a fine of $1,000 imposed in its stead. It was paid.

DELIGHTED WITH PLAN

Duluthians Are More Than Pleased With Prospect of Getting Boulevard.

Maps and Plans Prepared and Some Property Already Secured.

The more that is learned of the proposed $1,000,000 parked boulevard between Duluth and Two Harbors, the more magnificent does the prospect become.

The project exceeds in extent and beauty any previous driveway which has been contemplated for the rugged and scenic shore of Lake Superior. The picture of a smooth, hard-surfaced or paved boulevard, 6 to 100 feet in width, shaded with trees and as nearly perfect as man can make it, delights the imagination of Duluthians.

The announcement in The Herald last evening that such an improvement is a probable certainty, projected so far that the city commission will shortly be asked to start condemnation proceedings for such parts of the right-of-way as will not be deeded, was received with unanimous acclaim throughout the city. Much speculation was aroused as to the identity of the public-spirited citizen who so generously proposed to make the public such an unprecedented gift, but the name cannot be given at this time.

The parked speedway, for such it would really become, has been assuming definite shape for some months past. The first act was the passage through the legislature four years ago of a measure authorizing the city to condemn and maintain a right-of-way outside the corporate limits. Since then the boulevard has been urged and fostered with hopes rising and falling. Now it has progressed so far that only an unforeseen hitch will delay the proceedings.

Route Already Outlined.

A well known local real estate firm has been handling the negotiations for the acquisition of property for some time past. A dealer who keeps closely posted on the local situation states that a considerable amount of property has already been acquired. The plans for the proposed boulevard are said to be in the office of the real estate firm, with a complete, tentative outline of the route.

Those who are familiar with the project are confident that it will be only a short time before full and formal announcement is made of the improvement which will give Duluth and Two Harbors and St. Louis and Lake counties in particular and Northern Minnesota in general a driveway without parellel in the country.

A great part of the property will be deeded for the roadway as the benefits which will accrue through its construction are manifold. Much of it, in fact, has already been deeded. The damages of the probable comparatively small amount which will have to be condemned will be fixed by three disinterested appraisers named by the district court. Lake county officials have been seen and they have agreed to further it in any way in their power and it is stated that they may pay the cost of constructing the boulevard for the few miles which it will traverse in their county. London road, beginning at Eighth avenue east, will be incorporated as part of the boulevard but the new construction will start east of the Lester river and continue along the rugged shores of the lake to Two Harbors.

Football Coach Not Guilty.

QUICK ACTION IS NECESSARY

Opportunity to Get State Agricultural Aid Under Craig Law.

A. B. Hostetter has received information to the effect that applications for state aid under the Craig law are being sent in to Dean Woods of the agricultural college by many counties of the state. He said today that Lake, Crow Wing and Aitkin counties will have to act soon if the proposed Northeastern Minnesota district is to be organized this year.

St. Louis and Carlton counties are already qualified for the state aid and St. Louis county has an agricultural agent. The plans for a district require the other three counties to qualify.

Action by the county boards, appropriating money for part of the expenses is required before state aid can be given. An effort will be made to have action taken by the other three counties so that the district may become a fact.

I. O. O. F. OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY

Members of Duluth Lodge Celebrate Entrance on Ninety-Fifth Year.

Duluth lodge, No. 28, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, fittingly celebrated the ninety-fourth anniversary of the founding of the order at its hall on Lake avenue last night. A crowd which packed the hall attended the ceremonies, which included addresses, music, refreshments and dancing.

T. J. St. Germain was chairman for the evening. He gave a short address in which he spoke of the objects of the order. He complimented members of the lodge on their never failing to respond to calls made uupon them by officers in doing the work of the lodge. He gave a brief history of the order and tod of the opportunty for doing good.

The purogram included a piano selection by Miss Johnson, vocal solo by Miss Charlotte McFarlane, accompanied by Miss Laura May McFarlane; a reading by Miss Elizabeth Donovan; a hornpipe dance by Miss Daisy McCaskill, accompanied by Miss Mina McCaskill, and a violin selection by Arthur J. O'Donnell.

MINSTREL SHOW PROMISES FUN

"The Amtsbuechler and Strassburger Minstrel association" is the name assumed by the Commercial club minstrels, who will appear at the club next Friday evening, May 9, in a performance for members and their friends.

O. Edward Amtsbuechler and Harvey H. Strassburger, who are in charge of the organization, have loaned their names to the minstrels, so that the resounding title is made possible.

A startling announcement of the show has been sent out to Commercial club members. It contains besmudged photographs of the two principals, and announces the following soloists:

"Master Archibald Tanner Banning (Junior), the famous boy soprano, with a man's voice, in his superb rendition of Blackstone's Seventh Rhapsody, 'Who Will Warm My Feet in Winter, Mother Dear?'

"Master Georgie Roycrofter Hall (four times first class Western Classification) in his appealing ballad, 'Take Back the Rate Thou Gavest.'

"Master Clarence Hubbard Dunning, the raw and bashful lyric tenor, will slip over on the 'high' speed, a lulling lilt entitled, 'If You Ever Become Lialoe, Don't Mention My Name.'

"Hansen Bergensen Haroldsen, the far-famed albino impressario," is to be the director of the performance, according to the announcement.

LOCALIZING SPORTS

The rain of yesterday interfered with the schedule of the Interscholastic league. All of the games on the program of yesterday will be played on the first fair day of the week.

Yesterday the crew candidates of the boat club had one of the best workouts of the season. Four eights were out and in addition a work boat. Some of the green men are showing promise in the work boat, and it is expected that several of the more promising of the green men will be shifted to the shells during the coming week.

Coach Schilling of Central high announced yesterday that the track meet of the hilltop school will be held on Wednesday or Friday of the coming week. All of the past two weeks and some of the local records are in danger of being broken. Capt. Matt Brown is in grand condition and may set some new running records.

Preparations are being made for the cross country run to be held on May 31. Managers of several of the athletic clubs of the city conferred with Physical Director Wegener of the Y. M. C. A. last evening, and tentative plans for the meet were gone over.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Not in session: meets Monday. Territories committee continued its hearing on Alaskan railroad problem.

HOUSE.

Met at 11 a. m. and resumed reading of tariff bill for amendment under 5-minute rule, taking up wool schedule.

Representative Henry introduced a resolution for a good roads commission.

WILSON HELPS ONE-ARMED MAN.

Washington, May 3.—President Wilson today prepared an executive order putting into the civil service S. A. Swenson of Brooklyn, N. Y., who lost a hand and arm while employed by the Federal government in construction work at Neeley's landing, Mo.

While the president is understood to be opposed to executive orders taking persons into the civil service without the usual competitive examinations, he felt in this particular case he was justified.

AUDIENCE WAS MISSING

Nobody But Lecturer Present to Hear Talk on Gardening.

Market Gardeners Want Stalls But Not After Information.

Though the market gardeners in the vicinity of the West end want the city to expend a large sum in purchasing a permanent site for a public market, they don't seem to want information on gardening.

A school for market gardeners was to have been held in the West end yesterday and today. The state agricultural college sent to Duluth Frank Gibbs, a practical market gardener, who organized the market gardeners of Minneapolis and St. Paul and put the business on a firm basis in those cities.

Over 500 letters advertising the school to be held in the Woodman hall were sent to market gardeners in the vicinity of Duluth. It was advertised on the agricultural special and in the newspapers.

Yesterday morning when the school was to have opened, two men and one boy were on hand to receive the instruction. Last night a stereopticon lecture was to have been given. Everything was on hand but the audience, every chair in the hall being vacant. This morning the hall was locked and nobody was on hand to make up an audience.

Mr. Gibbs and local agricultural enthusiasts were considerably disgusted.

"If the market gardeners are to make a success of their business they must get over the idea that a little rain or cold weather must keep them at home," said one of the local enthusiasts today. "We have had too much of that in the past. Gardeners will make a contract to deliver a certain lot of produce on a certain day and because it rains he fails to deliver. The grocer goes back to the commission houses where he can get service.

"The gardeners had the opportunity of their lives. Mr. Gibbs is a practical man and an expert in his line. He would have told them facts that would increase their profit-earning capacity. He would have enabled them to put their business on a firm basis.

"If the market gardeners of this vicinity cannot get together as business men to conduct their business, they cannot expect the city to expend large sums for their benefit."

CITY WILL TRY TO COLLECT DAMAGES

Mayor Prince and City Attorney Clapp visited the West Duluth fire hall this morning with a view to ascertaining to what extent the property has been damaged by the Canadian Northern railroad, whose tracks run directly past the building. The city officials feel that the city should be compensated by the railroad as the value of the property is held to be lessened considerably.

The act is an illustration of the business-like methods which the new commission proposes to follow. Under the old form the question of collecting damages appears to have gone by default, but the new administration does not propose to overlook propositions of that kind. While in the western end of the city an inspection was made of the West end and West Duluth libraries. The grounds of the latter are being seeded for a lawn and a temporary fence has been constructed to give the grass an opportunity to grow.

UNIFORMED INSPECTORS

Henceforth the meek housewife or the wondering property owner will not have to guess the identuity of the men who knocks at his door and leaves instructions to clean up the back yard, or dump the garbage can, or keep the chickens in proper confines, or look over the meat shop or the dairy or any of the other numerous things which fall to the lot of the men working for the health department.

Hereafter the dear public will be able to "spot" them with the same ease with which they can distinguish a policeman, or a fire fighter, or a street car conductor. For the employes of the health department are to be dressed out in uniforms. They will be distinctive as well as natty, neat and emblematic of all that is sanitary in the line of dress.

The announcement of this change is made by Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health. He says that the suits will have a meaning all their own. He states that having the men wear uniforms has many advantages. One of the chief of them is that it will enable the public to know at a glance the identity of the department employes. When they see them along the streets busily engaged in making Duluth a better place in which to live the residents can beckon them to their doorsteps or stop them in the street before them any complaints which they have to make. If the inspector can attend to them he will do so forthwith. If he cannot he will report to the office and another man will be assigned to make an investigation. In either event the inspectors will leave reports in the office. The innovation will also tend to keep the men on the job, as they will not have the opportunity to loaf which is afforded when they look like the rest of the public.

The health director aims to bring the department to a high standard of efficiency and as he comes more closely in touch with the work other changes to that end will be made.

BIXBY ARRESTED AT LOS ANGELES.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 3.—George H. Bixby, millionaire banker of Long Beach and member of one of the most prominent families in Southern California, has been arrested on two grand jury indictments charging him with having contributed to the delinquency of minors. Bixby was released on $10,000 bond.

Four indictments were returned by the grand jury, the others being directed against Mrs. Josie Rosenberg, accused of pandering. The warrants were served upon Mrs. Rosenberg in the county jail, where she is held in default of $15,000 bonds on charges of procuring. Mr. Bixby is 50 years old and has five children.

Funeral of "Andy" Wold.

The funeral of Andrew Wold, familiarly known as "Old Andy," who shot himself through the heart in his room in the Axa building last Thursday morning, took place at 3 o'clock this afternoon from Odd Fellows' hall. The services were under the auspices of the Odd Fellows of which fraternity he was a member. His brother, Arndt Wold, reached the city yesterday and made the arrangements. The other members of his family reside on a farm outside of Chetek, Wis.

"Old Andy" was engineer of The Herald, the McKay and Henderson buildings for many years and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Ill health prompted him to end his life.

YOUR POULTRY, EGGS or CHICKS ARE WANTED!

Hundreds of people in Duluth and vicinity who are interested in poultry raising are buying eggs, chicks or breeding stock at this season. Somebody among this vast multitude wants what you have for sale. You can reach these buyers by inserting an ad in The Herald "want" ad columns.

The Duluth Herald has the greatest circulation of any newspaper in Minnesota outside the Twin Cities.

RATES ARE LOWEST

The Duluth Herald's charges for classified advertising are less per thousand circulation than those of any other newspaper in Minnesota.

For information as to contract rates and the probable amount of space your ad would take, ask for a "want" ad man, who will be pleased to call upon you.

Best results are gained from ads when definite information is given. When information is lacking the presumption is that desirable features are lacking.

FELT LIKE A MONKEY.

Chicago Daily News: "Yes," said Prof. J. Hadensfield Joy, "I used to be a vegetarian myself. I have seen the time when a big porterhouse steak or a fat and lean slice of ham made me tear my hair, realizing how barbarous is man. Broiled spring chicken made me grate my teeth in rage. Not only was I a vegetarian, but I was one of those who follow along lines of the most extreme differentiation. I couldn't eat pieplant tops or white oak bark just because they were vegetable substances. I specialized in cocoanuts. I bought a hundred fine fresh nuts. These I put in a cool and shady place and thereupon discarded all allegiance to such foods as have dwarfed man's noble intellect. My family ate as usual.

"When morning dawned on my first day of real liberty I got a hand saw and sawed off the top of a nut. Then I drank of the life-giving fluid inside. After that I proceeded to feast on the meat of the nut as my distant ancestors had done. When I started for the laboratory I took a fine nut under my arm and started to walk in my usual heavy and methodical stride. It was no use. I felt like hopping along.

"Persons whom I met addressed me as 'professor,' but with a gaze too human too suit me. I found myself looking up into trees with a vague, deep longing. It was as though I had inherited something that has been hidden in my soul's archives all my life. I arrived at the laboratory with my emblem of liberty still under my arm. The rude and thoughtless experimentalists looked and talked as they talk who are in a state of mental slavery. My luncheon made me want to run up and down the halls and passages and climb the posts.

"This glorious life lasted for a week. One night Mrs. Joy had to take a broomstick and punch me down from the picture railing, where I was trying to pass the night. The next day I could not resist the temptation to climb a tree when I had started to conduct my daily investigation of life's solemn facts at the laboratory. A cocoanut was under my arm. Presently there came speeding along a very big man in a very big automobile. I landed the cocoanut on his head with a precision that I had never learned. In another instant that man was shaking my porch as if he were a concentrated earthquake. Mrs. Joy shrieked: 'Don't hurt him—he's been living on cocoanuts.'

"Turned back into a monkey, has he?' said the man. 'I've been living on raw meat, and if I get my hands on him I'll eat him!' Then he departed: All the boys got hold of me and took me back to the diningroom and seated me at the table. Soon there was spread before me a repast consisting of one porterhouse steak, one slice of ham, three slices of bacon and a few other things. I could scarcely walk when I started to work. Henceforth give me a full dinner of real food or cut down the trees."

GENTLEMEN WANTED.

Louis Sherwin in the Metropolitan: The uncomfortable fact is that not a single young male American actor has come to the front in the past three years. The only actor in the country whose reputation is of recent growth is Frank Reicher, a German. When an author or manager wants a jeune premier who has personal force, distinction and manner, in what direction does he turn? To H. B. Warner, Richard Bennett, Charles Cherry or some of the Englishmen whose prosperity makes the native actor so indignant. Mr. Warner, for that matter, is English, but he had been in the United States long enough to be considered an established factor in our theater.

The plain fact of the matter is—and almost any American actor will admit it so long as you promise not to quote him—there is just at present a dearth of gentlemen in the American theater. You can find plenty of clever actors to fill flannel-shirt parts—miners, Pittsburg millionaires, cow-punchers or plumbers. But when it comes to impersonating men of breeding, good manners and character, managers are nearly always obliged to fall back upon foreigners.

A peculiar condition is that for some reason university men in this country do not go on the stage. Plenty of them are anxious to. What it is that discourages them nobody seems to know. The theatrical profession is crowded, but not nearly as crowded as the law of medicine.

MAKING BASEBALLS

Only Handwork Is the Sewing on Covers and That Requires Well-Trained Hand.

Springfield Republican: There are few fans who realize just how much work is required in the making of a regulation-sized baseball. One might imagine that in this day of invention and machinery that a baseball could be made entirely by machinery. Shoes are made with the aid of machinery, the sewing, stitching and cutting being almost done entirely with machines. Not so with baseball, however—that is, as far as the cover is concerned. It requires skill and men of long experience to sew a cover on a ball. Watching a worker sew a cover must give one the impression that the operation is easy, but this is where one may be wrong. The operation is all done by hand, and has always been.

The centers of baseballs are made of pure para rubber in most cases, but the cork-center ball, which has been patented, is an exception. The idea of the center piece of rubber, of course, is to give the ball resiliency. If a baseball was made without this center piece it would be "dead;" that is, it would not have the desired bounding qualities, the "life." The center pieces are generally made to order for the baseball factories. The next process in the making of a ball is the winding on of pure woolen yarn. There was a time when the yarn was wound around the center piece by hand, but soon it became necessary to get a machine which would do the work of man. It was found, in the times when the yarn was wound by hand, that the man coming to work at 9 o'clock in the morning was putting out better balls than he was in the afternoon around 3 o'clock. Winding by hand was a tiresome job, and toward the late afternoon the men began to get tired and consequently the yarn was not wound around the ball tight enough. Many balls were returned to the factory because they did not possess the resilient powers.

Realizing that this personal defect was something which had to be overcome, a machine for the winding purpose was worked upon and perfected. Now all baseballs are wound by mechanical power and much better work than man did or can do is accomplished. The yarn is wound around the para under heavy tension, almost to the breaking point. Consequently when enough has been put on the ball is very strong and almost solid, due to the tight tension used. In the days of hand-making many balls were soggy and soft because a uniform tension could not be kept by the person winding. There are three layers of woolen yarn over the para. For about an inch in thickness three-ply yarn of blue color is used, and over this is wound a thin layer of white two-ply yarn. The blue yarn is again brought into use, but is only of one-ply.

Naturally is develops that something to cover the wool yarn must be used in order to keep it from unwinding. The ball must be solid, so that when it comes in contact with a bat the threads will not break or move out of place. It has been found that camel's hair stretched yarn is the best for coving the ball after the wool has been put on and the ball is the size desired. This hair is put on wet and when it dries a contraction takes place, making the ball more firm and at the same time solidifying it. Only a thin layer of the camel's hair is used, just enough to warrant the wool yarn keeping in position. After the drying process is over a very fine layer of specially made cement is applied by means of dipping the ball into the fluid. Then the ball is ready for the cover.

Most balls are covered with alum tan horsehide, the best material it is claimed, which has been found to be of good use for the hammering which a baseball gets. This is cut into its proper shape by means of pin dies, which also punch small holes around the edge of the hide to be used in the sewing. The ball is sent to the men doing the sewing, which, as stated before, requires the work of the hand. Machines have been tried, but not one of them has proved equal to the task. The men who sew on the cover must be of experience and very capable in their work. This sewing process must be done with great accuracy. The work appears to be tiresome and rather tedious, and so it is. A man working at his fastest cannot do more than two to three dozen a day.

With the covers sewed on the finishing-up processes come next. Naturally, just after the sewing has been completed, the seams are rather rough. A good baseball, if one will notice, is smooth over the entire surface, including the seams. A pitcher, if he had to use a ball with rough seams, would not be able to do his best work, as a bulge in the ball would be trying to him. The roughness would make the fingers sore from the continual rubbing. Therefore, to do away with this, the ball is put in a rolling machine, which presses out the rough seam and makes the ball smooth all over. This done, the trade-mark is stamped, together with the guarantee, size and weight of the ball. The balls are then taken to the packing room, where they are wrapped in tissue paper and still further wrapped in tin foil. They are then sealed in pasteboard boxes and are ready for shipment.

There are surprising numbers of baseballs used in this country, and in other countries to some extent, but out of every 150 dozen it is claimed that but one ball comes back for being in bad condition. Generally, when a ball is returned, it is because it does not have the necessary "life." It is not resilient enough for baseball playing. The batters cannot get their hits, because the ball does not rebound with enough force from the bat. In olden times, though, when the ball was wound by hand, many were sent back to the factory. The ball with a piece of cork inside the para rubber, it has been proved, has more resilient powers than one with just the para rubber. There are exceptions, manufacturers will tell you, as some balls without the cork center have just as much rebounding properties as those with the cork. When the cork-center ball first made its appearance the batters were rather elated, as it was noticed there was more traveling power. It was adopted by one of the major leagues, and many batters improved their averages to some extent.

TO IMPROVE THE LAWN

From the University Missourian: The first lecture on hygiene week was given a few days ago by H. F. Major, landscape gardener of the university, on "The Improvement of the Home Grounds." Mr. Major spoke particularly on natural gardens and showed pictures of good and bad plans of such gardens.

"A garden should have a large open space in the center, instead of having trees and shrubs scattered all over it," Mr. Major said. "The border plantation may consist of trees, shrubs and vines, which form a good background for flowers.

"Shrubs around the foundation of a house make it seem a part of the landscape, as they do away with the hard line where the ground and building material join. This is especially true of the corners of buildings, as the junction of the walls forms a wedge that is far from artistic.

"It is a mistake to give prominent places to walks and driveways. They look barren and reflect the sunlight, the glare and the heat, making it uncomfortable to sit on the porch.

"The Japanese clematis and honeysuckle are good vines. They make dense shade and have the additional value of being beautiful when in blossom. Clematis and crimson rambler make a pleasing combination.

"Mock orange, Japanese snowballs, bridal wreath, deutizia and peonies are hardy plants that require little attention. Peonies should be planted where they will not be disturbed, as they thrive without care or fertilization.

"Dogwood, redbud, hawthorn and magnolia trees are beautiful when in blossom. Walnuts, oaks, white birches and American lindens are suitable for lawns.

"The elm is not only a good shade tree because of its wide-spreading branches, but it also has an attractive shape. It and the oak are slow growers, but are valuable when they attain a good size."

Mr. Major deplored the practice of planting only trees of quick growth, since they should be planted not only for the present generation, but for others to come. Trees that reach their maturity early soon decay and have to be replaced.

Christian Endeavor Notes

Tomorrow being the first Sunday in the month, the regular consecration service will be held by most societies. The topic for study this week is "The Ideal Christian and His Prayers." The reference is found in Matthew 6:5-13. The following services have been reported to the union:

The First Presbyterian society will meet at the church at 6:45. All the young people of the church are invited to attend this service. Robert Miller will be the leader. The monthly business meeting of this society will be held on Wednesday evening, May 7, instead of Tuesday evening.

The First Christian society will meet at the church, Twelfth avenue east and Fourth street, at 7 p. m. This is the regular consecration service, and will be in charge of the president, Aubrey Tidball. This society held a business meeting last Friday evening, at which time a social was planned for Friday evening, May 9.

The Highland Presbyterian society will meet at 7 o'clock, with Miss Flora Postal as leader.

The Lakeside Endeavor society will meet as usual at 6 p. m., with Miss Mary Robertson in charge. Regular roll call, consecration offering will be a feature of the program, with reports by various officers and chairmen of the society.

The Pilgrim Congregational society will meet at 5:30 with Gordon Hegardt as leader. This society will study the regular Christian Endeavor topics from now on.

The Second Presbyteroan Endeavor society will meet at 7 p. m., with Miss Irene Beatty and Miss Myrtle Maghan as leaders. A program has been prepared and every member is urged to be present.

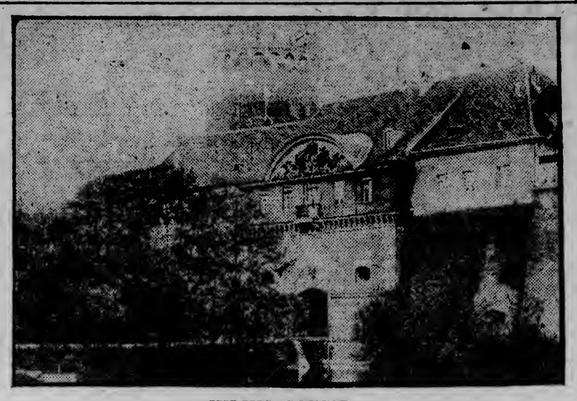
The Union Church Christian Endeavor society will meet at 7 p. m., with Mrs. E. H. McAllister as leader, Monday evening, the monthly meeting combined with the Bible study class will be held at the home of Miss Margaret Tidball, 1209 West Fifth street. Great interest is being taken by the young people in this Bible study, with Rev. Black as leader.

The Westminster Presbyteroan society will meet at the church at 6:30. Miss Muriel Dease will be the leader, and she invites all the members to help make this a live service. The monthly business meeting of this society will be held Tuesday evening, May 6, at the church.

The County Farm services for the month of May will be as follows: May 11, First Christian society. May 18, Highland Presbyterian and First Baptist. May 25, First Presbyterian.

Societies are asked to report the number of members attending these services, and also whether the pastor was present. Last Sunday twenty members of the Union church society conducted the service with Rev. Black as speaker.

WHERE GERMAN WAR FUND IS STORED



JULIUS TOWER.

It is thought in some quarters that the strong anti-French tone of the German press, seeming to forecast a conflict in the near future is a part of a campaign to increase the taxes and swell the war fund. Germany has in the Julius tower at Spandau a war fund of $30,000,000 in gold. It is said the government wants to increase this to $90,000,000. This fund in the Julius tower is known as the "imperial military reserve fund." Spandau, where it is kept, is only eight miles from Berlin. The tower stands as part of the citadel and the knowledge that it contains this great treasure naturally makes it a subject of great interest to tourists. The tourist curiosity is not encouraged and some years ago an American who approached too near the tower was arrested. He was Robert W. Polndexter of Los Angeles. He went to see the tower and after telling the sentinel he wanted to see the commandant, he walked into the tower when the guardian's back was turned. It took him some time to convince the commandant that he was innocent of any designs on the treasure. Only one attempt has ever been made to rob the tower. That was by a German cobbler who, when drunk, managed to get by the guards. But half way up the tower he fell and broke his neck. The tower is not impressive. It is cylindrical and rises about forty feet from the ground. Entrance is through triple steel doors guarded by a triple system of "simultaneous keys" in different hands and by constantly changing bands of sentries. One set of the keys of the tower is with the chancellor of the empire and another with the president of the committee for the debts of the empire. The gold in the tower is in 20-franc pieces and is part of the indemnity paid by France. It is stored in bags in small safes at different levels in the wall.

SPAIN'S GREAT COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS

Madrid, May 3.—The last ten years in Spain show an amazing degree of commercial and industrial progress. The record of this accomplishment in a country that a decade ago was looked upon as a dying nation, reads like the comparative statistics of a boom town in the American West, and there is awake in Spain today a spirit of hope and enterprise that will, it is confidently believed, be the solution of all the country's material and political problems.

The doubled imports of cotton from the United States, the tripled output of iron ores, the prosperity of railways, and the rise in Spanish Government Fours from 65 to 93, are indications of this progress, but it is from agriculture that the largest additions to Spanish wealth are made.

Ten years ago 12,500,000 acres were planted in cereals; today the total is 17,000,000 acres. The wheat yield in 1904 was 87,500,000 bushels, last season it was close to 150,000,000 bushels. The yearly consumption of wheat, including that used for sowing, is about 175,000,000 bushels. The larger acreage this season will further reduce the wheat and flour imports. The expectations are that another five years will turn Spain into a wheat exporting country.

Fresh districts of barren land are brought under the plow each year. The new Ebro irrigation canal in Catalonia and the canals under construction in Arragon will turn into farms and gardens upward of 1,000,000 acres of desert-like country, and in the central provinces there are 77,000,000 acres which irrigation and railroad extension would transform into wheat fields.

SPENDS LAST SOU FOR BREAD AND THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

Paris May 3.—Baroness de Howen, bereft of family and friends, spent her last sou for bread, and then quietly committed suicide. She left a note for the police saying:

"One has a right to die at 80, when one has no kin, no friends, and when one can no longer live."

Inquiries disclosed that the old lady had lived for a generation in a little room on the ground floor, with a window looking over the avenue Wagram, in the wealthy Etoile quarter of Paris. Through the always open casement the neighbors were accustomed to see her busy in the morning with household work; in the afternoon her habit was to sit at her table reading. She seemed very old, but she had retained something of her youthful figure and she carried her head with its crown of white hair with grace. The neighbors were all agreed that she had been "somebody," although no one knew her title. What puzzled passersby was to see on a chair near the window a wreath of artificial flowers. She had kept them all the years for her death.

The baroness was the daughter of a man rich and distinguished in the first quarter of the nineteenth century. When ruin came upon her family she took the little money left and allotted it to her weekly expenses, calculating that it would last a life time. But she lived some years beyond her expectations, and foreseeing this she began severe economies. In order to eat she gave up dressing suitably, and for years never went out of doors. She had no debts, and her last copper piece had gone for a roll the night before she killed herself.

TWO SOCIALIST LEADERS COME TO FOREFRONT OF PUBLIC ATTENTION

Brussels, May 5.—Two men have come to the forefront of public attention as a result of the recent political strike in Belgium, each adding to his popularity and his record as a successful Socialist leader. They are men of widely divergent characteristics, Emile Vandervelde, the gifted and brilliant intellectual and Eduard Anseele, the youthful enthusiast, and each in his particular field contributed materially to the measurable progress made in the past month toward manhood suffrage in Belgium.

Vandervelde, who has led the Socialists of this country since the death of Jean Volders, is approaching his 50th birthday. In his youth he studied law, but his interest in social questions prevented his practicing. He is possessed of high literary gifts, a wide knowledge, and is an able statesman. Of markedly pale complexion, slightly aquiline nose, and penetrating eyes, Vandervelde's face once seen is rarely forgotten. He was elected to the chamber of deputies in 1894, and rapidly distinguished himself by his eloquence and intellectual superiority. As a speaker he is remarkable for his distinct utterance, the preciseness and clearness of his thought and the logic of his reasoning. He is a magnificent debater, never losing his temper, and keeping his head in the most difficult situations.

Vandervelde's reasons for belonging to the Socialist party are rather those of the head than the heart. His convictions are purely intellectual. He is, and always has been, a determined opponent of the recent general strike, which he believes will only delay the triumph of the cause of Socialism. But the majority of the party having pronounced in favor of the strike, Vandervelde bowed to the decision and co-operated in the commn work to the best of his ability.

The other Socialist leader, Eduard Anseele, founder of the Vooruit of Ghent, presents a striking contrast in every way to Vandervelde. Of open and engaging countenance, possessed of a warm and vibrant voice, Anseele charms all who come in contact with him. He is an excellent speaker, using a wealth of imagery to convey his meaning, which he further enforces with vigorous gestures. Possessing no personal means, he lives on his deputy's salary of $800 a year and an income of $416, which he gets as a director of the Vooruit. He contributes nearly half this small revenue to the Socialist cause.

Unlike Vandervelde, Anseele is a working man and the son of a working man. He has known the world's rough hand. His father was a shoemaker, but wanting earnestly to give his son some education, he labored with extreme self-renunciation to this end. Young Anseele was employed in turn by an architect, a seedsman and a cloth merchant. One evening he entered a Socialist meeting and was so profoundly impressed by the picture of the misery of the people drawn by the speaker, that he at once enrolled himself in the ranks of the "International." The next day, having confided his new political views to his employer, he was summarily dismissed. Not daring to show himself to his father, he ran away to Antwerp, whence he worked his way to London. During six months he wandered about the British capital, often sleeping under the bridges. He tried to enlist, but was rejected on account of his lack of inches.

Eventually the young man returned to Ghent, where he became a printer. In association with others he organized a co-operative bakery. This was the beginning of the Vooruit, now famous throughout Belgium. Vooruit is a Flemish word meaning "forward," and it has become the rallying cry of the Socialists of Ghent. The organization, which at the end of its first year counted only 500 members, now has over 10,000, and it owns warehouses and other buildings valued at nearly $100,000.

JOKE ON THE GRAND DUCHESS

Deprived of Her Favorite Breakfast Dish by Little English Girl's Liking for Broiled Bacon.

London, May 3.—Grand Duke Andreas, first cousin of the emperor of Russia, on his way home from a visit to Switzerland, tells a good story of how the grand duchess was deprived of her favorite breakfast dish at a hotel because of the liking of a little English girl for broiled bacon.

The grand ducal party had a suite of rooms in a well known hotel at St. Moritz. An American lady, accompanied by a 9-year-old English girl, arrived at the hotel only to find that there was no room for them. The grand duke noticed their predicament, and very courteously offered a spare room in his suite. This room was next to the bedroom occupied by the grand duchess. In the corridor outside a sentinel was constantly on duty, so when every morning the breakfast bacon, left on a table outside her door, disappeared, a mystery was created which enraged the duchess and drove the manager of the hotel almost mad with despair.

Finally the American lady heard of the trouble, and she recalled that every morning her charge had asked permission to play in the corridor. She watched the girl unobserved from the doorway the next morning, and was amazed to see her snatch the bacon and conceal it under her coat while the sentry was making his military march up the corridor.

When confronted the little girl explained that she liked bacon, but said she had always been careful to leave some fat for the duchess. Her American guardian was overcome with embarrassment, but the grand ducal party took the matter as a huge joke, and the grand duke expressed his forgiveness by taking the little girl coasting.

Swindling By Merchants.

Gustav A. Fudickar of Los Angeles, Cal., has arrived in London after escaping from the clutches of the law officers of the German emperor. As the result of his experience in Berlin, Mr. Fudickar will make a protest to the state department at Washington against a German law which has caused a number of American tourists to get into difficulties with the authorities.

The California traveler was negotiating for the purchase of some diamond earrings for his wife in Berlin. He was told that he could have the stones he wanted for 11,000 marks ($2,750), and an expert assured him that he was getting a bargain. He told the owner of the stones that if he decided to take them he would have to await the receipt of further funds from home. In the meantime he looked at the diamonds again, and became convinced that a poorer quality had been substituted.

The next morning the jeweler's assistant called at Mr. Fudickar's hotel and asked for a deposit on the gems. The American told him he had decided not to take them. The assistant then reappeared with an attachment against Mr. Fudickar's baggage. This, however, was not levied, and the American by quick work succeeded also in frustrating an attempt to attach his cash deposit in a local bank. At the American consulate Mr. Fudickar was informed that his only remedy was a suit in the civil courts, which might drag for three years. The Californian decided to brush the dust of Berlin from his feet, but before leaving he learned that many other Americans have suffered similar treatment in Berlin, some of them losing heavily. The law permits a merchant to force payment on his swearing that a customer has promised to take certain goods, and the victim has no redress except a suit to recover later, for he is not given an opportunity to answer the accusation.

Joke on Prosecutor.

The militant suffragettes may burn vacant buildings and destroy golf greens, and the interest of the general public is indirect and often passive. A method of more real annoyance was wanted, something that would reach certain individuals with particular severity, and a series of hoaxes was devised. These vary with the circumstances of the case, but a practical joke played on Prosecutor Bodkin is typical.

Mr. Bodkin has conducted the case for the government at many of the suffragette trials. He it was who proceeded against Mrs. Pankhurst. In the midst of this trial he was called from his bed at 5 o'clock one morning by a telegram which stated that his offices in the Temple were burning. Without waiting to complete his dressing Mr. Bodkin flung on an overcoat and was driven at high speed through the deserted streets from his home in the edge of London to the Temple. Arrived there he found all peaceful and dark. The prosecutor had little doubt as to what agency to attribute the hoax, but he was doubly convinced when, as he climbed into his car for the drive home, he heard a mocking feminine voice from the direction of the Embankment cry, "Votes for Women."

The next day Bodkin made his address to the jury in the Pankhurst case, and some of the severity of his denunciation of the suffragette tactics has been attributed to his early morning visit to his offices.

Imaginary Estates.

The American embassy has been so overwhelmed lately by requests from America by heirs who believe that they have enormous estates in chancery in England, that it has become necessary to adopt a printed form for the replies to these communications.

The only thing the embassy is permitted to do in the matter is to suggest a competent legal adviser to investigate the case. It cannot itself conduct investigations. It does, however, tell inquirers that there are no large unclaimed estates in Great Britain. The vast sums constantly spoken of as dormant in chancery or awaiting claimants in the Bank of England are purely imaginary and, according to the embassy, are too often the invention of swindlers who obtain money for the prosecution of fictitious claims to these fictitious fortunes.

The funds in chancery open to claim are few, and average less than $1,800 each, two only approaching $75,000. Most of them would consume their own value in the cost of recovery. The fullest proof of genealogy is demanded, and the lack of data in the United States for this purpose make the process very expensive. Furthermore, as the passage of twenty years and sometimes less bars recovery under the English statutes of limitations, the chance of picking up an estate in chancery is exceedingly small.

Not All Fiction Readers.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—While fiction still holds the lead, the percentage of readers who go in for such books is somewhat lower than previously, according to the Grand Forks public library reports. During the past year more books on politics and on better farming have been used than ever before. The drama, too, has been given greater consideration than ever before.

BRADLEY PLANT IS CLOSED BUT MAY BE REOPENED SOON

Lack of Financial Backing Is Cause of the Shutdown.

Accident at Leonard Not to Reduce the Anaconda's Production.

Butte, Mont., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Copper Extraction company, organized for the purpose of putting into practical use the Bradley process of treating slimes from the smelter in Anaconda, has been closed down after something over a year in existence, through lack of financial backing. It is stated that the shutdown will only last sixty days and that by that time sufficient money will be forthcoming to resume operations. Thomas Lawson, A. C. Burrage, Charles S. Bradley and other Eastern men are at the back of the company, and Mr. Bradley has gone to New York for the purpose of negotiating with capitalists with a view of resuming operations as he has great faith in the ultimate success of his process. The plant cost in the vicinity of a quarter of a million dolars, and is the outgrowth of a small experimental plant built at Bayonne, N. J., by Mr. Bradley. The inventor claims that the process treats the sliine so as to remove in an economical manner the copper ores by the use of a chlorine compound and the transformer, by which means waste products are made insoluble and the metals taken in solution are removed from the gangue and other constituents of the ore, from which solution they are afterward recovered. In the actual operation of the process the ore containing a sulphide is subjected to a careful roasting operation in what is known as an amphidizer, in which operation the copper in the ore is roasted to a sulphate and most of the iron is converted into ferric oxide.

Mr. Bradley, just before leaving for New York, said that many difficulties had been encountered, but they had been all overcome after the expenditure of a large amount of money, and he felt that it was most unfortunate that just about the time that the success of the process had been clearly demonstrated financial difficulties should be encountered.

No Reduction in Output.

The production of the Anaconda company will not in the least be curtailed this or next month through the accident which resulted in the destruction of the steam engine used to operate No. 4 shaft of the Leonard mine. The output of other mines will be increased so as to make up for the loss. The engine is beyond repair and a new one will have to be ordered. The unfortunate accident which not only resulted in the destruction of much valuable property, but also in loss of life, was caused by the engineer failing to obey the rules of the company in regard to the lowering of a cage. The engineer had word to lower four men to a depth of sixty feet, where they were going to handle waste. Instead of taking the usual course of starting up the engine the engineer started to lower the cage by the brake, which was but one revolution of the reel. As he did he heard something snap and looking around saw that the valve rod leading to the lever was gone. Realizing the danger the engineer threw the clutch lever, but by this time a high rate of speed had been attained and the cage dashed down the shaft and into the sump, a distance of 2,200 feet, crushing the four men beyond recognition.

Pilot Butte.

Some time ago one of the directors of the Pilot Butte company predicted that the company would be shipping good paying ore by July 1. Supt. Sheehan yesterday declared that while he agreed with the director at the time, such good progress has been made that he is now prepared to say that the company will be shipping ore before July 1. A depth of 2,060 feet has been reached, the sixty feet for a sump and stations are now being cut on the 1,800 and 2,000-foot levels. This work will consume about one month and as soon as it is completed cross-cutting will be commenced north and south of the shaft and Mr. Sheehan says inside of a month from the time cross-cutting is started rich veins will be opened up and the ore will be going to the smelter.

Tuolumne.

The superintendent of the Tuolumne says that a depth of 2,200 feet will be reached by the close of the present month and after a station has been cut a cross-cut will be run on the ledge. He looks for the opening of an ore body on the 2,200-foot level early in June.

Corbin Copper.

The Corbin Copper company has commenced shaft sinking on the Cambrinus claim in the western part of the district. The municipal authorities granted the company the necessary permission to carry a belt across an alley from the engine room which is to be on a lot opposite to where the shaft is being sunk. The machinery is all here and the work of erecting a building for its installation has been started so that no time will be lost when the shaft is down deep enough to require the operation of the engine. The power is to be electricity. Supt. T. A. Varden is in charge of the work. At the present time it is not known to what depth the shaft will be carried before crosscutting will be commenced. The superintendent is of the opinion that it will require a depth of from 1,500 to 1,800 feet to encounter the rich ore bodies, but there are other mining men who are quite familar with the ground and are of the opinion that ore in good commercial quantities will be opened at a depth of from 500 to 800 feet.

Butte Central.

The Butte Central Copper company, according to Supt. Sam McConnell, has adjusted its financial difficulties and the work of mining and treating the ore at the new concentrator are going ahead to the capacity of the mill. Mr. McConnell says that returns received from the shipment of concentrates sent to Utah are of a very satisfactory character.

Davis-Daly.

The ore body opened on the 1,400-foot level of the Davis-Daly company is steadily increasing in richness. Another shift of miners has been put to work, so that the Colorado mine is now being operated continuously during the twenty-four hours of the day. It is expected that in the course of the next two weeks the company will be in a position to considerably increase its shipments.

Bullwhacker.

President Patrick Clark of the Bullwhacker company has approved of the plans for the enlargement of the leaching plant and the work on the addition will be started at once. The addition will provide for the treatment of 250 tons of ore a day.

Butte & Zenith City.

The Butte & Zenith City company is now within a short distance of a depth of 500 feet and by the first week of May the work of cutting a station will be commenced, after which crosscutting on the veins running on either side of the shaft will be started. Up to within the past week or ten days very little water was encountered, but a few days ago it began to make its appearance in such large quantities that a pump had to be installed. The ground still continues to be of hard granite.

Raven.

The Raven company is still developing on the 1,700-foot level and the flow of water is so great that there is some difficulty experienced in carrying on operations. Manager Packard believes that it will not be long before some good ore bodies are encountered. The shipments at the present time amount to fifty tons a week and this amount realizes about $4,000 a month, which is not sufficient to pay all the operating expenses.

Butte & Great Falls.

The Butte & Great Falls Mining company has put three shifts of men at work sinking the double compartment shaft on the property. A. Gordon Brown, vice president of the company, and Allen Pierce, secretary-treasurer have been in the city looking over the property. They gave orders for a larger pump to be installed as the water was coming in so fast that the pump in operation was not able to care for it.

STRIKE WIDENS TO SEVENTEEN FEET

Recent Strike at the Davis-Daly Grows More Important.

Butte, Mont., May 3.—Davis-Daly developments the past week have been specially significant, the Hesperus ore body cut on the 1,400-foot level having widened in the west drift from 8 to 17 feet within the course of 120 feet. The west breast of the drift yesterday afternoon developed a richness that recalled to many mining men the early days of North Butte, when its masses of rich copper glance startled the mining world. The entire seventeen feet was "stock worked," that is, seamed with stringers of some of the richest copper glance in the history of the Butte camp. The glance is of the soft blue hue and samples of it assayed 78 per cent copper and 155 ounces in silver. This glance is found here in streaks, running in every direction, varying from a pencil mark in width to a foot.

The Hesperus ore body was cut about a month ago and it has been the means of increasing the tonnage of the Davis-Daly from about 40 tons a day to 150. This increase has been accomplished through one crossout within less than three weeks' time and when the fact is taken into consideration that within three months about four more crosscuts will have pierced the Hesperus ore body, the significance of events at the Davis-Daly easily can be appreciated.

With the tonnage mark reaching 150 it was stated that the Davis-Daly company practically had reached the earning stage and that with an estimated tonnage of 500 daily within the next three months, the Davis-Daly company ought to take position in the rank of the big producers of the camp.

COPPER MINES AS DIVIDEND PAYERS

Are Far in Lead of All Mines of the World.

In the amount of dividends paid to date, and in the size of the disbursements made by various companies, the copper mines of this continent are far in the lead of any of the other precious or allied metal companies, says the Daily Mining Record.

This is strongly shown in the record of twenty-five companies compiled and published recently. These twenty-five companies have since their organization paid out a total in profits that will soon reach $410,000,000. Within the first four months of the present year, including two comparatively small payments due early in May, they have paid out $9,317,574.

At the rate of payment indicated by these last-named figures, there can no longer be any wonder at the great total of the profits which have been distributed to date. With over $9,000,000 going out to stockholders within a period of four months, the grand total for the year soon mounts into the eight and nine figure class.

Individual companies among these twenty-five have made records that may well be described as stupendous. The Anaconda and the Amalgamated, allied companies, have each paid out in profits over $75,000,000, or a total from their properties at Butte of more than $150,000,000. Even greater than these two records is that of the Calumet & Hecla, which since its organization in 1871 has paid out profits that go above $120,000,000.

The new districts as well as the old are represented in this list of copper producing profit earners. The Miami of Arizona started upon its career last year, with two payments so far this year, that bring its total to date up to $1,344,928.

Michigan, Montana, British Columbia, Sonora, Arizona, Nevada, Tennessee and Utah are the states represented in this list. Some of the properties are noted for the large profits realized from the treatment of extremely low-grade ores, handled upon a tremedous scale; others are known for the quantities of rich ores, even of pure copper, that have been taken from their workings.

The list of twenty-five includes Ahmeek, Calumet & Hecla, Copper Range, Isle Royale, Mohawk, Osceola, Quincy, St. Mary's Mineral Land, Wolverine, Amalgamated, Anaconda, North Butte, Tuolumne, British Columbia, Granby, Greene, Cananea, Miami, Old Dominion, Shannon, Shattuck Arizona, Nevada Consolidated, Nevada Douglas, Tennessee, Utah Consolidated and Utah Copper.

NEW COMPANY IN GRANITE COUNTY

Butte Men Organize to Operate Copper Mine Near Philipsburg.

Butte, Mont., May 3.—The Swastika Mining company was organized last week to operate the copper mine just east of Phillipsburg in Granite county. Dr. W. I. Power was elected president, Joel Willis vice president and C. E. Hansen secretary. Walter W. Krogor was elected treasurer and W. W. Williams superintendent. The company is capitalized at $500,000, shares at a par value of $1, and it is reported that ample working capital is already available to begin operations and continue them on an extensive scale. Large bodies of rich ore have been opened in this mine and the object for the future is to determine their extent at greater depth. The shaft, which had penetrated the sulphide zone, was in ore closely resembling the copper ore from the big mines in Butte, when operations were suspended on account of water, which could not be handled to advantage by a bucket. It is the intention of the company to install necessary machinery and continue sinking the shaft several hundred feet deeper.

MASS MINE IS NOW IDLE

Men Are on Strike and Trouble at Other Mines Probable.

South Lake to Start Crosscut Towards the Evergreen Lodes.

Houghton, Mich., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Labor troubles at the Mass mine last Saturday forced a suspension of operations and the mine is now idle, with small prospects for an early settlement of the difficulties between the management and its employes. About 250 men are on strike. The management is not disposed to treat with its striking employes, whose demands are considered unreasonable, and a long drawn out fight is anticipated. Local labor conditions are very unsatisfactory, viewed from the employers' standpoint, and walkouts and strikes at other mines in this district will occasion no surprise. Impending labor trouble is heard on every hand and a strike in the Quincy and Franklin mines is looked for any day.

South Lake.

The South Lake will shortly start a crosscut to the several lodes previously disclosed in shaft sinking in the horizon of the Evergreen lode, and which later yielded good showings of copper in the drill holings made on the third level. These lodes, which are not to be confounded with the so-called South Lake lodes, will be reached by the crosscut at distances varying from 100 to 200 feet on this level. Crosscutting will start immediately upon the completion of a sump, which is now being cut at this depth to care for the seepage of surface water. The shaft is sinking steadily at the rate of about sixty feet per month. The first crosscut to the South Lake lodes will probably be started at the 500 level. These lodes lie at distances ranging from 1,000 to 1,500 feet from the shaft at this depth, and to reach them will consume the greater part of a year's time. Money in the meantime should result in the development of productive ground in the Evergreen lodes.

Mohawk.

The Mohawk has temporarily suspended work in the No. 6 shaft in order to facilitate construction work at surface, where a new shaft house is in course of erection. The shaft will probably be out of commission for a month or six weeks, in which time the Wisconsin Bridge & Iron company is expected to complete the structure and have it ready for the installation of rockhouse machinery. The underground force in this shaft has been sent to assist the trammers in the other shafts, an arrangement that is expected to result in an increased output from those points and meet the decrease in production occasioned by the temporary loss of No. 6 shaft, the output of which has been around 300 tons of rock daily.

Indiana.

The Indiana has placed a diamond drill in operation on the 1,400-foot level in the vertical shaft, which it is sinking to develop the so-called Indiana felsite. Diamond drilling at this time has for its purpose the location of the copper deposit originally disclosed in diamond-drill hole No. 9, and which should have been disclosed later by the shaft. The drill results will govern the course of the crosscut at this level. Work has been resumed on the 600-foot level, where a crosscut previously driven discloses a felsite stratum, thirty-five feet distant from the shaft. This crosscut is being extended in the direction of No. 2 drill hole, and at the moment is passing through barren trap rock. The felsite referred to was found quite barren of copper.

Keweenaw.

The Keweenaw continues to center all activity in exploratory work in the horizon of the Ashbed lode. Two diamond drills are in service. Drill hole No. 38, the first of the present series, was completed some months ago at a depth of 870 feet, revealing a fair showing of copper in the trap rock underlying the Ashbed lode. The lode itself was barren at this point. Hole No. 39, located 200 feet east, was stopped at a depth of 700 feet, having located the Ashbed lode and copper at about this depth. Hole No. 40 which was drilled at a point about 500 feet further east yielded results similar to those noted in hole No. 39. The company is now drilling the fourth and fifth holes, designated as Nos. 41 and 42. These holes are fifty and 1,000 feet east of hole No. 40, and are expected to reach the lode at depths ranging from 375 feet to 450 feet. Exploratory operations will be carried east ward across the Keweenaw tract for a distance of about five miles. Less than 1,000 feet of this distance has been covered. The work is being done under the supervision of W. J. Uren, former superintendent of the so-called Bigelow mines in this district.

Franklin.

The Franklin has reached the old Pewabic lode by a crosscut east on the thirty-second level in No. 1 shaft. Considerable copper is in evidence. The lode is not being opened for production at this time, though several cars of rock have been taken therefrom and shipped during the past week. The crosscut which is driving to intersect the conglomerate bed should reach its objective point about July 1. The best showings in the Franklin mine today are on the several levels below the thirty-second, a run of ground on the thirty-fourth level showing exceptionally rich. No work is in progress above the twentieth level. In the development of its property, the company is incidentally opening ground in the old Rhode Island tract, which a few years ago came under the control of the company. Several drifts have been extended into this territory with results much the same as those obtained in the Franklin acreage. This work in the Rhode Island is fully 1,000 feet below the openings made by the former owners, who seem to have stopped just as success was about to crown their efforts. The Franklin is really a much better mine than is indicated by its report of last year's operations. The vein is growing wider and richer with depth.

BUTTE-DULUTH HAS BIG ORE RESERVES

Ore Body Proved to Depth of About 200 Feet.

Butte, Mont., May 3.—Experts figure that the Butte-Duluth company has 1,500,000 tons of ore blocked out, and some have gone so far as to say there are 5,000,000 tons to be developed. This ore, which is taken out by quarrying and not by deep mining, carries an average of about fifty pounds of copper to the ton, which is all in the oxidized form. The ore body is from 300 to 500 feet wide and 2,000 feet long in the Butte-Duluth ground. It has been proved to a depth of about 200 feet. The plant is now treating 200 tons daily and before the year is over it is planned to treat 1,000 tons a day.

MOVEMENT NOT LIVELY

Iron Ore Shipments Hampered By Ice in Lake Superior.

Movements From Mines Curtailed Because of the Dock Charge.

Navigation still being hampered by ice in Lake Superior, the movement of ore from the mines of the older iron ranges has not been proceeding at as lively a rate as during the early days in past seasons. This is because of the dock charge imposed by the railroads this year for the first time. With no certainty of the arrival of boats on scheduled time, shippers in general have been holding their ore at the mines. Naturally this has caused no little inconvenience.

While the tariffs for the transportation of ore to the shipping ports remain the same as in recent years—40 cents from the Gogebic range to Ashland, 40 cents from the Menominee and Marquette ranges to Marquette, 30 cents from the Humboldt district of the Marquette range to Marquette, and 25 cents from the Ishpeming and Negaunee field of the Marquette range to Marquette—a charge for dockage is made. The charge is 5 cents a ton, which covers storage in cars at dock yards, unloading from cars to docks and loading from docks to vessels. Heretofore the railroads have imposed no extra tariff for this service. In order to obtain the 5-cent rate, ore must be loaded into the vessel within ten days from the arrival of the ore at the docks. When not loaded into vessels within that time an addition charge of one-quarter of a cent a ton a day is made.

Claim It Is Necessity.

The railway managers assert that the dockage charge is a necessity, both on account of the increased cost of handling the ore at the docks and the alleged abuse of cars and dock room by some of the shipping concerns. It is claimed that in the past thousands of tons of ore have been held in the piers and in cars awaiting the arrival of vessels to take it away, this condition continuing for many days at a time. On the other hand, the mining companies decline the dock charge and the storage penalty unreasonable. Complaint has been made to the interstate commerce commission and that body has the matter under consideration. The smaller concerns with no ships of their own are particularly affected. It is pointed out that to avoid the storage tax it often would be necessary to put the ore in stock at the mines. As this would entail an additional charge of 10 to 15 cents a ton for reloading, it is questionable whether this method would be profitable. There is great interest in the outcome of the protest made at Washington. While the mining companies are united in the opposition to the new tax, only one—Ferdinand Schlesinger's Newport company of Milwaukee—has filed formal complaint. The is in the nature of a test case. Provided the dock and storage charges stand, the revenues of the Lake Superior ore-carrying railroads will be increased to the extent of several hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

Ashland Docks Rebuilt.

The Chicago & Northwestern company has rebuilt its No. 1 dock at Ashland during the winter and spring, and part of the structure is now being used. The old piling was retained, as was the frame-work and the chutes. The remainder of the pier was entirely reconstructed. Next winter the Northwestern will begin the erection of a third dock at Ashland. This will be built directly east of the present piers, will be of steel and concrete and will cost in the neighborhood of a million dollars. The ore traffic of the company has steadily been increasing on the Gogebic range and has been fully holding its own in the Menominee district, notwithstanding greater competition than formerly. This year the Northwestern is adding 1,000 steel cars to its rolling stock, in addition to "Mikado-type" locomotives capable of hauling ninety loaded cars. It is expected the company will haul a greater tonnage from the Marquette range this season than ever before.

CHANGES AT THE GROVELAND MINE

Erie Ore Company in Control and Capt. Lawry Retires.

Iron Mountain, Mich., May 3.—The Erie Ore company has succeeded the Huron and Young interests in control of the Groveland mine. Capt. Harry Lawry, who has been in charge of the property since it was re-opened some ten years ago, has retired and has decided to purchase a farm in Southern Wisconsin. Capt. Charles Grant is at present in charge of the property. It is understood the Erie company contemplates some radical changes in the system of mining the ore. A portion of the deposit may be stripped and a steam shovel employed.

DOING BIG WORK ON THE GIROUX

Costs Greatly Reduced, and Large Profits Now in Sight.

Ely, Nev., May 3.—It seems to be the prevailing opinion among Eastern stockholders that the management of the Giroux company has been moving rather slowly, but this is due to their lack of knowledge of conditions at the property. Until about fifteen months ago the management was bending every effort to equip the Alpha workings for production, and had about succeeded when the fire came, which retarded the work for at least a year. It was then decided to equip the sulphide zone for production, which was really a big undertaking, as the mines had been opened rather for prospecting than for the production of a heavy tonnage. Not only was it necessary to equip these mines on the surface, but it was also necessary to retimber all former workings and to widen the drifts and levels so that the ore could be handled advantageously and the tramming done by mules.

This was really a big job, but it was rushed to completion in remarkably short time. Production was commenced under many difficulties, but as the price of copper was then very high, the management was justified in this. All surface equipment is now completed, which will prove a great saving in the handling of ore. The principal cost of this equipment, especially since production was commenced, came from the production of the mines, and as this work is now done and a large force of surface men laid off, the cost of production will be materially reduced.

The underground workings are now in splendid condition. The slicing system has been commenced which will soon relieve a large force of miners, and electric haulage will soon be installed in the underground workings, which will still further reduce the cost of mining. The Giroux company, for the first time in its existence, is now ready to begin actual mining in a thorough and business-like manner, which will soon show a greatly reduced cost sheet and larger profits. The mines are producing a good grade of ore, and there would seem to be no good reason why it should not soon be earning a considerable sum every month above operating expenses.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Gopher for 1914 Contains Usual Delicious Bits of Gossip.

All Women's Clubs on the Campus Have Been Consolidated.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Thursday the junior class presented the 1914 Gopher to the university. Early in the morning a crowd gathered around the steps of the library anticipating one of the autographed copies. The books were immediately gobbled up by the assembled crowd, mostly juniors, anxious to see what the Gopher said about them, and in the moment of anxiety reviewing their college career to see what false step the horrid editors might seize upon to bring ridicule down upon them.

This year's annual is bound in black leather with an embossed gold title and seal. The management spared no expense in publishing the book, the binding color and black and white art work, the border and everything about the book, is of exquisite workmanship, and makes the Gopher a beautiful and artistic volume. The editors had named it the "Best Ever Gopher," and they went a long ways in making it such.

As usual, the feature section was the richest part of the book, containing the delicious bits of gossip and stinging slams and choice snap-shots which make the Gopher so popular. The Duluth notables on the campus all got theirs, and occupied their usual conspicuous part.

After spending the days under the trees on the knoll going through the bood the studies and co-studes danced at the National Guard Armory at the great all-university dance.

Dr. Hugh Black from the Theological Seminary of New York city, has been the guest of the university for several days. Dr. Black is the most famous university preacher in the country, and Minnesota is very fortunate in having had him speak here. Dr. Black visits many of the larger colleges in the country each year, and has a great popularity among students.

Last Sunday Dr. Black spoke in chapel at the vesper service on "Religion in the New Age. He defined religion as a product of social forces, man being a religious being, and said that religion based on faith, a universal and elemental instinct, must ever retain its vitality.

On Monday afternoon, he gave an address on "What to Read and How," and his humorous anecdotes and forceful illustrations kept the audience in a continuous laugh. On Tuesday, Dr. Black spoke on "The Essentials of Christianity," and on Wednesday, on "Christianity and the Modern Man." Throughout all his lectures, the chapel was always crowded, and they were all received with great enthusiasm.

The board of control for the Woman's Athletic association held a large mass meeting in chapel to celebrate the obtaining of a woman's gymnasium. Dr. Anna Norris spoke on the aims and opportunities of athletics in the university, and the possibilities of still greater benefits with a new gym. A new constitution was submitted to the members, who voted to adopt it. Nominations for the officers for next year were made, Miss Barbara Peeor, formerly of Duluth, being nominated for senior representative. The construction of the new woman's gymnasium will be commenced as soon as possible and will be finished in about a year.

Dr. John Walker Powell gave a lecture in chapel, Thursday, on "Kipling as an Interpreter of Life." This subject awakened the interest of the students because the question of Kipling's skill in interpreting life is one that has received a great deal of discussion in literary circles.

The aggressive sophomores broke into the limelight yesterday for the first time since the farce cane-rush last fall. This time it was the annual sophomore "vode-vil." Some of the interesting numbers will be the execution on the ballalacas by two native Russians now in college, together with some real Russian dancing, by Americans. Furthermore a whole negro ball will be produced introducing some new "rags," which seems impossible here, and an original musical comedy written by two of the sophs themselves.

The legal aid bureau which has recently been established in Minneapolis in connection with the Associated Charities, will serve as a sort of a clinic for the seniors in the law college. The legal aid bureau will furnish free legal assistance to poor people in cases not involving much money, in which justice is usually unobtainable because of its petty character. Next year the seniors will be assigned each week to attend in the office of the bureau as assistants to the attorney in charge. The seniors will have to investigate the facts, counsel the clients and bring whatever suits they think advisable and prosecute them in the regular courts. This work will be part of the moot court work now carried on in the law school and the actual cases will give the students excellent training in practice.

All the women's clubs on the campus have consolidated into one organization, the Women's Self Government association. Several mass meetings were held to explain the reasons for the move, and a constitution finally adopted at a meeting of all the girls in the university. Officers will be elected soon and an executive board, consisting of representatives from the classes and other girls' organizations.

Harvard Rockwell was elected to the Grey Friars. Grey Friars are seniors who are elected because of their prominence in college activities. It is a great honor, and the men chosen are usually the most representative in all lines of student achievement. The election is made at the close of the junior year. Mr. Rockwell is a junior engineer, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Theta Tau, and many other campus organizations.

Min-Dul Cuyuna Exploration Co.

(INCORPORATED UNDER LAWS OF MINNESOTA)

DULUTH, MINN.

Capital $100,000. 10,000 Shares. Par Value $10

(FULLY PAID AND NON-ASSESSABLE)

LEASE AND LOCATION—

This Company owns a fifty-year mining lease, covering 120 acres, lying in the heart of the Cuyuna range, the land being in Section 2, Township 46, Range 29. The lease was arranged for some years ago, but was not operative until recently by reason of a defect in the title which has now been perfected. The lease provides for a low minimum output and due to its early origin, a very nominal royalty of 15 cents per ton; the lease also provides for the use of timber on the land necessary for mining purposes, of which there are ample quantities for extensive mining operations.

INDICATIONS AND PROSPECTS OF ORE—

There are very encouraging surface indications of ore on this land. Lines of magnetic attraction are apparent, both directly north and south, as well as on the property itself. Further considering that ore has been found on three sides directly adjacent, and that several mines in the immediate vicinity (one-half to one mile) are already shippers or will be this year, the officers and directors feel extremely optimistic as to the results of the exploration work.

ADVANTAGES OF LOCATION—

The property lying as it does on a section road which runs to the town of Crosby makes it easy and economical to commence drilling operations without delay. The further fact that the Soo railroad is only one-half mile distant means no delay in future, should the property fulfill our expectations.

CAPITALIZATION—

The Capitalization of the Company has been kept conservative, simply because this is not a stock jobbing proposition, but a mining venture, offering a fair opportunity to the investor to join in exploring a promising property.

The officers' salaries have been limited to $1.00 per year and arrangements have been made whereby no other office expense will be incurred other than bookkeeping and minor incidental expenses such as stationery, stamps, etc.

SUBSCRIPTIONS—

In order that the Company may at once commence to properly drill and explore the property, a limited amount of stock has been offered at 50 per cent of the par value to provide funds for this work. While we do not at this time claim to have ore in sight, all available clues, guides and indications point to the existence of ore on this property. For further particulars and information, apply to the following officers and directors of the Company.

Have A Case Sent Home

IT'S a mighty fine thing to have a case of beer in your cellar. It provides for an ever-ready beverage for meals, lunches, etc. or for mere refreshment of the most healthful kind.

Fitger's Beer

is particularly well adapted for the home on account of its purity and extra healthfulness. If you could spare the time to be shown through the brewery and bottling house you would understand why it is so good. Physicians recommend it as a tonic and builder of good, rich blood. For convalescents and nursing mothers it is the ideal liquid food.

DULL DAY ON THE BOARD

Only Two Trades in May Wheat During Short Session.

Wheat Options Slightly Higher---Flax Has Another Decline.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 3.—The local grain market today can be noted for nothing but its sluggishness. There was nothing stirring on the board today and in spite of stronger foreign news, the Duluth market sulked in its tent. May wheat had two trades, each, however, at ⅛c over yesterday's close. Its opening, high and low figures, were 89½c. July wheat had a few more trades than May but it also was almost stagnant. It opened at 91⅛c asked, the same as yesterday's close, fluctuated a trifle and closed at ⅛c under.

The markets at Minneapolis, Chicago and Winnipeg were much in the same condition. A fear of selling on the strong cables had a good deal to do with the stagnation in the markets, and an inclination to stiffen the market kept buyers from appearing too anxious. Hence the failure to get together.

In the Duluth market durum wheat opened at yesterday's closing price, which proved to be the high point of the day. It closed at the new point, which was ⅜c off.

Flax Takes Tumble.

Flax declined still further today, with not much activity. May opened at yesterday's close, fell off 1c early in the session and closed ⅞c under the opening. July option opened at ⅛c over yesterday's closing price, soon dropped back to that figure and then fell off 1c, closing there.

Oats closed at a loss of ¼c, and cash wheat closed at ⅞c under July. Barley and rye remained unchanged.

Minneapolis puts and calls: Puts, 89½@89⅝c; calls, 90⅜c bid.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Depressed on Easing of Markets Abroad.

Chicago, May 3.—Easter markets at Liverpool, Buenos Ayres and Paris today depressed wheat here. The lower foreign wheat markets followed the weakness in stocks caused by the European political situation. Good rains in the American southwest, which are expected to rid fields of chinch bugs, was also a bearish factor. July opened ⅛c to ¼c lower at 91⅛c to 91¼c and eased off a shade.

A rally of ⅛@⅜c on a little buying spurt did not hold. The close was firm, however, with July at 91@91⅛c, a net gain of ⅛@¼c.

Corn trade was very light. July opened unchanged to a shade lower at 55⅞@56c to 56c, but on some later improvement in demand rallied to 55⅝c.

Oats, under fair scattered buying, steadied around 34⅜c for July, which opened ⅛@¼c to ⅛c off at 34⅝@34⅜c to 34¼c.

Provisions were irregular, opening prices being 2½c up to 5c lower. Prices later declined under lightness of demand. July opening: Pork, $19.50 to $19.52½; lard, $10.72½; ribs, $10.92½ to $10.95.

Close cash: Grain—Wheat: No. 2 red, $1.02@1.04½; No. 3 red, 96c@$1.00; No. 2 hard, 92¼@93½c; No. 3 hard, 90@93c; No. 1 northern, 92¼@93¼c; No. 2 northern, 91@92c; No. 3 northern, 89@91c; No. 2 spring, 91@92c; No. 3 spring, 80@91c; No. 4 spring, 80@88c; velvet chaff, 90@93½c; durum, 94@98c. MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Trading Is Narrow and Somewhat Easier.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 3.—The wheat market was narrow and a trifle easier today. Deferred contract relatively weaker on account of excellent crop prospect. Seeding in Northwest finished and rains overnight beneficial. May close unchanged from yesterday to ⅛c lower; July ¼c lower and September ½c lower. Local elevator stocks decreased 150,000 bu for one day. May opened 87¾c, high, 87¾c, low 87½c, closed 87¾c; July opened 90⅛@90c; high 90⅛@90¼c, low 89⅜@89⅞c, closed 90c. September opened 91c, high 91⅛c, low 90¾c, closed 90¾c. Closing cash: No. 1 hard, 91c; No. 1 northern, 89¾@90½c; to arrive, 89½@89¾c; choice to arrive, 90¼c; No. 2 northern, 87¾@88½c; No. 2 hard, Montana, 90¾c; No. 3 wheat, 85¾@86½c. No. 3 yellow corn, 55@56c; No. 3 white oats, 33@33½c; No. 2 rye, 56@58½c.

Barley—Receipts, 26 cars; year ago, 9; shipments, 34. Demand strong. Closing range, 42@58c.

There was no action to the flour market. Shipping directions slow. Shipments today, 60,970 bbl. In wood, f. o. b. Minneapolis, first patents, $4.60@4.85; second patents, $4.25@4.60; first clears, $3.30@3.70; second clears, $2.80@3.20.

Bran in 100-pound sacks, $16.00@17.00.

Cash wheat remained about steady. No. 1 northern sold 2@3c above the May contract. Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,560 tons. Demand good for light offerings at unchanged prices.

New York Grain.

New York, May 3.—July wheat closed 99⅛c.

Cotton Market.

New York, May 3.—Cotton opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 1 point. Cables were better than due and private advices from Russia claimed that spinners were becoming uneasy owing to small stocks and might soon buy freely. Prices eased off to a net loss of 3 to 4 points right after the call, but trading was quiet and there was hardly enough business to give the market any decided tendency during the early session.

Selling on the favorable crop news seemed to be held in check by a tendency to await developments in the old crop deliveries, and by the relatively firm cables.

Futures closed steady. Closing bids: May, 11.35; June, 11.40; July, 11.45; August, 11.23; September, 10.93; October, 10.92; December, 10.93; January, 10.80; March, 10.99. Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 11.85; middling gulf, 12.10. Sales, none.

London Stocks.

London, May 3.—The Scutari question keeps the stock market in a dull and nervous state, and although hopling for a favorable result of the ambassadors' conference, local buyers realized today. This pressure was followed by continental selling which caused weakness in all directions. Homo rails were affected by the Welsh labor troubles.

American securities opened quiet with prices around parity. Reports of labor troubles and continental selling imparted a weak tone to the dealings and the list declined under the lead of Canadian Pacific. The closing was easy with values ranging from ¼ above to 1⅞ below Friday's New York closing.

Money and discount rates were a shade easier.

MIDSUMMER CONDITIONS

Stock Market Quiet and Many Speculators Are Absent.

Mild Depression Is Experienced and the Close Is Easy.

New York, May 3.—Depression of the leading stocks, gave the market an appearance of heaviness at the opening today. Union Pacific, Reading, Steel and Amalgamated sold ½ point below yesterday's close. Changes among the less active stocks were small and for the most part recessions. Canadian Pacific dropped 2¼.

When the stock pressing on the market had been taken care of the list stiffened, but as the recovery lacked snap traders sold sparingly again. Northwestern fell 2 points and International Pump 5's gave way a similar amount on top of yesterday's 6-point loss.

The market closed easy. Apathy prevailed in the markets of the world today. Hesitancy abroad was attributed to lack of definite political news. Locally little interest was shown in foreign affairs and the market experienced a mild depression. Midsummer conditions prevailed. The torrid weather and general lassitude of speculation were taken advantage of by many speculators to remain away from the street. Bonds irregular.

REAL ESTATE

GOOD TONE APPEARS IN DULUTH REALTY MARKET

Important Speculative and Investment Deals Are Reported Pending.

Real Estate Men Favor Acquisition of Additional Park Property.

While trading on the local realty market during the past week has not been featured by any large deals, a healthy tone has been indicated both in the volume of transfers and in reports which the various real estate agents are giving out. Residence property is showing up well, some acreage is changing hands and there are rumors of important deals to be put through in the downtown business district.

It is doubtful whether there can be found anything to compare with real estate in the central business district, Superior and First street frontages, both as an investment or speculative proposition. Adequately improved and intelligently handled, it is bound to yield returns. Values have not yet reached a point which measures fully the earning capacity of the property on a low basis for a number of years to come.

As to permanency of conditions in the business district, there is no doubt. Duluth's natural advantages peculiar only to this city, and the vast expenditure of capital which has been undertaken here within the past few years are building up here a strong foundation for a big city. In the natural order of events, values must keep ascending.

• • •

Joseph G. Harrison of the firm of Richardson, Day & Harrison, which was established as Richardson, Day & Co. in 1885, has retired from the firm and has taken up his residence at Buckeye, Texas, in the same line of work. The state of Mr. Harrison's health does not permit his remaining in the North. His place in the firm has been taken by Senator H. W. Cheadle, and the firm name hereafter will be Richardson, Day & Cheadle. Mr. Cheadle has perhaps as large an acquaintanceship as anyone in the city, having been deputy city clerk from 1894 to 1898 and city clerk from 1898 up to last year, when he resigned the position and went in with Richardson, Day & Harrison. The business is not new to him, as he was with the old firm of Richardson, Day & Co. from 1886 to 1892 and has since that time dealt to a considerable extent in real estate on his own account. The offices of the firm will remain as at present in the exchange building.

• • •

Mayor Prince's policy which favors the acquisition by the city of additional acreage for public park purposes is meeting with quite general favor among the real estate men, who are realizing that the city should purchase now, before values are boosted another notch. It is pointed out that Minneapolis already has 2,500 acres of park property and St. Paul 1,500. Duluth has but 250 acres. Sentiment seems to favor the adding to the present parks as well as the purchase of new tracts.

APRIL A BUSY MONTH IN BUILDING TRADES

Permits for the Past Month Make an Excellent Showing.

Labor Market Short of Men But Free From Disputes.

April was a good month for the building trades, as shown by the building permits which were taken out.

During the month there were 164 permits issued, representing an expenditure of $280,345. For the month of April, 1912, there were 152 permits issued, involving an estimated expenditure of $172,728, or an increase for April, 1913, of 107,617. The record for the season shows a splendid advance for the figures for the corresponding period last year.

The labor market is somewhat short of men but is free from any industrial disputes. A good scale of wages is being maintained. Some advances are being sought, but until negotiations are concluded the old scale of prices will be used. The carpenters are asking an advance from 45 to 50 cents an hour. Painters are now receiving 47½ cents, the new scale providing for a Saturday half holiday from July 1 to April 15. Plumbers, masons, bricklayers, plasterers and other union men are adhering to the old scale. Duluth union men declare labor conditions are quite satisfactory to them.

GENERAL ADVANCE IN LUMBER PRICES

Lumber for Average House Will Cost $20 More.

A general advance in prices this year on all lines of hard and soft wood will probably be made, according to the retail lumbermen. Experts say that it will cost about $20 more for the lumber in the average house this year than it did in 1912.

Hickory has advanced in price since a year ago and is now sold at about $30 a thousand feet. The wholesale advance on all lumber since 1912 has been about $2.50 a thousand feet and the retail advance has been about $1 a thousand feet.

Rails split by hand years ago for the Virginia rail fences used all through the north and south, cannot be obtained now. The lead pencil companies have bought all of the red cedar rails that fenced off the farms.

Very few red cedar trees are available in Minnesota, although the stumps to be found on Phelps Island, Lake Minnetonka, near Ft. Snelling, and in other wooded portions near Minneapolis, show that many red cedar trees were cut down.

Hickory is now used very little for building purposes. It is sold as "wagon stock," and is used almost exclusively in the manufacture of vehicles.

CONTRACT LET FOR NEW HOTEL

New Building at Twentieth Avenue West Will Cost $80,000.

The general contract for the new $80,000 hotel to be erected this summer on the northeast corner of Twentieth avenue west and Superior street for the Gopher Real Estate company was let yesterday by Architect J. J. Wangenstein to Contractor Charles Danielson. The work will be started at once and prosecuted to an early completion.

A long term lease on the building has been taken by S. D. Ives, who will conduct it as the New Esmond hotel. The building is to be a three-story and basement affair with a foundation substantial enough to carry additional stories, if later desired. The building is planned for 110 rooms.

The hotel will be the most pretentious one ever erected west of the Point of Rocks. The lobby will be 30 by 60 and will be located so that it opens on the corner. The lobby will have a tile floor. The dining room, 40 by 60, will front on the avenue on the ground floor.

MORTGAGES SOUGHT AS INVESTMENT

That real estate mortgages are among the most desirable of modern investments and securities is a fact which is attested by mortgage dealings of banks, building investment companies and other similar investing concerns. Property mortgages have been found a sure and profitable investment even for the largest life insurance companies of the country.

Investments of insurance companies in realty and realty mortgages have been enormous and "the extent to which big companies have gone in for real estate mortgages—especially mortgages on city realty—of late years, is an interesting testimonial for that form of investment," writes Will Payne in a well-known weekly magazine.

"The six largest companies reporting to the New York insurance department have $2,500,000,000 invested assets, and nearly $700,000,000 of it is in real estate mortgages. Ten years ago the same companies had less than $300,000,000 in that form of investment.

"The life insurance investigation of 1905 brought the companies' investments under much more rigid scrutiny than ever before, and was followed by changes in the law that were designed to keep them out of all kinds of speculative holdings. One result has been to increase very greatly their loans on real estate; for, on the whole, they can get a little higher interest out of such loans than from any other kind of investment that is open to them.

OUT-OF-TOWN SPEAKER FOR ARCHITECTS.

The Duluth Architectural club is arranging a special attraction for its members and friends at its next meeting to be held Thursday night of next week at the clubrooms, 210 West First street. The evening will be given over to a lecture from an out-of-town speaker, whose subject will be of general interest to the architectural profession and the building trades. The name of the speaker has not yet been announced, as definite arrangements have not been completed.

WILL REMODEL THE CITY HALL

Plans Will Be Ready for the Contractors Next Week.

Plans and specifications for the remodeling job at the city hall, which have been prepared in the office of Vernon J. Price, architect, will be ready for the contractors next week.

Among the changes which will be made will be to install new plumbing and electric wiring. A new system of lighting will be put in. An additional vault will be built in the auditor's office, the council chamber will be redecorated and the city engineer's quarters remodeled. Provision will be made for a blue print room for the engineer on the basement floor.

DOUBTING THOMASES IN DULUTH

Many Citizens Still Ignorant and Skeptical Regarding Steel Plant---Activity in Gary Property.

While the eyes of the Northwest are on Duluth, the home of Minnesota's largest industry, and interest is becoming quite generally centered on the progress being attained in the construction of the $10,000,000 steel plant here, it is said to be a strange, but true circumstance, that there are far more Doubting Thomases right in Duluth than anywhere else.

Said a local real estate man yesterday: "I have utterly failed to understand that skepticism which is being shown as to the steel plant and the apparent ignorance that many of our townspeople have as to the real import of the big institution which has become one of our number. It is safe to say that the average Duluthian who has not visited the site of the steel plant has no tangible idea of what is being done there. Of the mammoth steel mills and blast furnaces he has only a vague idea. He has a half-hearted notion that perhaps some day there will be a steel plant in Duluth. Of the true facts, he knows but little.

"It is amusing to listen to some statements which are made expressing a doubt as to whether there will anything ever come of the industry. A personal visit to Gary, the site of the big plant, I believe, would dispel every doubt and remove the pessimistic attitude which seems to permeate the local atmosphere. Only the other day I had an opportunity to show one of our prominent citizens some photographs which had been taken there. He laughed at me and asked me if they were views from Gary, Ind. He admitted that he had not taken the time to make a trip to the steel plant and was quite surprised when I proved to him that the views were local ones."

The mental attitude of Duluth's citizens towards the steel plant and what its significance will be as far as Duluth is concerned, whether it be hopeful on the one hand or pessimistic and fearful on the other, is bound to affect the realty market. Usually if city real estate has an intrinsic value, it is determined by the population or density of the population, and by its accessibility and surroundings. The mental attitude, however, affects the selling value quite as much as does the other more tangible and more easily defined qualities.

Announcement has just been made that the steel corporation will make a further outlay at the plant of another million dollars and will build three additional open hearth furnaces, making in all a battery of ten. This bears out the opinion adhered to by trade authorities that the plant in Duluth will ultimately be developed on a much larger scale than originally contemplated.

It has also been announced that another reheating furnace will be built. The additions which have been decided upon have been found necessary to balance the plant. The blast furnaces already built would turn out more pig iron than the seven open hearth furnaces could handle, hence the three additional furnaces for economical operation.

A big storage yard for coal and limestone, 1,000 feet long by 600 feet wide, is also planned for the coming season. Although somewhat handicapped by a shortage in labor, the steel plant is presenting a busy scene these days.

The Steel Plant Investment company within the last ten days has closed up on twenty-three deals. The Home Realty company advises the sale of fourteen lots, four being taken by Washburn, Wis., people.

A. W. Kuehnow yesterday declared that he had between twenty-five and thirty deals pending which were expected to be closed before May 15.

A. C. Volk, another Gary operator, advises that he has a big deal under way at the present time which may involve the transfer of all of his holdings in Gary, First division.

REAL ESTATE

EVERYBODY'S MOVING NOW

Duluthians Engaged in Wild Hunt for Houses and Flats.

Harvest Days for Van Companies, Painters, Paperhangers and Others.

Duluth's "open season" for flats and houses did not close on May 1, official moving day.

The mad hunt for houses is now on and probably will be until the next two weeks. In the meantime everybody connected with rentable real estate will be as busy as a bird dog in the month of September.

Tenants of flats are still looking for houses—preferably detached ones—and people who have spent the winter in rented houses are in the market for flats.

Dianas of the chase are still "looking," and the van wrecking crews are still on the job, demolishing furniture faster and distributing it more promiscuously than ever before.

The Popular Pastime.

In Duluth, hunting flats has become a popular pastime during the past three weeks. Many people prefer this to the "movies." At the some time, those who have spent the past twelve months in "six rooms-and-bath," are strongly considering a quiet suburban home on a once-in-a-while street car line.

It is a busy season for the rental agent. He has any number of applicants who are demanding houses and flats when he has none accessible to fill their particular demands.

And the people in the long-drawn-out flas still live in anticipation of a house with sleeping porches, sun parlor, a back stairway and safe front steps.

Then there are the families who have lost or who expect to lose servants during the spring matrimonial season. They are looking for a place that fits their requirements and are hoping to find relief from too much work in too large a house for too small a family.

The little army of paper hangers, painters and decorators—those genluses of the brush and ladder and tobacco juice—are still treading on the heels of departing tenants and are busy with their renovating and rejuvenating.

Everything is rush, run and hurry. Children of parents who rent are becoming accustomed to sleeping a-la-jack knife in go carts on the front walk and family dogs are beginning to wear Enoch Arden expressions.

Signs of the Times.

The rear ends of moving vans and lawns are littered with the annual sowing of bits of broken mirrors.

Milkmen's hours have doubled in endless and discouraging search for departed customers.

Daily fights in the rear alleys tell the story of the arrival of new youngsters in the neighborhood.

Telephone directories, which recently have been issued have nearly become obsolete.

Those sweet dispositioned maiden ladies with alcohol burners and temperaments are still poking around for "two rooms with bath, kitchenette, rear janitor service, quiet neighborhood and plenty of fresh air and porches."

Rules for and against dogs and "kids" have been more or less revised since last year. Flats that formerly excluded both are now accepting the former.

In some apartment houses youngsters of certain ages and proclivities are admitted. The same is true of pups old enough to appreciate the value of silence and disciplined enough to refrain from tracking ipoches and considering flower beds bone warehouses. They are admitted on probation.

The present contention for houses and flats gives forcible emphasis to the assertion that Duluth needs more houses and modern ones. And this is in spite of the fact that contractors are working overtime building new ones.

And yet the rush and turmoil, the hustle and bustle of the present home-hunting campaign is testimony to the growth of the Zenith City, and her claims to metropolitan distinction. Even if Chicago's streets are blocked with moving vans Duluth is just now scratching her share of pianos and losing her quota of framed ancestors along the public thoroughfares.

OUT OF TOWN BUILDINGS

Duluth Architects Have Many Calls From Surrounding Territory.

New Fire Hall and Masonic Temple for Town of Cloquet.

Local architects are devoting a good deal of attention to out-of-town building projects at the present time and in many of the offices plans are being prepared and estimates are being taken on several outside jobs.

Kelly & Williams, architects, who moved their offices this week from the Lonsdale to the First National Bank building, report three new buildings under way at Cloquet and one at Crosby.

The Cloquet buildings are a Masonic hall to cost $17,000, a city fire hall to cost $13,000 and a residence costing $8,000. Plans for the Masonic hall and the fire hall will soon be out for figures. The firm is preparing plans for a residence to be built for W. K. McMair. Figures on the mill work will be taken next week.

The same firm has plans practically completed for an office and store building to be occupied by the Crosby meat market and Pasco Hardware company at Crosby. The building will be of brick construction and will cost about $14,000.

Architect P. M. Olsen will open bids today for the construction of two $6,000 frame residences to be erected for W. H. Kreitter and J. A. Hill on Serpent lake at Ironton, Minn.

MacLeod & Smith, local contractors, were this week awarded the contract for the construction of the First National Bank building at Ely to cost $8,000. The plans were prepared and the contract awarded by Architect W. A. Hunt.

Architect Hunt also advises that bids on the $50,000 school job at Nashwauk, Minn., will be opened Thursday, May 8.

Bids will bo opned May 12 by Architect C. E. Nystrom for the proposed new $70,000 high school which will be built this summer at Keewatin, Minn. The plans which were prepared in his office call for brick, with terra cotta trimmings, two stories and basement, ten class rooms, manual training and domestic science departments and gymnasium.

E. F. Broomhall, architect, has plans out for figures on a 12-room high school building at Mahnomen, Minn. This building will also have provisions for manual training, domestic science and agricultual departments.

W. P. Allred is getting plans out for a two-room brick school building to be erected at Indus, Minn. It will oost about $9,000.

L. A. Galen has been awarded the contract for the construction of an $8,000 frame church building to be erected for a Catholic congregation at Gheen. The plans were prepared by Holstead & Sullivan.

BIG BUYERS OF FLAXSEED

European Dealers May Take 8,000,000 Bushels From Canada.

Most Europe Ever Bought Says Thornton---Visitors From Antwerp,

Charles H. Thornton of Winnipeg, formerly of Duluth, is here today on business. He visited the board of trade this morning and consulted with the various traders regarding grain, and was generally consulted regarding the export shipments of Canadian flax, which are going to Europe in such large quantities at present. Mr. Thornton said that export sales of Canadian flax to Europe, May to September included, will exceed 7,000,000 bushels and may go to 8,000,000 bushels. Said he in this connection:

"Recently foreign markets have been showing a preference for deferred shipments—that is shipments in August, September and October. This indicates that their markets will be well supplied with seed in the near future by shipments from Argentina. These have been in progress for about two months.

"As I say the shipments of Canadian flaxseed may reach the mark of 8,000,000 bushels, and will certainly go over 7,000,000 bushels. This is more seed than Europe ever before bought from America in one season. But around the present range of prices there is probably no limit to the amount the markets of Europe can absorb, because linseed oil is now relatively cheaper than other and competing oils."

Visiting the board this morning also were two men from Antwerp, Belgium. They are Pierre Wauters, managing director of the Union Agency and Commission Society, limited, of Antwerp, and Leon Rigole, representing H. Rigole of Antwerp, dealer in flax. Both are interested chiefly in flax and are here attempting to make Duluth connections, which they have been lacking. Mr. Wauters' company is a commission firm solely, but Mr. Rigole's firm is a dealer in flaxseed.

They both regard the flax markot as it stands now as much too high and do not believe that this condition will last long. They say that the war scare has nothing to do with the price of flax, affecting only such cereals as wheat, oats and barley; and stocks, of course. They look for a return to normal conditions soon. Messrs. Wauters and Rigole will be in the city for several days. They will likely go from here to Winnipeg.

WAS LEFT TO COMMISSION

Charter Did Not Call for Abolishment of All Boards.

Non-Salaried Advisers May Be Kept If They Are Wanted.

The charter commission did not intend that the city commission should not re-establish any of the non-salaried boards that were a feature of the old form of government.

Members of the charter commission said today that the city commissioners seem to have put a strained construction on the charter when they say the new form of government was intended to do away with all non-salaried boards that the centralization of responsibility might be complete.

The charter commission made specific provision for the re-establishment of the civil service board, but left the question of establishing other boards to the commission. In order to leave the option absolutely with the commission, the following provision was included in the charter:

"Provided, That the council may appoint such non-salaried boards as it sees fit, to have the management, under its direction, of any department or sub-division of the city's affairs which it shall see fit to make. The members of any such boards shall serve without pay, and for such times as the council shall direct, and the council shall make rules and regulations by ordinance for the government and direction of each such non-salaried board."

Up to Commission.

"The charter leaves the re-establishment of the old boards entirely with the city commission," said T. T. Hudson, chairman of the charter commission, today. "The charter does not require the council to establish any boards, but it does specifically provide that borads may be established. The only step taken was to prevent the establishment of salaried boards.

"In the case of the water and light board, I believe personally that the commissioners should meet at least once a week on matters connected with the water and light department. I have found that one man's judgment is not always infallible in the important matters coming up in connection with the water and light department, and my experience on that board has convinced me that discussion is most beneficial in dealing with big problems. If I were on the city commission I would advocate weekly meetings of the commission on water and light matters. No matter how capable the man at the head of the utilities division may be, he would be greatly aided by the discussion, counsel and united judgment of his fellow members on the commission.

"If the charter commission had not believed that some of the city boards might well be re-established under the new form of government, we would not have left the way open for their re-establishment," said John G. Williams, a member of the sub-committee which drafted the charter.

"Personally I believe that final action in all matters should be left to the city commission or the commissioner at the head of any division of the city government. However I should think that advisory boards would be most desirable in some cases. I believe that Mr. Merritt should be glad to have the co-operation and counsel of men of experience on the water and light board, but of course the charter leaves that to his judgment. Some other boards might also be re-established to act in an advisory capacity, final action being left with the elective officials in each case."

Other citizens have suggested that the park board, the public welfare board and the library board be retained.

BEARS FOUGHT IN ZOO.

New York Journal: If a member of the state boxing board had happened to be in the Bronx zoo when Count, a handsome grizzly bear, and Chief, his sulky mate, decided to settle their differences, this story wouldn't have been written.

But the commissioner wasn't present, so Count was knocked out by a foul blow and is under the care of a doctor. Chief isn't doing any talking, but one look at him, as he struts about his cage, shows that he is fully aware of the fact that he is the undefeated champion.

The bout took place in the bears' cage at the zoo. The fight started off with both contestants cautious and holding back for an opening. Count believed he saw a clear path to Chief's solar plexus, but when he tried with his right paw, he was almost tumbled over by a blow that looked to the few spectators as though it were propelled by a couple of sticks of dynamite.

Count was stunned and fell into a hugging match to recover his strength. The end of the round found them still clutched tightly in each other's grasp.

Round No. 2 started off well enough for Count. He managed to successfully navigate his ponderous paw to Chief's midships. It was a left jab that brought forth a grunt of agony. But Chief proved to be a bear for punishment. He came back for more, and got it, too. Two blows in quick succession landed on his nose. Greatly enraged, he rushed blindly at Count and landed two blows below the belt, in violation of the Marquis of Queensberry rules. Count sank to the floor. He got up, however, and hugged Chief about the neck. He was still weak from the effects of the blows and offered but feeble resistance when Chief picked him up and hurled him to the concrete floor, thirty feet below. Count fell on his back for the count, and was motionless when Keeper Snyder reached him. A doctor was summoned and Count was carted off to the hospital to be patched up.

It is probable that a law to prohibit further fights will be passed at the zoo.

INVESTMENT TALK

BUY WHERE THE PROPERTY MUST INCREASE IN VALUE and BUY WHEN IT IS FOR THE INTEREST OF THE SELLER TO HAVE THAT PROPERTY GROW.

The second of these two rules is worthy of your most careful consideration. GROWTH is what INCREASES values! The seller's interest in the property, or his investments in adjoining property, influences his activities in its GROWTH.

My Additions are growing; my home is there; I live there the year around. I own adjoining property to that I now offer for sale, and unless my present additions GROW, I cannot hope to enjoy increased VALUES upon my home property (10 acres) or upon my adjoining property. This is the reason Colman's Additions are known as

"The Fastest Growing Additions in Duluth"

If you are going to invest, buy where there is GROWTH good and substantial, and INCREASED VALUES and GOOD PROFITS are the result! This is the A B C OF INVESTMENT!

Be not mislead by statements as to what Addition MAY grow, but come out and look over ONE that HAS grown, IS growing and WILL CONTINUE to grow!

Two years ago this week the FIRST family moved into my Addition; within the past three weeks NINE new families have located there. A new

SCHLEY FIREMEN GETTING READY FOR TOURNAMENT

Gilbert, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Schley fire department are making great preparations for the tournament to be given at the Schley location, Gilbert, Aug. 18, 19 and 20, 1913.

The tournament will cover three days and will include a band contest in which a number of the range bands have already signified their intention of participating.

The Schley fire department has been in existence for three tournaments and has always accredited itself well.

The Gilbert Commercial club is helping the firemen to make a great success of this tournament. Twelve hundred dollars will be given in prizes. The fact that the Mesaba Electric railway has been completed and is now running hourly service between Hibbing and Gilbert will greatly add to the crowds that will attend the tournament. Chief J. J. Hurley of the Schley department is assisted by Chief P. R. Cosgrove of the Gilbert department and no stone has been left unturned to make the tournament the biggest and best ever held on the range.

J. J. Hurley, chief of the Schley department is head pipeman for the Republic Iron & Steel company at Gilbert and is considered to be one of the best pumpmen on the range. Last fall he went to the assistance of the Ruddy mine when it was drowned out and thirty miners lost their lives. His efforts saved the shaft and enabled a rescuing party to crowd through a narrow opening over the mud and quicksand and reach the place where the miners had been working. The perilous trip was of no avail as the men had left the place they were working and gone down to be drowned by the rush of quicksand washed in by the cloudburst. The party making this trip was composed of Mr. Hurley.

P. R. COSGROVE,
Chief Gilbert Fire Department.

J. J. HURLEY,
Chief Schley Fire Department.

Louis Gipp, C. M. Dorway, engineer of the company, and a brother of one of the victims. The Schley firemen at work or play are always on the job and are made of the right kind of stuff.

Chief P. R. Cosgrove of the Gilbert department, has been mayor of Gilbert three terms and is now superintendent of light and water for Gilbert. Mr. Cosgrove was formerly chief of the Sparta fire department and has taken part in tournaments for the past ten years. He is a real fireman and is always the first man to a fire.

SIX CAUGHT IN KEEWATIN RAID

Itasca County Officers Arrest Half Dozen in Resort There.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a raid made Thursday night in Keewatin, Sheriff Riley and Deputy Sheriff Carson gathered in Theodore Neff, better known as "Kid" Neff, Charley Mason, Jessie Wilson, Verna Barr, "Babe" Star, and Ollie West, all inmates of the house. Mason is the piano player.

arraigned in Justice's court

The six were brought here Friday and were arraigned in Justice's court charged with running a house of ill-fame. All six pleaded not guilty, and asked that a continuance be granted until Tuesday. The court ordered the continuance. Neff to be held in bonds of $300, and each of the others in bonds of $50.

Neff was before the court last year on the same charge, but was not indicted by the grand jury. The only other member of the party who has appeared here before, is Miss Barr, who was also here at the time of the cases last year.

Calumet Place Also Raided.

Sheriff Riley raided a house in Calumet last evening and brought back to the county jail here Thomas S. Quinn, the proprietor, Emma Davis and Anna Carlson, both inmates. All three are charged with running a house of ill fame and this morning in justice's court they asked for a continuance until Saturday, May 10. Bonds have been fixed at $300 for Quinn and $50 each for the women. It is expected that the ball will be furnished this afternoon.

HELP FIRE VICTIMS.

Grand Rapids Vaudeville Theater Packed for Mooers Benefit.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Gem theater was packed at three performances last evening given for the benefit of the George Mooers family, who were burned out recently.

The vaudeville performance was furnished by local talent, including the High School quartet, comprising Messrs. Carson, Holmes, Holsington and Taylor, who gave several selections, and Wayne Gilbert made a hit impersonating Harry Lauder. It is expected that about $50 will be realized.

Many mothers and their friends enjoyed the spring party given by the kindergarten class, in the Central school Friday afternoon.

TAKEN TO BEMIDJI.

Body of Railroad Man Killed at Virginia Escorted West.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.) — The body of Chester Gracie, yard switch foreman, who was killed in the Canadian Northern yards Thursday noon, was taken to Bemidji on the 5 o'clock train Friday afternoon over the Great Northern railroad, accompanied by four brothers, Ralph O. Gracie of Bemidji, Arden E. Gracie of Virginia, Lester Gracie of Keewatin and W. B. Gracie of Rainy River.

Delegations of the Bemidji lodge of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Bemidji lodge of Elks arrived here Friday morning from their home town to take charge of the body.

MOTHER OF NINE APPLIES FOR AID

Lives on Homestead North of Virginia and Nearly Starved.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A mother and her 16-year-old cripple son sought aid from local people yesterday afternoon. Clad in the scantiest of garments despite the raw, chilly air and the pouring rain, the poor woman and her child formed a pitiable picture.

She is the mother of nine children and is said to be almost entirely without means of support, having no husband.

The destitute family lives on homestead land near Pike, north of this city, and has neither the money nor the strength to till the soil.

The woman was directed to the city health officer, Dr. J. H. Crowe, and he took the matter up with the Associated Charities and the woman and her unfortunate brood have now been taken care of for the time being.

HELD FOR MURDER.

Slayer of Two Keewatin Men Bound Over at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis Wacovitch, who shot and fatally wounded Steve and Mike Bukobrotovich near Keewatin two weeks ago, today was bound over to the October setting of the grand jury by Justice Kearney in justice court on a charge of murder.

LIENS FILED FOR LARKIN MINE WORK.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Liens have been filed here for payment of work alleged to have been performed for the New York State Steel company at the Larkin mine at Virginia.

The plaintiffs in the actions are Axel Pelto suing for $225; Matt Laurich $300; Emil Lund $200 and John Pelto $175.

The work is alleged to have been performed for Edward Williamson on behalf of the New York State Steel company.

Bigfork Musician Dies.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred Gagnon, for a number of years cornetist for the local band, died at Bigfork. Until within the last few months, Mr. Gagnon was a resident of Deer River. He came here with a strolling band as leader, and remained after the band dispersed. The burial was in Bigfork.

Effie, Minn., Girl Committed.

Grand Rapids Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fanny Rahier, 16 years of age, was brought here from Effie, Friday, and was committed to the school for the feeble minded at Faribault, by Judge of Probate Clarence Webster. The girl will be cared for at St. Benedict's hospital here, until her admittance to the home, about May 15.

Emil Eco of Bovey, who was brought here and locked up on charges of insanity, preferred by Bovey parties, was released yesterday. The supposed case of insanity turned out to be an acute attack of alcoholism.

EPWORTH LEAGUE TO MEET AT CHISHOLM

Convention of Duluth District to Be Held June 4 and 5.

Chisholm, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The different Epworth leagues in the Duluth district will meet in convention here Tuesday, June 4 and 5. It is expected that a large gathering of people interested in church work will assemble in the village and speakers of note will assist in a program.

Bishop William Quayle is slated to deliver an address, taking for his subject, "Shylock and David." Other speakers of note will assist. The convention was held last year in Virginia but through the efforts of Rev. Mr. Jones the authorities decided to give it this year to Chisholm.

CHISHOLM CHURCH TO HAVE PROGRAM.

Chisholm, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The children of the Sunday school of the Methodist church will give an entertainment Sunday evening at the church consisting of sacred hymns, recitations, readings, solos, etc. in place of the Easter service program which was not carried out this year on account of the scarlet fever epidemic prevailing at that time.

The Sunday school program will take the place of the evening service at the church but the morning service will be held as usual and the male quartet will assist in the children's program in the evening.

Rev. Ralph C. Jones will occupy the pulpit in the morning as usual.

HIBBING MAY GET SPECIAL COURT TERM.

Hibbing, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The committee of the Hibbing Commercial club, recently appointed to take up the matter of securing special terms of the district court in Hibbing for the purpose of permitting applications for citizenship papers and perfecting citizenship, has received a letter from Congressman Clarence B. Miller promising his immediate attention to the matter.

Chisholm Joint Memorial.

Chisholm, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the I. O. O. F., the K. P. and the Eagles are planning on a joint memorial service May 11 in the Methodist church, where Rev. Ralph C. Jones will deliver the memorial address. A special musical program will be arranged and outside lodges will be welcomed.

FIND TWO DEAD BESIDE TRACKS

Two Lumberjacks Apparently Wind Up Spree Near Drummond, Minn.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The coroner has received word that the bodies of Andrew Lantz and Peter Diver were found this morning alongside the Iron Range tracks one mile north of Drummond, a station on the Iron Range, north of here. It is said they had not been struck by a train but had apparently been drinking heavily and had expired while walking along the track. Whether they died from alcoholism or were poisoned by drinking wood alcohol must be determined.

The men wore the garb of lumberjacks. Nothing additional can be learned here.

TO VISIT BIWABIK.

Geology Class of University of Wisconsin Coming Next Week.

Biwabik, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The geology class of the University of Wisconsin is expected here the first of the week, with their instructor, Prof. Leith, and will visit the mines in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McGivern were at Eveleth Friday evening attending a dancing party.

C. J. Grickley has resigned his position as division line man for the Iron Range railroad and left Thursday for New Richmond, Wis., to visit his parents for a few days, after which he will return to Two Harbors.

Don C. Anderson was in Duluth for several days this week.

Game Warden George E. Wood of Hibbing was here on Monday.

Floyd Hill is now employed by the Iron Range railroad as a passenger brakeman, running on the McKinley and Virginia passenger run.

E. K. Coe, county engineer, was in the city on Monday and Tuesday on business.

Alfred Hoel, vice president of the First National bank, was here from Gilbert Wednesday, attending to duties at the bank.

The city has received a very large number of trees which will be placed as soon as possible in the parkings in the residence parts of the city.

A number of Joe Shanka school friends tendered him a surprise party Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Weiner of Virginia were here the first of the week visiting at the home of Max Cohen.

O. B. Everett was at Tower Wednesday attending the funeral of his cousin, Clarence M. Everett, who died there following an attack of gangrenous appendicitis.

After Auto Speeders.

Hibbing, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is the last day of grace for the auto speed fiend in Hibbing. Frank Haben of the local police force was yesterday detailed as a special automobile officer by Chief McFayden and begins his duties today. His duty will be to see that the state law covering the operation of automobiles is strictly enforced.

RANGE TROLLEY GAMES TO START

First of Games of Range Ball Association to Begin Sunday.

Hibbing, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Baseball fans of the Mesaba range are tiptoes today in anticipation of the opening of the Mesaba Range Trolley league ball games tomorrow. If the weather is favorable it is expected the opening games will draw large crowds. The Chisholm team meets Hibbing at Hibbing, Gilbert plays Biwabik at Biwabik and Manager John Glode's Evelethians meet the Virginia Mohamis.

Judge Brady of Hibbing, president of the league, has forwarded to all the managers announcements of the opening of the league season with copies of the official schedules. Umpire Fraser will be the arbitrator in the Chisholm-Hibbing affair. Lyman will hold the indicator at Eveleth and Cartwright of Eveleth will have charge at Biwabik.

Chisholm Fans Expectant.

Chisholm, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local baseball fans are bewailing the present weather conditions for fear that they will be robbed of an opportunity to witness the game scheduled for Sunday at Hibbing between the Trolley league teams of Hibbing and Chisholm. This is the first game of the home team and so much interest has been displayed in the practice games that the fans are on tiptoes to see how the team is going to line up.

Special car service has been arranged so that if the weather permits the traffic between the two towns will be heavy. The old time baseball spirit is being revived and a big crowd is expected to journey to Hibbing for the game Sunday.

Biwabik Joins Trolley League.

Biwabik, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Biwabik decided this week to join the Range Trolley league and will play the first game tomorrow with Gilbert.

At the meeting this was decided on and $142 was raised. F. S. Colvin was chosen director in the Trolley league and the following were chosen as directors of the local league; F. B. Myers, N. B. Shank, H. G. Seeley, Max Glassner, Jr., and E. L. Weitzel.

B. E. Laschner was named assistant manager and treasurer, a place he held last year.

Biwabik intends to have a team that will be able to hold its own with the balance of the cities in the Trolley league.

FAIR

The weather man has been most unkind to Duluth people in the last twenty-four hours. Few people would object to rain at this season of the year, but when it is a cold, raw rain that makes outdoor walking unbearable and forces one to shake up the furnace to make the house inhabitable it is too much. Fair and warmer weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

Gray, damp weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:49 and it will set at 7:21 this evening, giving fourteen hours and thirty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Disturbances centered over Minnesota, Saskatchewan and New Mexico caused light to heavy rains over Alberta, Eastern Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Eastern Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas and Western Missouri during Friday or last night. Heavy rains fell at Sioux City and Omaha. Light to killing frosts occurred last night in South Dakota, Western Nebraska, Southeastern Montana and Idaho. Rather high temperatures are the rule in Ohio valley and Middle Atlantic states. Conditions favor mostly fair weather and a shift to westerly winds at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 3.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours, ending at 7 p. m., Sunday:

Upper Michigan—Showers and thunder storms tonight and Sunday; cooler Sunday.

Wisconsin—Unsettled with showers tonight or Sunday; not so warm in east and south portions tonight.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; cooler in southeast portion tonight.

Iowa—Showers tonight or Sunday, slightly cooler in east portion tonight.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Sunday; warmer in east portion tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Sunday; frost tonight with cooler in north and east portion.

Upper Lakes—Moderate to brisk southerly winds with squalls on Michigan and Huron and moderate variable winds on Superior. Unsettled weather tonight and Sunday with probably showers and thunder storms.

NASHWAUK WILL BE CLEANED UP

All Refuse and Other Insanitary Matter Is Ordered Removed.

Nashwauk, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village board of health posted notices ordering all citizens to thoroughly clean their yards, vaults and cesspools, also all sheds or barns containing manure and to remove all other materials offensive to the public health on or before May 10. The regular May sanitary inspection provided by law will be made at that time.

John Dyson, wire chief for the Mesaba Telephone company at Hibbing, will have a crew of men here next week making numerous extensions to the Nashwauk exchange. Mr. McLaughlin of Hibbing will have charge of the crew and will spend the next two weeks in this vicinity in extension work for the company. The Lerch Bros. laboratory at the Hawkins mine and the Quinn mine office will both be equipped with telephone service.

O. S. Cummins, who for the past year has been employed with the Hawkins Mining company, as electrician, left Thursday morning for Virginia to remain permanently.

Forest fires raging in this vicinity caused considerable damage to timber and at times threatened destruction to villages within its path. A. McWilliams, a well known timber man of this section, lost a large quantity of ties, lagging, etc. near Calumet, by the fires.

Chief Electrician Arrives.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sypole of Chicago have arrived here and have taken rooms at the De Petro hotel. Mr. Sypole is chief electrician for the Wisconsin Steel company and will be here the greater part of the summer installing a transmission line from the concentrating plant at O'Brien lake to the Hawkins mine, a distance of two miles. A new electric pump, which is undoubtedly the first of its kind on the Mesaba range, to furnish electric current for the mining companies, shops and works.

Phillip Griffin, formerly of this village, arrived from Virginia the fore part of the week, and has accepted a position with the Hawkins Mining company.

H. T. La Fitte, auditor for the Hawkins Mining company, transacted business at Duluth a few days this week, returning Monday evening.

Luke Haley of Hibbing arrived here the fore part of the week and has accepted a position with the Mississippi Land company.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thomas and children left Saturday for Aurora, where they will remain for the summer. Mr. Thomas will be a shovel runner at one of the mines at that place. Mrs. Riley, mother of Mrs. Edward Thomas, accompanied them to Aurora.

Mrs. Warren Clough returned Saturday evening from Superior, Wis., where she was called to attend the funeral of a relative.

Miss Cecille Clarity enjoyed a few weeks' visit with her mother here, who arrived from Minneapolis.

The village has a crew of men at work removing the boxes from all the hydrants and each hydrant is being thoroughly tested with the full water pressure.

Mrs. Helmer of Superior was here the fore part of the week visiting her sister, Mrs. T. R. Dodson.

ORE DOCKMEN QUIT.

Night Force at Two Harbors Docks Want More Pay.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The night laborers at the Iron Range docks went on a strike last night because the same ratio in pay was not given them when the company granted a voluntary raise of pay to the ore dock laborers. The night crew at present only numbers about forty men.

The company raised the day laborers from $2 to $2.25 and the night laborers from $2.25 to $2.40. The night men thought that if the day men were to paid 25 cents a day more that they had ought to be entitled to the same ratio.

According to dock officials no change in the present rate will be effected and the night work will be suspended until the night men decide to go back to work. The strike is not considered very serious and it is not expected that it will affect the ore business at this port very seriously.

Chisholm Is Cleaning Up.

Chisholm, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people are generally observing the orders of Health Officer Schmidt to clean their premises and, despite the weather, much work has been done along those lines. The Art and Study club asks that a day be set aside to assure a general clean-up. The 2,000 trees ordered haxe arrived and are being planted.

Chisholm Free Delivery.

Chisholm, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Postoffice Inspector Smith was here this week conferring with Postmaster Train about putting in free delivery. He was pleased with the efforts made to number houses and otherwise prepare for the service, which is assured, but the date is not decided.

Three deliveries are planned: 8 a. m., 10 a. m. and 1 p. m., these being the hours when the carriers will leave the postoffice on their routes. The business men are instructing the people to co-operate and give all the assistance possible and with the large percentage of foreign population this feature is an important one.

Hibbing Church Announcement.

Hibbing, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. E. W. Elayer, pastor of the Mahoning Street M. E. church, announces the following for Sunday:

Class meeting, 9:30 a. m.; preaching, 10:30 a. m.; subject-text, Gen. xiii, 12: "Abraham Dwelt in the Land of Canaan, and Lot Dwelt in the Cities of the Plain, and Pitched His Tent Toward Sodom." The following anthems will be rendered: "Exalt His Name Together" (Heyser), choir; soprano Obligato Salo and chorus, "No One is Like Unto Thee, O Lord" (Von Weber), Miss La Due and choir. Sunday school at noon; Junior league, 2:30 p. m.; Epworth league, 6:30 p. m.; preaching, 7:30 p. m.; subject-text, Gen. xii., 17: "Escape for thy life; look not behind thee, neither stay thou in all the plain; escape to the mountain, lest thou be consumed." Music by the male chorus.

Hibbing, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a special meeting of the Hibbing school board last night, Robert Workman, who has been commissioned by the board to paint a picture for the study hall of the new Lincoln high school, presented a new study of his work for the inspection of the board. The completed picture will be 6 by 30 feet. It is designed to indicate the various processes of iron mining and will be done in three parts.

Wring Going Into Real Estate.

Hibbing, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ex-Chief of Police Peter Wring will open a real estate office in Hibbing and will have rooms in the Rood block on Third avenue. Mr. Wring has secured the agency for the town lots in Sunnyside addition to Alice.

DINGWALL NOT KILLED BY THE MEXICANS

American Not Even Hurt, It Is Found—Election on Oct. 26.

Mexico City, May 3.—Rebels did not kill William B. Dingwall, an American citizen, at Matepehela in San Louis Potosi, as reported on April 24. Mr. Dingwall, owner of a foundry and a director of the Santa Maria de la Paz Mining company, was not even injured during the fighting.

One hundred and twenty persons were killed by the dynamiting of a train by Zapatistas near La Cascada in the state of Morelos, Thursday, according to information received here. There was a military escort aboard the train, all of the members of which are said to have been killed.

Election Oct. 26.

Washington, May 3.—Official reports of the shelling of Empalme by Federal gunboats yesterday make no mention of casualties among Americans. Carranzistas in Ciudad Porfirio Diaz report a battle at Espinoza near Manclova, but give no details.

The election for president of Mexico will be conducted Oct. 26 by the Huerta government, according to advices of the Mexican embassy here. The report said the date was agreed upon at a conference between Provisional President Huerta, Gen. Felix Diaz, the cabinet and representatives of all parties in both houses of congress. Gen. Diaz is now expected to be the leading candidate for the presidency. Many people believe, however, that Gen. Huerta also will enter the race, and it is suggested that Francisco I. De La Barra, minister of foreign affairs in the provisional government, also may be a candidate.

Probably no adherent of the Liberal party, of which the late President Madero was the leader, will enter the race unless, in the meantime, peace has been completely restored. In that event Dr. Emilio Gomez, who claimed to have been nominated at the general convention at San Luis Potosi a year ago, may become a candidate. Governor Carranza, leader of the present rebellion in Northern Mexico, is also a presidential possibility.

Steamer Aground.

Victoria, B. C., May 3.—Word was received here that the Canadian Pacific steamer Tees had run aground at Franklin creek, Alborni canal. The vessel is reported as being in no immediate danger.

GREELEY AND THE CRULLERS.

Another Story of the Famous Editor's Absent Mindedness.

From the Youth's Companion: Several of the anecdotes that our late ambassador to England, Whitelaw Reid, used to relate of Horace Greely, his old chief on the Tribune, have recently been going the rounds of the press. Most of them refer to his peculiarities in the office; a few to those he displayed in company, especially at table, where his absent-mindedness and his queer theories combined to produce unexpected results.

Once, when he was to take supper with a daughter of Nathaniel Willis she arranged the meal especially to suit his ideas. It was simple, and there were plenty of the graham things that he advocated so ardently. But lest her own family should rebel, there were also hot rolls upon the table. Mr. Greeley's eye fastened upon them at once, and ignoring the graham gems conveniently at hand, he reached for a hot roll—and then for another. As he began on a third, his hostess remarked that she was delighted to see that he liked her rolls, but that she had thought he did not eat such things.

"Fanny, do you always practice what you preach?" was the unperturbed rejoinder; and he made his entire meal off the delicious but indigestible rolls that his own decree had banished from the Greeley home—leaving a scant few for his table companions, who had to eke out their supper with the undesired gems.

But if he was funny when he knew what he ate, he was funnier when he did not—as in the famous episode of the crullers, which occurred at the table of his boarding house. When the crullers were passed to him, he accepted the entire basket and absently placed it in his lap as he continued his discourse. Presently, vaguely aware of something there, his hand wandered downward and encountered a cruller. This he mechanically grasped and raised to his mouth. Quite unaware of what he was doing, he ate and talked and ate, cruller after cruller disappeared until the basket was empty. The company were convulsed with suppressed merriment; one or two had to leave the table, to have their laugh out in the hall.

But the kind landlady, distressed on account of possible results, remembered having heard that the best antidote to indigestion was cheese. Quietly removing the empty cake basket from Mr. Greely's lap, she put in its place a plate of cheese, trusting to Providence that his habituated hand would continue its action. It did. His talk flowed on, but his fingers found the cheese, and it, too, disappeared to the last crumb.

"Those who saw the sight," it is declared, "were firm in the belief that Mr. Greeley did not know he had eaten anything last evening."

DULUTH'S FARM LAND MEN OFFER THEIR BEST BARGAINS ON EASY TERMS

WHY YOU SHOULD BUY LAND AT PORT WING, WIS., THE HEART OF THE FROST-PROOF BELT OF THE BAYFIELD PENINSULA.

Because the government report shows they have 153 growing days between killing frosts.

Because they can and do raise as fine apples and small fruits as are raised in the United States.

Because there is no better grass and dairy country in the United States.

Because the soil is a rich clay loam (not Douglas county red clay).

Because there are no stones.

Because they have a $30,000 grade school and come with covered rigs winter and summer to take your children to school and bring them home again.

Because they have a creamery.

Because they have cheap lumber and a sawmill.

Because there is plenty of employment for all who are willing to work.

Because the farmers there are all happy and contented and making money and don't want to sell.

Because the trout fishing and hunting are the best.

Because we will sell you selected land on very easy terms in lots of 10 acres and up.

Because we wish to show you this land and let you talk with the farmers and fruit-growers themselves.

We make weekly trips to Port Wing on the Booth line boats or by rail via Iron River.

Call and arrange with us for a trip. Do not delay. Land in this section is advancing rapidly. Send for printed matter.

The Soo line has bought dock property at Port Wing and has made three surveys for a railway to run through Port Wing to Duluth.

If you will call at our office, we can refer you to a number of prominent Duluth people who have bought land and are developing farms in this section.

Port Wing is 35 miles from Duluth and Superior, which are perhaps the best markets in the United States for fruit and produce.

We have sixteen 10-acre tracts on a good automobile road, three miles from the town of Port Wing, that we will contract to clear for $20 an acre, that we can sell on very easy terms—$25 down and $10 per month.

SOME BARGAINS NEAR WOODLAND.

5 acres, with good 4-room house and good chicken coop; good well; on automobile road. Price $1,100; $400 cash and $15 per month, buys this place; 1¾ miles from car line.

5 acres, all cleared; large barn, chicken house 100 feet long, 6-room house; spring creek cuts corner of land; good well and pump; 1¼ miles from Woodland car line; $600 cash, balance to suit. Price $2,500.

40 acres on good automobile road, 9 miles from Duluth; new house built last year which cost $1,300; roothouse and barn; 10 acres partly cleared; a snap at $2,600; your own terms. Owner sick and must leave.

We have a number of other 5-acre tracts of raw land and improved land near car line. Let us call and get you with our automobile and show you what we have.

ACRE TRACTS.

Why go 8 and 10 miles out of town to buy your acre tract, when you can get better tracts only 3 miles from the center of town, and only about 8 blocks from car line, school, stores and churches, on improved and graded streets? Land is high, dry, level, good rich soil, and very easily cleared; prices $175 to $250, a small payment down, balance on very easy terms (no interest). Let us show you these choice tracts; we have the automobile ready; it will only take an hour of your time.

TEN-ACRE TRACTS.

10-acre tracts only 4 miles from courthouse, on Pike Lake road, only 1¼ miles from car line. This is the finest land that can be found around Duluth; if you don't believe it, come and we will show you. Price $125 per acre; easy terms. Land only a quarter of a mile from this is selling at $200 to $300 per acre. Here is a chance to double your money in a couple of years.

INVESTMENT PROPOSITION.

320 acres, exceptionally well located for 5 and 10-acre tract proposition, close in, adjoining railroad station, and in a locality that is developing very fast. Your investigation will prove our assertion as to this fact. Price only $40 per acre.

CELERY LAND.

We have a few 5-acre tracts especially adapted to celery raising. Land is level, easily drained, rich black loam soil, on good road. We are offering these for a few days at $275 per tract; don't fail to see these; very easy terms.

20-ACRE TRACT.

20-acre partly improved farm, 5 miles from Lester park; good roads, house, barn, horse, buggy, chickens, 5 pigs, 25 cords of wood; creek through land; 1½ miles to school; a fine opportunity for some one who wants to start farming now. Price $1,700, $1,000 cash.

20-ACRE TRACT.

40-ACRE TRACTS.

40 acres fine level land; good soil, no stones; only 1¾ miles from Adolf, 9 miles from Duluth; good roads; quarter mile to school. Price $1,000; $350 cash, balance to suit purchaser.

40 acres one mile from town, easily cleared; good soil. Price $600; terms to suit.

80 ACRES.

80 acres of fine level land, part of which is good open hay meadow, 1 mile from station, 3 miles to large town; good roads and schools; only $12 per acre; adjoining land held at $20 per acre; easy terms.

LAKE FRONT.

40 acres on a beautiful lake, near Albern, Minn. Good hunting and fishing. Look this up.

IMPROVED FARM.

160 acres in Itasca county; 20 acres cleared; house and barn, good water, all fenced; lot of valuable timber; near railroad, school on land; nice level land, no rock; will give quarter mineral right with land. Price $25 per acre; $1,000 cash, balance easy terms.

REAL ESTATE, FARM AND MINERAL LANDS.

OFFICE:
200 FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

I am a new comer in the real estate field in Duluth, but my connections and associations on the Cuyuna range have enabled me to secure the best listing of farm and mineral lands that it is possible to get.

I HAVE

10,000 ACRES IN CROW WING COUNTY;
15,000 ACRES IN AITKIN;
20,000 ACRES IN CASS, and
800 ACRES OF THE CHOICEST UNDEVELOPED MINERAL LANDS FOR LEASE NEAR THE BONANZA IRON MOUNTAIN MINE.

The Cuyuna range country is the coming territory in Minnesota. It is booming now, and will boom more when railroad extensions now being made are completed. There will be a lot of money made there in the next five years. Let me get you in early and get you in right. I know the range as few men in Minnesota do.

SUMMER RESORT PROPERTY.

I have also a choice summer cottage on the west shore of Pelican lake, with rowboats, launches, a good sand beach and the best black bass fishing in Minnesota. Can be bought very cheap and on easy terms.

POULTRY AND EGGS.

YOUR EGGS, CHICKS AND BREEDING STOCK WANTED.

Hundreds of people in Duluth and vicinity who are interested in poultry raising will buy eggs, chicks, breeding stock, incubators and feed during the present season. Somebody among this vast multitude wants what you have for sale. You can reach these buyers by inserting an ad in these "want" ad columns.

The Duluth Herald has the greatest circulation of any newspaper in Minnesota, outside of the Twin Cities.

RATES ARE LOWEST.

The charges for classified advertising in The Duluth Herald are less per thousand circulation than those of any other newspaper in Minnesota.

A "want" ad man will be pleased to call on you and give estimates as to how much space your ad should occupy and the cost.

FOR SALE.
"FAULTLESS" HOUDANS.

This strain has been egg-bred from trapnest records since April, 1890. I have bred them 21 years for great layers and 12 years for large-size chalk-white eggs. These fowls are extremely hardy, have neither comb nor wattle to freeze, and are the best all-winter layers in open-front coops. "Faultless" strain Houdans have won every blue ribbon at New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia shows for past six years. Eggs and stock sold on honor. Send 10 cents for the largest illustrated poultry catalogue ever issued; it tells you how to breed these fowls, which average 250 eggs a year apiece; it tells you how to net $3,000 a year from 100 hens. SENATORS WILL HOLD NO PUBLIC HEARINGS ON THE TARIFF BILL

Senator Simmons Makes Announcement at Washington.

Plan May Be Fought By the Republican Senators.

House Will Discuss the Income Tax Feature Tuesday.

Washington, May 5.—No public hearings on the tariff revision bill are to be held by the senate finance committee, according to Senator Simmons, its chairman. "There will be no public hearings," he said today. "That question has been settled."

That determination is expected to speed up consideration of the bill after it gets to the senate, probably Thursday. Senator Simmons said today that senators most interested in the schedules were content to file briefs setting forth their views and recommendations.

It is the present views of the finance committee chairman that the committee will have the bill under consideration about ten days or two weeks at most. Following that two weeks will be given senators to prepare for debate on the floor. The bill is expected to be reported to the senate about June 1 at the latest.

Republican leaders, it is reported, are planning to move, when the bill comes from the house, to refer it to

WILSON WANTS NEW CURRENCY LAW EARLY

Hopes Congress May Act Before Extra Session Is Over.

Washington, May 5.—President Wilson again today expressed the hope that members of congress would come to an early agreement on the details of currency legislation so that a bill could be passed before adjournment of the special session.

The president told his callers he expected the currency committees of the house and senate to get together to formulate a measure, and his own views would be transmitted through whatever measures were finally agreed upon by them. The president has no message in contemplation on the subject as yet, but when a common agreement is in sight among the currency advocates, he will call the attention of congress in a brief message to the necessity of prompt action.

The president hopes that if congress takes up the currency question at the extra session it will do so with expedition and get through a bill not later than August. He is planning to visit the Panama canal either in July or August.

HARVESTER TRUST HEARING IN ST. PAUL

Robert S. Taylor Conducts Inquiry Into the Alleged Trust.

St. Paul, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The hearing of the government's anti-trust suit against the International Harvester company was begun here today before Special Examiner Robert S. Taylor of Duluth and is expected to continue several weeks. More than 400 witnesses from North and South Dakota and Minnesota will testify at the St. Paul hearing, which is a continuation of those already held in several other cities.

Attorneys for both sides arrived here last night from Sioux Falls, S. D., where nearly 100 witnesses were examined.

ARRESTED FOR FISHING FOR TROUT HE RAISED

Rich Wisconsin Lawyer Is in Trouble With Game Warden.

Cashton, Wis., May 5.—Charles Culver, lawyer and captalist, is in trouble with the state authorities because he is so fond of fishing that he constructed a private pond on his property, stocked it at his own expense and has been taking trout from it whenever his fancy moved him.

On his sport yesterday swooped down Game Warden Gautsch of La Crosse, put Culver under arrest on a charge of fishing out of season and took him to the county seat at Sparta for trial. There Culver pleaded not guilty today, and promises, if defeated in the lower courts, to take the matter to the supreme court of the state.

WATCHMAN DEAD; CLOTHES BURNED.

Chicago, May 5.—Policemen are investigating the death of W. H. Granman, 71 years old, a watchman employed by the Chicago Mill & Lumber company, who was found today in front of the company's plant with his clothes burned from his body and his lantern demolished.

The police believe that he either was the victim of robbers or that he accidentally fell downstairs and his clothing ignited from oil in the lantern.

WORKS FLAYS ROCKEFELLER

California Senator Denounces $100,000,000 Foundation Proposal.

Says Oil Magnate Won Wealth By Extortion, Oppression and Crime.

Washington, May 5.—Efforts in congress to incorporate the $100,000,000 Rockefeller foundation, were scored today by Senator John D. Works, Republican of California, who declared them a "proposal to 'farm out' to John D. Rockefeller and his associates the right and power to educate the people of the country with money accumulated by criminal means."

Senator Works' statement was made in connection with a speech he delivered in the senate today on trusts and combinations, the existence of which he blamed to the high protective tariff policy.

"The extent to which this may be carried out is practically unlimited. The corporations and institutions of learning which may be established throughout the country in the hands of people who will be subservient to the interests and views of Mr. Rockefeller and his associates are without number or limitation," said the senator.

Gold That Should Blister.

"We do not want our children to be taught the ways nor the methods of John D. Rockefeller or his kind, nor to be generous with ill-gotten gains.

PLAN TO CELEBRATE TREATY OF GHENT

Delegates to International Conference Welcomed at New York.

New York, May 5.—Delegates to the conference which is arranging for the centenary of the Treaty of Ghent, signalizing a hundred years of peace among English-speaking peoples, journeyed from their hotels to the city hall today to receive the city's formal welcome. The program included addresses by Mayor Gaynor, Lord Weardale, head of the British delegation, Alton B. Parker and others.

Although the centenary of the Treaty of Ghent will not be reached until Dec. 24, 1914, it is the purpose of the conferees to make elaborate plans include ceremonies at Ghent and in churches and schools and by legislative bodies and other organizations throughout the English-speaking world. Plans also are to be made for the erection of various monuments commemorative of the event.

Aside from the work of the visiting delegates there are to be many social gatherings in their honor during the week, the chief of which will be a banquet Friday night, at which Joseph H. Choate will preside. On Thursday the delegates will be entertained at luncheon by Col. Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill, and by Andrew Carnegie at a garden party. Leaving New York, the delegates will be the guests of the American committee in Boston, Washington, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, Niagara Falls and Buffalo.

NO CLUE FOUND IN MURDER CASE.

Atlanta, Ga., May 5.—Despite diligent efforts to establish the identity of the slayer of 14-year-old Mary Phagan, whose body was found in the basement of the National Pencil company's factory, police and detectives today were apparently as far as ever from solving the mystery.

The third session of the coroner's inquest was set for today. More than 200 employes of the company, many of them girls, had been summoned for the inquest.

SUFFRAGETTE CASES HEARD

Prosecuting Counsel Denounces Mrs. Drummond and the Pankhursts.

Asks That All Leaders Arrested Be Held for Trial.

London, May 5.—Great interest was taken in the police court proceedings against the suffragette leaders, held on charges of conspiracy under the malicious damage act, which were resumed at Bow street today.

Archibald Bodkin, the prosecuting counsel for the treasury, in opening the case described the law of conspiracy and said the defendants had been constantly meeting together. He referred to "General" Mrs. Drummond as a "violent and unscrupulous woman." He said Clayton, the chemist, in whose possession were found documents describing a plan of campaign for burning buildings in London, had put his brains at the disposal of the women for carrying out crimes and producing what their own paper described as a "reign of terror in London."

From the comfortable seclusion of Paris, Mr. Bodkin added, Miss Christabel Pankhurst had sent an article every week to the suffragette paper, either commending what had happened during the preceding week or inciting to further acts of militancy.

Obey Mrs. Pankhurst.

In illustrating the control exercised by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst over the "wild women," Mr. Bodkin called attention to her declaration of a truce while parliament was discussing the government's franchise bill. At a word from her, he said, militancy stopped, only to be resumed at her command

SHOOT AT FUGITIVE IN CHICAGO STREETS

Detectives in Automobile Run Down Smasher of Bank Window.

Chicago, May 5.—Standing on the running board of a speeding automobile, two detectives fired several shots today in pursuit of Edward Warner, 29 years old, who had thrown a padded brick through a window of the Metropolitan Loan bank in South Halsted street. Another detective on foot fired five shots at the fugitive, who finally was overtaken after a chase of two blocks.

The detectives said they found Warner trying to crawl through the window he had shattered. One of the detectives seized the man and pulled him out, but Warner slipped through his captor's legs and ran. The police summoned a passing automobile and the exciting chase followed.

PASADENA NOW COMMISSION CITY.

Pasadena, Cal., May 5.—The commission form of government became effective today, marking the retirement of Mayor Thum, for years Pasadena's millionaire executive.

Soon after his election, Mayor Thum employed an expert accountant as his assistant, to whom he turned over his salary of $1,500 a year. He hired other experts at his own expense during his incumbency. Throughout his term Mayor Thum devoted his entire time to the city's business.

HUERTA WILL CRUSH REVOLT

Will Adopt Offensive Measures Before Week Is Over.

Dr. Jordan Says Outside Interests Are Financing Rebellion.

Mexico City, May 5.—Assurances have been given at the national palace that before the end of the week the defensive attitude thus far maintained by the government will be abandoned, and that within thirty days anything having the appearance of a rebel organization will be broken up. It was admitted that there would remain the task of running down isolated bands.

President Huerta and the war minister, Gen. Mondragon, as well as their counsellors seemed confident that the forces of Venustiano Carranza, the rebel governor of Coahuila, and the rebel forces in Sonora will be rendered practically harmless.

Gen. Maas, with 700 recruits strongly armed, is on his way to Mazatlan and probably will proceed to Guyamas.

Mutineers Solicited.

El Paso, Tex., May 5.—Mutinous Federal troops which on Saturday drove their commander, Gen. Jose Inez Salazar and his followers from Old Casas Grandes, Mex., have been urged to accept formally the Constitutionalist revolution. If they do, this practically will place the revolutionists in control of the territory along the Mexico Northern railroad south of Juarez.

So far the mutineers, who number 250, merely have displayed resentment because their leader ordered them to Chihuahua city on instructions from Gen. Antonio Rabago, but insurgent agents here believe they soon will accept the revolutionary plan.

Priest Will Lead Troops.

Father Felix Barranda, parish priest of Guerrero, Chihuahua, is to lead a group of federal troops in the campaign against the Constitutionalistas of Northern Mexico. As Hidalgo, the Mexican priest-patriot of a

WOMAN MUST GIVE UP MILLIONAIRE'S GIFT

Must Return Forty Thousand She "Obtained By Spook Influences."

Washington, May 5.—L[illegible] B Cramer, a state department [illegible] with having used "spook influences" upon Fenton J. Hurd, a Greenwich, Conn., millionaire, to obtain $40,000, will have to return the money to his estate.

Mrs. Cramer admitted having obtained $24,000 "because Hurd was grateful for her care of him," and a lower court left her in possession of the money. The court of appeals today reversed that decision. The next step in the proceedings, which has been a long one, will be to locate the money, said to be tied up in securities.

Hurd was declared incompetent by a Connecticut court.

CHEMICAL PLANT AT BUFFALO BURNS.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 5.—The plant of the American Agricultural Chemical company was totally destroyed by fire today. The loss is half a million dollars.

COPY OF BILL WIRED WILSON

President Sees California Act Now Awaiting Governor's Signature.

Japan's Formal Protest Will Be Made After Bryan's Return.

Washington, May 5.—President Wilson received today by telegraph a copy of the alien land bill passed by the California legislature, now awaiting Governor Johnson's signature.

He let it be known the Federal administration would take no further step until Secretary Bryan returns Thursday with the first-hand information.

Mr. Wilson told his callers that he had not yet received the formal protest of Japan, and intimated that before May 13, the last day for Governor Johnson to sign the bill, some expressions might be expected as to whether it would be in contravention of the treaty with Japan.

In the absence of instructions to the contrary, Ambassador Chinda will not present Japan's formal protest until after Secretary Bryan returns. In the meantime the embassy will have opportunity to acquaint the Tokio foreign office of the exact terms of the bill and of conditions in California and in Washington.

Hold Uncle Sam Responsible.

San Francisco, Cal., May 5.—A cablegram from Tokio to the Japanese-American, a Japanese daily paper of this city, states that the Japanese government has cabled instructions to Baron Chinda, Japanese ambassador at Washington, to make formal protest against the alien bill enacted by the California legislature and now awaiting Governor Johnson's signature. The message adds that the position taken by the Japanese government is that the United States government is responsible for the finding of a satisfactory solution of the conditions in California.

The Tokio correspondent of the Japanese New World, a morning paper of this city, cabled his paper that comment in official circles and among the newspapers indicates a desire that the Japanese government at once seek a new treaty with the United States, wherein the questions of land ownership and the like could be specifically settled. The correspondent added that

CHICAGO BEGINS ITS ANNUAL CLEANING UP

Boy Scouts and Other Organizations Are Helping in the Task.

Chicago, May 5.—Chicago today began its annual spring cleaning, which will continue for a week in response to a proclamation issued by Mayor Harrison. Thousands of volunteer workers in each of the thirty-five wards will assist the city authorities in the work, under the direction of the department of health. Every street, alley and vacant lot will be cleaned.

The ordinance prohibiting the scattering of waste paper and refuse will be strictly enforced. Firemen will assist in the disposal of paper and rubbish by superintending the burning of material collected by Sunday school pupils, Boy Scouts, public school children and many other organizations.

Members of women's clubs detailed for the various wards will make tours of inspection every day, going into alleys and backyards and asking the people to clean up their premises.

MONTENEGRO PLACES SCUTARI AT DISPOSAL OF EUROPEAN POWERS

Imposes No Conditions on Their Decision as to the City.

Action Relieves Tension in All Nations and in Markets.

Follows Coercive Measures Adopted By Strong Nations.

London, May 5.—Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, announced at today's meeting of the ambassadors that Montenegro had unconditionally placed the question of Scutari in the hands of the European powers.

The decision reached by King Nicholas at the last moment had the effect of relieving immediately the tension in European politics. It caused unbounded satisfaction to diplomats and the general public. The stock exchange responded at once.

It is generally hoped that this action of Montenegro will do away with all necessity for military incursions into Albania, such as Austria and Italy were contemplating against Essaad Pasha, Djavid Pasha and other independent leaders.

Montenegro Gives Up.

Cettinje, Montenegro, May 5.—King Nicholas of Montenegro decided today to evacuate the fortress of Scutari in response to the demand of the European powers.

When he took possession of Scutari on April 23, after a six months' siege

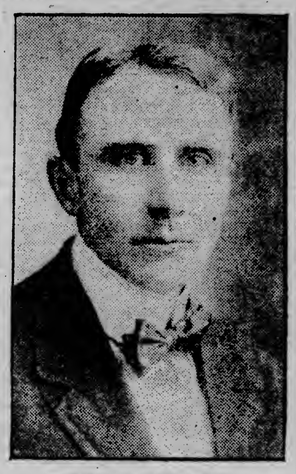
"WATCHDOG" [illegible] THE NEW YORK TREASURY



JOHN H. DELANEY.

Albany, N. Y., May 5.—Finding that the state's money was being wasted, Governor Sulzer decided to put a watchdog over it and he appointed John H. Delaney to be commissioner of economy and efficiency of the state of New York. Mr. Delaney is a Brooklyn man. He will draw a salary of $12,000 a year for five years.

GOMPERS IS IN CONTEMPT

Sentences of All Three Labor Leaders Modified on Appeal.

Mitchell and Morrison Fined But Not Given Jail Terms.

Washington, May 5.—The contempt of court judgments upon Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison and John Mitchell, officials of the American Federation of Labor, were sustained today by the court of appeals for the District of Columbia, which, however, revised the sentences to give Gompers thirty days' imprisonment, and fined Mitchell and Morrison $500 each and with no jail term.

The chief justice of the court, dissenting, held that the entire judgment should be reversed.

The lower court gave Gompers one year, Mitchell nine months, and Morrison six months without option of fine. All were convicted of violating a court injunction in the noted Bucks Stove & Range case.

May Appeal Case.

An appeal from the decision today will be taken to the supreme court of the United States if attorneys for the labor leaders can find ground upon which to ask the highest court to review the judgment. On a previous appeal to the supreme court the judgment was dismissed and the contempt proceedings were brought all over again.

In the previous action the decision of the court below holding the men in contempt was unanimous. The dissenting opinion of the chief justice today probably will present one avenue of further appeal.

The case has been a hard fought one and attracted wide attention because of the prominence of the men involved. The contempt was alleged to have been the publication of the name of the Bucks Stove & Range company in a so-called "boycott list" in the American Federation of Labor's official magazine, after it had been forbidden by the court.

WILL NOT ARREST MAYOR GAYNOR.

New York, May 5.—A decision was handed down by Magistrate Kernochan today denying the application made by counsel for Ralph Pulitzer for a warrant for the arrest of Mayor Gaynor on a charge of criminal libel. The alleged libel was committed by the mayor in a speech in Brooklyn on Feb. 14 last.

Kern Stands Pat.

Washington, May 5.—After reading a statement by Governor Hatfield of West Virginia denying allegations of peonage and a reign of terror in the Paint Creek and Cabin Creek coal districts, Senator Kern today reiterated his intention to press his resolution for a Federal inquiry into the West Virginia coal field situation.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

President Wilson submitted nominations for confirmation.

Chairman Simmons of finance committee announced no public hearing on tariff bill would be held.

HOUSE.

Met at 11 a. m., and resumed reading of tariff bill for amendment under five-minute debate rule.

Chief of engineers recommended "Buttermilk channel," New York harbor, be made thirty-five feet deep and 1,000 feet wide.

LABOR UNIONS WILL RAISE DARROW FUND

Lawyer Is Reported Penniless as Result of Two Trials.

Chicago, May 5.—Officers of the Chicago Federation of Labor today began raising funds for the financial aid of Clarence Darrow, the attorney who defended the McNamara brothers at Los Angeles and who soon will face his third trial for bribery in the California city. The attorneys friends declare he is penniless as a result of his two trials.

At yesterday's meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor, Attorney Darrow appeared unexpectedly and was greeted enthusiastically. He was sitting in the rear of the hall when he was recognized, and despite his protests he was induced to go to the platform and speak. In his remarks the attorney avoided reference to himself or the trouble in which he had become involved.

Later the presiding officer read a communication signed by Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, and officials representing every union mine-working organization in the country, reciting the details of Darrow's two trials for alleged bribery, which, it was said, had exhausted the lawyer's personal resources and left him penniless. The organization immediately voted to raise funds for his assistance.

ALL ENGLISH TRIALS MUST BE IN PUBLIC

House of Lords Delivers Judgment Ending Hearings "in Camera."

London, May 5.—An end was put today to the possibility of secret proceedings in divorce and other suits in the United Kingdom by a judgment delivered by the house of lords, sitting as the highest court of appeals.

The divorce court had adjudged a Mrs. Scott guilty of contempt of court in circulating among her friends the report of a case heard "in camera" in which she had been accused of infidelity, but had been vindicated. The lord chancellor's opinion, in which the other law lords concurred, reverses the judgment for contempt of court. The lord chancellor declares:

"Every court of justice in the land is open to every subject of the king, and the court has no power to sit otherwise than with open doors."

ALPHONSO'S VISIT VERY SIGNIFICANT

Spain May Join in the Triple Entente, It Is Said.

Paris, May 5.—The approaching visit to the French capital of King Alphonso of Spain is regarded as of considerable significance for Europe. It is said that the visit may mean the entrance of Spain into the friendly understanding known as the "triple entente" between France, Great Britain and Russia. Alphonso will arrive here on Wednesday.

The French government is making elaborate preparations for the reception of the king. The rooms which he is to occupy at the Palais d'Orsay have been decorated with objects of art, and the ambassadors' hall, where he will hold a reception, has been hung with Gobelins tapestry from Louis XIV's favorite sitting room at Versailles palace.

After a stay of two days, crowded with innumerable entertainments, the king will leave on Friday, witnessing a review of military airmen and aeroplanes just before his departure.

PIONEER OF DULUTH DIES

Mrs. Anjeleque Danielson Was Born Near Duluth in 1839.

Was on Vermilion Range in Early Days of Iron Mining.

Mrs. Anjeleque Danielson, 74 years old, born on the Fond du Lac reservation in 1839, and at the time of her death probably the oldest person born at the Head of the Lakes, died Sunday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary M. Drew, 2004 West Superior street, following an illness of but a few days.

Mrs. Danielson was the widow of the late George W. Danielson, a veteran of the Civil war, who saw service with the Twenty-seventh Michigan Volunteers. Until her recent illness she was very active in spite of her advancing years.

The early history of Mrs. Danielson is that of the pioneer. Mr. and Mrs. Danielson held the distinction of being the second couple married in Superior, Wis., and following their wedding resided for a brief period at Ontonagon, Mich. At the beginning of the Civil war they were residing in Hancock, Mich., and from there Mr. Danielson enlisted in the army.

Following the close of the war they moved to Superior and later to the Vermilion range, and were living there when ore was first discovered by prospectors. Mrs. Danielson baked bread for some of the early successful prospectors on the range. Mr. Danielson helped to construct the first house built in Duluth.

Mrs. Danielson is survived by a brother and seven children. The brother is Joseph Laveirg of Superior. The children are Eugene C., J. A., and C. L. Danielson, Mrs. Drew, and Mrs. Anna McCoy of Duluth; Mrs. Josie Bell of Chicago, and P. B. Danielson of Chicago.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from the St. Jean Baptiste Catholic church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. Interment will be made in Calvary cemetery. Members of the Old Settlers' association will attend the funeral.

MISSIONARY SPEAKS.

Says Living Conditions in China Are Undergoing Change.

Miss Alice Brethorst, a returned missionary from China, spoke last night at the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, on the work of missionary societies in the Orient. Miss Brethorst said that she was the only missionary located in a province with a population of 2,500,000.

The speaker said that living conditions were fast undergoing a change since the new republican form of government had taken charge of affairs. The people were becoming educated to the change and felt freer than under the old despotic rule.

Miss Brethorst will give a number of addresses before church societies of the city this week.

WILL BEGIN WORK ON NEW HOTEL THIS WEEK

Construction work on the new hotel to be built by the Duluth Brewing & Malting company at Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, will commence this week. The contract was let Saturday to Charles Danielson, who will put a crew of men at work making the excavation for the building.

The building will be three stories high. The first floor will be arranged for a hotel lobby, safe and dining rooms and four other stores. The second and third floors will be arranged for 123 guest rooms each.

It is estimated that the building will cost about $80,000. The contract awarded to Mr. Danielson does not include the plumbing and heating or electric wiring. J. J. Wangenstein is the architect.

"Birthday" Party.

The Ladies' Society of the St. Clement's Catholic church, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, will entertain Wednesday evening in the church parlors at a "birthday" party. A program of music and readings has been planned. Among the people to appear on the program are R. J. McKinnon, Miss Louise Emerson, Miss Marla Anglin, Charles Kramer, James Wade, Earl Gratto and the the cathedral Girls' Glee club under the direction of Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker.

Entertain at School.

Misses Anna Jean Kearns and Willetta Cole were guests of honor at a party given in the Adams school Saturday afternoon. The party was held in the kindergarten rooms. Those attending were: Mesdames James Donahue, F. B. Thomas, W. J. Lawrence, W. S. Kearns; Misses Annie Miller, Eugene Erickson, Ella Severson, Mamie Passon, Annie Weddes, Annie Davis, Catherine Griffith, Hazel Jellerg, Elizabeth Harkwell, Louise Hedin, Lulu Nelson, Catherine Fida, Audray Swenson, Boardman, Smith and Messrs. Kenneth Lawrence, James Donahue, Marvin Lovaunt and Milton Erickson.

Swedish M. E. Notes.

The official board of the Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will meet in the church studio this evening.

The Sunday school board will meet in the church tomorrow evening.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. P. Johnson, 2332 West Third street.

Rev. C. W. R. Wermine will conduct prayer meeting in the church Thursday evening.

CHURCH WILL HAVE PLAYGROUND.

A joint meeting of the elders and trustees of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, will be held this evening. The church directors will take up a proposition to level three lots in the rear of the church for a playground for the children of the Sunday school.

It is planned to have this ground ready for the children within ten days. While the ground is not large enough to play baseball, other games such as volley ball, basket ball and tennis, as well as athletic features, will be enjoyed on the ground.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the church, will present a request to be allowed to take a part of his vacation this month. The pastor is planning on leaving next week for Chicago to visit "The World," the missionary pageant which is being held in that city this month. He also intends attending the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of America, which convenes in Atlanta, Ga., on May 15, for a ten-day session.

Swedish Mission Notes.

The congregation of the Swedish Mission church will hold its monthly business meeting in the parlors of the church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, this evening.

The Confirmation society will hold a rehearsal of a musical program to be given Sunday at a meeting in the church this evening.

The ladies' aid society will be entertained Wednesday afternoon in the parlors of the church. Mrs. Andrew Lundgren and Mrs. John Carlson will be hostesses.

The Parthenoe society will meet in the church parlors Thursday evening. Mrs. Axel Johnson and Mrs. Charles Johnson will be hostesses.

A business meeting will be held Thursday evening by the Men's Welfare league on Thursday evening in the church.

The choir will hold its weekly rehearsal Friday evening.

The confirmation society will meet with the confirmation class on Saturday evening. The confirmation will be held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and communion at 3:30 o'clock. On Sunday evening a special musical program will be given by the Young People's society.

Birthday Surprise.

Carl Fisher, 220 North Twenty-second avenue west, was pleasantly surprised by a number of his friends Saturday evening in honor of his birthday. Games and music featured the entertainment. The guests were: Misses Myrtle MacDonald, Margaret Jeffrey, Mildred Sherman, Florence Fischer, Mildred O'Neill, Leone Hathway, Minnie Hearne, Inez Haugsrud, Carl Brown, Emanuel Westberg, Ernest Sundholin, Arthur Stenberg, Jasper Barncard and Milton Anderson.

Lee Funeral.

The funeral of Belfour Lee, 840 Garfield avenue, who died Saturday, was held this afternoon, Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, officiating. The body was placed in a vault and will be later removed to Alpena, Mich., for interment.

Norwegian Danish Notes.

The Epworth League of the Norwegian-Danish Methodist church will entertain this evening at a social in the church parlors, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. A program of music followed by refreshments will be given.

The Epworth League will hold a business meeting in the church tomorrow evening. Delegates to the annual convention to be held May 30 at Rutland, Iowa, will be elected.

The Sunday school board will hold a business meeting at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Regular midweek services will be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The church board of stewards will hold a business meeting at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The ladies' aid society will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Jensen, 2705 West Fourth street.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. H. R. Weber, 2221 West Eleventh street, entertained at a birthday party in honor of Mrs. George Walters. The home was prettily decorated for the occasion. The guests were: Mesdames Robert Stewart, Frank Dwyer, G. S. Wonderly, Charles Powell, Enoch Erickson, O. Kinn and O. Weeks.

Zion Church Notes.

The Sunday school teachers of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, will meet in the church parlors this evening.

Choir rehearsals will be held in the church tomorrow evening.

The confirmation class will meet at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Mrs. Louis Feyling, 2615 West Fifth street, will entertain the girls' society at her home Wednesday evening.

Midweek devotional services will be held Thursday evening.

West End Briefs.

Rev. Carl G. Olson, pastor of the Swedish Bethany Lutheran church, left this morning for Alborn, where he will conduct services today.

Mrs. Thomas B. Perry, 2823 West Third street, will entertain at a missionary tea for the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Grace M. E. church Thursday afternoon. Miss Alice Brethorst will speak.

Miss Evelyn Otterson, 804 North Twenty-second avenue west, returned yesterday from St. Mary's hospital, where she underwent an operation.

The Young People's League of the Swedish Methodist church is planning a program for an experience social to be given on May 15.

Mrs. T. Otterson and daughters, Theresa and Ellen, 804 Twenty-second avenue west, have returned from Portland, Or., where the former two were called on account of the latter's illness.

EVIDENCE LACKING.

Crow Wing County Attorney Explains Payne Dismissal Case.

Brainerd, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Attorney G. S. Swanson, who was criticized by Duluth Socialists for dismissing the kidnaping charges preferred against George L. Payne, a deputy sheriff, during the late Cuyuna strike when it was alleged he participated in the alleged kidnaping of Theodore Sjogren. He says that at the trial of the case against Payne not enough evidence was presented to hold him on a kidnaping charge, but that there appeared grounds to issue warrants for assault, and accordingly Payne was arrested on an assault charge, pleaded guilty and was fined $60 and costs, amounting to $7.10. Peter Newman, who was also charged with assault, pleaded not guilty and demanding a jury trial, the case was set for trial before Judge A. W. Uhl of Crosby on May 8. It is said, should sufficient evidence develop to press a charge of kidnaping, the matter will be placed before the grand jury.

IS BOON TO WOODSMEN

Hicken's Stand on Law Enforcement Will Decrease Robberies.

Great Work for Humanity, Says Lumberjack Sky Pilot.

"If Commissioner Hicken can weed out the men who meet the lumberjacks when they leave the train and say: 'Come, Jack, and have a drink,' he will do a great work for mankind and for Duluth," said "Jack" McCall, lumberjack missionary, who is in Duluth today.

"Mr. Hicken has taken a stand that must appeal to every decent citizen. He has undertaken a big task, but a noble one, and I hope he follows the path on which he has started out, without a compromise or weakening.

"The Sunday lid and the 11 o'clock closing will help a lot. Duluth has too many hangers on who are professional thieves. They dress as lumberjacks and do nothing but lie in wait for woodsmen with money. They meet them at the train. Then it is 'Hello, Jack, when did you get in? Let's have a drink.' One drink is followed by another. Then one of the drinks is doped and the man wakes up in the morning with his money gone, and nothing but a headache to show for a winter's work. The story is an old one, and a commonplace one, and Duluth people have become familiar with it, but many a tragedy results from it. The police do their best, but they can't always prevent the robberies. All they can do is punish the robbers.

"Many a poor devel is found dead on the railway tracks following a spree in some blind-pig.

"These men frequently start from camp with the determination that they won't touch a drop of liquor when they reach the city. They realize what fools they are to do it, but the temptation stares them in the face the minute they leave the station.

"The law forbidding drinking on railroad trains has done a lot of good. The men now get to camp sober, in most instances. Formerly they reached camp with bottles of cheap whisky in their pockets. A few drinks made them restless to get back to the city as soon as possible.

"Mr. Hicken's stand will help further."

Mr. McCall has been for six years engaged in work among the camps of Northern Minnesota. He was a woodsman himself for six or seven years, shipping out of Duluth every fall. He was converted in Kalamazoo six years ago, and is now going back there to take charge of the city rescue mission.

WILL CLOSE FOR THE SUMMER

One More Week of Orpheum Season—Theater Shows Profit.

The Duluth Orpheum theater will close for the summer May 17.

Manager H. E. Billings received word this morning that next week's bill will by the last of the season.

"The other theaters on the circuit are closing, and that forces us to close, although the climate and business would both warrant us in keeping open later," said Mr. Billings. "This has been the best season the Duluth theater has ever had, in every way. It has shown a comfortable profit for the season, and considering theatrical conditions, this is a good record. The weather does not get hot enough here in May to force us to close, but it does in the other cities on the circuit, and that means that we can't get the acts. We will reopen early in August."

Mr. and Mrs. Billings will remain in Duluth during the summer, having taken a cottage on Park Point, and Arthur B. White, the assistant manager and treasurer, and Mrs. White will go to their summer home at Forest Lake.

SURPRISED AT DULUTH'S LETHARGY

A. C. Volk received a letter this morning that backed him up in his assertion that Duluth people do not realize what they have in the big steel plant now being erected.

The letter was from a friend at Victoria, B. C., and it said:

"A friend of mine recently was in Seattle, and while there met a man who had just come from Duluth. The man said that he had just come from the Head of the Lakes, where he had been shown over the new steel plant by one of the citizens. When he asked the man what effect he thought the building of such a mammoth plant would have on Duluth, he replied that he did not see it would have any particular effect except that there might be work for more men. My friend tells me that he waited for nothing more, but took a train for the West to dispose of some of his property in order to invest in lands adjoining Duluth, as he felt that where such people with apparently no faith or imagination lived, there should be such prices obtained as would prove a veritable gold mine to an investor. It is different in Canada where the Steel corporation is building. Duluth should wake up."

MUCH LUMBER BURNED.

Upper Peninsula Michigan Fires Now Believed to Be Checked.

Escanaba, Mich., May 5.—Rain Sunday checked the disastrous forest fires which for several days have been raging in almost every part of Delta county and in portions of adjoining counties. While only meager details have been received here, the loss is said to be great.

Hundreds of men were in the fire district fighting the flames with little result until yesterday's rainfall.

The Beaver Timber company's entire holdings have been destroyed. More than 150 carloads of posts and ties and thousands of feet of lumber piled on the landings for loading, have been burned. There are no reports of loss of life.

POLICE TO BE CHECKED UP

Use of Intoxicants Will Be Discouraged By Commissioner Hicken.

New Standards Set for All Employes of the City.

The standards and discipline of the police force are to be raised and the rules and regulations more strictly enforced.

The use of intoxicants, not only by the policemen, but by firemen or any other employes of the city, will be particularly discouraged.

Commissioner Hicken, head of the division of public safety, states that the use of alcoholic beverages cannot but decrease the efficiency of the men and lead to habits and practices which are not conducive to good results, interfering with their duties and lessening their usefulness. In some instances the practice might put the men under obligations, consciously or unconsciously, to certain elements, and the head of the division of public safety demands that impartiality, without fear or favor, be the rule in all parts of the city.

The conduct of all employes, but more especially those charged with the enforcement of the law, will be closely supervised without the knowledge of those who are being checked up.

The commissioner intends to have accurate information of all those under him. He proposes to know if any are loafing on the job, failing properly to cover their beats, if they visit or drink in saloons or other places. His purpose is not only to weed out the dead timber but to reward merit and efficiency.

The "lid" continues to fit well. It is not without leaks, but a steady, persistent effort is being made to locate them, and not entirely without success. Some who may be patting themselves on the back in the belief that they are "putting one over" are likely to wake up one of these days in the near future to find themselves out of business. If the commission is satisfied, from the information placed before it, that the law has been deliberately violated licenses will be refused. Those who are conducting blind-pigs are quite liable to find themselves under arrest, and the police court policy of dealing with law violators of that class has not been lenient. Only a short time ago a man convicted of selling liquor without a license was given a straight sentence of sixty days.

AVIATOR FALLS; IS CRUSHED BY ENGINE

Milwaukeean Has Fatal Accident at Akron Flying Park.

Akron, Ohio, May 5.—Charles Carlson, aged 24 years, of Milwaukee, an aviator at an aviation field near Akron, was killed almost instantly about 10 o'clock this morning when he was crushed beneath the engine of his aeroplane after falling about 200 feet.

Carlson had been employed here about two months and has made some long flights at the park within the last few days. W. B. Lodge, manager of the park, who witnessed the accident, immediately summoned a physician, but before the latter arrived Carlson had expired. It is the first fatality at the aviation field here.

ANOTHER CLOQUET LODGE OF YEOMEN

Order Has Grown So That Second Organization Is Planned.

Cloquet, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cloquet is to have a second organization of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen, the first lodge having been organized here about four years ago. The second organization will be effected Tuesday evening in the Sons of Norway hall, and some fifty names have been secured as charter members. The officers and ladies' drill team of Duluth Homestead No. 3131 will have charge of the first meeting of the organization.

The First Presbyterian church will hold its annual congregational meeting in the church Tuesday evening, beginning at 7:45, at which time there will be the annual business meeting. At the conclusion of business the annual dinner will be served in the church basement. The annual meeting is always an event of importance.

Herman W. Phillips of St. Paul, grand master of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows, will visit the Cloquet lodge, and the occasion will undoubtedly be one of consequence.

K. D. Van Wagnen, instructor in agriculture at the schools, has received 1,000 celery plants, 2,000 tomato and cabbage plants and 250 strawberry plants, which will be set out at the school farm as soon as the weather permits.

Rev. P. C. Coolbaugh, D. D., rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, will be one of the speaksrs at the State Historical society which meets in Minneapolis this month. Rev. Mr. Coolbaugh will have a paper on the early history of Minneapolis, which promises to be unusually interesting, as his parents came to that city when it numbered not a dozen families.

High School Alumni Elects.

The alumni of the high school has elected the following officers: President, Edwin Erickson; first vice president, Miss Genevieve Stapleton; second vice president, Harry Owens; recording secretary, Miss Edith Canfield; corresponding secretary, Reuben Swenson; treasurer, Walter Olin. The executive committee are Miss Mary Lingren, Genevieve Stapleton, Edwin Erickson, Merita Armstrong, Reuben Swenson and Harry Owens. The annual alumni dance will be given about the middle of June.

The manual training work for the year at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. has been completed and numbers some useful and well-made articles. The work was done by Max Selmser, Charles Beaupre, Gordon Campbell, Willam Blair, Emmett Hackett and Harold Ackerman, under the instruction of Alfred Teel, one of the Y employes. The boys are those who have not had opportunity to take manual training in the public schools.

SEEK SITE FOR RAINY RIVER BOOM.

International Falls, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the United States-Canadian boundary commission today are seeking a location on the Rainy river for the proposed Waterous Island boom, and tomorrow will hold a hearing for the purpose of taking testimony concerning the location of the boom. Yesterday the party made a 25-mile investigating trip up Rainy lake.

Former Congressman James A. Tawney of Winona, chairman of the comney of Winona, chairman of the commission for the United States, and I. Chase Casgrain, chairman for the Canadian government, with capitalists interested in the placing of the boom, made the trip today.

DE LA MOTTE IS VICTORIOUS

A. L. Harwood Gets Case to Jury and Decision Is Adverse.

Had Made Two Previous Attempts to Obtain Damages.

Joseph De La Motte, attorney, was given a verdict in district court this morning in the action brought against him by Allen L. Harwood, who sought to recover $7,152.11 for services he is alleged to have rendered Mr. De La Motte while in his employ in 1909 and 1910. The verdict disposed of the third trial of the case.

The last trial jury retired to consider the case Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock. A verdict was agreed upon about seven hours later. The verdict was sealed as the court was not in session at the time. It was opened and read before Judge Fesler this morning.

The history of the case is a rather interesting one. Harwood claims that De La Motte back in June, 1909, engaged his services to secure evidence and data to be used in certain litigation, which he had in charge at that time. Particular reference was made by Harwood in his complaint to the White Iron Lake fire cases, in which Mr. De La Motte was the original attorney of record.

Harwood claimed that he was never paid for his services although he spent several months in De La Motte's employ. He also claimed that money which he personally advanced to meet expenses properly chargeable to De La Motte was never repaid to him.

Three Grounds of Action.

The first action for damages was brought on for trial before Judge Dancer about a year ago, B. M. Goldberg appearing as attorney for Harwood and De La Motte appearing as his own attorney. The suit was brought for damages on the theory of an implied contract. Evidence taken at the trial, however, disclosed the fact that there was an express contract and the court dismissed the case.

The action was brought again on the theory of an express contract and in this case, which was tried before Judge Dibell, the court sustained the contention of Attorney De La Motte that the contract for services which he had entered into with Harwood was void as being against public policy. Judge Dibell in this case directed a verdict for the defendant, De La Motte.

The case was revived a third time and was brought to trial before Judge Fesler. At the last trial, a recovery was sought on the grounds of fraud, it being claimed that De La Motte knew the contract which he was making with Harwood was void at the time he made it.

A motion for a new trial will be made according to Attorney Goldberg and if denied will be taken to the supreme court.

CLERK ISSUES MANY LICENSES

Many Applications for Permits Needed in Various Lines of Business.

Not only are wheelage tax licenses being issued by the score at the office of the city clerk, but dozens of other applicants are applying for miscellaneous licenses.

Numerous licenses automatically expire April 30 and must be renewed at once if the holders are legally to continue doing business in the city. Coming all at once they cause an unusual rush at the office of City Clerk C. S. Palmer and he and his clerks are not experiencing any leisure moments.

Among the licenses which become delinquent May 1 are: the pool and billiard table licenses, $5 per table per year; employment office license, $100 per year; dog license, $1 for male and $5 for female dogs per year; dray and hack licenses, $2.50, $5 and $7.50 per year, according to size; wagon peddler license, $60 for single and $90 for doubles, per year; push cart license, $10 per year; pawnbroker license, $125 per year; second-hand store license, $10 per year; plumbing license, $5 per year; junk collector license, $2 per year, meat peddler licenses, $10 per year.

Those which require bonds must be approved by the council. They include the pool and billiard, employment office, pawnbroker, second-hand store and plumbing licenses. The others are issued by the clerk upon the payment of the necessary fee.

The city derives considerable revenue from its miscellaneous licenses. The largest single bunch is the liquor licenses, which produce over $180,000, at $1,000 each, while the others bring the total to $195,000 or $196,000 a year.

REVISION OF ORDINANCE

Regulation of Liquor Traffic By City Will Be Made Complete.

All Prosecutions Will Be Conducted Under City Ordinances.

James A. Wharton, police prosecutor and special city counsel, is making a complete revision of all ordinances pertaining to the liquor traffic.

Those which have outlived their usefulness are being dropped and the others are being revamped and redrawn. All the state laws which are not now incorporated in ordinances will be included in the new code. The principal omission has been of the law governing unlicensed drinking places. In the past it has been necessary to bring all prosecutions of that nature under the state law, but after the passage of the new ordinances these actions can be brought under the ordinance. There have been a number of other minor provisions excluded but all of them will now become parts of ordinances. This will facilitate prosecutions. Under the state law juries can be demanded while under the ordinance all actions can be heard by the court without a jury.

The new cigarette law is being incorporated in an ordinance which will be introduced as soon as possible. Applications for licenses are now being received and as soon as the ordinance becomes active they will be granted.

The other ordinances will not be so rushed. No pressing need for them has developed and it is desired that they be complete in all particulars before they are brought up for consideration. Some new ordinances, among them one compelling saloons to open their screens during closing hours, are contemplated and will probably be introduced along with the others. Commissioner Hicken has a number in mind and he will lay his ideas before the attorney in the next few days.

BURY IRONWOOD GIRL.

Miss Suline, Who Died of Goitre, Is Laid at Rest.

Ironwood, Mich., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Miss Libbie Suline, who died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Eric Korte, Norfolk street, of exophtalmic goitre, was held yesterday afternoon from the home and the Finnish National Lutheran church. Miss Suline was brought home from the Mayo hospital at Rochester, Minn., three weeks ago, the specialists there having been unable to give her relief. She was born in Ironwood eighteen years ago last September and was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Suline of Ironwood township. When a Sophomore in high school she entered the employ of Autlajs, the local Finnish newspaper, later becoming a compositor in the Ironwood News Record office. The funeral was largely attended. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery.

GRAND FORKS FOR SCHOOL GARDENING.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—School gardening will be featured in Grand Forks this summer through the action taken by several civic bodies, co-operating with the board of education. Under the plan proposed the board of education will engage an expert gardner to take charge of the work, and vacant lots throughout the city will be utilized in the gardening work.

Mayville, N. D., Chautauqua.

Mayville, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayville is to have a chautauqua this summer. Twenty-five leading citizens have signed a guarantee to finance the plan and this city proposes to be in line with Devils Lake, Minot, Mandan and Valley City in this respect. The site is one of the prettiest in the state, as Mayville is located on the Goose river, and has one of the finest artificial lakes in the state. It is proposed to have the chautauqua in operation this summer.

GOING TO GETTYSBURG.

It Is Expected About 300 Will Go From North Dakota.

Sheldon, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nine veterans from Ransom county will attend the Gettysburg reunion as guests of the state, as the result of the passage of the bill by the last legislature permitting the old soldiers to use some of the accumulated funds from the sale of soldiers' home lands in North Dakota. Maj. Buttz of Buttzville, Patrick Cooney of Fort Ransom, A. S. Taylor and M. J. Freeman of Sheldon and O. R. Sperry, A. R. Stone, Charles Hanson, Elmer Mulinex of Lisbon, will be those from this county. About 300 will go from the state.

Note Signers Must Pay.

Carrington, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The men who signed notes to guarantee the purchase of a site for the new courthouse must pay, according to Judge Coffey. An appeal will be taken to the supreme court. Some of the signers paid their amounts but others refused on the ground that the original offer had been modified to some extent by the county commissioners.

SPOTLESS TOWN IS AIM

Fair Weather for First Day of the Clean-Up Week.

School Children Being Enlisted in Work By Health Officer.

Today is first day of clean-up week. When the sun sinks next Saturday evening Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, hopes that Duluth will not have an unsightly yard in the corporate limits.

Should the weather man smile as cheerily throughout the week as he is smiling today, the director of public health feels that no one will have any excuse for not having his premises in tip-top shape, with ashes, tin cans garbage and debris of any kind or description either destroyed or on the city dumps, their proper resting place. Duluth badly needs to have its face washed. Since last fall the filth has been accumulating. Many have not waited for the official clean-up week to get busy, but many more have neglected their yards. Some of them are eye-sores of the worst sort. Not only do they pain the eyes, but they afford the best breeding spots for flies, becoming a decided menace to the health of the community as well as constituting unpleasant nuisances when the sun begins to call forth loud odors from them.

Dr. Webster has issued an official bulletin asking the co-operation of the public in improving health conditions in the city. He declares that civic pride should induce every resident to clean his property and adds that if they do not act of their own accord the health department authorities will be obliged to compel action from their sense of duty.

Dr. Webster today wrote a letter to Supt. Denfeld of the public schools asking him to have the teachers explain the purpose of clean-up week to the children. The co-operation of the thousands of students is highly desirable as more than any other single element, they can do much to make Duluth a spotless town. If each of them will make it a point to see that his or her yard is in the most presentable shape, the biggest part of the city will have received attention. Saturday should mark the climax of the week's cleaning. The school children can do considerable during the week, but with a whole day before them they will be able to make a complete job of it.

Dr. Webster has also taken up the matter of providing receptacles on the street corners for waste paper, etc., with the department of public works. The need of such cans has been felt in Duluth for years, and it is now believed that it will be but a short time before they will be installed in the business sections.

Superior

GEORGE RUSSELL IS CALLED BY DEATH.

George Russell, 49 years old, a member of the firm of Russell Brothers, died Saturday night following an illness of several months. Mr. Russell had been a resident of Superior for the last twenty-five years. He is survived by four brothers and four sisters. They are Fred A., W. R., H. I., and F. Russell, and Miss Marion R. Russell, Mrs. George Blood, Mrs. William Merrill and Mrs J. F. Parker of Duluth. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 9:45 o'clock from the Sacred Heart Cathedral and interment made in Greenwood cemetery.

Indians Arrested.

A number of Indians will be arraigned tomorrow morning before Judge A. L. Sanborn at the adjourned January term of the Federal court. The Indians are brought here from reservations to answer to charges of illicit selling of liquor to Indians.

Rotary Club Dinner.

The Rotary club of Superior will enjoy a "juice" dinner at the power plant of the water and light company Wednesday noon. The company is making arrangements to entertain twenty guests. Those in charge of the arrangements are C. J. Hartley, president of the company; C. D. Se Sheverall and H. E. Speaks.

Glandered Horses Killed.

Fessenden, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Conrad Wagner, a farmer of this vicinity, lost eleven head of horses as a result of the orders of the state veterinarian, as the animals were infected with glanders.

CONTRACTORS ARE WORRIED

Are Paying $2.50 and $2.75 a Day for Common Labor.

The shortage of labor for camps and other outside work, which has been worrying employment agents all spring, is making trouble for local contractors also.

Employers of labor for all sorts of work in the city are having great difficulty in recruiting their crews. The shortage of men for work outside of the city doesn't help the situation any, as many of the migratory laborers prefer working in camps, where they may accumulate a "stake," to working in the city with heavy daily expenses preventing the accumulation of any large sum.

Day laborers for work in the city are drawing $2.50 and $2.75 a day and are scarce at the price. Most work now under way is being conducted with short crews and the prospective inability of contractors to get men for work still to be begun is giving some concern.

Labor employment agents say that it is impossible for them to fill orders for men from railroad contractors and other big employers. They say there are a few men who do not want to work, but even if all the men within the scope of their nets were brought in and set to work, there would be a demand for many more.

Duluth and the Twin Cities have been favorite recruiting grounds for laborers for Canadian railroad construction and the result has been noticeable in the last two or three years. Hundreds of men who were regularly available in the spring and fall for shipment out of Duluth and the Twin Cities are no more to be found at their accustomed haunts, as they have gone to Canada, where they obtain regular employment in the camps and woods.

On the ranges there is a mighty demand for men for work in the open pit mines and it cannot be supplied. Building contractors find considerable trouble in obtaining men outside of the regular trades. It seems that in all lines of work in which steady employment is not the rule, there is a demand for more men.

Contractors in Duluth, besides being put to heavy expense for high wages, find that teams bring more money than ever. A team and driver now receive $6 a day, whereas prevailing prices in former years have been $5 with $5.50 as the high mark. The man with teams can find steady employment for them at unusually high figures, and the season should be a good one for him.

Breaking Big Marsh.

Stevens Point, Wis., May 5.—W. S. Winget of Peoria, Ill., has started breaking up a 1,500-acre tract of land in the recently drained Buena Vista marsh. He brought with him an oil tractor engine, capable of developing 60-horse power. It has a capacity of plowing and harrowing at one operation from twenty-five to thirty acres a day.

GREAT NORTHERN SUED FOR DAMAGES

Widow of Francis L. Trickey Brings Action for $7,500.

Alleged failure of the Great Northern railway to comply with the provisions of the safety appliance act is set up as grounds for a claim for wrongful death which was filed today in district court by Sarah K. Trickey, widow of Francis L. Trickey, brakeman, who was killed at Swan River on Dec. 10 last.

Mrs. Trickey is suing for $7,500 damages, the maximum amount allowed by law, for the benefit of herself and three children.

Trickey, it is stated, was engaged in the act of coupling freight cars which were supposedly equipped with automatic appliances. While between the cars the train was suddenly backed upon him. Trickey was caught under the wheels and crushed to death.

Mrs. Trickey brings the action as administratrix of his estate. At the time of his death he was 28 years old and the father of three children, Isabel, aged 9; Archbald, 8, and George, 9 months.

ARTHUR DICKERMAN DIES IN WISCONSIN.

The death of Arthur E. Dickerman, son of the late Charles B. Dickerman of St. Paul, occurred Sunday morning at Lake Geneva, Wis., following a two weeks' illness of gastritis.

A sister of Mr. Dickerman's, Mrs. L. D. Fraker, and two brothers, C. K. Dickerman and G. G. Dickerman, reside in Duluth. The funeral will be held at St Paul tomorrow.

MOTHER OF NINE CHILDREN BURIED AT IRONWOOD, MICH.

MRS. JAMES SHOULDICE AND HUSBAND.
(From a Photograph Taken April 6, 1910, at their 50th Wedding Anniversary.)

Ironwood, Mich., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. James Shouldice, aged 71, for twenty-seven years a resident of Ironwood, the mother of nine children, all living, and thirty-one grandchildren, who died Friday, was held this afternoon from the First M. E. church, Rev. Mr. Healey officiating. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery. Her aged husband and all of the children, excepting Mrs. McNally of Marsham, Can., were present at the funeral along with other relatives and many friends.

Our Thirtieth Anniversary Sale Started Today

With a Plain Money-Saving Statement of Facts Without Frills

Ten Days of the Greatest History-Making, Value-Giving Sale That Ever Took Place in Duluth

TODAY we began a royal celebration, it is the thirtieth anniversary of our business career in Duluth and we are going to mark the event in a manner that will never be forgotten. For ten days we're going to give the best values ever placed before an appreciative public—We're going to demonstrate in no mistakable manner that this establishment has acquired the proud distinction of being the most economical shopping spot in the city of Duluth.

THE splendid patronage given in the past has shown that our following a progressive policy has been appreciated by the public—and that is the policy we shall follow for all time to come. As our business grew we gained in power to do better for our customers. Year by year we kept to the belief that this community required as good a store as any city in the country and our aim has been to provide such a store—and to meet every new evidence of public confidence with stronger economies and better service.

So today and the succeeding days of the week we shall hold a mighty festival of bargains all through the store, of greater magnitude than ever before—each department will contribute its share—and in every instance the offerings will be of the most sterling merit. Be on hand early

Dean of American Actors Regrets Waning of "The Gods."

Fifty Years of Stage Life Leaves Him Still Young.

William H. Crane, venerable, beloved and respected, a great American actor and, moreover, an American man of whom legions of his fellow countrymen are proud, today at the Spalding hotel chatted of his fifty years of stage life.

This is the fiftieth year that Mr. Crane has been on the stage. Some thirty years ago he played in "The Senator," a play of the legislator in politics; today, after the sweep of the long years that have dealt so benignly with this kindly man, he returns as the politician again—but this time we behold the senator at home, surrounded by domestic cares.

After grasping the span of fifty years one is quite prepared for the meeting with the dean of the American stage. You have sighted your imagination, so to speak, and look expectantly in the direction of the elevator for an aged man, with doddering step and cane.

But, behold—a man buoyant, vigorous, alert and stepping out with the vigor of youth, emerges from the left and strides through the lobby—and you quickly readjust the sights of your admiration and behold a young man of 68 years; a young man, young in sentiment, intensely youthful in quick appreciation, for one cannot meet William H. Crane and not believe that his ideals have not been tarnished by life as he has viewed it.

Lives the Life.

"I don't leave the stage for the simple reason that I love it," said the actor in response to the query as to whether he was going to retire; as to whether he enjoyed his work.

"I love my work," he pursued, "and it loves me. My health is splendid and my work to me is everything. Now I have told some of them that when they can think of a good excuse for my retirement, then it will be time for me to think of leaving the stage. But none of them seems able to tell me one good and sensible reason for giving up my profession."

Half a century brings its changes. Mr. Crane, in looking back over the years, notes some of the fluctuations that have taken place since he has been one of the real forces of the American drama.

Gallery Is Past.

"The gallery is a thing of the past. It was there that we looked for the real verdict for the play, or our individual efforts. It was Charles Macready who said: 'The stalls, why we forgot them; the gallery rose like a mob.' No playgoer has been so quick of appreciation, so thoroughly genuine in his emotion, or so outspoken in approval as the patrons of the gallery of some few years back.

"It is a peculiar fact that no matter how hardened, no matter how criminal at heart the patron in the gallery might be, he loves to behold virtue conquer on the stage.

"Two pickpockets might be in the gallery watching a play, and if the villain was subdued by the hero, these two men would probably be the first to give utterance to their thorough and undisguised approval of the fact.

"I don't know whether our playgoing public is changing. In some of our theaters today the gallery is not even opened. There is a diversifying of our amusements, and perhaps it is that the cheaper forms of entertainment are taking some of the people who were formerly devoted to the legitimate drama. But we miss the people in the galleries, for it was to this warm hearted, this outspoken, this quick to appreciate and applaud class of playgoer that we often looked for sympathy and encouragement."

Touched by Reception.

In his present tour of the country Mr. Crane has been impressed, surprised and most of all deeply touched by the unanimity of praise, veneration and homage that the American press has paid to him on the occasion of his fiftieth year on the stage.

From one end of the country to the other there has been a succession of articles and editorials commenting upon the long and honorable record of the most beloved of all American actors. The present tour of Mr. Crane has been one that has brought him close to the people and has discovered to him the fact that his years of labor, his high ideals, and his striving for the best, have not been without appreciation.

"The members of my company insist and persist in treating me either as if I were a child of 8 or an old man of 88," said the actor as he mused on the question of age. "Really, now, I am on the sunny side of 35. I have never felt better, and while some of my good friends now and then seriously take me to task for not being more grave in this thing called age, I soon convince them that they really have not the slightest foundation for their fears.

What Age Teaches.

"Age, if you insist, sometimes teaches us to work with the least effort. It has required a great many years to impress that fact upon my mind. But there can be no set and conventional standard about age. For instance, if I feel at the age of 68 as if I were a sprightly young man of some 40 years, it should not be that I should take on the manner and actions of the elderly. I positively refuse; for, you see, I am a young man and life to me is just as filled with joy, of wonderment and enchanting mystery as it was those many years ago.

"Just about two weeks more and my season will come to a close, and I will have completed my fiftieth year on the stage. Then it is off for Europe. Over there in Germany there is a man who is my physician, my physical reconstructor, I might almost say. For me he has discovered the spring of eternal youth. I go to him; perhaps there is a slight pain here and there, only occasionally, you understand. This man, my friend, most assuredly, takes me in hand and when he is through with me it seems as if twenty-five years have gone; as if I were starting on the trail of the years again, fresh, vigorous and young."

Just twenty years ago this very month, this very week, in fact, William H. Crane played an engagement at the old Temple theater here. At that time he presented "The Senator," and "On Probation." After the lapse of the years he comes again in another play dealing with the type of American character that the latter years of Mr. Crane's career have been so intimately associated with.

WOMEN GAVE ALL TO AID SOLDIERS.

Washington, May 5.—Mrs. W. W. Rockhill, wife of the American ambassador at Constantinople, has undertaken the task of leading a movement for the rehabilitation of the fortunes of two octogenarian scions of Europe who impoverished themselves caring for the wounded and cholera stricken soldiers from the battle lines at Tchatalja.

The work of the two old women was so remarkable and their self-sacrifice so unostentatious that Mrs. Rockhill readily enlisted Maj. Clyse S. Ford of the United States army medical corps, Mary Mills Patrick, president of the Constantinople college girls, Alice Bilght Lowther, wife of the British ambassador in the Turkish capital, and others in the movement.

FIREBUG KILLS 250 SHEEP.

Detroit, Mich., May 5.—The hundred and fifty sheep were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the Michigan Central stockyards in Detroit, Sunday. The livestock pens, loading chutes and feed houses were consumed, together with several empty cars and a quantity of hay and corn. The loss is estimated at $195,000. According to the railroad and police officers, the fire was of incendiary origin.

Two firemen were injured while fighting the flames.

WOULD UNITE ALL METAL WORKERS.

Columbus, Ohio, May 5.—Amalgamation of all men working in the metal trades into one large, international organization under the banner of the American Federation of Labor for the purpose of maintaining the spirit of sympathetic strikes among laboring men, is the basis of a movement indorsed here at the semi-annual meeting of the Metal Workers' unions and Metal Trades councils of Michigan and Ohio. The following officers were elected:

E. A. Kosten of Grand Rapids, Mich., president; Philip Knox of Detroit, vice president; J. W. Hawthorne of Detroit, secretary-treasurer. These officers will serve until the October session of the council, which will be held in Toledo, Ohio.

UPPER PENINSULA MASONS MEETING.

Houghton, Mich, May 5.—Masons are arriving here for a meeting of members of the order in the Upper Peninsula this evening. Special trains will bring many from the iron country. Supper will be served to the visitors in the hall at 6 p. m. by the Eastern Star, after which the conferring of the master Mason's degree will be taken up in the lodge room.

INCOME TAX IS EXPLAINED; WHO MUST PAY TAX AND HOW

Representative Hull Prepares Data Designed for Busy Men.

Rates and Exemptions and Other Points in the Act.

Washington, May 5.—An official synopsis of the income tax bill, intended for the busy man who has no time to puzzle over the confusing and complex legal phraseology of the measure, has been prepared by Representative Hull, the income tax expert of the house

The synopsis is the nearest approach to a simple and intelligible explanation of the bill that has yet come from official sources. It was made in response to hundreds of requests, and will be distributed over the country to persons who are seeking light on this important bill.

Here is the Hull synopsis of the sections of the bill which relate to the tax on individuals:

INCOMES COVERED.

Income Tax—Personal.

Incomes Covered—Those of all citizens of the United States residing at home or abroad.

Those of all persons residing in the United States, although not citizens there.

All net incomes from property owned and from every business, trade or commerce carried on in the United States by persons residing elsewhere.

Normal Tax—One per cent per annum upon the amount of net income over $4,000.

Additional Tax—One per cent per annum upon the total amount of net income from all sources over $20,000 and not over $50,000 per annum.

Two per cent per annum upon the amount of net income over $50,000 and not over $100,000.

Three per cent per annum upon the amount of net income over $100,000.

WHAT INCOME INCLUDES.

Net income includes all gains, profits and income received from salaries, wages or compensation for personal services of any kind and however paid; professions or vocations; business, trade or commerce; sales or dealings in property, real or personal, growing out of the ownership or use or interest in property, real or personal; interest, rent or dividends on securities; transactions in lawful business carried on for gain or profit.

Gains or profits or income derived from any source whatever.

Income, but not the value of property, acquired by bequest, devise or descent.

Income, but not proceeds of life insurance policies paid upon death.

DEDUCTIONS ALLOWED.

Necessary expenses actually incurred in carrying on any business.

All interest accrued and payable within the year on indebtedness.

All national, state, county, school and municipal taxes.

Losses actually sustained during the year, not compensated by insurance or otherwise arising from fire, storm or shipwreck.

A reasonable allowance for the exhaustion or wear and tear of property, arising from its use or employment in business.

All income the tax upon which has been paid at the source.

Amounts received at dividends upon the stock of any corporation, etc., which is taxed upon its net income.

Interest upon debts and securities guaranteed free from taxation.

All personal, living or family expenses.

Taxes assessed against local benefits.

All expense of restoring property or making good the exhaustion thereof for which an allowance has been made.

Amounts paid for new buildings, permanent improvements or betterments made to increase the value of any property or estate.

Interest upon the obligations of a state or any political subdivision thereof.

Interest upon the obligations of the United States, the principal and interest of which are now exempt from Federal taxation.

The compensation of the present president during the term for which he has been elected.

The compensation of the judges of the supreme court and inferior courts of the United States now in office.

The compensation of all officers and employes of a state or any political organization thereof.

AMOUNT OF INCOME EXEMPT.

Only one deduction of $4,000 shall be made from the aggregate income of all members of a family.

Family consists of—One or both parents and one or more minor child, or husband and wife.

Guardians are allowed to make deductions in favor of each and every ward, when same are not composed of one family having joint property interests.

TIME OF GOING INTO EFFECT.

The tax shall be computed upon the remainder of the said net income for the year ending Dec. 31, and for each calendar year thereafter.

RETURN OF INCOME.

A true and accurate return of all net incomes of $3,500 or more shall be made under oath or affirmation.

It must be made to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which said person resides or has his permanent place of business in the United States.

Form of returns—The form shall be prescribed by the commissioner of internal revenue with the approval of the secretary of the treasury. It shall set forth specifically the gross amount of income from all separate sources. From this total shall be deducted the aggregate items of expenses and allowances above authorized.

TIME OF RETURN.

The return must be made on or before March 1, 1914, and on or before first year thereafter.

Persons Required to Make Returns—Each taxable person of legal age for himself.

Guardians, trustees and executors shall make and render a return of the net income coming into their custody or control of the person for whom they act.

All persons, firms, companies, copartnerships, corporations, etc., having the control, receipt, disposal or payment of fixed or determinable annual gains, profits or income of another person subject to taxe arising from an annual business relationship, shall in behalf of such other person render a separate and distinct return for each person, upon which the normal tax is paid at the source.

EXCEPTIONS TO RETURN.

No return of income not exceeding $3,500 is required.

Persons liable for the normal tax only on their own or another's account shall not be required to make returns of the income received from dividends on capital stock of corporations taxable upon their net incomes.

DUTY OF THE COLLECTOR OF INTERNAL REVENUE.

The collector or deputy shall require each list to be verified by oath of the party rendering it.

The collector may increase the amount of any returns, if he has reason to believe that the same is understated.

No such increase shall be made except after due notice to such party and upon proof of the amount understated.

In case of disagreement between the collector and the taxable person, such person may submit the case with papers and proof to the commissioner of internal revenue.

ASSESSMENTS

All persons shall be notified of the amount for which they are respectively liable on or before June 1 of each year.

Neglected, fraudulent or false returns—In case of neglect or refusal to make returns, or in case of fraudulent or false returns upon the discovery within three years after said returns are due, the commissioner of internal revenue shall make such return himself.

TIME OF PAYMENT.

Said regular assessments shall be paid on or before the 13th day of June each year.

Assessments made by the commissioner of internal revenue are payable upon notification.

PENALTY FOR DELAYED PAYMENTS.

On sums due and unpaid after June 30 or for ten days after notice and demand thereof by the collector, there shall be added 5 per cent to the amount of tax unpaid and interest at the rate of 1 per cent per month from the time the same became due.

EXCEPTIONS.

Incomes from the estate of insane, deceased or insolvent persons.

COLLECTIONS AT THE SOURCE.

All persons, firms, companies, etc., including leasers or mortgagors of real or personal property, trustees acting in any trust capacity, executors, etc., employers and all officers and employes of the United States, having control receipt, custody, disposal of payment of interest, rent, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensation, remuneration, emoluments or other fixed or determinable annual gains, profits and income of another person exceeding $4,000 for any taxable year, who are required to make and render a return in behalf of another, are hereby authorized and required to deduct and withhold such normal tax and pay it to the United States official authorized to receive the same.

Exception—Income from the dividends on the capital stock or from net earnings of a corporation subject to the normal tax not to be included in the above.

LIABILITY.

BENEFIT OF EXEMPTION.

Where the income tax of a person is paid at the source, the benefit of the $4,000 exemption shall not be allowed unless there shall be filed, not less than thirty days prior to the day on which the return is due with the person or concern required to make such payment of tax at the source, an affidavit claiming the benefit of such exemption.

When a taxable person's tax is paid at the source, if he desires any deduction for losses, expense of business, etc., he may either file claim together with return of any other income upon which the tax is not withheld at the source, either with the collector withholding his tax as the taxpayer may choose.

INDIVIDUAL TAX.

Individual tax, not exceeding $4,000 per annum, to the tax at the source.

Incomes derived from interest on bonds, mortgages or other indebtedness of corporations, joint stock companies or associations or insurance companies.

Securities of the United States not now exempt from taxation.

Income composed of coupons, checks or bills of exchange for or in part payment of interest or dividends upon stock or obligations of foreign corporations, etc., engaged in business in foreign countries.

Interest upon bonds of foreign countries.

Foreign motrgages or like obligations not payable in the United States.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

No taxable person shall be released from liability for this tax.

When a return is made and his tax paid at the source, no person shall be required to make a return himself unless he has other net income.

Only one deduction of the $4,000 shall be made in case of any person.

FAILURE TO MAKE RETURNS.

Failure or neglect to make returns for personal tax.—Any personal corporation, etc., liable to make a return for a personal tax, refusing or neglecting to make such return shall be liable to a penalty of not exceeding $400.

BOLD THIEVES ARE STILL AT LARGE

Police Unable to Obtain Trace of Men Who Stole $828.

No trace has been obtained of the three men who stole $828 from the Manhattan Wine house, 15 West Superior street, Saturday afternoon. The descriptions of the men are vague and general and there is little prospect of their apprehension.

The money was in easily negotiable currency, $500 being in bills and the balance in silver. One of the Carlson brothers, proprietors of the place, had drawn the money from the bank for use in his Saturday business. When he returned with the money in a small leather handbag he placed it on his desk and went away, leaving it unguarded. Coming back for it shortly afterward the grip and money had disappeared.

Suspicion is attached to three men who were in the place when Carlson returned from the bank. One of the trio is described as being about 50 years old, while the other two appeared to be between 25 and 30 years of age.

which cost the lives of thousands of Montenegrins and Turks, King Nicholas declared that he would hold the city until the last drop of Montenegrin blood had been spilled. As the European powers had decided previously that Scutari was to form part of the future autonomous state of Albania, a crisis was brought about and the powers immediately brought strong pressure to bear to force him and his troops to evacuate the place.

Coerced By Powers.

In the meanwhile Austria took energetic steps to enforce the powers' decision, and concentrated large bodies of troops in Bosnia, Herzegovina and Dalmatia. The powers in the interim instituted a blockade of the Montenegrin coast. All these demonstrations, however, seemed not to affect the determination of the king.

Some of the Montenegrin troops were withdrawn from Scutari in order, it was said, to resist a possible Austrian advance. Then word came that Austria and Italy had entered into an agreement to solve the Albanian problem by a military expedition and it was known that the Austrian army was preparing to march forward.

The attitude of Russia under these circumstances was a matter of great concern to Europe, and when she joined in the pressure being exercised on Montenegro great relief was felt, as it had been thought she would resist any attempt by Austria to order her army southward.

It was suggested during the negotiations that the king of Montenegro would receive territorial compensation in another direction if he would give up Scutari, and that his majesty was preparing to accept this offer.

SENATORS WILL HOLD NO PUBLIC HEARINGS ON THE TARIFF BILL

the finance committee with instructions for public hearings.

Near End in House.

The end of the tariff bill was in sight today so far as the house was concerned. With a few odds and ends of the sundries schedule left over, the house stood ready to dispose of the free list, the complex administrative features and the income tax, all that remained of the new tariff law.

"All the fights are about over now," said Mr. Underwood, the Democratic leader, as he surveyed the situation.

The debate has been the most good-natured in the recollection of the Democratic leaders. The Republicans have avoided filibustering or demands for record votes. The caucus rule of a solid Democratic vote has been rigidly carried out.

Only a few minor changes are now to be expected, and they will be to clarify language. Democratic leaders expected that today would clear the path for consideration of the income tax alone tomorrow, to be followed by the reading of the bill for the formal passage of the whole measure, a formality counted upon to take less than an hour.

The house late Saturday sustained the wool schedule of the Underwood bill, 193 to 74, and voted down the Republican substitute offered by Representative Payne.

REMOVAL NOTICE
Knudsen-Ferguson and Mesaba Labor Agency have moved from 320 West Michigan street to 306 West Michigan street.

nor to touch, handle or profit by gold that should blister the fingers of the man who has accumulated it by extortion, oppression and crime, and is now attempting to rid himself of it by giving it away; nor to become the receivers of stolen goods in the name and under the guise of charity."

The continued existence of trusts and monopolies, the senator said, was due to the inadequacy of the Sherman anti-trust law, which he declared should be so amended that specific restraint of trade should be unlawful, with suitable punishment for those who violate the law.

While he was not in favor of a high protective tariff which fostered capitalistic combination, he said he would be in favor of an effort to protect the wage earner in his earnings and that he believed it would be "an excellent thing to harmonize the tariff and wages."

Wages Under Commission.

"The interstate commerce commission," continued the senator, "should be allowed to determine whether fair wages are being paid by any concern; and if not, to compel the employer employing foreign laborers and paying European wages to pay the same tariff on its manufactured goods that are enforced against foreign importations until its wages are increased to a fair scale for American workmen.

"If a high tariff did in fact protect the wage earner, I would cheerfully stand for its continuance, even at the expense of higher prices to the consumer. The evident purpose of the so-called tariff experts is, so far as progress has been made, to deprive the farmers, who are themselves laboring men and wage earners in most cases, of all protection and preserve it to the trust and millionaire manufacturers. This would be a fatal mistake. In most cases our manufacturers and business men can compete with the world and make profits. They can and do sell their goods cheaper in foreign markets than at home. With the farmer, in many cases, it is different.

Protection For Everybody.

"The wage earner must be protected in his earnings and reasonable hours of labor, the consumer in reasonable prices, and the whole people must be protected in their independence and liberty. The equality of all men must be made a reality and not a theory. If the Democratic party can and will accomplish these results, demanded by the people, it may live and maintain itself in power. If it does not, its reign will be brief. If neither of the old parties can or will restore the government to the people as our forefathers handed it down, then a new party will be raised up that will do the people's will. It will be a party of the people's own making, founded on justice, fair dealing, and disinterested patriotism.

"I am ready to give the Democratic party a fair trial. I am willing to wait and see and to lend my aid to that party or any other to bring about just and beneficent laws through and by which the whole people may be brought into their own and their just rights fostered and protected."

Prof. Takahishi of the Imperial University of Tokio had issued a statement holding that Japan should demand at once the right of naturalization in the United States as the only way of solving the problem.

Appreciate Wilson's Efforts.

Tokio, May 5.—The Japanese press expresses a general appreciation of the efforts of President Wilson in behalf of a land bill in California that would be unobjectionable to the Japanese.

Leaders of public opinion in Japan are advising that an attitude of calmness be maintained in the present situation. Such men as Baron Shibusawa and Chairman Nakano of the Tokio chamber of commerce publicly assert confidence that the American government and people alike are opposed to discriminatory measures or legislation. They declare that every effort must now be made to discover and erradicate the root of antagonism to the Japanese in California in order that amicable relations may be restored.

While the Japanese newspapers voice these same sentiments, they blame the government for what they term a failure of diplomacy.

Special dispatches received from Washington telling of reported plans for the mobilization of the Japanese navy are read here with ridicule by those who are best informed on naval plans.

century ago, this modern day militant minister will give up the spiritual battle for actual warfare.

"I am exchanging the cassock for the sword," he wrote Gen. Antonio Rabago, military governor of Chihuahua state. "Having been marked for death by the revolutionists, I offer my services, promising to raise a force of 200 men loyal to the government."

Gen. Rabago accepted the offer, commissioning the priest to raise a volunteer corps. Guerrero, in the mountainous district west of Chihuahua city, was the birthplace of the Madero revolution.

Financed From Outside.

St. Louis, Mo., May 5.—The Mexican revolution is being financed by outside money, Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford university, declared last night in a sermon at the Second Presbyterian church. His sermon was one of many delivered by speakers and delegates at the Fourth American Peace congress.

"The turmoil in Mexico is financed with money from outside sources," said Dr. Jordan. "If the supply of outside money should cease, the revolt would cease. I don't know where the money comes from. If I did I would tell the administration at Washington. But it comes from someone who is financially interested in promoting the disturbance."

Dr. Jordan suggested several reforms in war regulations that should be instituted at once, one of which was that international law should prevent any nation from collecting debts by force of arms or by threatening to do so.

"We of the United States have no enemies," he continued; "we have no nations to offend us. No nation in Europe or Asia could fight us at all unless it obtained financial assistance from New York."

when the bill was withdrawn.

"The doings of these miscreants," he continued, "were openly published in the newspaper, the Suffragette, which is an organ of crime."

Referring to the conspiracy revealed in the correspondence of the chemist, Clayton, with Miss Annie Kenney, Mr. Bodkin said:

"It is a terrible thing for a man to prostitute his knowledge to carry out such wicked acts as the burning of buildings and the explosion of bombs.

Convicts on Pension List.

"The documents seized at the headquarters of the militant suffragettes included receipts for money paid to suffragettes convicted of crimes, which apparently qualified them to be placed on the pension list.

"In Miss Harriet Kerr's room were found letters from an engineer of the name of Buckner, living in Hamburg, Germany, offering to sell for $760 a large quantity of pungent powder for use in music halls, theaters and other public places. The powder was guaranteed to cause violent sneezing and tremendous irritation of the skin."

Another letter read by Mr. Bodkin referred to a proposal by the suffragettes to damage some stockyards in Great Britain. The cost of the scheme, $100,000, was probably the reason why it was not immediately accepted. The letter said:

"The results of the job will be splendid."

Big Sums Invested.

When Mrs. Beatrice Saunders was arrested and searched at the militant headquarters she attempted to destroy a letter giving details of the investments made by the Women's Social and Political union in foreign bonds. A number of checks for "very large amounts" were also found.

In concluding his address for the prosecution, Mr. Bodkin asked the magistrate to send all the defendants for trial at the sessions.

RAISING FUND TO BUY EYE-GLASSES

S. Frank Stockdale Will Lecture at High School May 16.

Members of the board of education, teachers, school children and others interested in the medical inspection work in connection with the Duluth schools are working hard to make a big financial success of the lecture to be given at the Central high school Friday evening, May 16, by S. Frank Stockdale.

The lecture is to be given for the benefit of the fund raised to pay for glasses and other appliances for the correction of physical defects in children whose parents are unable to meet the expenses. The fund raised last year for the purpose has been about exhausted and the medical inspectors and teachers are anxious that it be replenished.

Mr. Stockdale will give his illustrated lecture, "The Dawn of Plenty," said to be a most entertaining and instructive discourse. Duluth people who know of Mr. Stockdale are enthusiastic over the lecture and are endeavoring to interest others in it.

The fund for which the lecture is to be given is an important adjunct of the medical inspection work. Many children are found to have eye trouble and other defects which might readily be remedied with proper treatment, but very often the families are unable to pay for glasses and appliances. The specialists of the city have volunteered their services, but those interested in the work have endeavored to meet the other necessary expenses through the raising of a fund by entertainments.

COMMITTEE TO DISCUSS SMOKE

Commercial Club Members Will Consider Means of Abating Nuisance.

The new smoke prevention committee of the Commercial club will hold its first meeting tomorrow noon to discuss means of abating the smoke nuisance as it exists in Duluth.

The committee was appointed with the idea that the members would study the smoke question from all its angles and devise a means of preventing heavy outpourings of soot. It is contended that the smoke could be prevented without detriment to the buildings or industries responsible for it, and if that is the case the committee will probably urge measures to bring it about.

The committee consists of J. B. Crane, chairman; A. W. Frick, Floyd M. Fuller, A. B. Siewert and James Wanless.

Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, recently announced that he would send out inspectors to instruct firemen in methods of firing that would greatly minimize the smoke nuisance. Dr. Webster will have the cooperation of the Commercial club committee in his efforts to abate the nuisance.

MURCHISON WILL ATTEND MEETING

Commissioner and Commercial Club Committee to Consider Street Work.

The street improvement committee of the Commercial club will hold another meeting tomorrow. It will be attended by Commissioner of Public Works Roderick Murchison and the members of the committee will talk over matters of street improvement and maintenance with him.

At a meeting Saturday the members of the committee discussed their policy in tentative fashion. It was decided that the committee would consider maintenance as well as the improvement of streets.

Mr. Murchison will tell the members of the committee tomorrow just what the plans of the division are for the improvement and maintenance of the streets this year, and the committee will prepare to co-operate with the city officials in working out a systematic and efficient plan of caring for the streets.

The committee consists of H. J. Atwood, chairman; J. L. Cromwell, W. B. Getchell, Alfred Hanchett, W. J. McCabe and John A. Stephenson.

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER

Washington, May 5.—Warm spots in the East and frosts in the Northwest and the Rocky mountain country are forecasted in the weather bureau's weekly bulletin. The bulletin indicates that during the week the temperatures will average above normal east of the Mississippi and below normal over the plains states, the Rocky Mountain and plateau regions.

"The weather will be generally fair and warm the first part of the week in the Eastern states, followed by unsettled weather by Wednesday and local rains thereafter," the forecast announces. "There will be frequent showers during the first half of the week in the great central valleys and the Southern states, while generally fair wather will prevail for some days over the plains states and the Rocky Mountain and plateau states. There will be frosts the first half of the week in the Northwestern states and the plateau and Rocky mountain regions."

SKIFF UPSETS; THREE DROWN.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 5.—Two women and a man were drowned in the Ohio river Sunday and the fourth occupant of the skiff in which they were rowing had a narrow escape. The dead are:

MRS. ADDIE HERTZMAN.
MRS. LILLIAN HYSELL.
THOMAS SULLIVAN.

The drowned were all residents of Newport, Ky., across the river from this city. George Fenton, also of Newport, was rescued.

The party had attempted to get out of the way of a passing excursion steamer and rowed close to a fleet of coal barges. The waves from the steamer upset their skiff and all were drawn underneath the barges and drowned except Fenton, who clung to the side of one of until rescued.

ORESTE HEAD OF HAITIEN REPUBLIC.

Port Au Prince, Haiti, May 5.—The Haitien congress has elected Michel Oreste president of the republic, to succeed Gen. Tancrede Auguste, who died Friday night. Oreste was a senator.

Serious disorders in which there was much rifle firing began during the services at the funeral of Gen. Auguste. A panic ensued among the great assemblage in the church and many women and children were trampled and seriously injured in the rush from the cathedral.

North Dakotan Burned.

Valley City, N. D., May 5.—P. S. Scranstad of Nome, sixteen miles south of here, died in a fire which burned his home early Saturday. Scranstad's wife made a heroic but futile attempt to save her husband's life, when she discovered that he was caught in the burning building. Passing through the flames she dragged the man to the open air. He lived only about six hours.

Let An Electric Flat Iron Lighten Your House Work

If you already enjoy the comfort of Electric Light in your home, you should also take advantage of the economy and convenience afforded by electrical appliances. An Electric Flat Iron is one of many such. It does your ironing quicker and better—away from the close, stuffy kitchen or laundry. It saves countless steps, too, and the cost for electricity is very little.

Electric Light—the Best Light

If your home is not yet wired for the modern illuminant, you should consider its many advantages. Electric Light is the safest, cleanest, brightest and — everything considered — the cheapest light. Why not install it now?

Woman's Realm

Miss Alice Brethorst, who has been occupied with missionary work in Southern China for the past six years, who is in America on a furlough, is in Duluth this week and will give several talks during her stay here on "Experiences in the Orient."

Tomorrow afternoon Miss Brethorst will give a talk for children at the First M. E. church, Third avenue west and Third street, at 4 o'clock on life in China and the customs of the Chinese children.

Wednesday afternoon she will be the speaker at the regular monthly social afternoon of the missionary societies of the First M. E. church, which will be held in the church parlors with Mrs. J. A. Watterworth, Mrs. Watson S. Moore, Mrs. Isaac Moore and Mrs. W. L. Smithles as hostesses for the afternoon. Three o'clock is the hour set for this meeting.

Wednesday evening she will speak at the Lester Park M. E. church, and Thursday afternoon at a social meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas E. Perry, 2333 West Third street.

Miss Brethorst was a guest at the home of Rev. and Mrs. George E. Silloway, 310 North Twenty-second avenue west, and will be entertained in other homes during her visit here.

These talks on the work in China will be particularly interesting, as "China's New Day" has been studied by many of the missionary societies of the city during the past season, and a large attendance is expected at all of these meetings.

MISSION BOARD.

Arrangements for Summer School Will Be Told.

A meeting of the executive board of the Interdenominational Missionary union is called for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Young Women's Christian association building, at which time the committee in charge of the arrangements for the summer school of missions will make a full report and all missionary societies of the city should be represented at this meeting.

AT LIBRARY.

Drama League Branch Will Meet.

An important meeting of the Duluth branch of the Drama league will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the library clubroom. Reports of the recent convention in Chicago will be given, and a large attendance is desired.

For Brides.

Miss Lucille Youngs and Miss Ada Hawks, who will be summer brides, were the honor guests at a linen shower given by Miss Franc Adele Ensign Saturday afternoon at her home, 423 East Third street. Red hearts and dainty bouquets of flowers decorated the rooms, and progressive hearts was played during the afternoon. The brides-to-be were given a series of questions to answer before the linen was presented.

DULUTH GIRL NOW IN VAUDEVILLE

MISS EDNA MUNSEY.

Miss Edna Munsey, daughter of George S. Munsey of this city, who has made a success in dramatic roles for the past two years, has taken up vaudeville work and has been appearing at Keith's on Twenty-eighth street and Broadway, New York city. She has a "straight singing act," which has been taking well and she will probably continue in this new line of work.

FRANKLIN MEETINGS.

Mothers' and Neighborhood Clubs.

Miss Jean Poirier will give the history of the Franklin school at the meeting of the Franklin School Mothers' club which will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the school building. Miss Ethel Ericson will talk on medical inspection, and a drill by the kindergarten children, directed by Miss Buchanan, and a group of songs by pupils of the fifth grade will also be given. Harry Segal will be the soloist for the afternoon.

Wednesday evening the Neighborhood club of that school will meet at the schoolhouse at 8 o'clock and Dr. Maurice Lefkovits will speak.

APOLLO CLUB OF DULUTH

SPRING CONCERT.

GOWAN-RICHARDS.

Bridal Dinner and Wedding Plans.

One of the events of the week which will be of interest to a wide number of people is the marriage of Miss Lillian Gowan, 1010 East Second street, and Carver Richard of Virginia, which will take place at high noon Wednesday at the residence of Bishop McGolrick. There will be no attendants and a wedding breakfast will follow at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Francis Dowd Dacey of 1621 East Fourth street. Only immediate friends will be present.

Mr. Richards' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Richards of 6029 London road entertained at a dinner party of fourteen covers Saturday evening at their home for Miss Gowan and Mr. Richards and members of the two families. Pink tulips and pink carnations were charmingly arranged with myrtle for the decorations of table and rooms.

Mr. Richards will arrive this evening from a two days' stay in Virginia.

Ask Council's Aid.

The Woman's Council has been requested by the public health department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to interest other organizations of the city in the fourth international ocngress of school hygiene to be held at Buffalo Aug. 25 to 30.

The appointment of delegates from the following agencies is urged: Local clubs, city board of health, school board, teachers' association, Associated Charities, Commercial club, orphanages and other organizations.

The congress is concerned with the establishment of efficient medical, hygienic and sanitary supervision in all schools. Some of the greatest educators and health authorities of the country will attend the sessions. An effort will be made to have Duluth represented.

Social Dance.

Mrs. T. Veitch will give a dancing party on Wednesday evening of this week at Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. A large attendance is expected.

Surprise Party.

Miss Dolly Lowry of 2882 Highland avenue, Duluth Heights, was pleasantly surprised at her home Saturday afternoon in honor of her 12th birthday. She received many pretty gifts. Games were played and lunch was served to the following:

NEXT SUNDAY IS MOTHERS' DAY

Next Sunday, May 11, will be Mothers' day.

The annual observance of Mothers' day has come to have a place in the life of almost every family and from an obscure and simple beginning only a few years ago the idea of setting aside just one day each year to honor and commemorate the mother whose love and care can never be repaid, the idea has assumed the proportions of a national holiday and is receiving the approbation and support of all those who have come to know about it.

The accustomed observance of the day has taken the form of expression in flowers, using white flowers for the memory of the mother who is no more and bright flowers for mothers living.

The Duluth florists are planning for the big sale and have made arrangements for an extra supply of fresh and beautiful flowers for next Sunday. The carnations especially are used for gifts of the day and thousands have been ordered for Duluth customers.

CHANGING THEIR ABODE

Many Duluth Families Are Moving to New Residences or Opening Summer Homes.

The moving spirit seems to have taken possession of more people than usual this spring and families are moving out of flats into houses, and others are taking vacated flats so that they may have them for the winter, others are opening summer homes on Park Point or other parts of the city, and a few are moving out to summer homes in other places for the summer.

Many who are not moving have had the moving fever, but after a few house-hunting expeditions have decided to "stay where we are this year if they will fix up our house a little for us."

Among those who have changed their residences this spring are:

J. C. Hunter and daughters, who have been spending the winter at 120 Eighth avenue east, have opened their home at Glen Avon for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. McCarthy of 1031 East Fifth street have changed their residence to 911 East Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Pineo of 1227 East Third street have opened their summer home at 3130 Minnesota avenue and will spend the summer there.

Mr and Mrs. P. E. McCormack of 1602 Jefferson street have moved to 1610½ East Superior street.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice P. Bywater of 1610½ East Superior street have moved to 19 South Seventeenth avenue east.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Winchester of 1232 East First street will move tomorrow to 1528 East Third street.

Mrs. Ida Trux and sons of 14 Chester terrace have moved to 124 Eighth avenue east.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Calligan have changed their address from 712 East Fourth street to 702 East Fourth street.

John D. Mahon, formerly contracting freight agent of the Omaha railroad here, now general agent of the same road at Superior, has moved his home from 1623 East Fifth street to Superior, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Thayer of 717 West Second street have moved to 1007 East Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Colton have moved from 1716 East Fifth street to 1732 East Fifth street.

Misses Mary and Rose Weiler and Mrs. Brown will occupy Pine Tree lodge, 3029 Minnesota avenue, for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Boerner of 715 Fifth avenue east have purchased the Bernett home at 3125 Minnesota avenue, Park Point, and will move in soon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harrison and family of 3117 Minnesota avenue, Park Point, have moved to Superior to make their home in the future.

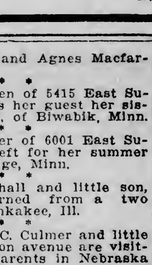
Mr. and Mrs. N. Gibeau of 2713 West Huron street have changed their residence to 28 Fourth avenue west.

Mrs. O. K. Ostergren of Lakeside has taken a cottage on Park Point, Tall Pines, for the summer.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Co-operative Kitchen Idea is Not Practicable One.



Apropos of co-operative tendencies, now comes a man, an architect by profession, who proposes the co-operative kitchen, one kitchen to every 100 families. Each family is to retain its home, its privacy and individuality. Only the drudgery of providing three meals a day is to be consigned to a corps of chefs employed by these families. The meals are to be prepared in one immense kitchen located in the center of the block and encroaching upon some of the space now given to back yards.

There will be no regular menu. Each family will be privileged to order a breakfast, lunch or dinner that is individual in every essential. The advantage of the plan, as the architect presents it, are several. First, it precludes this drudgery of the housewife, or at least the responsibility of it. It will reduce expenses incurred by the maintenance of a very ordinary cook to about one-seventh of her regular wage per family, and it will also reduce the cost of foodstuffs and fuel because, bought in quantity, these can be secured at wholesale prices.

A cook, a very ordinary one at that, demands $20 a month in wages. A cook each for 100 families brings the money thus expended up to $2,000 a month. By securing one chef at $100 a month, a sub-chef at $75 a month and two assistants at $50 a month, a force sufficient to prepare the meals for the 100 families is obtained at an expenditure of $275. The saving puts the idea in favor at once, not to mention the saving in energy and anxiety, fuel and foodstuffs.

But, like all other Utopian ideas, this one seems perfect until the surface is pricked and then it discloses disadvantages, one of which I haven't the least hesitation in mentioning. Cooking prepared by rule by the most efficient chefs lacks something which we will call the "home flavor," for want of a more expressive term. Anyone who dines constantly at a hotel, no matter what the character of the food, grows in time to note a discouraging sameness.

It's good; it never fails of being just right, but oh, the monotony of it. It gets to tastes as though it was all boiled in the same pot, baked in the same pan. I have heard men and women used to the best that money could provide catered to by the most highly paid chefs, dwellers in hotels whose elegance and perfections are world-famed, remark that they would give much for a genuine, home-prepared, home-cooked dinner.

I am sure the co-operative kitchen, though it offers many advantages, would soon be deserted, and we would soon find the 100 families in their own kitchens working again the same $5 cooks.

A W ordto Duluth Housekeepers

Next time you do not know just what to serve for dinner try "Minnesota" Spaghetti. You will be mighty pleased to see how the family enjoys the delicious appetizing flavor and, if you serve it often, you will make a big saving in household expenses.

"Minnesota" Spaghetti is the most nourishing and most easily digested food known. It can be served in so many ways that no one ever tires of it.

It is very easy to prepare and it can be made to take the place of meat very largely—its cost is only about one cent a dish.

Insist on getting the genuine "Minnesota" Spaghetti, made from the VERY BEST DURUM wheat with ALL the wonderfully nourishing Gluten left in.

DIRECT LINE TO THE WEST

West Duluth Much Interested in the New Soo Cutoff.

Citizens Believe They Will Have Station Franchise Calls For.

The Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie railroad (Soo line) will have the best of facilities for tapping the city's docks and industrial section, if the plans now under way are carried out. The railroad will intersect every railroad in the city, and will skirt the entire water front from Spirit Lake to Twentieth avenue west.

The company's engineers have been busily engaged for some time past in planning a line from the western end of the city to connect with its present line just east of the Northern Pacific railroad's Grassy Point line. The route will cross the Northern Pacific track just east of the blast furnace, run through the Zenith Furnace company's property south of the casthouse, and through the entire residence district in the vicinity of Wascca street.

The company has already purchased nearly all the property it requires to enter the city in this manner. A large amount of this property was acquired with the taking over of the Wisconsin Central, and since that time it is said that much more has been purchased.

It is the intention of using this route as a short cut to get its trains out of the city toward the west. A new line is planned which will give the company almost a "bee line" road to Lawler and the Cuyuna range country and Western Minnesota. The line will run through Carlton and tap some of the richest farming country in the state. The road is now being extended west from Cuyuna, and it is believed this will ultimately be the main line to the West.

The announcement of the proposed line has caused considerable excitement in West Duluth. It is said that the building of this line will mean that the franchise provision requiring a station to be built west of Forty-eighth avenue west will be carried out. Merchants of this end of the city have been waiting for this to be carried out for the past four years, and are of the opinion that it will mean more to this section than any other improvement, with the possible exception of the building of the steel plant.

Farewell Party.

A farewell party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wicklund, 3901 West Eighth street, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, 2909 West Eighth street, who will leave for Virginia to make their home. The guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames Nels Setterquist, L. O. Forse, Robert Anderson, John Peterson, Gust Wallinder and Edward Norstued.

HIBBING PASTOR IS HEARD HERE

Rev. J. W. Helmuth Preaches at New Duluth Church.

Rev. J. W. Helmuth of Hibbing occupied the pulpit of the New Duluth Presbyterian church yesterday morning. He spoke on "The Assurance of Christianity." The pastor said that the ordinary mind needs evidence of assurance. "As the government revcals its principles and objects to its prospective citizens, so God has revealed His love to those who seek Him," he said.

"There are two ways of becoming heir; one to be born in a family, the other to be adopted. God uses both experiences in offering His Kingdom to mankind. His heirs meet their conditions through faith and patience."

FURNACES FOR MANGANESE ORE

New Industry May Result From Cuyuna Range Activity.

Three furnaces for the treatment of manganese ore, mined on the Cuyuna range, will probably be built in this end of the city.

Officers of a company which owns large ore properties on the Western range have been looking over properties at Spirit Lake, New Duluth and other sections for the purpose of securing a site for the plant, but as yet have not made any decision as to where the plant will be located. They refuse to disclose their plans as yet.

It is planned to build three electric furnaces in which the ore will be treated. The process will leave the iron ready for the steel mills.

It is intimated that the furnaces will be only the first units of a plant which will ultimately turn out the finished steel articles. On the success of the furnaces will depend largely the other units of the plant.

WORKMAN FALLS AT STEEL PLANT

Sustains Fractured Skull and May Not Recover.

Lawrence Wanamaker, 25 years old, a structural iron worker, lies at the point of death with a fractured skull at the Duluth hospital as the result of a fall of thirty feet from the beams of a building at the Minnesota Steel company's plant.

In addition to having a fracture of the skull it is believed that some ribs are broken and that the man may be injured internally. Dr. Edward T. Martin the company's physician administered temporary relief and ordered the man taken to the hospital.

The accident occurred just as the men were about to quit work for the noon hour. Wanamaker was about to descend when he lost his footing and dropped. At 2:30 p. m. he was still in an unconscious condition. Dr. David Graham said that he had hope of the man recovering.

CURLERS TO HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

George J. Mallory Will Give Feature Address Tuesday Evening.

"The Curling Game to Keep You Young" will be the feature address of the banquet of the Western Curling club to be held at the Dormedy hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street, tomorrow evening. George J. Mallory will give the talk.

The program will commence at 7:30 o'clock with the supper served by the West Duluth W. C. T. U. members. The music will be furnished by Blewett's orchestra. The addresses will be given by donors of trophies and the trophy winners. A. C. Anderson, president of the New Duluth club, who won the Ordway trophy at the annual bonspiel held in St. Paul last winter, will also speak. J. Allyn Scott will be toastmaster.

The personnel of the winning rinks and the trophies won are as follows: Bagley and Union Match cups, Kriedler, Glipin, Daugaard and Holland, skip; club championship, McDonald, Jr., Brown, Sr., and Dr. Keyes, skip; Burns Lumber company's event, McDonald, Lund, Wilkins and Melvin Olson, skip; Commercial club and Grand Avenue pharmacy cigars, Forbes, Sullivan, Method and Zauft, skip; Henricksen event, R. Donald, Donald, Scott and Hitis, skip; Esterly cup, Kaplan, Kilton, Wade, Jr., and Wade, Sr., skip.

The program will be featured with a Scotch dialect selection given by Russell Kilton and Joseph McDonald. Following the program the curlers will dance in the larger hall.

Bartz-Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bartz of New Duluth announce the wedding of their daughter, Grace, to George Johnson. The wedding took place Tuesday, Rev. R. J. Stenberg performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside at New Duluth, where Mr. Johnson is interested in business.

Memorial Services.

Memorial services were held yesterday afternoon by the West Duluth lodge, No. 168, I. O. O. F., at the Asbury Methodist church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street. Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the church, delivered the memorial sermon.

STEALS (?) POLICE PROSECUTOR'S HAT

Police Prosecutor James A. Wharton was obliged to travel about this morning with a strange man's hat, becoming a victim of circumstances and some man's absent mindedness.

During the forenoon a number of men were at his office in the city hall to lay various matters before him. In leaving one of them walked off with his hat, a derby, and left his own, a soft crush hat, in its place.

BOY HELD ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Stans Novack, 20 years old, was arrested by Capt. Fiskett this noon, charged with burglarizing several residences near his home in the West end hillside district.

Novack was sent to Red Wing when but 15 years old and twice broke his parole. He was brought back twice and last Christmas was given another leave of absence. He failed to return and it is understood went to Milwaukee, where he was until two weeks ago.

It is claimed that Novack had been selling his loot in Superior.

OBITUARY

Frederick Hess, Sr., owner and publisher of the California Demokrat, the pioneer German newspaper of the Pacific coast, for the last fifty-seven years, died at his home in San Francisco. Death followed several months' of failing health and was due to heart disease. Mr. Hess, who was born in Coblenz, Germany, in 1827, and went to San Francisco in 1852, entered the composing room of the Demokrat, then a little weekly paper.

Sir Tatton Sykes died in London, May 4 in his eighty-eighth year. His vast estate in Yorkshire, 34,000 acres, now descends to his only son, Lieut.-Col. Mark Sykes, who served with distinction in the South African war. Sir Tatton and Lady Sykes were well known in the United States, to which they had made frequent visits. Lady Sykes, who died in 1912, was the eldest daughter of the Rt. Hon. George Augustus Cavendish-Bentinck, a grandson of the third duke of Portland.

ALL HOUGHTON HONORS LATE HARRY EDWARDS.

Houghton, Mich., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Henry R. Edwards, member of the senior class of the Michigan College of Mines, held Sunday afternoon, was made the occasion of one of the largest funerals seen here in months, the deceased having been born and reared here and connected with some of the well-known families. Rev. William Reid Cross conducted the services at Trinity Episcopal church, which was crowded, the members of the college faculty and students attending in a body. Interment was made in Forest Hill cemetery.

A quartet, Mesdames Morrow and Webb and Messrs. Koronski and Richards sang "Abide With Me" and "Asleep With Jesus."

Six boyhood friends of the deceased were pallbearers: Messrs. Carlos Haug, Elmer Haug, Thiel Robertson, Charles Rashleigh, Charles Anderson and Sylvester Shea.

BARNUM WINS HOT GAME FROM CLOQUET

Barnum, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Barnum and Carlton had a red-hot ball game here yesterday, Barnum winning by a score of 4 to 2. It was a strike-out day for both pitchers, Felgen for Barnum fanning nine men and Watkins for Carlton sending ten men back to the bench after whiffing the air.

The score by innings:

Barnum .....0011001 1x—4
Carlton .....0000020 0—2

Batteries—Felgen and Felgen; Watkins and Flint.

WILEY SCOUTS THE OSLER THEORY.

Washington, May 5.—Men and women 60 years old and over are the real benefactors and the actual workers for the uplift of the human race, in the opinion of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former government "pure food" expert, who made the declaration Sunday to the Washington secular league. Dr. Wiley was distinctly opposed to the Osler theory and insisted that it was possible to grow old without becoming senile.

"The idea that the great services to humanity are rendered by young men and women," Dr. Wiley said, "is shown by the facts to be erroneous. These services are rendered by elderly men and women. We do not reach the maximum of efficiency until the age of 60."

WISCONSIN STATE BANKS VERY SOUND.

Madison, Wis., May 5.—No failures have occurred among Wisconsin state banks for over eight years, or since June, 1904, according to the annual report of State Banking Commissioner Albert E. Kuolt, submitted to the governor.

NEWSPAPER SUCCEEDS IN GIVING CITY BLACK EYE

Railroad Officials Abandon New Service and Also the Old.

Disgusted at Reception of Plans for Shoppers' Special to Duluth.

The Duluth News Tribune has succeeded in preventing the institution of a new passenger service which would have been of great benefit to the merchants of the city and at the same time has utterly failed in its attempt to keep the old service as it was, in the opinion of railroad men, merchants and traffic experts.

Announcement was made by the Great Northern railroad today that the proposed new train from Grand Rapids to Duluth would not be put on, that the Merry Widow would continue to run between Grand Rapids and Virginia, as formerly, but that the Wooden Shoe would run only between Duluth and Hibbing, instead of between Duluth and Virginia.

The service proposed by the Great Northern, and for which the traffic commission worked, and which was blocked by the News Tribune's agitation, would have enabled people from the Western Mesaba to come to Duluth, remain here three hours and thirty-nine minutes, and return the same evening. The old service, which is now continued, gives them just one hour and five minutes in Duluth. The road's officials evidently became disgusted at the reception of their efforts to improve service and called off the new train, while they ignored the morning papers clamor to have the old and useless service continued.

The Grand Rapids-Virginia service will continue as formerly, a train leaving Grand Rapids at 6:40 a. m. and arriving at Virginia at 10:10 a. m. and leaving Virginia at 5 p. m. and arriving at Grand Rapids at 8:20 a. m.

Instead of leaving Virginia at 7 a. m., as formerly, the Wooden Shoe will leave Hibbing at 8:40 a. m. and arrive in Duluth at 12:50 p. m. and will leave Duluth at 1:55 p. m., arriving at Hibbing at 6:30 p. m. Connections will be made at Kelly Lake as at present, but the morning service from Virginia to Hibbing, and the evening service from Hibbing to Virginia will be no more.

CITY BRIEFS

M. L. Stewart Company,
Successors to Tliwing-Stewart Co., Printers, Designers, Lithographers."

Held For Assault.

Gust Theodore, 26 years old, a marine fireman, was arrested yesterday on a charge of assaulting D. A. Sackas of 121 West First street. It is claimed that Theodore forced his way into the place, smashing the door with a hammer and attacking Sackas. In police court today he pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for this afternoon.

Alford & Hunt.
Have moved their offices to rooms 721-724 Providence building, Duluth, Minn.

Printing Contract Let.

The Greer Printing company will get the contract for printing the annual reports of the city officers. The company's bid of $1,235 was low. The job includes 250 reports of city officers, combined, 500 reports of the fire department, 300 of the comptroller and treasurer, 500 of the police department and 250 of the health department.

Dr. A. J. Braden.
Announces the removal of his office to 415-416 Fidelity building.

Bids Are Opened.

Bids for the improvement of Seventh street from Fourth avenue west to Fourteenth avenue east, were opened at the city hall today. The various bids had not been computed up to noon and the figures will not be available until this afternoon. The estimated cost of the job was $82,000 but much more favorable bids are anticipated.

New Location.

Dr. H. E. Webster has moved his offices from the Providence building to 309 and 310 Lyceum building.

Want Road Improved.

A delegation of property owners called upon Commissioner Murchison to ask that work be started as soon as possible on the improvement of the Jean Duluth road. The old council appropriated $750 as the city's share of the cost. The balance will be paid by the county and property owners.

Removal Notice.

The Penn Mutual Life Insurance company, Henry I. Pinneo, general agent, has taken offices in 602 and 603 Providence building.

Mothers' Meeting.

A mothers' meeting will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Franklin school. Miss Jean Poirier will be the principal speaker. There will also be a talk on medical inspection in the schools. A program of music and recitations will be furnished by the children.

The Herald Special Edition.

Help advertise Duluth and Northern Minnesota by sending The Duluth Herald's Duluth, the City of Industry number, out May 26, to friends everywhere. Show them the city you live in and the country round about. Nearly 250 illustrations, including twelve splendid pictures of the steel plant. All pictures which will appear are on view in the large lobby of the new St. Louis hotel, in the heart of Duluth. You must order in advance. Extra copies, wrapped ready for mailing, 5 cents. All orders must be in by May 20, as it will take a week to print this big edition.

County Board Meeting.

Little of importance is scheduled to come before the St. Louis county board at its May meeting tomorrow. The usual number of road petitions will be received and the customary grist of bills will be allowed. From present indications the meeting will be a rather uneventful one. The board will act upon the petition of residents in 57-12 and 13 and 58-12 for the establishment of a new township to be known as the town of Bassett. The proposed town adjoins the town of Ault to the north.

No Chance to See Game.

Today marks the opening of the local baseball season, but it doesn't mean a half holiday for the employes of the city treasurer's department. For today is payday as well as the first baseball day.

No Lights on Auto.

William D. White, an insurance agent, was arrested Saturday night on a charge of operating an automobile without the lights required by law. He was released on his own recognizance to appear in police court today.

Check Was Worthless.

John Le Sage, 23 years old, a contractor, was arrested Saturday evening on a charge of obtaining $10 on a worthless check at Miller's cafeteria. He pleaded guilty to petty larceny in police court today. It appeared that he had no funds in the bank with which to meet the check but he made good the amount and sentence was suspended.

Acquaintance Meeting.

The regular weekly meeting at the Y. M. C. yesterday afternoon was an acquaintance meeting. People in attendance were called upon to tell who they are and what they are, and the part they are playing or want to play in the city's life. Those present expressed themselves as delighted with the novelty. The meeting was preceded by a luncheon.

Man Disappears.

Report was made to the police Saturday that M. A. Finan had disappeared from the rooming house at 519½ West Superior street. The clerk said that Finan had left his room without his coat, hat, shoes and vest and that his watch had been found in a nearby alley. He was a transient about 50 years old.

Mrs. Humason Dies.

Duluth friends of Dr. G. H. Humason, former pastor of the First M. E. church of Duluth, have been notified of the death of Mrs. Humason at Moorestown, N. J., Thursday, May 1. Death came after a long illness. Besides her husband, Mrs. Humason is survived by a married daughter. The funeral was held at Buffalo, N. Y. Mrs. Humason is remembered by many Duluth people.

Land Company Incorporated.

Articles of incorporation were filed today with the register of deeds by the Cartin Land company of Chisholm. The new concern is organized to engage in the real estate business. Its incorporators are L. C. Newcombe of Hibbing and Frank Gouze and W. M. Pratt of Chisholm. The capital stock is $10,000.

I. C. Buell
Has moved her law office to 419 Providence building.

GRAND JURY WILL CONVENE WEDNESDAY

Between twenty-five and thirty cases will be presented to the May grand jury which will convene at the opening of the May term of district court Wednesday.

According to County Attorney Warren E. Greene the most important case to be considered is the murder charge against Peter Perelli, who is alleged to have killed Michael Lenovich by striking him over the head in a fit of anger. Both were inmates of the county poor farm.

The grand jury will also consider the cases of the three men who are held for the burglary of the residence of O. L. Mather.

WATER FAMINE AT POOR FARM

The water supply at the county poor farm is said to be low and steps are being taken to remedy the matter.

The county poor commission at its monthly meeting this afternoon will open bids for the construction of another well there.

The board estimates that the cost of bringing the water from the city water mains to the poor farm would be about $35,000 and that to secure it from Duluth Heights about $6,000.

It was deemed advisable to sink another well at the farm instead. The well will be drilled about 300 feet deep.

Rate Cases Not Decided.

The Spring Sale of Remnants of Silks and Dress Goods Opened This Morning

If you were not here today you have no idea how many pretty materials are here in usable lengths for dresses, suits, coats, skirts, children's dresses and boys' suits.

And remnant prices are marked in plain figures at ⅓ to ½ less than these goods must sell for in full pieces.

It matters little to you whether the goods be cut from a full piece or if it be only the board end of one of our best sellers—just so long as the material suits you and there is enough for your purpose.

The Becomingness of Our Hats Is Much Talked About

Last winter when our buyer for the millinery department decided to go to California we at once thought of some milliners of whom we had heard as being mighty successful in catering to refined trade in a very dressy city.

We succeeded in bringing them here to serve you and it is gratifying indeed to know how you have all appreciated their work.

You find hats here so charmingly different—so delightfully simple and yet stylishly artistic that you have no difficulty in finding your hat.

And because they know how to create style without overloading their hats our prices are moderate.

Come in tomorrow—let our milliners show you hats of decided individuality at moderate prices.

There's Such Delightful Style in Our Suits, Coats and Gowns

It's an inspiration to see them.

Dame Nature is putting on her new spring dress—and you'll feel better to follow her example.

Those handsome Wooltex Coats and Suits advertised in the magazines are here—

The coats at $15.00, $20.00 and $25.00 and the suits at $25.00.

They are the utmost in value and style—as you yourself will say on sight.

The Baby Dresses and Little Tots' Wash Suits Are Mighty Pretty

A New York maker who supplies some of the most exclusive Baby Shops in the country has sent them to us for our own Baby Shop.

We thought nothing would be too good for your little ones.

Of course, you will want to see them for there will be nothing just like them anywhere else. Prices are moderate when one considers the cost of making such garments.

You Will Put Your Foot Down in Comfort If We Shoe You

No matter how busy we are, we never "rush" a fitting. We would rather miss a sale than lose a customer through hasty fitting. Your shoes make or mar your comfort of body and peace of mind, and we have gathered a complete assortment of all wanted lasts in all widths—and in all sizes so that we can fit you properly.

High Boots—Blacks or Tans—$4.00 and $5.00 for quality shoes—of decided style and ease.

AITKIN LAND SALE LARGE

Total Acreage Sold Was 14,289, Bringing Sum of $119,052.

Aitkin, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The recent sale of state lands in Aitkin county broke all records for Northern Minnesota, according to figures just announced by County Auditor Lemire.

There were sold the following: 1,216.2 acres of swamp land sold for $57,123.66; the timber thereon selling for $6,665 more; 5,828.77 acres of school land brought $49,833.79, with $625 additional for the standing timber thereon; of delinquent swamp land, 516 acres were disposed of with the timber selling for $50 additional; 728 acres of delinquent school land sold for $7,460 and the timber thereon for $40. The total number of acres sold was 14,289.03 and brought $119,052.83, while standing timber brought $7,380. The first payment on land received was $30,252.90.

MINISTER SCORES CALIFORNIA ACT

Minneapolis Preacher Denounces Alien Law and Praises Japs.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 5.—Rev. G. L. Morrill, who has just returned from a trip around the world, spoke at the People's church Sunday before a large congregation on "Our Japanese Brothers." His address was devoted largely to the California alien land bill, which was criticized. Among other things, he said:

"The alien land bill is something that would have disgraced hell in its palmiest days.

"It is a peace of political perfidy, of rotten state rights, of proverbial Californian bunkum and of race and religious bigotry that makes the Oriental heathen a Christian saint in comparison. The bill is unkind, unfair, un-American and un-Christian.

"The alien and undesirable citizen is not the patient Jap, but the 'Jingo' politician, who prates loud of loyalty to the United States, but is more disloyal and with less reason, than the South ever was.

"This bill will cost Uncle Sam more money, time and trouble than the whole state of California is worth.

Disgrace to State.

"The Webb bill is a disgrace to the state .a humiliation to a friendly power and an insult to the sister states which came to California's relief in the hour of her fire and earthquake distress.

"God made California, but its gold would have been undug, its railroads unbuilded, its cities a sandheap, if it had not been for the faithful Orientals who have made the wilderness to blossom like a rose.

"California well may be jealous of the Jap—his muscle is harder, his mind keener, his manners politer and his morals less vicious.

"Sodom and Gomorrah were saintly cities in comparison with San Francisco—God sunk them in the Dead sea, and he has already given San Francisco a fair warning of what she may expect if she does not reform.

"The Jap is our brother by creation, Providence and redemption; we are his keeper and woe to California if she acts the part of Cain and is branded with the war-red mark fratricidal murder."

Brainerd Y. M. C. A. Election.

Brainerd, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Y. M C. A. elected these officers for the ensuing year: President, Edward Crust; vice president, W. A. M. Johnston; secretary, T. T. Blackburn; treasurer, G. S. Swanson and general secretary, D. T. Lawrence. The membership is 420, of which 107 joined in April. The association has annually gained 100.

Fine Remedy For Eczema

Also for Salt Rheum, Tetter, Psoriasis, Lupus, and All Skin Afflictions.

Even a Microscope Won't Find a Blemish After S. S. S. Gets Through.

All skin troubles should be attacked from within by giving the blood circulation a good daily bath. This is accomplished with S. S. S., the best known and most highly recommended blood purifier ever discovered. Its action is very rapid. Its vegetable nature is such that it naturally goes right into the blood, saturates the entire circulation, bathes the tissues with an influence that enables the skin to heal quickly. The action of S. S. S. is that of an antidote, and this fact has been demonstrated time and time again in the most severe forms of weeping eczema.

Its influence in the tissues where the tiny arteries transfer the red blood for the worn out blood to the veins is quite remarkable and goes on constantly with every tick of the clock—the beat of the heart.

And new skin is thus caused to form while the germs of irritating influences that cause eczema are scattered and their harmful nature entirely suspended.

S. S. S. has a wonderful tonic influence in the blood because it contains no "dope," is not a "physic," is entirely free of any mineral drugs or any other drugs except the remarkable medicinal effect of the pure vegetable products of which it is made.

Few people realize how harmful are many of the strong, crude ointments that used to be in favor before they learned that S. S. S. is safe, speedy and sure. Ask at any drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. Give it a good trial and you will soon see a decided improvement in any form of skin trouble. Write to The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for special free advice on eczema and any other form of skin or blood trouble.

TO MEET ANNUALLY.

Northwest Printers Cost Congress to Meet Every Year.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 5. — The Northwest Printers' Cost congress, which closed its first annual meeting here Saturday afternoon, will be an annual affair, a committee having been appointed to make arrangements and select the city for holding the 1914 congress. A large number of job printers and newspaper publishers from Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Manitoba attended the meeting just closed.

Addresses on the cost of production of all kinds of printed matter were made by E. E. Sheesgreen of Chicago, secretary of the Ben Franklin Club of America; R. T. Porte, secretary of the Ben Franklin club of Cincinnati, and O. H. Pollard of Winnipeg.

TO MEET AT HOUGHTON.

Annual Meeting of Constitutional Convention to Be Held in August.

Houghton, Mich., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many of the best known men in the state will visit the upper peninsula next summer, attracted by the annual meeting of the Michigan Constitutional Convention association, which this year will be held here Aug. 2. The constitutional convention consisted of ninety-six delegates, all of whom are members of the association. Fully seventy of these are expected to visit the upper peninsula. Among those booked for participation in the program are Lawton T. Hemans, a member of the state railroad commission and twice the Democratic candidate for governor; Victor M. Gore of Benton Harbor; Circuit Judge R. C. Flannigan of Norway; Edward Nichols of Battle Creek; Delos M. Fall, former state superintendent of public instruction; Wellington R. Burt of Saginaw, Michigan's most famous Democrat; Hugh Stewart of Battle Creek, and Gordon R. Campbell of Calumet. It is expected the banquet to be held in connection with the convention will bring out the most brilliant oratory ever heard in the Copper country. W. D. Calverly of Houghton is the president of the association, and Paul H. King of Grand Rapids, secretary.

BOOTLEGGER MAKES SERIOUS ERROR.

Williston, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A stranger, who claimed he had been in town only three hours, made a bad selection when he picked out State's Attorney Burdick as a customer for bootleg liquor. He was introduced to others to whom he made sales, then arrested, after a half a dozen witnesses were secured.

FINALLY GET HIM.

Red Lake County Blind-Pigger Arrested After Two Years.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., May 5.—Pierre Lajambe, who was indicted by the Red Lake county grand jury two years ago for blind pigging and had been a fugitive from justice since that time, was captured in Wisconsin, where he was living on a farm, by Fred Cyr, chief of police.

Lajmbea was taken before Judge Watts at Crookston, where he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs amounting to $180 in all, or spend ninety days in the county jail. He paid his fine and the costs and has returned to his Wisconsin farm.

The offence with which Lajambe was charged was the selling of liquor at Brooks at a time when the town was presumed to be "dry."

SECOND TRACK MEET.

Of Northern State Normal at Marquette May 31.

Marquette, Mich., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The second annual Upper Michigan track and field meet under the direction of the Northern state normal school of this city will be held at the Marquette fair grounds Saturday, May 31. Fifteen high schools in as many cities have already given notice of their intention to participate. Entries are expected from at least five others. The expenses of four men on each team will be paid by the Normal School Athletic association. Athletics representing eight high schools participated in the first annual meet, held in this city last spring. The honors on that occasion were won by the Houghton team.

MINOT NORMAL TO BE OPENED OCT. 14.

Minot, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minot high school will be formally opened Oct. 14 under the decision of the normal board of control, made at the meeting held here. An effort will be made to complete enough of the main building of the school to house the first classes, but failing in this a deal has been closed which will permit the use of the National Guard armory.

The dormitories and power house will be ready for use early this fall.

SIOUX FALLS TRUST HEARING CONCLUDED.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 5.—The examination of witnesses here for the defense in the government's anti-trust suit, against the International Harvester company was ended Saturday and Special Examiner Robert S. Taylor and the attorneys for both sides left for St. Paul, Minn., where hearings will be begun today. Nearly 100 witnesses were examined here.

The last witness was C. J. Bach, an implement dealer of Hurley, S. D. He was emphatic in his denial that coercive methods had been used with him by the International company .

$45,000 VOTED FOR FORT FRANCES BUILDING

Fort Frances, Ont., May 5.—A letter received from J. A. Mathieu, M. P. P., states that the sum of $45,000 is in the estimates for a new courthouse at this place and that an additional sum of $5,000 will be voted at the next session of the legislature.

Former Minot Man Killed.

Minot, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward Dixon, for many years a railroad conductor working out of this city, was killed at Toronto, Ont. He was yardmaster for the Canadian Pacific railroad and stepped onto a track with his back toward an approaching car. Both legs were cut off at the thigh, and he died in twenty minutes from the loss of blood.

Company Not Negligent.

Bismarck, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Employes injured by the use of tools with which they worked from day to day, and of the condition of which they should have a better knowledge than anybody else, cannot recover damages for such injuries. In the case of Arthur Ness against the Great Northern railroad, decided in favor of the defendant company, the supreme court holds that there was no negligence upon the part of the company. Ness claimed negligence in furnishing a defective air press and irons unsuitable for blocking purposes in the kind of work that was being carried on when the accident happened.

FIGHT AT WEDDING.

Two St. Paul Men "Mix It," Both Being Badly Hurt.

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—Wassi Keljup is dying in the city hospital and Mike Staisenskit is seriously injured as the result of a quarrel which started at a wedding here Sunday night. The two men, according to the police, fought for several minutes, while the guests shouted words of encouragement. Finally Staisenski grasped a large rock and struck his opponent over the head, crushing his skull.

Officers later found Staisenski in the cellar of his home. He fought off the men with an ax for several minutes after which he was subdued and taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition. His condition is said to be critical.

FORMER NORTH DAKOTA EDITOR IS MISSING.

Sheldon, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheldon has been appealed to by Mrs. H A. Hollinshead to aassist in finding her husband. For six years until a few months ago, Hollinshead edited the Progress at this place. He removed to Portland, Or., and April 1 started on a trip into Southern Oregon and has not since been heard from. Some years ago he suffered a sunstroke. Afterwards for awhile he was bothered with a lapse of memory. It is possible he had a recurrence of this trouble and is wandering around unable to identify himself.

NORTH DAKOTANS BUY ANOTHER BANK.

Center, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a new ownership of the Bank of Oliver county. The institution was financed by Messrs. Lyon, Timmerman and Peterson of Mandan. They have disposed of their interests to A. N. Beisecker of Harvey. C. G. Kapelovitz of Manning, and Fred C. Wick of Anamoose. The latter will be cashier and Henry Monson, the assistant cashier, will be retained. Messrs. Beisecker and Kapelovitz own a chain of banks in the state.

WISCONSIN MAN TO GET FRANCHISE.

Velva, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—O. S. Kaufmann of Hillsboro, Wis., will be granted a franchise for an electric light plant here. One of the conditions of the affair will be that Velva is to have a full twenty-four hour service. Several other applicants sought a franchise but none of the others would agree to the day service, which different enterprises demanded.

Mayville Chautauqua In July.

Mayville, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayville will hold its first chautauqua this year July 9 to 13. The organization of the Mayville Chautauqua association has been perfected and will be in charge of the event. T. A. Hillyer, president of the Mayville normal school, is president of the chautauqua association.

Get 10 Per Cent Wage Increase.

Marquette, Mich., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—After having had the matter of the salaries of the grade school teachers under consideration for two weeks, the Marquette board of education granted a horizontal increase of $5 a month and has fixed $75 a month as the maximum. The former maximum was $65. The teachers asked for a flat increase of 30 per cent, declaring the proposed scale necessary because of the increased cost of living. The concession made to them is less than 10 per cent.

Iron River Miner Killed.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 5.—William Sleeman, a former resident of the Salisbury location in this city, was killed in the Forbes mine at Iron River Friday night. He is survived by a wife and one child. He formerly worked at the Lake Angeline mine here.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Bemidji—Judge Stanton has denied the motion of Charles Loring, a Crookston attorney, for a change of venue in the William Zipple fire damage case against the Canadian Northern railroad. The outcome of the case is being watched with no little interest, as there are over fifty cases of the same nature waiting trial.

Mankato—Dr. R. M. Phelps, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at St Peter, addressed the Mankato Physicians' Study club Thursday afternoon on "Classification of Insanity."

St. Cloud—J. D. Sullivan has resigned as the Great Northern railway attorney for Northwestern Minnesota to take effect June 1. The territory he was obliged to cover involved so much work that it became a question of abandoning his own practice at St. Cloud, or giving up the Great Northern business.

Palisade—The work of clearing and grading the street leading into the village has begun and as soon as the stumps are removed the grader will be started, and people driving into town from the east will then note the improved conditions.

Middle River—The Waite Grass Carpet company are making an extraordinary effort to get enough help from this locality to handle their work this summer, instead of importing outside help.

St. Cloud—A special session of the Stearns county board will be held at the county auditor's office in Foley next Wednesday, to discuss the amount of road work to be done in the county this summer. Last year about $15,000 was expended on the roads.

Fergus Falls—Dick Molter, the young man who purchased a farm near Deer Creek some weeks ago, and disappeared while on his way to take possession of it on April 3, arrived here Friday, this being the first that has been heard of him. He appeared rather dazed.

Dilworth—Rasmus Haugsted, president of the village council of Dilworth, has determined that the selling of liquor in the village must stop. The people have twice voted on the license question and each time have decided for no license.

Clearwater—Albert Anderson, the editor of the Clearbrook Journal, has purchased the Clearwater Crystal, its subscription list, old and new subscription accounts included, its good will and legals. He took possession Friday.

Bagley—Owing to illness, Ole Wennberg, the buttermaker, has found it necessary to resign at the local creamery. He is going to Maple Lake where he has friends to spend a couple of months of complete rest. His heart is weak.

Stillwater—David Israel Knapp, aged 60 years, a resident of this city for thirty years, died Thursday. He is survived by a widow, two sons, Frank A. Knapp of this city and Edwin Knapp of Dickinson, N. D.; two brothers, George B. Knapp of this city and Howard C. Knapp of Minneapolis; and two sisters, Mrs. Emil Frost of Fishkill, N. Y., and Mrs. Jennie McNary of Coshocton, Ohio.

Crookston — The fire department elected delegates to attend the annual meeting of the Minnesota State Firemen's association to be held at Thief River Falls June 10 and 11: At large, Chief F. B. Harris; fire department, Carl Berquist, Ubald Couvrette; Fire Department Relief association, A. I. Barrette and L. J. Palmer.

Red Lake Falls—The work of the public schools, interrupted by fire which destroyed the high school last Wednesday morning, will be resumed Tuesday morning. Books and some other material have been ordered and will be here for the opening of school.

Fosston—Mrs. J. L. Humphrey returned home from Florida Tuesday with Mr. Humphrey, who went to Crookston on Sunday night to meet her. Mrs. Humphrey has been in the South for over six months past and returns home in robust health.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel—they oil the bowels; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Try them. Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel. 10c and 25c per box.

The Olive Tablet company, Columbus, Ohio.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Bayfield—J. Percy Inglis and family expect to leave soon for Hudson, where Mr. Inglis will take the principalship of Gaylad school.

Washburn—The teachers and pupils of the public schools are busy preparing material for the annual exhibit which will take place at the Walker school on Friday, May 16.

Eau Claire—The Spring Valley Light & Power company of Spring Valley, Pierce county, was purchased Friday by Eau Claire men associated with the Chippewa Valley Railway Light & Power company. The Spring Valley concern was capitalized at $15,000 and has been in operation for seven or eight years. It is a steam power plant and the business has been largely confined to electric lighting.

Madison—It is expected that the collections of the Wisconsin insurance department for the present year will exceed $1,000,000.

Stevens Point—Wausau high school carried off the honors in the league oratorical and declamatory contests held at the high school. First and second places were gained by Marion Friede and Josephine Sturtevant.

Janesville—Printers of four counties in Southern Wisconsin met in Janesville last week and formed a temporary organization to be known as the Rock River Valley Franklin club. Sixteen members signed the roll.

Oconto—A furniture factory from a neighboring town will move its plant into Oconto, drawn there by the superior shipping facilities and raw material.

Eau Claire—The district convention of the Sons and Daughters of Norway in Eau Claire on June 6, 7 and 8, will be attended by 2,000 visitors. The district comprises the territory between the Rocky mountains and the Ohio river.

Real Whole Wheat Bread

The digestibility of ordinary whole wheat flour bread is a much debated question—but there is no question about the nutritive value or digestibility of the Shredded Wheat Wafer, a crisp, tasty toast containing all the body-building material in the whole wheat grain steam-cooked, shredded, compressed into a wafer and baked a crisp, golden brown. Delicious as a toast when eaten with butter, soft cheese, peanut butter or marmalades. It is snappy and full of "chews." Contains all the goodness of the wheat.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Max, N. D.—The First State bank has been purchased by B. A. and R. C. Plummer of Forest City, Iowa, and Charles W. Morton and L. J. Rodman of Max from the Ross-Davidson syndicate, by which it had been owned for seven years. B. A. Plummer will be president and local manager.

Dogden, N. D.—Jacob Suelze, a young boy who was hauling grain to a local elevator, fell from the top of the grain tank and was run over by the rear wheels of the vehicle. He will die of his injuries.

Wolford, N. D.—Tony Barton of this locality was placed under arrest on a charge of violating the prohibition laws. He was assisting in the operation of a threshing machine when Sheriff Teigen placed him under arrest, and, it is said, will enter a plea of guilty.

Fargo, N. D.—David L. Sundquist, who attempted to end his life by drinking four kinds of poison Friday afternoon, has a chance for recovery, according to the report of the attending physician, Dr. Hagen, last night.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Only about half of the normal precipitation for the month fell during April, as shown by the reports of the weather station here. The normal fall is 2.25 inches, while the fall last month was but 1.08 inches. There were only five days in the month with a precipitation of over .01 inches.

Drayton, N. D.—R. B. Richardson, candidate for governor of North Dakota on the Populist ticket about fourteen year ago, died here. Less than two months ago he celebrated, with his wife, the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. A breakdown due to advanced age caused his death. Mr. Richardson was very prominent politically for many years.

Lidgerwood, N. D.—The contract has been let for the construction of the Fairmount & Veblon railroad, running from Fairmount, N. D., to Veblon, S. D., a distance of forty-five miles. The project is backed largely by local capital. Thirty miles of the short railroad are across level prairie land, the remainder of the distance being through hills.

Antler, N. D.—George Dumont of Antler suffered a broken leg when a horse fell on the limb. This is the third time the same leg has been fractured and for a time physicians thought it would be necessary to amputate the injured member.

Bismarck, N. D.—Bismarck is in need of a detention hospital. Not only does the city need one, but the county as well. There are many cases where it is very necessary that such an institution be provided.

Minot, N. D.—Over 1,500 trees were planted Friday by children of the Minot public schools under the supervision of the teachers.

Grand Forks, N. D.—N. F. Powers, arrested at Lakota, was bound over to the district court on the charge of adultery by Justice P. McLoughlin. The complaining witness is George L. Rinna. Bail was fixed at $500, which the defendant furnished.

Fargo, N. D.—Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Beckwith have left for Scarborough, N. Y., a suburb of the metropolis, where the annual meeting of the American Bankers' association will take place, and which will be attended by Mr. Beckwith as the accredited representative from North Dakota, he being a member of the executive committee.

Valley City, N. D.—Attorneys for the city claim that Valley City in no way has exceeded the bond limit in letting the contract for the construction of a big trunk sewer to the Haggert Construction company of Fargo.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Hancock — Clerk Hoffenbacher has been authorized to advertise for treasurers' bonds to be submitted at the next meeting. It will be necessary for the treasurer to provide two bonds, one of $25,000 and one of $30,000 as he serves as both city and school treasurer.

Houghton — William R. Rice arrived in Houghton Friday with the remains of the late Harry R. Edwards, who died Sunday at Silver City, N. M. Owing to a wreck near Kansas City the trip from the Southwest was somewhat delayed. The funeral was held Saturday.

Marquette — S. B. Jones sustained a fracture of the right arm above the elbow when he fell from a stepladder in the drug store. Mr. Jones was attempting to take some bottles from a high shelf when the stepladder upon which he stood collapsed.

Ishpeming—The case of the People vs. Concelia Coduta on an assault and battery charge was given a preliminary hearing before Judge West Friday and was adjourned until next Friday.

Calumet—Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Johnson and three children, who went to Astoria, Or., about a year ago and who later spent several months in Detroit, have returned to Calumet. They report conditions here as much better than in the West.

Houghton — Bonfires ignited by children are thought to have caused the destruction of barns owned by Sakris Honkavaara and Peter Winsa at Shantytown location on the South Range, Thursday.

Hancock—A mine rescue lecture will be given at the Germania hall here next Tuesday evening, by Edward Higgins, who is in charge of the mine rescue car of the federal bureau of mines.

Laurium—One of the big tasks which the present village council will undertake, probably will be the revision of the charter. The local option act passed by the state legislature two years ago, amended by the last legislature, makes it possible for villages and cities to amend their charters piecemeal, the expense involved being cut down tremendously.

Ontonagon—Norman, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira N. Dowd, died Tuesday night after an illness of only about twenty-eight hours. The funeral was held Friday morning from the Holy Family Catholic church.

Crystal Falls—John Marina, alias John Mongrell, was brought before Judge Ritze last week by County Agent O'Brien, charged with being a truant and, after listening to the evidence in the case, Judge Ritze sent the boy to the industrial school at Lansing.

Calumet—Forty-six new members have been added to the roll of the Calumet Y. M. C. A. during the special membership effort in progress at the association.

Houghton—Elders E. F. Peterson of Houghton and J. J. Irwin of Petoskey will represent the Northern Michigan conference of the Lake union, Seventh-day Adventists, at the quadrennial conference of the denomination to be held in Washington, D. C., from May 15 to June 8.

Hancock—Miss Tillie Grekilla has been named by City Treasurer Charles Rouleau as deputy city treasurer. Miss Grekilla was the choice of City Treasurer Rodda and in naming her, Mr. Rouleau is carrying out the wishes of the successful candidate.

Marquette—The two-family residence on the corner of Marble and Furnace streets, owned by Henry Bigger, and occupied by his family and Mrs. William Talbot, was practically destroyed by fire Saturday morning. The fire started from an overheated stove.

Ishpeming—Fire damaged Temple of Honor lodge building early Saturday. The main damage resulted to the Temple of Honor lodgeroom, the bakery shop escaping with only water soaking in the rear portion of it.

HELP WANTED IN DULUTH

And Furnished By the Help of Duluth People.

Those who suffer with kidney backache, urinary ills or any little kidney or bladder disorder, want kidney help. Who can better advise than some Duluth resident, who has also suffered, but has had relief. Duluth people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's one case and there are many others.

J. E. Watts, 918 Tenth Ave. W., Duluth, Minn., says: "I take pleasure in verifying the statement I gave in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in 1898. I had backaches and lameness across my loins that made me stop work. The pain over my kidneys was so bad I couldn't stoop and I was stiff and lame. I knew that my kidneys were disordered, but nothing relieved me until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They acted like a charm and I couldn't have had better results. Since then I have always kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

OLD FOLKS FIND NEW REMEDY RELIEVES ALL KIDNEY AND BLADDER MISERIES

Drives Rheumatic Pains Away, Relieves Backache and Bladder Disorders After a Few Doses Are Taken.

Sleep disturbing bladder weaknesses, backache, rheumatism, and the many other kindred ailments which so commonly come with declining years, need no longer be a source of dread and misery to those who are past the middle age of life.

The new discovery, Croxone, relieves all such disorders because it removes the very cause of the trouble. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands and cells, and gives the kidneys new strength to do their work properly. It neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and substances that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; and makes the kidneys filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood and drive it out of the system.

It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, Croxone is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work immediately and more than a few doses are seldom required to relieve even the most chronic, obstinate case.

You can obtain an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

A SAMARITAN

James Craig is a prosperous merchant of Silverton, Oregon. He has time to think of the health and happiness of those about him.

A young lady school teacher, the daughter of a friend, was succumbing to Bright's Disease. Craig wrote to the late N. W. Spalding, then United States Sub-treasurer of San Francisco, to ask if there was any truth in the report that Bright's Disease was being cured in California. Spalding replied that after he had spent $10,000 with physicians his own daughter had recovered, and that too after the dropsy had developed and the case was supposed to be hopeless, and to tell the father to put the patient on Fulton's Renal Compound.

Craig advised the girl's father of the satisfactory nature of the report and the Renal Compound was taken to the patient. She recovered and was teaching school at last advices.

Craig was so delighted that he told others. He has sent us the names of nearly a dozen whom he has helped to new leases of life.

If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up.

THE OPENING OF THE BASEBALL SEASON.

So far as Duluth is concerned, the 1913 and initial season of the Northern league began today with the first series of home games.

Here's wishing a long and prosperous career for the new league, and particularly for the Duluth team. We have nothing but good wishes for the other members of the league, except that we wish them all and always to follow the Duluth bunch in the percentage column.

Be that as it may, and whether Duluth leads or follows, though at this stage of the game we refuse to contemplate any possibility of its doing much following, the new league appears to be well organized and well equipped with players, and certainly it has eight live towns hooked together for the enjoyment of the nation's cleanest and best enjoyed sport.

These communities ought to be able to support a baseball league in comfort, and if the citizens of each will give themselves the pleasure of regular attendance upon the games, the league will be amply supported. In a measure, this is a duty of citizenship; for not a little of a town's good fame depends upon the standing of its baseball team and the home patronage it receives. Few will attend the games, probably, from a sense of duty; but it may be that some can be induced to start attending through that sense, and if they do, natural red-blooded interest will keep them at it.

The Herald hopes the league will do well, that the Duluth team will a little more than hold its own and that the Duluth public will co-operate heartily in encouraging its prowess.

An Indiana farmer reports mailing two quarts of cream to a customer, and the customer received a crock of butter. There must have been a good deal of a shakeup in the postal service down there.

THE COMMISSION AND THE BOARDS.

The city commission, according to Mayor Prince, takes the position that several boards which prevailed under the old charter automatically ceased to exist with the adoption of the new charter, and therefore that the commission is not to be charged with having abolished them.

This position is correct.

The commission also holds that doing away with these boards is in harmony with the spirit of the new charter, which is aimed at the centralization of authority and responsibility.

That position is correct, in part at least.

Possibly the commission may be slightly in error in holding that it was the intent of the framers of the charter to abolish all these boards. As we remember the discussion, the intent of the charter commission was to leave this matter entirely in the discretion of the city commission.

This point is not material, however, for beyond question in most cases the commission is on firm ground in its decision to let these boards die, and to absorb their work into the proper departments of the new commission government. This is certainly true so far as the business administration of the city functions formerly handled by unpaid boards is concerned.

Whether it is true in all cases as to the social policies involved, is another question entirely. It may be that on second thought it will prove wise to create advisory boards to assist the commission in the management of several of these functions.

For instance, The Herald doubts whether it will be wise to let the board of public welfare pass altogether out of existence. It has no question that the business administration of this division should be absorbed by the commission, but it may be that an advisory board of public welfare would be of material help to the mayor and to the community through its advice growing out of its studies of the social and human aspect of the problems within its province.

It is highly probable that a small advisory library board, to consider library policies while leaving the business side of the library to the commission, would prove helpful. It may also be that an advisory park board would turn out to be of considerable help to the commissioner who has charge of the department into which the public parks and playgrounds will fall.

There should be no division of authority or responsibility if anything of this kind is done. Both should remain unmistakably with the commission. The boards, if any are created, should be subordinate to the commission, and there should be no board at all where the duties are strictly administrative, as in the case of the water and light department and the fire department.

But the question is not one to be decided offhand without careful thought and study.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox says people will eat no meat a hundred years from now. The folks who fix the prices are doing their best to hurry that period along.

THE INCOME TAX EXEMPTION.

The New York Sun is greatly exercised about the income tax proposal generally, and particularly about the $4,000 exemption, which it daily condemns as class legislation.

In point of fact, there is nothing in the income tax measure more fair and just than its exemptions. There is no more reason in arguing against exempting all incomes below $4,000 than there would be in arguing that those having incomes of $5,000 should pay at the same rate as those with incomes of $1,000,000, who are required to pay four per cent while the $5,000 man pays one per cent.

In other words, why does the Sun criticize the total exemption of incomes under $4,000, and fail to criticize the partial exemption of incomes under $1,000,000?

It would be the grossest injustice to tax that part of a man's income which is necessary for the comfort of his family. Congress, arbitrarily perhaps, has fixed $4,000 a year as the sum needed to maintain a family in comfort. If it had been harsher with the average run of men and more tender with those whose incomes exceed their needs, it might have placed the minimum at the point of bare necessity, which would be somewhere around $800.

Four thousand dollars a year, in these times of high prices and large requirements, is not a luxurious income. If wealth were so readjusted that every family had an income of $4,000; no more and no less, this would not be a nation of riotously luxuriant living. That income will take care of a family in real comfort, and but little more. It will allow reasonably for education, for recreation, for travel; and we hope the time may come when every family will consider these to be necessities as much as food, clothing and shelter. It will keep an average family in comfort, in its own home, with plenty of good food and a reasonable allowance for good clothes. Wisely spent, there will be little margin for luxury.

It is, therefore, the wisest statesmanship to leave incomes below that figure exempt, and to let those whose incomes go beyond the line of comfort and into the domain of luxury pay according to their ability to pay.

And think how fine the walking will be between here and Two Harbors!

MR. BRYAN'S GOOD IDEA.

Mr. Bryan conceives that a pretty good road out of the anti-alien difficulty is through the referendum.

If Governor Johnson signs the bill, as he is likely to do though he is waiting politely to hear from President Wilson, twenty thousand voters can have the law referred to the people. At the worst, that would mean that it could not become a law before November, 1914, which would give plenty of time for everybody to cool off. At the best, the good sense, sanity and patriotism of the California people might effect a defeat of the law.

The suggestion is good, and it proposes about as high a use of the referendum as can be imagined.

If it is carried out, it will be possible to find out how much of this whole affair is plain politics, instigated from outside the state, and how much of it is real public sentiment based on a real peril. Two per cent of the population owning less than one acre in six thousand does not look at this distance like a real menace. The political aspect of the incident is much more striking.

From the way it is going, it might well be called the "Under way bill."

THE WORLD'S GREATEST JOKE.

Andrew Carnegie told the American Peace congress the other day that the nations will soon reach the goal of peace, and gave his ideas on how they are to reach it.

The best assurance of the truth of this tremendously important fact is that the situation in the world today is so supremely ridiculous that it cannot last.

Part of the world's population is always hungry; yet there are enough able-bodied men tied up in armies and navies, added to those already usefully employed, to feed every mouth.

The world needs more schools, more roads, more hospitals; and money enough to supply all these needs is tied up in guns and ships that become obsolete and useless over night.

Recent developments have proved that certainly in Germany and France, and probably in most of the other great nations, men interested in selling war implements have skillfully contrived to foster fear and the jingo spirit in order to sell more goods.

Today a great war vessel is built, at a cost of many millions, that is proof against the most powerful guns.

Tomorrow a new gun is invented and manufactured which makes that vessel ripe for the scrap heap.

And the day after, a puny airship, equipped with a handful of explosives, may sail with two men over an entire fleet and destroy it in half an hour.

The war game has become so stupendous a joke and so monumental a folly that presently a gale of laughter will sweep it out of existence forever.

A Yale student pointed a silver pencil at two burglars and they surrendered. Yet the boy's father probably kicked on his spending so much for a pencil when he bought that one.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

SMOKE NUISANCE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The smoke nuisance of Duluth ought to be looked after and remedied. It is something abominable in many districts close to the railroad yards. The railroad engines are by far the greatest transgressors, though many buildings throw out dense volumes of smoke at times. At times a dense canopy of smoke hangs like a pall over a large district of Duluth. This city can boast of the very best water in the world. Its air is pure and bracing when not mixed with coal smoke, gas and fumes and other poisonous mixtures. Breathing such a mixture and inhaling the same is injurious to the throat, lungs and system, but this is the air thousands in this fair city are breathing every day. The people of Garfield avenue of this city are very unfortunate in this respect. Bounded on the east and west by railroad tracks, it more than gets its share of black, belching smoke and cinders. Woe to the beautiful linen washings hung out to dry on the lines, when a dose of the above mixtures covers the same. Just imagine the feelings of the owner at this juncture. The smoke and cinders penetrate into houses where windows are left up and the air inside is charged with coal gas fumes. For the benefit and for the health of thousands of Duluth's citizens let the proper authorities as soon as possible get to work and remedy this terrible nuisance and also see if railroad engines at times after night could get along with less noise. Yours truly.

How to Make Good

Philadelphia Ledger: The man who makes good is the man who can shut out of his mind all but one thing. An unsuccessful principal of a school once said that every teacher ought to be able to do three things at once. Of course, he was wrong. The teacher who does one thing at a time and does it well is giving the pupil the best possible object lesson in concentration. We have to learn to think clearly amid distracting noises, to go forward on a straight and narrow way without diversions and excursions that waste our time and our substance, and to keep at work regardless of the "tired" feeling, the "spring" feeling, and whether the fishing is good or not. When the soft breeze comes in at the window we must stiffen the moral fiber against its allurement. We must pin our attention firmly to the turgid and dry geometry of a legal brief, or the serried figures of the daybook, or the busy system of a mercantile establishment, and let every other thought await its turn at the end of office hours. You may have heard a great lawyer in action in a crowded courtroom. What was the secret of his power? It was that he would not let the jury's attention or the witness' tongue wander from the relevant facts. He kept insistently to the straight line that is the shortest distance from point to point. He curtly dismissed all that was superfluous, immaterial and calculated to blur the salient outlines of the matter in controversy.

To Tell Kaiser's Car at Night.

New York Tribune: The kaiser has adopted a new way of displaying the royal standard on his motor cars at night. A flag on which is emblazoned the words "God Be With Us," painted on transparent glass, will be electrically illuminated when his majesty is in the car so that it will be recognized from a long distance.

Labor.

Carlyle: The best worship is stout labor.

A Child's Self-Respect

Ella Bartlett Simmons in the Mother's Magazine.

A child's self-respect should never be sacrificed. It is as essential to him as it is to his parent. Self respect is not pride and should not be looked upon as such. A child would far better have a reasonable degree of pride, however, than to possess no self respect.

Mothers sometimes have exceedingly queer ideas on the subject of humbling a child's pride; they forget that while they are attempting to do this they are, in reality, taking from the boy or girl the very element of God-given self respect.

To this day I feel sorry for my mother when I think of an incident which occurred when she was a little child. She says that one cold day she sat down on the stove hearth to get her back warm. Presently she smelled woolen burning, and at the same time began to feel warmer than warm. She jumped up, realizing that her clothing was afire.

Grandmother noticed the conflagration at once and seizing a braided rug, wrapped Ruby in it. The flames were soon extinguished, but not before the new flannel dress had a sad hole in the back breadth.

To punish her for her carelessness, and to "humble her pride," Ruby was made to wear that dress to school with an ugly patch in the back until it was worn out.

"If we had been poor people and there had been nothing with which to buy another dress, I could have stood it, but as it was I was bitter and rebellious all the time and took especial pains to do daring, careless things, so that I might tear and otherwise wear out the dress more quickly. It did not humble my pride; it only made me the more proud," confessed my mother to me. "It took away my self respect and almost ruined my disposition for the time being."

I know a mother who makes her daughter's clothes, year in and year out, after the same model; she says it will cause her child to become proud if she is dressed in the prevailing fashion all the time. Poor child! I pity her; she is awkward and self conscious, unhappy and unlovable. Who is to blame?

How much wiser is another mother who says that she consults fashion sheets and feels it her duty to do so, that with limited means she may dress her children as other children are dressed—not because she cares particularly for such things or desires them to, but because she does want to inculcate a spirit of self respect; without which no one can live at his best.

To wound the self respect by compelling a child to wear ill-fitting, manifestly old fashioned clothes to school may result in creating the very desire for dress which a mother is trying to suppress. When a child is dressed becomingly, though simply, it serves to teach the desirable lesson of personal neatness. To wear something ugly and undesirable would keep her mind on the matter of her dress, keeping her unhappy and preventing her doing good work in school. It might subject her to the jeers of her companions and hurt her heart while not humbling her pride.

Some children have an undue amount of vanity and want to wear clothes which are too fine. In such a case there is no injustice in insisting that suitable, plain attire shall be worn, but there is nothing gained by making a child a laughing stock of his companions in order to "humble his pride." Such treatment will fly wide of the mark.

The children of the present day are living, thinking, sentient beings and have a right to be treated as such.

Ready For Any Emergency.

Chicago Record-Herald: "Are you Mr. Leftwitch?"

"That is my name."

"Your uncle died a few days ago, I believe."

"The doctors declared him dead—yes."

"I have just read that he left his entire fortune to public institutions."

"Well, what about it? Are you a reporter? If you are, I don't wish to be interviewed."

"No, my dear fellow, I am not a reporter. I am a lawyer. I thought you might have some will breaking to be done. I am an expert willbreaker."

"I don't want any of my uncle's money. Since he preferred to cut me off without a dollar I am perfectly willing to work for my living."

"Permit me to hand you my card. In case they ever wish to try you for lunacy please remember me. I have kept a number of crazy people out of asylums."

Montague Glass Comes Home.

New York World: Shoosh, Abe. We should worry if that rosher falls in Altoona and give us like a blue eye.

For why? Who would you think came back on the Olympic from Russland already? No; you are wrong as always before. Who should it be but that feller Montague Glass? Sure; him that made Potash and Perlmutter. And looking so well and cheerful you wouldn't believe it at all.

And would that feller talk to reporters? Shh! It's like this; y'understand. Why should a feller, like this Glass feller, what can get fifteen; maybe twenty cents for each word he wants to write, y'undertsand, why for such a feller to give a lot of words away is no business?

Potach and Perlmutter were not on the dock to meet Mr. Glass when he landed and Mr. Glass appeared both pained and grieved. But business is so poor these days, y'understand, why should a feller spend an hour just to see a steamer come in? For business, maybe, but for to be like a loafer, that's something else again, Mawruss.

The Parson and Choir in a Duel.

Philadelphia Evening Telegraph: "It looked like a duel between the parson and the choir," smilingly remarked Postmaster General Burleson, in relating a little incident that occurred in Texas, "and at the end of the ninth inning the score seemed to be in favor of the singers.

"It was at the morning service, and the minister, sitting in the pulpit with a dignified expression, listened to the singing of the usual anthem. Then he arose and announced in a loud, clear voice:

"'My text will be, "Now, When the Uproar Had Ceased."'

"For a moment the members of the choir looked as if they had been fed on persimmons instead of peaches, and then they got together and in the softest kind of whispers began to talk it over.

"As a result of the subdued conference a slight change was made in the musical program, and when the sermon had ended and the organ again pealed forth, the choir sang:

"'Now, It Is High Time to Awake After Sleep.'"

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ben Johnson, member of congress from Bardstown, Ky., stands tall and straight with a face of deep solemnity. To his intimates he is a cornucopia of dry humor, but those who know him only casually would never suspect it, for he is likely to show a gruff exterior that flags any monkey business.

Johnson was holding a big horse sale at his farm one spring morning and the people were not bidding with the spontaneity that he thought they should. He had a fine little black mare trotted out. She was worth $250 of anybody's money.

"Now, I'm not going to waste time with you folks," drawled Johnson from the auctioneer's stand. "You've got to bid right up or somebody's going to lose out. What am I offered for the mare?"

Somebody bid $10 and somebody else made it $15. There were plenty who would gladly have boosted it up to $200 or more, but they were slow about doing so.

"Who'll make it twenty?" asked Johnson, with his auctioneer's gavel uplifted. "Nobody make it twenty? All right. Sold for $15 to the gentleman right done here!"

It had all been done in three or four seconds, and everybody thought it was a joke or a trick, or at least that something was wrong with the mare.

"I don't really get her for that, do I?" inquired the man who bid the $15.

"Didn't I say you did?" asked Johnson, sharply.

"What's wrong with her?"

"If you don't want her," replied Johnson, "I'll give you $200 not to take her. There isn't a thing wrong with that mare, but you people have been standing around like a lot of empty bottles, and I don't intend to fool with you. You've got to bid lively if you're going to do business with me."

And they did. Johnson could have sold $15 horses for $250 after that.

Whenever Ben Johnson wishes to go on a drive behind a horse, he sends to the livery stable and hires one—no matter how many are right in his own barn. A neighbor saw him driving along a Kentucky road one morning in a livery outfit.

"Haven't you got any horses at home?" he asked.

"Yes, I've got about eighty," replied Johnson.

"Then why in the name o' time are you hirin' another'n and paying out good money to a livery stable."

"Oh," Johnson explained, "I can hire a horse so cheap that it seems foolish to take a chance on making one of my own stiff or lame."

The thing that has been the greatest help to Senator Shafroth of Colorado is his persistence. When he was in congress a few years ago, he was the champion chess player of the house, and won the famous cable game with the champion of the English house of commons—and it may be said in passing that he quit playing chess then for fear of ruining his reputation. He plays politics in much the same manner that he played chess—just studies out his moves slowly, carefully, paying no attention to the scraping of feet of non-combatants who wish he would hustle up and make his next play—and after due deliberation, goes ahead.

Take the time he was elected governor of Colorado, in 1908. He and the legislature had been elected on a progressive platform, providing for the initiative and referendum, popular election of senators, and a number of other modern conveniences. The legislature jimmied along, the way legislatures delight in doing, and showed no signs of carrying out their part of the entertainment. The session was limited to ninety days, and the end was approaching. Shafroth threatened to call a special session, but they merely gave him the hoarse hoot and did nothing.

As soon as the legislature had adjourned, people began to inquire when he was going to call the special session, and he said he would call it later on. The months went by and he didn't call it, and everybody twitted him, saying that the only thing that had been called was his bluff. He waited just fifteen months before he called that special session of the legislature, in the meanwhile letting the public yawp its lungs out if it wished to. Then folks saw what his game had been. The legislative session was called on the same day that the call was issued for the state convention to nominate candidates. He figured that legislators would be slow to violate their platform right at that season.

Even at that, he had a big fight on his hands, and was obliged to carry the issue to the floor of the convention, but the point is that he finally got what he wanted—or part of it.

Senator La Follette, who is a great apostle of the simple diet, has recently introduced among his senatorial brethren a new-fangled kind of milk. It is easily digested like buttermilk, but doesn't taste quite so bad. At La Follette's instigation the stuff has been placed on sale in the senate restaurant.

Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas alternates between riding horseback and going to a private gymnasium, to keep himself under full steam.

The Sand Bed.

I have a sand bed, and I play
There in the sand for half the day.

And mother comes, and sits by me;
And little sister likes to see

The many things I make of sand.
But she's too young to understand

About the houses and the hills
The mines and stores and flouring mills

And then I make believe; and say
My sand bed is the sunny bay;

These blocks are boats, and far away
They sail all night and sail all day,

And carry iron. When they return
They bring us coal that we may burn.

And now my sand bed is a farm.
This is the barn. Here, safe from harm,

My horses and my cows I keep.
These sheds are for the woolly sheep.

And there you see my piggies' pens.
This yard holds in the lively hens.

This is the garden, where I hoe
My plants; and here the flowers grow.

These sticks are pines, so straight, so tall
And dark. But these aren't half of all

The things I make each pleasant day
Out in the sand bed where I play.

The Raconteur.

He is so full of classic jest
That as he tells his tales to me
I feel as though I lay at rest
Beneath some spreading chestnut tree.

The State Legislature

Press Views on the Session.

State Control of Utilities.

Cambridge Independent-Press: There is a strong feeling throughout Minnesota that the public utilities should be placed under state control, but very little sentiment prevails calling for municipal control of these public utilities. Governor Eberhart believes in proper utilities and in this opinion he is backed up by thousands of the best informed men in the state, not least among them Prof. Gray, head of the department of economics of the state university.

In Front Rank.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: Minnesota is now in the front ranks of the progressive states. The action of the legislature in making all candidates below those for state offices subject to a non-partisan primary choice goes just a little farther than any other has yet advanced, excepting Kansas, where a proposition placing the state under the commission form of government is before the legislature with a good chance of passing.

Looking Forward.

Mora Times: The friends of progressive legislation and of legislation for temperance reforms feel that under the new reapportionment bill they will fare better than in the past and that the next session will witness a radical change in both the house and senate and that the progressive and temperance forces will be in complete control in both bodies.

Wise Provision.

Albert Lea Tribune: The provision of the new state road law, in regard to a town fund which shall be used solely for dragging the roads of a township, is one of the wise provisions of the law, it seems to us. The law is mandatory. It says that the county auditor shall levy this 1-mill tax, and further, and the proceeds therefor shall be used only for the purpose designed.

Remarkable Session.

Morris Sun: The session of the legislature just closed has been a remarkable one in many respects. We have never had a legislative session in this state which put as many important laws upon the statute books as did this one; laws for many of which there has been a general public demand and which meet the progressive requirements of the day. On the other hand, every measure which had any part in cutting out wasteful extravagance with the public moneys was promptly put to death, the senate branch of the legislature having made a specialty of this work. The appropriations for the coming two years total $21,000,000; approximately $5,000,000 more than was appropriated by the last legislature, and this in the face of the agitation that was made last fall against wasting public funds. It remains to be seen what the people are going to get for this expenditure, aside from increased taxes.

Gratitude and Hope.

Albert Lea Standard: The press and people generally of the state commend the work of the legislature and in most respects it was admirable and spells reform and progress in many important ways. Its failure to pass a desirable public utilities bill and unreasonable refusal to permit the people to decide as to woman suffrage were its most signal failures, but reparation will come, for the rule of the people has dawned, and they will in due time see and enforce recognition of their interests, their privileges and their will. And in the meantime, thanks for what has been done—and for more that is surely coming.

Dissatisfied.

Foley Independent: There really has not been as many meritorious laws passed at the adjourned session of the legislature as many supposed there would be. One of the best laws is the Dunn good roads law—it will benefit everybody. Perhaps the law placing all county office candidates and legislators in the non-partisan column will be a worthy one, but there are drawbacks to this one, too. What can be expected of a corporation-owned legislature. There are from thirty to forty members that can swing the entire machinery with the rest of the class watching the performance.

A Trust Exhibit

New York World: The International Harvester company, a tariff-made monopoly which has sold dear at home and cheap abroad and stifled competition, has a twine factory in Auburn. Of its 700 employes 150 are American born. The others are such unskilled foreign laborers as those who talk loudest about "protecting American labor" import by the thousand to do their work.

Before there was any threat of the present strike in the twine works the Wagner factory commission described the conditions under which these people have toiled:

"The conditions in that plant showed disregard for the health, safety and good morals of the employes, and they are particularly dangerous in view of the fact that a large number of the women, some of them mothers of young children, are affected. The improper conditions that were found in this plant have nothing to do with welfare work. They showed absolute disregard for existing provisions of the law."

With this significant extract the seven stages of monopoly are completely revealed. It gets tariffs to "protect American labor." It perfects machinery to dispense with skill. It imports unskilled labor because it is cheaper. It maintains dangerous conditions in its factories. It affronts decency in its treatment of women. It shows "absolute disregard" of law. And when at last it is annoyed by its employes' striking for better conditions, it announces its impending flight to some land of "pauper labor" and begins dismantling its works.

What a rarely perfect and complete self-revelation of the gratitude of a pet that the government has pampered at the cost of the people!

Counted Up to Six Thousand.

Strand: A doctor who had had a run of night work was called to a case where an examination of the lungs was necessary. In certain conditions, the sound vibrations are tested by listening to the chest while the patient uses his voice. If the patient counts, one gets the best results. The tired doctor seated himself at the bedside, and too lethargic and listless to use his stethoscope, rested his head upon the patient's chest.

"Count till I tell you to stop," the doctor directed.

"One, two, three," began the patient.

When next the doctor heard him the man was plodding on in steady monotone, "6,121, 6,122, 6,123."

"Good gracious, man, you don't mean to say you've counted over 6,000?"

"I do, doctor. You said I was to count till you told me to stop."

"Dear me. I must have been asleep," replied the doctor, feeling bright and refreshed by the nap he had taken as soon as his weary head rested on the patient.

Which Was the Lighter?

At a mock parliament, says a writer in the Strand, held in Bristol, the "Hon. Member for Stranraer" asked the "Right Hon. the President of the Board of Trade" (referring to the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, Prevention of Collisions) "Whether a lighterman, having two light lighters in tow, would be required to light a lighter light on the lighter lighter, so that the lighter the lighter the lighter the light?"

Te president replied: "Obviously the answer is in the negative, since the lighter lighter being the lighter, and the use of the comparative 'lighter' denoting that the lighter is already 'light,' the lighter of the lights would not be required to light a lighter light on the lighter lighter, since the lighter lighter is lighter than the light lighter."

To Daffodils.

Fair daffodils, we weep to see
You haste away so soon;
As yet the early rising sun
Has not attained his noon.
Stay, stay
Until the lasting day
Has run
But to the even-song;
And, having prayed together, we
Will go with you along.

We have short time to stay, as you,
We have as short a Spring!
As quick a growth to meet decay
As you, or anything.
We die
As your hours do, and dry
Away
Like to the summer's rain;
Or as the pearls of morning's dew,
Ne'er to be found again.

Conducted by C. E. ROE.

Questions will be answered by Mr. Roe in this column.

Making an Asparagus Bed.

Every home owner should have an asparagus bed.

It not only furnishes the first green vegetable from the open ground, but it has valuable health-giving properties. If properly kept and cut, an asparagus bed will supply the family for many weeks; and, when once established, becomes permanent.

Select a well drained spot in your garden and dig up thoroughly about fifteen inches in depth, mixing thoroughly with well rotted cow manure. Asparagus must be well fertilized. Set your plants eighteen inches apart each way, spreading the roots and packing the earth firmly about them. There should be fully three inches of loose and finely pulverized soil over the crowns. After the plants are all set scatter a dressing of stable manure over the surface. In setting the plants, great care should be used not to injure the delicate crowns. If these are broken your plants will not grow. Good asparagus roots can be bought for about $1 per hundred, and from 50 to 100 plants will easily supply the ordinary family after the bed is established. No asparagus should be cut until the second spring after setting. One-year roots are better for selling than those that are older. Palmetto and Conovers Collosal are both good varieties. Personally, I prefer the Palmetto.

When the young plants are well above ground they should be carefully hoed and the bed should be kept free from weeds at all times. In the fall, just before the berries ripen and drop, the plants should be cut off near the ground and another light coating of manure should be applied to the bed.

Rhubarb Beds.

Rhubarb is another permanent vegetable which every garden should have and nothing is easier to grow. Get some good strong divisions—they will cost from 10 cents to 15 cents each—and put them in now. Prepare the ground about as you do for asparagus and set your plants three feet apart. From three to six roots will be sufficient for most families and you can begin to use the season after planting. A plentiful amount of manure should be spaded in around the roots each spring. Do not let any seed stalks develop, but break them out as fast as they appear. The seed stalks sap the vitality of the plant and injure the quality of the rhubarb.

While looking to the permanent things for the home garden one should not forget horseradish. If you can secure some root cuttings about the size of a lead pencil and six inches in length, plant by making holes a foot deep with a crowbar, drop in your cuttings and crowd the soil down around them.

Strawberry and raspberry plants should be set now to get the best results, and your old bed should be carefully cleaned up and cultivated. Be sure to get out all of the dandelion roots and white clover. They are among the worst pests which infest the gardens of Duluth. In spading around raspberry and currant bushes, use care not to injure the roots. They lie very near the surface.

FORM UNION IN THE STOCKYARDS.

Chicago, May 5.—Union addresses in nineteen languages were made Sunday in an effort to organize the employes of the stockyards here into a labor union. One hundred and sixty of the 700 stockyards employes attended the meeting, and signed applications to form a union.

Clarence Darrow, attorney, twice tried for bribery in connection with the Los Angeles labor trials, was cheered when he entered the meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

Right at the grocer's hand is a moisture-proof package of Uneeda Biscuit. He hands you the package—you hand him the coin. A trifling transaction?

No! A remarkable one—for you have spent the smallest sum that will buy a package of good food; and the grocer has sold you the most nutritious food made from flour—as clean and crisp and delicious as it was when it came from the oven.

FAREWELL TO OLD ST. PAUL

Last Services Held in Church Built in 1869.

Two Members Present Who Attended First Service There.

After being the home of its members for almost forty-four years, St. Paul's Episcopal church, corner of Lake avenue and Second street, has been abandoned as a place of regular service, and hereafter will be used only as a subsidiary church, where, for convenience sake, weddings may be held, funeral services take place and such matters as these handled. But the services of yesterday were the last regular ones that the pioneer church of St. Paul's will likely see. Next Sunday services will be held at the handsome new structure which the parish has erected at Seventeenth avenue east and Superior street.

At least two people—and perhaps more, but two at least—were present at yesterday morning's service in the old church, who were present at the first service ever held in the church, which was on Christmas day forty-four years ago the coming Yuletide. They are Mrs. Walter Van Brunt of 1112 East First street, and her brother, Charles Saxton of 116½ East Second street.

Another person present yesterday morning who has seldom missed a service in St. Paul's for twenty years, and whose aid has helped make the church notable, was A. F. M. Custance. Mr. Custance, for twenty years, has been organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's and his untiring efforts have placed the musical part of church services in the very front rank in Duluth.

This morning Rev. A. W. Ryan, rector of St. Paul's, said that he cannot very well tell of his appreciation of the part that Mr. Custance has played in the building up of the church and parish. Said he:

"It is hard to adequately express thanks for such services as those given by Mr. Custance. But personally I am more grateful to him than I can say, and I believe every member of St. Paul's feels the same way about it."

Memories of Old St. Paul's.

"The Memories of Old St. Paul's" was Dr. Ryan's subject in the morning, and in the evening he spoke of "Lessons From Ascension Day," last Thursday being Ascension day. In the morning he took his text from Ezra: iii: 12:

"But many of the priests and Levites and chief of the fathers, who were ancient men, that had seen the first house, when the foundation of this house was laid before their eyes, wept with a loud voice; and many shouted aloud for joy."

Dr. Ryan reviewed the service that the old church has done for the parish and gave its history in brief. The church was built in 1869 and the first service was held on Christmas day of that year. It was the only church of any kind in Duluth at the time, and as it stands today there are additions on every side of the original. It was then called the First Episcopal Church of Duluth. For years Bishop Whipple had charge of the church, later Bishop Gilbert was overseer of the field and was succeeded by Bishop Morrison, present head of the Duluth diocese. Two bishops have gone out of the rectorate of the church and many notable clergymen have been at its head and some of them occupy positions of distinction. Dr. Ryan expressed deep regret at leaving the old landmark, around which so many pleasant and sentimental associations cluster.

ANARCHIST WOULD KILL GRAND DUKE.

Mannheim, Germany, May 5.—A workman armed with a knife attacked Grand Duke Friederich of Baden as he was leaving the railroad station with his consort Sunday afternoon. The grand duke threw off his assailant and was not harmed.

A crowd gathered and attacked the man, intending to lynch him, but police arrested him. He gave his name as Anton Jung and said he is an anarchist and had been commissioned by a secret society to attack the grand duke. He refused to divulge the name of the society.

GOMPERS' SON ON FEDERAL JOB.

Washington, May 5.—Secretary Wilson has organized the clerical force of the department of labor. He appointed Robert Watson, Lowell, Mass., chief clerk; George C. Box, Buffalo, N. Y., disbursing clerk; Hugh L. Kerwin, Wellsboro, Pa., private secretary, and Samuel Gompers, Jr., son of the president of the American Federation of Labor, chief of the division of publication.

Charged With Importing Labor.

Neche, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—On the charge of importing Canadian labor, Joseph Adger, a wealthy local farmer, must face a suit for $2,000 started by the United States government. Criminal and civil proceedings may be taken against alleged violators of the labor immigration law, and in this instance the officials have elected the civil procedure. The Canadians whom Auger is accused of importing were held as prisoners at the immigration station here till they gave their depositions.

Gets Nice Cream Check.

Fosston, Minn., May 5—John R. Hove of Olga is again setting a high mark with his monthly cream checks this spring. His check for March cream deliveries at the Olga creamery was $171.32. This was his income from fifteen milch cows.

KERN FLAYED BY HATFIELD

Governor of West Virginia Denies Charges Concerning That State.

Says Somebody Lied to Senator and Senator Knew It Was False.

Charleston, W. Va., May 5.—Governor Henry D. Hatfield of West Virginia, in a statement last night, attacked Senator John W. Kern of Indiana, who is expected to bring up a resolution which he introduced some time ago in the United States senate providing for federal investigation of conditions in the West Virginia coal fields. The governor declares the senator has been misinformed; that the coal strike is over; that he intends to arrest any person aiding and abetting lawlessness, and that he courts a thorough investigation. In his statement the governor says:

"I am informed that Senator Kern has made a statement that peonage exists in West Virginia and that Mrs. Mary (Mother) Jones has been on trial before a drum-head military court for the last thirty days.

"In reply to the senator's statement relative to peonage, I wish to say that his allegation is a fabrication. Mrs. Jones is not now, nor has she at any time since her arrest, been in prison. She is being detained (and is not in any way confined) at a plasant boarding house with a private family on the banks of the Kanawha river at Pratt, W. Va.

Will Preserve Order.

"I do not intend to permit Mrs. Jones or any other person to come into West Virginia and make inflammatory speeches that have a tendency to produce riot and bloodshed, such as was experienced under the administration of Governor Glasscock. We have evidence in abundance to prove that the kind of speeches made by Mrs. Jones and her co-workers did bring about a riotous state which resulted in murder and the destruction of property. We have a dozen of the same class of people confined in different jails of the state, some of them guilty of murder, others guilty of aiding and abetting by furnishing the necessary firearms and ammunition with which to commit murder.

Welcomes Investigation.

"The honorable body of which Senator Kern is a member has a perfect right to investigate West Virginia or any part of it. I shall be delighted to have such an investigation and will use my best efforts to aid the investigation committee in any way I can. But Senator Kern must remember that I am responsible to the people of West Virginia for the maintenance of law and order, and it will be maintained by me during my term of office at any hazard, and when it becomes necessary to detain or jail people to accomplish this purpose, it will be done unhesitatingly.

"The long drawn out strike at Paint and Cabin creeks is at an end. Fewer than fifty people are today without work in that section, and before the middle of the week everyone will have been cared for.

Says Somebody Lied.

"I note that one of the statements of Senator Kern is to the effect that he knows positively that one newspaper correspondent was ejected during the trial of 'Mother' Jones and deported from the state. I can use no better terms and cannot express myself more forcibly than to say that this was a willful and deliberate lie on the part of the one who informed Senator Kern, and it would not at all surprise me to learn that the senator knew this to be the case when he made the statement."

PORTLAND, OR., COMMISSION CITY

May Be 100 Candidates' Names on Preferential Ballot.

Portland, Or., May 5.—The re-checking of the returns on the vote cast Saturday at the special charter election shows that the commission form of government has been adopted in Portland.

The enactment of the new charter automatically abolished the primary nominations for all offices, the choice prescribed being a non-partisan preferential election for mayor, auditor and four commissioners, who are elected from candidates each nominated by a petition of at least 100 voters. These elections will be held in June.

By midnight Saturday eleven persons had signified their intention of running for commissioner. As many more announced to the newspapers that they intend to make the race, and before the allotted time for filing petitions arrives it is believed that more than 100 men and women will be in the field for the four commissionerships.

A. G. Rushlight, the present mayor, who won the Republican nomination Saturday, has announced his candidacy for mayor under the new charter, as have H. R. Albee, the successful Progressive candidate, and G. L. McKenna, the Democratic nominee.

RECEIVES PROGRAM OF GETTYSBURG FESTIVITIES

Capt. Thomas H. Pressnell has received the first official circular announcing the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg to be held for four days, beginning July 1.

The circular states that the camp comprises 280 acres and that it will be occupied by 5,000 tents, each to hold eight men. The camp will be opened on June 29 and supper will be served on that day. It will continue until July 6.

July 1—Veterans' Day: Appropriate exercises under the joint direction of the Pennsylvania commission and the commanders in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate veterans.

July 2—Military Day: Under the direction of the chief of staff of the United States army. Special detachments of each arm of the regular service to participate as directed.

July 3—Civic Day: Under the direction of the governor of Pennsylvania, and participated in by the governors of the several states.

July 4—National Day: The chief justice of the United States presiding. Forenoon, oration by the president of the United States. High noon, laying of the cornerstone of a great peace memorial. Evening, fireworks.

MOTORCYCLE SPEED FIENDS A MENACE.

The motorcycle craze is the latest source of annoyance to the guardians of the speed laws.

Duluth automobile owners and drivers have become subdued and have been running according to Hoyle, and breaking no speed records.

And with new machines and new riders cropping out every day—most of them for the first time—the dangers of the public thoroughfares are increasing.

The police declare that speeding will be stopped, and that the order applies alike to the automobile, motorcycle or sulky.

REASON AND SPIRIT MUST GUIDE MAN

Rev. George R. Gebauer Teaches Lesson on Spiritual Knowledge.

Rev. George R. Gebauer preached on "The Knowledge of God" at the First Unitarian church yesterday. He said in part:

"Where the function of the intellect ends, then the function of the soul begins; where mental comprehension has reached its limit, spiritual apprehension starts in. When we arrive at the end of all reasoning about the world transcending our mind, which all men recognize; when we are face to face with the unknowable, we may like Ernest Haeckle in his 'Riddles of the Universe' say: 'But after all what does this mystical thing in itself, this being behind all forms of appearance concern us,' or we may say: 'Here then is the end of human knowledge, into the heart of nature no mortal eye may look. But here, too, is the point of which I may let the soul speak for itself, and listen in faith to its revealments.'

"This is the religious and it seems to me only reasonable attitude. Certainly an intellect declaring its own insufficiency, if not bankruptcy, can not dominate the soul, that is conscious of its powers. If there be a divine instinct beneath reason, but truer than reason, which guides the wild fowl on its way along the pathless coast, the desert and illimitable air, there is a higher instinct which guides the soul in its flight to God. The 'riddle of the universe' only exists for him who merely looks outward with his intellect and fails to look within with his spirit.

"There is a religious superstition, which rejects the revealments of science, because it cannot apprehend them spiritually, but there is also a rationalistic superstition which rejects the things of the spirit because it can not comprehend them intellectually. Man, like Dante in his divine poem, has two guides, the intellect to guide him through earthly life and its vicissitudes and the spirit which guides him beyond the realm of the seen. If we would know the eternal mystery of being, we must become spiritually acquainted with ourselves. Only the soul can know the soul, and only the soul, too, can know the soul of all things. Go into yourself if you would find the pearl of great price, bend down with clean hands and a pure heart if you would fathom the eternal love of being."

SPECIAL SERMONS AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First Methodist church announced last evening that next Sunday he will deliver two special sermons. One in particular, in the light of recent events, will probably attract a great deal of attention in the city. It will be delivered in the evening and will be the annual temperance sermon. The subject will be: "The Saloon Must Go."

Sunday next will be the annual "Mothers' day" and in the morning Dr. Rice will preach about "Our Mothers."

NOVA SCOTIA CITY SCORCHED.

North Sydney, N. S., May 5.—Fire Sunday wiped out the entire business block of this city. Every principal business house in the town is gone except a store and the buildings of the Royal and Nova Scotia banks. The loss is estimated at $250,000. Pierre Mayer, manager of a theater, lost his life in the flames.

THE CHURCH IN THE CITY.

Dr. Hovis Preaches on Civic Part Played By Religion.

"Would anybody want to live in Duluth if it had no churches?" was the query put by Dr. W. F. Hovis in his sermon on "The City Without a Temple," at the Endion M. E. church yesterday.

"The fact that land agents laying out a city are willing to donate lots on which to erect churches shows that the temple has some sort of utility, or at least that the life that gathers around it is considered a valuable asset to the community," said Dr. Hovis. "What then, is the worth of the temple to civic affairs? Could it be razed to the ground and the loss be only a monetary one affecting the insurance companies? Would anybody want to live in Duluth if it had no churches? Does the presence of the temple contribute anything tangible to the body politic? Whatever may be the answer to these questions, one thing is certain, that people who do very little for the church and who belittle its ministry and slander its constituency would be very loath to do without it."

Spanish-Italian Treaty.

Rome, May 5.—The Italian foreign premier, M. San Giuliano, and the Spanish ambassador have signed an agreement whereby Italy and Spain establish reciprocity treatment to each other's commerce.

YOU ARE LOOKING OLDER THAN WHEN I SAW YOU LAST

Have You Ever Had This Said of You Because of Grey Hairs

It is most embarassing to have a friend remark that you are "looking older".

Grey hairs are not becoming, people may tell you so, but they are saying to themselves: "What a pity she is not old. And she used to have such beautiful hair."

There is one quick, absolutely sure, easy way of getting rid of grey or faded hair—simply use Hay's Hair Health.

Benefit by the experience of thousands of others, who are using Hay's Hair Health. It brings back the fine, glossy, brilliant color of your hair—restores the grey hairs to their natural color immediately, and keeps the scalp free from dandruff.

People voluntarily recommend Hay's Hair Health. It is not unusual for them to say: "I want to tell others about it. It's perfectly splendid." Try it yourself, today. You'll be surprised how quickly the grey hairs disappear; how beautifully dark and glossy your hair will remain after using it. Druggists sell more Hay's Hair Health than all others combined because their customers prefer it and they know that it can be guaranteed satisfactory.

Free: Sign this adv: and take it to the following druggists, and get a 50c size bottle of Hay's Hair Health and a 25c cake of Harfina Soap free, for 50c; or a $1.00 size bottle of Hay's Hair Health and two 25c cakes of Harfina Soap free, for $1.00.

SPORTS

The Latest News Published on This Page — BASEBALL — EDITED BY BRUCE — ROWING — The Herald Sporting Gossip Is Reliable

BASEBALL is the thing, and therefore, let the thoughts of the young man, as well as the old, turn to this branch of the old sport thing at this particular time. This is the date of the opening on the home lot, and if the vagaries of the weather will choose some other day for vagging, we are off today at the home post.

About all there can be said anent the opening festivities have been lamped and set into type; therefore, let us turn to look over the layout that we have in sight. Starting with the first game of the Athletic park series with our hated rivals of the Wisconsin side of the bay, the fans here are to see all of the teams of the new circuit before the White Sox will pack their bats for the second invasion of the present season.

Not quite two weeks of the season have spun out their length, and yet it is reported that several of the managers of the various teams are on the sharp lookout for players. The pace in the Northern is growing faster and the managers who started the season with the bright belief that the article of baseball would be about on the par of the brand of the pastime pastimed in this section of the country during the past, have already discovered their mistake and are seeking to strengthen.

Virginia, it is bruited about, is on the lookout for players to replace some of the present members of the Ore Digging aggregation. "Spike" Shannon, the great outfielder of the New York Giants, a player who made the marvelous record of going through one season without dropping a fly ball, is keenly alive to several deficiencies of the band he is piloting, and is at the present time negotiating for several men.

It begins to look as if the brand of baseball in the new circuit is going to be the fastest that the fans up around the Head of the Lakes have witnessed since the days of the Northwestern league, and we have only the word of some of the older residents as to the exceeding merit of the pastime that was furnished by the stars of the long ago.

All of the teams have not met as yet. Duluth to date has met four of the teams of the new circuit, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Virginia and the Winona Giants being the opponents O'Brien and his men have measured strength with. Winnipeg, Superior and Grand Forks have yet to meet our White Sox, and before all of the teams of the circuit have met and the managers are enabled to get a line on the playing ability of all of the clubs, it will be quite impossible for them to measure their strength with the strength of the collective enemy.

St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Superior have played good baseball to date. Grand Forks has also showed that the second city of North Dakota has a real team. Tim Flood is having some trouble with his pitchers; Winona is at the present time experimenting with several new men and Virginia, as stated earlier, is already on the eager lookout for several players to strengthen several places.

During the short space of time that the league has been under way, several pitchers' battles have appeared among the high score games. Wells of Grand Forks and the veteran Waddell, one of the most famous baseball stars of all times, have made the fans around the circuit sit up and take notice by two steller performances. Lest we forget, Snow, the youngster of the Winona club, must be hurriedly added to the list.

Wells had everything in the world against the St. Paul club, while the old Rube did remarkable twirling against the Flickertails, blanking them and showing some of the skill that made this player perhaps the greatest southpaw within the memory of the present generation of fans.

It has already become apparent that Minneapolis has a great pitching staff. Just how good the Bronks are outside of the battery positions, will require more games to determine. Allen, behind the bat, is perhaps the best receiver in the league. He is a youngster and is getting better all the time.

Charley Jones surely has his little Saints up on their toes. The Apostles have been coming through and winning games with the war club. To date, Jones has not demonstrated that his pitching staff is the equal of the Minneapolis aggregation.

Rube Johnson is pitching the best ball at the present time for O'Brien. Woods hasn't shown much to date, and the same might go for Brackett. Blancke is coming along nicely. This fellow is a warm weather hill laborer, at that, and with the first visitation of the radiant countenance of Old Sol, he should round to and make some of the batters of the new league open their orbs in genuine and panic-stricken surprise. Clay, as he is sometimes called, surely has a lot of stuff.

When the teams of the league hit their full stride, the race promises to be a pippin. Duluth is in for a summer of real baseball, if the early signs have not led us astray.

* * *

LOE CARR of Minneapolis so decisively and easily defeated John Albrecht in the Minneapolis meeting of last Saturday evening that the last and most formidable rival of the sensational Minneapolitan middleweight has been swept out of the way. Carr must be reckoned with Yokel, Gehring and our Walter Miller. It begins to look as if he is one of the most remarkable wrestlers of the country.

This is not based so much on his defeat of Miller, for the little Duluth boy was more fit for a rest cure joint than a wrestling mat soiree; but since the defeat of Miller, Carr has gone right ahead and beaten all of the men he had met and accomplished the results with consummate ease.

Albrecht was touted as one of the toughest wrestlers in the Northwest, and Carr won about as he pleased, securing the first fall in twenty-three minutes and the second and deciding one in seventeen. In the matter of pure brute strength, Carr is a more powerful man than Mike Yokel.

* * *

A football statistican once sat down, and through figures, proved that a high school team was the champion of the United States. It might be stated that it is a comparatively simple matter for any aspiring middleweight fighter to figure out that he is the champion. Maybe that is the reason why they all do.

* * *

While this is an age of young men, it is also true that: Napoleon Lajoie is the greatest clean-up hitter of the Cleveland team; that Chirsty Mathewson is still the greatest pitcher of the Giants; that Honus Wagner is still the greatest player with the Pittsburg Pirates; that Bobby Wallace still is about the greatest offering of the St. Louis Browns; that Heinie Wagner is one of the greatest stars of the Boston Red Sox; and that Eddie Plank is about the one best bet in the pitching line for the Philadelphia Athletics.

This reminds us that Sarah Bernhardt is still packing 'em in.

Cubs Lose Final Game.

Chicago, May 4.—Chicago lost the farewell game prior to their departure for a long Eastern trip yesterday when the St. Louis team batted the ball for a total of twenty hits and won, 10 to 8, after thirteen innings. The game was more or less of a farce. The visitors ran wild on the bases. First Baseman Konetchy pitched far the best game of any of the St. Louis slab men.

Cathers, an outfielder, was also called on for the pitching department. Richie opened for Chicago and held the visitors at his mercy until the eighth inning, when he weakened and the visitors made two runs, bunching hits behind Zimmerman's error. Richie lost control in the ninth inning and, after filling the bases with one out, was relieved by Humphries, who was hit hard, the visitors scoring six runs. Cathers opened the ninth inning for St. Louis and through his wildness and bunched hits was responsible for the locals' tying the score.

Konetchy came to the rescue and the locals were unable to make progress. Two singles and a triple gave St. Louis two runs and the game in the thirteenth. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 6 0 0 0 2	10	20 0
Chicago	3 1 0 0 0 0 1 1 2 0 0 0 0	8	12 2

Pitchers' Battle.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 5.—Adams and Fromme took part in a great pitchers' battle yesterday, the former gaining the decision and thereby defeating Cincinnati by a score of 1 to 0. Only three hits were made during the game, Adams allowing two of these and Fromme one. It so happened that Adams obtained the only hit that was made off Fromme, a triple that followed closely upon a base on balls one of which proved costly, while Adams wavered only once. Adams struck out three men and Fromme five. The fielding was good. The only run was scored in the third, when Kelly drew a base on balls and scored a moment later on Adams' triple. The next three men were retired easily. The score:

Browns Defeat Naps.

St. Louis, Mo., May 5.—Hitting the ball when hits meant runs in the last two innings yesterday afternoon gave St. Louis a victory over Cleveland by a score of 4 to 3. A pass, stolen base, wide throw and another single in the first inning started Cleveland's scoring and netted the visitors one run. In the first inning, after Mitchell walked two men in succession, he was relieved by Steen. A bunt down the first base line which the pitcher threw wild gave St. Louis its first run. Lajoie's error counted another run for the home team. Cleveland went ahead in the fourth inning when a double, a single and a three-base hit netted them two runs. A single, sacrifice hit and another single in the seventh tied it for the locals. The winning run was scored in the next inning on an error a sacrifice and a double. Score:

Detroit Wins From Chicago.

Chicago, May 5.—Easterly's error enabled Detroit to check Chicago's winning streak yesterday and the visitors won, 2 to 1.

A single, a sacrifice and a triple gave the visitors their first run and a single, following a fielders choice in which Easterly threw wild in an attempt to catch Crawford between home and third netted the other run. Dubuc was opposed by White and pitched masterly ball, holding the locals to six hits, only two of which came in one inning, when two singles and a fielder's choice netted their lone run. One of the largest crowds of the season welcomed Chicago home from the short trip on the road. Score: R. H. E.

WISCONSIN WINS DUAL TRACK MEET.

Madison, Wis., May 5.—The University of Wisconsin took its first dual meet with Ohio state university here Saturday afternoon by a score of 93 to 33 points.

The contests were marked by no unusual feats. It was the first in which the Ohioans had participated as a member of the Western conference and with an entry list of only twelve men, their showing was considered excellent. Both teams lacked the services of some of their stars, notably Capt. White of Wisconsin and Crellman, Ohio.

Aviator Killed.

San Francisco, May 5.—Tonko Takeishi, a Japanese aviator, who was trained in the United States, was instantly killed yesterday while making a landing from a flight from Osaka to Kitow, Japan, according to a cablegram received by the Japanese-American, a local Japanese daily.

O'BRIEN AND HIS MEN REACH CITY; DARBY HAS CONFIDENCE IN TEAM

Welcome to our city—Darby O'Brien and the members of the royal White Sox crew.

The White Sox commander and his followers reached Duluth early this morning and are ready for the opening of the first home game in the history of the new Northern league.

There isn't much change in the appearance of the Irish Orator. He seems as immutable as the hills of the cragged city. And Sam Meneice doesn't seem to change with the passing of the seasons he has been in the game. The two veterans of the royal band of home grown players look as they appeared when we beheld them upon their first comin' out party—and they both look mighty good at the present time.

Rube Johnson isn't any different—only he's pitching better baseball. Muggsy McGraw, who has been home these two days nursing that split finger, is wind and sun tanned and in grand playing form, and before he was forced to leave the game he was giving a grand little exhibition of pill pounding.

Then there is Elmer Miller. Gosh! he looks good.

Mister Miller possesses an aversion to being interviewed. Nature has made a quiet man out of the Ohio citizen. "Just say for me," said the fence buster and the wonderful heaver of the White Sox, "that I am going pretty good this season, and that we have some ball club."

It has been said.

The New Men.

Of the new men it must be said that they have all the appearance of baseball players, and they weren't dressed for the part, either.

Schreiber, who has been doing some swell fielding during the invasion of the Dooks is a wiry chap who has the appearance of a baseball player and it is quite impossible to describe the regulation appearance; it has to be sensed.

There is Elmer Smith, McCarthy. Dusty Rhoades, who isn't altogether a stranger to the fans in these parts, having been a member of the Wausau team in the Minny league; Monty Woods, Fischel and Clay Blancke.

Of course the fans are very well acquainted with Mons, Blancke. On days when he wasn't working it was the habit of Mr. Blancke to sit in the grandstand, and in this manner he became very well acquainted with some of the occupants of the first row seats. "Please don't quote me," said Clay, "but just say for me that I feel better than I have felt during the past and something tells me that this is going to be the best season in my baseball career. When will your paper be out?"

It is the province of a baseball team to show its worth on the baseball field. It will be quite impossible for the newspaper men or the fans to tell accurately or fully of the team until it has been seen in action. This much only can be stated: From the appearance of the men that hit the city this rare and sunshiny morning, one is justified in stating that we have a real baseball team in our midst.

An Even Break.

The White Sox hit the home trail with the record of five games won and an equal number lost. This is the best record a Duluth team has made for a number of years, as the Sox have been a proverbial poor road team.

With the long stand at home in view, and the belief that his pitchers are rounding into form, there is a seeming foundation for the high hopes of the Irish Orator.

"I believe that I have the best all-round team at the present time that there is in the league," said the Dook.

"We have played St. Paul, Virginia, Minneapolis and Winona and I wouldn't trade my baseball team for any of the ones we have met.

"It is hard to tell about any of the teams you haven't played. But I think we are just as good as any of the teams in the Northern, and take it from me there is going to be some baseball in this new league.

"When I was signing players for this year's team I knew all the time the quality of baseball that would be played in the new circuit. The baseball that has been shown so far has borne out all of my predictions along this line.

"We have the best outfield in the league. Miller is playing the game of his life. Muggsy McGraw was playing great at the time he was hurt. Smith is also going good, both in the field and at the bat.

"Some of the fans here have seen Rhoades before. He has been performing nicely around third base and his hitting has been the means of winning several of the games that we copped. Schreiber looks awfully good at short.

"My pitching staff hasn't hit its stride as yet. Woods has been wild, but the weather has been against the work of the men. Rube Johnson looks great and if he keeps up the work he has done to date he will sure go up at the end of the season. Brackett has not warmed up yet, while Blancke is going to be better than ever this season, I believe."

Most of the players spent the earlier part of the day looking for places to live during the summer. Several of the Sox are benedicts and some of them are looking for houses. The single ones will "grub and flop" at some hotel until they choose a regular abiding place.

Winona, Minn., May 5.—The Duluth White Sox made it two out of three from the Giants by taking yesterday's final game from the Davis bunch by the score of 6 to 5. Rube Johnson was on the mound for the Sox and although he was hit more frequently than Snow, he kept the hits of the Giants well scattered and was very effective with the local runners on the towpaths. It required eleven innings to decide the contest.

Although Snow whiffed fourteen of the O'Briens and twirled a brilliant game at times, the hits of the opposition came at the right time and were, unfortunately for the home guard, mixed with the errors of the home defenders.

With the count tied in the eleventh round Elmer Smith poled the first ball offered over the right field fence for a circuit of the bases, winning the contest for the Sox at a stage of the game when it seemed as if the benders of Snow were a complete puzzle to the visitig batters.

The White Sox were the first to score. With one on in the initial round Miller came to bat and hit one of the choice curves of Snow far over the ramparts establishing a lead that the visitors held until the sixth inning.

In the field the Sox excelled the Giants and showed greater team work and better fielding ability. Not an error was recorded against the Dooks, young Schreiber accepting nine chances without the semblance of a skip. Owing to the injury to McGraw, O'Brien was obliged to send Brackett into the garden, the twirler hauling down two flies, one after a long chase halfway across the field.

Superior took the final game of the series from Virginia yesterday at Hislop park by the score of 3 to 1, a crowd that overflowed the stands and surged out onto the field witnessing the first Sunday home game of the season. Faeth was on the mound for the visitors and pitched a fine game. Rhoades was also there with the choice assortment of box stuff, holding the visitors to four hits.

Rhoades assisted in the winning of his own game by hitting the pill over the fence in the third round, scoring the first run for Superior and leading in the attack on Pitcher Faeth.

WINNIPEG TAKES FINAL GAME FROM APOSTLES.

St. Paul, Minn., May 5.—Before the largest crowd of the season, an estimated attendance of some 5,000, the little Saints lost the final game with the Winnipeg Maroons yesterday afternoon by the score of 19 to 8. It seemed to be a case of nerves with the Charles Jones crowd, for the exhibition put up against the Canucks was the worst the Apostles have shown the present season.

Jones used four pitchers during the course of the contest in the vain hope of stopping the onslaught of the visiting batsmen. But the substituting of pitchers had little effect in checking the shooting of the foreign marksmen, for all of the moundmen used by Jones looked alike to the tourists.

The ancient Jack Thielman, once a member of the National league, was on the rubber for four innings and during the time he was in the box the Saints could do little with his offerings. A strained arm compelled the passing of Thielman and Peasley finished the game for the Canucks. The score:

Colts Won Saturday.

St. Paul, Minn., May 5.—In a spectacular ninth-inning finish the Colts took the second game of the series from Flood's Winnipeg club at Lexington park Saturday afternoon by the score of 7 to 6. A terrific drive by Beel with two on the bases, scored Thomas with the winning tally. Beel's clout was doubly sweet, as it was his error in the seventh frame that handed the Peggers two runs and gave them the lead. Score:

COMSTOCK HAS THE FLICKERS ON THE HIP.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 5.—Comstock held Grand Forks to two hits in the contest of yesterday and the visitors were easily beaten by the score of 9 to 1. Wells of no-hit fame was on the mound for the Flickertails and was hit for a total of eleven bases. Lyman singled in the fifth and went to second on an infield out. Wells came through with the only other hit of the afternoon and the solitary run of the visitors was scored.

While the Flickers only made two errors during the afternoon, both of Saints Win Easily.

Louisville, Ky., May 5.—St. Paul batted hard and timely yesterday and easily defeated Louisville in the second game of the series by the score of 9 to 1. Karger held the locals to three safe hits, two of which were scratches, while Howell, Bob Clemons and Northrup all looked alike to the visitors, who secured seven safeties. Flynn was the star performer, with five hits out of as many times at bat, four of which were successive doubles. Both teams fielded fast, Riggert carrying off the honors with a spectacular catch. Millers Lose.

Toledo, Ohio, May 5.—Although wilder than the proverbial March hare, Henderson was practically unhittable and Toledo won from Minneapolis, 8 to 6, due to a big batting rally in the third when they scored six runs. Henderson gave eleven passes, hit three men and made a wild pitch. In the third he started the rally with a double and secured a second hit before the round came to a close. Cantillon used four pitchers, but only one was effective. Burns fanning seven men in the four innings he pitched. Score: R. H. E.

Toledo	00611000x—8	13	2
Minneapolis	02020200—6	6	1

Batteries—Henderson and Livingston; Young, Olmstead, Hogue, Burns and Smith. Umpires—Chill and O'Brien.

Senators Win.

Columbus, Ohio, May 5.—"King" Cole's own single in the seventh inning gave Columbus the lead over Kansas City in a game that the home team took 4 to 1. Manager Hinchman kept the opponents from tying up in the eighth by a one-handed catch after backing against the left field fence. When he came to bat in this inning, he hit the first ball Morgan pitched to the center corner for a home run. Score: R. H. E.

Columbus	00010012x—4	5	2
Kansas City	00010000—1	6	2

Batteries—Cole and Smith; Morgan and O'Connor. Umpires—Westervelt and Irwin.

Brewers Are Beaten.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 5.—Indianapolis won a loosely played game from Milwaukee here yesterday, 7 to 3. Milwaukee tied the score in the third on a base on balls, a single and two errors. Indianapolis took the lead in the same inning and was never headed. Gilbert's home run in the eighth and Schardt's pitching were the features. Score: R. H. E.

Indianapolis	02101102x—7	10	4
Milwaukee	00200010—3	5	2

Batteries—Schardt and Clarke; Slapnicka, Noel and Hughes, Marshall. Umpires—Handiboe and Murray.

COMPLETE SHAKE-UP IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

Philadelphia Goes to First Place, New York Dropping to Fifth.

New York, May 5.—On the eve of the first inter-sectional clash of clubs in the two major leagues, beginning Tuesday, a decidedly interesting situation has arisen in the National league race. The week developed a pronounced shake-up, witnessing a drop of the champion New Yorks from first to fifth place; the rise of Chicago to the top with Philadelphia chasing the Cubs [illegible] by a Chicago defeat, Philadelphia assuming the leadership; a winning streak by St. Louis which brought that club out of the groove and into the first division, and a spurt on Brooklyn's part, which, in connection with the weak showing of New York and Pittsburg, made a first division contender of Manager Dahlen's team.

The flow of events was more placid in the younger organization. Philadelphia, Cleveland and Washington moved along in the even tenor of their winning way, each taking three games and losing one and maintaining their relative distance from each other in the first three places of the percentage table. Chicago, while not able to advance beyond fourth place, gained the most ground of any team, dropping only one game out of six played and drawing materially closer to the Washingtons.

Reverting to the National league situation, the rise of Philadelphia was perhaps the most impressive performance of the week. To take three games in a row from the Giants not only elated the team's followers, but indicated class of a kind which makes Manager Dooin's present combination look dangerous.

The development of St. Louis, while possibly less sensational, was even more of a surprise in its way. After outpointing Cincinnati in two games early in the week, the Cardinals won three out of four from Pittsburg. The latter made a lamentably weak showing, dropping five out of six.

The absence of Wagner is handicapping this club badly as its defensive work is broken up and the offense likewise lacks strength. Neither is the twirling corps showing its predicted form.

There is promise of decidedly interesting developments in the American league race when the East vs. West series begins Wednesday.

WADDELL QUITS ORGANIZED BALL

Minneapolis, Minn., May 5.—Rube Waddell has forever quit organized baseball, according to an announcement last night by the management of the Minneapolis team of the Northern league. Waddell's reasons, except that he has several grievances against the baseball "trust" were not made known.

Following last Friday's game with Grand Forks, in which Rube allowed only three hits, he handed in his uniform with the brief statement that he was through. Waddell will go to Marshall, Minn., soon, where he will play with a semi-professional team, according to information given out.

TICKETS GOING FAST FOR "CHANCE DAY."

Chicago, May 5.—President Charles Comiskey of the local American league club announced yesterday that every reserved seat in the park had been sold for the game between the New York Americans and the White Sox, to be played May 17, known as "Frank Chance day." Manager Chance of the New Yorks, former manager of the Chicago Nationals, has thousands of admirers in this city and the cities nearby and the demand for seats has been as great for this game as it has been for a city series or a world's championship here, Mr. Comiskey said. Despite this fact, the American magnate said he would hold 32,000 seats in the pavilion, grandstands and bleachers in addition to "circus seats," which he will have installed for the occasion.

OAK HALLS WIN FROM WOODLAND TEAM.

The Oak Halls yesterday defeated the Woodland Athletic club team by the score of 10 to 6. Gilliland of the winning team fanned twenty of his opponents. Hohn was hit freely by the Oak Halls, fourteen hits being garnered off his delivery. Dyke of the Woodland team hit a long home run in the third inning, this being one of the features of the game.

FITWELLS WIN FROM NORTHERN HARDWARES

At the Fifty-second avenue west grounds yesterday afternoon the Fitwells defeated the Northern Hardware team by the score of 6 to 2. Delburn was on the mound for the clothing merchants and he pitched a beautiful game, whiffing twelve of the hardware men and holding them to the small total of three hits. But for the errors of the infield of the Northerns Delburn would have shut out the clothiers. Joe Linder, Russell Barkell and Jack Mahan of hockey fame were in the line-up of the Northerns and played a good article of baseball.

WINS RACQUET CHAMPIONSHIP.

Philadelphia, May 5.—"Jock" Soutar of Philadelphia, Saturday won the professional racquet championship of the world by defeating Charles Williams of England, the title holder, at the racquet club.

The score was 15-2, 15-8, 15-4, 15-3.

Kolehmainen Wins.

New York, May 5. William Kolehmainen, the Finnish professional runner, easily outstripped eight other contestants in a 15-mile professional championship race at Celtic park, Long Island, yesterday in the teeth of a strong wind and on a track that was only fairly good. The winner's time of 1:20:14, was remarkably fast, considering conditions.

Stovall Suspended.

Chicago, May 5.—President Johnson of the American league last night announced the indefinite suspension of Manager George Stovall of the St. Louis club for his clash with Umpire Ferguson in St. Louis during Saturday's game with Cleveland. Pending a full report of the occurrence Mr. Johnson would not give any idea of the probable length of Stovall's suspension.

Boston Gets a Player.

New York, May 5.—Manager Stallings of the Boston National league club closed yesterday the deal whereby the team secures Dick Rudolph from the Toronto club of the International league. Stallings also telegraphed the formal release of Kling, the catcher, to the Cincinnati club. With a cash consideration for Kling, goes Infielder McDonald from Cincinnati to the Bostons.

Rudolph's signature was secured to a Boston contract after Stallings had telegraphed President Kelly at Toronto that $4,000 and Pitcher Brown would be given for Rudolph's release, these being Kelly's terms.

YALE LEADS IN COLLEGE BASEBALL

Boston, Mass., May 5.—The college baseball season of 1913 in the East entered the secondary stage this week with Yale leading in the race for the intercollegiate championship. Much depends on the Yale-Amherst and Brown-Princeton games on Wednesday, and the Yale-Pennsylvania and Harvard-Holy Cross contests on Saturday.

Yale has won eleven consecutive games and has been defeated only once. Early in the season the Blue lost to Pennsylvania, but a week ago beat the same team. Brown university, a rival for the championship, received a setback last Saturday when defeated by Yale.

Neither Harvard nor Princeton has reached the stage of development attained at the end of the preliminary stage, but both are expected to improve. Varied success has marked Pennsylvania's early season.

Good ball has been played recently by Dartmouth, Cornell, Holy Cross, Williams, Amherst and University of Vermont.

Watch College Player.

Chicago, May 5.—It was learned yesterday that the Chicago Americans were among the big league clubs which have been looking over Pitcher Sisler of the Michigan City nine. Sisler is a good outfielder and hitter as well as pitcher and his work this year has made a good deal of an impression among the scouts. The Pittsburg Nationals, it is understood, have first call on the collegian's services, should he decide to enter professional ball.

Johnson on Trial.

Chicago, May 5.—Jack Johnson, the negro champion pugilist, will be placed on trial in the United States court today charged with violating the Mann act. Seven indictments have been returned by grand juries against Johnson, the last being voted less than a week ago. Johnson will be put on trial on the indictment charging him with transporting Belle Schreiber from Pittsburg to Chicago in October, 1910.

HICKEN AND HIS POLICY

Turkish Temperance Worker Pays Commissioner a High Tribute.

Says Prohibition Is Apparently Losing Ground in America.

"Commissioner Hicken is doing more for the morals of Duluth than President Wilson has done for the city of Washington," said Dr. A. T. Ishkanian, field secretary for the Minnesota Temperance union at the Plymouth Congregational church, Fifty-fourth avenue west and Bristol street, yesterday in a sermon in which he charged that many good men whose political beliefs are Republican and Democratic were being used as tools of the brewery interest by being placed at the head of these tickets."

DR. A. T. ISHKANIAN.

Dr. Ishkanian began his talk by stating that his father had been converted from Mohammedanism by Congregational missionaries in Turkey. "It may seem queer that a product of the foreign missionary field should be doing missionary work in this country. I am here because I found that I could do more good in America with my head on my shoulders than I could do in Turkey with my head off. For that is what would have resulted if I had gone back after having taken American citizenship papers without the consent of the Turkish ruler."

The speaker said that apparently prohibition was losing ground, that at present there are only eight states in the prohibition column while at one time there had been twenty-four. That the whisky trust was becoming stronger in spite of the increased sentiment for prohibition.

Missions and Whisky.

"For every missionary this country sends to foreign fields the United States ships 12,000 barrels of liquor. It is something the country appears to feel proud of. Liquor is sold under the protection of the Stars and Stripes in the Holy Land, a saloon flourishing under the colors in Palestine.

"The reason why we have lost ground is that the good people of our country have two standards; one in the church and one in politics. The temperence societies and their members have studied the temperance question a great deal like the average Christian studies the Bible only superficially. The brewery interests have had them beaten at nearly every turn. The temperance people will not win out until such a time as the question is studied deeper and a concentrated effort made to use the political game in the same manner as the brewery interests.

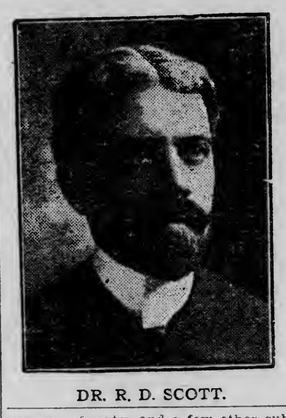
"I have had women tell me that they cannot do anything without the use of the ballot. I wish to say that the voting is only a side issue. The real work has been done a year or probably two years beforehand. The polls only decide which men of the 'interests' will be elected, for in all likelihood it is only a choice of which of two of three men shall be chosen to occupy the seat in the councils of the ungodly. The country whose women devote their time only to the home cooking, sewing and raising of children is in the background. It is because women devote part of their time to other things beside the household that America is forging ahead of the other older countries."

Dr. Ishkanian said that there were many people both in and out of the church who were always willing to 'have George do it' if it came to carrying out or taking a hold of some worthy object from which they would derive little publicity. He said that he knew of a man who was always ready to occupy a position as toastmaster at a banquet, or head a committee to which there was attached the newspaper notoriety, but if asked to do other work always found excused to let him out.

HEALTH & HAPPINESS

By Dr. R. D. Scott.

Governor Sulzer's Special Message on Public Health.



DR. R. D. SCOTT.

One of the most significant occurrences of the winter in the public health campaign is the report of the special commission appointed by Governor Sulzer on public health in the state of New York, and the transmission of the report to the state legislature by the governor, accompanied by a special message, pointing out the importance of the subject. "This is probably the first time," says the Journal of the American Medical association, "that a state executive has taken so advanced a position regarding the duty of the state to protect the lives and health of its citizens. Governor Sulzer says that the protection of the life and the promotion of the health of its citizens is one o fthe first duties of the state, and that there is no more important subject in public administration than public health. He points out that there is no well-co-ordinated system of public health administration in the state, and that the local boards of health, consisting of the county supervisor, justice of the peace and other local authorities, can hardly be regarded as qualified agencies for stamping out disease. He also asserts that there is no reason why, under proper management, the death-rate in the country should not be much lower than that in the city. He further shows that the fees paid to members of town and village boards of health amount to from $70,000 to $100,000 per year, for which expenditure no results are obtained. He is particularly emphatic in showing the economic value of modern public health administration. "An outbreak of smallpax in any city or village involves serious losses to its business men, most of which are clearly avoidable. It may be conservatively stated that the saving that would result from the efficient control of preventable diseases other than tuberculosis throughout the state would not be less than $10,000,000 per year. Efficient public health administration pays. The motto of the New York city health department, 'Public health is purchasable within natural limitations, and any community can determine its own deathrate,' should be made the motto of the state."

After reviewing the results of the campaign against tuberculosis, and asserting that "the people have determined that tuberculosis must be conquered," the governor adds: "Another thing: The loss of 7,000 babies in this state per annum must be stopped. The remedy is simple—statewide registration of births, and in industrial centers a sufficient number of infant-welfare stations." He then adds that 1,128 deaths per annum from typhoid fever is at least 1,000 too many, and that by controlling infectious diseases, and by creating increased interest in public health, the average of physical vigor, efficiency and productiveness can be greatly increased.

Care of the Kidneys.

A large quantity of water is necessary for the thorough solution of foods taken into the body, as well as for the construction and maintenance of body tissues; and nature has provided that there is always an excess of needs either circulating in the blood or stored away in various tissues. It is the salts in solution in the blood that regulate the amount of water in the tissues, for just as soon as the blood solution becomes a little too concentrated water is extracted from adjacent tissue so that the blood is always kept near a definite density. On the other hand, an excess of water is promptly discharged by the kidneys and skin. The kidneys may thus be likened to a filter which allows the passage of water and a few other substances, either waste products or salts, which have become excessive in the blood, but retains in the blood all foods and blood cells. Occasionally, however, when body foods become excessive in the blood stream they may force their way through the kidney, but in doing so always do damage to the kidney cells. An example of this is in the glycosuria of diabetes, where the glucose is in great excess in the blood, is passed in the urine, sometimes in surprisingly large quantities, and the body is robbed of this necessary nourishment.

On the other hand, when serum albumin, another body food, is passed in the urine, it is not because it is circulating to excess in the blood, but because the kidney cells are damaged to the extent that they permit this substance to leak through. This latter condition occurs in nephritis or Bright's disease, and the albuminuria is due to a true disease of the kidney; whereas diabetes is not a kidney disease, although it almost invariably causes it when of long standing. It is common to have a nephritis added to diabetes in cases which have survived many years.

Questions and Answers.

Spring Medicine.

R. M. H. writes: What would you advise a person to take for a spring medicine? In the spring months I am always bothered with boils, pimples, coated tongue and other symptoms of impure blood or torpid liver.

REPLY.

Fresh air, out-door exercise, reduction of diet and the eating of fruit, green vegetables as soon as available, together with a big reduction in the amount of meat eaten.

The condition you complain of is not in reality a condition of impure blood; it is a food intoxication. By this I mean that there is more salable food circulating in the blood than the system requires for use; therefore, to reduce the amount eaten and hasten the burning up of that already in the circulation by the aid of outdoor exercise, frequent bathing, etc., is the reasonable method of cure. The prevention of constipation and the copious drinking of pure water are matters which must be carried out in conjunction with the above treatment, if the best results are to be expected. No drugs are necessary, and, as a rule the so-called blood purifiers do more harm than good.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

THE city council of St. Louis, Mo., by a vote of 11 to 2, passed a bill which originated in the office of Health Commissioner Max C. Starkloff, to compel the sanitary wrapping of every loaf of bread offered for sale in St. Louis. The bill provides penalties. It provides for the sanitary handling of other bakery products in delivery wagons and when on display. On motion of Councilman Paul R. Fletcher, the foodstuffs screening bill passed at a previous meeting, which, however, was found to exempt commission merchants and was termed unconstitutional, because class legislation and discriminatory against the peddler and grocer, was reconsidered and returned to the sanitary affairs committee for amendments.

Duluth has an ordinance compelling the sanitary handling of bakery products as well as well-lighted, ventilated, sanitary bake shops. The regulations do not require the wrapping of bread but the driver must use clean gloves in making his deliveries. The new administration will give this branch of its activities close attention as well as enforce the provisions of the ordinance which calls for the covering of fruits, etc., which are displayed on the streets.

The easy Resinol way to stop skin troubles

The soothing, healing medication in Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap penetrates the tiny pores of the skin, clears them of impurities, and stops itching instantly. Resinol heals eczema, rashes, ringworm, and other eruptions, and removes disfiguring pimples and blackheads quickly and easily, when other treatments prove worse than useless.

Resinol is not an experiment. It is a doctor's prescription which proved so uniformly successful for skin troubles that it has been used by other doctors all over the country for eighteen years. No other treatment for the skin now before the public can show such a record of professional approval.

Practically every druggist, large or small, sells Resinol Ointment (50c and $1) and Resinol Soap (25c), but you can test them at our expense if you prefer. Send to Dept. 17-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for liberal samples and the two new Resinol booklets.

Relieved eczema instantly

Philadelphia, Pa., March 28, 1913: "Resinol has surely been a friend in need to me. I had eczema on my face. It was in the form of a rash. I used many treatments, without any results. I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment and it gave me instant relief, and very thankful I was, for my whole head felt like it was afire. I told the doctor about Resinol and he highly recommended it and told me to continue its use. I am now completely cured of that dreadful disease after using only about four jars of Resinol Ointment and washing with Resinol Soap." (Signed) Miss Carolene B. Laughlin, 174 Pleasant St., Mt. Airey.

ON THE IRON RANGES

WANT MILLER ROAD FIXED

Eveleth Commercial Club to Start Movement for Improving Highway.

Say Connection Between Range Towns and Duluth Must Be Bettered.

Eveleth, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth Commercial club has started a campaign for the improvement of the Miller trunk road, the main artery of travel between Duluth and the range towns, that is expected to bear fruit. A petition is to be circulated calling upon the county commissioners to appropriate $100,000 for the improvement of this important highway between the range towns and Duluth. After the petition has been signed here it will be sent to Virginia, Hibbing, Chisholm and other range towns and then presented to the June meeting of the county board by some of the well-known speakers of the range, who will urge favorable action.

Duluth Should Be Interested.

It is pointed out that this road, which is liberally patronized by motorists of the range and Duluth, should be placed in as good condition as the different range roads, the contention being made that if the Duluth people want to hold the range trade they had better take an interest in the proposed scheme. The road is about seventy miles in length between here and Duluth and needs a lot of work, notably in some of the swamps where the road is too narrow to admit of teams or motors passing.

"While $100,000 may seem like a large sum to ask for," said a well-known citizen, "it will be none too much to make this a great turnpike in keeping with the needs of Duluth and the range towns. The people of Duluth, especially those coming here daily in their automobiles and the firms carrying on business on the range, should join the range towns in this proposition and urge the commissioners to improve the connecting link between Duluth and Duluth's best trading point—the Mesaba range. The roads on the range are in far better shape than this main artery of travel to and from Duluth."

ADMIT WOUNDING MRS. I. W. POOLE

Pair Arrested By Game Warden Confess to Injuring Duluth Woman.

Virginia, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Slatten and Nels Lee, residents of the country near Ellsburg, on the new Canadian Northern line, twenty-five miles south of Virginia, were arrested by Game Warden George Wood and his assistant, James Teller, charged with netting fish.

They were brought here to the municipal court Saturday and fines of $100 and costs or ninety days were imposed by Judge Carey. Slatten was able to pay, but Lee took the jail sentence.

The two men have confessed that they are guilty of firing the shots which struck Mrs. I. W. Poole, wife of a Duluth plumber, as she was with a party Martin Moe of Virginia was bringing to Virginia by automobile on April 25.

At that time these men gave other names. They will also be held to answer to the charge of assault in the second degree in the district court on account of the shooting.

Mrs. Poole Doing Nicely.

Eveleth, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. I. W. Poole of Duluth, who was brought here April 25, suffering with a bullet wound in the breast, sustained when accidentally shot while riding in an auto near the White Face river with Martin Moe, a Virginia drillman, is doing nicely at More hospital. Advices from Virginia are that George Slatten and Nels Lee arrested for netting fish, have confessed to firing the shots and will have to answer to an assault charge.

EVELETH TEACHERS.

OLD MEN'S DEATH IS BEING PROBED

Lake County Coroner Trying to Find Out What Killed Them.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A post-mortem examination was made of the bodies of Peter Embregsten and Gust Lantz, who were found dead near Drummond on the Iron Range railroad last Saturday, as told in The Herald. Both were from this city and it was known that they were drinking very heavily during the past week and when their bodies were found there was three empty quart whisky and alcohol bottles within a few feet of the bodies. Deputy Coroner Christenson and Sheriff Emil Nelson left for the place where the two men were found this morning to investigate further. They will also visit the cabin owned by one of the dead men, which is located farthur up the line. It is expected that the two men were bound for this shack when they left Two Harbors last Thursday morning.

Two Old Fishermen.

Both were aged men. Embregtsen was almost 80 years old and had lived around this city for many years, during which time he did considerable fishing. He is known about this city as "Peter, the Diver," and in fact many knew him by no other name. Lantz was nearly 70 years old and has made Two Harbors and the vicinity his home for many years. Neither has any relatives in this country as far as can be learned by the local authorities. Nothing was found on the bodies except a pocket knife and a 25-cent piece which was in one of the pockets of Lantz's pants.

MARBLE SCHOOL GARDEN

Contract for Clearing the Ground Has Been Awarded.

Marble, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the school board of Independent District No. 2, held in Coleraine Saturday, the contract for cleaning the school garden was let to A. Mihevelet & Co. of Bovey. They will also fence and ditch the grounds. Work is to be begun at once, so that a garden can be had this summer. It will be located at the southwest corner of Alice avenue and Jessie street, across from St. Patrick's church. The garden work will be in charge of A. G. Bovay of Coleraine. Mr. Bovay is a graduate of the Michigan agricultural college, and has been very successful in his work in the public school.

Mrs. D. E. Butler has returned from Duluth and opened the Marble hotel. It has been closed all winter.

CHISHOLM FUNERALS.

Three Are Held on Sunday and Two Today.

Chisholm, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three children's funerals were held Sunday at the Chisholm cemetery. Gustina Paravich, who has fought a battle against big odds succumbed Saturday at the Detention hospital from scarlet fever.

Bertha Hanhila and Frank Gagnon were each buried at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, after dying from natural causes.

This morning at 10 from the Catholic church were held services for Mrs. Margaret Korbar and little baby, who also died on Saturday. Rev. Father Schiller conducted the services and the interment was made in Calvary cemetery.

WESTERN UNION TO HAVE FINE OFFICE.

Virginia, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Western Union telegraph office, which opened in the Great Northern depot, will soon move uptown into the quarters vacated by the Virginia & Rainy Lake railroad and later will go into the new First National bank building which will be erected during the present summer. W. J. Durand of Minneapolis, special agent for the Western Union, was in Virginia recently making the arrangements

At a recent meeting of the Men's Club of the Presbyterian church the pastor, Rev. H. E. Neff, and Mrs. Neff were presented with a silver basket containing nearly $100 in silver coin. The presentation was made on account of the recent observance by Mr. and Mrs. Neff of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Grand Rapids Creamery Report.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The report of the Itasca County Co-Operative creamery shows that for the first fifteen days of April the average price received for butter was 35 cents, as against 32 cents in 1912. The prices for butter fat in milk, special cream and first cream was 48, 36 and 34 cents, as against 42, 32 and 30 cents in 1912.

The business done in 1913 was just about 20 per cent greater than that done in 1912 for the same period.

Those who received more than $15 for the first half of April included J. D. Heinegardner, $31.32; C. A. Buell, $17.47; Neil Mullins, $43.08; John Fraser, $37; Mrs. J. V. Morse, $19.50; Mrs. D. Lipsett, $17.51; Charles Point, $16.91; North Central Experimental farm, $40.50; John Johnson, $22.69; Axel Anderson, $17.64; Hoolihan & Peterson, $33.15.

Grand Rapids Notes.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Wetzel is the only Civil war veteran here who fought at the battle of Gettysburg, and will attend the fiftieth anniversary.

The baseball team of the local high school defeated the Coleraine high school team Friday, 9 to 1.

George Opsahl of Deer River and Miss Della Nelson of Bass Lake were married Saturday by Judge Huson.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A second continuance has been granted in the case of the state against Theodore (Kid) Neff, Charlie Mason, Jessie Wilson, Verna Barr, "Babe" Starr and Ollie West, all of Keewatin, charged with running a house of ill fame, and the case will be heard on Friday. All of the prisoners gave bail.

New Grand Rapids J. P.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Probate Judge Clarence B. Webster has been chosen by the village council as justice of the peace to succeed Justice R. H. Bailey, resigned. The council also voted $150 to the local ball team, $75 to be used to cover the lease on the ball grounds for the season, and the remainder for repairs and improvements.

TROLLEY LEAGUE GAMES COMMENCED

Hibbing Beats Chisholm and Eveleth Trounces Virginia Mohamis.

Hibbing, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hard hitting characterized the opening game in the Trolley league here yesterday between Hibbing and Chisholm, which was captured by the locals, 12 to 6, before a banner crowd, a great throng coming from Chisholm. Carroll and C. Booth of Hibbing both made home runs. Hibbing proved pretty strong for the visitors, making twelve runs, eleven hits and no errors, while the vistors scored six runs, eight hits and four errors. Williams, Grady and Carroll were the Hibbing battery, and Jensen and Nelson held the boxes for Chisholm.

Eveleth Beats Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The opening game in the trolley league was played Sunday before a big crowd at Oliver park. Eveleth won from the Mohami team of Virginia, 6 to 1. Mitten pitched the first five innings for Virginia and was batted heavily, then Halvor Olson, the former high school pitching star, was placed on the hill, but he did not show his old time form. Wild throws and errors were responsible for some of Eveleth's runs. It was a game without notable features.

The players were: Eveleth—Van Buskirk, cf.; Olson, 2b.; Murphy, c.; Foy, 3b.; Johnson, ss.; Gilley, 1b.; Richards, cf.; Helstrom, lf.; Foster, p. Mohami team.—Scott, 3b.; Giblin, cf.; Hole, ss.; McCulloch, 1b.; Smith, lf.; Miller, cf.; Dennis, 2b.; Kreltzer, c.; Mitten, p.; Olson p. The score:

	R.	H.	E.

0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0—1 7 5

There was an attendance of 1,000 at the game, and music was furnished by three bands, the Mohami band of Virginia, City band of Virginia, and the Fayal band of Eveleth. The Trolley league will play Saturday, Sunday and holiday games at Hibbing, Chisholm, Virginia, Eveleth, Gilbert and Biwabik, through the season.

Biwabik Beats Gilbert.

Biwabik, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Defeating Gilbert by a score of 9 to 1, Biwabik opened the Trolley league game season here yesterday before a large crowd. There was some good pitching and the score was tied until the eighth—1 to 1—when Biwabik scored two runs.

Ursella and Benson were the battery for Biwabik, and Berry, Kneff and Masterson controlled the field for Gilbert. About 100 spectators accompanied the Gilbert team.

MILE POST 62 NOT TO HAVE STATION.

St. Paul, Minn., May 5.—The state railroad commission has denied the application of the settlers of Mile Post 62, St. Louis county to compel the Great Northern railroad to erect a station there and to have two trains daily.

The settlement shipped 440 cars of forest products last year and is located between Poupore and Brookston, but the commission is of the opinion that it would not pay the railroad to make the place a regular station.

Tower Mill Running.

Tower, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Trout Lake Lumber company's sawmill was started full blast by Cook & Ketchum Saturday.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McWaters died Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Goodwill of Goodwill's summer home were in town on Friday and Saturday. Preparations are being made at their resort for increasing facilities for tourists by the addition of another building to their plant.

Fishing started in earnest on May 1 and fishermen from everywhere are enjoying the famous fishing afforded by Lake Vermilion.

A large body of students of the school of mines of Wisconsin university are located at the Vermilion hotel and are studying the formation in this vicinity and examining the various mines of the locality. The North American will probably be visited today.

Dr. Lenont of Virginia has bought a tract of land on the north shore of Pike bay, an arm of Lake Vermilion. He expects to erect a couple of cottages there this season.

New Hibbing Priest.

Hibbing, Minn., May 5.—Father Dante Gilli will be the new pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Hibbing, and is expected to arrive the latter part of next week from Rome. He is about 30 years old and has been a pastor of St. Andreas' church at Sigillo, a short distance north of the city of Rome. He has many friends among the Italian people on the Mesaba range and is an old friend of G. B. Becchetti of the Italian Mercantile company.

Virginia to Buy Land.

Virginia, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Since the legislature has passed the measure empowering school boards to condemn land for agricultural purposes in connection with the schools, it i sexpected the school board of Virginia will acquire the land well known as the state 80, which lies on the Mountain Iron road and less than one mile from the downtown section of the city.

Buried at Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., May 5.—The funeral was held here of John Peterson, a former resident, who died in Rochester, Minn., following an operation, aged 28. Mr. Peterson was a brother of Mrs. Andrew Lindquist of McKinley street, Mrs. Gust Hill of Bear River and Matt Peterson of Biwabik, formerly of Hibbing.

He left this city, where he was formerly employed in the mines about three years ago, and has since been working in Alaska and in the copper fields of Montana.

Accidental Gilbert Shooting.

Gilbert, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Leo Banen accidentally shot Eli Vivovich in the hand with a pistol while the two were examining the weapon in a local store. "I did not know it was loaded," was Banen's explanation, as he was arrested on an assault charge. He gave bail for his appearance today.

Fire In Elba Mine.

Gilbert, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—After an hour's hard fighting firemen extinguished a fire in the bottom of the Elba mine of the Pickands-Mather Mining company here Saturday night that for a time threatened the shaft.

FAVOR CHANGE IN NATURALIZATION LAW

Duluth naturalization officials are in favor of a proposed amendment to the naturalization laws, which will not require an applicant for citizenship to bring witnesses from distant parts of the state to testify as to his qualifications. Under the law as it now stands a man living in one portion of the state part of the required five years and in another part the remainder of the time must furnish witnesses from each place. If he had lived in two different states, however, he may furnish affidavits from the state other than the one in which he is making application. The amendment would allow affidavits to be accepted from points within the state also.

AUSTRIANS WERE MISLED

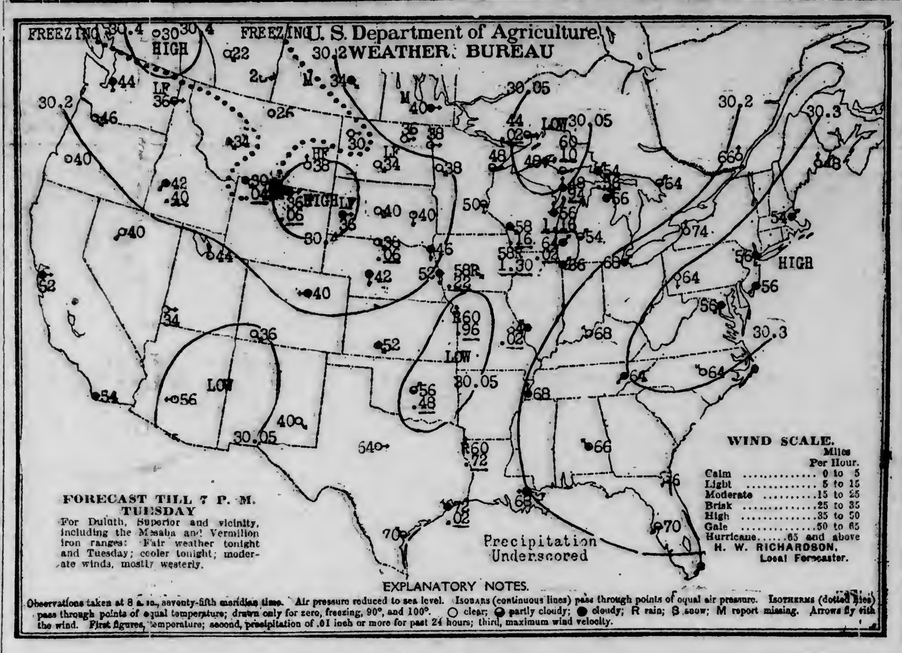
Induced to Return Home on Promise of High Wages.

Joseph Mantel, who, with Mrs. Mantel, recently returned from a several months' sojourn in Austria, declares that Slovenian working men in this country were misled by the Austrian government agents into believing that conditions would be better for them in the old country than here and that last fall many returned to their native homes.

Instead of getting from $1 to $1.50 for work in the old country, he declared, they were only paid from 60 cents to $1 a day. "Last year a railroad was being built through the Slovenian country near where I was visiting, and I had an opportunity to investigate labor conditions at that time. Many of the Austrians who were induced to come back to the old country are now returning to America."

Mr. Mantel spent six months at his former home, during which time he regained his former health, he says.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

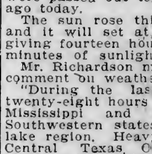


FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. TUESDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Fair weather tonight and Tuesday; cooler tonight; moderate winds, mostly westerly.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m. seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100°. ○ clear; ◑ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figure, temperature; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.



A chilly wind yesterday marred what would otherwise have been a beautiful day. The sun was bright, the sky was cloudless, but the wind had an icy touch. Today is fair and somewhat warmer and continued fair weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

Rain, wind, fog and cold weather were passed out to Duluthians a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:45 and it will set at 7:23 this evening, giving fourteen hours and thirty-eight minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four to twenty-eight hours rains fell over the Mississippi and Missouri river valleys, Southwestern states and the Upper lake region. Heavy rains fell over Central Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Western Missouri, Iowa and Southern Wisconsin. Light to killing frosts occurred throughout the greater part of the Rocky mountain and Northwestern states since Saturday. Frost may be expected in Minnesota and the Dakotas tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 5.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m., Tuesday:

Lower Michigan—Showers tonight or Tuesday; cooler in east and south portions.

STIRRUP CLUB IN NEW ORGANIZATION

Opposes Governor's Plan for State Public Utilities Campaign.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 5.—The organization of a society, the avowed purpose of which is to oppose Governor Eberhart's campaign for the creation of a state public utilities commission, was begun at a meeting held here today. The Hennepin County Progressive league, the Saturday Lunch Club of Minneapolis, the Current Topics club of St. Paul and the Stirrup club of Duluth were represented.

A campaign committee was named, the purpose of which is to extend the membership of the organization to all parts of the state. C. F. Keyes of Minneapolis is chairman of this committee.

Talks were made by Alexander McKnight of Duluth, H. T. Halbert of St. Paul, Representative S. R. Child of Minneapolis and others.

DAWSON POWER PLANT BURNED.

Seattle, Wash., May 5.—A special to the Post Intelligencer from Dawson, Yukon territory, says the power house of the Dewson Electric Light & Power company was burned to the ground Saturday night with a loss of $200,000. The destruction of the plant stopped the operations of the big mining companies dependent upon it. Temporary electric service has been established.

Janesville to Recall Mayor.

Janesville, Wis., May 5.—The petition for the recall of Mayor James A. Fathers will be certified by the city clerk and a special election on the recall held between June 1 and July 15.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—William H. Crane in "The Senator Keeps House."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville and talking pictures.
EMPRESS—"Don't Lie to Your Wife."

CLEVER SKETCH AT THE ORPHEUM

Miss Norton and Paul Nicholson Headline New Bill.

Occasionally there comes a vaudeville sketch that renews one's faith in the possibilities of the short play as a form of real entertainment.

Such a sketch is headlining the new bill at the Orpheum this week. It is called "A Dramatic Cartoon," and is being presented by Miss Norton and Paul Nicholson. It simply gives a little stage picture of an incident in the lives of two department store clerks who are trying to keep house on their slender earnings in their cramped city flat. The story itself is a commonplace enough one, but it has so many little touches of humor and mere suggestions of pathos that it is a little masterpiece in its way. Some of the humorous touches are hilariously funny, and the pathos never goes far enough to be sentimental. There is always a laugh to relieve the situation.

Miss Norton and Mr. Nicholson are real artists in their portrayal of the ribbon counter girl and her young husband, and the sketch was greeted with the warmest approval last evening.

There are two good singing "team acts" on this week's bill of quite different types.

Walter De Leon and "Muggins" Davies have a very attractive little act of songs and dances. Both performers have a pleasing personality, and their act is high class and clever throughout.

Another dainty and pleasing turn is given by Dorothy Brenner and Joseph Ratcliff. Miss Brenner is a very attractive young woman and their song numbers are catchy and well sung.

The best novelty the Orpheum has seen this season is offered by Moran and Wiser, "boomerang hat throwers." They have a collection of wide-rimmed straw hats which they use as boomerangs, and their feats are decidedly clever and amusing. One of the two men is a real comedian and his pantomime is very funny.

The Le Grohs, three men and a woman, have a real novelty, staged in a rather unusual way. Three of the members of the company are contortionists and acrobats, and their feats are both novel and startling. The act is very much out of the ordinary and cannot be classed as a mere contortion act.

The Five Musical Gormans, three attractive young women, a man and a boy, have a lively musical turn which was one of the hits of the entire bill last evening. The young women play trombones and cornets, and the boy is a very energetic and hard-working little drummer. He has a Paderewski crop of hair and Creatore methods and he gets results, if noise and applause are what he is after.

Marseilles opens the bill with a contortion act which he calls "A Puzzle in Black and White." He is about the last word in suppleness.

The Edison talking pictures this week are amusing. One reel, "The Politician," brought many laughs last evening and proved one of the most entertaining pictures yet shown. The bill throughout is well balanced and most entertaining. It will continue all week with a daily matinee.

"DON'T LIE TO YOUR WIFE"

Hilarious Tabloid Opens Engagement at the Empress.

Fun and frolic reign this week at the Empress, where Mart Franklyn and his capable company of entertainers are presenting "Don't Lie to Your Wife."

The tabloid abounds in humorous lines, comedy situations and funny songs. The company apparently seeks to keep the audience laughing throughout the show, and this the members succeeded in doing at the opening performances yesterday. The play readily scored a hit, it being one of the best tabloids seen here this season.

Mart Franklyn as a German comedian is exceptionally good and his comedy lines, jokes and songs are the hit of the show. He is ably assisted by a company of principals and a large chorus of girls, whose numbers all show careful training.

What makes "Don't Lie To Your Wife" such a success are its latest song hits, which are introduced in the most novel manner possible. "You Great Big Blue-Eyed Doll," as sung by Miss Ida Neale and the chorus, the members of which walked about the audience, won considerable applause. "There's One In a Million Like You," another new song hit, was introduced by Miss Ida Neale and Ben F. Bernard, both of whom have pleasing voices.

"The Broadway Glide," the latest dance from the East, is introduced during the action of the play by the principals and the chorus. The dance is another of the novelties that are constantly being presented by the theatrical entertainers for the sake of novelty and the "Broadway Glide" is just a little different.

A two-reel motion picture is shown before the opening of the play. "Don't Lie To Your Wife" will play until Wednesday evening, with daily matinees.

LAW PUTS PENALTY ON 'SINGLE BLESSEDNESS'

Spinsters and Bachelors Have Lost Personal Property Tax Exemption, Holds Attorney General.

Bachelors and spinsters having no one dependent on them for support are hard hit by the new law governing the $100 exemption in personal property taxation.

W. J. Stevenson, assistant attorney general, has held that because they cannot qualify as heads of families they cannot take advantage of the exemption.

And this, regardless of whether their domestic affairs are conducted by servants or employes or not, according to his ruling.

The new law provides that only the head of the family is entitled to the $100 exemption. If the husband and father cannot qualify, then it may fall to a wife and mother or brother, etc.

No family, however, can have more than one head, holds the attorney general's office.

Every member of the family no longer has the right to take advantage of the exemption. No longer will it do any good for one member to claim ownership of the piano, another the family cow and a third other personal property. Only one exemption will be allowed.

Mr. Stevenson has made this construction of the new statute in answer to inquiries which have been received from assessors all over the state.

BLOCK'S COMPANY NOT SELLING STOCK.

St. Paul, Minn., May 5.—Since the passage of the insurance "blue sky" law April 19, Julius H. Block, former state treasurer, has informed J. A. O. Preus, state insurance commissioner, that the United States & Dominion Life Insurance company, Duluth, of which he is president, is selling no stock in Minnesota and may not ask for a license to do so.

Mr. Preus, in order to give all those who have heretofore purchased stock in Mr. Block's company advantage of the information concerning it he has gathered, has filed a report setting forth the data.

AT THE EDGE OF THE ICE FIELD.

APRIL ORE SHIPMENTS

More Than 500,000 Tons Sent Out During the Month.

First Lumber Boats Arrive ---Major Has Trouble In Ice.

More than 500,000 tons of ore was shipped from the Head of the Lakes during April, the season having commenced April 17.

This is more than twice the shipment of April, 1912, and over 200,000 tons more than in April, 1911. Present indications also point to a record shipment this month, which will exceed the May movement of last year. During May, 1912, 5,911,000 tons were shipped from local and Lake Superior docks.

From the Missabe docks 175,135 tons of ore were shipped during April, according to the figures of local officials. About 550,000 tons were shipped from Superior and other Lake Superior points.

During the part of April when the marine season was on, the receipts were also above the average and exceeded those of last year and 1911 by far. About 750,000 tons were received.

Coal shippers are in the market for tonnage, both for soft coal and anthracite. Shipments are much heavier now, and some shippers are even loading wild boats. The condition of the coal is not up to the standard and much of it has been rejected by the inspectors. The cars were caught in the recent floods and the coal was covered with mud.

Better Dispatch.

Boats are getting better dispatch at Buffalo. The grain rate is still at 2¼ cents, but a guarantee of dispatch is offered by most of the owners. A light grain tonnage is expected this week, as shippers are unable to obtain enough boats.

The steamer Charles H. Bradley and the schooners Page, Delaware and Brightlie, were the first lumber boats to arrive in the local harbor this season. They came in Saturday afternoon. The boats are now being loaded and are expected to leave within a day or two.

Several lumber boats are now on their way to local docks and a record initial shipment is expected.

The steamer Major, loaded with salt, entered the local harbor at 9:20 o'clock last night, after being jammed in the ice for nearly three hours. The boat ran into the ice jam about three miles out of the barbor.

The boats have had very little trouble since Saturday afternoon, when the large fleet finally got away, after being jammed in the ice from four to twenty hours. The wind has changed to the southwest and the ice is expected to disappear very quickly, should the present weather continue.

The construction work on the north arm of the breakwater at the Superior entry will be resumed next week. The Zenith City company has the contract for the work.

Boat Sprung a Leak.

Alpena, Mich., May 5.—The steamer Sacramento, bound from Chicago to Buffalo, with grain, sprung a leak when opposite Thunder Bay island Saturday morning and the deck pump also began to leak when it was put in use. The vessel was in distress opposite the island for some time until life savers reached it. A call for help was sent to Alpena and James Miller, a machinist, went out to the steamer to repair the pump, after which the steamer was able to continue on its way.

TWO STEAMERS ASHORE IN FOG

Fleetwood and Indus Run Aground on Lake Huron.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the heavy fog which last night hung over this section of the lakes two steamers ran ashore. The steamer Fleetwood got out of her course in Lake Huron and ran ashore ten miles east of Detour Point. The Pickands-Mather steamer Indus stranded on Scotts Point, northwest of Lansing Shoal in Lake Huron.

Both steamers are reported to be damaged and leaking badly. A thick fog prevails this morning. Only four steamers locked through during the night.

Assistance will be sent to the wrecked steamers as soon as the fog lifts.

Buffalo Receipts.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 5.—The report given out Saturday by the grain office of the Lake Carriers' association, shows that the amount of grain elevated during the past week was almost a record. A total of nearly 9,000,000 bushels of grain was unloaded here during that time. There is still considerable grain afloat and the elevators are working day and night.

The grain was divided as follows: Export, 635,310: Monarch, 77,398; Evans, 267,830; Dakota, 909,727; Frontier, 415,255; American Malting, 350,302; Electric, 616,921; Erie, 486,991; Wheeler, 696,790; Eastern, 1,111,126; C. T. H. R., 939,864; Kellogg, 770,928; Exchange, 178,129, and Mutual, 1,528,964. Total, 8,985,535.

TWO ACCIDENTS ON THE ONE TRIP.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 5.—The steamer William S. Mack sustained two accidents on her trip down the lakes, the second, in which she was rammed by the Turrent Crown.

In the dense fog Friday night she ran ashore near Whitefish point, but with the assistance of the tug Schenck from the Soo was released at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and resumed her course for the Soo. When abreast of Round Island at 8 o'clock Saturday night the Turret Crown, also downbound, rammed her in the stern.

The Mack has a cargo of wheat from Fort William to Fairport. It will be necessary to tow her down the lakes to her destination.

Immediately after the collision the Turret Crown steamed for the beach to prevent sinking. Damages were found abreast the boiler house on the starboard side. After a preliminary examination, it was found possible to bring her to the Soo where temporary repairs will be made. A cement patch will have to be put on.

SURVEY REPORTS ON STAGE OF LAKES.

The United States Lake Survey reports the stages of the Great Lakes for the month of April, as follows:

Lakes—	Feet above tide-water, New York.
Superior	601.66
Michigan-Huron	580.80
Erie	574.00
Ontario	247.86

Lake Superior is .12 foot higher than last month, .27 foot higher than a year ago, .05 foot below the average stage of April of the last ten years, 1.03 feet below the high stage of April, 1860, and 1.12 feet above the low stage of April, 1911. It will probably rise about .3 foot during May.

Lakes Michigan-Huron are .64 foot higher than last month, 1.32 feet higher than a year ago, .40 foot above the average tsage of April of the last ten years, 2.43 feet below the stage of April, 1886, and 1.58 feet above the low stage of April, 1896. They will probably rise about .3 foot during May.

Lake Erie is 1.50 feet higher than last month, 1.72 feet higher than a year ago, 1.68 feet above the average stage of April of the last ten years, .18 foot below the high stage of April, 1862, and 2.74 feet above the low stage of April, 1895. It will probably rise about .3 foot during May.

Lake Ontario is 1.15 feet higher than last month, 2.54 feet higher than a year ago, 1.50 feet higher than the average stage of April of the last years, .57 foot below the high stage of April, 1886, and 3.02 feet above the low stage of April, 1873. It will probably rise about .5 foot during May.

TUGS SAID TO BE VIOLATING RULES

Capt. Peek Urges Lower Speed Near Lamborn Avenue Bridge.

Capt. E. D. Peek of the United States engineers' office has issued the following circular regarding the speed of tugs passing in the vicinity of the Lamborn avenue bridge:

"Numerous complaints have been received at this office as to the speed of tugs passing in the vicinity of the Lamborn avenue bridge, Duluth-Superior harbor. The attention of all those concerned is invited to the regulations on this subject, as promulgated by the secetary of war:

"'While passing all other bridges under ordinary conditions of weather the speed should not exceed six miles per hour, except at the Lamborn avenue bridge where it should not exceed four miles.'

"It appears that rowboats, launches and pleasure craft generally moored or housed near the Lamborn avenue bridge are greatly damaged as a result of the wash from tugs passing this bridge at a speed in excess of that permitted by the United States rules and regulations.

"It is hoped that tug owners in this harbor will give such instructions to their masters as to eliminate the necessity of invoking the aid of the law to stop the practice. A cheerful compliance with this request will therefore be appreciated, not only by those whose property is being damaged, but by this office as well.

"E. D. PEEK,
"Captain, Corps of Engineers."

IMPROVEMENTS IN HARBOR AT ALPENA.

Four bids were opened in the office of Lieut.-Col. Mason M. Patrick, United States district engineer at Detroit, last week, from firms seeking the contract for improving the harbor at Alpena, Mich.

The Grelling Bros. company of Green Bay, Wis., which offered to do the dredging at a price of 17 cents a cubic yard, scow measurement, for material removed was the lowest, and Lieut.-Col. Patrick will recommend that the war department award the contract to that firm.

The government specifications call for removal of approximately 72,000 cubic yards of material from an area extending from the 16-foot curve in Thunder bay to a point about 2,300 feet above the Second street bridge, the width varying from 150 feet in the bay to 100 feet at the Second street bridge, 75 feet from there to the Minor Lumber company's dock and 50 feet from there to the upper limit of the work.

SHIPMENTS FROM BUFFALO IN APRIL.

Except for the coal shipments, the lake shipments from Buffalo during the month of April were considerably less than during the same month in 1911 and 1912, according to the reports at the United States customs office at Buffalo. The steamer J. H. Bartow took on 10,000 tons of coal on April 3 for Milwaukee, and from that date until Thursday 504,714 tons of coal were loaded at Buffalo. Last year only 650 tons of coal were shipped there during the month of April, and in April, 1911, the total reached 193,325.

The totals for April, 1911, 1912 and 1913 follow:

	Coal. Tons.	Cement. Bbl.	Salt. Bbl.	Sugar. Bbl.
1913..	504,714	140,580	10,250	27,350
1912..	650	13,850	44,600	45,875
1911..	193,325	283,490	32,723	2,000

ALONG THE LAKES

The dominion government's dredge No. 41, which has wintered at Sarnia, is being fitted out for the season's work. The tug St. Paul, which works in connection with the dredge, has been taken to the Reid drydock, where repairs will be made to damages she received during the storm in March.

* * *

The steamer Howard M. Hanna, Jr., was damaged Friday afternoon when her steering gear became disabled and she crashed into the wharf at Point Edward. Considerable damage was done to the wharf.

* * *

United States local inspectors of steam vessels were at work Saturday on the steamer William J. Averill, which has been undergoing extensive repairs at the Ecorse yard of the Great Lakes Engineering works during the winter. The repairs included a new rudder and shoe to replace those the Averill lost in Detroit river Dec. 5 last year.

* * *

General Manager Arnold of the Arnold Transportation company announces that the company will not operate its line from the Soo to Green Bay this season. The Hart will be operated between Chicago and Michigan points.

* * *

The steamer Colonal, which has been lying in the Pabst slip, has cleared from Milwaukee in tow of the tug James Reid of the Reid Wrecking company for Port Huron, where she will be repaired and placed in commission. The Colonial has been purchased by the Reid Wrecking company.

* * *

The lighter T. F. Newman of the Great Lakes Towing company has arrived at Buffalo from Detroit, where she wintered, and will be stationed there during the coming summer.

* * *

The dredging of Cuyahoga river will allow boats loaded to 18 feet 6 inches to pass. This will enable the boats going to Irishtown coal dock to load a foot and a half deeper than they have so far this season.

* * *

* * *

The steamer J. B. Eads, which was caught by the recent floods at Lorain and carried down the river, completed repairs Friday and left for the Head of the Lakes.

CHIEF STEWARD OF TOMLINSON LINE.

C. A. Minor, steward of the steamer William Livingstone of the Tomlinson line, has been appointed chief steward by G. A. Tomlinson, president of the company. Mr. Minor has been in the employ of the Tomlinson company for the past eleven years and is one of the best known men on the lakes.

Unloading Rates.

North Tonawanda, May 5.—The representatives of the longshoremen's union and the Tonawanda Lumbermen's association held another conference last Friday and agreed upon the unloading rates for this season. The lumber handlers secured an increase of 5 cents per 1,000 feet on nearly all grades of lumber. An increase of 10 cents was granted on some grades, but the rate on No. 3 lumber and the better grades was not changed.

Draft at Conneaut.

The recommended draft at Conneaut is nineteen feet, six inches.

Complete Round Trip.

The steamers Shenango and Schoonmaker are the first boats to return of the large fleet that left the local harbor during the first days of the season, April 17 and 18. They arrived Saturday afternoon with coal.

Last Lumber Boat Clears.

North Tonawanda, N. Y., May 5.—The last vessel in the fleet of lumber carriers that wintered in the Tonawandas left port Saturday afternoon. Four vessels of the Tonawanda Iron & Steel company's fleet and the excursion steamer, Canadiana are still here.

Quick Work on Docks.

Ashtabula Harbor, Ohio, May 5.—With but five minutes' notice, the Ashtabula & Buffalo Dock company's Superior dock, which had not received a cargo this season, worked the steamer Corey out Friday in about five hours. The Corey with nearly 10,000 tons of iron ore was stopped in the lake at this port.

SUNDAY ARRESTS SHOW DECREASE

Average of Only One or Two Since Lid Went on.

Since Commissioner Hicken provided Duluth with a new lid the number of arrests on Sunday for drunkenness has materially decreased. Where the average was six to eight it has dropped to one or two per Sabbath and in each instance thus far the jags resulted from stocks provided Saturday.

Frank Klimeck, 61, and Tony Klimeck, 21, father and son, were arrested together yesterday on charges of being drunk. They had imbibed from a supply laid in during the week. In police court both pleaded guilty and sentence was suspended. They were arrested at their home on complaint of Mrs. Klimeck.

Charles Nicholson, bartender at M. J. Cook's saloon at 527 West Michigan street, was arrested this morning on a warrant charging him with furnishing liquor to Oscar Dahl, a minor, 17 years old. In police court this morning Nicholson pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Wednesday afternoon. Bail was fixed at $100. The excuse offered at the police station this morning was that the boy had said he was 21 years old when asked as to his age.

TEACHERS AS JANITORS.

Question of Their Remuneration in North Dakota Is Raised.

Mandan, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The question whether teachers shall be paid $10 additional a month for janitor services will be decided when the case of J. W. Hensleigh against the school board of the Heart river school district is tried. Papers in the action, threatened some time ago, have just been served.

It is alleged by Hensleigh, who came to this county last fall from Iowa, that his contract calls for the additional $10, as provided by the state. He added a clause providing for the $10, but the board refused to pay it. He has not been engaged five months in the school and is bringing suit to recover the amount.

North Dakota teachers, especially women, contend that they are entitled to janitor fees when doing their own work, especially during the winter months when it involves hardship through having to get to the schools early enough to have them thoroughly heated when scholars arrive.

TO ADOPT WHITE MAN.

Fort Yates, N. D., Sioux to Confer Honor on Bismarck Citizen.

Bismarck, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief John Grass of the Sioux tribe of Indians will confer the greatest honor on A. B. Welsh of this city that Indians confer on whites when he formally adopts him, giving him the name of Me-tow-a-tak-pe, or Charging Bear. The distinction of adoption is one that Indians confer on few, and on the occasion of Mr. Welsh's adoption there will be a big celebration at Fort Yates, where the festivities will occur.

To Enforce Anti-Snuff Law.

Bismarck, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. E. F. Ladd has notified North Dakota tobacco handlers that he is making plans to enforce strictly the law prohibiting the sale of snuff in the state, which becomes effective July 1. He is confident that the law passed by the legislature this winter is "water tight" and that there is no loophole through which the snuff can escape into the state for sale in the stores.

DULL DAY IN THE MARKETS

Session of Duluth Board of Trade Marked By Few Trades.

General Decline in All Wheat Options—May Flax Higher.

Duulth Board of Trade, May 5.—Not only was sluggishness the notable feature in the grain market this morning, but there was almost a complete dearth of trades in any cereal. There was a general decline all along the line, each option in each cereal getting it. May wheat had no quotations at all except one bid at the close and July did not do much better. May closed at ⅞c under Saturday and July closed at ⅝c under. September dropped ⅝c to ½c under the opening. May flax alone gained ¼c while July flax fell off ⅜c and September flax lost ½c. Durum wheat was off ⅜c at the close and cash wheat was ¾c under July. Oats, rye and barley held their own.

Wheat began to fall of its own weight this morning immediately on the opening of the markets, all support having been pulled from under it. Cables were weak as a result of the news that Scutari has been evacuated by the Montenegrins and as there is no chance of war and consequently the wheat from the Black sea district will have an unobstructed way to the rest of the world the bulls "got theirs."

Even at that, everybody seems to be playing a waiting game in all markets. Sales are scarce in Duluth, Minneapolis and Chicago. Winnipeg is holding no session today as this is Arbor day in Manitoba, a legal holiday. News comes from Chicago that while wheat is falling for lack of support there are few sales, as holders of the options fear to sell yet. It is quite generally predicted that with war out of the way there will be a ruling bearish element in the market for some days.

Continued favorable crop reports from America and the Argentine are besieging Europe and adding to the weakness of the markets there, which is also reflected here.

Up to noon May wheat had not a quotation, July had dropped ⅝c, May durum had dropped ¾c, July had fallen off considerably and none of the options had trades to speak off. Flax which fell off ¼c early in the session recovered and in the later hours gained ¼c over the opening. July flax fell ⅛c to ½c early and failed to get enough support to recover. The market was narrow and quiet. No cereal had much business to its credit.

FLAXSEED.

The week ending last Saturday has been, so far as flaxseed is concerned, a fairly steady one, but for the most part quiet. The week ended practically as it began, only perhaps a trifle more quiet, with a tendency to lower prices. There was a distinct bulge in the middle of the week, reaching the high point on Wednesday, when flax on track and to arrive sold for close to $1.34, while July option reached close to $1.36; May sold for $1.33. However, the market tapered off for the next three days and closed lower than the close of Monday. On Saturday May flax closed 1¾c lower than a week ago Saturday and July closed 2½c lower.

There has been a narrow market all week except on Wednesday, when buying was active. There was so much activity, in fact, that it is claimed the market was over-bought, and that some of the buyers have been willing since to unload some of their holdings.

There has been some flax for export from the United States during the past week, but it is overshadowed and handicapped by the excessive exports from Canada. It is claimed that the flax exportation from Canadian ports during this year will amount to more than 7,000,000 bu and may reach 8,000,000 bu, the largest amount ever bought by Europe from America in one season. The following tables give the statistics of the week:

Wichita, Kan., had a very heavy rain during the last forty-eight hours; cloudy and cool now.

* * *

Kansas City—Raining, had nearly two inches last forty-eight hours.

George M. Lecount wires from Bradley, S. D.—"Spring wheat seeding is practically finished in South Dakota and most of the crop is coming up and is looking fine. There was sufficient moisture in the soil to geminate the seed quickly and all agree that the crop never looked better than at present."

* * *

John Inglis writes from Oklahoma City, Okla.—"The past week has been warm with high winds, a condition favorable for spread of chinch bugs. Certain localities are hurt badly and unless rains come soon into these districts the loss will be serious. Everywhere the bugs are, fields show a spotted condition. All fields not affected alike. There is such a good stand of wheat that while bugs thin it out rains will restore much but the fields will show damage."

Inglis wired later that it rained for ten hours in Oklahoma, drenching everything, checking probable bug damage and giving enough moisture to mature wheat.

Cash wheat steady; demand active. No. 1 northern, 2@3c above May price.

Bran in 100-pound sacks, $16.00@17.00.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Heavy Rains in Southwest Weaken Prices of Wheat.

Chicago, May 5.—Heavy rains, said to be worth several million dollars to farmers of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, today weakened wheat here. A depressing factor was also a report placing the condition of the wheat crop of Missouri at 98 per cent, and with only 1 per cent abandoned acreage. Opening prices showed a range of a shade higher to ¼c lower. July began a shade to ½c lower at 90¾@90⅞c to 91c and eased off to 90¾@90⅝c.

Improved condition as to Scutari lowered prices further, but there was some recovery on large decreases in visible domestic supply. The close was steady with July at 90⅝@90½c, a net loss of ⅝c.

Corn trade was small. Lightness of demand sent prices down at the start. July opened ⅛c lower at 55¾c and dipped to 55⅝c.

Better inquiry later caused reaction to opening figures, but it did not hold. The close was easy with July at 55⅝c, a net decline of ¼c.

The fine rains weakened oats. July started a shade off at 34⅝c and went ⅛c lower.

Provisions were irregular, opening figures being 2½@5c lower to 10c higher. Trade was light and scattered. July first prices: Pork, $19.42½; lard, $10.77½ to $10.80; ribs, $10.97½.

Closing: Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.02@1.04; No. 3 red, 96c@$1.00; No. 2 hard, 92@93c; No. 3 hard, 89½@92c; No. 1 northern, 92@93c; No. 2 northern, 91@92c; No. 3 northern, 89@91c; No. 2 spring, 91@92c; No. 3 spring, 89@91c; No. 4 spring, 83½@88c; velvet chaff, 89@93c; durum, 94@96c.

London Stocks.

London, May 5.—American securities opened steady and a fraction higher. Canadian Pacific gained sharply on Berlin buying and the rest of the list advanced another fraction during the early trading. Wall street and the continent later supported the market and the improvement was continued to the closing, which was firm.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Strength of Leading Foreign Markets Reflected in New York.

Close Is at About Highest Figures of the Session.

New York, May 5.—Strength of the leading foreign markets owing to reports that Montenegro would yield to the powers, was reflected here in an increased demand for stocks. European orders flowed into this market at the outset and as they came into competition with bidding by the shorts the whole market advanced vigorously.

While the demand seemed to come largely from the short interest, operations for the long account were more extensive.

The possibility of important decisions by the supreme court today tended to slow down dealings and the market grew dull on moderate recessions.

Bonds were steady.

The leading stocks rose buoyantly at the opening today. There was a keen demand, and large blocks of the favorite issues changed hands on a rising scale. Gains of 1 to 8 points were made by Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Reading, Canadian Pacific, Rock Island, Missouri, Kansas & Texas; Steel, Amalgamated, Can and Brooklyn Rapid Transit.

Covering proceeded with some violence and the market gave an impressive exhibition of strength. Bulls took full advantage of the sentiment prevailing and bought more freely than for some time. The upward pace slackened after the advance had reached 1 to 3 points, trading becoming quiet.

While the general market was easier after midday, the Harriman stocks were under particular pressure, despite the consent of the court to an extension to July 7 to the time of the dissolution. Southern Pacific was most affected, falling nearly two points to below Saturday's close.

Not many orders were executed in the late session and the list was deadlocked for long intervals. Prices held up better, the general list showing some inclination to move independently of the Harriman group.

The market closed strong. Stability of prices in the absence of any sustained buying impressed the short interest and bidding for stocks was more general in the final dealings. Reading, Amalgamated and Union Pacific responded sharply and there were also advances elsewhere to the highest of the day.

CITY GARBAGE COLLECTION SYSTEM TO BE EXTENDED

Health Department Will Operate Additional Carts This Year.

Effort Will Be Made to Have Complete Municipal Collection Established.

Dr H. E. Webster, director of public health is finding the health department hampered because of lack of garbage collection facilities.

The present system of depending upon private persons to haul the garbage is found to be decidedly unsatisfactory. They enter into agreements but as a rule do not stay long. Leaving without warning the city finds itself with no one to look after the collections and much trouble and complaint result.

The city now has one cart making collections in the central part of the city. Dr. Webster is now making an investigation of the situation with a view to adding one, and possibly two more carts to be handled under the direction of the health department. In the central section a small fee is charged for the service and this has more than paid the expenses. Following the same system with other wagons would be a decided improvement. Some other arrangement is deemed necessary in the West end and need for a wagon is seriously felt in West Duluth. The city would be obliged to provide the cost of the equipment, but this would be comparatively small, and once in operation it would be self-sustaining.

Favor Municipal Collection.

Commissioner Hicken, head of the division of public safety, which includes the health department, and Dr. Webster both strongly favor the establishment of a municipal garbage collection system. They believe that this branch of the work cannot be satisfactorily handled until that is done, the entire cost of the equipment and collection to be borne by the city by general taxation.

Should this be done, Dr. Webster states that the incinerator would have to be enlarged or another incinerator built in the western part of the city. He explains that the present plant would not be large enough to care for all the garbage which would be gathered were the work to be done by the city.

When the commission meets in the fall to fix the tax levy for next year strong pressure will be brought to bear to have provision made for municipal garbage collection. It has been suggested that the best work could be done with motor trucks. The initial outlay would be heavier but it is asserted that they could be operated more economically and cover several times more territory than horse-drawn vehicles.

CITY TO USE LOG DRAGS

Roads Leading Into Duluth Will Be Given Attention.

Division of Public Works Makes Arrangements for New Departure.

The split log drag will henceforth play an important part in the maintenance operations of the division of public works.

Commissioner Murchison and Supt. Bloedel have determined to use the drags on all the country roads leading to or from the city.

Arrangements are now being made to have the split log drags put into operation after every rain, when they will be most effective. The surfaces of the roads will be soft and the apparatus will be able to do much more good than when they are dry and hard.

The drags have been found to be highly efficient and can be used at comparatively small expense. Teams and employes of the department will operate them in most instances but in a number of cases arrangements may be made with settlers living in the vicinity of the highways. They are interested in having the roads in the best possible shape and working under the direction of the works division they could probably give complete satisfaction.

One of the chief advantages of the split log drag is that it keeps up the crown of the road and eliminates the ruts. With the crown maintained the drainage is always tree, resulting in a driveway that dries quickly and is always in the best shape for use. Many roads lead into the city from all directions and all parts. Each of them will be gone over after every rain with a split log drag. The city has owned several of them for some years but they were not used extensively. All of them will now be put into commission and several more will be added.

Railroads

IS SOO HEADQUARTERS.

Chief Engineer Huss Will Be Located at Williston, N. D.

Williston, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city will be official headquarters this summer of Chief Engineer Huss of the Soo road. Offices have been opened here. It is announced the change was made for the purpose of looking after the work in connection with the extensions from Ambrose and near Plaza. Both of these lines are supposed to be built to Montana this season if the original plans are carried out.

Some time ago it was announced the surveys had been made and contracts let for the extension from near Plaza across the Fort Berthold reservation to the Goodall ranch on the Missouri river. More recently there have been rumors that because it would be necessary to construct two expensive bridges that the line might be changed to run into Williston, because an easier grade could be secured and only one bridge would be necessary.

SEEKS TO JUSTIFY INCREASED RATES.

President Daniel Willard of the B. & O., explaining the request of the Eastern railroads for leave to raise freight charges says:

"The railway executives feel that the changed conditions which have come about have so narrowed the margin between income and outgo that a 10 per cent increase of all freight tariffs would be justified. They recognize, however, the importance of obtaining the necessary revenue in such a way as to cause the least possible disturbance of commercial conditions, and on that account feel that it would be better to ask for an increase of 5 per cent only at this time. It has been urged that some of the commodity rates now in existence are relatively too high and that they ought to be reduced before any general advance is made, and to this view the railroad executives freely assent."

FARMER LOSES HOME.

Brush Fires Destroy E. E. Robert's Dwelling Near Cook.

Cook, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Brush fires last week destroyed the home of E. E. Roberts near here. The fire occurred while Mrs. Roberts was alone with the small children and it was impossible to save much of the household effects.

Garden making and general spring planting are in full blast here.

Frank Birman is building a large hay barn on Mr. Benson's farm.

John Crooks and family have returned from Corbin, Can., and are now living on his homestead.

Eddie Ericson made a business trip to Superior, Wis., last week.

Ben Ericson has returned from Michigan.

Axel Sandin and son, each bought forty acres of land one mile south of here, which they intend making their future home.

While playing ball Frank Mihm was struck in the eye by the ball, making a deep wound.

Emil Loff is erecting a summer resort near Joyces' landing.

Isaac Goodwill has also several summer cottages under construction.

A party of Cookites made a fishing trip to Lake Vermilion Sunday.

Mr. Bystrom marketed several loads of hay here last week.

TO BUILD TOWERS ON RESERVATION

Indian Department Will Watch for Fires on Fond du Lac Reserve.

Cloquet, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work has been started on the new road at Sawyer, which will cross the Duluth-Moorhead road a short distance from that village. The new road is being built by the Indian department and begins at Sawyer and runs north along the east side of Big lake, being about three miles long.

The Indian department proposes to build observation towers at different points on the reservation for the purpose of more easily detecting forest fires. The towers will be fifty feet in height and it is intended that one be located in the Indian village near Cloquet, another at Big lake, one at Brookston and one at Brevator.

DULUTHIAN SPEAKS TO CLOQUET SOCIALISTS

Cloquet, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Socialists of this city held May day celebration yesterday, the event being participated in jointly by Finnish, Scandinavian and English Socialists. The program was held at the Workman hall in the East end and was as follows: Selection, orchestra; reading, in Finnish, Mr. Utrianen; selection, orchestra; song, Robert Robertstad; orchestra; address in English, Richard Jones of Duluth; violin solo, Miss Anna Johnson; address in Finnish; song by audience. Cloquet has a large Socialist population comprising all nationalities.

Ironwood Man Fined.

Ironwood, Mich., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.) — George Bendich of Jessieville, who has been a persistent violator of the city's garbage ordinance, was arrested on complaint of Garbage Master George Young, and was convicted in Justice Gustafson's court and fined $10 and costs, the whole amounting to $21.35.

Held for Depot Burglary.

Willow City, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Severin Kote turned state's evidence when arraigned in justice court at Bottineau charged with complicity in the burglary of the Great Northern depot here, and of having participated in several other burglaries. J. Williams, arrested with Kote, as well as Kote, were bound over to the district court.

New Cloquet Fire Hall.

Cloquet, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cloquet is to have a new fire hall, a resolution to that effect having been passed by the city council. The city clerk will secure plans and specifications at once. The hall will be built on the site of the old fire hall on Avenue C and will be on the lot adjoining the new city hall.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

State of Minnesota, State Auditor's Office.

St. Paul, April 1, 1913.

Notice is hereby given that on May 21, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the office of the County Auditor at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the state of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from date of sale to June 1st, 1914, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year; provided, the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from date of sale, the rate of interest will be computed at five per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at time of sale.

Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

Not more than 320 acres can be sold or contracted to be sold to any one purchaser.

Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavit of authority. Appraisers' reports, showing quality and kind of soil, are on file in this office.

Lists of lands to be offered may be obtained of the state auditor or the state commissioner of immigration at St Paul, and of the county auditor at above address.

SAMUEL G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made and delivered by Charles Gilberg and Emma Gilberg, his wife (spelled in mortgage Emma Gellberg), mortgagors, to St. Louis County State Bank, a corporation, mortagagee, dated April 2nd, 1910, and recorded in the Register of Deeds' office, for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 4th day of April 1910, at 9:15 o'clock A. M., in Book 274 of Mortgages, on Page 188, which said mortgage, with the debt thereby secured, was thereafter assigned by said St. Louis County State Bank to Mary A. Whitney, by written instrument dated July 13th, 1910, which said instrument was recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds on the 14th day of July, 1910, at 8:00 o'clock A. M., in Book 228 of Mortgages, on Page 246, which said mortgage, with the debt thereby secured, was thereafter assigned by the said Mary A. Whitney to the St. Louis County State Bank, a corporation, by written instrument, dated April 5th, 1913, which said instrument was recorded in the said Register of Deeds' office, on the 15th day of April, 1913, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., in Book 304 of Mortgages, on Page 201.

Such default consists in the non-payment of the principal sum secured by said mortgage and interest thereon. There is claimed to be due and is actually due on said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of Five Hundred One and 42-100 Dollars ($501.42), principal and interest, and no action or proceeding at law, or otherwise, has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of the Power of Sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described, situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, to-wit:

The Northerly Seventy Feet (Nly. 70 ft.) of the Southerly Seventy-five Feet (Sly. 75 ft.) of the West One-half (W½) of Lot Three Hundred Thirty (330), in Block One Hundred Thirty-three (133), Duluth Proper, Second Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, which said premises, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the Sheriff's office in the Court House, in the City of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, on Tuesday, the 3rd day of June, 1913, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and the interest, and Fifty Dollars ($50.00), attorney's fees, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption within one year from date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated at Duluth, Minnesota, April 21st, 1913.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY STATE BANK,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

F. C. ELSTON,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgagee,
No. 500-503 Torrey Building,

SALE OF TIMBER LANDS—

Notice is hereby given pursuant to the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 27, 1902 (32 Stat., 400), as modified by Section 27 of the Act of June 25, 1910 (36 Stat., 855), that the pine timber on certain ceded Chippewa Indian lands in the State of Minnesota, will be offered for sale to the highest bidder by sealed bids for separate sections, and in addition thereto for groups of ten sections. The offering will include 90 per cent of the pine timber on certain subdivisions in T. 144, 146 N., R. 26 W., T. 144 N., R. 27 W.; Ts. 144, 146 N., R. 28 W.; Ts. 144, 145, 146, 147 N., R. 29 W.; Ts. 142, 145, 146 N., R. 30 W.; T. 143 N., R. 31 W., embracing land in the Minnesota National Forest, and all of the pine timber on certain subdivisions in T. 64 N., R. 4 E.; Ts. 63, 64 N., R. 5 E.; T. 64 N., R. 6 E.; Ts. 49, 50, Rs. 17, 18 W.; T. 51 N., R. 18 W.; Ts. 65, 66, R. 21 W.; T. 65 N., R. 22 W.; T. 64 N., Rs. 23, 24 W.; T. 147 N., R. 25 W.; Ts. 144, 147, 148, 158 N., R. 26 W.; Ts. 141, 142, 148, 157 N., R. 27 W.; Ts. 143, 148, 159 N., R. 28 W.; Ts. 146, 153, 154 N., R. 30 W.; Ts. 144, 152, 153 N., R. 31 W.; Ts. 153, 157, 158 N., R. 32 W.; Ts. 161, 168 N., R. 33 W.; Ts. 157, 158, 159, 160, 163, 167 N., R. 34 W.; Ts. 148 150, 159, 160, 161 N., R. 35 W.; T. 159 N., R. 36 W.; Ts. 143, 144, 145, 146, 148, 159, 160 N., R. 37 W.; Ts. 148, 159 N., R. 38 W. Printed lists giving description of the lands on which the timber to be sold is located, and copies of the Rules and Regulations for the sale and removal of the timber, may be obtained on application to the register and receiver of the district land office at Cass Lake, Minnesota, or upon application to Mr. William O'Neil, superintendent of logging, Cass Lake, Minn., or to the commissioner of the general land office, Washington, D. C. Bids for the timber will be opened at the district land office at Cass Lake, Minn., commencing at 10 o'clock A. M., on July 30, 1913. In order to receive consideration, bids must be filed at said district land office before the hour fixed for the opening of bids. A deposit in the form of cash or a certified check equal to 20 per cent of the amount of the bid must accompany each bid, which deposit will be retained and credited as part payment of the purchase price should the bid be accepted and the agreement and regulations be complied with, or be forfeited if the bid is accepted and the required bond and agreement is not furnished within ten days from notice by telegraph of the acceptance of the bid. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

FRED DENNETT,
Commissioner.

POULTRY AND EGGS.

YOUR EGGS, CHICKS AND, BREEDING STOCK WANTED.

Hundreds of people in Duluth and vicinity who are interested in poultry raising will buy eggs, chicks, breeding stock, incubators and feed during the present season. Somebody among this vast multitude wants what you have for sale. You can reach these buyers by inserting an ad in these "want" ad columns.

The Duluth Herald has the greatest circulation of any newspaper in Minnesota, outside of the Twin Cities.

RATES ARE LOWEST.

The charges for classified advertising in The Duluth Herald are less per thousand circulation than those of any other newspaper in Minnesota.

A "want" ad man will be pleased to call on you and give estimates as to how much space your ad should occupy and the cost.

FOR SALE.
"FAULTLESS" HOUDANS.
This strain has been egg-bred from trapnest records since April, 1890. I have bred them 21 years for great layers and 12 years for large-size chalk-white eggs. These fowls are extremely hardy, have neither comb nor wattle to freeze, and are the best all-winter layers in open-front coops. "Faultless" strain Houdans have won on every blue ribbon at New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia shows for past six years. Eggs and stock sold on honor. Send 10 cents for the largest illustrated poultry catalogue ever issued; it tells you how to breed these fowls, which average 250 eggs a year apiece; it tells you how to net $3,000 a year from 100 hens. E. F. McAVOY, secretary Houdan club, Cambridge, N. Y.

STORES are such an important factor in the lives of people that a live evening newspaper—which is the mirror of the lives of the people—MUST print the store news as fully as the news of the day's events in the world.

DULUTH'S BARGAIN COUNTER

When you go into a modern department store and see the advertised goods neatly arranged and prices equally attractive, it is a combination that opens your pocketbook.

And so it is, too, with The Herald For Sale Miscellaneous column. Bargains too numerous and varied to enumerate. But every line interesting, profitable reading. Duluth's bargain counter is the For Sale Miscellaneous column

SYRACUSE MILITIA IS CALLED OUT TO HELP POLICE FIGHT MOBS

Seven Policemen Are Injured and Sixteen Rioters Are Wounded.

Over 400 Striking Laborers Attack Workers on Church Building.

Fire Hose Drives Men Back After the First Battle.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 6.—The local militia companies were suddenly called out for strike duty here today following a riot in which twenty-three persons were injured, seven of them policemen.

Four or five hundred striking building laborers, all Italians, interfered with men who were pulling down the old house of Bishop John Grimes to make place for a new Episcopal residence. Fifty policemen arrived on the scene and fought the strikers, revolvers against bricks.

Besides the seven policemen wounded, ten strikers were shot through the body and six others were less seriously hurt. The police removed the wounded to hospitals.

After the first outbreak a fire hose was used and the mob was driven to the heart of the business district. Here the Italians made another stand and shooting began again. Sheriff Mathews ordered out the local militia companies and quiet soon was restored.

SLAYER OF GREEK KING IS SUICIDE

Schinas Jumps From Window of Saloniki Police Station.

Athens, May 6.—Aleko Shinas, who assassinated King George of Greece on March 18 at Saloniki, committed suicide this morning by flinging himself out of a window of the police station in that city.

Schinas was a native of the town of Volo, Thessaly. He killed the king by firing point blank into his back while he was walking along a street of Saloniki, accompanied by an aide de camp. He gave as an explanation of the crime that in 1911 he had applied for assistance at the king's palace and had been driven away.

A few days ago the doctors examined Schinas and announced that he was dying of tuberculosis.

LIQUOR MEN LIKE OHIO'S NEW LAW

Want Other States to Copy Advanced Plan of Regulation.

Louisville, Ky., May 6.—Ohio's new license law and the Federal "Webb law" were the principal subjects for discussion by the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association which began a three-day session here today. The Ohio law, which regulates saloons and conditions under which they may transact business, is declared by some of the dealers to be the most advanced legislation yet framed for the regulation of the liquor traffic, and the program of the convention included a discussion of plans to induce other states to follow Ohio's example.

Delegates began arriving yesterday in special cars. Practically every state in the union will be represented.

CALGARY MOB TRIES TO LYNCH MURDERER

Laborer Accused of Killing Child Is Saved By the Police.

Calgary, Alta., May 6.—A mob last night attempted to lynch Joseph Dionne, a laborer, following the murder of 6-year-old Yosema Frick, whose body was found in the cellar of a house occupied by Dionne. The police had difficulty in rescuing Dionne from the infuriated mob.

When the disappearance of the girl was discovered a search was begun. George Frick, father of the child, called at the Dionne house but was refused admittance. A moment later Dionne, according to the police, leaped from a window and darted down a street. He was struck on the head with a rock thrown by Frick and was rendered unconscious.

A search of the premises disclosed the body of the child lying in one corner of the cellar. Her throat had been cut from ear to ear.

SAY MANY STATES VIOLATE TREATIES

Diplomats at Washington May Stir Up Deal of Trouble.

Washington, May 6.—As a result of the centering of attention upon the California situation, a number of the diplomatic representatives in Washington have been informally discussing and conferring over the alleged violation of treaties by many states of the Union. Violations are said to have occurred particularly in connection with cases involving the disposition of property of aliens who have died intestate in this country and in which local state courts have taken jurisdiction in defiance of treaties.

Altogether there are indications of a feeling of unrest that may lead to demands upon the national government which could not be complied with without a general rearrangement of the functions of the national and state governments, so far as they concern aliens.

GUGGENHEIM BLAMED FOR ALASKA DEAL

Gifford Pinchot Says Private Interests Prevented Development There.

Tells Senate Committee Members of Congress Were Influenced.

Says Legislation Favorable to the Territory Was Blocked.

Washington, May 6.—Gifford Pinchot charged before the senate territories committee today that private interests had held up legislation to open Alaskan coal fields under a leasing system, and named Former Senator Guggenheim of Colorado as one of the men who had exerted his influence to prevent such legislation.

He told the committee that he could get the names of other men in and out of congress who were in opposition to the leasing system.

Mr. Pinchot had been called to give his opinion of the bill for government aid for construction of Alaskan railroads. He was asked why, in his opinion, legislation to develop the Alaskan coal fields had taken so many years to get through congress.

"Do you mean that members of congress have been influenced by private interests against such legislation?" asked Senator Lippitt.

"I mean what you all know—that private interests have great influence in congress," returned Mr. Pinchot. "There was strong opposition from Senator Guggenheim to the passage of the leasing bill. There were others, I can get the names if you want them."

For Federal Railways.

The former forester declared that in his judgment the government should operate railroads in Alaska. He believed in the leasing system for mines. He added that if the government had retained possession of the coal fields of Pennsylvania there would never have been such "political correction" as he said existed in that state.

Mr. Pinchot advocated the retention in government possession of all "factors of power," coal, oil, and water power.

"Power," he said, "is the greatest tool of civilization. The curtailment of sources of power is the main reason for a high cost of living."

Mr. Pinchot was the only witness today. He spoke for two hours and is expected to file several written communications with the committee.

Former Secretary of the Interior Walter I. Fisher is expected to appear tomorrow.

AMERICAN SUBMARINE IS CHRISTENED BY A CANADIAN GIRL.

San Francisco, Cal., May 6.—The new United States submarine torpedo boat H-1 was launched here today. Miss Leslie Jean Meakin of Montreal, Can., christened the submarine, and qualifies for membership in the Sponsors' club, composed of young women who have christened war vessels.

HOUSE DEBATES THE INCOME TAX FEATURE OF UNDERWOOD BILL

Democratic Leaders Expect It to Pass Without Amendment.

Republican Senators Are Preparing to Try for Changes.

Washington, May 6.—The administrative and income tax features of the tariff bill remained to be disposed of today when the house convened. Both sections are important portions of the bill, with many pages of details that puzzle new members, but their adoption virtually intact was confidently counted upon by Democratic leaders.

The preferential of 5 per cent upon foreign goods brought in American bottoms and the strenuous opposition of insurance companies against provisions of the income tax on the ground that policy holders would be ultimately burdened with greater premiums were issues ahead when the bill was taken up.

Differ on Details.

All on the Democratic side, while not proposing to bolt the caucus that bound the majority to the ways and means committee bill, were not entirely agreed upon the details of the income tax, though there is no difference of view as to the principle. Those who differ count upon the senate to make some minor changes.

One change to be urged in the senate is to provide that the income tax shall be levied upon the income of the calendar years after 1913, but to apply this year only from the date of the ratification of the constitutional amendment. The idea is to avoid any possible litigation over collection of a tax that would include as a basis the time between Jan. 1, the present proposed basis of the levy, and the time of the two-thirds ratification, which was on Feb. 23. Those favoring the change have conferred at the capitol and the White House and expect it to be made, contending that the govern-

STATION THAT GOT TITANIC NEWS BURNS

Cape Race Wireless Structure Destroyed By Spark From Sender.

St. Johns, Nfld., May 6.—The wireless station at Cape Race has been destroyed by fire, according to a message received here.

The flames started through a spark from the sending apparatus igniting the side of the wooden building in which the apparatus was installed. The blaze spread too quickly for the operators to handle, and the building was consumed, with all the contents. The aerial was not damaged.

The station is one of the best known on the North Atlantic coast, and the company will install a temporary equipment as soon as possible. The loss is placed at $10,000. It was through the Cape Race station that the first news of the collision with the iceberg which resulted in the loss of the steamer Titanic reached the world a little more than a year ago.

SUFFRAGETTE TRIES TO BLOW UP HOTEL FULL OF AMERICANS

English Woman Is Caught in Act of Placing the Bomb.

Church at Hatcham Burned —Pastor Sees Women Leave.

Bomb Is Found in Postoffice and Newspaper Rooms Are Wrecked.

London, May 6.—A militant suffragette, caught early this morning by the police in the act of placing a bomb at the entrance to the Grand hotel, which is crowded with American tourists, was brought up at Bow street police court later in the day and remanded by the magistrate for further inquiry. She gave the name of Ada Ward.

The bomb was in the form of a tin canister to which was attached a lighted fuse. A placard bearing the words "Votes for women," was wrapped around it.

The Grand hotel is situated on Trafalgar square.

Church Is Burned.

St. Catherine's, the parish church of Hatcham in the southeast of London, was gutted by fire this morning and the outrage is placed by the police to the account of the militant suffragettes. The edifice was well alight before the fire was discovered, and the roof crashed in soon after the arrival of the firemen.

The pastor of the church saw three women in the building shortly before the fire broke out. He assumed they were worshipers, as the church was kept open for private prayer throughout the day. A number of hassocks

MURDERS MAN WHO SENT HIM FROM HOME

Minneapolis Man Returns With Gun—Shoots Intruder and Woman.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mika Bruno was shot to death last night while asleep in the home of Nick Peritano. Martha Rossa was also shot while in the same house, and will probably die. Nick Peritano gave himself up to the police a few minutes after the murder.

Bruno came to Peritano's home, flourished a revolver and demanded that Peritano leave. Peritano went away and obtained a shotgun, and waited until Bruno had fallen asleep. After killing Bruno, he calmly reloaded the gun and fired almost point blank at the woman.

FLORIDA WOMEN AFTER BALLOT.

Tallahasee, Fla., May 6.—Not deterred by the defeat in the house last week of their resolution for a constitutional amendment granting suffrage to women, suffragettes from all parts of the state assembled here today to urge the senate to pass a resolution permitting voters to settle the question at the 1914 election.

FIND BODY OF YOUNG WOMAN

Detroit Police Unearth Mystery in Grosse Pointe Section.

Unknown Is Believed to Have Been Victim of Murderer.

Detroit, Mich., May 5.—The county and city police today are making efforts to identify the body of a young woman found late yesterday in a foot of water in Fox creek, beneath the Cadie road bridge in Grosse Pointe, a suburb on the shore of Lake St. Clair, noted for the beautiful homes of many wealthy Detroit residents.

The cause of death has not been explained, but the torn condition of clothing and bruises on the face make it appear that she was murdered.

The woman was between 25 and 30 years old and fairly well dressed. She wore a locket containing the photograph of a child 2 or 3 years old and inscribed with the initials "A. L." A bill folder found bore the name of a bank in Belding, Mich.

Seen on Motorcycle.

A man who viewed the body today claimed that he saw a woman of the same description riding on a motorcycle with a man in Grosse Pointe yesterday afternoon. It is thought the body was in the water about eight hours.

The woman wore a black skirt, light shirtwaist and was a blonde.

A dispatch from Belding says that no woman answering the description of the victim has been missing there.

URGE PUBLIC HEALTH WORK UPON WILSON

Prominent Medical Men Talk to Him at the White House.

Washington, May 6.—President Wilson today was urged by a committee of the American Medical association to call a general conference to discuss plans for a Federal department of public health and everything pertaining to the conservation of human life and efficiency. Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, Dr. John B. Murphy of Chicago, Dr. G. H. Simmons of Chicago and Dr. Harvey W. Wiley were among those who urged the idea.

Prof. Fisher, spokesman for the party, declared that the president listened attentively and expressed his keen appreciation of the necessity for public health legislation, but that until he was able to accumulate more information and make deeper study into the questions involved, he would be unable to commit himself.

DORA DOXEY WHITNEY BORNE ON STRETCHER

May Escape Forfeiture of Bond Given in Bigamy Case.

St. Louis, Mo., May 6.—Mrs. T. R. Whitney, formerly Mrs. Dora E. Doxey, was carried out of a hotel here on a stretcher today and taken in an ambulance to Clayton, the county seat of St. Louis county. The purpose of the journey was not announced, but it is believed its object was to prevent the forfeiture of her bond.

For ten days Mrs. Whitney, with her husband, has been concealed at the hotel. Meanwhile the question of forfeiting her bond for her non-appearance to answer an accusation of bigamy had been discussed. It is charged she was the wife of Dr. Loren R. Doxey at the time of her marriage to William J. Erder, for whose murder she was tried and acquitted.

PORTUGAL SENDS REBELS TO AZORES

Prisoners Will Be Sent There for Trial for Conspiracy.

Lisbon, Portugal, May 6.—The Portuguese government has dispatched all the political prisoners arrested for complicity in the last attempt to overthrow the present republic on Sunday, April 27, to the Azores for trial and punishment.

About 200 of the prisoners were marched at dawn yesterday on board the steamer Cabo Verda, which had been chartered by the government. She sailed immediately bound for Terceira island, where the accused are to be court-martialed in the Fortress of Angra, the capital of the island.

The Portuguese premier was questioned last night in parliament on the subject and replied that the prisoners had been sent to Angra under the provisions of the law giving the government the right to choose any place for the trial of political prisoners.

Families Terrified.

The families of the accused are terrified by the step taken by the government, and express fear as to what may happen to their relatives when they arrive on the remote island and are placed in the secluded stronghold.

The riots on April 27 in which the prisoners were implicated were started by the ultra-republicans. They gathered in groups before the barracks of Lisbon, fired revolvers, exploded small bombs and cheered for "the radical republic."

PACKAGE OF $100 BILLS IS STOLEN ON EXPRESS ROUTE

Wrapping Afterward Fastened With Counterfeit Government Seal.

Oakland, Cal., May 6.—The theft of 143 $100 bills from an express package sent from Washington, D. C., to the Central National bank of this city is engaging the efforts of a number of special agents, and every mile of the trail of the package from the time it left Washington is being gone over.

When the package reached the bank here and was opened it was found to contain merely clipped magazine pages of the size and weight of the missing bank notes.

The bank notes were addressed to the Oakland bank from the national bank redemption office. Government officials of that office have notified the bank that the package was properly sealed and stamped before it was turned over to the United States Express company. Officials of the express company have assured the bank that the package could not have been tampered with before it reached Denver and the representative of the Wells-Fargo company, which is said to have relayed the package from Denver, has given similar assurance to the bank.

Somewhere a counterfeit government seal was used. The wax impression that reached the bank on the package containing valueless paper has been pronounced to be a perfect government seal.

CHICAGO PUTS BAN ON CROWDED CARS

Ordinance Limiting Passengers to Seating Capacity Is Passed.

Chicago, May 6.—No more passengers may be admitted to a street or elevated railroad car in Chicago than can be provided with seats, according to an ordinance unanimously passed by the city council last night. The same ordinance provides that news stands, fruit stands, gum-vending machines and billboards be immediately removed from elevated railroad stations.

CLEVELAND HEAT FATAL TO THREE.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 6.—Three deaths from excessive heat were reported yesterday, the hottest May 5 for forty-two years. John Kroveck, aged 48, of St. Louis, was stricken in the Union station and died a few hours later. Jacob Behringer was overcome while at work and died later, and the infant son of Anton Samrak succumbed to heat prostration.

The official record was 86 deg., but the kiosk at the street level showed a temperature of 96.

YOUNG MAN IS KILLED AT DOCK

Hagen B. Sund Is Crushed By Clamshell in Boat's Hold.

Hagen B. Sund, 28 years old, had his back crushed and was internally injured by being jammed between the side of the steamer C. O. Jenkins and a descending clamshell at 8 o'clock last night at Pittsburg dock No. 7. He died at an early hour this morning at St. Mary's hospital.

Sund was working with a crew of men in cleaning up the hold of the boat. A seven-ton clamshell descended and the other men got out of the way. Sund climbed towards the side but a chain swung the big bucket towards him and before he could escape it had him squeezed against the wall.

Dr. A. J. Braden was called and administered temporary treatment and then rushed the victim to the hospital. His injuries were found to be of such extent that the work of the physicians was of no avail. The backbone had been broken and crushed in some parts and his abdomen badly crushed and injured.

Sund had been an employe of the coal dock for several years. He was married and leaves a widow residing at 211 North Eighteenth avenue west. The body was taken to Olson & Crawford's undertaking rooms to await funeral arrangements.

RUSHING WORK ON LUMBER DOCK

Contractor Puts a Second Pile Driver at Work.

Contractor Joseph Ferrier, who has the contract for the lumber dock of the Canadian Northern at the foot of Forty-seventh avenue, this morning started operating a second pile driver on the shore for the purpose of working crews from both ends of the dock. The work will be pushed in order that it may be completed before July 1.

The dock will be 2,000 feet long and will be equipped with a double track. The lumber will be loaded from the cars onto the boats. It is expected to haul several million feet of lumber from the range towns before the end of the season.

The Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company, which has the contract for making the channel to the dock will place a dredge at work on the job within a few days. This part of the work is expected to take about a month.

BANQUET AT NEW DULUTH

Special Train Will Take Guests to Annual Dinner.

Mayor Prince, Bishop James McGolrick, Julius H. Barnes, Dr. B. M. Rastall and Charles E. Mitchell will be the principal speakers Thursday evening at the third annual banquet of the New Duluth Commercial club. The affair will be held in the Kulaszewicz building and the dinner will be served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church.

It is planned to have the program begin at 7:30 o'clock. The toastmaster has not been as yet selected by the committee, but will be decided on tomorrow. The program will include musical selections by an orchestra, solo selections by Mrs. C. W. Peters and Capt. W. H. Mahon.

U. C. Tower is chairman of the general committee on arrangements and D. J. Kulaszewicz is the committee's secretary. The sub-committees are as follows:

Tickets—D. J. Kulaszewicz, chairman; Charles Peters, Robert McDermott and D. H. Lewis.

Arrangements—U. C. Tower, chairman; C. P. Hutchins, L. R. Taylor and Noble Sampson.

Supper—F. Damkroeger, chairman; Peter Knudsen, D. J. Kulaszewicz, Charles Pearson and Walter J. Dash.

Reception—E. E. Martell, chairman; Frank Brand, John Berger, U. C. Tower, John Johnson, Noble Sampson, Fred Damkroger, Melvin Becklinger, Matt Prettner, A. C. Anderson, C. H. Gidding, Charles Strand and Otto Krueger.

Arrangements have been made with the Northern Pacific railroad to provide a special train leaving the union depot at 6:30 o'clock and the West Duluth station at 6:45 o'clock. The train will return leaving New Duluth in time to bring the guests to the city by midnight.

IN WEST DULUTH COURT

Matt Bodin was picked up by Officer Winters near Fortieth avenue and the Northern Pacific railroad last night in a condition which made it difficult for him to navigate. He pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk when arraigned before Judge Lanners and was given the minimum fine of $1 and costs. Sentence was suspended on a promise to leave the city.

Andrew Bloom and Fred Olson became "stranded" on Fifty-seventh avenue a short distance above Grand avenue late last night after having filled themselves with the contents of a black bottle. Officer Winters placed them under arrest. They said they had intended going to Proctor. When arraigned in Judge Lanner's court they were allowed to go on a suspended sentence provided they would hustle out of town.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF CURLING CLUB.

Members of the Western Curling club have planned to entertain 200 guests at the club's annual banquet at the Dormedy hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street, this evening. The affair will commence at 7:30 o'clock. The program of speaking and awarding of prizes will be completed by 9:30 o'clock. Following this the members and their guests will dance in the big hall.

WEST DULUTH BOYS' CLUB REORGANIZES.

The members of the West Duluth Boys' club met at the boys' department Y. M. C. A. for dinner last evening, to make their plans for the summer months.

The club elected Raymond Erickson, president; Marion Velle, secretary, and John Morrison, treasurer. The club will meet during the summer months on Tuesday evenings at 7 o'clock. The programs will be largely outdoor swimming, hikes, baseball, all-night trips, and outdoor games. The club will meet in the basement of the West Duluth library, and the room will be decorated in true boy style. Once each month the members of the club have a swim in the Y. M. C. A. pool.

Girls Will Give Play.

"The Betty Wales Girls," a playlet, will be presented by the young people of the Merritt school Thursday evening at the Great Eastern hall, 210 North Central avenue. Previous arrangements were made to have it staged at the Colonial theater, but this was abandoned owing to the stage being too small. Twenty young people will take part in the play.

Death Ends Suffering.

Mrs. Ingeborg Olson, 76 years old, a blind invalid for the past seven years, died last evening at the home of her son, Sam Olson, 6503 Worden street. She had been a resident of Duluth twelve years. She leaves also another son living in Iceland. The funeral arrangements will be made this evening.

Game Warden Busy.

Deputy Game Warden Archie Boyd has returned from a week's trip down in Pine county. While in that district the deputy looked over the various streams and in Snake river picked up six nets. A number of convictions for violations of the game laws were secured.

DULUTH vs. SUPERIOR
A FAST GAME IS SURE

BOTH CLAIM HER AS WIFE

Tillie Johnson Is Apparently Married to Two Men.

First Husband Has Wife and Second Husband Arrested.

Is Tillie Johnson the lawful wife of George F. Johnson or of Frank Walters of St. Paul?

The first two were arrested in a room at First avenue east and Superior street last evening on a warrant sworn out by Walters charging them with adultery.

The woman claims to have been divorced from Walters, but can produce no documentary evidence to substantiate her allegation. Johnson alleges that he was innocent of any intentional wrong doing and displayed a marriage certificate which states that he was married to the woman in Canada. He asserts that until their arrest he did not know of the marital complications in which she appears to be involved.

It was stated at the police station this morning that the woman left Walters, the complainant, in St. Paul some months ago, traveling to Canada, where she met and married Johnson. Walters has caused her arrest here on a charge of adultery on the grounds that she has unlawfully been living here with Johnson as man and wife. If she knowingly has gone through the marriage ceremony with two men she is guilty of bigamy.

Both Johnson and the woman he supposed to be his wife are 23 years old. Walters is slightly older. He came to the city yesterday morning and took the matter up with the authorities. He appeared to be averse to prosecuting the woman he said was his lawful wife when it was stated that conviction of the offense would leave her liable to a penitentiary sentence, but later swore out the complaint. The police said he learned of the woman's whereabouts through long distance telephone conversations which she held with his relatives at St. Paul.

AGAIN LOSES CASE

Against Company Bonding Saloon Man Who Sold Her Son Liquor.

Marquette, Mich., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tried for the second time in the district court for Delta county, the case of Mrs. Susanna Ohman vs. the Michigan Bonding & Surety company ended in a disagreement, as on the first occasion. The jury was out for twenty-three hours, most of that time standing ten to two in favor of a judgment for the plaintiff. Mrs. Ohman, who is an Escanaba woman, is suing for damages of $5,000, alleging that Christ Westerlund, an Escanaba saloon keeper, sold intoxicating liquor to her minor son, as a result of which the boy became drunk and while in that condition was harshly used. The bonding company is made the defendant because it was the surety for the liquor dealer. The case will probably be tried again at the next term of court.

"THE GREATEST KIDNEY REMEDY ON EARTH" SAYS A GRATEFUL WOMAN

I want to tell you how much good your Swamp-Root did me. About four years ago I suffered from what the doctors called fistula and for two years of that time, I endured what no tongue can tell. I also had inflammation of the bladder and I tried doctors' medicines without receiving any help. Someone told me about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

After giving it a thorough trial, I received relief, so kept on using it and today I am a strong and well woman. If I ever feel badly or out of sorts, I take Swamp-Root and it always straightens me out. I honestly believe that this medicine would cure all troubles you recommend it for and it is a pleasure for me to send my testimony and photograph to you. I think Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is one of the greatest medicines on earth.

Respectfully yours,
MRS. JOHN BAILY,
West Main St. Portland, Ind.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 12th day of July, 1909.

COMMISSION TURNS DOWN FIRST SALOON LICENSE

Takes Stand Against Grog Shops With Unsavory Reputation.

Women Protest Against Use of Creosote Blocks for Paving.

The city commission transacted a considerable amount of routine business at the meeting held at the city hall this morning.

The application of John Talonen for a saloon license at 340 Lake avenue south was denied. This is the first bar to be put out of business by the commission under its policy of law enforcement and the elimination of unsavory, undesirable saloons.

All licenses for places with which the police have to deal are now being referred to Chief Troyer for a report. The police are familiar with most of those in the city and the others are being carefully investigated.

The matter of allowing roller skating rinks, dance halls, etc., in close proximity to public parks appears due for early decision. The application of N. O. Sundby for a roller skating rink at 1323 East Sixth street was brought in this morning. The commission referred it to the division of public safety, expressing the wish that a report be made upon it by the chief of police. The proposition has been a mooted one in Duluth for some years and when the time comes for action upon the Sundby license it would not be surprising if the commission laid down some rule to be followed with all amusement places which are near parks. The Sundby rink is located close to Chester park.

Women's Protest.

A delegation of women representing the humane society and the Woman's Council appeared before the commission this morning to protest against the laying of creosote blocks on streets or avenues of the city. They particularly wished the commissioners to have sandstone blocks or other similar material substituted for creosote blocks on East First street between First and Sixth avenues. The commissioners expressed the opinion that when the work is completed it will be found much more suitable for traffic than that part of First street which is now paved with creosote blocks, as the crown will be much lower and sandstone blocks will be placed at the intersections where the grade is steep. It was also pointed out that the majority of business men along the street have expressed themselves as favoring the creosote blocks. When the resolution came up for final consideration, the contract was awarded to P. McDonnell for creosote blocks.

Licenses Granted.

A considerable number of applications for miscellaneous licenses were acted upon. The first licenses to sell cigarettes were granted, as were licenses for pawnbrokers, second-hand dealers, plumbers, employment offices, motor vehicles, pool and billiard tables and saloons.

The paving of Twenty-third avenue west was brought up and a tentative resolution introduced to award the contract to E. A. Dahl for brick between Michigan street and Fourth street, and crushed rock macadam between Fourth street and Piedmont avenue. Several of the commissioners said that they would prefer sandstone between Third and Fourth streets and this change may be made before the resolution is finally passed at the meeting next Monday afternoon.

An ordinance appropriating $6,000 for hauling pipe for the water and light department was given its first reading.

John H. Brigham appeared before the commissioners relative to the water works system at Fond du Lac. He stated that he has had a private system in operation in the suburb for several years and that requests for extensions are now being made. He thought that some arrangement might be made whereby the commission could render assistance or take over the reservoir and mains. The matter was referred to Commissioner Merrit, head of the division of public utilities.

H. W. Cheadle, appointed last week as a member of the civil service board for a period of six years, sent in a communication stating that business reasons compel him to decline the position. He said that he had delayed writing the letter hoping that his affairs might shape themselves so that he could accept but that it would not be possible.

An ordinance appropriating $2,500 for furnishing material for the paving of the street intersections at Twelfth avenue west and Michigan street and Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street was given its first reading. The cost of laying the material will be paid by the street railway company.

The city clerk was authorized to advertise for the printing of 1,000 pamphlets containing copies of the charter, the housing ordinance, the drug ordinance, theater ordinance and dance hall ordinance, was passed. These will be secured to supply the demand for them both inside and outside the city.

Improvements Ordered.

The improvement of West Fifth street between Piedmont avenue and Twenty-first avenue west was ordered. A petition was received protesting against the improvement of West Sixth street between Twenty-third avenue west and Piedmont avenue the current season.

A. Roberts & Co. asked for an extension of time of a month in which to complete their contract for the remodeling of the city jail. The firm said that the delay has been caused by subcontractors. The request was referred to the division of public safety.

Residents on Fifty-fourth avenue west between Elinor and Fifth streets were granted their request that the avenue be reduced to thirty feet. It will be graded and improved.

An ordinance appropriating $1,235 for the printing of annual reports of city officers was given its first reading.

A set of standing rules was adopted. They are similar to those which were used by the old council.

An ordinance appropriating $500 to put city wires underground was given its first reading.

A resolution granting the contract for approximately 50,000 gallonh of road oil to the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was passed. The oil will cost 5.14 cents per gallon. But one bid was received, but in view of the lateness of the season Commissioner Murchison recommended that no further time be lost.

The Duluth Lumber company was awarded the contract for furnishing about 250,000 feet of lumber to be used for maintenance purposes the present season. The appropriation for that purpose was $8,000.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

Mother Mistook Little Crippled Boy for Her Own Offspring.

Only Child's Knowledge of Finnish Convinced Her of Mistake.

Mistaken identity is not uncommon in this day and age, but here is a story—and a true one—which should furnish a wealth of material for those gentlemen who tearfully plead with juries to restore liberty and happiness to their "innocent" clients, on the time-worn theory of "mistaken identity."

The tale involves a Duluth mother and it might be stated at the outset that the story is vouched for by R. D. McKercher, humane agent, and others connected with the case. It concerns a mother who claimed that a child who answered to the name of "Willie" and who resembled her own 6-year-old son in many particulars including physical deformities, was her own offspring.

She was so positive of the identity of the child that it took considerable evidence to remove the doubt from her mind. She swore that the child was the "same little fellow" who had been taken away from her and placed in the state home for children about a year ago. But he was not.

Could Talk Finnish.

It was necessary to demonstrate that the child could talk the Finnish language, while she was able to speak only German, her native tongue. This was quite convincing proof to her, and she told the authorities to whom she had complained that she guessed she must be mistaken.

The woman met the child a few days ago, while the latter was playing out in front of the home of Mrs. Leonard Usher, 113 East Second street. The child had been placed in the home a few days previous by the Humane society, awaiting an opportunity to secure admission into the state hospital at St. Paul. The child is crippled and unable to get around except by means of crutches.

When the woman passed the youngster, she claims that she recognized in him her son whom she had not seen for several months. She approached the boy and asked him what his name was. He said it was "Willie."

Straightway went the mother of the new-found son to the office of the Humane society demanding by what right the child should be released from the state institution without her say-so. She was much concerned as to his welfare.

It was a matter of two or three days before the woman could be convinced that she was in the wrong in the matter. It was proved to her finally that the "Willie" at the home of Mrs. Usher, was not her "Willie" but another one belonging to parents of Finnish parentage living on the Coates location, near Kenney. The child is stopping in Duluth until a chance is secured to get into the state hospital. It is being cared for at the county's expense.

The "Willie" over whom the woman was so much concerned is now in a state institution, where he was placed several months ago because his mother could not give him the proper attention.

COUNTY BUYS FARM SITE

Acquires Title to Tract of 560 Acres of Land.

Will Be Used for City-County Correctional Farm.

St. Louis county today formally acquired title to a tract of 560 acres six and one-half miles out on the Swan Lake road and adjoining the city's purchase of 400 acres for the joint city-county work and correctional farm which is to be established this year, in accordance with a recent enactment of the 1913 legislature.

At the meeting of the county board today, the final steps looking towards the county's purchase were taken. The necessary papers were signed and deeds conveying the property to the county were executed. The county paid an average of $25 an acre for the land.

The former owners of the property and the acreage each sold are as follows: Dr. I. T. Burnside, West Duluth, 240 acres; Judge William Cant, 80 acres; Misses Stryker, 80 acres; A. W. Taussig, Kirby Jones, C. G. Hartley and Jesse Norton, each 40 acres.

Chairman Neil McInnis of the county board has not yet announced his appointments of three of the five members of the work farm commission which is to have general superintendence of the farm. Neither has the city commission selected the other two members of the new board. The appointments are likely to be announced in the near future, it is stated. All appointments are subject to the approval of the majority of the judges of the district court.

The work farm will be located six and one-half miles west of the courthouse on the Swan Lake road. As soon as the commission is named and has qualified, a superintendent will be named. Under the law this appointment must also be made subject to the approval of the district court. The next step will be to adopt a set of working rules, which must also be subject to judicial approval.

As soon as the commission and superintendent are in working harness, preliminary steps will be taken looking to the erection of temporary buildings on the farm site to house petty prisoners who will be taken there. Later more substantial buildings will be erected, presumably by the prisoners themselves. The new institution will be worked out along lines pursued by other penal farms throughout the country.

KING ALPHONSO ON HIS TRIP TO PARIS

French Government Has Heard Rumors of Anarchist Plots.

Madrid, Spain, May 6.—King Alphonso of Spain and Premier Count Alvaro de Romanones, with a large suite, left for Paris today on a two days' visit to the French capital.

Special Protection Planned.

Paris, May 6.—Rumors of anarchist designs against the life of King Alphonso of Spain during his coming visit here have caused considerable anxiety to the police authorities of Paris and to the French government. Comprehensive precautions are being taken to prevent any outrage.

The French senate and chamber of deputies today voted an appropriation of $38,500 for the entertainment of King Alphonso during his visit of two days. There was no debate.

SUFFRAGE SOCIETY EXPELS PRESIDENT

Eleven Others Also Dropped on Charge of Conspiring for Control.

New Haven, Conn., May 6.—Charging that they had formed, without knowledge and consent of the club, an organization within it for "their own selfish motives," the New Haven Political Equality club, a suffrage organization, today expelled twelve of its members, including the president, Mrs. Terrence S. McDermott, and vice president, Mrs. Augusta Troup, one of the first suffragists in the city and widow of Alexander Troup, who was a close personal friend of Secretary of State Bryan. The organization referred to had been named the "Pioneer Equality club."

The resolutions of expulsion declare that "it has never been known in the history of politics, no matter how corrupt the political parties have been in the past, that such low and unfair methods have been adopted by individuals to get control of an organization."

OBITUARY

Mrs. D'Oyly Corte died in London May 5. Her husband, Richard D'Oyly Corte, theatrical manager and impresario, died in 1901. Mrs. D'Oyly Corte, prior to her marriage, was Helen Lenoir, an able business woman. As his agent, she made many visits to the United States for her future husband, whose business she largely controlled.

P. G. Knowlton, professor of philosophy of Fargo college, died at Fargo, N. D., May 5, of pneumonia. He was ill only one week. Prof. Knowlton had been identified with the college for sixteen years, being dean of the college at one time and also chairman of the faculty. He was formerly an instructor at Harvard and taught at Oberlin college and the Ohio state university.

John Hart, president of Hart & Murphy, cigar manufacturers, died Sunday at his home in St. Paul, Minn., after an illness of ten days. Death was due to a general breakdown. He was 77 years old.

Mr. Hart was born in London, Eng., and came to St. Paul direct from there in 1857. He entered the cigar manufacturing business shortly after. The present firm was organized in 1888.

Mr. Hart is survived by his widow and three daughters, Mrs. W. P. Barrett of St. Paul, Mrs. Charles Dugan of Minneapolis and Miss Katherine E. Hart, who is living at home.

Accused of Fraud.

Akeley, Minn., May 6.—Charles Bliss, a former merchant at Dent, who went through bankruptcy, has been held to the Federal grand jury on charges of fraud in connection with his bankruptcy proceedings. He is charged with criminally failing to schedule a large part of stock and afterwards removing the goods to, fifty boxes to Akeley. The case is scheduled for the Fergus Falls term of court which opens next week.

AFTER SMOKE NUISANCE

Commercial Club Committee Will Call Meeting to Discuss Campaign.

Stationary Engineers Will Be Asked to Co-operate in Work.

The smoke prevention committee of the Commercial club at a meeting today laid plans for a systematic campaign against the smoke nuisance in co-operation with the city authorities and a committee of the stationary engineers of the city.

"We believe the city commissioners are working along the right lines in dealing with the smoke problem," said J. B. Crane, chairman of the committee, after the meeting today. "Their plan to make up a list of the buildings and industries which furnish the offensive smoke and to instruct the firemen in methods that will minimize the nuisance is a good one.

"The city authorities will have our hearty co-operation in the work and we have been notified that the stationary engineers of the city have appointed a committee for the same purpose. Next week we will call a joint meeting of the city commissioners, the stationary engineers and our committee to discuss plans for fighting the objectionable outpourings of smoke."

MEMORIAL DAY PLANS

Rev. C. N. Thorp Will Preach Annual Sermon to Veterans.

Schools Will Be Visited and the Usual Parade Held.

Arrangements for the annual celebration of Memorial day were discussed at a meeting of representatives of the G. A. R. posts and the Citizens' staff at the Commercial club at noon today.

The program as now arranged provides for a memorial service at Pilgrim Congregational church, Sunday, May 25; visits to the schools Thursday, May 29, and the annual parade and two meetings at the Armory and the Auditorium on Friday, May 30, Memorial day.

The Sunday service at Pilgrim church will be attended by members of the two posts of the G. A. R. and other organizations. Rev. C. N. Thorp, pastor of the church, will preach the sermon.

Thursday, May 29, representatives of the G. A. R., Citizens' staff, Women's Relief Corps, Sons of Veterans and Spanish American War veterans will visit every school in the city and talk to the children on the significance of Memorial day.

The parade on the morning of Memorial day will include the two posts of the G. A. R., the Citizen's staff, the Women's Relief Corps, the Sons of Veterans, the two camps of the Spanish American War Veterans, the three companies of Minnesota National Guard, the two divisions of the Minnesota Naval Militia, and all civic and fraternal organizations in the city who accept the invitation to participate. The school children of the city will also be in line and they are expected to have a better representation than ever before.

The main Memorial day assembly will be held at the Auditorium. The program has not been arranged, but a speaker has been selected and his acceptance is expected. The children's meeting will be held at the Armory.

Those present at the meeting today were: Capt. T. H. Pressnell, Dr. C. M. Wilson, M. W. Bates, C. E. Holt, Cook Ely, John H. La Vaque and S. W. Clark of Culver post, Asa Daily and Mr. Tucker of Gorman post, and E. B. Dunning of the Citizens' staff.

COUNTY ASKS BIDS FOR DREDGING

Work at Vermilion Lake, Authorized By Legislature, Will Be Done.

Bids are wanted by the county for the dredging of a channel eight feet deep and twenty feet wide, in the East Two rivers from Vermilion lake to the railroad station at Tower. The county board at its May meeting this morning authorized the county auditor to call for figures on this project, which was made possible by authority obtained from the legislature.

It is proposed to dredge the river from its mouth in Lake Vermilion to the Iron Range depot, so as to permit the passage of small freight and passenger boats to and from the lake. The estimates of E. K. Coe, county road engineer, on the cost of the improvement were as follows:

Channel, twenty feet wide at the bottom and dredged to the depth of six feet, 7,000 cubic feet, cost, $2,500; same width at bottom, but eight feet deep, 18,000 cubic feet, cost, $4,500; same width at bottom, but ten feet deep, 30,000 cubic feet, cost, $7,000.

The government has concluded taking its testimony.

Cloquet Lodge Celebrates.

Cloquet, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The S. H. & E. F. of A. celebrated their twentieth anniversary Saturday evening and a number of people from Duluth paid the Cloquet branch of the order a visit at that time. There was a short program of which Judge J. E. Diesen made the principal address. Several members of the Svea Glee club of Duluth were present and sang. Dancing and delicious refreshments closed the evening.

DO NOT LIKE FARM LIFE

Families Dependent on Charity Refuse Offer of Home in Country.

Humane Agent Says They Fear Work Is Too Strenuous.

Whether the grass wasn't green enough to suit their fancy or they thought the real milk from a bona fide cow would be too rich for the blood, still remains a riddle. The fact remains, however, that Duluth has a number of "victims of poverty and circumstances" who wouldn't accept a real chance to get on their feet again because it involved hard labor.

Since Roy Nickerson of West Duluth made a proposition a few weeks ago to the humane society, whereby a "poor" family could take charge of his farm near Grand Rapids, R. D. McKercher, humane agent, has been unable to make a dicker with any of the "unfortunates." He didn't offer to pay their railroad fare or assure them that they could have a piano at the farm, however. The proposition was that they could move on the farm, and earn a living there.

"We have had several families in mind," said Mr. Kercher, "but they think that the work is too strenuous and prefer remaining in Duluth and being supported by some charitably inclined persons."

BUSY DAY AT CLUB ROOMS

Committee Meeting in Every Corner of the Building.

Smoke Prevention, Real Estate and Bankers' Entertainment Discussed.

There was a meeting of some kind in every room and in almost every corner of the big dining room at the Commercial club at noon today. Only one meeting was of a club committee, the others being of outside organizations.

The Commercial club committee was that on smoke prevention, a new committee named by Chairman Julius H. Barnes of the public affairs committee. At the meeting today tentative plans for working against the smoke nuisance in co-operation with the city authorities were discussed. The street improvement committee was also to have held a meeting today, but it was postponed until Thursday on account of the inability of a number of members of the committee to be present.

The officers and committees of the Citizens' Staff, G. A. R., and other organizations held a meeting to discuss the plans for the Memorial day celebration.

A group of Duluth bankers met and discussed plans for the local entertainment of the State Bankers' association, which will hold its annual meeting in Duluth June 10 and 11.

The officers of the Duluth companies of the Minnesota National Guard held their regular semi-monthly meeting for the discussion of National Guard matters.

There were one or two other private business gatherings at the club today, and the noon lunch hour was a busy one.

Superior

New Librarian.

Miss Emma Savage of Pittsburg, Pa., was elected children's librarian at the meeting of the library board yesterday afternoon. She will receive a salary of $70 per month. The action was taken on recommendations made to the board several months ago. Miss Savage will assume her duties next month.

Norwegian Celebration.

Norwegians of Superior are planning a monster celebration of May 17 this year. The affair will be held at the Sons of Norway hall under the auspices of the Sons of Norway and Daughters of Norway lodges. A program of speaking and music will be a feature of the celebration. The proceeds from the affair will be used in raising the $1,000,000 "Mindegave" fund to be presented to Norway next year.

Bordeaux, May 6.—Two Spanish anarchists were arrested here today on suspicion of being concerned in a plot against the life of King Alphonso.

NORTHWESTERN MEN TRY TO AMEND BILL

Make Vain Effort to Have Tariff Free List Changed.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, May 6.—Attempts were made today by the Minnesota members of the house to change the free list of the Underwood bill as to flour, furs, and tapioca flour, but amendments offered by Representatives Smith of Minneapolis, Steenerson and Anderson were voted down.

Mr. Smith wanted to have the 10 per cent retaliatory duty on flour made effective as to countries that now impose a duty on flour imported from the United States. Steenerson wants the bill amended so that the cheaper grades of furs should be admitted free, and Anderson tried to remove tapioca flour from the free list. All these propositions were defeated by a solid party vote.

MANY SONG BIRDS ON ONE STEAMER

—Copyrighted by George Grantham Bain.
FRANCES ALDA.

There was a big flock of song birds on the "Kaiser Wilhelm II" when she sailed for Europe. Gatti Casazza, the general director of the Metropolitan opera and his beautiful wife, Mme. Frances Alda, were on board. Then there were Geraldine Farrar, Gatti Casazza's leading soprano; Emmy Destinn, Mary Garden of the Chicago Opera company; Caruso of the golden voice; Arturo Toscanini and Alfred Hertz, the opera conductors; Dinh Gilly, the French baritone, and many others almost too numerous to mention. William J. Guard, the director of publicity for the big opera house, went on the Berlin an hour later. Mme. Alda is returning to sing in concert and in opera in the season of 1913-14. During the past season she created the part of Roxane in Damrosch's "Cyrano."

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

INSTRUCTIONS regarding the collection and handling of garbage contained in placards issued by the bureau of efficiency in Pasadena, Cal., states that all garbage must be drained of water and placed in paper before being put in garbage cans for collection. This requirement of wrapping garbage in paper before putting it in cans, is copied from or after many other cities, but in Pasadena such a rule has never become established.

When Duluth establishes a municipal collection of garbage such a rule will probable be put in force here. Many other cities insist upon it for several reasons. Among others the loads are considerably lighter, the stuff is easier to handle, is cleaner and more sanitary and burns much more readily.

UNVEIL TABLET TO LATE PROF. LANGLEY

Scientists Praise Man at Whose Failure the World Laughed.

Washington, May 6.—Seventeen years ago today a model of the heavier-than-air flying machine took wings from a secluded spot on the Potomac and flew more than a mile under its own steam. Then it fell to destruction while its inventor looked on and the world laughed, but it marked the beginning of a new era in aviation. Its inventor, Prof. Samuel P. Langley, continued his efforts to build a machine that would carry a man, and finally died of a broken heart, some of his friends say, because of the ridicule heaped upon him because he thought he could invent a "flying machine."

Today at the Smithsonion institution a group of scientists whose names are known to the world gathered to unveil a tablet to his memory as the father of advanced aviation, and to present medals to Glenn Curtis and Gustave Eiffel, who have carried on the work Langley left off. Curtis was present, but Ambassador Jusserand received the medal for Eiffel.

Later, at the army war college, an exhibition of flying boats was given. Army and navy officers carrying on the development of aviation were present, and many of the notables of Washington life came to pay homage to the memory of Langley.

That Spring Tired Feeling

Did you ever notice when you suffer from "that tired feeling," or "Spring fever" as many call it, your general health in the months previous had not been up to standard, or that you had had a previous illness after which you had not fully recovered your normal strength?

Thousands who suffer from that "tired feeling" each Spring do not associate it with a condition of vitality lowered by winter ills or the trying winter weather.

A good tonic will soon relieve the feeling of lassitude, stimulate the circulation, improves appetite and digestion and restore vigor to the body and elasticity to the step and general activities.

When taken at mealtime as directed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey stimulates the secretion of saliva necessary for the digestion of starches and the secretion of the gastric juice for the digestion of other foods. This renewed activity improves digestion and the assimilation of the food, and enables the system to take advantage of the nourishing qualities which make blood and rebuild worn out tissues.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is one of the greatest tonic stimulants known to medical science. It is made from ripe selected barley and other grains and has no equal for restoring strength after illness.

SEEK REFERENDUM ON FULL CREW LAW

Missouri Railway Men Say Statute Would Cost $700,000 a Year.

St. Louis, Mo., May 6.—Announcement was made here today that a conference of railway vice presidents and general managers had decided to invoke the referendum in an effort to set aside the "full crew" law passed by the last legislature.

Within a week the circulation of referendum petitions will begin. If 5 per cent of the voters in eleven congressional districts of the state sign the petitions, the law will be suspended until it can be submitted to popular vote for ratification or rejection in November, 1914.

The full crew law provides that on every passenger train of six or more coaches there must be at least two brakemen, and on every freight train of forty or more cars there must be at least three brakemen. It is said that compliance with the law would cost the railroads of Missouri $700,000 a year.

MARINE NEWS

ICE TROUBLES ARE NOW OVER

Captains Expect No More Delays From the Ice Pack.

Will Soon Disappear; Heavy Shipments of Lumber for Week.

Ice troubles are over with, according to several of the captains who have arrived within the past twenty-four hours with reports from the north shore.

Although ice is reported for a distance of about fifteen miles, very little trouble is expected from now on. The field is gradually breaking up, and with the favorable winds the past few days has been drifting south. The north shore is now reported open and boats now arriving report no trouble at all.

Very favorable weather is expected for the next few days and it is the belief of many of the local marine men that the ice fields will be practically gone by the middle of next week. The troubles that have been so numerous since the season opened April 17 are now over, from all appearances.

The ice has all disappeared from the harbor, where it floated the latter part of last week. With the disappearance of the ice work has been started on the placing of the beacons along the river. Piles are now being driven along the river course under the supervision of N. H. Witt, who has been given the contract for the work by the lighthouse department.

Up to this morning twelve boats have arrived in the local harbor, which are now loading lumber. They arrived with cargoes of salt or cement. It is the hope of local shippers that the boats now in will be able to clear by Saturday night. Several more lumber boats are now on their way to the Head of the Lakes, so that very heavy lumber shipments are expected from now on.

Most of the lumber now being loaded here is scheduled for Lake Erie ports. The rate this year, which is from $2.50 to $2.75 on shipments to Detroit, North Tonawanda and intermediate points, is slightly above that of 1912.

Managers and owners of vessels are now demanding guarantees of dispatch for vessels chartered for grain shipments. The owners are receiving demands from coal and ore shippers, that they now ask for the guarantee.

At Buffalo every effort has been made to relieve the congestion of grain boats. Records of the Western Elevating association show that the elevators in Buffalo have been averaging about 1,750,000 bushels a day since last Monday.

COREY MADE A GREAT RECORD

Mark of Twenty-Nine Trips Not Likely to Be Passed.

Will the record made last season by the steamer William E. Corey of the Pittsburg Steamship company be equalled or bettered during the present year?

This is the question that is being asked by many marine men on the Great Lakes.

Last season the steamer Corey made twenty-five trips from the Head of the Lakes in as many weeks. It made in all twenty-nine trips during the season. This is the best that any boat has ever done in the history of navigation on the Great Lakes.

Capt. Fred Bailey was in command of the steamer Corey during the entire summer last year. This year he is in command of the new steamer James A. Farrell, which the company built during the past winter.

There are a number of fast boats now plying the lakes and there is a possibility of this record either being equalled or broken during the present season. With the disappearing of the ice and the adoption of the regular summer schedules, marine men are beginning to watch the fastest boats for probable records.

LAKEWOOD RETURNS TO PORT FOR REPAIRS.

The steamer Lakewood of the Port Huron line, which left at 6:45 o'clock last evening, was compelled to return about 11 o'clock owing to a break in the machinery. Repairs to the broken parts are now being made and it is expected that the boat will get away within the next twenty-four hours. It is loaded with grain, bound for Buffalo.

Erie Canal Not Yet Open.

North Tonawanda, N. Y., May 6 — Definite announcement from the state superintendent of public works that the Erie canal will not be ready for the opening of navigation before June 1, if then, has rather upset the plans of forwarders. Instead of bringing down stock for shipment from the local port for Albany, New York and intermediate points on May 15, the regular time for opening the season, little lumber will be received before June 1.

ALONG THE LAKES

The steamer A. C. Dustin, building at Lorain for Capt. John Mitchell, will be launched next Saturday. The vessel will be christened by Miss Olive Dustin, a niece of the man for whom the boat will be named.

• • •

The steamer Colonial, which for several seasons has been laid up at milwaukee, has been sent to Sarnia for rebuilding. The old craft has been purchased by the Reid Wrecking company. A large amount will necessarily be expended in rebuilding the hull.

• • •

Coal shipments from Ashtabula in April were 311,194 tons and ore receipts were 43,511 tons.

• • •

The carferry Ste. Marie, which was delivered early last spring and which was damaged backing ice in the straits soon after left Mackinaw City Saturday morning for Toledo where she will be repaired.

• • •

Through navigation on Erie canal will not be opened until June 1, according to Duncan W. Peck, state superintendent of public works in New York.

• • •

In the last ten days of April, lumber shipments by boat from Marinette, Wis., amounted to 4,500,000 feet, the largest April traffic in ten years. The Helvetia, with 1,000,000 feet for Buffalo, valued at $45,000, took out the largest cargo.

• • •

Lumber handlers at Tonawanda have agreed upon a wage scale which provides an increse of 5 cents per 1,000 feet on almost all grades except No. 3 and better, which remain the same. On a few grades the advance will be 10 cents.

REPAIRING THREE DAMAGED BOATS

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 6.—The lighter Reliance commenced work on the steamer Turret Crown yesterday afternoon, removing her cargo of grain in order to get at the break caused by the collision with the steamer Mack Saturday night.

The damage was found to be so extensive that a cement patch will have to be placed on the inside. Considerable of her cargo is wet. The steamer Mack got away yesterday at noon in tow of the tugs Schenck and Boynton for Fairport.

The tug Sabin left last night with divers for the steamer Fleetwood, which is ashore ten miles east of Detour Point, Lake Huron. She is leaking badly and has a cargo of hard coal.

The tug Thompson was dispatched with air compressors to the steamer Indus, which stranded on Scott's Point, Lake Huron, last night. The Indus was bound for Duluth from Milwaukee light for a cargo of ore, and ran ashore in a dense fog.

TRAFFIC THROUGH THE SOO CANALS.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 6.—The report of the Soo canals for the month of April shows that since navigation opened there have been 582 vessel passages. The total amount of freight carried by the vessels was 1,905,555 tons, of which 1,098,123 tons was eastbound and 807,432 tons westbound.

Wheat was the big item in the eastbound shipments, there being 19,383,055 bushels on board vessels going east. There was 7,238,352 bushels of other grain. Coal was the leading item in westbound freight, there being 214,814 tons of hard coal and 514,234 tons of soft coal.

Sault Passages.

Sault Ste. SOO ORE DOCK NOW READY

First Shipments Will Be Made During Present Week.

Cuyuna Mines Have Already Forwarded 35,000 Tons This Year.

Work on the addition to the Soo Line ore dock on the St. Louis river bay front has been completed and the dock is now ready for ore shipments.

The dock, with the addition, is now 1,800 feet long and contains 300 ore pockets.

No shipments have been made from the Soo dock this season, owing to the work on the addition, but the first load is expected to be taken within the next day or two. It is understood one of the inbound ore boats is chartered for the Soo Line dock and that the first cargo will leave from the dock some time Saturday.

The ore is coming in fast from the Cuyuna range, 35,000 tons having already been received. Trainloads are arriving daily from the five mines on the range.

Work on the new Northern Pacific dock in Superior is progressing rapidly and is expected to be finished some time before July 1. The approach is nearly finished and work is expected to start shortly on the concrete superstructure and dock proper.

Draft at Soo.

The Lake Carriers' association has recommended the draft at the Canadian Poe lock as 19 feet 3 inches.

Alarm Signals.

It appears from a statement made by Capt. C. H. Westcott, Detroit, supervising inspector of steamboats, Eighth district, that many masters of vessels appear not to know that the alarm signal now consists of five or more short blasts of the whistle.

Some masters cling to the old signal, four blasts. One result of this failure to note the second of the pilot rules was the suspension last fall, by the steamboat inspectors in Marquette of Capt. Thomas J. Brady, master of the steamer Security, for attempting to pass a boat in St. Mary's river without blowing danger signals.

Two Boats Aground.

Alpena, Mich., May 6.—The steamer Cherokee and barge Holland, owned by John Garry of Saginaw, are reported aground on Sturgeon point. Both vessels are coal laden. The accident is thought to have occurred during Sunday night's fog.

COUNTY BOARD TO RIDE IN AUTO

Bids Asked on Car for Road Engineer and Commissioners.

No longer will E. K. Coe, county road engineer, and members of the county board, be compelled to travel over the rural highways a la shoe sole.

And no more will the county commissioners be obliged either to walk or pay their own money for automobile hire when on public missions bent.

The commissioners at their May meeting today disposed of the problem by a decision to buy a "county road" automobile.

The car will be consigned to the use of the road engineer and the commissioners who will have occasion to keep in touch with county road contracts this summer.

The county auditor was authorized to call for bids on a five-passenger 40-horse power car.

The board recently purchased a similar car for the use of Sheriff John R. Meining.

State Medics at Minot.

Fargo, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo and the southern part of the state will be represented tomorrow at the state medical meeting in Minot. A number of leading physicians of the southern part of the state are here this afternoon and will take the evening train for Minot. The doctors are interested in the address to be delivered by Dr. J. M. Dodson of the Rush Medical college, who will discuss the advance made in treatment of infectious diseases.

District Women's Club Meet.

St. Thomas, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thursday and Friday the annual meeting of the District Federation of Women's clubs of the First district will be held here. Miss Minnie Neilson of Valley City, president of the state federation, will be the principal speaker, appearing Friday morning.

You Can Make Pure Lager BEER

In Your Own Home—with Johann Hofmeister Genuine Lager Beer Extract

You can now brew your own beer—best you ever tasted—easily, cheaply, right in your own home. With Johann Hofmeister Beer Extract anyone can make the same high quality lager beer that has been made in Germany for ages—in the same honest, old-fashioned way. Beer that's so tasty, wholesome, satisfying, every member of the family will surely be delighted with it. Better beer than you can buy in saloons or in bottles anywhere. And it will cost less than 3 cents a quart—a little over a half cent a glass!

Real Malt and Hop Beer at 11 Cents a Gallon Remember, it's not near-beer—not imitation beer—but real German style lager beer, made of select Barley Malt and the best Hops. Beer of fine, natural color — topped with a rich, creamy foam. Beer with snap and sparkle—clear and pure as can be—with life and health in every drop. And the taste—oh, delicious!

Johann Hofmeister Lager Beer Extract is guaranteed under the U. S. Food and Drugs Act. Serial No. 30,317. No license needed anywhere to make your own beer with this pure extract. Get a can of it today, follow the simple instructions—then you'll know why brewery beer can never be sold where this beer has been introduced.

50c can makes 3 gallons of beer.
75c can makes 7 gallons of beer.

Sold by all Druggists, or sent direct, prepaid, upon receipt of price (either size), by Johann Hofmeister, 10 Hofmeister Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

"CASCARETS" MAKE YOU FEEL GREAT

Gently Cleanse Your Liver and Sluggish Bowels While You Sleep.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Salts, cathartic pills, oil and purgative waters force a passageway for a day or two—yes—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet, and your liver and bowels clean and regular for months.

FOR MEN ONLY

Specialists for Over Twenty Years in the City of Duluth.
A CURE FOR MEN'S DISORDERS.

We have cured hundreds of men who have long suffered a gradual decline of physical and mental energy as a result of ailments, and have been interested in noting the marked general improvement that follows a thorough cure of the chief disorder. Our success in curing difficult cases of long standing has made us the foremost specialists in treating men's disorders. This success in curing difficult cases of long standing has made us the foremost specialists in treating men's disorders. This success is due to several things. It is due to the study we have given our specialty; to having ascertained the exact nature of men's ailments and to the original, distinctive and thoroughly scientific methods of treatment we employ.

FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY.

Thousands of young men and middle-aged men are annually swept to a premature grave through EXCESSES AND BLOOD DISEASES. If you have any of the following symptoms, consult us before it is too late. Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes, with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, bashful, debilitating dreams, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks, careworn expression, poor memory, lifeless, distrustful, lack of energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, premature decay, bone pains, hair loose, sore throat, etc? The New Dissolving Process Will Cure You.

FOR NEW VITALITY.

There is today no excuse for any man remaining weak. The vital, manly man is admired by all men, as well as all women; there is an influence about him no man can resist; he knows no fear; he knows no weakness; he knows no result of debility. It is the same VITALITY which carries our young soldiers to war without thoughts of death. Vitality, reader, is what you MUST have if you would enjoy a life of health, strength and manly vigor. We can give you this same life and vitality; if we can do for you what we are doing for thousands of others we can put the vigor of youth into your blood and nerves; we can make you feel young again and keep you feeling young; we can drive awy all debility, weakness and despondency. You will laugh at trouble, you will tackle obstacles with the vim to win, just as all other hearty, vital men may do. We don't ask you to use drugs. We ask no change in your present mode of living; all we ask is to come to our office and let us fill your body with new power, to dissolve diseased poisons and liberate your system from poison. If everybody else failed to cure you of these troubles, we don't—WE WILL CURE YOU.

Any Bank Rather Than No Bank

Better to have saved and lost than never to have saved at all. Even to have saved for years only to find your savings swept away is better than not to have acquired the saving habit.

But there is no need to see your savings swept away. There are many good and safe banks in which you may place implicit confidence. This is one.

Wisely and conservatively managed, it places its customers' interests above its own. It takes no dangerous risks with the funds intrusted to its care.

Savings Accounts can be opened here with as little as One Dollar, and we pay 3 per cent Compound Interest.

Wheat Seeding About Finished.

Ray, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wheat seeding will be completed in Williams and other counties of the northwestern corner of the state by Thursday or Friday. Many of the farmers stubbled the grain in instead of waiting to plow. With plenty of moisture the plan will work out successfully. There will be a great increase in corn acreage, also some in barley.

HEALTH & HAPPINESS
By Dr. R. D. Scott.

The Watch-Dog of the Body.

Nearly all the blood which is busied in taking up food from the gastro-intestinal tract passes directly to the liver, where substances which might be injurious to the body cells are either chemically changed to nutritious food or thrown out with the bile to be later excreted by the intestine.

The manufacture of bile and the neutralizing of body poisons are not, however, the only functions of this organ, for it is also the main storehouse of food with which the body builds and repairs its tissues. This is stored in the form of glycogen, only to be converted into glucose and poured into the blood stream in quantities sufficient to meet the requirements of nutrition. So, after a hearty meal, the liver is always heavy with stored food, and after a winter's heavy eating and decreased exercise it is often overburdened with fat as well as glycogen. To eat in quantities that will only meet the requirements of heat and energy production, and thus spare the liver from being overburdened with food, is one of the first requirements of liver hygiene; and to prevent constipation, thus allowing free egress of bile from the gall bladder and no hindrance of the flow from the liver is probably the next most important rule to follow. But all this is written merely to show the importance of this organ and that it is well worth while to eat and exercise with a view to keeping it in a healthy condition.

Health Conditions an Advertising Asset.

It is the custom for resorts with a favorable climate to advertise this as an inducement to tourists and invalids. In the past, reference has often been made to simply "pure air," "hot air" or just ordinary "blowing." Now that the value of climatic conditions with reference to health can be more correctly estimated mere statements as to natural advantages in the way of springs, air, sunshine, etc., do not carry such weight. Something more definite must be presented. Health conditions in city or resort, to be regarded as an asset for drawing visitors or permanent residents, must be based on actual figures, and many places now vie with each other in that respect. The Manitou Springs Hot Iron club, a commercial organization, in order to attracts visitors and residents, circulates a letter calling attention to the vital statistics and morbidity record of that city, as compiled by the city physician. This is commented on by the Journal of the American Medical Association, which adds: "The health of its inhabitants is the best business asset which any place can have, it is good business and good advertising for business men's associations to call attention to the actual figures with reference to their city in this manner."

Care of the Lungs.

Although the human lung when inflated looks like a bunch of many little sacks hanging on a branched stem, and is in reality a rather complex structure, for purposes of simple description it may well be described as a sack attached to the lower end of the wind pipe, lined throughout with mucous membrane, which is filled with small thin-walled blood vessels and covered on the outside with a double layer of serous membrane (the plura). These two layers of plura glide easily over each other, being constantly supplied with a serous lubricant when in a healthy condition. And thus there is free play to lung movement during the process of expansion and collapse. The expansion of the lungs is governed entirely by the action of the chest muscles, the diaphragm and to a very slight extent by the abdominal muscles; for air simply rushes in to fill up the space which has been created by expansion of the chest cavity, and expiration is caused by the pressure of the same muscles reducing the size of this cavity. When the lungs expand with air the oxygen passes through the thin walled blood vessels into the blood, while carbon dioxide and other deleterious waste products pass from the blood to the air contained in the sack, (the dilated lung), from there to be expelled at the next expiration. Therefore, it will be seen that the more completely the lung is collapsed at the end of expiration, and the more completely it is distended at each inspiration, the better the opportunity of the blood to purify itself. There is more than this, however, to the practice of deep breathing, for when habits of shallow breathing are persisted in, there are large areas of mucous surfaces inside this lung sack which are never thoroughly freshened by pure air, and the constant presence of effete matter works injury to the delicate mucous membrane, opening the door to tuberculosis or other infection which may be brought thither either by the air inhaled or by the blood stream.

DR. R. D. SCOTT.

Questions and Answers.

Tuberculosis of Middle Ear.

H. K. B. writes: does tuberculosis of mastoid cells, or middle ear, always affect both ears?

2. How long can it go on before it proves fatal?

3. How is inflammation of the middle ear detected?

REPLY.

1. No. Usually only one is affected. 2. Not until the bone is so far destroyed that the infection passes into the brain or one of the large blood sinuses and in an unmixed tuberculosis infection, this process may require several years. The danger is always present, however, that the process is further advanced than thought, so early operation is always advisable. 3. By pain, deafness, running from the ear or pain over the mastoid bone just behind the ear. The diagnosis is made by examination of the ear drum when not ruptured, by the presence of pain on striking the mastoid bone and the history of the case in cases with a ruptured drum.

MOST OF MONEY USED FOR "EXPENSES"

Trouble is ahead for Sherman S. Furr, negro, if he revisits Duluth in the interests of an alleged vocational school for negro children at Newport News, Va., according to Courtenay Dinwiddie, secretary of the Associated Charities.

Mr. Dinwiddie declares that stories have come to him that the greater portion of the money which Furr collected in Duluth for the Virginia institution was used for "traveling expenses" and that a mighty small part was ever used for the benefit of the negro children.

According to Secretary Dinwiddie, several persons who have donated to Furr's alleged school have threatened prosecution should he return to solicit funds again.

WARDEN QUITS AT LEAVENWORTH.

Leavenworth, Kan., May 6.—Maj. Robert J. McClaughrey, for the last fourteen years warden of the Federal penitentiary here and one of the best known criminologists in the United States, has forwarded his resignation to the department of justice. The warden, who is 74 years old, said he thought he "had been on the job long enough."

Warden McClaughrey was known as "the human warden." His instructions to his subordinates was "treat a prisoner like a human—make a man of him." Authorities who have visited Leavenworth have hailed it as the perfectly disciplined prison.

PLAN HEARINGS ON WEIGHT LAW.

Washington, May 6.—The committee to draft resolutions for the enforcement for the new net weight law, will hold its first hearings for manufacturers and dealers and others interested in New York June 9. The new law was signed March 3 last and will be effective eighteen months from that date. It requires that the quantity of the contents of food packages be plainly marked on the outside of each package in terms of weight, measure or numerical count.

DR. PATTON QUITS.

Resigns as Head of Princeton Theological Seminary.

Princeton, N. J., May 6.—Francis Landley Patton resigned as president of the Princeton Theological seminary at the annual commencement meeting of the board of directors. Benjamin Breckinridge Warfield, senior member of the seminary faculty will act as president until Dr. Patton's successor is elected.

Advancing years and failing sight were given by Dr. Patton as reasons for tendering his resignation, which is to take effect at the expiration of his term, Aug. 1. He said that his sight was such that he did not feel able to do the proper amount of reading to keep up with his courses. He still is connected with Princeton university, however, and holds the chair of ethics instructor.

Dr. Patton, who is 70 years old, was educated at the University of Toronto and graduated from the Princeton Theological seminary in 1866, after which he became connected with the McCormick theological seminary at Chicago. He came to Princeton in 1881 as Stewart professor of the relation of philosophy and science to the Christian religion, a chair especially founded for him.

In 1886 Dr. Patton was elected president of Princeton university and throughout his administration continued his lectures in the seminary. He resigned the presidency of the university in 1902 and was succeeded by Woodrow Wilson, Dr. Patton being elected president of the seminary at the same time.

TWENTY WEDDINGS AT ELLIS ISLAND.

New York, May 6. — Twenty blushing brides ran dawn the gangplank of the steamship California into the arms of twenty eager bridegrooms. Gladness reigned until the immigration authorities found that eight of the girls did not have papers to prove their identity and told them they could not remain until they were married first at Ellis Island, the immigration detention station.

When the other twelve heard this they said they would all stand together and the twenty couples left to find a clergyman.

The prospective brides came from Scotland and Ireland and the immigration authorities said they were the prettiest as well as the largest company that ever came here to be married.

WOMAN ELOPES FROM POOR HOUSE.

Joliet, Ill., May 6.—Sheriff Stevenson of Will county is looking for Joe Burch, a junk dealer, and Lydia Sowing, the latter an inmate of the county farm, who eloped from that institution Monday afternoon. Both parties are from Peotone, Ill. The woman is 40 years old and Burch is 32. The woman is considered mentally weak.

Warrants are out for Burch's arrest on the charge of seduction.

NURSED BY HIS DIVORCED WIFE.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 6.—Harry Thurston Peck, formerly professor of ancient languages at Columbia university, who has been ill at the Ithaca city hospital for several weeks with a nervous malady, was taken to New York last night by his divorced wife, Mrs. Cornelia D. Peck, and a trained nurse. From New York Prof. Peck will be conveyed to the Sound Beach, Conn., home of his former wife for treatment.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dubois Peck, Prof. Peck's present wife, left for New York several days ago. It is said she agreed to her husband's accompanying the first Mrs. Peck to Connecticut. Mr. Peck still is in a serious condition and his physician has only slight hopes that he will ever recover his reason.

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE MINNEAPOLIS

Japs Oppose White.

Seattle, Wash., May 6.—The five Japanese associations on the Pacific coast have filed with the secretary of state and with the secretary of labor protests against the proposed appointment of Henry White of Bellingham as a United States immigration officer at Seattle. White, who is a Democratic member of the state senate, was the author of the anti-alien bill that was killed at the request of Secretary of State Knox.

ARIZONA TO HAVE ANTI-ALIEN LAW.

Phoenix, Ariz., May 6.—To take the place of the unenforced measure enacted a year ago, the lower house of the state legislature has passed an anti-alien land ownership bill that is far more drastic than the California legislation on the same subject. The act prohibits any alien, who has not declared his intention to become a citizen, from acquiring title to real property.

Opponents of the bill, who wanted to exempt foreigners who were eligible to citizenship but did not care to forswear allegiance to their native land, were able to muster but six opposing votes.

The bill was sent to the senate, where present prospects point to early passage.

NOVELIST DROWNS TO SAVE HER DOG.

London, May 6.—The novelist, Alice Maud Meadows, was accidentally drowned Monday at Redhill, a few miles from London, while attempting to rescue her dog, which had fallen into the water. Alice Maud Meadows began to write when she was 14 years old. Her publications include "The Infatuation of Marcella," "An Innocent Sinner," "The Moth and the Flame" and many other novels.

Home Remedy for Eczema

From our experience as druggists in this community, we can recommend, as a reliable remedy for skin diseases, the D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema, made in the D.D.D. Laboratories in Chicago. This is an ideal home remedy, for it has the advantage of being a convenient wash, easy to apply and positively harmless to the most tender skin.

D.D.D. gives instant relief from the irritating itch, it penetrates the pores and reaches the root of the disease immediately. Just a 50c bottle will convince you of this.

Every skin sufferer should have D.D.D. Prescription always on hand. Of course, all druggists sell it—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept a big price substitute.

However, if you come to a Abbett store we have so much confidence in this mild antiseptic wash that authorized and backed by the D.D.D. Laboratories, we will guarantee the first full-size bottle to do as we say. If not, pay nothing. Let us also tell you about D.D.D. Soap.

DROWNS TRYING TO SAVE COMPANION

Man and Woman Lose Lives in Lake Near Cumberland, Wis.

Cumberland, Wis., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Kate Denhal and John Lair were drowned in Montgomery lake, northwest of here, while boating, yesterday. Their boat capsized and they went down in the presence of several people who were on the shore. Lair came up and might have saved himself but for his efforts to rescue the girl.

PERJURES HERSELF TRYING TO SAVE SON

Happy Jack Mulraney's Mother Admits Testimony Was False.

New York, May 6.—It is all over with "Happy Jack" Mulraney. He must die for the murder of "Paddy the Priest." His application for a new trial was denied by Judge Rosalsky, who has been taking testimony to determine whether Mulraney could make good his claim that he was the victim of the underworld's code which bans "squealing" on a pal.

"Happy Jack," who was granted a 60-day reprieve by Governor Sulzer, changed his story time after time and finally said he had been lying and he was ready to take his "medicine." He relied largely on his aged mother to establish an alibi. She swore he was at home in bed helplessly drunk on the night of the murder. Yesterday the feeble woman broke down and admitted that this story was untrue. She perjured herself, she said, to save her boy.

Mulraney will be executed during the week of May 18.

BRAZIL PEEVED.

Coffee Case Action Brings Retaliation on American Trade.

Washington, May 6.—American manufacturers have lost flour trade amounting to $3,000,000 a year as well as a lucrative business in cement, machinery and other produces as a result of the Brazilian government's resentment at the breaking of the Brazilian coffee valorization scheme by the department of justice.

After several conferences with state department officials, Brazilian Ambassador Dagama let it be known that his country in the future would decline to extend the 30 per cent differential in customs duties which until April 9 was allowed on the American products. Without the differential the American producers will not be able to compete with those in Argentina, and the Argentine millers are expected to control the Brazilian flour markets.

There has been no commercial treaty between the United States and Brazil since 1814, but negotiations had resulted in the tariff differential, under which manufacturers in this country had built up an extensive trade.

Brazil's claim is that this differential was allowed with the express understanding that America was not to impose any harassing or discriminatory customs regulations upon her exports to the United States.

Says Pope is Well.

Rome, May 6.—Pope Pius has entirely recovered from his recent illness. Cardinal Diomede Falconio, who is an American citizen and for several years was apostolic delegate at Washington, found the pope yesterday in excellent health, bright, clear-headed, keenly interested in affairs, and eager to discuss all the subjects of the hour.

ASKING FOR FEDERATION

Big Petition Asks That Two Temperance Societies Join Hands.

Would Have Joint Debate and One Society Drop Out.

At a meeting of the Minnesota Temperance union to be held on May 13 a petition containing 800 names of temperance people of this end of the state will be forwarded to the headquarters of the state prohibition party and the Anti-Saloon league, asking the merging of the two organizations.

The petition, which has been in the course of circulation for the past month, contains the names of prominent workers of both organizations. It is proposed to ask the leaders of the Prohibition party and Anti-Saloon league to get together for a joint debate and to allow the followers to vote as to the merits of the organizations, the one receiving the least votes to go out of existence and co-operate with the favorite.

Rev. A. T. Ishkanian, who has been in Duluth for the past two months in the interest of joining the forces of both parties, has already perfected a state organization with its headquarters in Duluth. The officers of the organization are: R. R. Forward, president; Rev. Milton Fish, vice president: Mrs. Alice Warren, secretary; H. C. Hawkins, treasurer, and Rev. Mr. Ishkanian, field secretary. The officers are also members of the board of directors of the party. The other members of this board are: W. L. Smithies, Judge W. L. Windom, E. L. Sheldon, Rev. Ray E. Hunt, Rev. M. S. Rice, Thomas Tidbell, Mrs. E. Gustafson, Mrs. W. C. Ives, Mrs. Alfred Jaques and L. A. Simonson.

It is said that the two temperance organizations have been working as opponents to each other. The Anti-Saloon league is said to have tried in nearly all cases to get the candidates of the Republican or Democratic parties pledged to some of its propaganda, and while often successful in doing this, has not gained any ground for the abolition of the liquor traffic, the members of the new society claim.

PIONEER LEAVES MANY DESCENDANTS

MRS. ANJELEQUE DANIELSON.

The funeral services for Mrs. Anjeleque Danielson, pioneer resident at the Head of the Lakes, who died Sunday, will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from the St. Jean de Baptiste French Catholic church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. Burial will be made in Calvary cemetery.

Mrs. Danielson leaves 53 descendants. There are seven children; five of whom reside in Duluth, 35 grand children and 11 great grand children. She also leaves a brother residing in Superior.

YEOMEN HONOR TWO OFFICERS

Rings Presented to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bellmeur By Duluth Homestead.

Joseph A. Bellmeur, district manager for the Brotherhood of American Yeomen and Mrs. Bellmeur, correspondent for Duluth homestead, No. 3131, were agreeably surprised at the meeting of the lodge held at the Woodmen hall by being presented with handsome gold rings carrying the insignia of the order. The presentation was made by John C. Wesenberg.

In making the presentation Mr. Wesenberg praised the work done by Mr. Bellmeur in building up the local lodge. The district manager was chosen one of the delegates to the national conclave to be held in Oklahoma City, Okla., next month, at the state convention recently held in St. Paul.

Mrs. Bellmeur will also attend the conclave. She received her credentials to the national meeting by being one of twenty-six correspondents of lodges in the entire country to have received the most points in keeping the best records of homesteads. Of the twenty-six correspondents attending the conclave three will go from Minnesota.

Following the presentation of the rings musical numbers were given by members of the lodge. Miss Gertrude Coulombe gave a vocal solo accompanied by Miss Celina St. George, and a solo selection was given by Miss Ella Brassard accompanied by Miss Martha Onsgaard.

ENTERTAINMENT AT ST. CLEMENT'S.

MONROE FOURTH SCHOOL TO ENTER

About 800 Children Are Now Listed for Garden Contest.

The fourth school to enter its children into the garden contest held by the West End Commercial club for this summer announced its desire to participate yesterday. The Monroe children numbering about two hundred, sent a communication yesterday to Dr. O. A. Oredson, chairman of the committee requesting that their names be entered among those of the other contestants.

This will make nearly 800 children of this end of the city who will spend the summer in taking care of gardens and raising vegetables for home consumption. The other schools represented are the Lincoln, Ensign and Adams.

The committee is planning on raising about $100 for prize money for the contestants. How this money will be distributed has not as yet been worked out but Dr. Oredson said last night that it was probable that the money would be divided equally among the various school districts and that four or five prizes would be distributed to children of each school.

It is planned to give a number of lectures in the schools on agriculture. L. A. Simonson, a member of the committee, will speak on different afternoons on the raising of strawberries. Other speakers will tell how to plant seeds and prepare the soil. James Mahan, the third member of the committee, has charge of raising the funds.

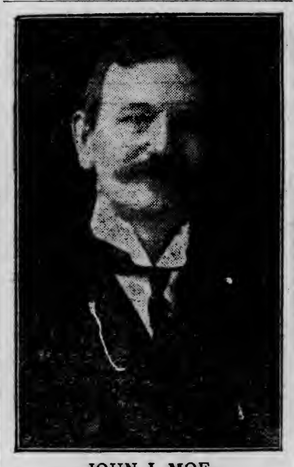
ANNUAL SALE AT THE MOE STORE

West End Firm Celebrates Its Twenty-Second Anniversary.

John J. Moe & Sons, pioneer dry goods merchants of the West end, will inaugurate the twenty-second anniversary sale of their establishment tomorrow. Preparations for the event have been in the course of making for the past month and members of the firm as well as the clerks have been busy placing the big establishment in readiness to receive the crowds.

John J. Moe, head of the concern, has made a phenomenal success in this end of the city as a merchant. Beginning twenty-two years ago with a small store having but a small frontage on Superior street, he has expanded the business until today the store occupies a 100-foot frontage at Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street.



JOHN J. MOE.

Arrangements have been made by the firm to entertain the public in a fitting manner during the forenoons and afternoons of the ten days of the sale. A concert will be given by an orchestra between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning, and 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoons. The firm also intends giving souvenirs of the sale to the visitors.

JOHNSON & CO. OPEN CASH MEAT MARKET.

The prominence of the West end as a business center is gradually becoming recognized by the merchants of the city. One of the latest establishments to recognize this is Johnson & Co., which firm has opened another of its cash meat markets at 18 North Twenty-first avenue west.

The firm has been in business in this end of the city for a number of years. The first store opened by the company was at 2516 West Third street, several years ago. Last year the firm opened a store in the Ramstead building, Fifty-seventh avenue and Ramsey street, and its latest venture is that of securing the location in the center of the West end business district.

Some time ago the firm realized that by doing away with the delivery and operating on a cash basis the public would be able materially to reduce the cost of living. In this the concern has been remarkably successful.

Birthday Party.

Miss Hazel Young, 3021 West First street, was hostess at a birthday party at her home last evening. Games and music featured the entertainment. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. William Flatt, Mr. and Mrs. John Younge; Misses Margaret Day, Freda Hansen, Enga Sieverson, Freda Banan, Florence Lundberg, Pearl Hunt, Hazel Younge, Helen Younge, Ruth Carlson, Daisy Wallace, Mabel Clark; Mesdames A. West End Briefs.

Mrs. J. A. Schumacker, 2707 West Fourth street, is in Minneapolis, where she was called on account of the death of her father, J. W. Cross. She will spend a few days visiting her mother, and also will go west to Lander, Wyo., where she will visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. G. P. Paine, and brother, C. C. Cross, before returning home.

Miss Alma Wentzlaff of Hermantown has returned from a short visit to relatives at Virginia.

Rev. C. G. Olson, pastor of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church is expected to return home this evening from a short visit to range cities.

The Sunday school board of the Swedish M. E. church will meet in the parlors of the church this evening.

Mrs. Andrew Lundgren and Mrs. John Carlson will be hostesses for the Ladies' Aid Society of the Swedish Mission church in the parlors of the church tomorrow afternoon.

The Swedish Christian Sick Benefit society will meet tomorrow evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

The Young People's society will meet this evening at the Swedish temple.

I Can Make Your Fat Vanish by the Gallon!

I CONQUERED OBESITY PAST MIDDLE-AGE

I Ate Everything I Liked—Went Through No Exercise—Wore No Special Clothing—Took No Weakening Baths!

I Explain My Simple, Speedy Home Treatment to You—FREE!

I, Lucile Kimball, a married woman past middle-age, attacked by obesity for years, finally conquered the fat monster. Everything you ever tried, I tried. I went through exercises, rolled on the floor, cut down my food, gave up sweets, fats and starches, wore elastic clothing, tried electricity, massage, osteopathy, vibration, hot and vapor baths, swallowed pellets, capsules and teas—gained as rapidly as I lost—and so would you with those so-called treatments.

For years, my friends have asked me to tell them how I got rid of fat and kept rid of it. They know that I eat what I want—go through no exercise other than I get around the house and office; that I am FREE from obesity, happy, healthy, supple—and look younger by fifteen years than I actually am!

I was afraid that my Home Treatment might prove temporary. I waited months. My fat did not return, and I waited years, but my fat did not come back. Still, I postponed. I tried my Home Obesity Treatment on friends. They were equally benefited—men and women of all ages. And finally I decided to reduce the obesity of fat men and women all over the world.

You have figured fat by the pound. Your "methods" and "treatments" have attacked living tissues more than fat. What did you gain? Nothing! Your fat came back the moment you stopped your exercise or diet. It did not go if you tried anything else. But my Home Treatment is not exercise or diet. I say "diet" in its broadest sense—not "starvation diet," not "excessive diet," but diet of any kind.

Eat any kind of meat, vegetables, salads, pastry, fish, fowl, nuts, candy that you want—when you want it. Drink what you want—when you want it. I don't interfere with your food or drink. No bending over, rolling, playing golf, horseback riding, doing exercise of any kind. Sit in your chair at home, or in your chair at your office—and the fat will vanish from you by the pint, quart and gallon. It goes away rapidly. It melts from your cells. You feel better—stronger. Beauty returns to women; strength to men. You never heard of anything of the kind before in your life. Everybody says, "How wonderful!" It is marvelous beyond description, and it is absolutely harmless. It is so simple, you need devote only three or four minutes each twenty-four hours to its use.

Spend Just One Penny!

All I want you to do is to get my book. This explains the harm of most methods and treatments; why exercises and diet are useless. It tells how I overcame obesity, how I conquered fat; how I rid my friends of fat; how you can be free from the grip of the fat fiend. I know that you want the way pointed out for you, showing how you can reduce fat right in your own home, boarding house, while traveling or visiting. Don't wait. This book costs you nothing. It tells the how and why, and your name should be among the first to reach me. I pledge secrecy and a prompt response. This is the key to successful, rapid fat reduction. Write today—Now! Hurry your request—this moment! If you have been disappointed before, this time you will be satisfied. Write in a letter or on a post-card, "Please send Free Book showing how I can reduce my obesity at home." Sign your name and address. You are not obligated in any way. Get your request in now.

Woman's Realm

Plans for the second annual session of the Minnesota Summer School for Missions, which will be held in Duluth at the Young Women's Christian association from Friday, June 6, to Monday, June 9, under the auspices of the Interdenominational union of Duluth, were discussed this morning at the meeting of committee members held at the Y. W. C. A. building.

A program of wide scope and interest, planned for the course, was accepted by the committee and details worked out. One of the big sessions of the course will be the Sunday afternoon mass meeting at 3:30 at the Y. W. C. A., at which Mrs. D. B. Wells of Chicago will speak and Mrs. Milton Fish, president of the Duluth union, will preside.

This Duluth course is planned as an extension course from the Minnesota school of missions, which will be in session from June 11 to 17 at Merriam Park, St. Paul. The extension committee in charge of Duluth plans consists of Mrs. J. D. Morrison, chairman; Mrs. George M. Smith, program chairman; Mrs. J. H. Lee, finance chairman; Mrs. A. E. Walker, entertainment, and Mrs. W. B. Patton.

The committee-at-large, composed of representatives from various Duluth churches, is made up of Mrs. T. B. Jones, Baptist; Mrs. Charles N. Thorp, Congregational; Mrs. Frank Swan, Christian; Mrs. A. H. Brocklehurst, Episcopal; Mrs. Edward Bellamy, Methodist; Mrs. W. J. McCabe, Presbyterian; Mrs. J. J. Daniels, Swedish Mission; Mrs. Thomas Owens, Two Harbors, Minn., and Mrs. Carl M. 3:15—Bible study, Mrs. Wells.
4—Question box, Miss Smith.
4:20—Adjournment.

The text books and leaders are: "The King's Business," Mrs. D. B. Wells, Chicago; "The New America," Miss Miriam Woodberry, New York city; "Bible Study," Mrs. D. B. Wells, Chicago; Council Hour," Miss Mary C. Smith, Minneapolis.

Director music, Mrs. L. A. Marvin; missionary literature, Mrs. C. F. Hopkins; registrar, Mrs. A. H. Brocklehurst; timekeeper, Mrs. Angus Gibson, 301 Eighth avenue east.

The Duluth Interdenominational Missionary union is made up of representatives of all of the churches with Mrs. Milton Fish, president; Mrs. Agnus Gibson, secretary; Mrs. J. H. Lee, treasurer, and the vice presidents are the presidents of each missionary society, these officers comprising the executive committee which meets the third Tuesday of October and the fourth Tuesday of January at 3 p. m. at the Y. W. C. A. An annual day of prayer is observed in February and the funds of the union are divided equally between the foreign mission work of the Y. W. C. A., and the council of women for home missions.

Those present at this morning's session were:

Mesdames—
C. Hopkins, Milton Fish, A. H. Brocklehurst, J. N. St. Clair, Earl M. Nelson of Superior, G. M. Smith, E. Bellamy, J. Lee, W. C. Ives, Whipple, W. Lutes, J. McCabe, D. Adams, A. E. Walker, F. L. Cowan, A. Gibson, D. J. McFail.

BISHOP'S CLUB.

Election of Officers and Music.

The last meeting of the year of the Bishop's club will be held this evening at the club rooms in the cathedral. Following the election of officers and the reports for the year a musical program arranged by Miss Theresa Lynn will be given and refreshments served by the social committee.

ALUMNI MEETING.

Salter Graduates Will Plan Banquet.

The Alumni association of the C. C. Salter school will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the school building. Plans for the annual banquet which the members will give for the graduating class in June will be discussed at this time and a full attendance is desired.

Hughes-Fagan.

The marriage of Miss Helen Hughes and Thomas Barnard Fagan, both of Cloquet, took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fagan. Mr. and Mrs. Fagan will reside at 302 West Fourth street.

Apollo Club Concert.

The Apollo club of this city will appear in concert this evening at the Pilgrim Congregational church, assisted by Miss Wally Heymar, accompanist. The program promises to be a musical treat and is being eagerly anticipated.

Circle Meeting.

Circle No. 4 of the Ladies' Union of Pilgrim Congregational church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. C. E. Wallace, 430 Eleventh avenue east.

Aftenro Society.

The regular meeting of the Aftenro society will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Foresters' hall, Room B, at 2:30 o'clock. The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. C. Nelson, Mrs. P. Odegard and Mrs. Puck.

GERMAN PRINCESS MAY WED EX-KING MANUEL

PRINCESS AUGUSTINE VICTORIA OF HOHENZOLLERN.

This is the Princess Augustine Victoria of Hohenzollern, who is reported engaged to marry King Manuel of Portugal—or rather ex-King Manuel of the late kingdom of Portugal. It is thought that when he has the backing of the Hohenzollerns, who are cousins of the kaiser, Manuel may feel disposed to promote another revolution with the object of restoring his throne. The princess is 22 and is reputed a great beauty in Germany.

Committee Meeting.

A meeting of the general committee in charge of arrangements for the convention of the Minnesota Music Teachers' association, which will be held in Duluth in July, has been called by Miss Mabel Fulton, chairman, for Thursday evening, 8:15 o'clock, at the Commercial club.

WHY A POET QUIT POLITICS.

London Mail: Explaining why he gave up politics, W. B. Yeats, in a lecture in Dublin, said: "I saw that when you try to speak high and sincere things and at the same time carry on a political life, sooner or later you give up the sincere and high things and speak expedient things."

WORK OF THE DRAMA LEAGUE

Members Hear Reports of Chicago Convention and Plan Pageants for the City Parks.

Plans for the work of the Drama league to be taken up early in September, at the opening of the active club season, were thoroughly discussed at a meeting of that body held this morning in the club room of the library with Mrs. S. R. Holden, president, presiding. Reports from the convention of the National league held in Chicago last month, were given by Mrs. Holden and Mrs. George W. Morgan in interesting detail and were received with enthusiasm.

For summer work the league plans to assist the playground association in arranging and producing little pageants in the parks throughout the city, from time to time, and a campaign for members for the Duluth center will also be started.

"One of the most encouraging things to me," said Mrs. Holden, "was in finding that the other centers throughout the country are fighting the very same problems that we have here and there is nothing particularly discouraging in having to overcome some obstacles.

"One thing which has hindered Duluth from having the best in dramatic productions is that it is not situated on any circuit and the National league has promised to help Duluth in this respect as far as it can.

"The booking of good plays for next season as arranged for by the Lyceum management is better than in many years including Otis Skinner, Charlotte Walters, 'The Bird of Paradise,' 'Kanny's First Play,' 'Damaged Goods,' by Beaux; 'Everywoman,' produced by Savage; Margaret Anglin, Walter Whiteside, the Gilbert & Sullivan Opera company, Fisk, 'Within the Law,' and Robert Hilliard. What the league wants to do is to build up patronage so these plays will be a success."

Mrs. Morgan Reports.

Mrs. George Morgan, chairman of the educational committee, spoke on the work being done in the centers in other cities.

"Mrs. Best, the new national president," she said, "spoke of the work of the National Drama league for the year as having been directed towards intensification rather than towards extension and the number of workers ready to start leagues in the cities now asking for them are so few that that field cannot be covered as thoroughly as it should be. She reported the organization of thirteen new leagues in the United States during the year and spoke of the interest Canada has been showing in the movement.

"Boston with its 2,650 members is the largest center and the report from there stated that its greatest problem was in keeping up the work in the center so that the members will be vitally interested.

"Bridgeport, known as a 'dog town,' because plays are tried out there, gives most of its attention to the playgoing committee's work; Detroit has made the biggest showing through having prominent actors give talks to the league and interesting other citizens in the movement.

"Jackson, Mich., is planning a subscription course of five good plays for next season.

"Kansas City is planning a festival to be given this summer and W. H. Crane recently spoke on children's dramatic work there.

"Los Angeles is giving its attention to giving the best to working girls and the city's report received enthusiastic applause.

"Milwaukee is doing its principal work in study classes run on the Chautauqua plan.

"New York is just organizing a center and the Brooklyn center, which has been doing good work, has joined the New York league to add its strength to the new club. The work there now is being directed principally toward selecting a board of directors and toward the work of the children's theaters, a most important factor in the scheme of the league work.

"Snow White."

"Philadelphia reported the production of 'Snow White' by the company which presented it in New York with the children from the slums as the guests of the league.

"Superior was not represented at the convention but the work there has been principally in classes and in conducting a column in the daily paper in which they have given topics of the day pertaining to plays and players.

"Washington, D. C., has done much with its study classes and in interesting colleges and schools in the work and is planning a big pageant to be given July 4.

"Chicago has given much attention to the junior work and is carrying on its work separately from the National league."

Children's Theater, New York.

Mrs. E. A. Silberstein told of her visit to the Children's theater at New York when she saw the presentation of "Rackety-Packety House," where every comfort for the little folks is provided and carried out in interesting detail.

Plan Lectures.

The league this morning, after a lengthy discussion of a plan of work for next year voted to instruct the educational committee to arrange for a course of four lectures by Prof. Dickinson of the University of Wisconsin on "Universal Modern Drama," to be given next fall and it was decided that some one of the modern plays be put on by members of the Play and Players' club, an organization within the league, following this course of lectures. These lectures will be given in the evening and admission will be free to the members of the league.

An organization of a reading course for the league to be conducted for those interested was decided upon, and a class in play production will be conducted next year by Mrs. George Morgan, who will take a group of children and give a demonstration of what methods to use in working with children, what technical training is necessary and the costuming and scenery planning.

Committees Named.

The committees named for the year were read with the announcement that the lists are only partially filled and that volunteers for any department are asked to join the work at any time. The lists as they now stand are as follows:

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Worn Tablecloths Can Be Used for Doilies.

The woman who has an affection for good linen feels it to be almost a tragedy when her treasured pieces commence to grow thin and fall into holes that cannot be darned or patched without the fact being noticeable.

It is an aggravating fact that a handsome and expensive cloth may be totally unfit for use and yet be free from perceptible wear save in one or two conspicuous spots. What to do with the tablecloth in this condition is a question that has often presented itself to the careful housewife who takes a pride in the possession of nice things, and it has been answered by several with the ingenuity to get further use out of what seems hopeless at first.

Such a woman enlightened me to a considerable extent as to the use to which old tablecloths could be devoted, provided they were, to begin with, of a quality to withstand wear. I was not prepared for what she drew from the long deep drawer of her sideboard, for in my most cherished dreams of economy I had not imagined that any one could evolve anything so lovely from a discarded table cloth, no mattle how fine and costly it may have been.

But it is true that she showed me a handsome luncheon cloth with twelve doilies to match, cut from a dinner cloth that had seen its best days in that capacity. The centerpiece was round and had a scalloped edge done in linen, with doilies carrying out the same idea. This handiwork was accomplished last summer on idle afternoons, being work that could be picked up and laid down at will. She cut her set, doilies and all, but I presume that one could have this done, or at least procure a set of patterns.

Scarfs for different purposes, including the sideboard dresser, serving table and serving trays, are made with ease and a little ingenuity from the borders and also the center parts of cloths that are otherwise worn. Insertions and laces, hand embroidery, hemstitching and various forms of needle work will transform remnants of linen into articles that are not only useful, but things of beauty.

WHY WOMEN BREAK DOWN.

A Day's Shopping May Do More Damage Than Hard Work.

London Mail: We are constantly hearing about overstrain in professional and business men, but very little is said of the same condition in women. The family doctor, however, sees many cases of this kind in his practice.

Women may not work so hard as men in money getting, but the rush of modern life affects them nevertheless. The old quiet life of women is gone. Social functions are carried out now under much the same conditions as business, and women with their more excitable nerves do in fact suffer more acutely than men. A day's shopping in the swirl of traffic and babel of noises produces extreme nervous exhaustion.

It is a mistake to suppose that work only is responsible for nervous breakdown. Modern nervous tension is due to many causes—the increase of education, the haste and speed characteristic of every affair of life, the irritability resulting from dazzling lights, bewildering noise and the whirl of amusements.

The result of natural fatigue is a lowering of sensibility, which passes away entirely after rest. But the overfatigue so common in the present time produces a state of irritable weakness which a night's repose fails to remove.

A woman suffering in this way will find that her heart beats more quickly and weakly, that her breath is "short," her temperature slightly raised, and that she has lost her ordinary strength and vigor.

To add to these evils many busy women nowadays do not get enough sleep, and what sleep they have is often disturbed by city noises.

To get the most out of life it is well to go slow. The only preventive and cure of overstrain is rest, and the woman who leads a tranquil life will really succeed in enjoying a maximum of its pleasures.

A SOLID FOUNDATION.

The prospects are good that the Underwood tariff bill will be a law about July 1.

President Wilson wants congress to take up the currency question, and it is not at all improbable that a just currency law, one that will make the currency elastic enough to meet the country's needs and that will make the financial system of the nation serve the people, will be passed this summer.

With these two great problems wisely solved, a foundation broad and deep will be ready for a safely towering structure of business prosperity.

How short is fame! Here is the Stillwater Gazette already referring to him as "William Henry Taft."

TRYING THEM OUT.

California has had the judicial recall for some time, but its first use occurred the other day.

California has also had woman suffrage for some little time, and it has tried that out on several occasions; but on this particular occasion it was tried out in a new way.

And so far as one may judge from a distant view, both worked for good in this case.

A San Francisco judge reduced the bail of a business man charged with a gross offense against a young girl. The business man furnished the required bond, and then forfeited it and fled. If the judge had not reduced the bail to a sum within his reach, he would have had to stay in jail and meet the punishment for a crime to which, by his flight, he has confessed.

The women of San Francisco asserted their newly-acquired civic rights. They invoked the recall against that judge.

According to the Los Angeles Tribune, "the rest was a complete refutation of the objection that the recall means dangerous power in the hands of an impulsive mob. Every step of the proceedings was marked by deliberation, coolness and judicial temper. Weiler (the judge) was first heard in his own defense. It was not convincing. Then followed the work of collecting signatures, and weeks of deliberation on the issue."

Then the question was submitted to the men and women of San Francisco. The judge had plenty of well-organized support, but he lost. The people recalled him from his judicial office.

Nobody will assert that the modern tools of democracy, the initiative, the referendum, the recall and equal suffrage, will work complete justice invariably. Neither will they automatically yield the millennium. They are only tools, and their value depends on how intelligently they are used.

In this particular instance two of them appear to have been used wisely.

"PROGRESSIVES."

Farm, Stock and Home, a truly and constructively progressive farm journal conducted for many years by a pioneer Minnesota progressive, the late Sidney M. Owen, says that the term "progressive" is being grossly abused.

And we guess Farm, Stock and Home is about right.

It says: "Just how much the so-called 'progressive' movement in Minnesota amounts to is becoming apparent. It is a new road to the old political pie counter. Its leaders may have been vouchsafed the vision of cleaner things politically, but its rank and file, even in the legislature, keeps one eye on the goal of political freedom, and the other eye and both hands upon the opportunities of the present moment. How can it be otherwise when all a man has to do in order to qualify as a 'progressive' is to say he is one, F. S. & H. cannot conceive."

Seldom has a good word with a splendid meaning been so grossly abused as this one.

Originally, it meant—and still means, for that matter—the spirit of political and economic progress. It is the spirit that animates the people. It is the spirit that has driven the Old Guard out of the citadel and into retirement, from whence it presently emerges wearing the progressive label.

A new political party, revolving about and having its being in a single individual, has adopted the word as its party name. Interpreted by this test, it meant in the last campaign a third term for Roosevelt.

Leaders and kingpins in the old order are loudest in their declarations that they are "progressives," and if all that distinguishes a "progressive" from those of a less noble cast is the label, self-applied, these are as good progressives as the next.

In the last legislature, and particularly in the last house, the organization was "progressive," and it was lined up against the public domain bill, against a non-partisan, non-officeholding commission to investigate state expenses, against non-partisan nominations of county officers and members of the legislature, and against the state regulation of public utilities.

It is not to be expected that the progressive movement, the real and not the sham, should be without fault, and it is not. It is too apt to content itself with mere machinery and to disregard the fundamental aims of progress. It is too likely to be absorbed with the form, and neglectful of the substance. It is too prone to accept such things as the initiative, the referendum and the recall as the end of progress, when in point of fact they are only means to that end.

It was to be expected, too, that when the progressive movement became popular, its band wagon would be loaded with self-seekers—men who are "progressives" for office and for profit.

It was also to be expected that it would exhibit some narrowness—that it would include many of that most dishonest type of thinkers, those who hold all who do not believe precisely as they do to be fools or villains.

And both these things have come about.

It will be necessary for the people to look beyond the label. No "progressive" should be taken at his face valuation. Each must be judged by his works.

Not all that glisters is gold, and not all who shout "I am a progressive!" are progressive.

The president of Mexico announces that the revolution will be crushed within thirty days. There's a tip for the promoters to have the stock of the next one ready within that time.

THE SHRINERS AT FARGO.

The Shriners of Fargo are going to be the hosts at big doings next month, and the nobles of Aad Temple of this city, it is related in the news columns, are hopeful of going there in force, with the band, the patrol and all the trimmings.

That's a good idea, not only because Fargo will give everybody who attends a royal time, but because Fargo deserves Duluth's best consideration and co-operation.

Duluth ought to be at Fargo in force on this occasion, with the band and all, and it ought to be there in such form that everybody will know it is there.

So all the Shriners who can go should go, and all others who have an opportunity to help make Duluth's representation at Fargo a notable one should welcome the chance, for Fargo's sake and for Duluth's.

An agricultural paper says the number of lambs in the country is decreasing. Let's see—didn't Wall street make a similar complaint a little while ago?

WHAT MAKES MINNESOTA A SPENDTHRIFT?

The Anoka Union asserts that Minnesota is a spendthrift, and that the legislature makes it such.

The LeSueur News denies this, and says it's the people that make Minnesota a spendthrift.

Here appears, beneath a disagreement as to means, a complete agreement that Minnesota is a spendthrift.

As to the means whereby this comes, both newspapers are wrong, and yet both are right.

Though it is the people, pressing upon their legislators for appropriations, who make Minnesota a spendthrift, is it also the legislature which does it, for it makes the appropriations.

But in point of fact the real fault lies with neither, but with the system. The News of LeSueur unconsciously proves it in these words: "There are eighty-six counties, and total the amounts brought home by the eighty-six, and you have your spendthrift."

The trouble is that district representation, with responsibility only to the districts, makes for extravagance just as the ward system in city government makes for extravagance.

Now, each lawmaker represents a district limited in area. Whatever he may do to the state as a whole, only the district that elected him can reach him; and he has bribed that district with an appropriation.

The remedy?

There is a remedy, which is being discussed more and more favorably.

Instead of a legislature of nearly two hundred members, representing nearly as many districts, have a legislative commission consisting of one or two from each congressional district. Elect each from his home district to prevent concentrating power in any single section, but require that each shall be elected by the votes of all the people of the state.

Let them represent districts, if you please, but make each representative accountable to all the state.

That will put an end to a situation wherein the common good is lost to sight in a scramble to bring home treasury grabs for local districts.

This is a revolutionary idea, but then all great reforms are revolutionary.

Maybe it's too new and too radical to put into effect at once. Certainly it's worth thinking over and talking over.

What's this? The senate not to hold any hearings on the tariff? Then what's the use of a senate?

ANOTHER TASK FOR THE EXTRA SESSION.

President Wilson has let it be known that he would like to see a currency law enacted at this session of congress.

So would the country.

While the currency is even a more abstruse subject than the tariff, so much more indeed that while everybody feels qualified to discuss the tariff, nearly everybody approaches the currency question with hesitant awe—especially since everybody had a try at the money problem in '96—there seems to be a general agreement that the currency is in a defective condition, though doctors disagree as to what's the matter with it and therefore, of course, as to what to do for it.

We should like to see this administration and this congress settle it.

If the settlement proposed squares with the administration's attitude toward finance as illustrated by the treasury department's new policies, it will make the nation's financial system serve the nation—not, as in the Aldrich bill, make the nation serve the few who handle the levers that control the financial system.

And that's what the nation needs and the people desire.

Those Mexican revolutionists could make a nice little sum by selling Japan or China their secret of how to get money.

DRUNKEN ROWDIES ON STREET CARS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In our advancing civilization and new system of government some means should be devised or adopted to stop or control the continual disorderly conduct of drunken men in our street cars, especially when there are women and children on the cars.

Men whose conduct and vile language would disgrace the porcine grunter should have no place in with decent people. Such men are always quarrelsome, abusive and vilely profane. They are always all right—they never do wrong—their idiotic drivelings disgust—their personal abuse is insulting.

Such an instance occurred on Saturday about the noon hour on a West Duluth and aerial bridge car going west. A specimen of the homo, who had lost all manly traits, boarded the car near Eleventh avenue west; the remnant of manhood was vile, abusive and idiotic, cussing everyone on whom his wild eyes blazed, criticizing everyone who sat near to the door end and every newcomer.

Some prominent business men from the West end, men known and respected in Duluth, members of the clergy, age, youth, vigor, had no consideration. He had a grouch and vented his vile spleen on those whom his wild eyes lighted on. A dozen women and children were on the car. The protests were general and cries of "put him out." One man, who is well known, demanded that the drunk be put out as too vile to be permitted amongst decent people.

Talk about segregation of vice! Are such vile drunks to be tolerated in our street cars?

The conductor, a beardless stripling, could not control him, but had to take his vile diatribes.

Near to the new Patrick building some one coaxed the drunk out of the car. The drunk was told to go home or there would be something doing. He wobbled homeward, swearing at every step.

Cannot we, under our new civic government, control such specimens of the low?

Must the law abiding endure the personal cussing of such derelicts ad libitum? Is there no recourse? If not, let the husky, the vigorous amongst us take just retribution on these specimens of the low and thrash them as they deserve.

If the law gives privileges for a drunk who assumes that he is the whole thing, then by all means let Sheriff Meining exercise his power and prerogatives and teach Duluth that order and decency must prevail in our street cars and appoint and swear in all the conductors as deputy sheriffs and demand that the reign of law shall prevail in Duluth, and the drunk is not a privileged character in our street cars. Yours for DECENCY.

Duluth, May 5.

Illegibility.

Philadelphia Ledger: The illegible letter upsets the saintliest temper. We all know people who fill reams with their ideas or their facts and take it for granted that our leisure permits us to unravel the riddle of the writing. Perhaps they are proud of a hand microscopically minute. Perhaps they cultivate a defiant eccentricity that spurns the formal precept of the copybook and fashions its own weird and novel system of shorthand. There are society women who appear to think it a point of breeding to make chaotic messes of cubist and futurist dashes that seem to bear about the same relation to conventional chirography that a baby's "goo-goo" does to speech. Why should the spirit of mortal ever be proud of such tortured and twisted penmanship?

Odds and Ends

By Savoyard.

Washington, May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Baltimore Sun—may its tribe increase—puts it this way:

"No matter how necessary it is, the doctors can't expect to perform a surgical operation, where anesthetics can't be used, without a few screams from the patient."

Of course, there is a howl. That was bound to be; but the panic in business is not yet arrived and panic is deplorably unpatriotic when it fails to come to the support of Egypt against Canaan. And here is some more treason uttered by the Baltimore Sun:

"The number of sheep and lambs in the United States is steadily decreasing in spite of the high tariff on raw wool.

"If a protective tariff is slowly killing the wool industry, maybe free wool would save it.

"At any rate, it couldn't be any worse."

Was there ever anything more unpatriotic than that? Possibly not. A good dog law in every state would do more to promote the wool industry than all the tariffs that could be writ with the firmament for a scroll and the ocean for inkstand.

* * *

But the jig is up, gents. Intelligent American manufacturers have come up realize that they must have wider markets. There is only one way to obtain them and that is to buy as well as to sell. The tariff forbids you to buy abroad, and as a consequence nobody for fifty years has bought a thing of us that could be supplied by any other country between earth and sky. We are outlawed from good commercial society among the nations of the world. That fact is notorious. And why? Because of our tariffs that have amounted to what were declarations of commercial war against all mankind.

Well, that is going to stop. We have sanity in the White House, sanity in the house of representatives, and, strange as it may seem, we have sanity in the United States senate.

* * *

The Republican leaders in the senate announce that they will allow no tariff bill to pass that body unless the Democrats consent to "hearings". They propose for congress to waste the summer listening to men who are ready to testify that they cannot make a living unless congress shall agree to tax the great body of the American people to "protect" them and make them rich at public expense. There are now miles and miles of such stuff in the public records. Both houses of congress have printed volume after volume of such testimony. If the senate should grant another "hearing" not a thing in the world that is new would be elicited. It would be the same old story over and over again that foreigners are going to ruin us by selling us cheaper goods than we ever obtained before.

But, as I said, the jig is up. We are going on a new tack. The tariff will be reformed downward and the ultimate effect will be cheaper living.

* * *

The lobby is here in strong force. Perhaps it never before numbered so many representatives of the protected interests. They are frank to say that they will not attempt to defeat the bill in the house of representatives, which is a body that is fresh from the people; but they are also frank to say that they hope to Gormanize the measure in the senate, as they did twenty years ago after the country had voted for lower and honester taxes.

There is no doubt that there are senators on the Democratic side who believe in protection and who would Gormanize the bill if they dared; but they know that Wilson would rouse the country by a ringing veto that would put them in the middle of a bad fix. Besides, there are at least two senators not classed as Democrats who will vote for the bill if their support shall be absolutely necessary to pass it.

* * *

Secretary Bryan and Speaker Clark have met at the social board and buried the hatchet. Everybody is glad of it, for both are too big factors in public affairs to engage in personal pique. It is greatly to be deplored that Mr. Clark and his friends emphasize his "majority" in the Baltimore convention. He never had an actual majority, and only the unit rule gave him the apparent majority. If every delegate had voted his sentiments Clark would never have come within 100 votes of a majority.

He destroyed himself when he sent that dispatch of thanks to Hearst, and if that were not enough his friends plowed with the reactionary heifer the first roll call when Bryan and Parker were voted for for temporary chairman. But that is ancient history.

We are all glad that Bryan and Clark are again friends.

Manners of the Modern Girl.

London Mail: Girls nowadays treat men with a boisterous comradeship that would have made my mother most unhappy. They have a slangy, slap-on-the-back approach which kills any inclinations on men's part to idealize them. Their aim is to be "jolly" and "pally," and they succeed no doubt.

But I do not notice that the men show any anxiety to marry their "pals." On the contrary, they look for entirely different qualities in a wife. They look for gentleness, charm, restfulness.

Women seem to have lost the art of being gracious. I suppose the reason is that we lead a life so much more hurried and that it tells on women's nerves more than on men's. They do not mean, I think, to be rude or unpleasant, but they are so absorbed in their own concerns that they have no time to think of the effect they are producing by their ungracious ways.

This has struck me—that old women of all classes preserve the charm of former days. They make one feel glad when one has done some slight service for them. The ready smile, the word of gratitude—how much they do to lubricate the wheels of life! How much their absence is to be regretted!

The Elixir.

Teach me, my God and King,
In all things, Thee to see,
And what I do in anything
To do it as for Thee.

Not rudely, as a beast
To run into an action,
But still to make Thee prepossest,
And give it his perfection.

A man that looks on glass,
On it may stay his eye,
Or if he pleaseth, through it pass,
And there the heaven espy.

All may of Thee partake,
Nothing can be so mean,
Which with his tincture, "for Thy sake,"
Will not grow bright and clean.

A servant with this clause
Makes drudgery divine;
Who sweeps a room, as for Thy laws,
Makes that and the action fine.

This is the famous stone
That turneth all to gold.
For that which God doth touch and own
Can not for less be told.

—George Herbert. (1593-1632.)

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—When he was working on a Boston paper some years ago, Representative Billy Murray and another reporter formed a little coalition for mutual boosting.

Their plan was this: Whenever either one of them had a friend drop into the office, he would be entitled to use the other party to the compact as a sort of literary valet, and dictate important letters to him, for the purpose of swelling up and showing off a little before the visitor.

If one of Murray's acquaintances came in, he immediately said:

"Pardon me just one minute while I dictate this letter to my secretary." Then snapping his fingers at his accomplice, "Come, Mac, take this." And the letter would be to Henry Cabot Lodge, Murray Crane, or somebody like that. "My dear Lodge," the letter might begin, "please explain by return mail why you have not been more prompt in complying with the request I made to you nearly a week ago," etc.

The visitor, of course, sat speechless in the contemplation of the intimate relations the letter revealed.

Billy Murray went around among his political acquaintances offering pretexts for them to call at his office, and he was completely captivated with his little scheme.

But at the end of a week the compact was dissolved—at the request of Murray's accomplice.

"You've got too blamed many friends dropping in," he said, "and I have got to be the goat ten times to your one."

* * *

To look at Representative Bird S. McGuire of Oklahoma, with his well groomed figure and roll-top-desk manners, one would be slow to suspect that he got his political start by so unstatesmanlike a device as roping and tying a steer.

McGuire spent two years on the range in Oklahoma and Texas back in his teens, but when he made his first campaign for congress ten years ago, he was a rising young lawyer and the cowboys were slow to believe that he had ever been one of their sort.

"If I thought you were a sure 'nough cowboy," said one of them at a ranch where he had stopped, "I'd vote for you, and I'd get everybody I know to vote for you."

"Well, I was foreman of the last ranch I worked on," declared McGuire. "Rope that steer yonder," said the cowboy, "and we'll all be for you."

McGuire borrowed a horse and rope and went after the steer with his heart in his throat, for he was out of practice.

But he brought down mister steer just as easily as taking a cup of coffee. The cowboys present immediately became his publicity agents and they turned more than a thousand votes in his favor between then and election day.

As McGuire's plurality was only 400 that time, he often wonders what would have happened to him politically if the steer had got away.

Stanley J. Bowdle, Nick Longworth's successor in congress, is a tall, raw-boned wiry-haired, horse-faced citizen who talks slowly and drops many epigrams as he goes along.

The man responsible for Bowdle getting into public life was a machinist in the shipyards where he worked in Philadelphia some years ago. Bowdle had a great habit of discussing public questions with the other workman. One day an old machinist laid his hand on the young man's shoulder and said:

"You'll make a great mistake if you don't study law."

Bowdle had never thought of such a thing before, but it struck him that the man was right. He had left school at 14, because Latin and algebra nearly tormented the life out of him, but law—that was something else again. He quit his job in the shipyards and studied law.

Also he began to read Henry George, and when a young lawyer does that it is inevitable that he is going on the stump to discuss matters and topics.

Although he is regarded as an ultra-radical in most lines of thought, Bowdle is rampageously a conservative on the suffrage question. He says there is "too much watered stock" in the whole proposition.

Clyde Kelly, the youthful Pennsylvania insurgent, who succeeds John Dalzell in congress, has carried a bullet in his breast for the last eighteen years. The consequence is that he can get ice cream free of charge every little while.

Kelly and another boy had gone hunting. The former was leaning against his gun with the muzzle against his side and the hammer down. His companion threw a stone at a big spider, and the missile, of course, struck the hammer and discharged the gun.

The blood spurted from Kelly's side and the other boy was scared nearly to death. He dropped on his knees and pleaded:

"Don't, oh, please, don't tell anybody I shot you, and I'll buy you ice cream the rest of your life!"

Kelly never told who shot him 'til after the boy had told it himself. Ever since then Kelly has eaten ice cream once or twice a year for nothing.

A Fine for Stamp Flirtation.

Philadelphia Record: In Austria, as in Germany, one is likely to commit the offense of lese majeste without knowing it. An instance of the sort is afforded by a decision not long ago rendered by a court at Trieste, a decision that aroused indignation in the hearts of young Austrians, since, by the ruling of the court, it appeared that lovers lay themselves open to a summons for lese majeste if they vary the "official" position of a postage stamp, whether on a postcard or on the envelope containing a letter, to indicate their sentiments.

An examination of the printed decision of the court makes it clear that to stick a postage stamp at a certain angle, even though it be to express "undying live," "disappointment," "tender memories," and so forth, is decidedly a mark of disrespect to the sovereign, whose image appears upon the stamp. The sender of a postcard who used the emperor's likeness to tell his sweetheart that he would love her always was fined for the offense.

When "A-m" Spells "Am."

Christian Science Monitor: One of the supposed niceties of speech which to many ears seems over nice is the pronunciation of the word program when the French termination "me" is left off. These careful folk try to shorten the sound of the "a" with the shortening of the word. But "gram" spells "gram" in English and may safely be so pronounced wherever it is found. Nobody says telegrum. Why, then, say progrum?

One More for the Boaster.

Philadelphia Ledger: It will not be long until we shall have to endure the taunt of the boastful, "Oh, yes, I saw Panama before the water was turned in."

The State Legislature

Press Views on the Session.

Party Brands Go.

Albert Lea Standard: A candidate at future elections in this state will no longer have to wear a party brand, thanks be to the fates and an awakened legislature, in order to receive fair recognition from the voters in seeking a county or legislative office. It knocks out party bigotry and the party whip, and Minnesota is the first state in the Union to adopt such a patriotic and advanced reform.

The Worst Of All.

Anoka Union: Of all the fool bills the seven-senator bill takes the cake. Defeated once, it will be again, as the people believe in a fair deal, and every citizen should be represented, no matter if he does live in a big city.

Two Railroad Bills.

Preston Times: The 2-cent railroad fare seems to be nearer than it was some weeks ago. The supreme court may yet overrule the Sanborn decision, but we will not care so much, if either or both of the two laws passed by our recent legislature become effective. One is a straight out 2-cent fare on all roads earning $1,200 a mile or more, which includes nearly every road in the state. The other provides for the sale of 500-mileage books good in the hands of any member of the family until used. The railroads might as well quit their "hollering." They can afford to carry passengers for 2 cents per mile and sooner or later they will be compelled to do so.

An Able Committee.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The legislative committee has been named to draw up a utility bill to be presented to the extra session of the legislature, which is expected to be called in January. The committee is composed of able men from both houses, and they have enough self respect to prepare what they believe will be a practical, square deal bill.

Meeting With Favor.

St. Peter Tribune: Governor Eberhart is receiving the indorsement of the press throughout the state for his veto of the Nolan and Minnette bills, the former giving the Minneapolis city council the right to regulate its own utilities, and the latter placing telephone companies under a commission. The idea of placing all public utilities under a permanent commission is meeting with popular favor, and a special session to pass such a bill will be called during the summer.

Northern Minnesota Fared Well.

Moose Lake Star-Gazette: Northern Minnesota fared well in this session. It secured more direct legislation than ever before in the history of the state, which was due to the fact that there was on hand a number of live men from the northern part of the state that followed each and every bill through the two houses to the governor's office where they were signed, with a determination that nothing should impede their progress.

Only One Way.

Wadena Pioneer Journal: The legislature made a lot of fuss about saving a few hundreds by denying the members fountain pens and similar luxuries, but the general appropriation bill carried about four million in excess of anything which has gone before. There are several ways of retrenching—but the legislators apparently knew but one.

Economy—Somewhere!

Buffalo Journal: The legislature, or the house at least, made quite a record for economy in the cost of the session, but in appropriations passed all former limits. If the extravagance gait is kept up this will be a billion dollar state some day.

Young Love

From John Galsworthy's "The Dark Flower" in Scribner's: He leaned far out, and whispered in the voice she had said was still furry:

"Sylvia!"

The light flickered, he could just see her head appear, with hair all loose, and her face turning up to him. He could only half see, half imagine it, mysterious, blurry; and he whispered:

"Isn't this jolly?"

The whisper traveled back:

"Awfully."

"Aren't you sleepy?"

"No; are you?"

"Not a bit. D'you hear the owls?"

"Rather."

"Doesn't it smell good?"

"Perfect. Can you see me?"

"Only just not too much. Can you?"

"I can't see your nose. Shall I get the candles?"

"No—that'd spoil it. What are you sitting on?"

"The window sill."

"It doesn't twist your neck, does it?"

"No—o—only a little bit."

"Are you hungry?"

"Yes."

"Wait half a shake. I'll let down some chocolate in my big bath towel; it'll swing along to you—reach out."

A dim white arm reached out.

"Catch! I say, you won't get cold?"

"Rather not."

"It's too jolly to sleep, isn't it?"

"Mark!"

"Yes."

"Which star is yours? Mine is the white one over the top branch of the big sycamore, from here."

"Mine is that twinkling red one over the summer house. Sylvia!"

"Yes."

"Catch!"

"Oh! I couldn't—what was it?"

"Nothing."

"No, but what was it?"

"Only my star. It's caught in your hair."

"Oh!"

"Listen!"

Silence, then—until her awed whisper:

"What?"

And his, floating down, dying away:

"Cave!"

Owning and Reading Books.

Jack London in the Philadelphia North American: I regard books in my library in much the same way that a sea captain regards the charts in his chartroom. It is manifestly impossible for a sea captain to carry in his head the memory of all the reefs, rocks, shoals, harbors, points, lighthouses, beacons and buoys of all the coasts of all the world; and no sea captain endeavors to store his head with such a mass of knowledge. What he does is to know his way about in the chartroom, and when he picks up a new coast, he takes out the proper chart and has immediate access to all information about that coast. So it should be with books. Just as the captain must have a well equipped chartroom, so the student and thinker must have a well equipped library, and must know his way about that library.

I, for one, never can have too many books; nor can my books cover too many subjects. I may never read them all, but they are always there, and I never know what strange coast I am going to pick up at any time in sailing the world of knowledge.

King George Has Six Thrones.

Harper's Weekly: King George has six thrones. One would naturally suppose that the king would "sit upon his throne" at Windsor—that that, so to speak, would be the "official throne." While, however, there are both a throne and a throne room in that ancient palace, the Windsor throne is probably the very last one of all whereon one might find the English sovereign.

The throne at Buckingham palace is the more generally used, inasmuch as the greater number of ceremonial functions occur there.

The king of England may be said to have a set of thrones. In the case of one throne—the coronation chair at Westminster Abbey—he certainly uses it but once. This is the worm eaten, battered, lion-footed old oak settle that contains the "Stone of Destiny." Upon it since the days of Edward II have been crowned all the rulers of England. This chair might very well be called the "throne of the British empire," since it is by far the most ancient of the English thrones. To be crowned the ruler must sit upon this throne, and no other.

One may be sure of one thing, however, in this connection—no king of England, or any one else for that matter, would voluntarily seek a seat on this ancient throne more than once, since it is a decidedly uncomfortable resting place. It stands, year in and year out, in the chapel of Edward the Confessor, and it is removed only on the occasion of a coronation. Then, covered with gold brocade, it is set under the lectern between the choir and the altar.

The throne with which the British public is most familiar is that which stands upon a dais in the house of lords. The houses of parliament contain another throne—that in the king's robing room. This is employed by the king when he is donning his regal garb previously to entering the house of peers to read his speech.

Another throne is that at St. James' palace, which is a very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. This throne is a very handsome one, standing under a magnificent and ornate canopy. It is here that the foreign ambassadors who are credited to the court of St. James are received.

The throne at Windsor is unique in one respect. It is constructed entirely of ivory. It was a gift from one of the princes of India.

WARM GREETING FOR W. H. CRANE

Lyceum Audience Enthuses Over "The Senator Keeps House.'

Why is it that the average theater-goer would rather watch William H. Crane light a cigar than hear a Forbes-Robertson soliloquize Hamlet's famous lines?

Why is it that he can take an ordinary, commonplace sort of play, and keep audiences that are usually coldly critical absorbingly interested?

First and foremost, probably because he is an artist—a thoroughly schooled actor who knows the technique of his profession as few American actors—perhaps none—do. But the more important reason is his own personality. Mr. Crane has spent fifty years of his life before the public, but unlike most actors he has not spent that time merely strutting before them, playing the buffoon or ranting tragedy. He has sought to study his fellow men, and the quiet, kindly philosopher he portrays is not far from his own character. Some people wonder why he always portrays a role of this type. He was such in "Father and the Boys." He was such last evening at the Lyceum in "The Senator Keeps House." He is also such today on the street or in his hotel. That probably explains his hold on the American theater going public. The Lyceum was crowded last evening with a most warmly enthusiastic audience, and it probably will be crowded every year Mr. Crane chooses to come to the city with his wholesome, natural, kindly humor.

"The Senator Keeps House" is a commonplace little comedy drama, good in spots and weak in others. It is not very coherent, or very sparkling in its wit, but good old fashioned virtue triumphs in the good old fashioned way; true love is rewarded; snobbery is properly snubbed; and the kindly old senator finds things coming his way as the curtain goes down. And the average person would rather watch the senator light his cigar and smile benignly on all concerned, than labor in a mental perspiration one or two laps behind the scintillations of a George Bernard Shaw or an Ibsen. The senator triumphs because he is just one of the folks, and George Bernard Shaw plays to empty seats because there are few Shaws in the world and only a few more who appreciate him, and a few more who pretend a liking for the Shavian wit.

Mr. Crane is a big enough star not to be afraid of being eclipsed, and a big enough man not to worry much about it if he is. He has a supporting company of uniform excellence, who could make an audience like a much poorer play than "The Senator Keeps House."

Jack Devereaux, his leading juvenile, is a find. Harry Harwood as the Hon. Adolphus Judson is almost too good to be true, and Charles Riegal looks as if he was imported—and probably he was—from about six miles south of Lexington, stiff leg and all.

Mabel Bert as the Mason claimant, Mrs. Ida Flower, is an actress of real charm of manner and intelligence, and Lorraine Frost as her daughter is delightfully natural as the enthusiastic young miss of 16 summers. Zeffie Tilbury plays a rather thankless part capably, and two very good bits of negro character work are done by Raymond Walburn and Marion Kerby. It was rather interesting to note that the song hummed by Miss Kerby was one of those sung by Lucine Finch, the negro character singer and story teller, on her recent appearance here. It was just a little touch that showed the study she had given the part, and it was typical of the entire production.

As long as Mr. Crane brings such productions as that seen last evening, he will continue to be a welcome visitor to Duluth.

Amusement Notes.

During the last few years San Francisco and Los Angeles have become important centers in the theatrical world. In fact these two coast cities

"MUGGINS" DAVIES,
At the Orpheum This Week.

are now surpassed in this line only by New York and possibly Chicago. Both dramatic productions and musical comedies have first seen the light in these two cities and have later been successful in the East.

Two clever performers who have been starred in many of the musical productions on the coast are Walter De Leon and "Muggins" Davies, who are at the Orpheum this week in an act containing songs and dances from "The Campus." These two young people were two of the most popular musical comedy stars on the coast for two or three seasons before they entered vaudeville.

* * *

Does a wife like her husband to lie to her? Does this same wife overlook a lie when it is backed up with funny complications, during which the husband's love for her is always manifest? Does your wife fancy you going out with chorus girls, if perchance she happens to be a suffragette? These are a few of the questions whose solutions supply much of the comedy in Campbell B. Casad's song farce entitled "Don't Lie to Your Wife," which is at the Empress. During the farce many musical gems are presented. Among them are "You Big Blue Eyed Baby," with a cabaret scene; "The Sleepy Eyed Man" and the "Broadway Glide."

"The Bell Hop," another musical comedy tabloid, will come to the Empress for an engagement of three days commencing Thursday matinee.

DENY COERCION BY HARVESTER CO.

More Implement Dealers Give Evidence at St. Paul Hearing.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Further testimony relative to the operations of the International Harvester company in Wisconsin was heard at today's hearing in the government's suit against the company for alleged violation of the Federal anti-trust law.

Many Wisconsin implement dealers called as witnesses for the defense, remained yet to testify when adjournment was taken late yesterday. Over 90 per cent of the business in grain binders, mowers, rakes and corn binders in the state of Wisconsin is controlled by the International Harvester company, according to the testimony of the fifteen dealers from that state.

These fifteen dealers declared that the Harvester company never had attempted to coerce them. When cross-examined by Edwin P. Grosvenor, representing the government, each testified that in his territory the International does from 90 to 100 per cent of the business in farm implements. The said that all makes of those machines sold in their territory in 1902, when the company was organized, had been acquired by the company at that time or since.

The Harvester company has called more than 400 witnesses from Wisconsin, North and South Dakota and Minnesota who will testify at the St. Paul hearing.

NEW BRAINERD COUNCIL.

Old Organization Goes Out With Expressions of Good Feeling.

Brainerd, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The newly elected city council and other new officials are now in control of city affairs, the meeting of the old council being held Monday evening.

Among the last appointments made by Mayor H. P. Dunn were: C. B. Rowley to succeed James M. Taylor, resigned, as member of the water and light board; Prof. W. C. Cobb, superintendent of schools, to succeed Swan Johnson on the library board, and Mrs. J. P. Early, of the same board, to succeed Rev. Charles Fox Davis, who has removed from the city. Mayor Dunn thanked all the council for the courtesies shown him while in office and said he would always look back with pleasure to his term as mayor. He thanked the city attorney, M. E. Ryan, and the city clerk, V. N. Roderick, and also the press. In commenting on the work of the police he paid a tribute to the chief, George A. Ridley, and said that Brainerd had been free from crime. There was but one burglary and the man was caught in the act and sent to St. Cloud. He extended his felicitations to the incoming mayor, R. A. Henning.

BRAINERD CONCERNS ELECT OFFICERS.

Brainerd, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Minnesota Park Region Land company elected as directors George D. La Bar of Brainerd, Former Senator J. C. Wood of St. Paul, J. M. Elder, F. A. Farrar and James Virden. The officers elected were: President, George D. La Bar; vice president, J. C. Wood; secretary, James M. Elder; treasurer, F. A. Farrar.

The Park Opera House association at its annual meeting elected as directors R. R. Wise, Con O'Brien, H. P. Dunn, F. A. Farrar and G. D. La Bar. The officers elected were: President, R. R. Wise; vice president, Con O'Brien; secretary, George D. La Bar, and treasurer, H. P. Dunn.

Mill City Gamblers Fined.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 6.—Twenty-one men, who were arrested in a raid Saturday night, led by Chief of Police Oscar Martinson and George Nye, son and secretary to Mayor Wallace G. Nye, on a gambling house at 415 Hennepin avenue, pleaded guilty Monday to charges of being found in the place. A. Friedmann pleaded guilty to being the keeper of the gambling house and was given his choice between forty days in the workhouse, and a fine of $100. He paid the fine. All the other men paid fines of $10 in preference to ten days in the workhouse.

BANQUET OF BOYS' Y. M. C. A

Annual Event Will Be Held at Boys' Building Friday Evening.

H. C. Fulton Will Be Toastmaster and Members Will Speak.

The annual banquet of the Boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will be held at the boys' building next Friday evening, May 9. This is the eleventh annual banquet and it will be the big social occasion of the year.

The banquet will be served by a committee of ladies and will be an elaborate affair. A committee of young ladies will act as waiters. This is the only dinner during the year that the boys themselves do not have a part in preparing and serving. Dinner will be served promptly at 6:30 and places are being prepared for 175. Following the dinner there will be a program of speeches and music. The Y. M. C. A. orchestra will furnish the music.

H. C. Fulton will act as toastmaster. Speeches will be made by the following: "Our Club," Richard Cullum, president of the boys' department; "Camp Miller," Irving Moore; "Member's Part," Howard Sukeforth; "Summer Plans," Charles Le Richeaux; "The Boys' Conference," Edward Serlyen; "What We Expect," F. E. House; "Other Boys," B. C. Wade; "Athletics," Jacob Garon; "The Ladies," George Martin. Miss Agnes Johnson will give a reading. Maurice and Henry Lavick with Miss Close as accompanist, will give a musical selection, Stanley Lamb a vocal solo, and there will be moving pictures.

During the evening the winners of the hustler emblems and medals will receive their awards. The banquet marks the closing of the winter season and the opening of the summer program. The summer program of the club is just as vigorous as the winter term, only it is adapted to the changed conditions. While the clubrooms and gymnasium are open all the time, the special activities are planned for outdoors.

The cabinet of the boys' department will meet tonight for dinner at 6:15.

DULUTH IS ITS OWN WORST ENEMY

Visitor From Winnipeg Says Citizens Don't Appreciate Advantages.

A. T. Hepworth of Winnipeg was a visitor in the city yesterday on his way home from Florida. Mr. Hepworth is one of Duluth's old timers.

To a Herald representative, he stated that the average Duluth citizen he talked with conveyed the impression that the city was not progressing at a satisfactory pace, but for his part, he believed the improvements to be seen, and especially so in the East end, were indicative of a healthy growth of individual wealth.

Continuing, he said, "Industrial progression must come to this city at no distant date. Its natural advantages are easily to be seen, and the commencement of one important industry will be the signal for many others. Duluth is practically the gateway of a Western empire. Possibly local capitalists have not yet awakened to the opportunities presented, but as soon as the Commercial club can seize the salient features of a new era, and everyone 'talks for Duluth,' publicly and privately with a conviction that tells that there is something to advertise, then the change will come. Cities and towns must go into a campaign of advertising just the same as business enterprises".

In speaking of Florida, Mr. Hepworth said that the state was recovering from the effect of wild cat land schemes, and the city of Jacksonville was showing astounding growth. Many Duluth people were seen in Florida this season, at the popular East coast resorts.

GERMANY LAUNCHES NEW DREADNOUGHT

War Vessel Will Displace 27,000 Tons and Carry 14-Inch Guns.

Hamburg, May 5.—A new dreadnought battleship was launched here today to take the place of the old Kurfuerst Friedrich Wilhelm, sold to Turkey in 1910. The ship was christened "Grosser Kurfuerst" by Prince Oscar, a son of the emperor. She is a sister ship of the Koenig, launched on March 1, and was designed to displace 27,000 tons. It is intended that she is to be armed with 14-inch guns.

NEW YORK POLICE IN WAR ON GANGSTERS

Patrolmen Volunteer to Work on Case While Off Duty.

New York, May 5.—The New York police today declared war upon the gangmen who killed two of their number and beat up two others during the last thirty hours on the lower East side. One gangster also has been killed and others probably fatally injured in shooting affrays.

Seventy-five detectives were detailed to the case today, and when the patrolmen on duty at the Mulberry street station went off duty this morning every one of them donned civilian clothes and volunteered to help the detectives.

The police believe that back of the shooting lies a struggle for the leadership of the Jack Sirocco gang, whose chief recently dropped out of sight. The two policemen were killed Saturday night by a gangster who had fatally wounded one of his rivals.

Iron River Has Grange.

Iron River, Wis., May 5.—With thirty-one charter members, a local of the National Grange was organized here by John F. Wild, grange deputy, and Henry Geller, agriculturalist for the South Shore road, with the following officers: Master, John Pettingill; overseer, A. G. Johnson; lecturer, Byron Ripley; steward, George W. Hall; assistant stewart, C B. Johnson; lady assistant steward, Myrtle Schwartz; chaplain, Frances Hall; treasurer, G. L. Pettingill; secretary, Harry Hall; gatekeeper, Albert E. Johnson, Jr.; Ceres, Annie W. Jones, Pomona, Mrs. A. J. Johnson; Flora, Mary Ripley.

CHIPPEWAS IN SESSION

Indians Meet at Cass Lake to Perfect Tribal Organization.

Expect to Employ First Class Attorney to Represent Them at Capital.

A meeting of Chippewa Indians is being held today at Cass Lake, the purpose of which is to organize them into a permanent society with a board of directors, the object being to give them proper protection in their affairs at Washington. In connection with this move it is planned that the Indians are to elect a competent attorney who will look after their interests in Washington and see to it that they get their rights without having eternally to make pilgrimages to the national capital and beg for what they should get without thus humiliating themselves.

A meeting, which discussed the matter in a preliminary way, was held on Feb. 4. At that time the names of two of the most prominent attorneys in the United States were mentioned as possible representatives: Senator Elihu Root of New York, and Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, the "trust buster." The tribe has a population of about 10,000 and it is felt that this number should be adequately represented.

It is expected that between 200 and 300 Indians will attend the conference. Bishop Morrison of the Episcopal diocese of Duluth is down for a talk to the Indians and Senator Clapp may speak to them tomorrow.

It is claimed by the Indians that treaty stipulations between their tribe and the government have not been fulfilled by the latter and that several million dollars are actually due the Indians by Uncle Sam. They wish educational facilities improved and also health conditions bettered. There are a number of other things in which they claim that the government is delinquent.

For years the various bands of the tribe have been employing attorneys to represent them, and it is claimed that with lack of organization of the tribe as a whole interests have conflicted and that the attorneys, even if honest in their efforts, have been working at cross purposes. A station agent at Cloquet, who is a half-breed, finally took the initiative and called the meeting of Feb. 4, his idea being that the tribe should organize as a whole and make a concerted effort to obtain their rights, employing one first-class attorney to represent them all and who is to have the backing of the entire tribe.

The meeting, which took up four days, was attended by Indians from all points of the reservation and from outside of it as well. Chippewas who reside in the Twin Cities attending in immaculate modern dress and mingling with their brethren of the reservation arrayed in racial garb. The matter was discussed at that time and it was agreed that another meeting had better be held after the delegates had talked to their people at home. The meeting called for today is the result. Much may come of it.

CONGRESSMAN DIES AT STATION.

Washington, May 6.—Representative Lewis J. Martin of Newton, N. J., dropped dead in the Union station here late Monday.

Representative Martin, who was a Democrat, was serving his first term in congress and had served his state in both the assembly and the senate, being minority leader in the latter from 1899 to 1902. He was 69 years old and represented the Sixth New Jersey district.

Mr. Martin had just arrived in Washington from New Jersey. As he stepped off the train he was taken ill. Several bystanders helped him into an office nearby. He died almost as soon as they laid him down there.

Dynamiter Caught.

Redding, Cal., May 6.—With bullet wounds in the leg and hand, Pietro Lissere, who escaped after a rifle encounter with a sheriff's posse at Weed Sunday night, was arrested Monday at a hotel in Sisson. He was a member of a gang of alleged blackhanders who were intercepted as they were about to dynamite a house in which two women and eight children were sleeping.

The alleged purpose of the conspirators was to blackmail $10,000 from the Weed Lumber company on threats of further dynamiting.

NOT READY FOR HEARING YET

Attorneys in Contest Case Are Studying the Ballots.

Attorneys for contestants for the mayor's office were unable today to make any estimates as to the time that will elapse before they will take their cases into court for argument.

The recount was completed over two weeks ago and the inspectors of ballots have completed the report they will submit to the court. The attorneys for the three contesting candidates and for Mayor Prince have copies of the disputed ballots and the delay in pushing the proceedings is due to the deliberation with which they are examining ballots and framing up their arguments.

When the attorneys are ready to proceed the court will set a date for a hearing and then the court battle will begin. On many of the contested ballots there can be no agreement between the attorneys and an order of the court will be required to settle what shall be done with them. On other ballots it is probable agreements will be reached and no contest made on them in court.

The short term contest may appear in court any day. The attorneys are said to be about ready to present their arguments, as the bulk of the ballots held out for submission to the court may be grouped under the one head of ballots invalidated by failure of the voter to comply with the requirement of the charter that four first choice votes for commissioner be marked.

The contesting candidates are satisfied to proceed slowly and carefully in order that every point may be covered and that the decision of the court may be conclusive.

Fighting Diseased Horses.

Manning, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state livestock sanitary board has commenced action in Dunn county against the owners of horses that are afflicted with mange or scabies. There are reports of the disease in many localities of the state and the board wants to exterminate the disease. This will be comparatively easy if prompt action is taken and the animals properly dipped.

Two Generations Now Using It

Nation's Most Popular Laxative Keeping Millions of American Families in Good Health.

There must be genuine merit to an article that has stood the test of two generations of users.

In the field of medicine none has had greater success, nor retained that success to a greater degree, than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is now being used by two generations of people. Its use in families is constantly becoming more general. The reason, primarily, is that it has merit. It is what it represents itself to be, a laxative-tonic; it does not make exaggerated claims nor use coarse language to set forth its virtues.

It is a medicine, but so mild and gentle a medicine that thousands of mothers give it to tiny infants, and yet, in a slightly larger dose, it is equally effective for grownups. It is for any disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels, for constipation no matter how chronic, for dyspepsia no matter how severe, for biliousness, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, headaches, drowsiness after eating and similar complaints arising from a clogged-up condition of the bowels. It is pleasant to the taste and does not gripe. It can be used with safety and good results by anyone at any age or in any condition of health, and that person's health will improve. Every druggist sells it and the price is only fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

Thousands of families throughout the country are never without it in the house, among them Mrs. Clara Lewis, Becks' Store, Ky., who gave it to her baby, Elsie, while teething, and says: "It is the best medicine in the world for the stomach and bowels." She writes that she keeps it in the house for every member of the family, takes it herself and that her mother recovered her health and gained in flesh by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

GOING AROUND THE WORLD

Men and Religion Forward Movement Being Taken to All Nations.

E. W. Peck Writes Earnest Protest Against Philippine Independence.

The Men and Religion Forward Movement, in which many Duluth men are interested, is being taken around the world. A party of leaders in the movement is now in Australia and will move from there to South Africa and then to Europe, arriving in time for the world's Sunday school convention to be held in Switzerland.

E. W. Peck, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A. for Minnesota, is in the party, which is headed by Fred B. Smith and Raymond Robbins. Others are Paul J. Gilbert, Mr. Keeler and Mr. Metcalf. Most of the members of the party are known personally to Duluth people who were interested in the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign here some time ago.

While he was in the Philippines, Mr. Peck wrote an interesting letter to Duluth Y. M. C. A. officials. He described conditions on the island and closed with a protest against Philippine independence. He wrote:

"Are the Philippines ready for independence We spent ten days at Manila, going at one time sixty-five miles into the interior and another 175 miles in the opposite direction. We held forty meetings, visited native villages, talked with teachers, with Bishops Brunt and White, with missionaries, city officials, educated Filipinos, earnest men everywhere. We studied conditions at close range, we met the 'Fallows party' from Washington and conferred with them after their visit of the islands. The cry of old comes to us, 'Will a mother forget her sucking child?'

"No, the Philippines are not ready for independence! Their wisest men do not want it. The United States has begun a good work. To withdraw now would be mental and moral suicide and turn back the clock scores of years. The 500,000 wild men of the North would rejoice and whet their axes with renewed vigor. The ignorant would also rejoice only to plunge into deeper darkness. The Philippines to arrive must have a steady guiding hand at the helm for years. Her schools must be developed, her youth educated, leaders must be developed and trained for great responsibility. As yet they are but imitators. The United States did not seek these islands for greed nor gain. They came as a solemn trust. We are responsible for their future development. Let no man nor nation think lightly of this awful responsibility."

ment can well afford to omit a month this year.

Diatribe on "Rags."

Representative Mondell got permission to offer an amendment providing that all rags imported must be cleaned and sterilized, and delivered a diatribe on "Democratic rags."

"The Democrats propose to admit free of duty," he shouted, "the rags of the world. Rags from the harems of Turkey, rags from the slums of London, rags from the purlieus of Naples and Rome, rags from cholera and bubonic plague camps of the Balkan peninsula will be given to our people free. I know of nothing more logical in a Democratic tariff bill than free rags! We must have the rags of all the world to come here to clothe our people, driven from employment by the Democratic tariff rates!"

Representative Underwood pointed out that Mr. Mondell's amendment was unnecessary because the rags were cleaned before being admitted to this country.

Senators Load Up.

As the bill approaches its day for passage in the house the senate is completing plans for its consideration. Many Republican senators have drafted amendments. Senator Sherman of Illinois has one to provide that no provisions of the income tax shall apply to any insurance company or association which conducts its business solely upon mutual plan and only for the benefit of its policyholders or members.

Free Flour Attacked.

Republicans from the Northwest attacked the wheat and flour provisions of the bill.

Representative Underwood defended free flour, declaring that the Northwest would not be injured, and an amendment to the bill was defeated. Efforts to take lumber from the free list and alter the wood pulp and print paper were finally defeated.

A Democratic-Republican love feast was held as consideration of the taxing provisions of the bill drew to a close. The occasion was the birthday of Representative Underwood.

Minority Leader Mann announced that he wished to put aside partisan feeling for a time and talk personally. He told the house that fifty-one years ago "one of the ablest men in public life first saw the light of day," and congratulated the Democratic party and the American people that during the fifty-one years of his life "there has grown to greatness and bigness the able gentleman from Alabama, Mr. Underwood."

Amid a roar of applause from both sides of the chamber, Mr. Underwood thanked Mr. Mann for his congratulations.

In a short time consideration of the remaining paragraphs of the free list was completed and the income tax section of the bill was reached.

Wants Duty on Bibles.

During the debate on the free list an unsuccessful effort was made by Representative Moore of Pennsylvania to have Bibles taken from the free list. He paid tribute to the Scriptures, but said he saw no reason why Bibles of foreign manufacture should be admitted free of duty for sale in this country.

Representative Stevens of Minnesota wanted harness and saddlery put on the dutiable list and Representative Gardner of Massachusetts and others sought to impose duties on boots and shoes. This brought Representative Peters of Massachusetts to his feet with a declaration that free boots and shoes would place the American shoe industry on a better basis than ever before.

were found saturated with oil.

Miss Nina Boyle and Miss Anna Munro, militant suffragettes who were arrested last evening while attempting to hold a meeting in Hyde park, when brought up at the police court today chose fourteen days' imprisonment in preference to the payment of a fine of $5 each. "Of course, we will not pay," they told the magistrate.

Disputes Mrs. Belmont.

There is little likelihood that the American suffragettes will adopt the militant methods which Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont threatens to introduce on her return to New York. This was the opinion given by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International League of Woman Suffragists, at the reception in her honor.

Mrs. Catt said she had often been asked since her arrival in London whether American suffragettes were going to undertake a militant campaign.

A bomb containing sufficient nitroglycerin to demolish the great building was found among the packages collected by the parcel post at the Southeastern district postoffice yesterday. No clue was obtained, but the police attach suspicion to the militant suffragettes.

The metallic sound of the parcel aroused suspicion among the employes, several hundred of whom were on duty at the time. The package was plunged into water and the police, who were called, found it filled with gunpowder, a quantity of slugs and a tube of nitroglycerin.

Wrecked Newspaper Office.

A militant suffragette effected an entrance to the Standard newspaper offices late Monday and ran amuck through several of the rooms, smashing furniture. The woman was finally ejected by the police.

The Standard asserts that the poisoning of the Pekinese champion, Choo-Tai, the property of Miss Violet Aston-Cross, last week, was the work of militant suffragettes. The dog died soon after winning the championship at the Southampton show.

EACH WORD SAVED THE COUNTY $1,000

SENATOR THOMAS M. PUGH.

Senator Pugh probably made the richest speech at the recent session of the legislature, when he saved St. Louis county $20,000, the cost of an election, by beating the county division bill in a speech twenty words long—at the rate of $1,000 a word. The speech was as follows "Mr. President and Senators, I want you all to stand by me and Duluth, and vote 'No' on this bill." And they did.

FINNISH DAILY WILL BUILD HERE

Site Purchased for Publishing Plant By Tyomies Company.

The Tyomies Publishing company has purchased a site for a publishing plant in Duluth, and within the next few months Duluth will be the home of one of the few Finnish daily papers in this part of the country.

The site consists of two lots on Sixth avenue west and Second street. They were bought from Adaline Hammond for $15,000. They are held in the name of the president of the company, Gust William Toppari for the present, as the company is a Michigan corporation and cannot hold property in this state until it qualifies.

During the coming summer a building costing about $28,000 will be erected on this site, and the head office of the company transferred from Hancock to Duluth. The company now has a branch here, and owing to the fact that it can get better mail and telegraph service here, the paper will be published in Duluth in future.

WILL TAKE TRIP TO FINLAND

Party of 100 Will Leave Duluth on May 24.

More than 100 Finnish-Americans will leave Duluth May 24 for a trip to Finland, where they will spend the summer months and return in the fall.

The party is in charge of Otto Arlund of this city. Most of the members of the party are from Duluth and the Copper Country, but there are also fifteen from Chicago.

OFFICIALS IN DARK

As to Intent of Indian Pow-Wow at Cass Lake Today.

Cloquet, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mike Diver left yesterday for Cass Lake to represent the second Indian council Were the bands of Indians organized as of old Diver would be the chief of the Fond du Lacs in this section, and he holds considerable influence over them as it is. Officials at the local Indian office say they know little as to what is the real issue of the meeting at Cass Lake, but the Indians hereabouts say that one of the principal questions to come up will be the handling of the Indian funds by the Indians, instead of by the government and the effecting of an Indian organization.

Work on the observation tower in the Indian village has begun. The tower will be fifty feet in height and located near the village church. Beside the three miles of new road at Sawyer, work on which has been begun by the Indian department, the Indian office hopes to have funds enough to make a road across the state experimental tract to connect the new road from the Indian village that was built last fall with the road to Sawyer. For the Indians going from the village to Sawyer this road would shorten the distance several miles. There is but one priest on the reservation, and in taking care of his parish this road would be considerable of an aid as he has charge of the church in the village, at Sawyer and at Brookston.

Don't Admit Light-Decayed Beer Into Your House

You must drink beer not only made pure, but kept pure.

Purity exceeds all other costs in our brewery. We even filter the air in which Schlitz is cooled. We scald every tub, keg and barrel, every pipe and pump, every time we use it.

Then, instead of putting pure beer in light glass bottles we use Brown Bottles.

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives the best protection against light. The Brown Bottle protects Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

We began in a hut, sixty years ago. Today our agencies dot the earth. Our output exceeds a million barrels a year. More and more people each year are drinking Schlitz.

Why don't you, too, drink only pure beer—Schlitz in Brown Bottles.

See that crown or cork is branded "Schlitz."

LOST ON RESERVATION.

North Dakotan Woman Thrown From Horse Has Thrilling Time.

Shields, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lost for three days on the reservation, Mrs. Joe Burdick was finally located twenty miles from the place where she was thrown from her horse and deserted by the animal. She was riding on the reservation when the accident occurred. When she failed to return the second day a general alarm was sent out and she was located by the Indians. She was little the worse for her three days' wandering alone and from the decidedly unpleasant experiences she had undergone.

GOVERNOR HANNA WILL SPEAK AT DICKINSON.

Dickinson, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The chief speaker at the annual meeting of the Dickinson Commercial club Wednesday night will be Governor Hanna, who will discuss the location of the new state normal at Dickinson, as provided for in a bill that passed the last legislature, and also the matter of a state business or publicity agent.

At the meeting there will also be a discussion of the proposed short line railroad to connect Dickinson with the Milwaukee at Mott or some other point approximately fifty miles south.

APPOINTED RECEIVER FOR PIANO CONCERN.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—John M. Bradford of St. Paul Monday was appointed co-receiver of the Segerstrom Piano company with George D. Norris of Minneapolis. The company is a Minnesota corporation, with a factory at Menomonie, Wis. The receivership was decided upon to prevent creditors pressing for preference of claims.

The disclosed assets of the corporation are $640,000 and the liabilities $375.

WOUNDED MAN IS HELD AS BANDIT.

Kansas City, Mo., May 6.—A man suffering from a bullet wound was arrested near Birmingham, Mo., today in connection with the hold-up last Thursday night of a Kansas City Southern passenger train here, but when brought to police headquarters here and examined further was discharged.

Detectives Truman and Farrell, accompanied by a posse of constables and farmers, continued today searching for a wounded bandit in the vicinity of Excelsior Springs, Mo.

Buys Merricourt, N. D., Bank.

Merricourt, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred Heinrich of Ashley, J. H. Wishek of Wishek, C. Becker and T. S. Johnstone have purchased from the Crabtees the First State Bank of Merricourt. Mr. Heinrichs, who was for some years the register of deeds of McIntosh county, will be the active manager.

Iron Country Pay Days.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 6.—The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company will begin paying its employes next Monday the 12th, when the workmen at the Lake, Hard Ore and Cliffs Shafts properties will receive their checks. The employes of the Salisbury mine and those employed in the North Lake district will be paid the following day. The workmen at the company's mines in Negaunee will receive their checks on Wednesday, the 14th, and the pay rolls at the Swanzey range mines will be squared on the 15th.

German Catholics Meet.

Decatur, Ill., May 6.—German Catholics, at the meeting of the Staats Vereinsbund, indorsed the activities of the American Federation of Labor based on Christian principles. They also indorsed its antagonistic attitude towards Socialism. To preserve the language of the fatherland among the young men, the vereinsbund voted against separating the young men's societies into an independent division of the state organization.

Sixty-three Farmers Fined.

Moosejaw, Sask., May 6.—Sixty-three farmers in the Gravelburg district, south of here, were convicted and fined for having set prairie fires which caused many thousand dollars' damage last week. The fines ranged from $5 to $200.

To Sell Ashland Boat Plant.

Ashland, Wis., May 6.—The Outing Boat company's plant will be sold at public auction today, to satisfy claims amounting to $1,020.67. If the sale realizes anything above that amount the surplus will be divided among the bondholders.

Crazed By Man's Disappearance.

Jamestown, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Roy Crawford, under arrest here, is believed to have gone insane over the disappearance of C. Rutherford, a Northern Pacific brakeman, who was lost between Bismarck and Mandan several weeks ago, and whom it is believed was murdered and thrown into the Missouri river.

Crawford was arrested after creating a disturbance near here. Crawford sought protection from supposed enemies whom he said were going to hang him for the Rutherford disappearance.

Change Bottineau Fair Dates.

Bottineau, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because the dates conflicted with those of the North Dakota state fair, the Bottineau County Fair association has changed the time of its fair to July 30 and 31, one week following the Grand Forks event.

Why Endure Sore Feet Here Is Positive Easy Cure

The following is said to be the surest and quickest cure known to science for all foot ailments: "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for fully fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." The effect is really wonderful. All soreness goes instantly; the feet feel delightful. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. It gives immediate relief for sore bunions, sweaty, smelly and aching feet. A twenty-five cent box of Calocide is said to be sufficient to cure the worst feet. It works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Don't waste time on uncertain remedies. Any druggist has Calocide compound in stock or he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MORE CLUBS ARE FORMED

Several New Commercial Organizations Are Started in North Dakota.

In Different Communities the Booster Movement Is Well Advanced.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several Commercial clubs have been organized in North Dakota through the efforts of the State Federation of Commercial Clubs, according to C. W. Graves of this city, secretary of the state association.

At Cando a club has been organized with a very good membership. J. S. Conyers is president, C. W. Slocum, vice president; D. F. McLeod, secretary, and R. D. Gillies, treasurer. Last night the club held a meeting to formulate definite plans for the work, and it was decided to give considerable attention to the question of transportation facilities.

Commercial clubs in Western Walsh county have made arrangements for a unique road building campaign. On a date, not yet fixed, the clubs of Park River, Lankin, Fairdale, Fordville and Conway, will do road work, a certain district having been set aside for each city. It is expected to cover the entire district with a fine network of good roads through this movement.

The Park River Commercial club has elected Dan Johnson, president; K. J. Farup, vice president; H. H. Hewitt, secretary, and R. J. Holmes treasurer. The club is in favor of the concentration of expenditures for road improvement, as suggested by the Great Northern railroad recently.

Next Monday evening the Mandan Commercial club will hold a big meeting to elect officers. There will be a banquet.

At a splendid meeting of the business men of Bowbells the Commercial club was reorganized. George H. Carey was elected president and H. L. Lyon, secretary.

Protest Against Underwood Bill.

The Lisbon Commercial club adopted resolutions of protest against the Underwood tariff bill, with particular reference to the question of duty on wheat and none on flour. The club has also joined in the movement for 1-cent postage. Plans are on foot for the entertainment of several conventions there this summer.

John E. Paulson was re-elected president of the Hillsboro Commercial club, and O. Dammen secretary, at the annual meeting. A Fourth of July celebration and race meet will be conducted under the direction of the club.

At Jaunita, on the new Great Northern line in Foster county, a Commercial club has been organized with the following officers: President, Hugh S. Free; vice president, E. F. Blank; secretary, C. A. Armstrong; treasurer, G. E. Raebel.

WILLIAMS COUNTY JOINS MOVEMENT

La Moure County Will Also Get Into Better Farming Game.

Williston, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Williams county has joined the Better Farming Movement. Secretary Thomas F. Cooper of the state organization was here and made an address. He found a great deal of enthusiasm. Under the new state law the county commissioners made an appropriation to cover a part of the expenses. Fifteen directors were selected and U. L. Burdick, former lieutenant governor, was made president and F. P. Bergman, secretary. Secretary Cooper promised to send a field man here just as soon as one could be procured.

La Moure To Join.

La Moure, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—La Moure county is planning to join the state-wide Better Farming Movement. Secretary Cooper is here today for the purpose of organizing the farmers of this county. The commissioners are favorable to making an appropriation. This is, perhaps, the last county that can get into the state organization this year, as the funds provided by the movement are practically up to limit. There are twenty-two field men in the state now. Secretary Cooper will place another in Williams county and one here if the people wish, which will exhaust his resources.

Stomach So Bad Couldn't Sell Goods

"I have been a salesman forty years. I ruined my digestion snatching hasty meals at lunch counters and hotels until I got so bad that after a meal I suffered untold tortures until the attack of dyspepsia passed off," says Mr. T. W. Bush, a well-known shoe drummer of Cincinnati, Ohio.

"A few months ago a friend asked me to try Samuel's "3-P" Capsules and now I can eat corn beef and cabbage, mince pie, or anything I want, and I feel as chipper as a school boy."

You, too, can get instant relief from the distress and pain of fermented, undigested food, flatulency, bloated, gassy and sour stomach, eructations, bad breath, nervousness and dyspepsia. Try this perscription after the formula of a famous French specialist, containing Pepsin, Papain, Glycero-Phosphates and other harmless ingredients, put up in easy-to-take, sealed gelatin capsules, always fresh and pleasant to take and producing the same effect as digestive juices secreted by a healthy, normal stomach; and they act the same way, at the same time restoring digestive nerves to a healthy condition.

The first Samuel's "Three-P" Capsule you take gives you instant relief. A 25-cent package at any drug store will prove to you how needless is all your dieting and stomach distress, or write The Samuel Chemical company, Cincinnati, Ohio, for a free trial box.

COL. SIEGFRIED HAS WAR RECORD

North Dakota's Commissioner to Gettysburg of Revolutionary Stock.

Fargo, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. D. F. Siegfried of Fargo, who has been selected by Governor Hanna as the commissioner for North Dakota to represent this state at the reunion at Gettysburg this summer, has a personal and ancestral war record that should be satisfactory to everyone. His great grandfather was a colonel in the war of the Revolution, his grandfather was a major in the war of 1812, his father was a captain in the Mexican war and Mr. Siegfried, himself was a soldier in the Civil war.

Mr. Siegfried will be in general charge of the arrangements and officially represent the state at the reunion. He is a widely known veteran, has been commander of the state G. A. R. and is a member of the board of trustees for the soldiers' home at Lisbon. About 300 are expected to attend from this state.

REDUCED IN RANK.

St. Paul Fire Department Lieutenant Is Made Truckman.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—Lieut. John Kill of hook and ladder corps No. 9 was reduced to a truckman and attached to hook and ladder No. 7 by Chief R. J. Niles Monday.

The chief said the reduction was made on the grounds of inefficiency for the good of the service. Kill has been in the department about eighteen years. Five men were promoted and a long list of transfers announced.

GOVERNOR MAY ACT.

Expected He Will Fill Some Positions Before Going East.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—Before Governor Eberhart goes East tomorrow evening it is expected he will appoint seven members of the education commission, the five commissioners to purchase a statue for Minnesota's first senator, Henry M. Rice, for Statuary hall, Washington, and the secretary of the minimum wage commission.

It is not believed the immigration commission will meet before the governor leaves to name a successor to H. J. Maxfield.

Interest is manifest in the choice of the governor for secretary of the wage commission.

The law provides that this position must be filled by a woman and three are after the place, Miss Eliza Evans and Miss Josephine Schain, Minneapolis attorneys, and Miss Jessie V. Rhodes, former clerk of the state board of visitors.

Second Bottle Proves Undoing.

Minot, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Officials have been unable to gain any clue to the identity of the men who fleeced Hans Trettin of Crosby, N. D., out of $100 here. Trettin claims that two bottles of whiskey were used in the game. From the first bottle he felt no evil effects, but the second bottle, offered him on the new round, put him to sleep. He awakened to find $100 in cash and $400 in drafts missing.

BACK TO FATHERLAND.

Prosperous North Dakota Scandinavians Going Home on Visit.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—One hundred and fifty Scandinavians, grown wealthy in North Dakota, passed through here Monday in special cars, enroute to the fatherland, where they will remain for six months or a year. Most of the travelers were pioneers in the movement West and made their first trip to North Dakota in prairie schooners. The party included a number of bankers, merchants and ministers prominent in the Northwest.

OBJECTS TO "SECRECY."

Retiring Commissioner Maxfield Scores Immigration Board's Methods.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—In a formal statement issued Monday, Immigration Commissioner H. J. Maxfield, who resigned last Friday after a stormy session of the board of immigration, severely criticized several members of the board for "pursuing a policy of secrecy" in regard to injury received from prospective settlers. Mr. Maxfield, who returned from North Dakota yesterday, said he had no plans for the future, his resignation taking effect Aug. 1.

He declared he always had been in favor of throwing open all correspondence and inquiries of his office to the public.

ST. PAUL MAN HELD AS WHITE SLAVER.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—George Savage, a real estate man of St. Paul, arrested last week with two negresses and charged with violation of the Federal white slave law, had his preliminary hearing Monday before United States Commissioner Charles S. Spencer. Savage, with one of the women, was bound over to the June grand jury. The other was released.

WAS STATE OFFICER.

Soo Conductor Who Arrested Man Was Acting for State.

Bismarck, N. D.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Soo railroad is held to be not liable for damages to George Houston, arrested in Minot some time ago at the instance of a Soo line conductor, while Houston was standing on the Soo depot platform, about five minutes after he had alighted from a train.

The conductor, the court holds, was not acting as a representative of the Soo company, but as a policeman for the state pursuant to the duty imposed on him under the provisions of chapter 228, laws of 1911, relating to intoxicated persons riding on trains. The lower court held for Houston, but the supreme court reverses the verdict and finds for the railroad company.

MEET AFTER YEARS.

La Crosse Woman's Brother Calls After Forty Years' Absence.

La Crosse, Wis., May 6.—"You can't come in here, and if you don't go away I'll call the police," angrily spoke Mrs. Isabella Short, a well-to-do La Crosse woman, when called to the door of her home Monday morning by a strange man who endeavored to gain entrance, but refused to give his name and business. Then the visitor gave his name. He was Alexander Barnes of Ellensburg, Wash., a brother of Mrs. Short, who had not seen his sister in forty years and had decided to surprise her.

BIGAMIST ESCAPES.

South Dakotan Who Married Clay County Girl Already Had Wife.

Moorhead, May 6.—Special to The Herald.)—John Daque, wanted here for bigamy, evaded the officers and escaped Saturday night to Canada. Jan. 16, of this year, he married Miss Margaret Irwin, daughter of a well known Clay county farmer.

Recently he went away on a business trip and told his wife to open his letters. Among them was one from his mother at Mitchell, S. D., upbraiding him for deserting his former wife. Mrs. Daque number two took the matter up with local authorities and with wife number one. A warrant was issued and Daque was traced to Barnesville, where he evaded the officers.

DAKOTA COUNTY COMMISSIONER DIES.

Hastings, Minn., May 6.—John Cahill, chairman of the board of county commissioners of Dakota county, died at his home in Rosemount Sunday from dilation of the heart after a brief illness. He had been engaged in the hardware business for some time past and quite prominent in business and social circles. He is survived by a wife and two sons.

Ramsey County Road Appropriation.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—The Ramsey county commissioners Monday set aside $5,000 from this year's road and bridge fund for improving the Dood road, in Dakota county, as part of the proposed capital, national highway from St. Paul to the Iowa state line.

Governor Invited to Speak.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—Governor Eberhart has been invited to make the commencement address at the Ames agricultural college, Ames, Iowa.

A letter from President Pearson of the institution says the governor's active interest in the cause of farm betterment led to his being selected. The date is June 5.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—North Dakota's new law which gives freeholders the power to permit or refuse to permit the establishment of a hospital in a residence district of a city, is being invoked in Grand Forks against a company which anticipates establishing a "liquor cure" sanitarium here. C. E. Lynch of Minneapolis is here in the interests of the hospital.

Minot, N. D.—The clearings last week amounted to $156,933.28, against $176,945.13 for the previous week, a decrease of $20,011.85.

Fargo, N. D.—Accomplishments of Norway's sons in North Dakota will be featured in North Dakota's exhibit at the Centennial exhibition in Christiania, Norway, in 1914, according to the plans talked over by Governor L. B. Hanna and C. J. Hambro, representative of the Norwegian government, who has been Fargo's guest for several days.

Cavalier, N. D.—Preparations are now being made for the fifth annual Pembina county track and field meet, which will be held in this city Friday, May 9.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Memorial services for Decoration day will be held on May 25 at the Presbyterian church and the sermon will be preached by Rev. W. H. Matthews, a member of the Sons of Veterans. This was decided by the members of the G. A. R. and the Sons of Veterans Saturday night.

Fargo, N. D.—The Loyal Order of Moose installed the following officers: Dictator, H. J. Lettord; vice dictator, R. H. Smith; prelate, H. M. Wells; secretary, E. H. Strehmel; treasurer, Lowell Smith; sergeant-at-arms, R. Rels; past dictator, W. T. Stevenson; inner guard, A. Arneson; outer guard, Seth B. Gilland; trustees, Frank W. Johnson, Harry Lashkowitz, Roy Flagg.

Shields, N. D.—Monday of last week was pay day for the Indians of Porcupine district, in the neighborhood of $4,500 being distributed there at the rate of $12 per capita.

Devils Lake, N. D.—The Devils Lake commission has asked the Soo railroad to put a guard along their track at the point where the auto accident happened in which Editor George Chambers lost his life.

Bismarck, N. D.—E. A. Hughes has let a contract to John Larson for the erection of a large garage at the corner of Second and Main streets, and it will be occupied by Chris Henzler as soon as completed. The building is said to be the best one of its kind ever erected in the state. It is 75 by 100 feet and will be absolutely fireproof.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Medford — The 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Loudeau, while returning home Saturday night, was thrown from a horse and instantly killed.

Neenah—The bottom has dropped out of the potato market here. Farmers are selling their potatoes on the streets at 40 cents a bushel.

Hudson — Frank Kroll, a saloon keeper of Glenwood town, was arraigned on Saturday charged with selling liquor to a minor. Kroll said the beer was sold on the father's order. His plea was later changed to guilty. He paid a fine of $50 and costs.

New Richmond — Raymond Palmer and Floyd Brazelton, charged with stealing a horse from Elmer Skagen, have been taken to jail at Hudson.

Milwaukee — Rosina Samsone, aged 4 years, 729 Jackson street, died at the home of her parents, 729 Vliet street, Sunday from the effects of scalds which she received when she fell into a tub of boiling water at home on Saturday.

Waukesha—James F. Fleming, aged 82, died at his home here Saturday. Mr. Fleming was a member of Company F, Twenty-fourth Wisconsin regiment, in the Civil war. He is survived by his wife and four children. The children are: James W. Fleming, Mrs. Virginia Allan and Mrs. Joseph Schumacher, Milwaukee, and Mrs. F. M. Singer, Tumas, Wash.

Washburn — Twenty-five additional families for the Holland colony being established in the town of Clover, in the northern part of Bayfield county, are expected to arrive this week direct from Holland, which will give the new settlement over fifty families.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Houghton — Friends of Miss Alice Cullyford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cullyford, formerly of Houghton but now of Los Angeles, have been advised of her engagement to marry Hugh Miller Bole of the latter city.

Hancock — H. L. Chamberlain has arrived at the Quincy mine to become chief of the inspection safety department, a department provided for the underground and surface employes. The regulations call for an inspection of the underground workings daily by the chief or one of his assistants, this order being laid that an inspection of the work in the shafts shows the rules are followed to the letter.

Calumet — George W. Schmidt, Louis Warneke, William L. Springer and Joseph Dochterman, Chicago lumbermen, were here Saturday to inspect the old sawmill plant and site at Dollar Bay with a view to purchasing it. The object of the Chicago people is to establish at Dollar Bay, utilizing the old sawmill as a nucleus, a box factory.

SUPERIOR TAKES FIRST HOME GAME OF SEASON

McCarthy's Wild Heave Gives Red Legs Undeserved 2 to 0 Victory—Big Parade, Monster Crowd and the Mayor's Frenzied Throw "Also Ran."

(BY BRUCE.)

The old baseball thing was given the first home airing for the 1913 season yesterday afternoon at Athletic, some 5,000 genial souls, including women, being present to dedicate that part of the park that is new and give spirit and eclat to the occasion. Duluth and Superior were the opposing teams, we losing the domestic initial by the score of 2 to 0.

Before progressing further with the details of the contest, permit us to switch to the other festivities that had to do with the opening.

Following convention and the band, the parade started from the city hall where many other things have been started within recent dates.

P. McDonnell, who has been intimately associated with many public movements, furnished the rig that carried the band. Seated comfortably in the conveyance that carries material proof of Mr. McDonnell's contracts, the Germans and other members of the band dispensed sweet and lilting tunes most of the way to the ball park, except when the pavement was too rough. Mr. McDonnell.

Following behind the band were two baseball teams, Mayor Prince and the commission form of government, many automobiles containing smiling men with green hats and radiant women with greater variety and grander color scheme in the hat line. Bringing up the rear, which was indeed an excellent place for them, were many motorcycles with riders. Occasionally one of the riders would dismount to start his machine, but otherwise the line of march was not seriously disturbed.

Many fans were immensely pleased with the new park. Passing through the grandstand, your correspondent secured many testimonials in this regard, some of which may be printed later. On with the description.

Cuddled in a corner, the band sat and talked of Wagner, the cheese now being served in several of the free lunches, and occasionally played. Music lends eclat to any occasion.

Through the new entrance of the new part of the park streamed hundreds of people. It would not have been possible to use this term last senson. The chug chug and other noises of the cheaper grades of automobiles filled the air and made the atmosphere vibrant.

The Small Boys.

Both bleachers were filled and the overflow in the shape of small boys and a few who were personally acquainted with Hanby O'Brien, streamed out in front of the fence. Clear to the top row of the grandstands fans and fannesses sat and stood, some consumed with curiosity and others consuming peanuts.

Standing off in front of the grandstand one would be greeted with a riot of color, for it seemed as if many new costumes were held in leash until yesterday. Anyway you want to take it she was some grand day.

Horns and shrill tenor voices predominated. The moving picture men gave further animation to the scene. The click click of the camera men sounded somewhat like the repeating of small arms or the registering of a bum 10-cent piece by the new clerk.

After the two teams had been properly photoed and several of the most prominent fans had the opportunity of shaking hands with some of the leading members of the teams, Mayor Prince strode—aye, that's the word—to the center of the diamond with a baseball in his hand.

Removing his hat, as per custom, he addressed soft spoken words to weather man, baseball management through the medium of Harry Blume and the baseball public of Duluth. Then his honor wound up and let the brand new spheroid go.

The pill went with lots of smoke, speaking of balls pitched by mayors, but veered and went to the right considerably. But she was some heave, now believe us.

Hicken's Lid.

Commissioner Hicken was seen in the offing and some fans requested him to remove his own lid, even if he refused to be lenient in the matter of the lid possessed by the city.

At several other places were seen several other commissioners, leading bankers, progressive merchants, conservative stock brokers, philanthropic commission merchants, kindly coal men and several shrewd real estate men, who calculated during the opening festivities the cost of the dirt dumped upon the infield and outer works. She was some day, let us again repeat.

Henry Clay Blancke of Sandusky, Ohio, which is down in the region of the "candle lights are shining" country, was selected to do the mound labor for us, and he did noble, did Clay. Mr. Withers, which is an excellent name for a race horse, pill propeller for our hated rivals, and like friend Blancke, he was also there.

The denouement of this little drama comes in the first act. Much as we hate to do this, the exigencies of the situation compel us to shove McCarthy into the role of the villain.

McCathy is a "heiva" name for a villain.

After Persch and Cullis had been retired on harmless little grounders, young Vigerust came up and whacked one over the region of second base. Monahan followed with one in almost the same spot and the towpaths were populated. All would have been well—but then what's the use. Old friend Fred Curtis dumped a little one in front of the home pan and McCarthy heaved with rare enthusiasm but with sights fixed at the 2,000-yard mark, and when the pill was relayed back to the diamond by Samuel Sickamore Meniece, two runs were across. Mr. Dunn ended the inning by fliting to Elmer Smith of Milan, Ohio.

Scoreless Rounds.

Heart aches and scoreless rounds followed this incident. Both pitchers have much and the demon hitters were forced to wait until another day for sweet swats and increased averages, so dear to the heart of both the natural and unnatural hitter.

We might have threatened in the second. In this round Samuel Sickamore Meniece strode to the plate and immediate and tumultuous applause broke loose. Mr. Meniece did the right thing in hitting to deep center for two bases, but he did the wrong thing in trying to make third on the savage and well directed clout. He was retired through the heave of Mr. Persch and the able execution of Mr. McCauley.

Only once did we get a man to third. In the seventh round, after the mayor and the rest of the fans had stood up and generous rooting had lent encouragement, Rhoades and Smith were walked after Meniece had been retired, McCarthy forced Smith at the second station and Rhoades scampered on to station No. 3. It was up to Schreiber to spill the beans, but he responded with a hit to Mr. McCauley and the fat and red-headed gentleman promptly heaved the runner out.

In the third, young Schreiber doubled and was shunted around to third, only to have the side peter out on him. These little occurrences sure are wearing on the constitution.

Henry Clay Blancke had so much stuff that he was forever pulling himself out of holes, like Bunyon. In the third he walked Persch and rudely hit young Mr. Cullis in the region of the third rib. Vigerust sacrificed and it looked bad. At this point Henry Clay Blancke struck out Mr. Monahan and forced ancient Fred Curtis to ground out.

Again in the fifth with a man on third our conscientious young hurler whiffed Messrs. Cullis and Vigerust. Again in the seventh with a man on third Henry Clay Blancke again whiffed Cullis. Some twirling.

Morris, Minn., Brackett hit for nuts and grass. The horses ate the grass.

* * *

Young Bill Dunn had six assists at second base and he was compelled to move out of his tracks on two of his helps. Bill is faster than ever this year.

* * *

It might be remarked that there will have to be considerable more work on the diamond before it can be truthfully classed as fast.

MINNEAPOLIS WINS THE OPENER FROM ST. PAUL

Minneapolis, Minn., May 6.—Minneapolis and St. Paul met here yesterday in the first of the intercity series of the new Northern league, the Bronks defeating the Little Saints by the score of 4 to 3 in one of the best games that has been played here to date.

In the second inning the Charley Jones aggregation piled up a lead of three runs and it looked as if the game was going to the visitors, as Mike Kramer was pitching good baseball. But steady hitting upon the part of the Bronchos overcame the lead of the Saints and enabled Unglaub and company to nose out a victory in the eighth inning.

Both teams played airtight baseball, some clever fielding upon both sides cutting off runs. The score:

St. Paul	0 3 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	3	8	1

VIRGINIA DROPS FIRST CONTEST TO WINONA.

Winona, Minn., May 6.—Winona defeated the Virginia Ore Diggers in the opening game of the series here yesterday by the score of 9 to 5. The visitors could not hit at opportune times and that tells the story of their defeat. Watkins proved easy for the home batters and was found for thirteen blows. Both teams played some great baseball in the field. Score:

WINNIPEG TAKES FIRST FROM GRAND FORKS.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 6.—Winnipeg took the opening game of the present series from the locals here yesterday by the score of 5 to 2. Moe kept the hits of the Flickers well scattered, and while he was hit harder than Jarnigan, the Fosterites found it difficult to solve the curves of the opposing slabman when hits would have meant scores. Jarnigan was not in his best form, but he held the visitors to three hits. Score:

NOTES OF THE SOIREE

Mr. Persch was the first man at bat and registered the first out of the pastime. Meniece was credited with the first putout of the contest and Henry Clay Blancke with the first assist. Vigerust registered the first hit. Persch received the first base on balls and Sam Meniece was the first player to hit for extra bases. Red McCauley was the first to whiff and Elmer Smith of Milan, Ohio, caught the first ball in the outfield. Mr. Persch, among other firsts, also had the first stolen base of the afternoon. It might also be stated that McCarthy had the first error of the day.

"Mickey" MacDonald, sporting editor of the Superior Telegram, graced the occasion with his presence. Let us add that he came and departed in an automobile. Welcome to our city, Mickademus.

* * *

In the fourth inning Mr. Benrud, formerly of Eau Claire, hit a long and ruckish one to left field. Pushing several troublesome small boys out of his way and gingerly threading his way through the dense population in his territory, our Mister McGraw pulled down the hit and received much applause as he benched for the inning.

Mr. Perry Werden was busy before the contest greeting old friends in the stands. The acquaintance of Mr. Werden extends even to Nett Lake, as, like Uncle Billy Rigg, Perry is one of the most promising and promiscuous fishermen in this part of the country. Perry says he refuses to put some players out of the game as this act would strengthen the team he desired to punish.

As Bill Dunn, the hero of the battle of Bull Run, was passing the grand stand before the game, some one informed him that he was holding his age well. Bill thanked the informant for those few words. While a particularly frank and open youth, Bill hates to be ruthlessly chided regarding the passing of the seasons.

One lady back of us said it was a pity Samuel Sickamore Meniece didn't get the throw of Mr. McCarthy. If Samuel had possessed at that moment the ladder of the sign painter in right field it may have been possible that he could prevented the impulsive heave to the automobiles in right.

A large and open backed tally-ho carried some of the members of the thirty-three degree lodge to the contest. Two teams pulled the load and during quiet intervals of the contest the members of the party fed on peanuts and grass. The horses ate the grass.

Allows Two Hits.

New York, May 6.—The New York Americans closed their first home stay without winning a game on the local grounds. They were beaten again by the Athletics yesterday 8 to 1. Fisher and Plank had a pitchers' battle until the eighth inning, when the Highlanders crumpled and the visitors scored four runs. Plank held the Highlanders to two hits, which came in the fifth inning. One of the hits was for a home run and was made by Sweeney. Cree made a wonderful catch on Oldring in the third, fumbling the ball while he was lying on the ground. Score:

Millers Win Final.

Toledo, Ohio, May 6.—Bill Burns outpitched Lefty George in the pinches while his support was also a little better, which enabled Minneapolis to take the odd game of the series here yesterday, 3 to 2. Burns did not have to work hard except with men on bases. In the eighth, three Toledo players were on the paths, but the best Saucer could do was to hit to the pitcher. Score:

Scores Four Runs.

Columbus, Ohio, May 6.—Outfielder Bonnin of Columbus, in yesterday's game, which was taken from Kansas City by a score of 8 to 4, hit Rhoades, for a double and a triple. Off Schlitzer, he got a single and a pass. He scored four runs, Pitcher Davis twice struck out Carr with runners on bases. Score:

EIGHT STARTERS FOR KENTUCKY DERBY.

Louisville, Ky., May 6.—It was regarded as practically certain here today that the renewal of the Kentucky derby classic, May 10, would see at least eight starters at the barrier, the largest derby field since 1909, when 3-year-olds went to the post. The horses regarded as certain starters and their owners are:

Ten Point, A. L. Aste; Foundation, C. W. McKenna; Leochares, J. W. Schorr; Yankee Notions, H. K. Knapp; Lord Marshall, J. O. and G. H. Keene; Donerail, T. P. Hayes; Prince Hermis, Lew Marion and Jimmy Gill owned by Doerhoefer and West.

It was still uncertain today that C. F. Buschemeyer's Hawthorn, mentioned as a prominent contender, would start, although announcement was made from the Lexington stables, where the horse has been sick for several days, that he had completely recovered.

Three Home Runs.

Philadelphia, May 6.—Three home run drives by Magee and Cravath off Marquard's delivery gave Philadelphia yesterday's game with New York, 6 to 3, and registered a clean sweep for the home team in the series of four contests with McGraw's team. Cravath, in the second and Magee in the fourth, put the ball into the left field bleachers for four baggers. In the sixth New York tied the score on singles by Doyle and Merkle, Knabe's muff of a throw in and Herzog's single. In the same inning, Knabe's double and a pass to Lobert were followed by Magee's second home run, and Cravath's single and Doolan's triple added another tally before the session closed. McCormick's single and Herzog's double gave New York another run in the eighth. Ames took Marquard's place in the eighth. Score:

Play Extra Inning.

Brooklyn, May 6.—James held Brooklyn hitless for six innings yesterday and runless for seven, after which the locals got busy with his offerings and won a spirited 10-inning game by 3 to 2.

Moran's muff and wild throw in the seventh let in a brace of tallies for Boston. In the ninth Ragan was called to the rescue of Curtis and retired the visitors in quick succession in the final two innings. Brooklyn tied the score in the eighth through Smith's double, Fisher's single, two outs and an error by Maranville. Fisher started the tenth with a hit. Erwin's bunt rolled safe. Kirkpatrick, batting for Ragan, was hit by the first pitched ball. Moran forced Fisher, but Cutshaw sent home the winning run with a clean single to center. Pitcher Rudolph, from Toronto, joined the Boston team today. Score:

MAY PERMIT STOVALL TO PLAY THIS YEAR

Ban Johnson Issues Statement Regarding Conduct of Brown's Manager.

Chicago, May 6.—George Stovall, deposed as manager of the St. Louis American league team and indefinitely suspended as a player by Ban B. Johnson, president of the league as a result of Stovall's attack on Umpire Ferguson Saturday, may get permission to play again this season and also may be reinstated in his managerial berth, according to Mr. Johnson.

"The case is not closed. Stovall is relieved as manager indefinitely," said Johnson last night, "and is suspended indefinitely from playing. He may be allowed to play again, and it is probable that he may manage the team again, but the two are separate propositions. If he is allowed to play his position again, it does not mean that he will be permitted to manage the team."

The relieving of a manager by the president of the league, is said to be the first action of the kind ever taken in a major league. The order was issued formally today by Johnson and it was his personal edict.

Johnson expressed indignation at Stovall's attack and intimated that more punishment might be in store for the St. Louis player.

"There is no room in the American league for players who commit offenses against public decency," he declared. "I am astonished that any manager should create such a scene by losing his self-control in the presence of a large assemblage of patrons of the game."

Stovall was ordered out by Ferguson in the sixth inning at the St. Louis-Cleveland game Saturday in St. Louis. In a rage at the order, Stovall pulled Ferguson's cap from his head and spat upon the umpire's coat, according to the reports received here.

Johnson suspended Stovall by telegraph on receipt of Ferguson's report.

LYNCH RULES IN FAVOR OF GIANTS.

New York, May 6.—The New York Nationals had no undue advantage over the Philadelphia club in the games played at the Polo Grounds late in April by reason of the fact that there was a hole scooped out of the diamond back of the pitchers' box. This is the finding of President Thomas J. Lynch of the National league on the protest of the Philadelphia club, and he orders that the result of the games shall stand as played.

The Philadelphia club protested the games played April 23 and 24, alleging that a hole several inches deep was scooped out back of the pitcher's plate in violation of the rule which requires the field to slope from the pitcher's plate to every base line. New York won the first game 3 to 1 and the second 7 to 1.

JURY SELECTED FOR JACK JOHNSON TRIAL.

Chicago, May 6.—Twelve jurymen to try Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, on a charge of violation of the Mann "white slave act," had been selected by the government when the first day of the trial ended last night. None of the panel had been accepted by the defense. Johnson is charged with having transported Belle Schreiber from Pittsburg to Chicago for immoral purposes in 1910.

Counsel for Johnson, it is said, will seek to bar from the jury those who admit having convictions against the marriage of white women to negroes. J. E. Johnson and A. E. Peck of Aurora, the first two examined, were excused promptly when both declared they had decided opinions as to Johnson's guilt and strong convictions to the punishment they would mete out to him.

Lucile Cameron Johnson, the fighter's second white wife, did not appear in court, and it was said, counsel for Johnson will keep her from the court room unless she is called upon to testify.

There are forty-five counts in the nine indictments against Johnson, the maximum penalty collectively, being forty-five years in the penitentiary or a fine of $90,000 or both.

BURMEISTER IS EXPECTED HERE

John Burmeister, the newly elected president of the Northern league, and Frank E. Force, sporting editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, former president of the Minny league, and one of the best known sporting writers of the Northwest, are expected to be at the Superior-Duluth game today. It is expected that President Burmeister will be at the game here tomorrow afternnoo.

The new head of the league is a baseball enthusiast and has his heart and soul in the makng of the Northern one of the fastest and best minor leagues in the country.

NATIONAL BOARD MAKES DECISIONS.

Auburn, N. Y., May 6.—The following decisions were handed down by the national board of arbitration governing minor baseball leagues today:

Awards:

Services—Roy Blausser to Keokuk.

Applications to be free agent granted R. J. Lattimore from Nashville.

Applications disallowed:

M. Richardson against Grand Rapids.

R. Baxter against Kansas City, Dell Fullen against Seward, Neb.

Player Hardy is declared a free agent.

Claims granted:

Arthur Anderson against Kankakee, Herbert Martin against Newport News for salary.

CATCHER DESERTS ST. PAUL NORTHERNS.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6. — Catcher Andy Pettit of the St. Paul Northern league club deserted the team last night, going to St. Louis. He departed without obtaining permission, it is said.

Pettit told other members of the team he would be forced to cease playing for a time in order to undergo an operation for an ailment from which he had suffering for a long time, but he gave them the impression that he would not leave the Conrad club until a capable substitute had been obtained.

Last night he was seen at the union depot and there he told an acquaintance that he was going to St. Louis.

PIRATES DEFEAT NAPS IN EXHIBITION GAME.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 6.—The Pittsburg National league club defeated the Cleveland Americans, 6 to 5, in an exhibition game here yesterday. This is the first time in seven years that Pittsburg has played here and the first time a National league club ever played here during the regular season.

Recruit pitchers started the game for each team, Conzelman lasting two innings and Cullop being replaced in the fourth. Robinson, who replaced Conzelman, held Cleveland scoreless thereafter. In the ninth, Robinson's single scored the winning run.

Hans Wagner made his reappearance in the game, while Manager Fred Clarke played for the first time since the fall of 1911.

Commission Awards Salary.

Cincinnati, May 6. — The national commission today modified a finding of the national board which had denied a claim for salary by Player L. C. Channel against the Denver club. Channel was injured in a game and received only half salary during part of his illness. He applied for full salary for that time and for salary also for a month following his illness. The commission allowed the player full salary during his illness, but disallowed any claim for salary following

The national commission also awarded Player Williams, who was drafted by Washington in 1912 and claimed by Portland, Or., to the New Orleans club. Portland cancelled its claim on the player and released him to Atlanta, but the commission ruled that New Orleans' claim was a prior one.

College Baseball.

Northfield, Minn., May 6.—Carleton, 3; St. Paul, 0.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 6.—University of Minnesota, 3; Hamline university, 2.

Bout Is Stopped.

Lincoln, Neb., May 6.—George Carr, a local boxer, put out Al Boyd of Canada in five rounds of a ten-round bout here last night. After the first round which was even, Carr landed frequently without return and Boyd was in a state of collapse and bleeding from the nose and mouth in the fifth, when the referee stopped the mill. No decision was rendered.

Fight Bill Lost.

Sacramento, Cal., May 6.—Mayor Brown's anti-prize fight bill over which the state senate has been wrangling for several days, went down to defeat last night when its opponents forced the adoption of an amendment which practically re-enacts the present law. The vote on the amendment was 20 yea and 15 no.

Elys Win Easily.

The Ely team yesterday defeated the Fairmonts by the score of 31 to 4. The members of the winning team hit the ball to all parts of the field and played all around their opponents.

Amateur Boxing Meet.

Boston, Mass., May 6.—More than 100 amateur boxers from the United States and Canada will participate in the National Amateur Athletic union boxing championship meet here tonight.

A number of national title holders will defend their honors. The contestants will include the winners in the recent New England Amateur Athletic union's championship meet and boxers from New York, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Chicago, Toronto, Montreal and St. John, N. B.

Rifle Championship.

Morgantown, W. Va., May 6.—The University of West Virginia yesterday won the intercollegiate rifle team championship from Harvard by a score 988 to 976. After a long drawn out contest, in which teams from all parts of the country participated, West Virginia and Harvard shot the final match at their respective ranges yesterday and the score was exchanged by telegraph.

Ferns Given Decision.

Kansas City, Mo., May 6.—Clarence "Wildcat" Ferns of this city, was given the decision over Jimmy Perry of Pittsburg, Pa., here last night at the end of a ten-round fight, which was tame and featureless throughout. The men are welterweights.

Dual Track Meet.

Northfield, Minn., May 6.—Carleton college yesterday won the dual track and field meet from St. Olaf by the score of 99 to 31.

Dixon Gets Decision.

Winnipeg, Man., May 6.—Tommy Dixon of Kansas City, was awarded the popular decision over Johnny Creely of Pittsburg, in a fifteen-round match here last night. The bout was a very tame affair, neither man mixing it until Referee Ben Foley warned them in the ninth that he would stop the fight if they did not liven up. In the last few rounds, Dixon had a shade.

AUTO WILL HAUL LOADS OF LUMBER

Six Heavy Wagons in Train of Powerful Truck.

Next Saturday afternoon Duluthians who infest Superior street, will be treated to a somewhat unusual sight. They will see an auto touring car hauling six wagon loads of lumber all in a string. These wagons will be loaded with 36,000 pounds or 18,000 tons of lumber from the Scott-Graff Lumber company. The car will be the Carter car, for which C. G. Obermeyer is local agent and has his garage at 123 First avenue west. Of course this spectacle will be by way of a demonstration of what this car can do in the way of hauling.

The car itself is a model 5-A and develops 40-horse power. It is a little beauty and has tremendous hauling and hill-climbing power.

Mr. Obermeyer will have his driver haul the lumber from the Scott-Graff yards at Twenty-third avenue west at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and will start the actual demonstration from in front of the St. Louis hotel at 3 o'clock. The lumber will be hauled to Ninth avenue east and back along Superior street.

MERRIAM DIVORCE CASE IS CALLED.

San Francisco, Cal., May 6.—The divorce action brought by Capt. H. C. Merriam, U. S. A., against Mrs. Bessie Merriam, has been called before Superior Judge Graham. Appearing in court with Capt. Merriam was the father, Maj. Merriam, retired, of Washington, D. C., and with Mrs. Merriam sat her daughter and a number of friends.

Judge Graham sought to reconcile the couple. Mrs. Merriam had said she would agree to any course for the sake of her daughter.

"Would you be reconciled for the child?" asked the judge.

"It is impossible," was the reply.

In outlining the case for the captain, his attorney named Clarence Murphy of New Orleans as co-respondent.

CALIFORNIA SENATE SHIES AT TAX BILL

Hesitates to Impose Special Restriction on the Japanese.

Sacramento, Cal., May 6.—Fear that the bill by Senator Rush, requiring Japanese fishermen to pay $100 for annual licenses when other aliens are taxed but $10 and natives only $2.50, is in violation of the existing treaty between the United States and Japan, caused the senate to refuse action on the measure pending a decision by the committee on Federal relations. Senator Kehoe raised the question as to the possible violation by pointing to a section in the treaty which guarantees to Japanese subjects equal taxation with Americans.

The section reads as follows:

"They (Japanese) shall not be compelled, under any pretext whatever, to pay any charges or taxes other or higher than those that are or may be paid by native citizens or subjects."

A similar bill by Assemblyman Johnson already has passed the assembly. Senate leaders are uncertain what action to take.

CHILD CAN SUE FOSTER PARENTS.

Kansas City, Mo., May 6.—Foster parents may administer corporal punishment to children, but if that punishment is excessively brutal the child may recover damages.

That is the tenor of a decision by the Kansas City court of appeals. Lucille Dix, 11 years old, was suing Elizabeth Martin, a farmer's wife of Cooper county, Missouri. The case came to the court here on appeal.

Lucille lived with her grandparents. She went to the Martins to spend the summer. Mrs. Martin, the testimony showed, beat her so severely that the child's back did not heal for several weeks. Mrs. Martin raised the defense that she was acting as a "foster parent" for the child.

Judge Johnson, who wrote the opinion in the case, held that even granting that she was a foster parent, the child was entitled to the $1,000 verdict owing to the excessive brutality of the whipping.

ST. LOUIS TELLER SHORT $15,000.

St. Louis, Mo., May 6.—H. C. Baseler, paying teller of the Third National Bank of St. Louis, is short $15,000 in his accounts, according to a statement given out by Thomas Wright, vice president of the bank. Baseler is the teller whose refusal to cash two $10,000 bills until they had been investigated resulted in the unearthing of the details of a theft of $200,000 in currency which was being sent from Havana to New York.

Bank Suit Dismissed.

St. Louis, Mo., May 6.—The suit of John T. Herrmann, against B. F. Edwards, former president of the National Bank of Commerce and directors of the bank for an accounting of the transactions whereby the old Fourth National bank was absorbed by the National Bank of Commerce, was dismissed in the Federal district court for lack of jurisdiction.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES
They cut down tire bills

Just what kind of a tire do you want?

Pick out the features you want to find in the tires you buy. You want generous mileage, full rated size, flexibility, protection against rim cutting, ease of manipulation and security of fastening.

Measure up this ideal tire against every other tire on the market and then compare with a United States Tire.

You will find United States Tires combine all these identical features of your ideal tire in a way that no other tire on the market approaches.

We believe that every tire maker in the country has been making the very best tires that his facilities would permit.

Some of these tires have been greatly strengthened at one or two points—some at others.

But it is a matter of general comment among dealers, car owners and car manufacturers, that never has any tire combined all these special points of superiority as do

United States Tires

In the matter of mileage—the most accurate tests have proven that United States Tires today yield on an average from 25 to 50 per cent. more mileage than was ever given by any make of tire previous to the organization of the United States Tire Company.

No tire has ever been made with a larger average size or a larger average air capacity than the United States Dunlop.

No tire has ever been made as flexible or as resilient as the United States Dunlop.

This is the first and only tire that has ever been absolutely guaranteed against rim-cutting.

It is by long odds the easiest tire in the world to put on or take off—yet it can't possibly come off the rim until you are ready to take it off.

In fact if you were to have a tire built to your order it would be difficult for you to specify a single desirable feature that you can't get today in a United States Tire.

If this is the kind of a tire that you want to use, United States Tires ought to be the exclusive equipment on your car this season.

They are made in Plain, Chain and Nobby treads and in three styles of fastening, including the famous Dunlop (straight side).

Cost no more than you are asked to pay for other kinds

TIRE-LY SATISFIED

United States Pneumatic Tires are guaranteed when filled with air at the recommended pressure and attached to a rim bearing either one or both of the accompanying inspection stamps. When filled with any substitute for air or attached to any other rims than those specified, our guarantee is withdrawn.

CUPID AT THE POOR FARM

Three Cooks Have Succumbed to Wiles of Three Hired Men Within a Year.

Has Dan Cupid, wily little God of Love, set up a matrimonial clearing house in the kitchen of the county poorhouse?

If the inability of the poor farm authorities to keep unmarried feminine cooks and single hired men in their employ counts for anything, the question must be answered in the affirmative.

No one would hardly expect to find Dan lurking around the poorhouse kitchen. It doesn't look much different from other kitchens. There are no parlor "sofies" there, nor porch swings big enough for one and strong enough for two.

Nevertheless, Dan Cupid has been responsible for at least three hurried trips to the employment agency to fill positions which soon-to-be brides had left.

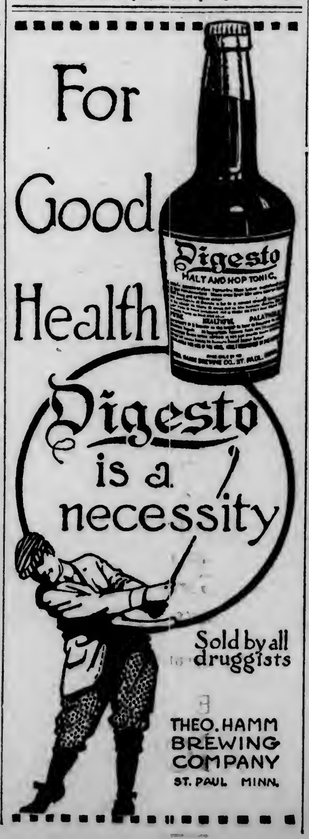
Within the last few months, the little god of love has worked wonders there. He has found true soul mates for cooks and life partners for men.

Not very many moons have come and gone since the first of the three announced that no longer would she work for public hire. About the same time the superintendent of agriculture at the farm was casting about for a man to fill a vacancy. That was case number one.

Another culinary artist was secured and another kitchen romance was begun. It culminated a few weeks later in the announcement of the resignations of the cook and the cookee, the latter being about to assume the responsibilities of the head of a household.

The fact that two cooks and two hired men had been lost through matrimony was regarded as a mere coincidence until recently another maid of the kitchen found the man she had always been looking for in the employ of the county at the poor farm. They were married and are now living happily ever afterwards.

Cook No. 4 is now on the job and so far has been immune from the designs of the wily Daniel.



SEGREGATION OF VICE DECLARED FAILURE

Chicago City Council Commission Would Root Out Social Evil.

Chicago, May 6.—Segregtaion of commercialized vice was declared to have proved a failure, and a police campaign looking toward the ultimate annihilation of the social evil in Chicago was recommended in the preliminary report of a special commission of the city council last night.

Domestic infelicity and its consequent lack of responsibility of parentage were held by the commission to be the first and chief cause of commercialized vice.

Hasty marriages, the double standard and morals, immoral dance halls and the toleration of resorts also were suggested as being among the chief causes of vice.

VIRGINIA PAIR LOSE POSITIONS

Fire and Police Heads Removed—Recall of Mayor May Result.

Virginia, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The police and fire commission last night removed Ellis Walsh, police chief and A. F. Thayer, fire chief. James Stickney, assistant chief of the fire department, was named acting chief and Richard Hice was placed at the head of the police department, effective at once. The action of the board is taken as the commencement of a more bitter war between the administration forces directed by Mayor Murphy and his opponents. The members of the board who took the summary action are P. A. Coffey, S. A. Nelson and Charles Johnson, appointees of Mayor Murphy, and the dissenting minority are Dr. C. B. Lenont, chairman of the board, and E. D. McNeil.

Anticipating the action that would be taken there was a large attendance at the meeting, which was held in the council chamber at the city hall. When S. A. Nelson made a motion that the office of police chief be declared vacant, Chairman Lenont and E. D. McNeill both insisted on reasons being assigned. Mr. Coffey briefly stated that it was for the good of the service. Chairman Lenont declared this insufficient and refused to consider the motion. After a short wait he said if there was no further business the meeting would stand adjourned, and declared the meeting over, and members Lenont and McNeill left their seats.

Remaining Three Turn Trick.

The three remaining members proceeded to reorganize the board and did the firing of the department heads. Protests were made from the audience by Michael Boylan, M. E. Fanning, J. L. Kimball ard by Dr. Lenont, who spoke from outside the rail as a citizen. It is claimed by the friends of the two chiefs that they are being removed for political reasons, while the city charter states that commissions shall be far removed from politics. Opponents of Mayor Murphy, by whose direction the three new members of the board are acting, say there is now sufficient grounds for the recall of the mayor and all his followers on the city council and the petitions have already been prepared. It is figured out that the action taken in relieving the police chief and the fire chief will involve the city into a more bitter factional war than has existed during the past year, and that the battle over water and light plant acquirement and other issues will be waged more fiercely than ever before.

TWO HARBORS BOY IS SHOT IN FOOT

Bullet Accidentally Fired From Rifle of Companion Hits Him.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Axel Nelson, aged 11 years, son of Olaf Nelson, of South avenue, yesterday afternoon was accidentally shot in the left foot with a 22-rifle in the hands of Homer Fex, aged 9 years, a playmate.

The two boys were out shooting in the woods south of this city and were on their way home when the accident happened. They stopped on the Duluth & Iron Range tracks, about two miles south of the city, to shoot at a target, and according to the story told young Nelson was placing the target while Homer Fex was preparing to shoot but, for some reason he decided to lay the gun down on the track and it is thought that the jar discharged the gun, the bullet lodging very deeply in the flesh of Axel Nelson's foot. His comrade carried him to a nearby farmer's house and from there he was brought to the Budd hospital, where the bullet was extracted. Outside of an ugly flesh wound the accident is not considered serious.

HIBBING IS ADVANCING.

Rats and Angle Worms, Civilization Signs, Now Appear There.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mesaba range is growing old. Rats and angleworms are making their appearance in Hibbing for the first time in its history. A big gray rat, one of the first ever seen here, was killed near the Great Northern freight depot Monday. Angleworms were imported several years ago by local fishermen, and are being dug up at several places here at present.

The appearance of rats in this section is in line with the usual tradition of the advance of civilization, which seems to indicate that they first make their appearance in a country about twenty or twenty-five years after it is first settled.

Several rats were last year killed in the vicinity of Eveleth, among the first reported on the Mesaba range.

The rodents come into the country in empty box cars, it is believed.

ANOTHER ELY BAND IS BEING ORGANIZED.

Ely, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of the musically inclined are arranging for the organization here of a new band. Already about twenty-two have signified their willingness to become members, and R. H. Pearce, under whose direction the high school bands have been brought to their efficient condition, is one of the prime movers in securing the new organization. No one has been chosen to manage the new organization.

The new band counts on making a specialty of concert work, giving during the summer season open air concerts in the city. This move will meet with favor through the city at large.

Ely is the home of several musical organizations that have proven their ability.

Miss Anna Knutson was hostess at a shower given to Miss Ruth Erickson of the Ely school faculty, in honor of her approaching wedding this summer. Only members of the Lincoln school faculty and Miss Anna Rissitta and Mrs. Wilmunder were present.

A Year's Prescription for Perfect Health—Drink

White Rock Water

W. Gilman Thompson, M.D., Professor of Materia Medica, Therapeutics, and Clinical Medicine of the University of the City of New York, in reference to pure, carbonated spring waters, says: "They are cooling, refreshing, and wholesome. They promote digestion, and help remove waste products from the system."

DEAD MAN'S MONEY LOCATED ON PLACE

Drops Suspicion of Foul Play in Death of Lake County Pair.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Any suspicion of foul play which the local authorities may have harbored in connection with the finding of the bodies of the two men near Drummond, on the Duluth & Iron Range tracks near Drummond, last week, is abandoned. It was known that Andrew Lantz, one of the dead men had over $300 about two weeks ago and as there was no money found on his body it was the general opinion that he was done away with for his money. But on investigation of his farm near Drummond by Deputy Coroner Christensen and Sheriff Emil Nelson, who visited the place yesterday, a certificate of deposit with the First State Bank of this city for $300 was found, thus clearing suspicion.

It was also learned that Lantz has a sister who lives in the old country. Deputy Coroner Christensen stated that the farm and farmhouse owned by Lantz was in fine condition and that he was preparing to do his spring planting.

FARMING TOPICS TO BE DISCUSSED

At Dinner to Be Given By Hibbing Club to Two Experts.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. B. Dickinson of Meadowlands, agricultural agent of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, and Fred Ward, county agricultural agent, will be the guests of the Commercial club at dinner at Zanti's cafe Wednesday evening, when agricultural development, as applied to this immediate section of the Mesaba range, will be discussed.

The officers of the Commercial club mailed to all the members of the Commercial club tickets to the banquet and it is hoped that there will be a representative attendance at Wednesday night's dinner. Both Mr. Ward and Mr. Dickinson are well known in Hibbing as two of the foremost agricultural authorities in the country and a special effort is being made to have every member of the club attend the dinner. Mr. Dickinson will talk on "What the Commercial Clubs Can Do to Aid in the Development of St. Louis County," while the subject of Mr. Ward will be: "What the Commercial Clubs of the Range Can Do to Assist in the Organization of Farmers' Clubs."

ANOTHER BOARDER AT COUNTY JAIL

Competent Hibbing Mine Worker Will Sober Up at County Expense.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the fact that he is one of the best mining men in this section, and is capable of making good in positions of responsibility for any mining concern on the Mesaba range, John Crago drew a sentence of ninety days in municipal court Monday on a charge of vagrancy. Crago is one of the old-timers of this section. When not drinking he is known as an especially capable mining man. About two weeks ago he was arrested for stealing chickens from a Pine street business house. Sunday he got in trouble again and Judge Brady gave him ninety days straight. Several mining superintendents are willing to give Crago a chance if he demonstrates that he is worthy of it, when he gets back from the county jail at Duluth.

WINSTON OPTIMISTIC ABOUT MESABA RANGE.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. G. Winston of Minneapolis, of the Winston-Dear company, contractors operating extensively in this section in the mining business, was here to meet Supt. Hansen of the Winston-Dear Company of Hibbing. Mr. Winston believes the iron range is going to have one of the most prosperous business seasons in its history and was well pleased with the surface indication of prosperity in Hibbing.

PLANT FRUIT TREES IN HIBBING SECTION.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. C. Barrett is planting an orchard at his farm to the south of Hibbing. Mr. Barrett is setting out apple, plum and cherry trees and raspberry bushes and strawberry vines. Several farmers in the Bear River country have had apple trees in bearing for the past two or three years, but so far as the information of local horticultural enthusiasts extends, crabapples are the only fruit ever grown in the immediate vicinity of Hibbing, and those in gardens in this city. Mr. Barrett believes all the small fruits commonly raised in this latitude in the Northern Michigan and Canadian country can be successfully raised here, and is going to experiment.

GRAND RAPIDS HAS MEMORIAL DAY PLANS

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—With Rev. A. A. Meyer as chairman, an organization was perfected here last night to take charge of the observance of Memorial day, May 30, at the same time as the meeting of the Itasca County Development association.

Superintendent of School Freeman, A. J. McGuire, and Comrade Sumner were appointed to draft a program to be submitted to the officers of the development association before final action is taken. During the next week the chair will appoint other committees.

TRAVELING MEN CAN GET BOOKS

Branch Libraries for Drummers at Chisholm and Other Range Points.

Chisholm, Minnn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under the direction and supervision of the Zenith branch of the United Commercial Travelers, Chisholm is to have a branch library which will contain 100 or more of the best current books. F. A. Graham, whose territory is limited only by the Pacific and Atlantic oceans, is making the Mesaba range and placing the libraries wherever in his judgment they will be the best appreciated.

Other libraries on the range will be located at Virgina, Hibbing and Grand Rapids.

MONTENEGRO'S SIZE.

Hibbing Minister Places Dimensions at Half of St. Louis County.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—Illustrating his remarks by the aid of a blackboard, Rev. E. W. Elayer, pastor of the Mahoning street M. E. church, spoke interestingly on Montenegro at his service Sunday evening, a theme of much interest on the range because of the large population from that country.

"Montenegro is about one-half as large as St. Louis county," declared the minister. "Montenegro, with a population of 250,000, has captured Scutari from Turkey, with a population of 35,000,000. Austria, with a population of 5,000,000, hastened to help Turkey and demands that Montenegro give back Scutari.

"Montenegro has one little seaport town, Anivari, on the Adrlatic. Surrounding this little town is the combined fleet of Germany, France, England, Italy, Russia and Austria, comprising a population of 400,000,000, to insist that little Montenegro, with a 250,000 population, give back to Turkey Scutari; and Montenegro hasn't even one warship.

"Scutari, the bone of contention, at one time belonged to Montenegro when King Nicholas, who has been king fifty-two years, surrounded Scutari with his army, he said: 'My ancestors are buried in yonder city, they builded a church on the hill.'"

GILBERT GIRL TO WED.

Her Engagement to Buhl Young Man Announced at Party.

Gilbert, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a very pretty party given Saturday afternoon at her home on Minnesota avenue, Mrs. Barbara Carmichael announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Martha Wiggins of Gilbert, to George Abeel, Jr., of Buhl. The house was very prettily decorated with spring flowers. The game of hearts was played. The first prize was won by Miss Foryst K. Hurt and the consolation prize, a "diamond" ring, was won by Miss Margaret Gilmore. After the game a dainty repast was served, with Misses Florence Wiggins and Irene Shean of Genoa location assisting.

Others present were: Mesdames A. C. Hoel, C. L. Newberry, N. J. Colvin, F. A. Bowman, R. T. Dukelow, Carl Stillman and Canaday; Misses Jan Patten, Wade, Gilmore, Minder, Whiteside, Wyndhorst, Forsberg, Grace and Ruth Guymon, Costin, Christianson, McConville, Galligan, Small, Degler, Thompson, Burton, Mary and Sarah Brammer and Schumacher. Out-of-town guests were: Miss Lillian Ring, Chisholm; Mrs. Carmichael, Hibbing, and Misses Carmichael and Stevenson, Biwabik.

BURIED AT CHISHOLM.

Last Rites for Mrs. Newbauer, an Old Resident.

Chisholm, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Newbauer of First avenue and Birch street, who died Sunday, was held from the Catholic church today. Mrs. Newbauer was an old resident of Chisholm, aged 54. She died after a short illness from pneumonia. Her husband and a son living in Chisholm survive. Rev. Father Schiffrer conducted the funeral services and the interment was in the Calvary cemetery here.

COMMIT WAYWARD GIRL.

Chisholm Miss Who Disobeyed Parents Sent to State Home.

Chisholm, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thirteen-year-old Bessie Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Hammond, was committed to the home for delinquent girls at Sauk Center. The girl has displayed acts of waywardness for some time and the protests of a loving mother and a kind father have not made the impression upon her that is usual with girls of that age, their repeated protests against her staying out at night having been ignored until they were called to the attention of the humane officer, who took the matter before the judge.

EVELETH PARK WORK.

Eveleth, Minn., May 6.—The park board has a lot of work planned. The Foster Contracting company of Minneapolis secured the contract in making what is to be called Central park, at $8,850. The contract covers all the improvements to be made on the grounds and calls for its completion by July 1. The planting of the trees and shrubbery will be done by the company but the material will be bought by the board and will cost in the neighborhood of $2,000.

Work on the Lake park has been going on for the last week or more under the direct supervision of E. H. Hatch, chairman of the park board, and already a noticeable change has been made in the appearance of the site.

IS APPOINTED TO HIBBING SCHOOL JOB.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. R. C. Hoisington, for three years in charge of the manual training department of the local schools, has accepted the position of head of the manual training department of the Hibbing schools, with a substantial raise in salary.

UNKNOWN DRUNK IS HURT STEALING RIDE.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—An unknown man stealing a ride on a Great Northern ore train while in an intoxicated condition, was severely injured in attempting to alight at the Kelly Lake yard. His foot caught in some gear of the car and he was dragged a considerable distance before he was able to free himself. He lay unconscious for some time until picked up by another tramp walking down the yard. He was able to get into Hibbing, where his injuries were attended to by a local physician.

Chisholm Team Hopeful.

Chisholm, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The work of filling, leveling and finishing the new ball park has reached a stage where it begins to look like a finish this week and in time for next Sunday's game.

The opening game on the home grounds will be played there next Sunday and manager Leighty states that day even though his team suffered a defeat at the hands of the Hibbing team Sunday there is nothing to be discouraged about over the result, as his team worked nicely.

Virginia Couple Wed.

Virginia, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walter R. Cunningham and Pearl Evelyn Nelson were married at the home of the bride's mother at 615 Virginia avenue last evening by Rev. Mr. Neff. Mr. Cunningham is in the employ of the Canadian Northern railroad and the couple will make Virginia their home for the present. Guests from out of the city at the wedding were: Mrs. C. C. Campaigne and Miss Maude Campaigne of Tower, Minn.; Ralph Gillmor of Fort Frances, also Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Campaigne.

Heavy Ore Movement.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ore movement from this section is now quite heavy and things are generally humming in a mining way. The Great Northern is shipping from 2,500 to 2,700 cars of ore a day from Kelly lake. Twenty trains hauled by engines of the Mallet type went forward from Kelly lake to the docks at Allouez Monday.

Laying Chisholm Mains.

Chisholm, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. of Waterworks C. J. Sullivan started men at work Monday, doing necessary water main laying and repairing. Several car loads of water mains are expected to be at Duluth in early boats.

Given Grand Rapids Licenses.

Grand Rapids, Minn May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council granted liquor licenses to Thomas Riley and Patelle & Cloutier, for one year, and also voted to transfer the sum of $3,178.41 from the contingent to the general fund for the purpose of retiring outstanding warrants.

The resignation of Dr. C. Storch, village health officer, was received, and Dr. Jules Gendron appointed.

Third River School Burned.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—School District No. 1 lost its schoolhouse at Third River, last Wednesday by forest fires. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $800, without insurance. The school term has been discontinued, and no decision will be made about rebuilding until the annual meeting of the district in July.

Calls for sealed bids have been issued by the school board for a new two-room schoolhouse to be built at Blackberry station.

The annual meeting of the Itasca County Auto association, which was called for Saturday evening, was postponed until Friday evening of this week.

Chester Gracie Buried.

Bemidji, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Chester Gracie, a popular young resident of this city, who was killed while working for the Canadian Northern at Virginia last week, was held here from the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The pall-bearers were A. L. Warner, M. A. Downs and A. W. Ditty of Bemidji, and William Hainstock, J. R. McCallam and R. C. McLean of Virginia.

Grand Rapids Beats Bovey.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. P. R. Harrison is manager of the local ball team for the season, and the first regular game was played Sunday with Bovey. The score was 8 to 4 in favor of Grand Rapids. The batteries: Bovey, Bentz and Ernst; Grand Rapids, Lofberg and Hicks.

Hibbing Club to Shoot.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—The Hibbing Gun club will have its first shoot since organization at the fair grounds next Sunday morning. The trap has been set at the fair grounds and a concrete traphouse erected, but it is not expected to be ready for operation before that time. The gun club starts out with a membership of about fifty, including some of the best trap shots on the range.

CLOQUET MOTHERS' CLUB PROGRAM.

Cloquet, Minn., May 6.—The Mothers' club will hold its regular monthly meeting in the Lincoln high school Saturday evening and an interesting program is being prepared as follows: Paper by Miss Clara Clausen, instructor of domestic science in the public schools, "Training Girls to Be Refined Women;" piano solo, Mrs. C. B. McDonald; paper, "The Child and His Vacation," Mrs. Herbert Smith; vocal solo, Mrs. De Poe; paper, "The Sexual Life of the Child," Mrs. Edward Swenson; vocal solo, Mrs. J. T. Sheean; talk on home study, Miss Lena Archibald, principal of the Jefferson school. There will be refreshments, and the school victrola will be used as part of the evening's entertainment. This will be the last meeting of the club until September.

ANOTHER RATE POINT CONCEDED

Duluth in Better Position to Compete With Chicago.

Through action by the railroads and by the interstate commerce commission, the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club has obtained part of what it is contending for in the action now pending before the commission, which is known as the Southwestern case.

The commission has recently allowed the railroads to make an advance in the rates from Chicago to Watertown, S. D., which places Duluth in a better relative position in competition with Chicago at that point and at nearby points taking the same rates.

The old rates for the first five classes from Chicago and Duluth were:

Chicago	88 75 58 40 30
Duluth	84 71 55 42 32½

The new relation, effected by advancing the Chicago rates, is:

Chicago	96 82 64 45 35
Duluth	84 71 55 42 32½

Under the old adjustment, the fourth and fifth class rates from Chicago were lower than from Duluth and the spread in the other rates was much less than the distance relation would support, Duluth being only 54 per cent of the Chicago distance from Watertown.

The Southwestern case, which was filed by the Duluth commission and is still pending before the interstate commerce commission, is a request for a readjustment of the rates to Southern Minnesota and South Dakota on all classes and commodities. When the case was filed, the railroads promised to make a readjustment. They checked up the rates, but the only point at which they would make a concession to Duluth was at Watertown, where the Chicago rates were advanced.

When the advances were published, the South Dakota railroad commission protested and the tariffs were suspended pending a hearing. The hearing was held by the interstate commerce commission and the decision sustaining the increase has just been handed down.

The Southwestern case has not been pushed by the traffic commission pending the decision in the lake and rail case and other readjustments.

SECOND LARGEST CLOQUET CLASS

Twenty-Six Will Be Given Diplomas By High School This Month.

Cloquet, Minn., May 6.—Cloquet high school will graduate twenty-six this year, only one larger class, that of two years ago, when there were twenty-seven, ever having been graduated here. MORE NEGRO PRISONERS.

Another Consignment Is Received at Stillwater Penal Institution.

Stillwater, Minn., May 6.—The third special train this spring arrived Monday with a consignment of Federal prisoners from Washington for the state prison. There were twenty-nine men, three of them being negroes convicted of theft and housebreaking. Special trains on Feb. 23, March 31 and today make a total of 117 of such convicts, nearly all negroes.

The train Monday, as in the two former cases, was in charge of Louis F. Zinkler, superintendent of the jail and asylum in Washington. This brings the prison population up to 968.

Warden Henry Wolfer says that he will see to it when the negroes are discharged at the end of their terms that they comply with the requirements to accept transportation back to Washington.

TWO KILLED BY CARS NEAR MANKATO, MINN.

Mankato, Minn., May 6.—George Carver, an Eagle Lake farm hand, was run down and ground to pieces on an Omaha switch track back of the passenger depot Sunday night. He had been drinking heavily. His home was in Mankato.

David Jones, who was struck by an Omaha passenger train while walking on the track a few days ago, died Sunday night.

CLAIMS RECORD YIELD OF FLAX.

Plaza, N. D., May 6.—(Special to the Herald.)—S. H. Baxter, residing near here, claims the record flax yield for North Dakota spring threshed fields. He had 164 bushels from a five-acre patch, running better than thirty-two bushels an acre, despite shrinkage, field mice and birds during the long exposure last winter.

Cuyuna Badly Beaten.

Brainerd, Minn., May 6.—In the first game of the local baseball season Brainerd massacred Cuyuna to the tune of 29 to 0. The Cuyuna range town had absolutely no show and but one man traveled to third base. The score board was badly racked when all the runs Brainerd made were chalked in.

Cloquet Child Buried.

Cloquet, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 3-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berger of the East end died Monday of diphtheria, and was buried the same day. There are a number of cases of diphtheria in the city, but nothing alarming.

Splendid Spring Tonic At Small Cost

(From Martyn's Drug Journal)

As millions of bottles of various blood medicines and liver regulators are taken yearly to tone up the blood, restore vitality and healthy conditions to the body, it will not be amiss for us to repeat the formula of an old-time remedy that has been used with marvelous success.

Dissolve one ounce of kardene in one-half pint alcohol, then add one-half cupful sugar and enough hot water to make a quart. The ingredients can be had at any drug store at small cost. One tablespoonful of this tonic taken before each meal will soon correct all disorders of the liver, make the blood clear, and strengthen and build up the system most satisfactorily. For correcting sallow or pimply complexions, and giving one vigor and good health, we have never found a remedy to equal it.

Stork and Cupid Cunning Plotters

Many a New Home will Have a Little Sunbeam to Brighten it.

There is some dread in every woman's mind as to the probable pain, distress and danger of child-birth. But, thanks to a remarkable remedy known as Mother's Friend, the period is one of joyful anticipation.

Mother's Friend is a penetrating, external application. It makes the muscles of the stomach and abdomen pliant so they expand easily and naturally without pain, and with none of that peculiar nausea, nervousness and other symptoms that tend to weaken the prospective mother. Thus Cupid and the stork are rated as cunning plotters to herald the coming of a little sunbeam to gladden the hearts and homes.

Thousands of women know from experience Mother's Friend is one of our greatest contributions to happy motherhood. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Especially recommended as a preventive of caking breast.

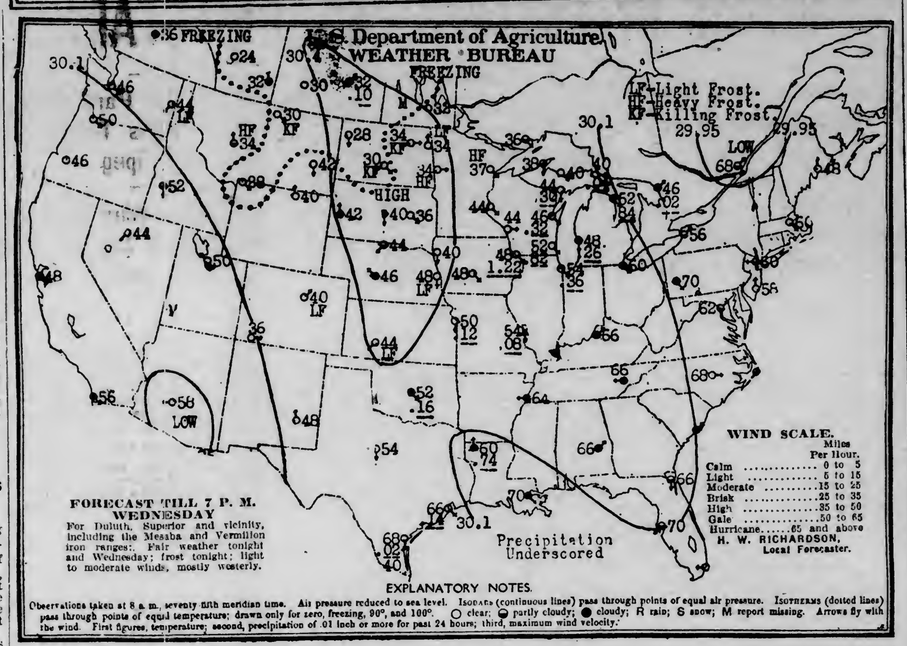
OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. WEDNESDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Fair weather tonight and Wednesday; frost tonight; light to moderate winds, mostly westerly.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m. seventy fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. ISOBARS (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. ISOTHERMS (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100°. ○ clear, ◒ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figures, temperature; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

The mercury dropped to the freezing point in Duluth last night, but today dawned fair and bright and the little chill in the air doesn't cause much complaint. More fair weather is predicted tonight and tomorrow. Frost is predicted for tonight.

Cold, raw weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:43 and it will set at 7:25 this evening, giving fourteen hours and forty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Light to killing frosts occurred last night in Minnesota, Western Iowa, Eastern Nebraska, Central Kansas, Colorado, Montana and Eastern Washington. Frost may be expected tonight in Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin. DANDRUFF CAME ALL OVER HEAD

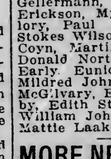
Terrible Itching and Burning. Hair Came Out by the Combful. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Entirely Cured in Three Weeks.

1342 N. Illinois St., Indianapolis, Ind.—"Spots of dandruff about the size of a quarter came all over my head. There was a terrible itching and burning under the dandruff and if I attempted to comb it off my head would bleed and get sore. There were small pimples under the dandruff that itched and burned and would bleed when I combed my hair. The dandruff would show when I combed it loose. My hair came out by the combful. I had suffered between two and three years and tried everything I heard of but nothing did any good until I read one of the advertisements for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap and shampooed my head and rubbed every spot with Cuticura Ointment. At the end of three weeks I was entirely cured. Now I have more and nicer hair than I ever had in my life. Cuticura Soap and Ointment permanently relieved my trouble." (Signed) Mrs. W. K. Rhoads, May 11, 1912.



Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough skins, itching, scaly scalps, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, chapped hands and shapeless nails, that it is almost criminal not to use them. Sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

"Complexion Secrets of An Actress"

In a recently issued volume bearing the above title, the author says: "Continuous use of grease paints, rouge and the like, had ruined my complexion. My skin was colorless, wrinkled, coarse and punctured with large pores. In England I heard of the virtues of mercolized wax; my first experience with this marvelous substance convinced me it was more valuable than all cosmetics combined. Now whenever my complexion begins to go wrong I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the nearest drug store, spread on a thin layer of it before retiring, washing it off next morning. The wax, after a few such treatments, seems literally to absorb the worn-out cuticle, when a brighter, healthier, younger-looking skin appears.

"For the wrinkles and enlarged pores, I began using a solution of saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this every day for awhile soon relieved the condition most wonderfully."

I Asked an

Army Officer

"Don't you find the restrictions and confinement of army life irksome?"

"We are asked this question nearly every day by civilians," he replied, "but it would appear to me that the restrictions and limitations of a business career would be almost as burdensome, with this difference, that the business man can do as he pleases after office hours.

"Conditions in the army, like everything else, are changing," he continued. "One of the things that has added more, perhaps, than any other one thing to make us more contented with our life is the wonderful development of the player piano.

"At present, several of my brother officers, including myself, own Kimball Acmelodic Player Pianos. For the benefit of those who are not as fortunately situated,we have equipped the Officers' Club as well.

"If you will drop around some evening, you will hear some wonderful music, for the boys all perform on the Player and it is really a race to see who will get to the Player Piano first.

"Through the agency of the Kimball Acmelodic Player, what little troubles we imagined we had have vanished long ago in our evenings of music."

The Kimball Acmelodic Player Piano has the essentials necessary to reproduce hand-played music.

This instrument plays the full scale, 88 notes—plays Kimball or any 88-note roll—full, round, rich, mellow tone—selected materials, best workmanship, roll-guiding device, Acmelodic soloist, ten exclusive improvements, music roll library privileges.

We will take your "never-played" piano in part payment.

AGED MAN SHOT AT RIOTOUS MEETING

Effort Is Made to Break Up Socialist Gathering of Protest.

Huntington, W. Va., May 6.—One man was shot in the head and seriously wounded and several others slightly injured during a riot here when an alleged attempt was made to break up a mass meeting of Socialists which had been called to protest against martial law in the coal strike district of Kanawaha county and the imprisonment of labor leaders. William Taylor, an aged man, was shot through the head. He will die.

Missiles were hurled on all sides. Speakers were hooted down and the confusion made it impossible to ascertain who used firearms.

Several squads of police rushed to the scene. The officers waded into the fighting factions, using their clubs freely. A number of arrests were made.

MISSOURI'S NEW CAPITOL BEGUN.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 6.—Construction of a new $3,500,000 state capitol for Missouri began here today with a formal ceremony in which Governor Major, dozens of other state officials and citizens took part. It is expected the foundation will be completed by Sept. 1, and that the building will be ready for occupancy by the close of Governor Major's administration.

CITY WILL NOT TOLERATE DELAYS BY CONTRACTORS

Extensions of Time Will Be Granted Only in Exceptional Cases.

Commissioner Hicken Believes P. McDonnell Has Too Many Contracts.

Unnecessary delays in the completion of contracts for street improvements will not be tolerated by Duluth's new city commission.

Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the division of public works, has sent a letter to all local contractors stating that no extensions of time will be granted except in unusual cases, and then only upon the best of substantiated grounds.

"I trust that we will establish a record in public improvements this season which will be a disappointment to all croakers of evil," is the trite expression employed by Commissioner Murchison in urging all who have city work in charge to complete it within the time specified in their contracts.

In furtherance of that policy the division of public works has taken drastic steps to help C. R. McLean, who has the contract for the concrete culvert and fill at Eighty-first avenue west, push his job to a finish. Under the authority granted by the charter the works division has taken charge of all the machinery and apparatus on the ground. Under the direction of the city engineer Contractor McLean has begun to utilize the plant which was installed there last fall by Gulbranson Bros., to whom the contract was sublet. This move on the part of the city will give him a chance to get busy without waiting for the machinery and other material which would have to have been secured from outside points or from other contractors who may not be through with their outfits for a week or two. With this arrangement the works division expects to see the work completed by June 15, the time specified in the contract.

Attempt to Reconsider Award.

The commission at its meeting this morning had a discussion relative to the paving work which is being done or which is to be done in Duluth this season. The matter was brought up when Commissioner Hicken moved for a reconsideration of the resolution passed a week ago awarding the contract for paving East Fourth street between Sixth and Fourteenth avenues east to Contractor P. McDonnell.

Commissioner Hicken stated that the official proceedings as printed in the pamphlet should show that the proposition was handled under two separate resolutions, one approving the award of a contract for asphalt and the other awarding the contract to P. McDonnell. He pointed out that the debate relative to the question was as to whether or not the street should be paved from curb to curb with sheet asphalt or with sheet asphalt with sandstone blocks between the tracks. In view of that fact he held that one resolution should make plain the vote on the matter of material and another on awarding the contract to McDonnell. Mayor Prince stated that he voted against the resolution as offered in view of the position taken by the commissioner of public works. He said that where responsibility centers with a certain department he does not intend to oppose the position of the commissioner in charge in situations such as that under consideration. When the motion to reconsider was put to a vote it failed to carry by a vote of 3 to 2, Commissioners Hicken and Voss voting affirmatively and Commissioners Merritt and Murchison and Mayor Prince opposing it.

Has Too Much Work.

During the discussion Commissioner Hicken stated that he believes it to be a physical impossibility for any one man to complete the contracts which P. McDonnell has been awarded. In reply to a question as to Commissioner Murchison of the works division, Commissioner Hicken said that a situation may later develop which may raise a question as to whether or not part of the work McDonnell now has should be taken away from him.

An examination of the records in the office of the city engineer show that McDonnell now has an unusually large amount of work under way or has the contracts for most of the big jobs which will be handled in Duluth this season.

McDonnell is now working on two contracts which were let to him last fall. They are East Fourth street between Twenty-third and Twenty-seventh avenues, for which the time set for completion is June 15, and Parkside avenue from Superior street to Vermilion road, for which the time set for completion is June 15.

Many New Contracts.

Other contracts which have been awarded him, with the times set for completion, are: East Fourth street between Sixth and Fourteenth avenues, Oct. 1; East First street between First and Sixth avenues, Sept. 15; East Sixth street between Eighteenth and Woodland avenues, Aug. 15; Twenty-second avenue east between Third and Fifth streets, Aug. 1; Victoria street between Woodland avenue and the Hartley road, Aug. 15; Seventeenth avenue east between Fourth and Seventh streets, Aug. 15. The total amount of the work involved is about $175,000. The six contracts awarded him this spring total approximately $120,000.

Contractor McDonnell believes that he will be able to take care of the work which is now under his charge. He explains that in other years he has had his contracting scattered in different cities hundreds of miles apart while this year he has practically all his work in Duluth. Being concentrated in one city he asserts that he will be able to complete them in the time limit if unforeseen circumstances do not arise.

Railroads

REA SAYS HIGHER RATES MUST COME

Relies on Public to Give Railroads a Fair Deal.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 6.—Speaking at a luncheon tendered him yesterday by the Pittsburg chamber of commerce, President Samuel Rea of the Pennsylvania railroad, forecasted a general increase in freight rates. Mr. Rea said:

"We find it most difficult for the railroads to raise money for improvements, and there is likelihood of it. We are asking no favors; all we want is fair play. The eastern divisions of the Pennsylvania are making less than 5 per cent on their investment. Consider the amount of money involved and the small return of 4.65 per cent. If the company had not been properly managed it would not be paying even this small return. We are therefore obliged to look forward to a general and moderate increase in rates. The recent floods have cost us $3,600,000, which amount has been a cash outlay. We must rely on the support of the public to procure the increase in rates, which it is clear we need.

"We do not know whether the government valuation of railroad properties is to be used for purposes of taxation, for purchase by the government, or to assist in the regulation of rates, but we do know that the law has been passed; the work is about to be undertaken, and that we propose to assist the interstate commerce commission in its mighty task. How we are going to trace back the cost of the system to its beginning, and how we are going to get at the present value, form a problem worthy the best efforts of the strongest minds. There are at present in this country between $15,000,000,000 and $16,000,000,000 worth of railroads."

WILL ENFORCE TOTAL ABSTINENCE ON TRAINS.

The Kansas railroads are preparing to ask the coming legislature to enact a law making the drinking of liquor by trainmen punishable by a heavy fine and a jail sentence.

All the railroads have rulings that their trainmen, engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen, flagmen, porters and train dispatchers, as well as switching men, must not drink while on duty.

COPPER STEEL RAILS GIVE GOOD SERVICE.

New York, May 6.—Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway officials say that complete reports on the 5,000 tons of the steel rails which the company ordered last year with an alloy of six-tenths of 1 per cent of copper which were laid in various sections of the system, principally in the Northwest, show that not one broken rail has been found in the lot. This is considered a remarkable showing. The company has ordered 10,000 more tons of the same copper steel rails and if the result is similar to the first lot, the road will adopt this rail as its standard.

SIXTY-MILE CONTRACT LET BY N. P. RAILROAD.

Mandan, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sixty-two miles of grade will be finished on the extension of the Northern Pacific west and north from Stanton, a contract for that work having been let. As yet no announcement has been made concerning the laying of steel on the extension. The Crook Construction company has the contract, and 350 teams and the equipment are being shipped in now, this city being used as the base of supply. Local railroad officials believe that steel will be laid from Stanton in time to place the line in operation this fall.

The line follows the Knife river and the Spring Creek bottoms, terminating near Golden Valley. It is through comparatively level country and there are few cuts and fills.

OREGON'S CAR LAW INVALID.

Washington, May 6.—The supreme court declared unconstitutional the Oregon reciprocal demurrage statute of 1907, without opinion further than announcing that the action was based on the authority of the "Hardwick grain elevator case." In the latter case the court held the Minnesota reciprocal demurrage law invalid because it interfered with interstate commerce.

MILWAUKEE ROAD PAYS BACK TAXES.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—The Milwaukee railway sent Monday to State Treasurer Smith a check for $40,739.58 in payment of back taxes from 1899 to 1911. The total amount due as certified by the state examiner to the state auditor, is $42,776.56 and includes $2,036.98 in penalties. Collection of penalties is to be turned over to the attorney general.

ABOUT THE COUNTRY

Governor Cruce of Oklahoma has signed a bill passed by the legislature, authorizing the state corporation commission to fix new passenger rates. An article in the state constitution originally fixed the passenger rate at 2 cents per mile. Since the 2 cents a mile rate has been enjoined, in the case now pending before the supreme court, it is said the commission proposes to fix the rate at 2¼ cents. A bill fixing the rate at 2¼ cents was vetoed by the governor.

* * *

The Southern Railway has supplied all its passenger conductors with collapsible paper drinking cups, which are to be furnished free to passengers who ask for them.

* * *

One hundred and twenty complaints charging violations of the Federal hours of service law have been filed in the Federal court, at Detroit, Mich., against the Grand Trunk. Twelve complaints have been filed against the Michigan Central, charging violation of the laws regulating the transportation of livestock.

* * *

A bill requiring separate cars for negroes has been reported unfavorably by a committee of the Illinois senate.

* * *

A new law in Pennsylvania, signed by the governor April 25, requires railroads to pay their employes twice a month.

Dairy Association to Meet.

Bismarck, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Northwestern Association of Dairy officials, including such officials from most of the American Northwest states, will be held in Bismarck June 12 and 13. Local arrangements are in the hands of President F. L. Conklin of the Bismarck Commercial club, and R. F. Flint, state dairy commissioner. J. G. Winkler of Minnesota is the president of the association, and James H. Wallace of Idaho is vice president.

Brainerd to Celebrate.

Brainerd, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Brainerd intends to have an old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration and the finance committee has already raised over $400 for the project. The sports program is to be held on the downtown business streets. The city has not celebrated for ten years and this one is to be something out of the ordinary and especially attractive to visitors.

Northwestern Launderers Meet.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arrangements are being made for the convention of the Northwestern Launderers' association here May 26 and 27.

CAPT. SCOTT NOT STARVED

Member of the Party That Found Bodies Talks at Winnipeg.

Lieut. Gran, on Way to London, Tells of Antarctic Tragedy.

Winnipeg, Man., May 6.—Exhaustion, not starvation, was the cause of the death of Capt. Scott and the men who died with him on his way back from the South Pole, according to Lieut. Gran, a member of the supporting party which found the bodies in the frozen Antarctic. Lieut. Gran stopped off in this city for a few hours on his way to London.

"The end of the party was peaceful," declared Gran. "When we came to the tent in which the bodies were, all was silent. The snow had drifted about the tent and something seemed to tell us that th end for them had come. All about us were desolate wastes of snow and ice, and a chill came over our hearts.

Scene in the Tents.

"Lieut. Wright of Toronto, a Canadian who commanded our little party, approached the tent first and lifted the flap. We followed, expecting the worst, and formed in a little group about the mouth of the tent. Capt. Scott lay on his back as if asleep, but outside of his sleeping bag. The bodies of Dr. Wilson and Lieut. Bowers were in their sleeping bags, and it was apparent that they had been carefully wrapped up by Capt. Scott, who evidently was the last to die.

"Lieut. Bowers lay on his side, exactly as if he were asleep. Dr. Wilson was sitting in a half-reclining position, his back against the inside of the tent, facing us as we entered. On his features were the traces of a faint smile, and he looked exactly as if he were about to awake from a sound sleep. I had often seen the same look on his face in the morning as he awakened, as he was of a most cheerful disposition. The look struck us to the heart and we all stood silent in the presence of this death."

Lieut. Gran, a stalwart young Norwegian, is en route from Vancouver to New York. Thence he will go to London to attend the meeting of the Royal Geographical society on May 23.

Fuel and Food Gone.

"While they did not die of starvation, still all their food had given out, and worst of all, their fuel," he said. "Then, it must be remembered that they were experiencing terrible storms, and a man cannot see in any direction when these storms are blowing.

"When we had secured all the equipment and the records of Capt. Scott, we laid the bodies side by side and said a burial service for them. We then removed the poles from the tent and covered the bodies over with the canvas. On top of this we built a cairn of snow and ice, about fifteen feet high. We then took two skis, bound them together in the form of a cross and erected it on top of the cairn, a last memorial to the dead, and left them where they fell."

Gran has in his possession Scott's diary and records.

STUDENT IS BLAMED FOR CHICAGO CRIME

Joseph Williams Must Answer for Death of Leon Lacount.

Chicago, May 6.—Joseph H. Williams was recommended after the inquest to be held to the grand jury without bail for the killing of Leon Lafayette Lacount. He shot Lacount after the latter had objected to attentions paid Mrs. Lacount.

The testimony showed that Lacount had spent but two days with his 17-year-old bride before he went to his duty as government inspector on the Panama canal, and that improper conduct, if any, between Williams and Mrs. Lacount, took place on only one occasion, when they knew the husband's return was imminent and they did not expect to see each other again. To spare the young widow embarrassment all persons but the jurors and the witnesses were excluded from the courtroom when Mrs. Lacount came to the point in her story where she told of her last meeting with Williams.

Wife Sticks to Him.

Kansas City, Mo., May 6.—"I think Joe must have been justified in shooting and I will stick to him through thick and thin," said Mrs. Joseph A. Williams, wife of the art student who shot and killed Harry Lacount in Chicago. Mrs. Williams left last night for Chicago to join her husband. Williams' mother, Mrs. Marcus T. C. Williams, accompanying her.

Mrs. Williams denied she and her husband had quarreled.

CONVENTION OF ODD FELLOWS

State Meeting Will Be Held in Duluth Next Month.

Plans are being made by local and range lodges of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows for entertaining the sixty-first annual state convention of the order in this city. The convention will be held on June 10 to 14, with the principal sessions in the Auditorium The Rebekah order will hold its convention during the same days at the Spina block, Lake avenue and First street.

It is planned to entertain about 1,500 guests during the convention days. While most of these will be from this state it is expected that there will be a large attendance from other states and Canada.

A feature of the entertainments planned will be a monster parade of Odd Fellows. The Odd Fellows band from the order's home at Northfield, Minn., will head the affair. The parade will be held on Wednesday, June 11. Sightseeing trips in automobiles and excursions up the river and out on the lake are also planned for the visitors.

The committees in charge of the arrangements are: Dr. W. H. Konkler, chairman general committee; L. A. Simonson, secretary, and A. R. Beaty, treasurer.

QUEZON DENOUNCES CHARGE OF SLAVERY

Says Philippine Commission Is Responsible If It Exists There.

Washington, May 6.—"The conduct of Secretary Worcester is a new evidence that prompt action should be taken to relieve every one of the members of the Philippine commission, from the governor general down," wrote Manuel Quezon, resident commissioner of the Philippines, in a protest filed today with Secretary Garrison against Mr. Worcester's statement that slavery exists in the islands. Resident Commissioner Earnshaw of the Philippines joined in the statement.

Mr. Quezon's letter says that if slavery exists in the Philippines, the Philippine commission alone is responsible for the lack of proper legislation "to punish this inhuman, savage crime," and adds:

"Not until recently has this question of slavery been brought up, and only for the purpose of telling the American people that the Philippine assembly, as representing the capacity of the Filipinos for self-government, is a failure. Governor Forbes also gave out a statement similar to Mr. Worcester. Whether or not as a matter of policy the present incumbents of the commission should be relieved, he certainly has done enough, not only in this case but in previous ones, to merit the loss of privilege of being one of the administrators and legislators of a people whom he finds pleasure in slandering."

ARREST SUSPECT FOR PHAGAN GIRL'S DEATH

Woman in Houston Hotel Gives Police Tip as to Man.

Houston, Tex., May 6.—A man who gave his name as Paul P. Bowen is under arrest here in connection with the finding of the body of Mary Phagan in an Atlanta factory a week ago.

Bowen was arrested after a woman, whose room adjoined his in a local hotel, informed the police of the young man's unusual actions. From Bowen's trunk, over which the woman said she saw him sobbing, the police said they took a girl's vest, apparently blood-stained, and a photograph identified as that of Mary Phagan.

An additional charge—that of "white slavery" has been lodged against Bowen.

The police announced they would hold the prisoner and the contents of his trunk pending the arrival of Atlanta officers. They said many letters discovered in the trunk bore Atlanta dates, that some of them were signed "Mary," and others "M. P."

Bowen gave his age as 22. He refused to discuss his arrest.

Mrs. A. Blanchette, the police informer, said she heard Bowen talking to himself, saying:

"Why did I do it? If I could just live it over again I wouldn't do it!"

UNCLE SAM TO PROBE REDUCTIONS IN PAY

Inquiry Will Be Made Wherever Cuts Follow Lowering of Tariff.

Washington, May 6.—If reductions in wages of workingmen follow the enactment of the Democratic tariff bill, the investigating powers of the department of commerce will be called on to establish whether they are of a bona fide nature. Secretary Redfield has declared that is his purpose.

President Wilson has said he would make an effort to learn the cause of any reductions of pay following the passage of the bill, and to callers indicated a general approval of Mr. Redfield's ideas. The secretary of commerce and the president had a conference at which Mr. Redfield talked over the powers of the department.

Mr. Redfield declared at the White House that probably the first inquiry would be into the pottery industry, for which, he said, representations had been made that a reduction in wages would follow changes in duties.

SEEK JURY TO TRY JACK JOHNSON CASE

Chicago, May 6.—The work of selecting a jury to try Jack Johnson, the negro prizefighter, on a charge of violating the Mann white slave act, continued in Federal Judge Carpenter's court today.

The twelve veniremen chosen by the government yesterday were tendered to the defense for examination. The list of questioning was designed to disclose whether the veniremen intertained prejudices against miscegnation, pugilism, or the negro race.

C. A. Gifford of Elgin, Ill., admitted that he was prejudiced against the defendant because of the suicide of Etta Duryea Johnson, the fighter's first white wife.

ITALY LOSES IN COURT AT HAGUE.

The Hague, Netherlands, May 6.—The Franco-Italian court of arbitration dealing with the seizure by Italian warships during the Turco-Italian war of the French steamers Carthage and Manouba, decided today that Italy was in the wrong and condemned the Italian government to pay $32,000 and $800 in the respective cases.

The Carthage was seized on Jan. 10, 1912, on suspicion that she had contraband goods on board. She was released two days later on the request of the French government.

The Manouba was seized on Jan. 19, 1912, while she was carrying a Turkish medical mission. She was allowed to proceed on her voyage after landing her Turkish passengers.

ARE ENTERTAINED.

Committees on Peace Celebration Not at Work Yet.

New York, May 6.—Aside from a forenoon conference of the sub-committees, no set program was arranged today for the delegates to the international conference on the proposed celebration of 100 years of peace among English-speaking peoples.

The delegates were invited to luncheon today as the guests of Henry Clews, and will be entertained at dinner tonight by Cornelius Vanderbilt. On Thursday the visitors will be entertained by Col. Roosevelt and by Andrew Carnegie.

Mill City Woman Pensioned.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 6.—The first mothers' pension to a Minneapolis woman was granted Monday by Judge E. F. Waite in juvenile court, who directed that $20 a month be paid out of county funds to a widow with two small children. Her husband died three years ago and she had been making every effort to support the children.

AGRICULTURIST LEADERS MEET.

Rome, May 6.—The general assembly of the International Institute of Agriculture was inaugurated today in the presence of delegates representing fifty-three countries. Among those from the United States were David Lubin, California; Dr. Alfred C. True, director of the office of experiment stations, Washington; Prof. C. W. Pugeley, Nebraska, and Prof. T. J. Brooks, Mississippi.

The inaugural address was delivered by Marquis Rafaelo Cappelli, president of the institute, who pointed out the progress already made toward the realization of the ideals of the institution.

WANT TROOPS AT THE POLLS.

Charleston, W. Va., May 6.—A demand for troops to preserve order at the polls during the city election at Bluefield was made on Governor Hatfield today by citizens of that town, who allege Democrats are preventing Republicans from serving as election officers and because a Democratic clerk refused to sign ballots. The militia company at Bluefields has been ordered to be in readiness for service.

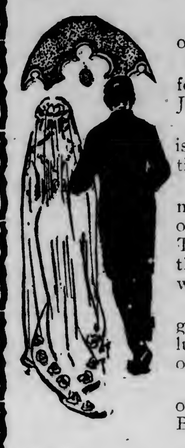
THE STORE FOR SERVICE.

113-115-117-119 WEST SUPERIOR STREET, DULUTH, MINN.

Here Comes the Bride!



June, the month of "Brides" and month of "Roses" will soon be here.

In fact right now we are giving you a fore-glimpse of events that characterize June weddings.

The entire set of Arcade Show Windows is given over to a series of Bridal suggestions.

In the East Arcade Window Milady's maid is seen packing the trousseau. This one window is a study complete in itself. The well groomed maid is busy arranging the bridal outfit in those new and convenient wardrobe and steamer trunks.

Lingerie—hosiery — gloves — parasols — gowns and suits, toilet necessities and hand luggage that stamp the owner as a person of discrimination.

On the wall hangs a painting of a scene on the Great Northern Railway where our Bridal Party will go.

In the next window may be seen the Bridal laces—exquisite as needs be and so beautiful that they will be prized by future generations.

To the right in the inner windows are seen some beautifully gowned guests and a little sister of the Bride.

At the left of the inner windows are seen linens which will make a Bride's heart leap for joy—in fact, women who are not Brides will be possessed by envious longings for them.

In the next window, the Wedding Breakfast Table has just been set. The maid is just withdrawing to summon the guests.

The last picture of the series is the Wedding Party in which the Bride and her attendants are seen marching down the aisle and so well is it executed that one may well imagine hearing the strains of Lohengrin.

This series of pictures will suggest much that is helpful to the "Bride-to-be" and her friends.

It will offer suggestions of what to wear and of what to give and scattered here and there may be seen most artistic little cards bearing delightful sentiments which will long be treasured.

This little panorama has been prepared for your pleasure and benefit. Will you not see it tomorrow and bear in mind that throughout the store are rich stocks of things suitable for the festive occasion?

And you know that if it comes from Gray's it is good, and we think nothing is too good for the bride.

So we are ready with the best procurable in styles and in designs. They are as uncommon as they are attractive and as is well known—Gray's prices are reasonable—always. We charge nothing extra for style.

Beautiful 44-Inch Bordered Foulards at $1.19 a Yard

These are those handsome regular $2 qualities in the wanted shades of blue, brown, gray and black. Neat, effective patterns and extra qualities. When $1.19 being made up into a gown they require practically no trimming on account of the border. Many are also buying them for Pullman robes and kimonos. Five yards are required for a gown. Regular $2.00 qualities, $1.19 yard.

GIRLS' HOME FOR DULUTH

Commissioners Want the County Board to Establish One.

Board Makes Distribution of the County Road Fund.

At its meeting this afternon the county board may be prevailed upon by a delegation from the city hall, including Commissioner W. A. Hicken and City Attorney Harvey Clapp, to appropriate funds and otherwise provide for the establishment of a girls' industrial home in Duluth.

A recent law passed by the last legislature gives the county the right to expend $5,000 for buildings and equipment and an annual allowance of $3,500 for maintenance.

The proposed home is intended for unfortunate rather than incorrigible girls. If established, a matron of experience will be put in charge. Girls may be committed there from the juvenile and police courts.

* * *

Appropriations were made by the county board for road purposes in the following districts this morning as follows: Fifth district, $30,400; Fourth district, $17,300; Sixth district, $2,800, and Third district, $1,000, for the new Hutchinson road.

* * *

The board late this afternoon passed a resolution which will enable the county to retire $20,000 worth of the $60,000 courthouse bond issue which does not mature until 1918. By doing so, the county will save paying interest, which would amount to about $2,500.

* * *

The board authorized the county treasurer to hire six additional clerks during the next four months, each at a salary of $75. This was done in order to take care of the tax collections. The board confirmed Sheriff Meining's appointment of Frank Carlson as deputy sheriff to take the place of Edward Slocum, resigned.

Two Estates Closed.
In probate court yesterday afternoon Judge Gilpin allowed final accountings in the estates of Thomas J. Wilton and Fred Reynolds, in each of which there was about $4,000. An administrator was appointed in the estate of Peter Wesela of Floodwood, who left property worth about $3,000. Wesela leaves a daughter and son at Floodwood and a widow in the old country. The latter is insane.

Dr. H. E. Webster has moved his offices from the Providence building to 309 and 310 Lyceum building.

Organizing Farmers.
County Agricultural Agent Fred Ward is busy organizing farmers' clubs throughout the county. He organized the farmers at Gnesen, Sunday, and last evening held an organization meeting at the Garfield school on the Hermantown road. Mr. Ward says the farmers are enthusiastically seeking information on better farming methods and he looks forward to a most successful season in the county.

Verdict for House Mover.
A jury in district court yesterday returned a verdict in favor of Victor Gustafson, house mover at Ely, Minn., and against the Ely Finnish Stock company, for $646. The plaintiff sued for damages to a house which Mr. Gustafson was moving, claiming that while it was in transit employes of the defendant entered it and removed some shelving, which caused the building to collapse.

Arrested for Larceny.
William H. La Salle, 26 years old, a barber, was arrested in Superior yesterday afternoon by Detective Toewe on a grand larceny charge. He is alleged to have stolen $250 from May Durling of West Helm street. The money is said to have been taken from a trunk in which she had it hidden. In police court today he asked for an examination and will have an examination later.

Aerial Bridge in Norfolk.
Norfolk, Va., may have an aerial bridge modeled after the Duluth bridge. W. B. Patton and Mrs. Patton left today for Norfolk mainly on a pleasure trip, but Mr. Patton will confer on the plans for the proposed new bridge while in the Southern city.

Removal Notice.
The Penn Mutual Life Insurance company, Henry J. Finneo, general agent, has taken offices in 602 and 603 Providence building.

TRAGIC DEATHS IN UPPER PENINSULA.

Marquette, Mich., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fatalities in Upper Michigan are reported as follows:

Negaunee—Anade Paradise, aged 5 years, son of Leonard Paradise; run over and killed by a wagon on which he was stealing a ride.

Sault Ste. Marie—Helena Burnes, aged 6, daughter of John Burnes; struck and killed by a runaway horse.

Rexton—Dorothy Browning, aged 11, daughter of William Browning; fatally burned by a hush fire with which the child was playing.

At Blaney—Louis Welke, aged 74; killed by a flying splinter while blasting stumps with dynamite; George Walick seriously maimed in the same accident.

ANGLERS DID WELL IN MORGAN POND.

Eagle Mills, Mich., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Probably the biggest haul of brook trout taken in Upper Michigan at the opening of the season a few days ago was the combined catch of the anglers who visited the Morgan pond near Eagle Mills. Daybreak found more than a score of men and boys at the water's edge. Most of these had spent the night at the pond engaged in building rafts from which to fish. Luck was good all day. It is the estimate of Deputy Game Warden John Rough of Negaunee that not less than 300 pounds of trout were taken before nightfall. The Morgan pond is not more than two acres in extent.

McCarty Is Matched.

Calgary, Alta., May 6.—Luther McCarty will meet Arthur Pelkey in a ten-round bout here Saturday, May 24. Tommy Burns received a wire today from McCarty accepting conditions and agreeing to a match with Pelkey.

Diamond Broker Murdered.

San Francisco, Cal., May 6.—Herman Saxe, a diamond broker, was shot and seriously wounded in his store by a daring robber who fled before the crime was discovered, taking with him $450 in gold, $1,165 in currency and diamonds worth $4,000.

SOCIETY BUDS VISIT OPENING MEET OF ROCKAWAY HUNT CLUB

MARION HOLLIS.

The Rockaway Hunt club opened the out-of-door season in New York by a race meet on Long Island. At these race meetings the people in the grand stand are always more interesting than the horses. Two of the prettiest girls in the paddock were Marjorie Curtis and Marion Hollins.

Miss Marion Hollins is one of the younger members of society. She is the daughter of Harry B. Hollins, the banker. Miss Hollins is a member of the Colony club and also of the Ladies' Coaching club. She is a fine whip. Miss Hollins spent last summer in Europe with her parents and the winter in Aiken, S. C.

EXPRESS COMPANY DRIVERS WALK OUT

Buffalo Employes Aroused By Discharge of Union Men.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 6.—Two strikes involving 400 men were declared at midnight. Three hundred drivers and depot men employed by the American, Wells Fargo, United States, Adams and National Express companies, quit work as a protest against the discharge of sixty men who had joined their recently formed union. No demands in regard to wages and hours have been submitted.

Linemen, cable splicers and switchboard installers employed by the Federal Telephone company, numbering 100 men struck for a scale of $3 a day, an increase of 25 cents.

All the department stores affected by the strike of clerks and drivers are open for business and the managers reported that they handle the trade without difficulty.

COMPENSATION BILL AMENDMENTS FAIL

Wisconsin Assembly Sends Labor Measure to Engrossment.

Madison, Wis., May 6.—By a vote of 57 to 17 the assembly today sent to engrossment the workmen's compensation bill as reported by the committee. Repeated attempts were made to amend and defeat the bill. As engrossed, it wipes out the defense of contributory negligence and places all employers of labor under the law, unless they elect to stay out.

Assemblyman Don C. Hall protested against reconsideration of the vote by which the Sawyer resolution for an investigation of fraternities was indefinitely postponed, while Rosa advocated reconsideration. If this vote failed, Anderson declared he would introduce something that would "put some teeth in the measure." Assemblyman Bowe said no power could uncover the secrets of the fraternities, and a law abolishing such societies would be unconstitutional. The resolution was indefinitely postponed.

Bills Passed By Assembly.

The following bills were passed by the assembly:

Providing that physicians called in accident cases are competent to testify on either side.

Providing for a four-year term for mayor, treasurer, comptroller, commissioner of public works, city engineer, city clerk, president of the common council and all ward aldermen in cities of the first class.

The senate killed the Culbertson bill providing for a senate committee to confer with the university regents upon moral conditions in and near the university.

The Bosshard bill appropriating money for the care of tuberculosis sufferers in county sanitariums was passed under suspension of the rules.

The senate passed the White bill, increasing the state game warden's salary from $2,000 to $2,500.

MAY GRAND JURY

The grand jury will convene tomorrow at the opening of the May term of court. The following have been subpoenaed to appear in court at 11 o'clock before Judge Dancer, who will have charge of the call of the calendar:

MAXFIELD QUITS HIS JOB AT ONCE

Resignation, Effective Immediately, Accepted By Board of Immigration.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The resignation, effective immediately, of H. J. Maxfield, state immigration commissioner, was accepted today by the state board of immigration. Mr. Maxfield resigned last Friday to take effect Aug. 1, but the board at a short session today made his resignation effective at once.

Fred D. Sherman, clerk of the board, was appointed assistant commissioner and placed in charge of the office.

The board's action today, it is said, was taken as a result of a statement issued yesterday by Mr. Maxfield in which he charged certain members of the board with "pursuing a policy of secrecy" with regard to the handling of the immigration offices affairs.

DEFENSE IS HEARD IN HARVESTER CASE

Minnesota Prison Binders Praised By Witness From Perham.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota witnesses, under the questioning of International Harvester company's attorneys in the hearing here of the suit brought by the government under the Sherman law, today testified that prices of the company's machines had not gone up in the last ten years, although many improvements had been made since the International company was organized.

L. W. Ayer, a farmer from Belle Prairie, Minnesota, testified that great improvement had been made in the last ten years; that the binders run lighter and that prices are the same. On cross-examination by E. P. Grosvenor, Ayer admitted that he paid $315 for his first binder about thirty years ago.

"The prices went down about $200 during the years of competition then?" asked Grosvenor.

The witness replied that "he did not know," but that they had been stationary during the past ten years. He also admitted that he purchased a mower not made by the International because he liked it better.

A number of witnesses from Wisconsin also testified for the defense today.

Praises Prison Binder.

A Marokel of Perham, Minn., testified that no other farm implement had improved so much as the McCormick binder and retained the same price, but on cross-examination he declared that the Minnesota prison binder had the same improvements and gave the same service.

J. H. Miller of Big Lake, Minn., said that farmers in his district would purchase nothing else than International makes.

FOR THE HOME BUILDER.

Kansas City Times: In building a home, one desires to utilize every inch of space from a standpoint of attractiveness, convenience and economy.

What is more convenient in the home than a large, deep closet for bedding? This can be built in over the stairway. There is necessarily a jog there and why not make use of the space? The space under the stairway, opening off the landing to the cellar, makes an ideal place for a built-in tool chest. Here the tools may be kept together, perfectly dry and in good condition.

A built-in buffet in the dining room is a delight to any housewife. But build it in flush with the wall. It is much prettier and more convenient than if extending out into the room, taking up space.

If high pedestals are used supporting columns in the opening between living and dining room, artistic bookcases may be made of these pedestals, if wide enough, by putting in leaded glass doors and inserting shelves. These are ornamental and useful and a labor-saver for the housewife.

What is more unsightly on the front porch than a pile of muddy rubbers? Build a zinc lined drawer or box under porch floor, near front door, with trap door to be lifted with small flush ring. This door would be scarcely noticed, and the rubbers may be kept dry and out of sight. This arrangement may be used on front, side or rear porch. On rear porch it makes a good place for keeping food, if well covered, when one discontinues taking ice.

A built-in dresser closet is a convenience in any bedroom. Build in flush with wall a closet eight feet wide with three doors opening out of it, each door one and three-quarter feet or two feet wide. Let floor of closet be about eight inches above floor of room. Divide this under space with lid opened with small flush rings. These make convenient shoe boxes, keeping the shoes free from dust, and it is not necessary to remove them each time the closet is cleaned.

Three boxes may be built in above closet, each with a door the same width as the closet door below. In the closet extend a rod lengthwise, upon which to hang coats and suits, using the hangers. It is surprising how many garments may be hung in a closet of this kind. The closet may be any height desired.

WIRE MILL MEN RETURN TO WORK

Difficulty at Dollar Bay Mills Has Been Adjusted.

Hancock, Mich., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The men employed at the Roebling wire mills at Dollar Bay, which were closed down last Thursday, after certain demands had been made by the employes, reopened with full force yesterday morning, the difficulties having been adjusted. Manager Foley states that on Friday night, after he had agreed to make certain advances in wages to some of the younger men, who it was claimed were doing as much and as difficult work as the older ones, a meeting of the employes was held and it was decided to return to work on Saturday and the remainder Monday morning.

KILLED AT PAINESDALE.

Hancock, Mich., May 6.—Emil Kakkala, aged 25, having a wife and one child, employed as a car dumper, was killed yesterday by falling from the railway trestle in front of the Copper Range station at Painesdale, when a car went over the edge of the trestle. A brakeman, who was also on the car, was unhurt.

THE BIGGEST WHIRLPOOL

In the Wide World Magazine W. O. Symon gives an interesting account of his experiences in South America. In regard to the junction of the Madre de Dios and Inambari rivers, Mr. Symes says:

Just before the junction the latter river divides into two arms, with an island some two miles long in between. The right arm, which is usually the safer for navigation, was at the time of our arrival impassable, owing to the recent and excessive drouth that had caused the formation of perilous rapids. We had, in consequence, to take the wide left arm, down which the main volume of the river was then flowing.

The reader can imagine the enormous force of water that was being shot into the Madre de Dios, when he realizes that the Inambari at its left arm junction was 300 yards wide, perhaps 20 feet in depth, and flowing at 6 knots an hour. This great mass of water met the Madre de Dios, itself 400 yards wide here, at a right angle. The current of the Inambari being faster than the Madre de Dios, the former river cut its way through the latter, right across to the farther bank. There the Inambari was thrown back, and surged round in a huge circle 200 yards in diameter, to join up again with the water flowing to the bank. The whirlpool thus formed was probably one of the largest in the world. (I have purposely used the past tense in this description, as the course of the Inambari is constantly changing near its mouth.) The circles of seething water curled inward and downward, screw fashion, to their center, which appeared as a great hole, at least six feet below the level of the outer rim.

FRENCH DANCER WHO APPEARS IN THE NUDE THREATENS TO INVADE AMERICA

ADOREE VILLANY.

Adoree Villany is a French dancer who was arrested in Munich some time ago for dancing in the nude and who was forbidden by the Paris police to give a similar exhibition at the Theater de la Comedie Royale in February. Mlle. Villany was doing some antique dances before an audience composed largely of artists in the Bavarian capital when the police took her from the stage. There was a strong protest from the artists present who said that the exhibition was purely artistic and should have been allowed to continue. Among those who protested were Hugo von Abermann, A. von Hildebrand, August von Kaulbach, Albert von Keller, Ernest Liebermann, Dr. Max Halbe. Mlle. Villany's defence of her dancing is that it is necessary that she should be undraped to give full expression to her emotions. She says that a draped dancer dances only with her feet while she dances with her whole body. She says that the line is everything in art. Painters, sculptors, architects sacrifice all to it. Why then not the dancer? But the police are coarse rude persons. They refuse to see in Mlle. Villany's work anything but an exhibition of the nude. Therefore they refuse to allow her to appear. It is reported that the dancer is to come to the United States. If she expects to find more liberality here than in Munich and in Paris she will be rudely disillusioned. New York will drag her into the police court and Pittsburg's director of public safety will tell her to put on her flannels.

DECLINES IN ALL MARKETS

Grains of All Kinds Show Slump Throughout Day.

Chicago Board Said to Have a Heavy "Short" Interest.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 6.—The various grains in almost every American market closed today at their respective low points. It was a case of sag from the beginning to the end of the sessions. Feeble and few were the attempts at rallying. Word comes from Chicago that the Chicago crowd is on top of wheat, and that every professional is short of wheat and selling it.

In the Duluth market May wheat closed at the low point of the day, which was ¾c below the opening, July closed at 1⅛c below the opening, May durum closed at ⅝c off, May flax closed 1c under yesterday's close and July option closed at 1⅜c under yesterday. Cash wheat closed ¾c to ⅞c under July option, oats closed up ⅛c, barley went up 1c and rye is unchanged.

Weak cables and heavy receipts of wheat caused a gentle sag in the Duluth market today, with but few trades and slight chances of recovery. As a superinducement to discourage would-be bulls, came the news from all sections of grain growing states that crops are doing fine, weather conditions are ideal and winter wheat is looking at its best. Such news caused a heavy drop in Liverpool and the continental markets in addition to which is the likelihood of no war.

On the Duluth board very little trading is being done in futures. Cash sales are fair, and news from Minneapolis gives cash sales there as being strong.

Export business in general from the American Atlantic seaboard is practically nil, Canada doing about all the exporting there is, and that mostly of flax. Barley took a sharp upward turn this morning on strong demand.

There was no trading in May wheat this morning until almost 11 o'clock. It opened at ¼c off and soon went down ½c further. The July option opened at yesterday's closing price, but soon sagged down ⅜c. May durum, opening at 93⅝c, after closing yesterday at 93¾c, fell off to 93c, and July durum, after opening ⅛ off, dropped another ½c.

Flax Inactive.

May flax took a long time to get on the blackboard. There was no opening figure quoted and it was about 11 o'clock before anything in the way of recognition of the option was registered. May closed yesterday at $1.30 asked, and that is what it registered this morning. July flax opened at $1.31¾, the same as yesterday's close, crowded up to $1.31, and then came back to $1.31½. September remained steady with only a few quotations.

MARKET GOSSIP.

The Daily Consular and Trade Reports issued by the government publish a brief account by Consul General John E. Jones at Winnipeg in which he tells about the movement in the Canadian Northwest to have hay and straw graded. He says:

"The associate boards of trade of Southern Alberta have devised a set of rules for grading hay and straw, which will be submitted to the farmers before requesting government approval.

"Last winter the boards of trade of Southern Alberta started a campaign to establish rules which should govern the grading of hay and straw, to insure their inspection for the Western provinces. This organization, with headquarters at Lethbridge, considered that by adopting a set of inspection rules and establishing grades, better prices could be obtained by the farmers. Experience has demonstrated that certain parts of the province, especially Southern Alberta, produce better qualities of hay than other sections. It is contended, therefore, that all hay should not be classed as one grade.

"While grains have been for many years subject to inspection and grades, there have never been any official grades for Western hay. An effort was made some years ago to establish grades, but such a difference of opinion arose between the provinces that the matter was dropped. The question has been reopened by the boards of trade of Southern Alberta. A collection of hay and straw has been made and graded according to experts and will be submitted to the dominion department of agriculture at Ottawa for approval, after the farmers have considered the subject. A letter campaign is being instituted in which farmers, after viewing the grades established by experts, have been asked to write their opinions to the secretary of the general association.

"A copy of the grades suggested by the committee will be loaned on application to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce at Washington."

A dispatch from Chicago says that the lower cable due to a lack of spot demand, the settlement of political troubles and better Russian news. The domestic situation ideal. Weather is fine everywhere and winter wheat is maturing rapidly. "Deelines" the dispatch says "will be fought stubbornly but in view of present crop prospects, poor cash demand and the probability of the tariff bill passing in its present form, we believe sales are in order on all hard spots."

Says a dispatch from Minneapolis: Cash market firm. Good general milling demand for the desirable grades. One northern blue stem mostly 2c over May with soft Minnesota 3c over and extra choice 3c over May; velvet chaq 1½@2c over May. Flour reports are discouraging as millers claim it is next to impossible to interest buyers.

Reports of wheat heading are coming from Illinois, Kansas and Oklahoma. The crop is about two weeks earlier than a year ago and this should affect July wheat values materially.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Rain in Winter Wheat Belt Lowers Wheat Values.

Chicago, May 6.—Lowering of wheat values today was a consequence of additional good rains in the winter wheat belt. Cables came half to ⅝d off because of favorable Russian and American crop advices. Practical settlement of the Scutari episode also was a weakening factor. Opening figures showed declines of a shade to ⅜c. July started ⅛@¼c to ⅛@⅜c off, at 90⅛@90¼c and weakened to 89¾@89⅞c.

Decrease of more than 11,000,000 bu in the world's visible supply failed to check the decline. The close was weak with July at 1⅛c net loss, at 89⅛@89¾c.

Corn showed some nervousness, lower cables were offset by good demand here. July opened ⅛c off at 55½c, dipped to 55¼c and reacted to 55⅛@55⅜c.

Selling pressure developed later and prices again weakened. The close was weak with July at 55c, a net decline of ⅜c.

Oats were easy with other grains. July opened a shade lower at 34⅛@34⅜c and dropped to 34⅛c.

Provisions opened irregular, 2½c higher to 10c lower. Buying of lard later gave a firm tone to the market. July first prices: Pork, $19.45@19.55; lard, $10.82½@10.85; ribs, $11.07½.

Hay Prices.

Choice grades of good timothy hay are in good demand today at unchanged prices. There is some inquiry for upland hay just now. There has been no demand for this for some time. All lower grades are slow sales, being at irregular prices.

STOCKS GO DOWNWARD

Bears Meet Little Opposition and Prices Give Way Abruptly.

Southern Pacific Drops to Lowest Point in Five Years.

New York, May 6.—Improvement of the foreign markets had no influence on stock trading here today. Bears raided the list. Developments favored short selling. The closing down of several textile mills and persistent weakness of the Harriman shares tended to spread pessimism. Recent campaigns against the short interest put the market in a less favorable position to oppose professional selling and the bears met little opposition. Bonds easy.

First prices of stocks today disclosed irregular changes. The Harriman shares and Pennsylvania were heavy. Missouri Pacific and Canadian Pacific rose a point each. The copper group moved up on rather large buying.

Lack of support to Harrimans deterred buyers and induced short selling, which cost Reading a point and Steel half as much. Beet Sugar was strong and Rumely preferred rose substantially on the progress making in readjusting its finances.

Weakness of standard stocks left many of the minor properties in a rather vulnerable position, and when the bears put out tentative selling orders, prices gave way sharply.

Underwood Typewriter and Virginia-Carolina Chemical issues reached new low records.

Traders sold the Harriman stocks at will, Southern Pacific falling 3¼ and Union Pacific 3 points. Active selling also went on in other parts of the list. Interborough Metropolitan pfeferred gave way 3 points, Reading and Steel 1½, and numerous other shares a point or more. The halt to the improvement in the bond market and the unmistakable slowing up of general business increased bearish sentiment.

The market closed weak. When the break in Southern Pacific reached 4 points, the price touching 94¼, the lowest in five years, the general market gave way more abruptly. High priced railroad stocks scored losses of 1 to 2 points and some industrials were much weaker.

LEGAL NOTICES.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION —OF— STERLING LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANY.

We, the undersigned, do hereby associate ourselves together and adopt the following articles for the purpose of forming a corporation under and pursuant to the laws of the State of Minnesota.

I.

The name of this corporation shall be STERLING LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANY.

II.

The general nature of the business to be carried on by this corporation shall be the buying, selling, owning, leasing, holding, handling, mortgaging and otherwise dealing in lands, tenements, hereditaments, bonds, notes, mortgages and other real and personal property. The constructing, handling, selling, owning and otherwise dealing in buildings, houses and other structures. The placing and making of loans on real estate and personal property and negotiating and selling notes, mortgages, bonds and other securities. The acting as agent for individuals and corporations in the handling of real estate, houses, structures, real and personal property.

III.

The principal place of transacting the business of this corporation shall be in the City of Duluth, in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, and the period of its duration shall be thirty (30) years.

IV.

The names and places of residence of the persons so associating to form said corporation are the following:

William B. Mallough, Duluth, Minnesota.

Robert C. Weddell, Duluth, Minnesota.

H. H. Phelps, Duluth, Minnesota.

V.

The management of the affairs of this corporation shall be vested in a board of directors of three persons who shall be stockholders in the corporation, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum to do business. Until the first annual election the following persons shall compose the board of directors, viz.:

William B. Mallough, Duluth, Minnesota.

Robert C. Weddell, Duluth, Minnesota.

H. H. Phelps, Duluth, Minnesota.

The annual meetings of the stockholders of said corporation for the election of directors shall be held on the first Tuesday of January of each year, at the office of the corporation in Duluth, Minnesota, at such hour of the day as shall be fixed by the by-laws or by the board of directors.

VI.

The officers of this corporation shall be a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer, and the offices of President and Treasurer, or Vice President and Treasurer, or Secretary and Treasurer may be held by one and the same person. ORDER FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.—ss.
In Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of James B. Walker, Decedent.

THE PETITION OF J. O. Walker, having been filed in this Court, representing, among other things, that James B. Walker, then being a resident of the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, died intestate, at Terre Haute, State of Indiana, on the 13th day of April, 1913; leaving estate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and that said petitioner is the son and sole heir at law of said decedent and praying that Letters of Administration of the estate of said decedent be granted to him, the said J. O. Walker;

IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in Duluth, in said County, on Monday, the 19th day of May, 1913, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald according to law, and that a copy of this Order be served on the County Treasurer of St. Louis County not less than ten days prior to said day of hearing.

NOTICE—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.
District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

Thomas Cichon, as administrator of the Estate of Franciszek Cichon, Deceased, Plaintiff, vs.
Swan River Logging Company, Ltd., Defendant.

To Katarzyna Cichon, Joseph Cichon, Mary Cichon, and all other persons interested in the estate of Franciszek Cichon, deceased:

Pursuant to the order of the above named Court duly made in the above entitled matter, notice is hereby given:

That the undersigned, Thomas Cichon, is the administrator of the estate of Franciszek Cichon, deceased, and that he has in his possession a certain sum of money received by him as damages on account of the wrongful death of said deceased.

That an application has been made to the District Court of St. Louis County, Eleventh Judicial District, Minnesota, for an order to determine the lawful heirs and next of kin and other persons entitled to the distribution of said fund, as creditors or otherwise, and authorizing and directing the undersigned representative to distribute said fund in accordance with such determination.

That said application will be brought on for hearing before said court at a special term thereof, to be held in the County Court House in Duluth, Minnesota, on the 21st day of June, 1913, at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, at which time and place all persons interested in the distribution of said fund may assert their claims and will be heard therein.

Dated this 28th day of April, 1913.

THOMAS CICHON,
Administrator of the Estate of Franciszek Cichon, Decedent.
D. H., April 29, May 6, 13, 1913.

ORDER TO EXAMINE FINAL ACCOUNT—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.
In Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of William Clyman Yawkey, Decedent:

THE PETITION OF William H. Yawkey, Cyrus C. Yawkey and Augusta L. Austin, as representatives of the above named decedent, together with their final account of the administration of said estate, having been filed in this court, representing, among other things that they have fully administered said estate, and praying that said final account of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representatives and the sureties on their bond.

IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard, and said final account examined, adjusted, and if correct, allowed by the Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, on Monday the 19th day of May, 1913, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald according to law and by mailing a copy hereof to each heir and interested party at least 14 days before the day for hearing.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., April 21st, 1913.

FOR SALE.
"FAULTLESS" HOUDANS.
This strain has been egg-bred from trapnest records since April, 1890. I have bred them 21 years for great layers and 12 years for large-size chalk-white eggs. These fowls are extremely hardy, have neither comb nor wattle to freeze, and are the best all-winter layers in open-front coops. "Faultless" strain Houdans have won every blue ribbon at New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia shows for past six years. Eggs and stock sold on honor. Send 10 cents for the largest illustrated poultry catalogue ever issued; it tells you how to breed these fowls, which average 250 eggs a year apiece; it tells you how to net $3,000 a year from 100 hens. BUY IN DULUTH.

IT IS a recognized fact that advertised goods must be quality goods because no manufacturer can afford to advertise an article that is inferior in any way. The manufacturer must have repeat orders to make money. The only way he can get them is to be able to guarantee his product. And the only way he can safely give a guarantee is to have his goods so perfect that he will not be called upon to "make good" on his guarantee. Advertised goods must be right—therefore they must be profitable for you to handle and stand back of.

INCOME TAX SECTION OF TARIFF BILL GIVES THEME FOR MUCH TALK

House May Not Pass the Measure Until Thursday.

Tariff Board Question Expected to Appear Again.

Effort to Levy on Salary of the President Fails.

Washington, May 7.—The income tax section of the tariff bill had so retarded progress of the measure in the house that Democratic leaders early today expressed doubt of the bill's passage before tomorrow.

Majority Leader Underwood sought, when the house reconvened, to speed up consideration of the section, but there were scores of minority amendments and he found it difficult to fix any time for closing the debate.

Following the income tax were the administrative features of the bill, with several stumbling blocks in the way, notably the provision giving a 5 per cent differential on imports in American-owned vessels. Should these features be reached before the night session, the Democrats plan to bring about an agreement for a vote before adjournment, probably about midnight.

How Over Tariff Board.

After the reading of the bill is concluded under the five-minute rule there may be two motions to recommit. Minority Leader Mann will have one motion which will include amendments to the bill as a whole.

Because of the chair's ruling yesterday that the amendment providing a tariff board is not germane to the bill, another fight on that feature seems assured. The Republicans plan to introduce it again at the close of the bill's ruling a second time. The Progressives also may have a motion to re-

POLICE SAVE NEARLY SCORE FROM DEATH

Carry Out Sixteen Overcome By Smoke in Chicago Fire.

Chicago, May 7.—Sixteen persons overcome by smoke were saved from death by policemen today when fire, believed to have been started by burglars, destroyed a two-story frame building at 1534 Fry street. One policeman and a volunteer lifesaver were overcome by smoke and were carried out of the building.

The police heard several shots in the vicinity of the house, and, hurrying to the scene, found the rear of the structure in flames.

They broke open the door and aroused the sleeping tenants. On the first floor they found Barbara and Anna Bonska unconscious in bed. John Gavat, his wife and two children, and Stanley Cowski, his wife and four children, who occupied the second floor, also were found overcome by smoke. The policemen carried them to the street.

On entering the building the third time Policeman Rodin fell unconscious on the second floor and was later found by firemen.

Smoke entered a building next door and in it the members of the family of Frank Kowaska, occupying the second floor, were found unconscious and rescued.

KING ALFONSO IS GUEST OF FRANCE

Spanish Monarch Is Given Cordial Welcome at Paris.

Paris, May 7.—King Alfonso of Spain reached Paris this morning with Premier Count Alvanro de Romanones for a two days' official visit. The visit is popularly regarded as a political event of the first importance, there being a general impression among the people that Spain is to become the ally of France.

President Raymond Poincare and Premier Louis Barthou with all the rest of the cabinet received the royal party at the station. The king and the president talked with animation while driving together through the Avenue Du Bois de Boulogne and the Champs Elysees to the king's temporary residence at the Palais d'Orsay.

Twenty-five thousand troops, including infantry and cavalry, lined the route, and artillery salutes were fired in honor of the Spanish monarch. An immense crowd which had gathered to await the king greeted him with loud cheering.

According to reports from the provinces there were few demonstrations during the king's journey from the frontier to Paris. Seven arrests, however, were made of men who cheered for the Spanish anarchist Ferrer, who was shot at Montjuich fortress in 1909.

PALACE TURNED INTO HOSPITAL.

Douglas, Ariz., May 7.—The palatial residence of Don Louis Torres, at Hermosillo, Sonora, has been confiscated by the insurgents' state government and will be converted into a hospital. The building is considered one of the finest specimens of Spanish architecture on the continent.

By funds to be raised through a lottery projected by the state government, the old mansion will be turned into a public state institution.

Torres was governor of Sonora for twenty years. He left the country during the Madero revolution and since has resided in California.

ON TRIAL WITH I. W. W. LEADERS AT PATERSON

ELIZABETH GURLEY FLYNN, Who Made Several Speeches in Duluth at the Time of the Big Strike on the Iron Ranges Some Years Ago.

BIG VICTORY OVER SYSTEM

Whitman So Regards Conviction of Four New York Inspectors.

All May Drop Fight to Escape Trial on Bribe Charges.

New York, May 7.—Until sentence is passed Friday, no one knows just what move will be made by counsel for the defense in the case of the four former police inspectors—Sweeney, Thompson, Hussey and Murtha—all found guilty last night of conspiracy to obstruct justice. Each faces a year in prison, and each is also under indictment for bribery.

It was intimated at the district attorney's office today that it may rest with the defendants themselves whether they are to be tried on the bribery charge. If their lawyers make a fight against the verdict just returned it is understood that District Attorney Whitman will press the bribery cases, which involve a felony and carry, on conviction, a much heavier sentence than the prisoners now face. If, on the other hand, the defendants explate the crime of which they now stand convicted, Mr. Whitman may not push the remaining cases.

Jury Out 28 Minutes.

James F. Thompson, James E. Hussey, John J. Murtha and Dennis Sweeney were convicted by a jury in the supreme court shortly after 8 o'clock last night. Only thirty-eight minutes were taken by the jurors to reach their verdict that the defendants were guilty of a misdemeanor in plotting to keep a prospective witness against the "system" from making graft disclo-

FRANCE WILL LIMIT AERIAL NAVIGATION

"Interests of National Defense" Cited as Basis of Plans.

Paris, May 7.—France is preparing legislation for the strict regulation of aerial navigation. Adrien Thierry, the minister of public works, presented a bill to the cabinet today providing for the inspection of flying machines, the licensing of airmen and the prohibition of flights over certain districts in the interest of national defense.

The minister said that in France at the present time there are 1,800 aeroplanes. The maximum speed attained, he asserted, is 105½ miles an hour. Single flights, he declared, have reached a distance of 600 miles.

TELL ABOUT HARVESTERS

More Minnesota Men Testify at Hearing in St. Paul.

Effort to Drive Dealers Into Competition Is Described.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. A. Boyer of Faribault, Minn., today testified at the hearing of the government suit to dissolve the International Harvest company under the Sherman law that he did no business with the International company, but that he had been successful. Mr. Boyer is the first witness called by the defense who did not handle International goods.

P. Benolken, a dealer of Freeport, Minn., said he handled the McCormick line and another dealer at Freeport the Deering line of International goods. Last January, he declared, they formed a partnership, thinking that they would thus control the two principal lines of harvesters.

Wanted Dealers to Compete.

"We weren't as smart as we thought," he added, stating that the new firm was allowed to handle only the Deering.

"So the International wanted competition between the dealers, although there is no competition in the manufacture?" interrupted E. P. Grosvenor of government counsel.

"But they did not get it," Benolken added. "But that was not the fault of the International," and then explained that the International had been unable to get an agent for the McCormick at Freeport.

On redirect examination, W. D. McHugh of international counsel brought out that Benolken's firm handles an independent line in addition to the Deering.

Nor Force Employed.

A number of other Minnesota dealers testified that they handled independent lines, and that the International never had attempted to force them to handle its goods exclusively.

J. H. Miller of Big Lake, Minn., said he does a large business in the sale of International implements, while his nearest competitor at Monticello travels the country in an automobile in search of customers. The Monticello dealer handles independent lines.

Lyman Ayer, a farmer from Belle Prairie, Minn., called by the company on cross-examination by Edward P. Grosvenor for the government, admitted that he had been a professional witness for railroads in many drainage cases during his idle months, and said that he expected pay for his time and services at the present hearing.

HAYWOOD AND FOUR OTHERS FACE COURT

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn One of Defendants at Paterson.

Paterson, N. J., May 7.—William D. Haywood, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Carlo Trescka, Patrick Quinlan and Adolph Lessig, the Industrial Workers of the World leaders, indicted for inciting the Paterson silk mill strikers to riot, were arraigned today for trial. They had 100 witnesses on hand to testify in their behalf, and it was said that Industrial Workers of the World throughout the country were contributing funds for the defense.

Prosecutor Dunn planned to try the five separately.

WOMEN SEEK TO DYNAMITE CATHEDRAL

Bomb Is Found By Verger in St. Paul's in London.

Police Declare There Is No Doubt Suffragettes Are Responsible.

Arson Squads Busy Following Suffrage Defeat in Parliament.

London, May 7.—An attempt to wreck the ancient St. Paul's cathedral by a bomb early today is attributed to the militant suffragettes. The verger, who conducts sightseers through the massive edifice, was making his rounds at about 8 o'clock this morning when he heard a ticking sound near the high altar. Upon investigation he found hidden there a heavy parcel done up in brown paper. He immediately placed it in water and handed it over to the police, who found a suffragette newspaper wrapped up with the bomb.

This attempt and the placing of two other bombs in other parts of the city this morning made it appear that the militant suffragettes had entered anew on their havoc-working campaign, following the defeat of the woman suffrage bill in the house of commons last night.

Police Have No Doubt.

The bomb from the cathedral was examined at the Bridewell police station and later at the home office by government experts.

The bomb was painted black and contained two detonators attached to an electiro battery. It was filled with slugs of a hard black substance resembling coal. There is no doubt, the police say, that it was placed in position by militant suffragettes or persons in their employ.

The general public is admitted to the choir of St. Paul's between 11 o'clock in the morning and 3:30 in the afternoon. The cathedral was closed entirely at 6 o'clock last evening and it appears certain that the bomb was deposited before that hour. It was found beneath a chair beside the bishop's throne at the head of the choir.

The dean conducted even-song near the bishop's throne last evening, but neither he nor the verger then noticed the package or heard the ticking.

Plainclothes policemen have been on duty in St. Paul's for several weeks

MAN TRIES TO KILL SELF AND CHILDREN

Turns on Gas in Room But Is Found Before Dead.

Chicago, May 7.—Jacob A. Lund, 50 years old, a jeweler, turned on the gas today in the home of William Tyler, 6327 South Peoria street, in an attempt to kill himself and his two children, Arthur, 14 years old, and Lillian, 10 years old. They had been living in the Tyler home two years, or since the jeweler's wife was committed to an insane asylum for treatment. The father and two children were removed to a hospital, where it was said they probably will recover.

ARGUE NEW HAVEN CASE

Attorneys Appear Before Interstate Commerce Commission.

E. J. Rich Says That "Hysteria" Should Be Eliminated.

Washington, May 7.—Oral arguments concluding the interstate commerce commission's investigation of the New England railroad situation—particularly the financial operation of the New York, New Haven & Hartford—were begun here today before the entire commission. Louis D. Brandeis of Boston spoke for New England shippers, and Edgar J. Rich and Charles F. Choate, Jr., were among the first to appear for the railroads.

Mr. Rich, speaking for the Boston & Maine, declared that if the road's service to the public still was unsatisfactory it was because the public was expecting a better service than it was paying for, and that if the demands of the public were further to be satisfied an increase in rates must follow.

"Eliminate Hysteria."

"New Haven control of the Boston & Maine," said he, "has not in any way diminished the resources or revenues of the Boston & Maine. With a cessation of criticism and an elimination of hysteria, with co-operation on the part of public bodies and the public generally, the service can be improved beyond its present high degree of efficiency."

Mr. Choate declared that while the commission's order called for an in-

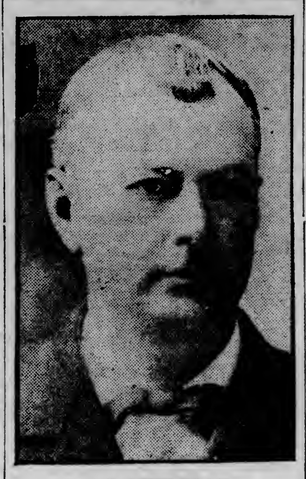
GERMAN CALLS CANAL TOLLS ACT UNJUST

Philip Heineken Writes of Development to Follow the Opening.

Berlin, May 7.—The exemption of American vessels from the payment of tolls for passing through the Panama is unjust and places German shipping at a disadvantage, according to Philip Heineken, managing director of the North German Lloyd, who writes in the Tageblatt today. He expresses confidence, however, that German shipping interests are sufficiently powerful and enterprising to maintain competition under these circumstances.

Herr Heineken hopes that under President Wilson's regime the measure of discrimination will be revoked. He foresees a big immigrant traffic to the Pacific coast of both the United States and Canada and, in a more limited way; also to the state of South America, thus bringing to an end the inundation of the Northeastern states.

ORDERS FOURTH CLASS POSTMASTERS EXAMINED



A. S. BURLESON, Postmaster General.

POSTOFFICES COMPETITIVE

Burleson Orders Fourth Class Postmasters to Show Fitness.

Radical Amendment Made to Taft's Civil Service Order.

Washington, May 7.—After a conference with President Wilson today, Postmaster General Burleson announced that an executive order would be issued requiring that all fourth-class postmasters now in office, or candidates for prospective appointments, should be subjected to a competitive examination to determine their fitness for the office.

Postmaster General Burleson announced today that it was the purpose of President Wilson and himself to take into the classified service, probably during the next year, all postmasters of the second and third classes.

The postmaster general issued a statement explaining the purpose of the new executive order, declaring that President Taft's action in putting the fourth-class postmasters in the classified service was not sufficient and that the mere placing of "a great horde of persons" in the classified service was not in conformity with the spirit of the civil service as there were no tests to determine the merits of the applicants.

Amends Taft Order.

The new order, which substantially amends the Taft executive order, retains in the classified service all fourth-class postmasters but specifically requires a competitive examination and a selection by postoffice inspectors from among the first three eligible applicants. The order places the age limit for appointees at 65 years.

Mr. Burleson, in his discussion of the situation, indicates that the Wilson administration wishes to take the fourth-class postmasters out of politics, but points out that Democrats as well as Republicans will have an opportunity under competitive examinations to show their fitness

DEMOCRATS LEAD IN SOUTH OMAHA.

D. G. Kerr Says New Industry Will Be City's Chief Boast.

Predicts Record-Breaking Season in Ore Mining and Shipping.

Is Accompanied By Other Men Prominent in Steel Business.

That the Duluth steel plant will be a model one and one of the corporation's most important plants, and that this would be a record breaking year in the ore business, were statements made last evening to a Herald reporter by Vice President Kerr of the United States Steel corporation.

A party of officers of the United States Steel corporation, headed by D. G. Kerr, vice president, visited Duluth yesterday and after inspecting the new steel plant being constructed at Gary, left last evening for the ranges. They arrived in a special car over the Northwestern road and after visiting the offices of the corporation in the Wolvin building and being entertained for a short time at the Kitchi Gammi club, left in the afternoon for Gary, where they remained until shortly before 5 o'clock last evening. Their car was attached to the regular Duluth, Missabe & Northern train which left here at 8 o'clock last night and they were taken to the Mesaba range. They will visit both the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges before returning, examining the various properties owned or controlled by the Steel corporation, and will then immediately proceed to the Gogebic and other lower ranges on a similar tour of inspection.

With Mr. Kerr are Thomas Morrison and D. M. Clemson of Pittsburg, directors in the Carnegie Steel company, and M. G. Shiras, ore agent for the constituent companies of the steel corporation.

HOUSTON MAN NOT ATLANTA MURDERER

Bowen Convinces Police He Is Not the One They Want.

Houston, Tex., May 7.—P. P. Bowen, arrested here yesterday on suspicion of connection with an Atlanta murder mystery, and released last night, made this statement today:

"My father is S. C. Bowen. He lives at Newman, Ga. I told the detectives that they had made a mistake at the time they arrested me, and knew they soon would find this to be so if they investigated my references.

"I really have been done an injustice by this thing. I don't blame the men so much—it is their business to arrest suspects—but I don't think they have treated me exactly right."

Bowen's statement of his record since 1908, when he left home to obtain employment in Atlanta, was substantiated by the chief of police of Houston.

The statement said Bowen recently left a position with the Cotton Belt railroad and obtained another as a master car-builder's clerk with the Southern Pacific, soon after he arrived in Houston Sunday.

KILLS HIMSELF IN FRONT OF GIRL'S HOME

Chicago Salesman Commits Suicide When Love Is Rejected.

Chicago, May 7.—When his proposal of marriage was rejected today by Miss Mabel Snow, 18 years old, Millard G. Fletcher, 24 years old, fired a shot into his right temple and died two hours later.

Fletcher was a salesman. He shot himself while on the sidewalk in front of the young woman's home. Miss Snow, who heard the shot, was the first to reach the side of the unconscious man.

She admitted Fletcher had proposed marriage and that she had rejected him. Yesterday, in company with Miss Snow, he visited a department store. Leaving her on the first floor, he went to the hardware department and purchased the revolver with which he later shot himself.

He wrote two letters while at the home of Miss Snow. These were found in his pocket, one addressed to his mother in Jacksonville, Fla., and the other to Miss Snow's father.

The police did not obtain possession of the letters, but learned that the one to Mr. Snow told of his affection for his daughter.

Mrs. George Snow, mother of Mabel Snow, said that her daughter had refused to marry Fletcher because she did not love him. She said her daughter first met the man a year ago.

CITY WILL HOLD CASH

Surety Bonds Will Not Be Accepted From Contractors in Future.

Percentage of Cost of Pavements Will Be Withheld to Assure Repairs.

Roderick Murchison, commissioner of public works, has abandoned the long-established policy of requiring surety bonds of city contractors. Cash guarantees, determined on a percentage basis, are to be withheld instead.

With the adoption of the new, more efficient method, the works department has taken the first step in the direction of standardization of pavements. Creosote blocks, sandstone blocks and bricks have been placed in the first division and upon them the guarantee withheld is to be 2 per cent of the cost. Upon the others a guarantee of 3 per cent is to be kept by the city. The classification may be changed at a later date if it appears necessary. The money is to be retained in the city treasury for five years. If repairs to the pavements are necessary in that time the contractor will be notified to make them; should he fail, the city will do the work and pay the cost from the contractor's money in its hands. This will insure the work being in first-class condition at the end of the five-year period. After that the streets and avenues will be maintained by the city with funds derived from the wheelage tax and general taxation.

Bonds Not Satisfactory.

The former policy of requiring surety bonds of contractors was never found to be satisfactory. That they did not effectively hold the contractor was the experience of the city. Efforts to enforce the provisions of the bond resulted in expensive litigation and caused many delays. The bonding companies handled the cases in the courts, acting as a buffer between the city and the contractors. With the actual cash of the contractors under its control the city will undoubtedly be able to get much better and more satisfactory results. It will increase the feeling of responsibility of the contractors when they do the work and make them readily responsive to requests from the commissioner of public works to make repairs to their pavements.

Commissioner Murchison has written a letter to the Improvement club at Woodland advising them that the division of public works is willing to appoint a man to look after street work and public improvements in general in their part of the city. The commissioner believes that the move would be greatly to the interests of the suburb and has asked the organization to recommend some man for the place. The wages would be those of the average laborer as the work would be of that nature. He would be equipped with the necessary tools and a small tool house erected in which to store them.

A CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE.

Lipincott's: "I believe in taking the world as I find it," remarked the plutocratic promoter of great trusts.

"That's all right," replied the mere man, "but please don't take it all at once."

RED LIGHTS WILL GO OUT

New State Law Will Abolish Duluth's Segregated District.

Inmates May Vacate and Make Court Action Unnecessary.

The Duluth red light district is breathing its last. At the end of this month it will likely gasp its last dying gasp and pass out of existence, probably forever.

The new injunction law, similar to that of Iowa, passed at the last session of the legislature, becomes effective June 1. The measure is drastic in its provisions and as Duluth has many citizens who have actively urged such legislation for years, it is not probable that the owners of the property will take chances of becoming subject to its provisions. To save themselves the owners, as well as the inmates, will almost without exception vacate the premises before the end of the month.

Any citizen can start the proceedings which will put them out of business should any fail to act on their own initiative. Where a district has been established for years, as is the case here, not the slightest difficulty would be experienced in securing the injunction provided by the new statute. The places must be closed for a year if the action is sustained, unless earlier released by the court, and all movable property, furniture or fixtures used in their conduct, may be seized and sold. The owner is held responsible and a fine of $300 is levied when the permanent injunction issues. Any one found guilty of contempt is liable to a fine of not less than $100 or more than $1,000 or imprisonment in the county jail for not less than three nor more than six months, or both fine and imprisonment.

GRAND JURY IN SESSION

From Twenty-five to Thirty Indictments Are Expected.

The May grand jury is in session this afternoon.

The jury convened this morning, but as only fourteen members were present, Judge Dancer ordered an adjournment until the afternoon session of court. In the meantime a special venire of six men was drawn and additional members added to the jury in order to establish the quorum required by law.

The jury received its charge from Judge Dancer at 2 o'clock and retired for the consideration of business shortly afterwards. The jury will be attended by County Attorney Warren E. Greene. About twenty-five or thirty indictments are expected to be returned by the jury when it has finished its deliberations.

Judge Dancer this morning made the peremptory call of the calendar. An unusually large number of cases were stricken from the list to be tried including about thirty of the White Iron Lake fire cases, which are under process of settlement. Another big batch of assessment appeal cases against the city were also disposed of, as it is understood that a test case is to be tried instead of bringing several actions.

The petit jury will report next Monday morning.

GOOD RESPONSE TO "CLEAN-UP" ORDER

Dr. Webster Says Great Improvement in Yards Is Shown.

Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, states that the response to the clean-up proclamation has been general throughout the city.

He is pleased with the activity which is being shown by the citizens in improving the appearance of their yards. Large quantities of garbage and rubbish are being hauled to the city dumps and to the incinerators. When clean-up week closes Saturday Dr. Webster expects that Duluth will be in better shape than ever before.

Next week a number of sanitary inspectors will be started through the city. They will make note of all premises which have not been cleaned. The occupants or owners will be notified to comply with the regulations of the department. If they fail to do so the health department officials state that they will have to make their explanations in court as warrants will be issued charging them with violations of the health ordinances. They state that not only are eye-sores unslightly but constitute nuisances, breeding places for flies and are a menace to the public health.

BLAMES CONGRESS FOR ALASKA LOSS

Fisher Says Need for Legislation Was Often Made Clear.

Washington, May 7.—"Responsibility for the condition of Alaska rests squarely on the shoulders of congress and no place else," declared Former Secretary of the Interior Walter L. Fisher today before the senate territories committee.

"The necessity for legislation to open up the territory has been pointed out time after time," continued Mr. Fisher, "but nothing whatever has been done.

"It seems to me," he said, 'that no candid student of the situation in Alaska, who is at all free from personal and pecuniary interest, can have the slightest doubt of the propriety of the Federal government constructing one or more railroads in Alaska to open up that territory."

Mr. Fisher declared himself in favor of government operation of the roads, at least as an experiment.

SOCIALISTS' CASES ARE ALL DISMISSED

Debs, Sheppard and Warren Not to Be Prosecuted By Government.

Fort Scott, Kan., May 7. — Federal cases against Eugene V. Debs, formerly Socialist candidate for president, and J. I. Sheppard and Fred Warren, publishers of a Socialist newspaper at Girard, Kan., charging attempt to obstruct justice, were dismissed in the Federal court here today upon instructions from the attorney general. This ends several months of litigation which resulted from a government charge of misuse of the mails brought against those connected with the Girard paper.

YOUNG WOMAN KILLED BY THE USE OF DRUG

Body Found at Detroit, Mich., Is That of Belle Barry.

Detroit, Mich., May 7.—The young woman whose body was found in Fox creek, Grosse Pointe, Monday night, has been identified as Miss Belle Barry, who for the last week had been employed in the home of Charles R. Wardell, 79 Lincoln avenue, this city. Previously she had worked as a telephone operator in Detroit and as a silk mill worker in her home town of Belling, Mich.

County authorities, who conducted a post-mortem examiantion, advanced the theory that she died from the effects of a drug taken to prevent an undesirable condition of health. Whether this drug was self-administered without knowledge of its probable fatal result, was not determined.

County Physician E. L. Brandt, who performed the autopsy, is firm in the belief that the girl was dead when her body was placed in the shallow water under the bridge where it was found.

Authorities in Belling, Mich., where the bank is located which issued a bill folder found on the body, have been unable to give any definite information concerning the initials "A. L." inscribed on the folder. It is thought, however, that the picture of the little girl in a locket worn by the woman will eventually help to clear the mystery.

CROOKSTON MAN SENT TO PRISON

Saloonkeeper Who Speeded Car Through Streets Given Thirty Days.

Crookston, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Otto Kilen, a saloon keeper, was given thirty days in jail without an option of a fine by Municipal Judge Gossman this morning for auto speeding last night. This is the first jail sentence for speeding in Crookston.

Careening down Main street last evening at 8 o'clock at a speed variously estimated at from 30 to 40 miles an hour, and weaving from one side of the street to the other, Otto Kilen just grazed the front of Mrs. Samuel Rosenthal's car, which was standing in front of the old garage, skidding in several feet, and turning sharp crashed through the plate glass front of the garage, carrying half the doorway with it, and damaging the new Studebaker belonging to Secretary Newbery of the Commercial club. The front wheels of the Kilen car were doubled back beneath the car, but the four occupants were uninjured. That some one was not killed is nothing short of miraculous, as the plate glass was 12 feet high and 14 feet wide. Fortunately the sidewalk was clear. Kilen was intoxicated. The damage to the car is estimated at $250 and to the plate glass front $450.

GUTHRIE GOES TO WHITE HOUSE.

Washington, May 7.—George W. Guthrie, Democratic state chairman of Pennsylvania and former mayor of Pittsburg, chosen for ambassador to Japan, paid his respects today to President Wilson. Mr. Guthrie inquired how soon he would be expected to go to Tokio, and the president told him to suit his own convenience. Mr. Guthrie will confer with Secretary Bryan on the latter's return here Thursday.

Inasmuch as Japan has notified the state department that Mr. Guthrie will be acceptable to the Japanese government, the nomination is expected to go to the senate some time this week.

RAILROAD NEWS

GRAND MARAIS MAY HAVE RAILROAD CONNECTIONS

New Railroad Company Asks $100,000 Aid From Cook County.

Offers to Build Line From Grand Marais to Fill Present Gap.

The Grand Marais & Northwestern Railway company has been incorporated under the state laws and the officials are now planning to construct a line from Grand Marais, running westerly and connecting with the Duluth & Northern Minnesota Railway company.

Back of the project are prominent business and professional men in this part of the state, who have incorporated and elected Arthur Mitchell and John Jenswold, both of Duluth, president and secretary, respectively.

The company has presented a proposition to Cook county, of which Grand Marais is the county seat, whereby the county is asked to vote $100,000 in bonds for use in the construction of the road. Under a law passed at the last session of the legislature, Cook county is enabled to vote these bonds in aid of a railway from its county seat connecting with some other railroad or railroad center. This law provides that to secure such aid a proposition must first be submitted to the county board of Cook county. It is then discretionary with the board to order a special election to vote on the bond issue.

Proposition Submitted.

The proposition filed by Mr. Mitchell, president of the company, with the auditor of Cook county follows:

"To the County Auditor of Cook County, Minnesota:

"Pursuant to an act of the legislature of the state of Minnesota, duly passed at its 1913 session, entitled 'A bill for an act to authorize counties having no railroad connection with the county seat to aid in the construction of a railroad.'

"We, herewith, submit our proposition to construct and complete a line of railroad, as in said proposition stated.

We firmly believe that a line of railroad from your county seat to a point of connection with some other railroad and into your timber lands and mineral deposits will stimulate and develop the great wealth of your country, make possible manufactures both in wood and iron ore at the village of Grand Marais, build and maintain extensive ore docks in your village and enable you to reap the profits that with your natural resources are yours. With your co-operation we believe we would mutually profit; without it the means of realizing this condition, if not entirely lost, will be indefinitely delayed. With the co-operation of these railroad facilities your properties will be available for development; without them they will continue unmarketable and unusable, as they have remained for more than a lifetime.

"Trusting that we may be permitted to co-operate with your people and the development of your county, we are, very respectfully yours,

"ARTHUR MITCHELL,
"President, G. M. & N. W. Ry."

"To the County Auditor of Cook County, Minnesota:

"The Grand Marais & Northwestern Railway company, incorporated under the laws of the state of Minnesota pertaining to railroad corporations for the purpose of constructing and operating as a common carrier of passengers and freight for hire, a railroad commencing at or near the navigable waters of Lake Superior at or in the vicinity of the village of Grand Marais, in the state of Minnesota, and running thence in a general westerly or northwesterly direction to a point of intersection with the line of the Duluth & Northern Minnesota Railway company and beyond to such point or points as may hereafter be determined, together with such branch lines as may be deemed desirable, does hereby under and pursuant to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided, for the purpose of obtaining aid from the county of Cook in the state of Minnesota for the construction of said railroad, make the following proposition:

Standard Gauge Road.

"Said railroad company desires aid from said Cook county in the construction of a standard gauge railroad, substantially constructed, ready for the operation of trains from and between the village of Grand Marais in said county and running thence in a generally westerly or northwesterly direction to the line of the Duluth & Northern Minnesota Railway company or some other railroad, so that in conjunction therewith railway transportation may be had with the city of Duluth, Minn., which aid shall consist of the bonds of said county, issued to said Grand Marais & Northwestern Railway company to the amount of $100,000, to be issued in denominations of $1,000 each, to mature in thirty years from their date of issue and to bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum payable semi-annually, principal and interest payable at the First National bank at Duluth, with the option to said county to pay said bonds on any interest paying day after twenty years from their date upon giving the holders thereof sixty days prior written notice of such intention. Said bonds to be issued immediately after the election authorizing their issue and to be placed in escrow with the First National Bank of Duluth, Minn., which bank shall hold said bonds as trustee and custodian and deliver the same to said Grand Marais & Northwestern Railway company upon condition of its strict compliance with the conditions of this proposition, and that the construction of said railway be commenced on or before Jan. 1, 1914, and be prosecuted with reasonable diligence until the same is completed and ready for the passage of cars and is being operated as a common carrier of passengers and freight for hire, but otherwise said bank shall return said bonds to said county and its obligation thereon shall cease.

"In witness whereof. This proposition is signed by the president and secretary of said Grand Marais & Northwestern Railway company, and attested with the seal of said company pursuant to a resolution of the directors of said company adopted on April 23, 1913.

"Dated April 26, 1913.

"ARTHUR MITCHELL,
"President.
"JOHN JENSWOLD,
"Secretary."

TRAIN WELL PATRONIZED

New Service on the Northern Pacific Is Appreciated.

Soo Line May Put on Better Service to Crosby.

The new Northern Pacific train to Staples, establishing through service by modern equipment between Duluth and the Pacific coast, is picking up traffic constantly and it is believed the train will be a success from the standpoint of the railroad as well as the public.

Some of the traffic on the new train is drawn from the other trains of the Northern Pacific between Duluth and Staples, but there is also considerable local traffic that formerly went to other roads.

It is rumored in Duluth today that the Soo Line will take cognizance of the new Northern Pacific service by inaugurating a new local servi be tween Duluth and Crosby, serving the intervening Cuyuna range towns. The new Northern Pacific train stops at Deerwood and Aitkin, furnishing service to Cuyuna range points, and the Soo Line is said to be contemplating improving its service in order to hold the traffic.

BURY OLD RAILROADER.

Patrick Manley Helped Build First Division of St. Paul Pacific.

Anoka, Minn., May 7.—A pioneer railroad man was buried here yesterday when the body of Patrick Manley, who died in Minneapolis Monday, aged 82, was placed in a local cemetery beside that of his wife.

Mr. Manley came to St. Paul with J. B. Rice of Michigan, the first passenger conductor in the state, from Massachusetts in 1857. Te helped construct the first division of the old St. Paul Pacific railroad between St. Paul and Aneka. Latter he removed to Anoka and became the line's first roadmaster.

After a number of years service Manley bought a farm at Coon Creek, Minn., where he remained until the death of his wife two years ago.

Manley is survived by six children, eleven grandchildren and two great grandchildren. A. J. Manley, general labor agent of the Great Northern railroad, who lives at 1397 Selby avenue, St. Paul, is a son.

NEW MILWAUKEE AGENT FOR N. P. RAILROAD.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 7.—Harry V. Wilmot, for a number of years connected with the Chicago & Northwestern railroad as ticket and passenger agent, has accepted the position as district passenger agent of the Northern Pacific railroad in Milwaukee. He will assume his new duties May 10. Mr. Wilmot will be succeeded by Frank J. Bell, as passenger agent. Other changes in the Northwestern road are: R. W. Frank, who becomes depot ticket agent and George Hasselreiter, who becomes assistant ticket agent in the Milwaukee city offices.

COMING TO CARLTON.

N. P. Livestock Train Will Also Visit Brainerd.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—Daniel E. Willard, development agent of the Northern Pacific railway, announces that the "Live Stock" special train will start from St. Paul on its educational tour on the morning of June 9.

The special will stop at all towns in Northern Pacific territory, covering a period of about two weeks. The route is as follows: Over the Duluth Short line to Carlton and Brainerd; from Brainerd, over the Minnesota and International division of Bemidji and Little Falls. A run will follow on the Morris branch, with a stop at Fergus Falls. The special then will invade the Red river valley, finally swinging on the Winnipeg branch.

Two livestock cars, one poultry car, one machinery car and two lecture cars will make up the train.

GREAT NORTHERN BUYS BIG LAUNCH.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 7.—The Dumphy Iron works of this city has just built and shipped a 33-foot launch for the Great Northern railway to be used for construction work and transportation of workmen on the Missouri river in North Dakota. It was sent to Minneapolis, where a four-cylinder 40-horse power Westman engine will be installed in it.

WILL CO-OPERATE WITH U. S. COMMISSION.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Co-operation with the Federal government in securing a physical valuation of the railway property of North Dakota is announced by the state railway commission. This will give them prior information about the roads that they can use in their official work, the report can easily be made a basis for future taxation and the facts dug out will be first hand and more valuable for that reason.

It will take at least five years to get all the facts wanted by the Federal government.

EQUIPMENT ORDERS

The Cape Girardeau Northern has ordered two mogul locomotives from the American Locomotive company.

The Cuba railroad has ordered 14 ten-wheel freight locomotives and 1 ten-wheel passenger locomotive from the American Locomotive company.

The Grand Trunk, mentioned in the Railway Age Gazette of April 18 and April 25, as having placed large orders for freight cars both in Canada and in the United States, has placed orders as follows: 3,000 box cars, Western Steel Car & Foundry company; 1,000 drop-bottom special service cars, Pressed Steel Car company; 2,000 box cars, Canadian Car & Foundry company; and 2,000 box cars, Eastern Car company.

The Southern Railway has ordered 1,800 freight cars, and 45 locomotives.

The St. Louis & San Francisco has ordered thirty locomotives.

Makes Additional Appropriation.

Norfolk, Va., May 7.—In addition to $3,000,000 to be expended for the purchase of additional equipment, the Seaboard Air Line railway in its annual budget has provided for extensive improvements all along the line of the system to cost $2,500,000.

CLUB ROOMS ARE SELECTED

Young Men's Hebrew Association Prepares for Future Activities.

Organization Will Be Perfected at Meeting to Be Held Sunday.

Next Sunday afternoon the Young Men's Hebrew association of Duluth will be permanently organized, officers elected and the work of organization outlined for the future. Nearly 300 Hebrew men and boys of Duluth are expected to be present at the meeting, which is to be held at the Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street.

This is the first time in the history of the city that such an institution has been considered. Similar associations are found in the larger cities of the country, where the Hebrew population is much greater than it is here. In the past few years Hebrew residents of the city have found the need of such an association for young men, who will be able to gather in a centrally located clubroom, hold gatherings, attend lectures and take part in gymnasium work.

The new Y. M. H. A. will be the social center of the Hebrew men and young men of the city. It will tend to keep the young men together, teach them the best in their own language, give them the benefit of a library and continue the teachings of Judahism. A large gymnasium will also be conducted in connection with the clubhouse.

Club Rooms Selected.

Three weeks ago temporary officers were elected and the general committee instructed to look about for suitable clubrooms in the center of the city. At that time about 100 young men, who at the meeting, signed up for membership. It is expected that this number will be increased to 250 next Sunday afternoon.

It is understood that the committee has already selected a place for a clubroom, which will be submitted to a vote of the members of the association Sunday. A constitution and set of by-laws have been drawn and these also will be put up to a vote. The members of the executive committee are: Dr. Maurice Lefkovits, E. A. Silberstein, Dr. Samuel Gross, Joseph Oreckovsky, Nathan Kris and Max Zulk. The temporary officers are: Dr. Lefkovits, president; Nathan Kris, vice president, and Loy Levin, secretary.

The new organization will begin at once in preparing for the work in the future. This will be outlined somewhat at the meeting Sunday, when the various assistants will be appointed to complete the plans.

The members of the executive committee have been campaigning among prominent Hebrew residents of Duluth and it is understood that they have been assured of very large subscriptions for the upkeep of the institution. A more systematic subscription campaign will also be outlined at the meeting Sunday. A plan whereby more members may be secured will also be discussed.

It is the aim of the committee to furnish the new clubhouse at once and to open it for the members as early as possible.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS HOLD THEIR NINTH ANNUAL BANQUET

F. H. WADE, President.

E. J. ZAUFT, Winner of Two Events.

The ninth annual banquet of the Western Curling club passed into history last night. Nearly 100 curlers, their wives and sweethearts attended the closing affair of the season by enjoying a dinner, addresses and the dancing which followed.

President Frank H. Wade opened the festivities following the supper by welcoming the guests and introducing J. Allen Scott as toastmaster.

"As the inauguration is to Washington, the Mardi Gras to New Orleans and the Rose carnival to Portland and the West, so is the annual banquet of the Western Curling club the society event of the season to West Duluth," said Mr. Scott in his opening address.

George J. Mallory was called upon to answer to the toast "How to Keep Young Though Married." Mr. Mallory said he had believed that he was to have told how to keep young by curling and called upon those assembled to "just look at him" as an example of youth resulting from the exercise had at the rink. (Mr. Mallory has recently shaved off his mustache.)

The presentation of the trophies was made by the donors, C. H. Bagley, donor of the Bagley jewelry, gave a short address, following which J. A. Murphy announced that the Bagley Jewelry company intended putting up a regular cup for the curlers to contest for in the future. The latter presented the jewelry to Ed Holland and members of his rink.

M. Henricksen of the Henricksen Jewelry company gave a short address, following which he presented the company's cup and individual prizes to the members of Charles Iltis' rink.

Mr. Wade presented the Burns Lumber company's trophy to the Melvin Olson rink owing to the absence of representatives of the company. George L. Blechl presented the Union Match company's trophy to the Holland rink and promised that members of the rink would be supplied with matches enough to keep their cigars or pipes lit for at least three months.

Mr. Scott made the presentation of the Commercial club cup to E. J. Zauft and his rink and also presented the Zauft rink as the winners of the Grand Avenue pharmacy cigars. Joseph Knapp represented the Esterly Jewelry company in the presentation of its cup and individual prizes to the members of Wade's "kid" rink.

Dr. C. R. Keyes told how his rink had disdained winning any prizes, but that when the championship of the club was at stake there had been "nothin' to it" in walking away with this cherished title.

L. A. Barnes, Dr. W. E. Judson, W. B. Getchell, D. C. Wakeman and other members of rinks which failed to land a trophy gave plausible explanations why their rinks had evaded getting one of the prizes.

The supper was served by the women of the West Duluth W. C. T. U. Rev. B. L. Opdahl, pastor of the Bethel Norwegian Lutheran church, gave the invocation. The guests and members danced until midnight following the awarding of prizes.

NO CELEBRATION OF FOURTH OF JULY

Plans Dropped as Result of Business Men's Indifference.

There will be no celebration of July 4 in West Duluth as far as the West Duluth Fourth of July association is concerned. This was decided yesterday afternoon after six members of the organization had waited nearly two hours for business men of West Duluth to show up at the meeting called by Roy J. Baker, president of the association.

"There will be no further step taken in the matter by the organization," said Mr. Baker last night. "Sufficient notice was given to members of the association and business men, but their action in staying away indicates that a celebration is not wanted."

LAST WARNING TO CYCLISTS

Police Will Hereafter Arrest Riders Using the Sidewalks.

Men and boys of this end of the city will have to quit riding on sidewalks, according to the ultimatum made by Lieut. Charles E. Wilcox of the West Duluth police station this morning.

"We are not going to give any further warnings in this matter," said the lieutenant. "We have been very lenient in allowing bicycle riders to use walks in the outskirts of town where the roads are rough, but they have taken advantage of this leniency by going further and riding on the walks down town. Hereafter when the riders are caught they will have to answer to the court for the breach of the ordinance.

A number of complaints have reached the station during the past few days of young boys occupying the sidewalks with wheels after dark, endangering small children and others who might be passing along the street. This practice will have to stop, said Lieut. Wilcox.

NEW STATION WILL SOON BE COMPLETED.

Interior work on the Northern Pacific station which has been constructed east of the present station will be completed within another week. A. L. Bishop, agent for the company at West Duluth, said this morning that he expected the building would be occupied by the offices within two weeks.

The old depot will be moved to a point east of the new building and the site on which it now stands will be parked and otherwise improved to add to the beauty of the surroundings.

The new station is a frame building constructed much on the type similar to the old structure. The only difference in the two is that the new building has been provided with modern convenience and waiting rooms to conform with the state law.

Infant Son Dies.

Dominick, the 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jerry, 318 South Fifty-seventh avenue west, died late yesterday. The funeral was held at 9 o'clock this morning. Interment was made in Calvary cemtetery.

Body Brought Here.

The body of John T. Fiedler, 26 years old, son of Mrs. Rosa Fiedler of Fortieth avenue west and Halifax street, who died last summer at Ottertail, Wis., was brought home this morning. Interment was made in the family lot at Oneota cemetery.

MAKE SURVEY OF GETCHELL ROAD

Engineers Laying Out Route for Completion of Highway.

Engineers of the city and county began yesterday a survey of the Getchell road from its present terminal about a mile northwest of its crossing over the Keene's creek to the Morris Thomas road. It is expected to have the line laid out for workmen within another week.

The proposed route as picked out by members of the West Duluth Commercial club's committee will run in a northwesterly direction a short distance west of the creek and strike the city limits near the southwest corner of section 36. It will cut through the corner of this section and then run almost diagonally across section 25 to the line between sections 35 and 34 at a point about a quarter of a mile south of the north section line of these sections. It will then run along this line to the Morris Thomas road.

As soon as the survey is made it is believed that the city will make an appropriation which will guarantee its completion this year. The county commissioners have promised to have the county pay its share toward having the work done.

The proposed route will give, it is said, the lowest grade from the west into the city. The average grade is said to be less than 4 per cent. It is believed that as soon as the road is completed it will become the most popular route with the farmers in making their visits to the city.

May Recover From Injuries.

Lawrence Wannamaker, the young man who fell thirty feet and fractured his skull while working in one of the buildings of the Minnesota Steel plant Monday forenoon, is slowly recovering at the Duluth hospital. Attendants at the institution believe that he will be able to leave the hospital in another week.

SUND FUNERAL TO BE HELD FRIDAY

HAGEN B. SUND.

The funeral of Hagen B. Sund, 30 years old, who died yesterday morning from injuries resulting from being crushed by a clamshell while working in the hold of the steamer Jenkins at the Pittsburg coal dock, Monday night, will be held Friday afternoon from Olson & Crawford's undertaking rooms.

Mr. Sund leaves besides his widow, a sister, Miss Anna Sund, who made her home with him, and a brother, Arne Sund, residing in Iron River, Wis. The family resided at 211 North Eighteenth avenue west.

PASSES AWAY IN CALIFORNIA

MISS CAROLINE MUNSON.

Miss Caroline Munson, 26 years old, a graduate nurse of the St. Luke's hospital, died last week in California, following a short illness. Miss Munson was well known in this city and on the range, where she spent a year in the hospitals of Ely and Coleraine. She also spent a year in the hospital at Aitkin.

Three years ago Miss Munson left this city to take a post graduate course in hospitals in California.

She leaves her mother, Mrs. Emma Munson, 2125 West Third street, two sisters, Mrs. J Swanson, 2510 West First street, and Miss Annette Swanson and a brother, Charles Munson. The latter both reside in the West end.

The funeral was held last Wednesday and burial made in California. The body will probably be brought here later to be buried alongside of her father, who died here last December.

WANT JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

West Enders Say It Would Relieve Crowded Buildings.

In order to carry out the recommendation adopted by the school board at its last meeting for a junior high school for the West end, members of the West End Commercial club will take up the suggestion and appoint a committee for the purpose of looking over the ground and recommending a site.

Residents in this end of the city realize that with the present rate of increase in the school population that the section will have to be supplied with another school building. With the building of a junior high school that will take care of the children of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades it is pointed out that the present institutions will not have to be enlarged for a period of several years.

As a suggestion members of the Commercial club say that the junior high school should be located near the center of the residence district or about Twenty-fourth avenue west. They suggest that vacant property on First or Second street in the vicinity of this avenue could be secured for the purpose.

The club will also hear a report from the committee on the "white way." It is said that with the exception of about one-tenth of the property owners, all have signed petitions asking for the new lighting system. The estimates for the cost of installation and maintenance have already been made and agreed to by the owners.

WILL DISCUSS THE SUFFRAGE QUESTION.

"Do We Favor Women's Suffrage" will be the subject of debate at the meeting of the Duluth Scandinavian Women's Christian Temperance union to be held at the home of Mrs. O. Carlson, 1910 West Third street. Mrs. P. L. Morterud will unhold the affirmative while the negative will be presented by Mrs. P. Gustafson, president of the society.

Following the debate a general discussion of the subject will be held by the members. Mrs. G. Fredln will be the leader of the discussion.

The W. C. T. U. will also announce the plans for its next medal contest, to be held on May 21 at the Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street. Mrs. L. W. Linder is superintendent of the medal contest.

INSTITUTE NEW LODGE OF YEOMEN.

A delegation from Duluth homestead, No. 3131 Brotherhood of American Yeomen attended the institution of a new lodge of Yeomen at Cloquet last night. The lodge was recently organized by J. A. Bellmeur, district manager. The temporary officers elected were: W. Polling, foreman, and Miss Guran, correspondent.

Among those who attended the ceremonies from this end of the city were Mr. and Mrs. Bellmeur, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brockenier, Miss Ella Brassard, Miss Pheobe Brassard, Miss Martha Onsgaard and Alfred La Brosse. The party returned this morning.

YOUNG OLD TIMERS WILL HOLD PICNIC.

The Young Old Timers' association of the West end will meet tomorrow evening in the Adams Athletic association clubrooms, in the Sloan block, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, and make plans for holding its third annual picnic. The affair will be planned for an early date in June.

The association was organized three years ago this spring with its membership taken among the residents of the West end who have lived in this end of the city for the past twenty years or more. It has about 200 members.

The officers of the organization are William Callum, president; Andrew Otterson, vice president; Azel E. Lundberg, secretary, and A. W. Peterson, treasurer. The committees to handle the details of the picnic will be appointed tomorrow evening.

Linen Shower.

Mrs. George R. King, 104 North Twenty-eighth avenue west, will entertain tomorrow evening at a linen shower in honor of Miss Eva Mae Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Adams, whose wedding to Ewald Warren Lund will take place next week. At 7:30 o'clock Mrs. King will entertain at a dinner for her guests following which the shower will take place.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. Thomas Jenson, 2705 West Fourth street, will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church at her home tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Axel Johnson and Mrs. Charles Johnson will be hostesses for the Parthenoe Society of the Swedish Mission church at its meeting tomorrow evening in the parlors of the church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

Miss Alice Brethorst, a returned missionary from the Orient, will speak tomorrow afternoon at a missionary tea given by the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Grace M. E. church at the home of Mrs. Thomas B. Perry, 2833 West Third street.

The ladies of the St. Clements' Catholic church, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, will entertain this evening at a "birthday" social in the church parlors.

Mrs. H. P. Johnson, 2832 West Third street, will be hostess tomorrow afternoon at her home for members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Swedish M. E. church.

The meeting of the Duluth deanery of the Episcopal church of the Duluth district will open this evening for a two days' session at the St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and Third street. A reception will follow the opening sermon.

The Ladies of Beta council, Modern Samaritans, will give a dance tonight at Columbia hall. Everybody invited. La Brosse's orchestra.

NEW AMBASSADOR AT WHITE HOUSE

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice Formally Presented to President.

Washington, May 7.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, ambassador from Great Britain and successor to James Bryce, was formally presented to President Wilson Tuesday. In the absence of Secretary Bryan, Acting Secretary John Bassett Moore introduced the new ambassador. Sir Cecil read a brief address and the president made a short response, after which the ambassador presented members of his staff.

MOTHER AND THE GIRLS

May Use Dad's Mileage Book After First of July.

And the Cold Blooded Conductor Won't Confiscate It.

After July 1 the busy traveler who has a mileage book may turn it over to his wife for a week-end visit to friends in some other part of the state, without fear of some rigidly disciplined conductor picking it up and forcing her to pay the fare in cold cash.

The legislature at its recent session passed a law making mileage books interchangeable in families, so that father and the boys and mother and the girls may all travel, individually or collectively, on one mileage book.

The railroads have not taken kindly to the law and have not yet accepted it, and its operation would be held up if the railroads should begin an action in the courts. It is claimed by the railroads that the law would open the way to miscellaneous abuses. However, they may accept the law without a protest.

Another law passed at the recent session of the legislature provided for 2-cent fares on all railroads earning $1,200 a mile or more, which would apply to nearly all railroads in the state. The railroads have declared they will ignore the law, at least until the supreme court has ruled in the Minnesota rate cases. That law is to become effective Jan. 1, 1914.

ADMITS THEFT OF SOME $30,000.

Jackson, Miss., May 7.—Full confession to the charge that he had embezzled sums aggregating $30,000 from the state penitentiary board of trustees was made before the board by its defaulting secretary, Lawrence Yerger. Yerger pitched a roll of banknotes amounting to $680 on the table before the trustees, saying that was all he could raise to make up the shortage.

CITY HIRES MAN TO RUN AFFAIRS.

Clarenda, Iowa, May 7.—The first business manager for a city in Iowa has been engaged by Clarenda. T. A. Wilson was chosen to the position combining the duties of a business agent with that of city clerk at a salary of $1,500 a year. Citizens believe the innovation will be an economical one. Clarenda has a population of about 4,000.

Tobacco Habit Easily Conquered

A well-known New Yorker who had wide experience, has written a book telling how the tobacco or snuff habit can be easily banished in three days without any return of the craving.

The health improves wonderfully after the nicotine poison is out of the system. Calmness, tranquil sleep, clear eyes, normal appetite, good digestion, manly vigor, strong memory and a general gain in efficiency are among the many benefits. No more of that nervous feeling; no more need of pipe, cigar, cigarette or chewing tobacco to pacify the morbid desire. The author, Edw. J. Woods, 534 Sixth Ave., 899 E New York City, will send his book free on application, to anyone who writes to him.

DIPPEL MAY STAY IN NEW YORK CITY.

New York, May 7.—The Chicago Grand Opera company will continue to pay its Tuesday night visits to the Metropolitan opera house in this city during its season in Philadelphia. Harold McCormick, Bernard Ulrich and Cleofonte Cambanini, associated with the Chicago company, met here last night to discuss their relations with the Metropolitan Opera company.

It was learned also that Andreas Dippel is considering a plan to establish a theater for light opera in this city.

USE TROOPS IN PERSONAL DUEL.

Mexico City, May 7.—A long standing grudge between Julian Radillo and Sylvestro Mariscal, commandants of irregular troops at Acapulco, resulted in the streets of that city Tuesday. Some of the fighting occurred in front of the American consulate. The engagement had no direct connection with the revolution. Each commandant was backed by his own forces. The losses, however, were small.

HEADS THE POULTRYMEN

E. B. Thompson of New York President, Georgian Vice President.

Louisville, Ill., May 7.—I. L. McCord of this city, election commissioner of the American Poultry association, has finished canvassing the vote for the annual election of officers. He received 2,667 votes, nearly every state in the Union and Canada being represented. The members also voted on the next meeting place and Atlantic City, N. J., was selected. E. B. Thompson of Amenia, N. Y., was elected president over S. Richards of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and the other officers elected are: First vice president, M. C. Gleckley, Augusta, Ga.; second vice president, A. A. Peters, Denver. Secretary, J. T. Campbell, Mansfield, Ohio (re-selected); executive board, W. C. Denny, Buffalo, N. Y.; U. R. Fishel, Hope, N. D. and C. D. Cleveland, Eatontown, N. J.

BATHHOUSE JOHN TURNS REFORMER.

Chicago, May 7.—Pursuant to an energetic "blue laws" campaign by the city council, indecent songs have been put under the official ban. Suggestive attitudes and undraped attitudes, "turkey trot" and other undesired dances, all of which recently have been made unlawful in Chicago, are added. The ordinance was adopted by a large majority.

Alderman "Bathhouse" John Coughlin announced that he will offer an ordinance prohibiting transparent stockings, low necks and flimsy waists worn by the women. "Some of the dresses I see on the street shock my moral sense," he said. "They should be forbidden by law."

"Every Little OliveTablet Has a Movement All Its Own"

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

Men and Women in All Walks GREATLY BENEFITED BY
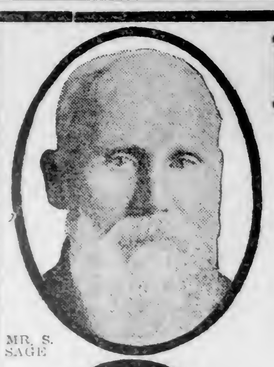
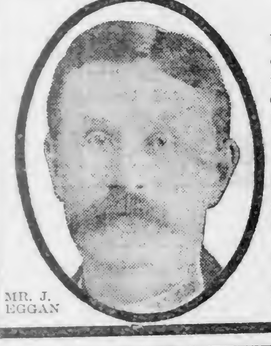
Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey



MR. S. SAGE

MRS. A. CAMPBELL

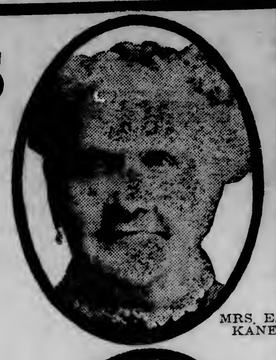
MR. D. H. ARMSTRONG



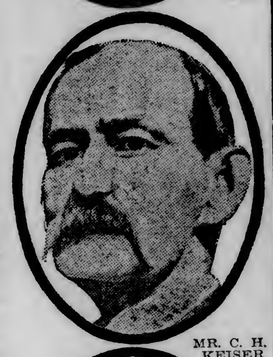
MR. J. EGGAN

Read the letters of indorsement of the people pictured on this page. They tell in convincing language of the sufferings of the patients and how relief and complete recovery were gained by using this great medicine. Used for more than half a century in the treatment and prevention of disease and today it is better known and more widely used than ever before.

Made for medical purposes only, for use in the home, hospital and sick room, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has gained an enviable record of achievement in medication during the past half century. It is of a higher standard of purity than is required by the U. S. Pharmacopoeia and the only whiskey taxed as medicine by the United States Government during the Spanish-American War.

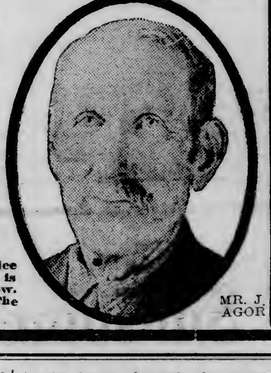


MRS. E. KANE



MR. C. H. KEISER.

MRS. I. BENJAMIN



MR. J. AGOR

Coughs, Colds, Grip, Bronchitis

Taken as directed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is a great and reliable remedy in the prevention and treatment of coughs, colds, bronchitis, pneumonia, and all throat and lung troubles. It strengthens and fortifies the system, better enabling it to withstand the rigors of the severe winter weather. It should be kept in every medicine chest where it will be handy for emergencies. It is the world's greatest family medicine.

Gives Old People Health and Strength

"I have used Duffy's for years, and it is the best medicine and tonic I can take. I have been troubled with my stomach and often bowel trouble, but if I take a tablespoonful of your malt in the morning then my food tastes fine and does not distress me. On the farm I took it before each meal and it gave me a better appetite and sleep became refreshing. I have often recommended it to my old comrades and they all say it does them much good."—Samuel Sage, Adjt. Tom Custer Post, No. 178, G. A. R., Sheridan, Mich.

Recovers From Pneumonia

"I have used Duffy's for 14 ye ars as a stimulant and tonic. I was first advised to take it by my family physician, recovering from pneumonia, contracted when in charge of the electrical construction work of the Mutual Life Co.'s building, N. Y. City. For the three years I was Business Agent for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, No. 3, N. Y. City, I had no colds, to which I had formerly been subject, when not taking Duffy's as directed before meals. As a labor leader I recommend Duffy's."—D. H. Armstrong, No. 333 Degraw St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Relieved Stomach Troubles

"Would say Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the best medicine on earth. It cured me of Stomach troubles that no other medicine could touch."—C. H. Keiser, South Langhorne, Pa.

Business Man Benefited

"I have been taking Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for the last 6 months and find it a grand tonic to build up a person who is run down as I was. I find it is the best tonic a man can take for a run down condition."—James Eggan, Mgr., Merchants Distributing Association, 255 Dover St., Boston, Mass.

Colds, Bowels, Nervousness

"I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in my family for the last eight years. It is certainly a wonderful remedy for colds, bowel trouble and nervousness. We take it as an all-around household remedy and feel sure it can't be beat."—John Agor, R. F. D. No. 3, Hammondsport, N. Y.

At 69 Feels Like 50

"Eight years ago, when sick, I lost my appetite. I could not eat solid foods. My family physician advised taking Duffy's before meals. Now I feel more like 50 than 69. My appetite is splendid, Duffy's is very invigorating."—Mrs. A. Campbell, 1111 W. 9th St., Spokane.

Fac-simile of package and bottle greatly reduced.

Weakness, Stomach Troubles, Old Age

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the best obtainable medicine for all conditions of lowered vitality due to advancing years or invalidism. It supplies in a form requiring no effort of the digestive organs, nourishment and strength. When taken just before meals it stimulates the digestive organs in a natural way which brings to all the tissues and organs the nutriment necessary to their sustenance and to the whole system strength and vigor.

Experience of a Specialist

Irving David Wiltrout, M. D., Ph. D.

"A heart stimulant of an unfailing character is frequently called for in the course of every physician's practice. This is particularly so in the exhaustion of acute maladies; and also there is need for a guarded stimulation in the treatment of chronic affections. During the past year I treated more than 400 institutional cases of the neurasthenic type where the physical forces were reduced to such a degree and the circulation so enfeebled that no function could be relied upon to do effective service. In 80 per cent of these I employed, with proper discrimination as to dosage, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I found it an unfailing remedy,—agreeably borne by the stomach, with a minimum of unpleasant mental disturbance.

One feature of Duffy's to be highly recommended is the uniformity of its chemical character. There is no variation; therefore it is reliable and to be depended upon for results. It has no superior."—Irving David Wiltrout, M. D., Ph. D., Specialist Nervous and Mental Diseases, Eau Claire, Wisc.

Stopped Stubborn Cough

"It is with great pleasure I write to tell you what I think of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I sincerely believe it is the grandest medicine ever made. It relieved me of a cough that my doctor could not stop. I had been in poor health three years. I took lots of medicine, but none of it seemed to do me any good, till I heard of Duffy's and got three bottles and took it. Now I am better and I tell everyone how it helped me."—Mrs. Ila Benjamin, Woodhull, N. Y.

Civil War Nurse of 72

"I am 72 and have used Duffy's 23 years. When I first took it my doctor said I would die from consumption but advised lots of eggs and milk, with a half wineglass of Duffy's in each glass and to eat as much as possible. In ten months my cold disappeared and I gained steadily, and today I weigh 195. My memory is so good I can remember the battle between the Monitor and the Merrimac, in 1862. I was then nursing in the Union army. I was in Canton, China, as a missionary nurse, 1875 to 1880."—Mrs. E. Kane, 2043 Palmetto St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

ROWDIES ON STREET CARS

Conductors Have Police Power Under the New State Law.

May Summon Passengers to Aid Them in Handling "Drunks."

A protest against the actions of drunken rowdies on the street cars, published in a communication to The Herald last evening, may never need to be repeated if a strict enforcement is given a new law passed at the recent session of the legislature.

Chapter 417 of the laws of 1913 provides that no person while intoxicated may ride upon a railroad train or street car, that no liquor may be consumed on such cars, and that the conductor may arrest offenders.

The section giving the conductors police power reads:

"The conductor of any railway train or street car shall summarily arrest, with or without a warrant, any person violating any of the foregoing provisions and for such purpose shall have the same power and authority as any peace officers, including the power to summon assistance, and such conductor shall further have power to deliver any such person to any policeman, constable, or other public officer of the county in which such offense was committed, and it shall be the duty of such officer to bring the person charged with such offense before the nearest justice of the peace or municipal court of the county where said offense was committed, and to make a complaint against such person, and such complaint made upon information and belief of said officer shall be sufficient."

ENTERS PESTHOUSE AND COMMITS SUICIDE.

Faribault, Minn., May 7.—When Peter Nelson, 70 years old, decided to commit suicide several days ago he broke into the pesthouse where he had been employed at times as nurse, got into a bed and took morphine. He died all right.

SUICIDE TAKES TWO WITH HIM.

New York, May 7.—A despondent East side paper cutter released such a quantity of gas when he turned on the jet in committing suicide that the fumes filled the tenement building where he lived and an explosion followed in which more than a score of persons were injured, two of them probably fatally. The explosion and fire which followed caused a panic in the neighborhood. The blaze did little damage.

BILL TO PUNISH FOOD DESTROYERS.

Sacramento, Cal., May 7.—One of the briefest but most far reaching proposed laws that has come before the present session of the legislature has been passed by the assembly unanimously. It was Assemblyman Roberts' "high cost of living" bill. The measure, which is eleven lines long, makes it unlawful "for any person to destroy any animal, vegetable or other stuffs in restraint of trade, which are customary food for human beings and are in fit and sanitary candition to be used as such."

"This bill is aimed at the reputed common practice of the dealers of destroying food products in order to keep up the market price," said Roberts. "Shima, the Japanese potato king, who controls the California market, is reported to have thrown thousands of sacks of potatoes into the river when a plentiful crop threatened to push the price down below the point to which his control of the marked had enabled him to boost it in previous seasons."

The maximum penalty provided for "persons, firms or corporations" violating the act is a fine of $100 or imprisonment for six months.

BRAINERD COUNCIL NOW IN DEADLOCK

Is Unable to Agree Upon Question of Electing City Attorney.

Brainerd, Minn., May 7.—Mayor R. A. Henning has appointed the following: Water and light board, six years, A. A. Weideman; park board, six years, Fred Marchant; board of health, six years, S. W. Quinn; library board, six years, J. M. Hayes, George Bouck, John Wilmar; chief of police, S. W. Quinn, captain, N. W. Olson; patrolmen, Herman Schulte, Chris Mathison, Mike Setula and Ole Anderson; special police at the Northern Pacific shops, John Wordin, Henry Hurley and Emanuel Horak; special police at the cemetery, Rudolph Jaeger.

Two informal and eight formal ballots were taken by the council for city attorney and at the finish the present incumbent, M. E. Ryan, had four votes, Jay Henry Long four votes and D. A. Haggard two votes. C. J. Peacock was elected city engineer at a salary of $1,600 annually; H. McGinn, fire chief; Jacob Paine, street commissioner; Thomas Martin, sanitary police.

DULUTH SHRINERS LEAVE FOR DALLAS

Seven Members of Aad Temple Will Attend Conclave.

The Duluth representation at the Imperial Council of the Mystic Shrine to be held at Dallas, Tex., May 12 to 16, will not be as strong numerically as at some former councils, as Aad Patrol will not attend in a body this year. The patrol made the long trip to Los Angeles for the Imeprial Council meeting last year and the members did not feel like repeating the long expedition in order to visit Dallas this year.

The accredited representatives from Aad Temple to the Imperial Council will be Jesse Norton, Henry Nesbitt and John Jenswold, Jr. W. E. Richardson, George W. Buck and Renwick B. Knox, also members of Aad Temple, will leave for Dallas tonight and will attend the conclave. A. H. Paul, president of Aad Temple patrol, will represent the patrol at the meeting.

DEERWOOD ORGANIZES GOOD ROADS CLUB.

Deerwood, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles A. Forbes, engineer of the state highway commission, addressed a large gathering here yesterday on the question of good roads. In the afternoon the schools closed to admit of the pupils attending the lecture and seeing the stereopticon views. At night there was a general mass meeting and a good roads club with a membership of sixteen was organized. Charles G. Osterlund, secretary of the Deerwood Commercial club, was the chairman. State road No. 5 leading from Deerwood to Esdon and connecting with the Moose Lake road, was viewed by Mr. Forbes. At Barrows a large crew is at work on the road.

PUBLIC DRINKING CUPS MUST GO

After July 1 Disease Spreaders Will Not Be Allowed.

After July 1, owners or agents of public buildings or public conveyances who permit the use of public drinking cups will be liable to a fine of $25 for each offense. They are also prohibited in public places so that is up to the city, but in view of the fact that this has already been attended to, the commissioners should worry.

The law governing this new departure in a statewide way, passed the legislature during its recent session and was approved by the governor on March 12. It reads like this:

"Section 1. In order to prevent the spread of communicable diseases, the use of common drinking cups in public places, public conveyances and public buildings, is hereby prohibited.

"Sec. 2. Whoever violates the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be liable to a fine, not exceeding $25 for each offense.

"Sec. 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after July 1, 1913."

There are many devices besides cups that are being used to overcome these restrictions. Bubbling fountains seem to be the most popular, and in many office buildings now each employe is supposed to have his or her individual cup. Some use the simple device of artistically folding a sheet of paper so that it will hold water for the time.

RASMUSSEN BACK FROM GREENLAND.

Copenhagen, May 7.—A message from Thorshaven, Faroe islands, announces the success of Knud Rasmussen's Greenland expedition, which returned there Monday after a three years' absence. At Peary land the Danish explorer found large numbers of seal and musk oxen, which provided ample supplies. Where the Peary channel was supposed to be he found a large tract of land free of ice.

Game was abundant in that section and the party halted for a month before starting on the return journey, over 600 miles, which was covered at an average rate of thirty-one miles a day. Rasmussen depended entirely on his Eskimo outfit and took with him no tinned provisions.

MANY AT HORSE SHOW.

Concluding Day of Washington Affair Expected to Attract President.

Washington, May 7.—The fourth and concluding day of the National Horse show brought a large gathering, for, under the direction of Albert de Cernes of New York, a society auction was scheduled at which a number of the prize-winning horses were to be sold. Preceding the sale, however, there was an interesting card with several "over the jumps" events included.

The president's flag was run up early over the box set aside for President Wilson, who has sought to attend the meet on preceding days, but had been prevented by the press of public business. It is expected he will attend today although members of his family have represented the White House during the exhibition.

Brainerd Concern Elects.

Brainerd, Minn., May 7.—The Brainerd Improvement company at its annual meeting elected as directors R. R. Wise, Con O'Brien, A. E. Wise, H. H. Baker, D. M. Clark, R. J. Hartley and F. A. Farrar. The officers elected are: President and general manager, R. R. Wise; vice president, Con O'Brien; secretary and treasurer, F. A. Farrar. The company built the beautiful Iron Exchange building.

CROW WING VOTES $325 FOR N. M. D. A.

Brainerd, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crow Wing county board today voted the Northern Minnesota Development association $325, taking advantage of the law passed at the recent session of the legislature allowing county boards to appropriate money to incorporated development associations.

W. R. Mackenzie, secretary of the association, was here for the county board meeting and incidentally boosting for the next meeting of the association to be held at Hinckley, June 5 and 6.

REMOVAL NOTICE

Knudsen-Ferguson and Mesaba Labor Agency have moved from 320 West Michigan street to 306 West Michigan street.

MINK TRAP IN DULUTH PARK

Superintendent Cleveland Finds One Baited and Set —Slingshots Barred.

Trapping for mink in Duluth parks will not be a profitable recreation for those who are caught doing it, according to Harry Cleveland, superintendent of the department of parks.

Employes of the park department yesterday received orders from Supt. Cleveland to arrest anyone who plants a trap for the mink or any other small fur-bearing animal which help makes the parks more interesting.

Yesterday a trap baited with fresh meat was found in the stream of one of the parks.

Youths with weapons of any kinds will not be allowed to engage in bird and squirrel distruction in the parks. A ban has been placed on slingshots in particular.

WAR ON CORNELL SOCIAL CLUBS.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 7.—War on the so-called social clubs at Cornell because they are alleged to breed snobbishness among the students, has been started by the undergraduates. The honorary societies, Sphinx Head and Quill and Dagger, announced that they will not elect members who are members of any of the clubs that have social features exclusively as their object. The question has been agitated for some time.

$500 REWARD FOR "PART OF" NEGRO.

Columbia, S. C., May 7.—In a proclamation Governor Blease offered a reward of $500 for the body of Richard Austin, the negro who shot and killed two white men and fatally wounded a third near Hampton, S. C., Wednesday. The governor's proclamation specified that the reward will be paid for the body of Austin "just so there is enough of it to be recognized." A price of $2,500 now is on Austin's head.

PRESIDENT'S WIFE AIDS HOSPITAL

Washington, May 7.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson has taken a hand in a public hospital fund campaign. She attended a meeting of the hospital ladies' board at the fund headquarters, promised to aid the movement in every way she could, and later drove back to the White House with yellow pennants advertising the campaign fluttering gaily from the windshield of the automobile. With her Mrs. Wilson carried a bundle of the pennants, promising to see that all of the White House cars were decorated.

MURDERED WHILE THOUSANDS WATCH.

New York, May 7.—David Mizner, a young clerk, was the victim of a spectacular murder in a busy section of Brooklyn late Tuesday. Three gangsters who had trailed him across the Williamsburg bridge shot him down in sight of thousands on the bridge plaza, firing several times into the body after the man fell. One of the men slipped away while his companions held up the crowd, firing into the air before making an attempt at escape.

Followed by hundreds of men and women, the two men fled into buildings, but were captured by the police. A girl burst through the crowd and threw herself on the murdered man's body, declaring it was that of her brother. She was Lillian Mizner.

The two men captured were Salvatore Andrella and Charles Friedman. The police say that the killing was probably due to a feud between the "Bearcat" Levee gang and the Clacarelli gang. Mizner is said to have been a member of the former.

Business Men Help Thresh.

Egeland, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. A. Baerwald, who had niety acres of unthreshed flax adjoining the town and was unable to secure transient help to man the machine, conscripted a number of the business men of the city and cleaned up the work in quick shape. Some men who had not labored in the fields for years participated. The flax yield was good and the grade high despite the exposure all winter.

Stabs Wrong Man.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mistaking James Kauffmeier, a stranger, whom she met in a chop suey house, for a former lover who had deserted her, Pearl La Belle, a woman well known in police circles, stabbed Kauffmeier in the chest, making a ragged but not a serious wound.

Planning Brainerd Country Club.

Brainerd, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Town and Country club is being organized, the club house to be on the shores of Mille Lacs lake, near Garrison. The club is assured of a membership among the social circles of Brainerd. A large garage is to be one of the features, as nearly every member owns a car. The trip from Brainerd to the lake is about twenty-two miles and leads over some of the finest driveways in the state.

The BIG DULUTH
WILLIAMSON & MENDENHALL

Woman's Realm

Interesting accounts of the work of the Bishop's club for the past year were given by heads of the various departments and officers for next year were unanimously elected as follows:

Mrs. John F. Killorin, president; Miss Mae Hammell, first vice president; Mrs. F. A. Sermon, second vice president; Miss Susan Pfau, third vice president; Miss Lillian Kenny, secretary; Mrs. A. S. Jackson, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Halley, historian, and Mrs. E. J. Donahue, librarian.

Reports of the work covered during the past year in the study of South America, which the club took up; of the giving of about 400 books and magazines to the poor farm and the hospitals; of the financial standing of the club and of the social and financial work were all given and the report of the historian, Miss Cora Davis, which she had prepared in the meter of Longfellow's "Hiawatha" was enthusiastically applauded.

A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Aurelia V. Kelley, retiring president, who has held her office for two years, for her untiring and helpful interest.

A program of musical numbers, including piano solos, by Miss Mary Bradbury, two delightful vocal solos by Mrs. Leo Ball and two quartet numbers by James Lynn, Robert Hamp, John Golcz and John Belanger followed and the meeting was closed with a social hour under the direction of Mrs. R. F. Bellperche, Mrs. W. E. Wessinger, Misses Elizabeth Sullivan, J. Mahady, Mary Stone, Helen Fitzgerald, Pearl Chalk, Mary Shesgreen and Elizabeth Halley.

APOLLO CLUB PLEASES.

Singers and Violinist Give Fine Program.

From the opening number to the last chorus the concert given by the Apollo club last evening at the Pilgrim Congregational church was much enjoyed and music lovers welcome the organization as a valuable one to musical circles. The program was well balanced and well given under the direction of George H. Madison, who also appeared as bass soloist. Miss Wally Heymar, violinist, also played and Miss Isabel Pearson played the accompaniments.

The club opened the program with the chorus, "Bugle Song," by Hawley, which was delightfully given followed by the solo "I Am a Roamer Bold" by Mendelssohn, by Mr. Madison. His other numbers were Gounod's "She Alone Charmeth My Sadness," "Finland Love Song," by Bartlett, the Corby "Had a Horse," and the Speaks "Shepherd, See Thy Horse's Foaming Mane."

Miss Heymar played delightfully with exquisite interpretation of Wienlawski's "Romance Sans Paroles et Rondo Elegante," and the "Scena a la Czarda," of Hubay.

One of the specially interesting numbers by the club was the vocal combat by the tenors and bass voices in "You'll Remember Me" and "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep."

On the whole the audience was much pleased with the program.

GERALDINE FARRAR WILL BE HEARD IN "CARMEN" NEXT YEAR

—Copyrighted by George Grantham Bain.

GERALDINE FARRAR.

"Gerry" Farrar has gone to Europe to sing a few times and enjoy a well-earned vacation after twenty-four weeks of hard work with the Metropolitan Opera company. Miss Farrar created no new parts this season. But next year she is to sing in "Carmen," realizing a long-cherished ambition. Miss Farrar was accompanied on the voyage by her father, "Old Sid." Farrar, once well-known to American fans.

"Egypt and the Holy Land."

An illustrated talk on "Egypt and the Holy Land" will be given by Dr. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First M. E. church Tuesday evening of next week, May 13 at Franklin school for the benefit of the social center work which is being carried on there. Dr. Rice will recount his own experiences and impressions obtained during his trip through those countries last year and the illustrations will be from colored slides which he collected while there.

GOWAN-RICHARDS.

Quiet Wedding of Well Known Young People.

At noon today Miss Lillian Gowan of 1010 East Second street became the bride of Carver Richards of Virginia, Minn. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Bishop McGolrick in the presence of only the members of the two families and a few intimate friends. There were no attendants. The bride wore her traveling suit of blue with a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley and roses and carried a white prayerbook.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis James Dacey, 1621 East Fourth street, at which covers were laid for the relatives of the bride and bridegroom. Pink Killarney roses were used in decorating the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards left for a wedding trip and upon their return will make their home in Virginia.

Mr. Richards is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Richards of Lakeside, and both young people are graduates of the Duluth Central high school and are well known throughout the city.

NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB.

Dr. Lefkovits Will Speak at Franklin School.

Dr. Maurice Lefkovits will speak to the members of the Franklin neighborhood club, which will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the Franklin school. All people living in that vicinity interested are cordially invited to attend.

WILL RETURN.

Miss Lydia Poirier Expected Home Soon.

Miss Lydia Poirier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Camille Poirier of this city, formerly chief librarian of the public library here, who has been in the West for the past few years, is on her way home. She has spent the past year at Honolulu and is now in Los Angeles, Cal., visiting relatives and friends for a few weeks. She is expected home about the last of this month.

ENDS SEASON.

Jewish Chautauqua Discusses Besant's Book.

"The position of Jewish women in the household and the state has always been acknowledged supreme," said Rev. Maurice Lefkovits in his talk yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Jewish Chautauqua on Walter Besant's book "The Rebel Queen." The speaker declared that the writer misinterpreted the Jewish law in the delineation of his characters, for Jewish history of all times contradicts the theme of Besant's work.

After the discussion Mrs. Samuel Goldberg, president of the organization reported the study of eleven pieces of literature during the past year at the thirteen meetings held. "The Jew in Fiction" will be continued in the study next season.

Dr. Lefkovits was honored with a vote of thanks and was presented with a leather traveling case.

BETHEL MEETING.

Deaconess Will Speak at Women's Meeting.

Miss Mary E. Ritter of the Deaconess Home will be the speaker at the regular Thursday afternoon women's meeting which will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Bethel, Mesaba avenue and West First street. Miss Lillian Ferguson will sing and following the meeting a social half-hour will be held and all women interested are cordially invited.

Birthday Party.

A birthday party and musical will be given by the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Clement's Catholic church this evening in the church parlors.

Bridge Hostess.

Mrs. F. C. Auer of 1422 East First street has issued invitations for a bridge party on Saturday afternoon of this week. Thirty guests have been invited.

Supper at Church.

A supper of thirty covers was served last evening for the teachers and officers of the Sunday school of the Endion M. E. church at the parlors of the church. After the supper and a social hour a short business session was held for discussion of the Sunday school plans and work.

Church Meetings.

The Altar Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church will hold its May meeting at the guild rooms of the new St. Paul's church tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

• • •

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's German Evangelical church will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Fred Jacobs, 309 East Sixth street.

• • •

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Christian church will hold an all-day sewing meeting tomorrow at the church. A basket lunch will be served at noon and all women interested are invited to attend.

Plan Federation.

The federation of the Mothers' clubs will be perfected. At the meeting of the Mothers' club of the Franklin school held yesterday afternoon at the school building Miss Austin, president of the club and eighth grade teacher proposed that that club be the active agent in forming the alliance and it was decided to start the work immediately. The formation of clubs next year is planned in many of the schools where there has been no such organization so the federation should prove a strong factor for good in unifying the work all over the city and in gaining the best co-operation between parent and teacher.

Miss Jean Poirier spoke on "The History of the Franklin School" to the members present at the meeting yesterday, urging the mothers to look carefully after the leisure time of their children and to supervise their attendance at moving picture shows and to find out the source of supply of the money spent by them at the cheap theaters.

Miss Ethel Ericson spoke on "Medical Inspection in the Schools," and musical numbers closed the program.

Tea for Miss Willard.

Miss Viola Helm was hostess at an informal afternoon tea this afternoon in compliment to Miss Verna Willard who will be one of this summer's brides. The afternoon was spent with sewing and dainty decorations were carried out in pink, ping and white sweet peas being the flowers used. The guests were:

Talks on China.

Miss Alice Brethorst, the returned missionary from China, who is a guest in Duluth this week, told of Chinese customs and manner of living, speaking yesterday afternoon at a meeting for children held at the First M. E. church.

"There is no change in fashion there," she said, "and no variation in shape of the head dresses of 'Lads' which is a band of silk or other material stiffened and broadened over the temples and decorated with ornaments and embroidery; or in the costumes for which the women which are just two garments, loose trousers and jacket.

"A woman in China is considered a mere chattel and is given no place in the life of the country.

"One of the causes of China's stagnation" she said, "is the reverence for ancestors which considers it a sin to surpass the greatness of some ancestor and no effort is made for advancement, so progress among the Chinese is slow because they have been trained for centuries not to progress."

Miss Bethorst said that about 75 per cent of the Chinese women bind their feet into shoes about two inches long, "but what can you expect of heathens when the American women insist on wearing shoes two or three sizes too small for them."

Mrs. J. D. Morrison of 2131 East Superior street, who has been visiting in California for the past two months is on her way home and is expected in Duluth in a few days.

GADSKI WILL REST DURING SUMMER

MME. JOHANNA GADSKI.

Mme. Gadski will sail May 17 on the George Washington for Bremen for her annual vacation. She will not sing this year at Covent garden, or in any of the opera houses of Europe. She has arranged for a concert tour of the United States beginning next fall and she intends to rest her voice through the summer. For this reason she has declined all engagements abroad.

WHY GIRLS SHUN DOMESTIC SERVICE.

Anne Winsor Allen, in the Atlantic: Already, today, many steady, refined, sensible girls appreciate the advantage of working in other people's homes, but they make four definite objections to the occupation as it is now arranged. These four are: (1) Difficulty in securing a pleasant, quiet place in which to enjoy leisure and to receive their callers; that is, its discomforts. (2) Difficulty in finding out beforehand how the mistress of any particular house is going to treat you; that is, its uncertainty. (3) Difficulty in being sure of pleasant fellow-workers; that is, its intimacy. (4) A dislike of helping without sharing in a private home life; that is, its aloofness. Of course, also, the social "stigma" is urged as the chief reason why it is hard to secure good help in the household. This is the reason which many girls believe they have for not entering domestic service. But a general sentiment of this kind follows the conditions which create it. A feeling is always a consequence before it is a cause. If the conditions were altered, the sentiment would disappear. In the eighteenth century there was a social stigma on artists; the social stigma on doctors has scarcely yet disappeared in England; and that on retail trade has been heard of in this country. Some say there is still a social stigma on dentists, while others look upon dentists as high in the social scale. These are matters of sentiment. We cannot work to efface sentiment, but only to efface what causes the sentiment.

WHAT YOU EAT.

New York World: Mrs. Florence Kelley, secretary of the National Consumers' league, at the annual meeting in St. Louis, told how "pie" is made in many bakeries. She said she would as soon eat mud pies as some of the "delicacies" sold every day. Here is the way she says some "pies" are made:

"Pineapple Pie—Artificial flour paste, glucose, benzoic acid, coal tar dye, with liquid pineapple flavor.

"Lemon Pie—Same as pineapple, except a different flavored and colored coal tar dye is used.

"Apple Tart—Mostly timothy seed and an analine dye made from bituminous coal refuse.

"Chocolate Icing — Artificial flour paste, glucose, benzoic acid and burnt amber dye."

Mrs. Kelley said some baking powders were made by grinding white stone to a fine dust.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Some Remarks on "Arkward" Period in Both Sexes.

My dear girls—listen, please, to your mother when she corrects your position and querulously wonders that you are so round - shouldered and so lacking in the great essential—backbone. Wear shoulder braces if she urges; take exercises and do all that you can to overcome the hideous defect of not being able to square your shoulders and carry your head high.

It is a fact that any number of growing boys and girls pass through a period when they are veritable ugly ducklings. They are a sore trial to the eyes of their parents and all people genuinely interested in them and a torture to themselves, for what, with suffering from their ungainliness and from the added unpleasantness of their parents' complaints, life is anything but a bed of roses.

This stage passes and the greater number turn out to be fine specimens. They do not seem afraid of attaining their full height; their hands and feet become secondary considerations, and with every year they gain more poise. That is, the majority do. But every now and then you see young persons, otherwise lovable and attractive and capable, who have utterly failed to develop out of this trying period.

They are awkward, ungainly, unkempt, even without a reason for so being, unless it is that they have been neglected. Hard as it is to endure the repeated criticism and urgings to "stand straight," to "hold up one's head," to "be tidy about the arrangement of one's clothing, one's hair and one's person generally," it is a still greater hardship not to have had this sharp watchfulness exercised in one's behalf.

Every one despises vanity, especially in others. I do not ask any one to make his or her personal appearance the sum and substance of living. I realize, sometimes with disgust, that many young girls seem only to have the one accomplishment, and that is pandering to whatever beauty and good looks they may possess to the exclusion of everything else—heart, soul and all.

This is really worse than being slovenly in appearance and gentle in heart and capable in mind. But when any one has a good heart and a good mind it does not seem necessary that they should fall very short in the side they present, to be misjudged by the casual observer.

THE SHOES that go to school so often on the boys' feet must have a capacity to stand about everything. We have School Shoes that have been tested — they are being worn day after day and are the delight of Duluth parents and school boys. They look neater, are more comfortable and wear far better than just ordinary school shoes.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY'S POOR

Record Number of Cases Cared for By Poor Board During Month of April.

April, 1913, will pass into history as a record month at the St. Louis county poor farm. The high record set during the month of March for the number of cases handled has been broken. The monthly report of Dr. C. J. Woolway, medical superintendent, shows that during April, relief and medical attendance were extended to 222 persons as compared with 214 in March. The report covers the three institutions conducted by the poor commission, the county almshouse, hospital and tuberculosis sanitarium.

The daily average of patients cared for during April was, however, less than the month previous. The report shows that the daily average during the month just passed was 168 persons, while in March it was 172. This is accounted for by the fact that during the month of March there were forty-seven discharges and four deaths as compared with fifty-three discharges and ten deaths in April. The daily average for February was 165.

During the month of April, there were eighty-six patients in the county hospital, of whom thirty-six were discharged during that time. Of those discharged, two were sent to St. Luke's hospital for operations and one was deported to Finland. There were 104 inmates in the almshouse, a large number of whom received treatment for minor ailments. Nine were in the hospital most of the month. Of the inmates discharged one was sent to Finland.

Hospital Cases.

Among the hospital cases there were six deaths during the month: 1, aged 48, of nyelitic; 1, aged 40, of aortic insufficiency, seventy-two hours after admission; 1, aged 84, of chronic nephritis, ten days after admission; 1, aged 81, of erysipelas of face and hands, five days after admission, and 1, aged 27, of typhoid fever.

Three deaths occurred among the inmates. One was aged 81, and died of cerebral hemorrhage. He had been an inmate of the poor farm for thirteen years. Another inmate, aged 77, who had been at the farm for four years, died of chronic nephritis. The third inmate, who was 75 and who died of bronchitis, had been at the farm for seven months.

There were thirty-two patients in the tuberculosis sanitarium, of whom two were discharged and one died. A summary of the population statistics at the three institutions during the month of April follows:

Total population in the main house on April 1, 144, divided as follows: Inmates, 96; hospital cases, 48.

County Almshouse.

Inmates, April 1, 1913	96

Finances of Board.

Charles Shogran, clerk of the county poor commission yesterday afternoon submitted his quarterly report of the finances of the poor board to the county board at its May meeting. The report covers the first three months, January, February and March and shows that the cost of maintaining the county poor farm during that time has been $8,838.87. Other items are as follows: The upkeep of the county hospital has been $1,977.51. The grocery bill for the county charges amounts to $2,632, and the fuel $1,284.90. The county has paid out $64.62 for clothing supplied to public charges; for transportation, $196.52, and burials, $228. State institutions have been paid $667.56. Salaries for those connected with the commission, for the last three months, aggregate, $960, and miscellaneous expenses, including office supplies and odds and ends, run to $270.37, making a grand total of $17,120.35. The receipts of the board for the last three months amount to $188.80, leaving a net expense of $16,931.55 for the quarter.

There always is a cause—

And usually it is found in wrong living.

Coffee drinking affects many unpleasantly, because the coffee drug, caffeine, (about 2½ grains to the cupful) is a poison, and causes heart disturbance, indigestion and many other ills.

Coffee drinkers who are "out of tune" can get back to steady health and comfort by quitting coffee and using

Instant Postum

This wholesome, pure food-drink provides a rich, delicious table beverage much resembling high-grade Java coffee in flavour, but made from prime Northern wheat and the juice of Southern sugar-cane, it is nourishing and absolutely free from the coffee drug, caffeine, or any other harmful ingredient.

Postum now comes in two forms. The original Postum requiring 15 to 20 minutes boiling—sold at 15 and 25c the package.

Instant Postum is a quickly soluble powder; all the insoluble parts having been removed. A level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, with sugar and cream to taste, makes a delightful cup "quick as a wink." 45 to 50 cup tins, 30c; 90 to 100 cup tins, 50c.

GREAT NORTHERN PREPARES FOR MINING OPERATIONS

Plans for Work on Mining Properties Announced in Annual Report.

Stripping Contracts Let for Land Formerly Allowed to Lie Idle.

The Great Northern railroad interests are preparing to engage in active competition with the United States Steel corporation on the Mesaba iron range after Jan. 1, 1915, is indicated by the sixth annual report of the trustees of the road's iron ore properties just issued. While the trustees are careful to avoid direct announcement of their apparent intention to operate these properties when the steel combine lease expires, yet the report broadly intimates this is the course they will pursue. In this connection the report says:

"The release of these properties has made it possible for The Companies, (referring to the trustees in their capacity as managers of the companies whose stock was transferred to the Great Northern in 1906), to proceed with the development of the mines thereon. Contracts have been entered into for stripping the overburden of three of the leasehold properties which contain an aggregate of 28,123,445 tons of iron ore. This mine development will probably place The Companies in position to mine and sell some ore during the year 1913, a large amount in 1914, and an increasing output during the year 1915 and thereafter. The opening of these mines does not make it incumbent upon The Companies to do their own mining and selling, but it will put them in position to do so."

Many Interesting Figures.

The report gives many interesting figures in connection with the stewardship of the men in control and also explains that steps are already being taken to put the property heretofore held under lease by the Great Western Mining company, in commission that they may begin earning at once instead of lying idle.

The Great Western company's leases will expire Dec. 31, 1914, and it will mine in the meantime only such properties as are already opened up. Consequently in order to have the rest of the property earn money, releases for the vacant property were obtained from the Great Western and contracts for stripping it have already been made. The report reveals the business done by the trustees up to and including Dec. 31, 1912, and will be of much interest to mining men in general and to those who hold stock in the companies whose mines are under lease with the Great Northern.

The trustees are Louis W. Hill, James N. Hill, Walter J. Hill and Edward T. Nichols. They report that they have received and now hold the following securities:

Seven hundred and fifty shares of the West Missabe Land company, limited, at $1,000 a share; 500 shares of Arthur Iron Mining company at $100; 500 shares of Fillmore Iron Mining company at $100; 500 shares of Harrison Iron Mining company at $100; 500 shares of Jackson Iron Mining company at $100; 500 shares of Polk Iron Mining company at $100; 500 shares of Tyler Iron Mining company at $100; 5 shares of Van Buren Iron Mining company at $100; 5,379 shares of North Star Iron Mining company at $100, and 1,000 shares of Leonard Iron Mining company at $100.

Receipts and Disbursements.

During the year 1912 the trustees received in dividends on stocks $2,637,797, and interest amounting to $66,355.14, making the total receipts $2,704,152.14. The disbursements were:

Administration of trust, $73,171.64; distributions to holders of certificates of beneficial interest, $750,000; total, $823,171.64; excess of receipts over disbursements for the year, $1,880,980.50, added to which was the balance of undistributed income for the previous year, leaving a total balance of undistributed income Dec. 31, 1912, of $3,452,052.56. The "hold-back" is explained in this way:

Under conditions which have arisen, and which are explained in the report as given hereafter, the liabilities of The Companies may be, during the current year, in excess of the quick assets held at the time the report was formulated, and that it is the duty of the trustees to provide for the needs of The Companies: and it is their judgment that they can best do so by reserving for that purpose the balance of undistributed income.

One of the tables contained in the report shows that shipments under what is termed "old leases" from 1907 to 1912 inclusive amounted to a total of 14,423,688 tons, and the total revenue derived therefrom amounted to $2,221,762.55. The shipments and revenue of 1912 are detailed as follows:

Mine.	Tons.	Revenue.
Mahoning	1,518,644	$189,830.48
Stevenson	584,015	74,033.92
Leetonia	184,045	66,256.54
Utica	223,066	33,583.30
Totals	2,509,710	$363,704.24

Receipts and disbursements from the time the trust was formed, Dec. 7, 1906, to Dec. 31, 1912, amounted to $27,857,349.60; the disbursements amounted to $25,194,862.30; leaving an excess of receipts over disbursements of $2,662,487.30, of which all is on hand in cash, considering collections and payments accrued as 1912 business, as made, except $96,000, which is invested in securities.

Properties Under Lease.

The properties held under lease by the companies consist of the following:

State properties—Fay, state, 11, 58-19; Smith, Niagara, state, 23 57-22; Missabi Chief, state, 24, 57-22 (two leases), 1, 56-23; northeast 16, 56-23; northwest, southwest and southeast same description. Others—Wentworth, Whiteside, Dunwoody, Leonard, Longyear No. 2, Smith, South Agnew, Alworth 12, 57-21, Mississippi, and from the Wysox Iron company, Itasca, St. Anthony Nos. 1 and 2, Lamberton and Eddy.

According to estimates of the Great Western Mining company as of Jan. 1, 1912, there was contained in the lands which it held under lease, the following tonnages of iron ore:

	Tons.
Lands owned in fee	110,823,803
Leaseholds of the first class	109,744,785
Leaseholds of the second class	106,826,190
Total under lease to Great Western Mining company	327,394,778
In mines covered by the "old leases," according to records of the state tax commission as of May 1, 1912	102,626,995
Grand total	430,021,773

Of the foregoing, there is designated as "washable" ore, in the lands leased to the Great Western Mining company:

	Tons.
In lands owned in fee	28,408,409
In leaseholds of the first class	13,814,211
In leaseholds of the second class	2,234,964
Total washable ore	44,457,584

"During the year 1912, and in previous years, a great part of the mining of Great Western Mining company has been prosecuted on properties which The Companies hold by lease-hold. The royalties which The Companies have been obliged to pay upon ore taken from these properties have drawn very heavily upon the gross income received from the lessee. The shipments from the Dale, North Uno N. P., and South Uno N. P. mines have been large. These are leasehold properties of the second class and the royalties paid upon them have been the same as those received from the Great Western Mining company, except during the past year, when the reduction in the freight rate on ore has left a small margin of profit to The Companies. During the year 1912 the rail freight on ore from the mines to Lake Superior was 20 cents per ton less than in previous years. As the royalty on ore shipped by the Great Western Mining company is a delivered price at Lake Superior, this reduction in freight inures to the benefit of The Companies. The interest of The Companies in the Mace mine is an undivided half. Consequently, The Companies have obtained only half of the royalties received upon this property. The Leonard mine has been a very large producer. From the royalty received on the product of this mine, a sub-royalty of 25 cents per ton has been paid. Of the resulting net income, the Leonard Iron Mining company has distributed in dividends one half to the trustees and the balance to the other stockholders. On other mines operated, The Companies have had to pay large amounts in royalties. The selection of leasehold properties for operation rather than fee properties, has been natural, as it is necessary to take out all the ore from lease-hold properties during the lives of the leases. The selection and development of the particular mines in which the Great Western Mining company has operated have been its independent act under the terms of the lease by which it has held and operated properties.

"In the report for the year 1911, your attention was called to the notice given by Great Western Mining company of its intention to terminate its lease Dec. 31, 1914. The tonnage which the Great Western Mining company is called upon to mine and to pay for during the year 1913, is 5,250,000 tons for all of which tonnage, and for any excess over that tonnage, it will pay in cash at the royalty rates for the year 1913.

"The Great Western Mining company in 1913 will mine only from those mines which it has heretofore opened, and from which it has mined during the past year. These include mines leased to The Companies upon which The Companies' liabilities for royalties will be large, and the same general conditions relative to payments of underlying royalties are to be expected in 1913 and 1914 as in the year 1912 and prior thereto.

Development of Mines.

"The income of The Companies from the Great Western Mining company under the terms of the lease, will cease on Dec. 31, 1914. In order to place The Companies in a position after that date, where they may obtain an income from their properties, it has been necessary to procure from the Great Western Mining company, during the past year, the release from the terms of the lease, of all the properties not being used by them in 1913 and 1914 for their actual mining or purposes incident thereto.

"The release of these properties has made it possible for The Companies to proceed with the development of mines thereon. Contracts have been entered into for stripping, as Dunwoody (formerly called the Adams), Whiteside and Smith mines, which contain an aggregate of 28,123,445 tons of iron ore, as estimated by the Minnesota tax commission. This mine development will probably place The Companies in position to mine and sell some ore during the year 1913, a larger amount in 1914 and an increasing output during 1915 and thereafter. The opening of these mines does not make it incumbent upon The Companies to do their own mining and selling, but will put them in position to do so.

"As above stated, contracts have been let for the stripping of these mines and it has been estimated that by the expenditure of about $1,000,000 about 5,500,000 tons of ore will be made available in the Whiteside mine; that by the expenditure of about $2,000,000 about 8,000,000 tons of ore will be made available in the Dunwoody mine; and that by the expenditure of about $120,000 about 600,000 tons of ore will be made available in the Smith mine.

"The engineers have, by approximate estimates, indicated that by the expenditure of about $600,000 about 2,500,000 tons of ore will be made available in the Enterprise mine; that by the expenditure of about $1,500,000 about 4,300,000 tons of ore will be made available in the South Agnew mine; that by the expenditure of about $5,000,000 about 12,500,000 tons of standard ore and about 3,725,000 tons of ore concentrated by washing will be made available in section 16, 66-23, and by the expenditure of about $600,000 about 5,000,000 tons of ore will be made available in the Wabigon mine. It is not to be understood that the full amount of the above for each mine must be expended before any tonnage will be available for shipment therefrom.

Leases Modified.

"Arrangements have been made by which the lands held from Messrs. Longyear & Bennett will be relinquished to them on Jan. 1, 1915, and no royalties will be paid upon these lands during the years 1913 and 1914.

"During the past year arrangements have been made by the Sargent Land company materially modifying the terms of the lease of property from that company. At the end of 1911, The Companies had paid to the Sargent Land company, as advance royalties, the sum of $1,629,705, and the amount payable as advance royalties for the year 1912 was $706,860, and an increasing amount per annum thereafter. The advance royalties paid and to be paid were in the nature of ground rents and unless The Companies opened and mined ore from these properties, there could be, under the terms of the lease, no recovery of the advance royalties so paid. Under the terms, as modified, The Companies will continue to pay the same amount of advance royalty for the years 1913 and 1914. Upon the completion of these payments, The Companies will come into possession of notes to an amount covering the entire payments thus made to the Sargent Land company, on $1,629,705 of which no interest will accrue, but on the balance of which interest will accrue from the date of the payments of the respective amounts to the Sargent Land company, at the rate of 4 per cent per annum. The first payments received on account of these notes will be applied on those covering the said $1,629,705. These notes will be made by the Keewatin Mining company, a company which has been organized in the interest of the Sargent Land company, and to which the Sargent Land company has conveyed certain lands, estimated by the Minnesota tax commission to contain upward of 20,000,000 tons of iron ore of a good grade. To secure the payment of these notes the Keewatin Mining company has created a mortgage on the above mining property described as the northwest quarter and the north half of the northwest quarter of section 24-57-22 west, Itasca county, Minn., and known as the Bennett mine. The notes and the mortgages have been deposited in escrow with the Minneapolis Trust company of Minneapolis, Minn., and will, on completion of payments by The Companies be turned over to them. The Keewatin Mining company has agreed to open promptly the mine upon the property mentioned and has agreed to apply from the proceeds of the ore mined therefrom not less than 50 cents for each ton or ore so mined to the payment of the principal and accrued interest on the above described notes, all of which are to be taken up not later than 1927.

Lease Explained.

"The lease with the Great Western Mining company, the performance of which is guaranteed by the United States Steel corporation, was executed in August, 1907. It covered, exclusive of leaseholds of the second class, 32,295.88 acres, as follows:

	Acres.
Owned in fee	19,933.81
Owned in fee jointly with others, of which The Companies' proportion is 7,914.95 acres	15,972.26
Held under leaseholds of the first class	3,389.81
Total	39,295.88

"Of the fee lands, 3,691.66 acres are owned by the North Star Iron company, of whose stock the trustees hold about 91 per cent. This lease provides for the mining and shipment of at least 5,250,000 tons of ore during the year 1913, and for 6,000,000 tons in 1914.

"The royalty to be paid by the Great Western Mining company to the trust is based upon the quality of the ore mined. Ore containg 59 per cent of metallic iron is the unit on which all royalties are computed. The lease fixes the royalty for each ton of such ore delivered at the dock for 1913 at $1.854. The royalty rises or falls 4.82 cents for each increase or decrease of 1 per cent in the amount of metallic iron contained in the ore.

"These royalties increase 3.4 cents per ton annually during the life of the lease.

"Ore containing 49 per cent of metallic iron is fixed as the minimum merchantable standard, but if ores of lower grade than this are shipped the lessee pays a minimum royalty thereon of $1.10 per ton.

"These royalties include the cost of handling and delivery, sorting, rail transportation and dockage. All these charges, amounting at the present time to 60 cents per ton, are paid The Companies out of the royalty receipts."

Another appendix deals with "minimums receivable under old leases." It follows:

Mine—	Annual Minimum Tons.	Royalty Rate.	Minimum Royalty.
Mahoning	300,000	27¼c@21½c	$ 82,500.00
Stevenson	200,000	20c @12½c	40,000.00
Utica	100,000	20c @12½c	20,000.00
Leetonia	75,000	36c	27,000.00
Sweeney	37,500	25c	9,375.00
	712,500		$178,875.00

Royalty rates under leases on the Mahoning, Stevenson and Utica mines are on a sliding scale, according to amount of annual shipments. The Mahoning obtains the minimum rate named on an output in any one year of 1,500,000 tons; the Stevenson and Utica on an output of 500,000 tons respectively. The interest of The Companies in the Leetonia and Sweeney mines and in forty acres of the Stevenson mine is an undivided one-half. The annual minimum tonnages in these mines, as above stated, show the one-half interest of The Companies only. All of these mines have been opened and are regular shippers, except the Sweeney.

"HAWKER" IS SURE SIGN OF SPRING

In the spring the young man's fancy
Lightly turns to thoughts of love;
In the spring the reckless chauffeur
Gives pedestrians a shove;
In the spring the careless youngster
Hurtles spitballs through a tube;
In the spring the festive "hawker"
Puts the kibosh on the boob.

Several Superior street corners, or just around them on the avenues, are decorated with the old-time "hawker" with a few modern improvements. The present day hawker as a rule does not wear a silk hat or one of cowpuncher vintage accompanied by long hair. He dresses in modern clothes and were he mingling with the crowd and not on his little stand saying his little piece nobody would take him to be one of the spellbinders whose magnetism and flow or more or less perfect English enchants the unwary to part with coin for something they do not want and will likely never use. When these members of the barker fraternity appear, it is the last word—spring is here.

DOCTOR SCORNS JOHN D.'S GOLD.

Washington, May 7.—Dr. Erwin F. Smith, plant pathologist in the department of agriculture, enjoys the unusual distinction of declining a $10,000 position with the Rockefeller Institution for Medical Research. Moreover the refusal was to retain a position at $4,000 a year with the government. Dr. Smith attracted attention by his investigation of plant diseases in their relation to man and beast.

BERRY BOXES TO BE DEEPER

Boxes With Bottoms in Center Allowed Until Sept. 1.

Berry boxes with the bottoms pushed up near the top may be foisted on the downtrodden consumer this year, but after Sept. 1, 1913, containers in which berries and other small fruits are offered for sale in this state must be standard half-pint, pint or quart measures.

The standard berry box law passed at the recent session of the legislature does not go into effect until Sept. 1 in order that growers may have an opportunity of working off the boxes now on hand.

The new law also provides that containers may not be refilled. The possession of illegal containers will be taken to be presumptive evidence of the intention of the possessor to put them to use. For violation of the act a penalty of a fine of not less than $10 or more than $100 or not less than ten days and not more than ninety days' imprisonment is provided.

Gifts For the Bride

Our range of appropriate gift is wide and complete and more than ordinarily interesting to the wedding gift buyer.

Something New for Men

Restore Your Own Strength—No Drugs

The free illustrated pocket compendium of private advice for all men, whether young or elderly, single or married; whether well or ailing (explained below), not only contains a great fund of necessary information upon certain avoided private subjects, telling you what to avoid, what to do and what not to do, but also fully describes a new small mechanical appliance called a VITALIZER which generates a natural force and which is now being worn by men all over the world who seek new manly vigor. You, yourself, no matter where you live, may easily have one of these little VITALIZERS to try out in your own case. Therefore, please use the coupon below and get this free pocket compendium by return mail. SANDEN, AUTHOR.

Manly Men Fascinate the Whole World.

How would YOU, reader, like to be strong, vigorous, vital and manly once more, without an ache, pain or weakness? If you really seek and want this new vigor, this rugged manly strength, then please call at my office or write today and get my free book that you may know the whole wonderful story of this great, drugless, self-treatment, this marvellous little VITALIZER of my invention, which you wear comfortably on your body, and which sends its steady, gentle, silent supply of FORCE into your nerves, blood and organism while you sleep.

Real manhood with a perfect manly strength is not only nature's own gift, but, according to my belief, may easily be within the reach of practically any man. Of course, we all know that it is the husky, vigorous, vital fellow who attracts both women and men to him, and it is he, also, who is ever sought out and who achieves the really big things of life. Sturdy, vital manhood is, without doubt, the one great, silent universal power which fascinates us all, no matter how we may argue to the contrary. Therefore, reader, I care not what may be your age, nationality or creed, whether you are married or single, whether you are a bank president or work on the farm or in the shop, nor do I care how unstrung or nervous you may feel, or what past acts may have left you debilitated and enervated, I say to you in all seriousness, if I can show you an easy, drugless way by which you may treat yourself with the object of bringing back full vigor to your organism, then I will show you the road to new hope and new manhood. A man may be small in stature, yet as strong and attractive as a giant, or he may be big in stature yet unstrung, nervous and unmanly. It is all a question of your own vigorous strength. Therefore let me suggest that you call or write at once, then, after reading my book, if you decide you want to try out my little vitalizer in your own case, and will write to me saying so, I will reply to your letter and guarantee to make an easy proposition which should enable you to have one of the vitalizers at once. At all events, you need the knowledge that my little book contains, whether you ever get a vitalizer or not, so please call or fill in and send the coupon.

NOTE—With special attachments my VITALIZER is used by women as well as men for rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, nervousness and general ill health.

Free Self-Help Book for Men

I publish a little illustrated pocket compendium in booklet form, as mentioned above, which is meant to guide both single and married men along the road of Vigorous Health and Moral Rectitude, so they may be as vigorous and strong as the best, and may live to a ripe, healthy old age. There is a lot in this little compendium which every young or elderly man should know and can refer to from time to time with great profit to his own physical health. The booklet in one part fully describes my new VITALIZER, the great drugless self-treatment. If it is not convenient or if you are too far away to call, please write for this booklet today. It will come to you in plain, sealed envelope by return mail. Please use coupon. Office hours, 9 to 6; Sundays, 10 to 1.

BOY KILLED UNDER WAGON

Little Bernard Cross Is Crushed By Heavy Wagon.

Dies in Hospital an Hour After the Accident.

Bernard, the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Cross of 1017 East Fifth street, was run over and fatally injured by a loaded wagon belonging to the Woodruff Lumber company while playing in a sand pile in front of his home and opposite Portland square about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The boy was terribly crushed across the abdomen where the wheels passed over his body and he died an hour later at St. Luke's hospital, where he was hurried in a passing automobile, which was summoned by his mother from Fourth street.

Mrs. R. W. Gray of 1009 East Fifth street, an eye witness of the tragedy, said that the team was traveling east on the upper side of the street. Under the traffic regulations it should have been using the lower side. It is claimed that the driver, Oscar Carlson, drove on without stopping to ascertain the extent of the unfortunate child's injuries, assuming that he was not seriously hurt.

Mrs. Cross was in the basement of her home at the time of the accident. When informed of what had happened she rushed to the scene of the accident. Seeing that the injury was serious she ran across Portland square to Fourth street, where she hailed the driver of an automobile, who readily volunteered to take the suffering boy to St. Luke's hospital, where he died about 5:30. The body was removed to Crawford's undertaking rooms, pending funeral arrangements.

H. J. Cross, the boy's father, is cashier of the Republic Iron & Steel company. He was at Gilbert yesterday and was immediately notified by telegraph of the accident. He returned this morning.

The driver denies that he immediately drove away after the accident. He claims that he stopped, descended from his seat and inquired about the child's injuries. He claims that the child was not crying and he was told that he was not seriously injured.

DULUTH WILL HAVE MODEL STEEL PLANT

President Kerr yesterday to The Herald, "purely for the purpose of inspection, and I may add that we are very much pleased with the situation as we have found it, so far. I understand that the conditions on the ranges are also very satisfactory, for which I am glad. We expect a tremendous year in ore production and shipping during the season of 1913, and as has been predicted before now, all records are expected to be broken. Nothing stands in the way of its realization so far, and I do not expect that anything will develop to check it."

Mr. Kerr was asked if he could predict—or would—when it might be expected that the steel plant at Gary will be opened for business. He shook his head. Said he:

"That depends upon a number of things, chiefly, I am told, on the question of when we can get the machinery. Mr. Reis tells me that they are being badly handicapped now for lack of delivery of machinery and other equipment contracted for. Steel manufacturers are badly behind on their orders and despite some accounts to the effect that manufacturers are slowing up, it is a fact that deliveries of contracted work are away behind."

Enlarging Plant.

Some time ago a steel trade paper gave the information that the steel corporation had ceased work on a plant at Corey, Ala., but had decided to enlarge its steel works at Duluth by adding three additional open-hearth furnaces, making ten in all, the additional cost being about $1,000,000. Mr. Kerr was asked about this.

"I know that additions are arranged for, but just what they are I cannot say off-hand," said Mr. Kerr. "There have been many changes made since the original plans were made. It was arranged first that there would be three coke burners and seven open-hearth furnaces, but several extensions have been made, and it would not surprise me were still more added. This plant will be one of the most important ones, I expect, and it is proposed to make it the model plant of the continent.

"It seems to me that every citizen of Duluth would do well to familiarize himself with this plant for pretty soon it is going to be the chief boast of the community."

ARGUE NEW HAVEN CASE

vestigation of the New England railroad situation, it had investigated only the New Haven, Boston & Maine and the Maine Central. He declared that charges against the management of the New Haven found their origin in a "source bitter, partisan and unfair." His argument was a detailed review of the railroad's operations.

Speaking of the Boston chamber of commerce, Robert Homans declared that in no other part of the country had so formidable a transportation monopoly been developed as in New England by the New York, New Haven & Hartford. Discussing especially railroad service in New York, Mr. Homans declared competition between the New Haven and the Boston & Maine for instance, practically had been eliminated.

The stimulus of competition being absent, the service of the railroads, he said, naturally was inadequate and in many instances bad.

sures before the grand jury.

The accused officials stood outwardly unmoved as they heard the verdict. The crowd in the courtroom, however, caused a disturbance, shuffling chairs and feet until attendants checked the disorder.

After being remanded for sentence four were returned to their cells. Their counsel announced that a certificate of reasonable doubt would be sought which would give the prisoners a chance to go free on bail pending efforts to obtain a new trial.

It was reported that the jury required only one ballot to reach its decision.

An attorney for the defense declared the verdict was a "shock" and the briefness of the jury's deliberation "a surprise." Another of the prisoners' lawyers said no other verdict was expected. "The atmosphere of the city of New York is surcharged at the present time with a determination to convict," he said.

Is Important Victory.

The conviction of Thompson, Hussey, Murtha and Sweeney is regarded by Mr. Whitman as the most important victory yet won in connection with his expose of the police "system" that was shown to link law-enforcers with the city's underworld, when Becker, the police lieutenant, hired the four gunmen to murder Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, last summer.

Of the other indictments pending against Thompson, Hussey, Murtha and Sweeney, two each against the first three named are for bribery. Against Sweeney are thirteen, also for bribery. All have to do with the alleged acceptance of graft paid for police protection.

WOMEN SEEK TO DYNAMITE CATHEDRAL

for the express purpose of preventing militant suffragette outbreaks, but they observed nothing wrong last night.

Several parts of the cathedral usually open to the public were closed today.

"Arson Squad" Busy.

Suffragette "arson squads" were also busy early this morning. They burned down a pavilion on the Cricket field at Bishop's park, Fulham, in the west end of London, and also set fire to an unoccupied house at Finchley in the north of London. Suffragette placards and quantities of chemicals were found in the vicinity of both fires.

Another mysterious fire broke out in a timber yard in Lambeth today, the fourth of this kind in London within a few days. It was extinguished before much damage had been done.

Clock Work Was Deranged.

"Small but fiendishly powerful," is the police officers' description of the bomb found near the high altar of St. Paul's cathedral this morning. When the machine was taken to pieces it was discovered that it was timed to explode at midnight, but a derangement of the clock works retarded the explosion. Apparently only this accident prevented untold damage to the cathedral. A number of brass screws, nails and coarse metal slugs were found among the contents.

Irish Beat the Bill.

The fate of the woman's suffrage bill in parliament was sealed last night by the votes of more than fifty Irish Nationalists who voted against it. The bill, whereby it was sought to enfranchise 6,000,000 women, was rejected by a majority of forty-seven; the vote stood 266 to 219.

Whether there is any chance that the present parliament will pass a bill of more limited character may be doubted. Possibly the Nationalists fear that if they allow a woman's franchise bill to pass the second reading, it will lead to a parliamentary struggle, which would not unlikely end in the dissolution of parliament before the home rule bill becomes a law.

Furthermore, the debate proved that the militant policy of the suffragists has done the cause great harm as far as parliament is concerned. The conciliation bill of the last session was lost by only a small majority compared with the Dickinson bill, which was under discussion yesterday, and previous bills giving some measure of enfranchisement to women have passed the second reading, although they never survived the subsequent stages.

Militants Damaged Cause.

Recent police court disclosures of acts of incendiarism planned by the militants, far surpassing in magnitude anything heretofore attempted, and the burning of St. Catharine's church at Hatham yesterday undoubtedly influenced many members to vote against the bill. The figures of the division showing the defeat of the bill were greeted with a great cheer from all sides of the house.

The debate was characterized by intensity and brilliant speeches. The house was crowded, and pervaded with an atmosphere of electrical excitement. The strangers' galleries were packed and many anxious faces peered from behind the grille-guarded gallery devoted to women.

Neither Andrew Bonar-Law, leader of the opposition, nor A. J. Balfour voted in the division. Among the ministers who voted against the bill were Premier Asquith, Reginald McKenna, Lewis Harcourt, J. E. B. Seeley, Winston Spencer Churchill and C. E. Hobhouse.

The supporters of the bill included Sir Edward Grey, David Lloyd George, Rufus Isaacs, Augustine Bierrell, Sydney Buxton, C. F. G. Masterman, Sir G. A. Simon and F. D. Acland.

commit. If possible, however, the bill will be put on its passage before adjournment for the day.

The first attack on the income tax came from Representative Graham of Pennsylvania, who unsuccessfully urged an amendment to change the provisions requiring the tax to be paid at the source of income. Representative Hull, in charge of the section, declared the plan had worked successfully for fifty years in England, "where every hod carrier understands and approves it."

Committee Made Changes.

The reading of the income tax provision for committee amendments was completed in short order Tuesday afternoon. Perfecting amendments offered by the ways and means committee and adopted included a provision exempting return investments in insurance, and a clause changing the terms regarding mutual fire insurance companies so as to allow them to deduct from their gross incomes the amount required under the state laws to be placed in their reserve funds.

Another provision is a tax of 1 per cent on the incomes of the companies so as to make the bill conform to the present corporation tax law.

Representative Mann offered an amendment to taxe the Chinese, Japanese and other residents of the Philippines as well as the Filipinos and Americans in the islands. The committee agreed to take this under consideration. The Philippine commissioner unsuccessfully sought to relieve the Filipinos of any income tax on the ground that they could not vote under this legislation. He explained that the inclusion of the Philippines in the income tax was to reach the wealth of the Philippine islands; that the tax lightened the burdens of the small farmer of the Philippines by repealing the export tax on Philippine products.

No Tax on President.

The provision of the income tax section exempting the salaries of the president of the United States and the justices of the supreme court were attacked by the Republicans, but attempts to remove the exemptions were defeated. An amendment by Republican Leader Mann, proposing to make the salary of the president subject to the tax, was rejected by a vote of 72 to 52.

The debate dragged along slowly and when the house adjourned at 11 p. m. only the first five paragraphs of the income tax section of the bill had been finally passed.

Mandan Roundhouse Damaged.

Mandan, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Excessive heat from an engine started a blaze in the cupalo of the Northern Pacific roundhouse here through which all the electrical wires ran. Several hundred dollars' damage was done before the flames were extinguished.

Stops Tobacco Habit in One Day

Sanitarium Publishes Free Book Showing How Tobacco Habit Can Be Banished in From One to Five Days at Home.

The Elders Sanitarium, located at 1059 Main St., St. Joseph, Mo., has published a free book showing the deadly effect of the tobacco habit, and how it can be banished in from one to five days at home.

Men who have used tobacco for more than fifty years have tried this method and say it is entirely successful, and in addition to banishing the desire for tobacco has improved their health wonderfully. This method banishes the desire for tobacco, no matter whether it is smoking, chewing, cigarettes or snuff dipping.

As this book is being distributed free, anyone wanting a copy should send their name and address at once.

CHINA WILL JOIN JAPAN'S PROTESTS

Will See Annulment of California's Alien Land Bill.

Washington, May 7.—China is preparing to follow Japan in protesting against the California alien land bill. Ownership of lands in California by Chinese has diminished considerably within the last few years, but many Chinese land owners still are there and it is with the purpose of protecting them against loss of their property that the Chinese government is contemplating a protest.

SHERIFF ASSAULTED IN WHITE SLAVE CASE

Riot Follows Attempt to Arrest Woman in Denver.

Denver, Colo., May 7.—Sheriff Daniel M. Sullivan was brutally assaulted here last night when he attempted to arrest Rose Hart, alleged leader of a white slave gang operating between New York and San Francisco.

The assault took place on one of the most prominent corners in the city. A crowd of 200 persons was involved in a general fight which ensued when the attempt to rescue the woman from the officer was made.

Alexander Rosli, accused by Sheriff Sullivan of being the leader of Denver's Black Hand gang, was arrested as leader of the assault.

PLAYGROUND WORK LEADERS IN SESSION

President Wilson and Ex-President Roosevelt Indorse Their Efforts.

Richmond, Va., May 7.—The National Recreation congress began its second day with a busy program. Sidney A. Teller, director of Stanford Park, Chicago, told of Chicago's progress in the development of small playgrounds. Wallace Hatch of Providence, R. I., Charles Howard Mills of Grand Rapids, Edgar S. Martin of Washington, W. D. Champlain of Philadelphia, John Lee of Boston and Anna Delia Melvin of Baltimore conducted discussions.

At the opening session last night letters were read from President Wilson and Former President Roosevelt commending the world-wide campaign to help child life. Theodore Roosevelt was elected honorary president and Joseph Lee of Boston was re-elected president. In his letter President Wilson said:

"I have the deepest and sincerest interest in the objects you are seeking to serve. It seems to me of real consequence, morally, as well as physically, that the children who are growing up, particularly in our great cities should have space in which to play, and a knowledge of how to play."

SYRACUSE MILITIA REMAINS ON DUTY

Recurrence of Violence in Strike There Is Feared.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 7.—An all-night conference of members of the Syracuse Builders' association and representatives of the striking building laborers failed to settle the laborers' strike, and precautions were taken today to prevent a repetition of yesterday's riots. The three Syracuse National Guard organizations, a company of infantry, a troop of cavalry and a battery of artillery—slept under arms at the state armory last night and were on duty today to check riots.

Guesseppe Vasta, a striker, injured in yesterday's fight with the police, died today.

Bryan Passes Chicago.

Chicago, May 7.—Secretary of State Bryan, returning from his mission to California to his duties at the national capital, scarcely paused in Chicago today. He left the Rook Island train from the west at the Englewood station, walked across a platform and was off without delay on the Washington express of the Pennsylvania road, due at the capital tomorrow morning at 8:26 o'clock.

HIGH TIME FOR A NEW DEAL IN MINNESOTA.

The Battle Lake Review has said something that needed to be said, that needs to be said again and again.

"The whole aim of the state administration," says the Review, "appears to be used in finding new ways of taxation, new methods of increasing taxes, new schemes of increasing valuations and, therefore, making the total amount of money received from taxes larger and larger.

"It is time for a new deal in Minnesota."

It is, indeed, time for a new deal in Minnesota.

Session after session, the story is the same.

New ways of spending money necessitate finding new ways of raising money.

Always the state tax rate increases, until now it is much higher than it ever was before in the history of the state.

Indirect taxes also have been increased enormously. When the railroad gross earnings tax was increased from three per cent to four, they said the new revenues thus realized would practically do away with the need of a direct state tax. Yet with the increased revenue from this and other sources came an increase in expenditures still greater, so that the direct state tax, instead of disappearing, grew larger.

There was hope when the railroad tax rate was raised from four per cent to five that a reduction in the direct state tax might be brought about. But the direct state tax increases enormously.

The more new ways to raise money for the state, the higher the state's expenditures.

Always the legislature bends its energies to the discovery of new methods of taxation.

Never does it direct its attention to finding more economical methods of handling the state's business.

It is time for the state to turn squarely about on a new tack.

If taxes continue to increase, presently they will constitute a handicap on every line of enterprise and industry.

Already burdensome, high taxes soon will begin to drive industries out of the state.

The legislature which lately completed its labors was a good legislature, as legislatures go, and it did much good work. But it made the largest increase in appropriations in the history of the state, and it conspicuously failed to take any step whatever toward measures of economy in public business.

There is evident need of an imperative demand from the people that the next legislature, instead of devoting itself to contriving new ways of raising and spending money, shall apply itself to the study of economy, and especially that it reorganize the state government on lines of greater efficiency and smaller cost.

That much of the money now being spent by the state does not come directly from the people but is raised by corporation taxes is not a material fact, nor a successful plea in defense.

For the people, in the end, pay every dollar of these taxes just as surely as they pay every dollar of the taxes directly imposed.

Minnesota's greatest need is the preaching of economy and efficiency in state affairs, and this is issue enough for the election of the next legislature.

Maybe the bitterness displayed by that California senator against John D. Rockefeller is due in part to the fact that the former's name is John D. Works.

THEY WILL BEAR WATCHING.

Always, when curtailment of the tariff special privilege is proposed, there are more or less covert threats that labor will be harmed if the proposal is carried out.

Employers, threatened with a reduction in their exorbitantly swollen profits, made tumid by the tariff bounty, retaliate with threats to cut the pay of those whose toil and sweat make others rich.

What they mean is that if the country ceases to tax all for their special benefit, they will exact their losses from labor.

Usually, these are mere jack-o'-lanterns, mere bogeys—scarecrows brandished in the faces of fearsome lawmakers. And most often they have served their ends. There never has been a real reduction of tariff bounties till now, and these impudent threats have done their share to delay this work of justice to the many.

Such threats are being made now.

And Secretary Redfield, of the department of commerce, announces that after the new tariff law goes into effect his department will study carefully all reductions in pay, with a view of determining whether or not they are just and right.

This means that if any employers, despoiled of unjust profits by an honest tariff law, seek unfairly to recoup their losses by pilfering from their workers, they will be exposed and, if possible, punished.

This proposed activity of the department of commerce is a wise accompaniment of the adoption of a new tariff law.

Chicago's city council has passed an ordinance abolishing strap-hangers. Are none of the people's sacred rights to be respected?

FOR HUMANITY'S SAKE.

The St. Louis county board yesterday did two things that reflect credit upon it and upon the county and its people.

It bought 560 acres of land which, with the 400 acres already owned by the city, will constitute a hospital or correction farm where minor offenders, including those charged with drunkenness, can be kept under wholesome conditions and given a physical foundation for a new life of usefulness and self-respect. This splendid institution will be operated by the county and city jointly.

The board also took preliminary steps toward the creation of an industrial home school in which girls who are drifting into dangerous paths for lack of home influences can be taught how to support themselves in self-respect.

The members of the board showed a fine public spirit in adopting these enterprises so readily.

Apropos of Ty Cobb's case, does anybody remember the stir that "Cap" Anson made in the baseball world a few years ago?

HOODLUMS IN SKIRTS.

Equal suffrage was beaten in the British parliament last night, 266 to 219.

For this, credit is freely bestowed on the militant suffragettes, whose career of window-smashing, arson and riot is going from bad to worse.

The recent defeat of equal suffrage in Michigan in a second attempt by nearly a hundred thousand votes, after it had almost been adopted at the first election, unquestionably is due to a reflex from the atrocities of the British suffragettes.

Equal suffrage is right, and will come, but its most zealous advocates are its greatest stumbling block.

Now that the hot weather in other sections has begun to claim its annual toll of lives, it seems appropriate to remember the advantages of Duluth's climate.

"THE MOST NEEDED OF POLITICAL REFORMS."

Says The Chicago Tribune: "The most important political reform proposed to the American people is not the direct primary, nor the initiative, the referendum or the recall of executives, although all of these in proper form with wise limitations are desirable.

"More important than all these is a reform much less talked about, a reform as yet outside the storm center of public controversy—the short ballot. The phrase is not inspiring. It doesn't sound important. But representative democracy never will be achieved in this country until this reform is accomplished."

The Tribune is right.

Multiplicity of elective offices makes politics an abtruse game which only professionals can play.

It divides and diffuses responsibility and baffles the popular will.

The simplest form of government, the most direct, the most concentrated, the most open, is the best.

The cities that have tried the commission plan have found this to be so, and have pointed the way that counties and states should follow.

The executive department of the state should be a unit, easily controlled by the people. It is not a unit when the people have to choose not only a governor and lieutenant-governor, but railroad commissioners and half a dozen minor officers like secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, etc.

Given the recall, it is perfectly safe to trust to a single executive head the appointment of all minor officials, holding him responsible for their conduct in office. This would concentrate public attention where it could be made effective, instead of scattering it impotently among a small horde of elective officers.

Oddly enough, in the same issue in which the Chicago Tribune gives its approval to this important constructive reform, it scouts the new Kansas idea of a legislative commission in place of the present legislature. Yet it is almost inevitable that with the advance of the short ballot system, the idea of a legislative commission will find increased favor.

The defect of the present legislative system is that no part of the state has the slightest control over any part of the legislature except its own local representatives—one senator and a house member or two out of sixty-seven and one hundred and thirty, respectively.

So long as he can take care of his own constituency, no lawmaker need care what he does to the state at large. If he can lug home enough appropriations to square things with his district, he can let the state's interests go hang.

So the state has the anomaly of a lawmaking body apparently responsible to it as a whole, but in reality absolutely beyond its reach.

That's why appropriations grow and tax rates rise.

That's why, though the local districts are well cared for, the state as a whole often suffers.

Why, then, should there be fear of a small legislative commission, elected from separate districts but elected by and responsible to the whole people and subject to recall?

A Canadian girl having christened a United States submarine, look out for a series of whoops and hollers from the region of the British parliament.

POOR SOUTH CAROLINA!

Cole Blease, governor of South Carolina, has distinguished himself again by issuing a proclamation offering a reward of $500 for "the body" of a negro charged with murder, the reward to be paid "just so there is enough of it to be recognized."

That official incitation to murder and to barbarous and uncivilized cruelty is characteristic of this infamous and unspeakable blot upon American public life.

Poor South Carolina!

Now we've got to revise our standard definitions of "optimist" to include a Republican standpatter who expects to get an amendment to the Underwood bill.

Brains.

Life: Although the brains of the world are numbered by thousands and manual laborers by the million," says Mrs. Gertude Atherton, "the brains rule, as they always have done and always will do."

Just a word of caution, Mrs. Atherton. You are hovering on the brink of a pit which is filled with the bones of many logicians and publicists. The subject of brains is not nearly so easy as all that. The manual laborers, who number themselves by the million, are not willing to admit that they haven't exactly half as many brains as they have hands, nor that they are not perfectly capable of overthrowing rulers when the need arises. Many of them have a high quality of brains, enough to make them useful from day to day and satisfied to live in modest comfort without trying to rule anybody.

Vast possessions may indicate brains and then, on the other hand, they may indicate greed, miserliness or a lucky birth. The ability to rule may indicate brains and then, on the other hand, it may indicate the qualities of a bully and a selfish desire to do nothing at the public expense. It is our experience that when we want to obtain brains we should avoid rulers—we especially avoid hereditary rulers where the accident of birth is the deciding factor—and seek enthusiastic, healthy young men who are willing to work and who have the brains to make their work effective.

We favor a more careful use of the word "brains." Just how to define them, except physiologically, we do not know, but we are exceedingly loath to decide it by the statistics of those who are doing the ruling. It looks to us like a non sequitur. We should feel safer working on the opposite hypothesis.

The Boob.

Life: Who invented the boob? What is a boob? Is he going to be one of the immortals or is he simply a flitting figure, stepping across life's stage for an instant, to be lost in the distant wings of time?

When you call a man a boob, you seem to imply in some way that you do not utterly despise him. There is a comradeship, an intimacy, about the word that doesn't apply to other terms. You can call a man a boob, for instance, when you couldn't call him an ass or a fool.

And yet a boob is an outcast. He stands apart from the common run. He is a combination of stupidity and utter incongruity with any standards which are entitled to our respect.

But is the boob in reality all this? Can it be said, indeed, that the boob exists? Is he not more or less a mental condition on the part of the person who calls him a boob?. When, for instance, you speak of a man as a boob, you are really not defining him. You are only telling what you think about him.

That is the reason why we are of the opinion that the word boob will not last. It doesn't stand for a definite human object. It is more an attitude of mind on the part of the person speaking.

With Muscle and Brain.

Philadelphia Bulletin: The boy who can master the science and art of the higher craftsman will hold just as responsible place in the world as the practitioner at the bar, the occupant of the pulpit or the physician. Indeed, the wholly competent artisan, the worker with music and brain who knows how, is the backbone of the nation. If it were not for him there would not long be need for the specialized professions. He is the weaver of the larger social fabric, the mason who sets the foundation stones of the country's industrial structures; and many a man who is now a doctor, lawyer or preacher would not only be happier and better off but enjoy more real dignity if he, too, were one of the "sincere artisans" of the day.

A Friend Indeed.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed"
Is a proverb tried and true.
But even if you have that friend,
The friend likewise has you;
And then sometimes you'd like a friend
When you are not in need
So the friend who always is a friend
That is a friend indeed.

FAIR RETURN FOR MONEY SPENT IN TAXES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

We hear a great deal every year about the wonderful cleaning up that the city is going to have—the officials start out with splendid resolutions and energy and a gang of men proceed from one part of the town to the other. By the first of June we have a spotless town, and then, except in the business part of town, nothing more is done and our streets become in a short time a disgrace to every citizen who is paying high for a very poor service. I have watched this proceeding for over forty years here in Duluth and think that the time has come for a change in our methods just now when it will be so easy in the readjustment of our city departments, and I would like very much to see some discussion in your columns of some way to handle the question of keeping our streets and alleys in decent condition. We are paying a high tax here in Duluth and certainly should demand better treatment.

I would like to propose that after the good general cleaning up that spring calls for, that the city be divided into districts and that a man be placed in each division with a pick and rake and wheelbarrow and made directly responsible for the work in his district—the rubbish heaps, the little ruts, the grass plots along the sidewalks, and the general upkeep of the streets—for this a good man would need no "boss" if responsibility were placed in him and some plan devised that would give special precedence or salary for the best kept district. This plan has been used in other cities with best results. They were doing it twenty years ago through the Canadian provinces, and with a man every mile or so they have the best roads in the country at small expense. We have certainly proved to our great dissatisfaction that our system is a rank failure. We hold individuals responsible for the little piece of road before their property and yet the city does not hold the contractors who do the city work in the opening of the streets for the gas, water and sewerage to the same responsibility. Individual citizens are required to put up a bond when making an opening in the streets, and it is kept when the work is not satisfactory, and yet our streets are filled with ruts and holes left by the water and light board—a menace to those who must drive and a shame to the citizen who is paying a sufficient tax to entitle him to at least one good street. Something is very wrong and the sooner the new commission appreciates that it is a real injury to the development of the city and that the taxpayers are beginning to realize that their money is being misused by an antiquated and outgrown method, the better we will be pleased.

Just now there is not one road leading out of the city that is not a disgrace to the city. The line where the county responsibility begins is strongly marked. Outside the roads are good—and the sooner the city of Duluth puts its prisoners to work on the approaches to the farming districts, where our real opportunity for growth and development lies, the better. They should be made passable the very first thing in the spring, and it has seemed to be the custom to leave them until too late for the farmers to use until their spring work begins. If we are going to develop our suburban towns we must make it easier for them to reach Duluth than it is to go to Virginia or to the cities, and at present it is not so. I am first, last and always for a cleaner, better and bigger Duluth. I do not feel that I am paying 1 cent too much in taxes for that purpose, but I do most decidedly protest against the results of their use that have left us with streets that are dirty, rough and in so many places unusable. I would like to see some discussion of this by any taxpayer who feels as I do that the citizens of Duluth are not getting adequate return for their investment. Sincerely,

C. POIRIER.

REPLIES TO MR. PARKER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Just a line as to Mr. Parker's defense.

The Mormons living with their plural wives are doing so contrary to law. The children born since the present law became effective are proof. Plural marriages are not matters of public record as are marriages in Minnesota. The parties to these marriages would hardly testify against themselves. Records of what Mormons believe to be strictly religious doings are not easily gotten by Gentiles.

Such denials as Mr. Parker's are the usual thing from these people. They began early. In 1850, when Apostle John Taylor was debating with some ministers in France, and was denying the practice of polygamy in the church, he was living with six wives at the time, as you will find in his biography by Elder B. H. Roberts. Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM H. FARRELL.

WHEN SPEEDING IS PERMISSIBLE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been wondering for some time if there is anything in the city ordinances which gives the chief and assistant chiefs of the fire department more right to speed their autos when not going to a fire than other motorists.

It is a fact that you never see the chief or one of his assistants in their autos going along a street but what they are tearing a hole in the air at a speed that would cause the arrest of any other person. Of course, it is obvious that when answering a call to a fire they should go at top speed and have the right-of-way over all other vehicles; and for that speeding no fault is found here.

But what I object to is the tremendous speed at which they travel when not on such missions. It is not necessary and this speed of their autos is as much a thing of danger as it is in any other auto. Their drivers are no more expert than the habitual driver of other machines and the steering gear is just as likely to break as in any other auto.

It would be a good example to others if the chiefs of the fire department would show some judgment in this matter, and it seems to me that the commissioners of public safety could make a hit by ordering this speeding stopped.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, May 7.—Frank T. O'Hair, the man who relegated Uncle Joe Cannon to private life, desired, not long ago, to purchase a dog. The word got spread about the part of Illinois where O'Hair lives that he was in the market and soon all the leading dog dealers were clamoring for a chance to show their goods. O'Hair made up his mind that he preferred collie dogs and went over to see a man who owned four young collies with a fine long pedigree, and whose kin had always moved in the most exclusive circles.

They were such attractive, ingratiating dogs that neither O'Hair nor little daughter could decide which one to buy. After he had considered their relative charms for a few moments, O'Hair said:

"Well, there's just one way to settle the proposition, "I'll just take them all."

So he went home leading four dogs to romp in his front yard, where none had romped before.

"A lot of dogs give a man standing in a community," says O'Hair, now that he has tried the experiment. "If a man has one dog in the yard, people go by and simply say, if they say anything: 'Ah, he keeps a dog;' but if a person sees four dogs in the yard, he stops and exclaims: 'Great heavens! Who'n thunder lives there?'"

Henry Hunt, the youthful mayor of Cincinnati, cranked up his automobile one morning and set out for Cleveland to compare notes with Mayor Baker, of that town.

When he was approaching a little place near Bucyrus, Hunt encountered a man in a buggy who refused to turn out for him. In trying to get by the best he could, the Cincinnati mayor inadvertently broke out a spoke in the buggy. So when he got into the next town Hunt saw the constable running toward him in a great state of excitement and commanding him to pause long enough to get arrested.

"You've got no right to arrest me," remarked Hunt. "Let's see your warrant. Ah, just as I thought, you have none. If I broke the man's buggy I'll gladly pay him for it, but I've done nothing to be arrested for. Let me see the mayor."

"Now, see here," he said to that official, "I'm the mayor of Cincinnati, and you're the mayor of this town. We mayors must stand together. You're a mayor and I'm a mayor. You tell your constable fellow not to bother me any further."

But it didn't go.

"Naw, naw," said the mayor of that town: "we have to give justice to everybody. It don't make a demmed bit of difference to me what you're mayor of. I'm the mayor of this place and you're under arrest."

That being the case, Hunt got a lawyer. After he had paid the lawyer a retainer fee, the lawyer said:

"You'll have to pay a fine, I guess, because the village always expects it from anybody with an auto."

"But I hired you to keep me from being fined," suggested Hunt.

"Oh, I know," said the lawyer, ingenuously, "but I'll have to have you fined. If I didn't the people here would be sore on me, and I'm thinking of running for office."

"Johnny" Garner, as the folks down in the Fifteenth Texas district call their congressman, is a versatile chap.

One day he attended the funeral of a comparative stranger. When the funeral party arrived at the grave, one of the family asked Garner if he wouldn't say a few words. The congressman was half frightened at the request, for, accustomed though he was to making speeches, trying to say just the right thing extemporaneously at the grave of a comparative stranger is something else again. But there was no way out, and he did his best.

Garner is not especially beautiful to look upon, but his language was polished and highly acceptable as he mentioned lovely traits of the decedent that all the sorrowing friends had not even heard of. When he finished, the only thing that prevented a tumult of applause was the solemnity of the occasion.

On the way back to town Garner rode in the carriage with a man who had long been a political enemy. This man sat and stared at him without speaking until they were almost at their journey's end, and then he suddenly slapped Garner on the thigh, exclaiming:

"Garner, danged if you can't just natu'ly make good all the way from the poker table to the 'pull-pit!'"

When he first set out from home to encounter the great wide world, Marc Smith, the bushy mustached senator from Arizona, packed along with him two bits of advice from his father.

One was never to call on the same girl more than once, which would prevent getting married too soon. And the other was never to carry his small purse, because his father thought that there was nothing in the world that looked quite so silly as a big, strong man opening up a cute little purse every time he wished to spend 5 or 10 cents.

My Mother's Voice.

In childhood's days I often strayed
Beyond my mother's sight.
And when I heard her calling,
I fled with all my might.
It was a burden to her heart,
That caused her tears to flow,
My wandering from her apart,
In childhood long ago.

Full many stormy periods
Have centered in my life,
And often strong temptations
Have battered me in strife.
But in the depths of misery,
When Passion's torrent ran,
I heard my mother calling me
And strove to be a man.

Her love-lit face, her winning smile,
Her voice of tender might,
Have ever urged and beckoned
Along the path of right.
And when I think how constantly
Adown the warring years,
My mother's spirit guided me
It fills my eyes with tears.

Oh, thralldom sweet of mother love,
Wondrous beyond compare
From earth's confines to heaven
It reaches ev'rywhere.
How sweetly comes the vision dear,
That makes my heart rejoice,
Wherein I see her face and hear
The music of her voice.

His Name.

Lippincott's: "What is your last name?" asked the teacher of a new pupil.

"Arthur, ma'am," replied the boy.

"Arthur!" exclaimed the teacher. "What is your other name?"

"Cooke," said the boy.

"Then Cooke is your last name, of course," said the teacher, looking at the boy with considerable severity.

"No, 'm," replied the child respectfully, "my name was Cooke when I was born, but mother says they didn't name me 'Arthur' for 'most three months."

The State Legislature

Press Views on the Session.

People Are Responsible.

Fairmont Sentinel: In the number and character of new laws enacted it is doubtful if any Minnesota legislature ever had so much to its credit as the one that adjourned to Thursday, April 24. This is due not so much to the quality of the men who composed that body as to the aroused sentiment of the people, demanding certain reforms and improved conditions, and the knowledge that a refusal to grant the demands meant a return home of the members to an indignant and resentful constituency. The general verdict upon the legislature will be strongly in its favor and the leaders in both branches have made records which entitle them to the gratitude of the people.

Only One Objection.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: The session of the legislature just closed proves that it is quite possible for the people of Minnesota to send a set of men to St. Paul who will not only work hard but do good work. The most serious objection raised to the performances of the defunct session is on the score of extravagance. The solons undoubtedly did provide for the expenditure of a pile of money, but a glance over the objects and purposes of these expenditures fail to show where much paring could have been done without a sacrifice to efficient government. The laws passed were, we believe, meritorious measures, and the few introduced which looked suspicious were promptly strangled or fell under the veto of the governor.

Right Men Elected.

Luverne Journal: On the whole the 1913 session has done very well. Why it has been so much better than its predecessors may be told by the simple recital of the fact that the people were more thoroughly aroused during the last campaign than ever before and they saw to it that men were elected who would pass these laws.

State Commission Favored.

Luverne Herald: All who have given the matter of regulation of public utilities any serious thought know that where such utilities are under local supervision it is virtually impossible to secure efficient service, partly because favoritism is bound to crop out, and partly because local officials will not make themselves unpopular with those with whom they come in daily contact by insisting upon a strict observance of the law. On the other hand, the commission's representatives will have neither local favoritism or prejudices, nor will they be respecters of persons, so that all complaints will be considered upon their merits.

An Early Call.

Little Falls Herald: The governor may call the extra session of the legislature in June, the members from the country being favorable to this date. The committees on the public utilities bill have been named and they will at once get to work on the bill, making a thorough investigation of the several phases of the proposed law.

Northern Minnesota Fares Well.

Pine River Sentinel: Northern Minnesota fared pretty well at the hands of the state legislature just adjourned. Some of the good laws which were passed probably will never be put into effect by reason of injunctions and court procedure on the part of certain corporations but the members of the legislature did their part and Northern Minnesota for the first time has no real kick coming.

Results Will Be Better.

Madison Independent Press: The governor will call a special session of the legislature to meet sometime the coming fall to enact the public utilities law. Possibly the result will be better in the end than would have been the passage of such a law at the regular session as the lawmakers will not be likely to take up any other matter than the one the governor will ask them to consider and hence will be able to give the matter more careful consideration.

A City Creed

(Written by Rev. Herbert A. Jump, D. D., for Oakland, Cal., but applicable in the main to any city.)

I believe in the city of opportunity. May her doors of privilege be open to rich and poor alike. May her highways of industry be traveled by happy employers and contented employes walking side by side. May the toiler always find a worthy task awaiting him, and the man of wealth always seek possibilities of gain that shall become channels of social service.

I believe in the city over against the hills. May the clear air from the high places descend into her streets, giving to her business men bold vigor, to her women serene health worthy of transmission to future generations, to her boys and girls an unfading zest both for play and serious endeavor.

I believe in the city with a climate for strong men. May industry increase, but not at the expense of the human. May achievements be multiplied, but not at the cost of a decaying family life. May men look unafraid upon battle, if the battle be a struggle against injustice or corruption or brutality.

I believe in the city of old-fashioned homes. May children ever be esteemed a more precious possession than dollars. May the mutual love of husband and wife burn with an unwavering romantic flame. May mothers seek no keener joys than those which hover over the cradle. May fathers glory in the paternal responsibilities that are ineffably more rewarding than trade.

I believe in the city of the cosmopolitan American. By the laws and life of a democracy may our population be compounded out of the human material which all the noble nations of the world have contributed to us. And may the social mood be ever fraternal and never racially suspicious.

I believe in the city of brave dreams. May we ever greet the Splendid Future before she knocks at our doors. May we jubilantly undertake the apparently impossible. May we revel in the solitude of the pioneer if the new territory is really worth conquering. And may we ever see our visions in civic dimensions, and cast our ideals in the mould of our total municipal life.

Patriotism.

Sing of the West, the great and golden West,
Its mighty harvests and its virgin strength,
The sons and daughters whose inheritance
Is of brave deeds in territories wild:
Of land new-bound to the Democracy
That is their proudest birthright! Sing the fields,
The vast and gleaming fields, the lavish fields,
So endless and so flat beneath the light
Of the life-giving summer sun! Oh, sing
Of the new heroes and old pioneers
Held by the same fidelity of soul
To pledge hearts' blood to their America!

The New Art.

Life: Exercising in bed having come into vogue, we suggest the following as being among the latest movements:

No. 1. With a deft movement of both forearms, roll the blankets, elder-down quilts and sheets into a neat, but not too gaudy, ball. Toss this up in the air and catch it lightly upon the soles of the feet. Do this ten times the first morning, adding five each morning.

No. 2. Lie prone upon the stomach and grab the mattress firmly in the teeth; move the head backward. By practicing this motion for a week you will be able to improve the muscles of the shoulder-blades.

No. 3. Get under the bed and, lifting it lightly upon the shoulders, walk around the block three times. If you are living near a public square, increase your journey every day until you have compassed the square.

No. 4. Be sure and have two mattresses to your bed, and occasionally sleep between them. The upper mattress should be rather heavy. It presses out the muscles and stomach and prevents you from getting fat in case you have a tendency that way.

25,000 Miles of Moving Pictures.

Century: The department of justice, which has recently instituted action for alleged combination of the ten leading film-makers of the country, states that the total of pictures printed by these ten leading companies, which handle between 70 and 80 per cent of the country's business, fill between 2,500,000 and 3,000,000 feet of film every week.

This means between 25,000 and 30,000 miles of pictures annually.

For Sentiment's Sake.

Pittsburg Post: "Well, so you are now worth millions, eh?"

"Yep; struck it rich."

"Torn yourself away from all the old habits of life, I suppose?"

"No, I still cling to a few. I still empty the drip pan of the refrigerator every night."

Real Hair Grower Found at Last!

The Great English Discovery "Crystolis" "Grows Hair in 30 Days."

$1000.00 Reward if We Fail; Read Our Guarantee. Try It at Our Risk. Mail Coupon Today.

Beautiful Hair and lots of it—if you use Crystolis

Here's good news at last for men and women whose hair is falling, who are growing bald and gray, whose scalps are covered with dandruff that nothing seems to keep away and whose heads itch like mad.

Good news even for those who imagine themselves hopelessly and incurably bald or who suffer from hair or scalp trouble of any kind.

We have secured the sole American rights for the great English discovery, Crystolis, the new hair remedy that in Europe has been called the most wonderful discovery of the century, having been awarded Gold Medals at the big Paris and Brussels Expositions.

Already, since securing the American rights hundreds of men and women have written us to tell of phenomenal results obtained by its use. People who have been bald for years tell how they now glory in their beautiful hair. Others who have had dandruff all their lives say they have now a clean, healthy scalp and that hair stopped falling after a few applications of this wonderful new treatment.

We don't care whether you are bothered with falling hair, prematurely gray hair, matted hair or stringy hair; dandruff, itching scalp, or any or all forms of hair trouble, we want you to try "CRYSTOLIS," at our risk.

We give you a binding guarantee without any "strings" or red tape, that it won't cost you a cent if we do not prove to you that "Crystolis" will do all we claim for it, and what's important, we have plenty of money to back our guarantee. We have deposited $1,000 in our local bank as a special fund to be forfeited if we fail to comply with this contract. SHOWS GROWTH OF ARGENTINA.

Buenos Ayres, May 7.—President Saenz Pena's message read at the opening of parliament, made reference to the excellent relations which the republic has maintained with foreign countries, the peaceful conditions throughout Argentina and the flourishing state of commerce.

Immigration during 1912 surpassed the records of other years, reaching a total of nearly 325,000. The revenues for 1912 amounted to 405,237,000 paper dollars; expenditures, 402,308,000 paper dollars. Exportations were valued at $480,391,000 gold; importations, $384,853,000 gold.

"SOCIAL EVIL MEN'S PROBLEM."

Atlantic City, N. J., May 7.—"It is the men of the country who must combat the social evil," said Dean Walter Sumner of Chicago in an address to the clergy and laymen of the New Jersey diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church, who are in attendance upon the convention in progress here.

"Time was that this was woman's problem, but no longer. It is the duty of the church to remove the demand for so gruesome a business as this that smirches so many American cities. It is the duty of the men to the church.

Dean Sumner talked of social settlement work as a serious and not merely an idle pursuit. He said statistics taken in Chicago showed that 50 per cent of the young men are not healthy enough to marry.

In the field of woman's work, every pursuit, the dean said, is now overcrowded, excepting the field of domestic service. Wages, he considered, are ridiculously low for women to live an honest life upon, and he urged every minister to do his part to make a minimum wage for women of at least $7.50 a week. This the dean was hopeful could be achieved by the cooperation of labor and capital.

"STILL ON THE WATER WAGON" WITH A GOOD SET OF TIRES

Tribute Paid to the Neal Treatment By Minnesotan Who Quickly Routed Drink Habit.

"I am still on the water wagon with a good set of tires under me," is what a former patient of the Neal Institute writes from his Minnesota home to the institution for the treatment of alcoholism.

Climbing aboard the water wagon is comparatively easy. Sticking there any length of time is what is hard. The Neal Treatment provides the required "sticking power," for the reason that it quickly knocks out the alcoholic poison found in the systems of all drinkers, which causes so many people of good intentions to topple off the water wagon before they have ridden very far.

The Neal Treatment is a physician's harmless vegetable remedy, taken internally, with no dangerous hypodermic injections. The results are tonic in effect and in three days all desire for liquor is changed to dislike for everything alcoholic.

There is no publicity. Names are never revealed. Your own investigation is not only invited, but urged. Call in person or address for booklet the Neal Institute, Superior, Wis., corner Belknap and West Seventh street.

HEALTH & HAPPINESS
By Dr. R. D. Scott.

Reduction of the Resisting Forces.

There has been a great deal written for this column regarding general and local resistance, and it will be readily seen how shallow breathing acts in reducing both the resisting power of the lung tissue by irritation of mucous membrane and the general bodily resistance through inadequate oxygen intake.

Every one who has ever been examined for life insurance will remember how particular the insurance companies are to know the exact extent of lung expansion or inspiration, and this care is not so much to discover the presence of disease, as it is to determine the liability the person examined may have to contracting lung infections, for those who have become habituated to the practice of shallow breathing are never considered good risks.

Lung Hygiene.

In the practice of general hygiene, breathing deeply of pure, cool air is the first principle of all care of the lungs, and it is only after habits of deep breathing are acquired that the character of the air breathed looms up as a "big thing." Air for breathing purposes should be always cool, free from dust and noxious gases, and for the sake of the upper air passages should always contain about 50 per cent of its capacity of water vapor. By cool air is meant air with temperature not much above 50 deg., and for sleeping rooms in particular, this temperature should never be exceeded when possible to avert it. The amount of water vapor in air is determined by a little instrument known as a hygrometer, and when this air condition can be regulated, as it can in the winter months, the relative humidity should always approximate to 50 per cent, for this is about what outside air contains in the spring months, when atmospheric conditions are considered almost ideal.

The two important things about properly caring for the lungs are: First, practice deep breathing until the habit is formed; and second, see that the air breathed is both pure and cool, particularly during sleep, when deep breathing is the natural thing and almost the universal case.

Care of the Liver.

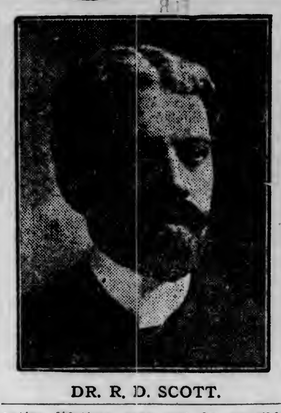
The biggest, most useful and probably most abused gland structure in the body, the liver, is blamed by most people for all sorts of minor indispositions which afflict them from time to time, and yet, if this organ is given only half a chance to do its work it will seldom, if ever, get out of working order. To know how to take care of the liver is, therefore, more important than understanding all the diseases which may possibly attack it, for most of the group of diseases known as liver diseases only occur after long years of abuse, comprising over-eating and drinking, lack of exercise and chronic constipation.

Kidney Hygiene.

To insure having fairly efficient kidneys at middle life, they require to be considered and not subjected to overabuse in early adult life; and, as the chemical substances and physical conditions which do them the greatest injury are the same as those which injuriously effect the blood vessels, taking care of the kidneys is also pretty good old age insurance.

Kidney Poisons—The chemical poisons just referred to are: First, a group of food poisons known as the purin bases, derived principally from imperfectly oxidized animal food. Second, poisons absorbed from the large intestine, formed there through vicious fermentation, made easily possible through the habits of constipation. Third, the toxins of various germ diseases, such as scarlet fever, typhoid and pneumonia. And lastly, the still popular, slow but sure poison alcohol, when kept continually circulating in the blood, will damage beyond repair the best kidney ever possessed by man.

To avoid all these poisons during an entire lifetime may not be possible, but to remember their effect on kidney health and strive to get rid of them as soon as possible after they have entered the body, is the first step toward care of kidneys. The next step is to continually drink pure water, even in excess of the demand of thirst; this will keep the kidneys constantly flushed, therefore fairly free from deleterious substances.



DR. R. D. SCOTT.

After these two conditions are fulfilled the avoidance of constipation is probably the next most important part in kidney hygiene, and after this comes the various physical conditions producing rapidly high and low blood pressures. The most important of these are excessive emotional excitement, frequent fits of anger or periods of needless worry, all of which should be avoided if possible, as so should irregular habits of life, shortening the normal sleep-time and reducing outdoor exercise to a minimum.

The practical point of this is that there is little use in awakening to the need of kidney hygiene at or past middle life. The time to begin is in early adult life, and the chances are they will then need little care at 50.

Remember the part played in kidney disease by constipation and too much indulgence in meat and alcohol; these are probably more important than all the infections by germs a man may crowd into a lifetime.

Questions and Answers.

Cold Hands and Feet.

W. B. C. writes: What is the cause of cold hands and feet in a young person who seems to be in the best of health? How may it be remedied?

REPLY.

1. The cause may be either a sluggish circulation or inability to oxidize thoroughly the food eaten, after it is absorbed by the blood. 2. In either case the remedy lies in outdoor exercise, physical exercise, and the eating of plenty of easily digested heat-forming foods. And to these should be added sleeping in a well-ventilated room and taking a cold sponge bath and rough rub every morning.

Fatty Heart.

J. H. N. writes: Please give the cure for a fatty heart. I get weak spells that last a week or more, so very weak that I can hardly sit up and am short of breath all the time. My doctor said the heart is not diseased, only fatty, and that I should go out and exercise as much as possible, but when I have a weak spell I cannot do anything. I am 33 years old, 4 feet 6 inches high and weigh 154 pounds.

REPLY.

Your physician should be the best judge of your condition and the remedy. His advice as to exercise is good. Your diet should also be regulated with the idea of reducing fat. With proper diet and exercise a cure should be effected. Have your physician prescribe the correct diet.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Apportionment of Road Fund Agreed on at Afternoon Session---Development Association Gets $3,250.

At the afternoon session of the county board yesterday the apportionment of the county road fund was agreed upon. A total of $248,500 was distributed as follows: First commissioner's district, $7,500; econd, $34,000; Third, $7,500; Fourth, $38,000; Fifth, $46,500; Sixth, $45,000; Seventh, $65,000; Miller trunk road, state highway No. 1, $10,000; engineering department, $15,000.

• • •

Commissioners Swanstrom, Frazer and Kauppi were yesterday appointed as a committee to select a suitable building for the purposes of an industrial home school for girls. The building may be leased at a monthly rental not to exceed $75. The committee was given authority to name a matron and superintendent, subject to the approval of the board.

• • •

The board also appropriated $3,250 to the Northern Minnesota Development association to carry on a campaign of agricultural development in the northern part of the state the present year. This appropriation was authorized by a recent law. An additional appropriation of $1,000 to assist in paying the salary of an agricultural expert for the county, was also voted.

• • •

The commissioners voted $300 for Memorial day observances. It will be divided among the G. A. R. posts as follows: Duluth, $150; Hibbing, $50; Virginia, $50, and Eveleth, $50.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

F. G. PARKER of Sacramento, Cal., has applied to the city commission for permission to establish a fire despatch system in Sacramento. The idea is to call for business men or others in whose buildings fire might break out when they are at home, and to hurry them to the scene of the fire. The automobile that would be used by the company would be equipped with apparatus calculated to assist in protecting merchandise and fixtures from damage. Similar systems are established in San Francisco and other cities.

Such a system has not been proposed for Duluth. It is doubtful whether the city is large enough to support it on a profitable basis. Very seldom does it happen that the owner is not informed through some medium when his place of business is on fire. That he is generally among the first on the ground has been the experience of those who have had to deal with fires in Duluth.

VOLUNTEERS ARE KILLED AT FIRE.

Binghamton, N. Y., May 7.—William Rodman, a volunteer fireman, was instantly killed, Edward Giles, another volunteer fireman, was fatally injured, and a third fireman was hurt in a fire in the village of Hamilton Tuesday. An explosion forced out the brick cornice of the building and sent it crashing down a ladder upon which the men were.

AMMUNITION IS SENT TO MANILA.

San Francisco, Cal., May 7.—The United States army transport Sherman, carrying 5,000,000 rounds of small arms ammunition and small artillery ammunition and a large quantity of powder, sailed for Manila more than twenty-five hours behind schedule time in clearing from this port. As the Sherman was about to sail Monday, imperative orders from Washington were received commanding that the ship be held until a cargo of ammunition and powder could be placed aboard.

SHOWS WEALTH OF NEW YORK.

New York, May 7.—A schedule of all the real estate owned by the city, submitted to the commissioners of the sinking fund by Comptroller Prendergast, shows that New York City possesses outright 5,600 parcels of land aggregating in value $1,300,000,000. Its indebtedness, the schedule continues, is $820,000,000, leaving an equity in its own land of $480,000,000.

The rise in the value of certain parcels of the holdings since they were first acquired is set forth. Thus Stuyvesant park, conveyed to the city in 1836 by Peter Stuyvesant for $5, is now listed at $1,860,000; Mount Morris park, now valued at $7,500,000, cost the city $20,000, and Bowling Green, which was rented for two peppercorns a year, is litsed at $1,735,000.

HERDING THE SPORTING SHEEP AND GOATS INTO THE DOPE CORRAL, AS SEEN BY BRUCE

FANS here have had one peep at the Dooks and the one look naturally has not been sufficient to enable the majority of the rail birds to come to a final opinion as to the strength of the aggregation the Irish Orator has gathered for the 1913 race.

Another thing, it is quite impossible to gather a line on the playing ability of the men in the field on a diamond that is as loose and soft as the one at Athletic park was on the opening day of the home season.

Fans here surely should not judge McCarthy harshly for the bum chuck of Monday. The majority of games are not lost by two runs, though it is true that this fact would not mitigate the throw in the least. But O'Brien tells us that the Irishman has been catching great baseball for the Dooks on the road and that he has also been hitting the pill far and often.

Henry Clay Blancke sure did look good in the maiden effort of the season on the home lot. The twirler is authority for the statement that he is feeling awfully good at the present time. When right, this boy sure has a world of stuff and he should be one of the real ones in this league.

• • •

DARBY O'BRIEN is never quite satisfied with his team. Right now he has Aldrich here and this chap may be tried out in one of the infield positions. This chap was with the Dooks on the spring training trip and was dropped for the time being because of the large number of players carried.

The Irish Orator is also looking for another twirler. He has his eye on some flinger who has been highly recommended to him, and the chances are that this chap will be in the Sox camp sometime in the near future.

• • •

UN SCHREIBER, the Dook has a youngster who should make good. He was one of the few of the Sox to get a hit in the soiree of Monday, and the blow was a right smart one at that. But then, as in the case of the others, there has not as yet been sufficient time to look the members of the team over and it will require time to get a more definite line on the ability of the men in the present lineup of the team.

Sure it is that the outfield looks good. Miller has been smiting the pill on the road and the same goes for McGraw. Elmer Smith has been one of the main run-producers during the invasion of the Sox and there is no reason to believe that the walloping of the right gardener will be lessened during the several series at home.

• • •

ANCIENT Fred Curtis has a sweet hurling brigade. Withers, judging solely by the stuff he displayed in the opening game here, is a dependable man, and Schauer has been pitching some nice ball for the Red Legs. Rhoades is a sort of in-and-outer, or, at least, he was last season, but to date he looms as one of the trusty workmen of the Sommers aggregation.

Taking the brethren of the other side of the bay all the way through, the team looks good. They let Collins go because of the sweet desire to hold onto this youth Vigerust. Persch is a hitter and Monahan has the same reputation, though he failed to show the batting goods against our Mr. Blancke.

Bill Dunn as second base will not set the league afire, but in young Mr. Cullus, some of the fans of the other side are of the opinion that another Bancroft has been dug out of the fragrance of the bushes.

Anyway you want to look at the baseball proposition of Superior, the fact remains that the fans over there are pretty well satisfied with the way the team has been going.

• • •

SOME of the members of the White Sox brigade are of the opinion that the Winona aggregation is one of the strongest of the league. The standing of the Giants does not indicate this strength, but it should be remembered that Davis started the season with a rather misfit organization and has been getting stronger with the passing of the days.

The former Pittsburg and New York American star has always had the reputation of being one of the headiest ball players in the game. He has had some managerial experience in addition to his long and varied experience as a player upon two of the most famous teams of the country. It would not be in the least surprising for the Winona leader to have his team up there fighting before the lapse of many days.

• • •

THIS Lelivelt of Minneapolis is some pitcher. Members of the White Sox band are authority for the statement that the star of the Bronks uses little effort and yet possesses wizardly speed. A pitcher with the easy motion and tremendous speed is more puzzling than the chap who shoots them from the hip and has no more smoke than his motion would indicate.

If Rube Waddell comes back to the Bronchos the pitching staff of the Unglaubs will be one of the strongest in the league. The old boy, despite the passage of the years and despite the fact that he has failed to observe one of the rules of health and public safety, still has some baseball left. Last season he pitched several of the best games in the American association. Waddell was so supremely ahead of the average twirler of this day and age, that even if he is but a remnant, his right days will find him still one of the real pitchers of the present time.

GRAND FORKS COMES FOR NEXT SERIES OF THREE GAMES

Slugging Aggregation With a Strong Pitching Staff, the Flickers Appear as One of the Real Contenders.

Today's soiree with our hated rivals from the Wisconsin side of the bay will bring to an end the series between the two teams. Large and vociferous Sam Foster and the Flickertails of Grand Forks start the three-game series at our new home tomorrow afternoon.

Foster is credited with having one of the best teams in the league. The Dakota aggregation is a slugging one, and also has the distinction of having Wells, the little fellow from the Western league, who held St. Paul hitless in the contest of last week.

At the close of last year Grand Forks was traveling at a dizzy pace. Foster has all of the best of the last year's team with him and some new stars to strengthen it. The big first baseman has one of the best pitching staffs in the league, and during one of the games here will work Wells of no-hit fame.

The Flickertails will wind up the present week of baseball and will be followed by the Winnipeg Maroons.

Blancke Going Great.

It is likely that O'Brien will start Henry Clay Blancke against the Grand Forks aggregation, and it may be that Manager Foster will send Wells to the mound to oppose the illustrious spitter of the home team. Just at the present time Blancke is going great and in the event of his being buckled up in a duel with Wells, and the two heave to form, the fans should witness some hurling battle.

Aldrich may be seen in action in the opening game against the Grand Forks team. The infielder is on the ground at the present time and will likely be tried out in the series that open tomorrow.

The fans of Grand Forks believe that as it is made up at the present time their team is one of the best hitting aggregations in the league.

Lyman at second base is one of the sluggers of the league, judging from the record he has made to date. In the series at Virginia this player hit the pill for three home runs in the three games. Since then he has also been pounding the pill.

Chase, a newcomer to the team, is at shortstop in place of Bell, who may not ring in the league this season. Foster is at first and Brandt in center field. The new outfielder is said to be one of the best fly chasers in the league and is also credited with being a hitter.

Edmunds, whom the fans remember from last season, is still one of the receivers of the Flickers. Altman, last season with Winnipeg, is in left field, and Dietrick has been playing the far corner of the diamond for some time.

Three Heaving Stars.

Jarnigan, Morse and Wells are three of the heaving stars of the Flickers. Jarnigan, who came to the Grand Forks team near the close of last year and burned up the league with his great hurling, is classed as one of the greatest pitchers in the Northern.

Following the rotation in which Foster is using his pitchers at the present time, it is very likely that Jarnigan will pitch the last of the series here, and in the event of Rube Johnson opposing the Flickertail star, the chances are that the game will revolve into a pretty mound battle, for the Johnson boy is pitching some classy baseball at the present time.

FAMOUS THORPE CASE IS FINALLY SETTLED

Olympic Prizes Will Be Awarded to Men Who Finished Second.

Geneva, Switzerland, May 7. — The prizes won at the Olympic games at Stockholm by James Thorpe will be awarded to the men who finished second in the events. The international committee of the Olympic games so decided yesterday on motion of the American delegates.

The Thorpe case came up in a private session of the committee which discussed it in all its phases. Thorpe, who after the games at Stockholm confessed to professionalism, was the winner of the much-coveted trophies, the Viking ship offered by the emperor of Russia to the winner of the decathlon and the bronze bust of the king of Sweden, offered by the king to the winner of the pentathlon, both all-around competitions. These trophies will now go to H. Weislander of Sweden and F. R. Bie of Norway, respectively.

The committee unanimously adopted the British proposal to send congratulations to the Amateur Athletic union for the sportsmanlike manner in which the American organization has handled the case. All the delegates regret the Thorpe affair, but praise the Americans for their promptitude in making amends.

Sixty delegates attended the regular session of the international committee, it being the fifteenth annual meeting.

BOXERS EXHIBIT FOR ASSEMBLYMEN.

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—Members of the Illinois general assembly, state officials and municipal officials from a large number of Illinois cities witnessed a scientific boxing entertainment at Arion hall last night. The affair, in which Packey McFarland of Chicago and Johnny Coulon, bantam champion of the world, participated, was given in the interest of Senator Carroll's bill, which legalizes ten-round boxing matches in the state of Illinois.

Fifteen hundred persons witnessed the four bouts on the program. Mayor Carter H. Harrison of Chicago was present. He was called upon to deliver an address. He declined to speak, but the official announcer declared that if the legislature passes the Carroll bill Mayor Harrison will allow bouts to be staged in Chicago.

The first bout on the program was between Fred Gilmore and "Mickey" Sheridan of Chicago, who went three fast rounds. The second bout brought together Jimmie Barry, undefeated bantam champion of the world, retired, and Johnny Coulon of Chicago, present holder of the bantam title. Barry and Coulon went two rounds. Coulon then took on Frankie White of Chicago for two rounds. The last two events were refereed by Representative Frank McNichols of Chicago.

Coulon addressed the audience and pleaded for the passage of the pending bill by the general assembly. Representative George Hilton of Chicago, who has a bill in the house to legalize boxing, went four rounds with Pete Boyle, also of Chicago. There was little science in this event. The participants wore "pillow" gloves to prevent injury.

ELIMINATIONS BEGIN IN BOXING TOURNEY.

Boston, Mass., May 7.—The elimination necessary to determine the national amateur boxing champions in the classes, from an entry list of 100 aspirants, was begun last night when the preliminary contests of the annual championship tournament were held. The boxers came from many parts of this country and Canada.

In the 108-pound class, two youths, regarded as strong contestants for the title, A. Schaff of New Orleans and Frank Pacey of Toronto, were eliminated, each in three rounds. Thomas L. Ragan, a Boston high school boy, national champion in the 115-pound class, won his trial with H. Cline of New York. Some of the contests of more than local interest were:

Barney Snyder, Boston, defeated A. Schaff, Young Men's Gymnasium club, New Orleans, three rounds.

Steve Phillips, Boston Young Men's Christian union, defeated Frank Pacey, Riverside A. C., Toronto, three rounds.

Only two national champions appeared to defend their titles and both were successful. Charles L. Reagan, a local high school boy, in the 115-pound class and Charles Askins of Boston, in the 145-pound class, came through to the semi-finals, which will be reached today.

In the 145-pound class, Charles Askins of Boston, national champion, defeated Jack Harris, Riverside A. C., Toronto, three rounds.

Thomas J. Barrett, St. John, N. B., stopped Edward McCormick, Vancouver, B. C., in one round.

Would Trade Chase.

Detroit, Mich., May 7.—When the New York American league team reached Detroit yesterday afternoon, Manager Frank Chance was asked if there was a possibility that First Baseman Hal Chase might be traded to the Detroit team.

"I am willing to trade Chase to Detroit providing I get a fair exchange" said Chance. "What do you consider a fair trade," he was asked.

"I can't tell. I know of but two men on the Detroit team—Crawford and Cobb."

Our side evened the count and secured sultry revenge for the cruel reverse of opening day by trouncing the Curtis baseball aviators yesterday in their own little park by the score of 7 to 3. Mr. Brackett of Morris, Minn., was toeing the rubber for us, while a man handicapped by the name of Chicken and one Schauer did the heaving for the enemy.

During the course of the pastime Chicken and Co-worker Schauer were nicked for ten bingles, several of said bingles coming at highly appropriate stages of the game, speaking from the Duluth point of view. On the other hand the Red Legs found it extremely difficult to connect wood and leather when hits for the Hislop park heroes would have done the most good, looking at the contest now from the suburban point of view.

The second round was a highly auspicious one for us. In this period no less than three runs were chalked on the score board. In this session we let loose most of the stuff in our bat bags and Chicken flapped his wings in the direction of the dugout before the last man had been set down.

Rhoades was the first up and he hit one over the fence for all four of the bases. Smith and Schreiber singled. McCarthy filed to Cullis and then Brackett came along and added to the gaiety of the Duluth fans by singling, thus peopling the paths.

At this highly interesting point of procedure O'Brien singled past third, and Smith of Milan, Ohio, was over the stone block. McGraw was smote in the ribs and one more run was across the drydock. Old Fred Curtis, patient man despite the ravages of age, at this point made motions in the general direction of the dugout and Schauer mounted the knoll. Miller whiffed to inaugurate the new regime and Meniece went out on a small and inoffensive grounder.

More Joy.

Again in the fourth the run machine was ordered out and more sorrow and kill joy was dispensed for the benefit of the fans from the region of Tower avenue.

Brackett doubled in this round and the orator hit sharply to right and the pitcher rounded up at third. While some of you may doubt it, nevertheless it is true that Darby pilfered second, and when McGraw walked the sacks were crowded. Miller was also passed and Brackett came over. Meniece doubled and O'Brien and McGraw romped pleasantly home. Rhoades walked and then Miller was scored on a sacrifice lift to left by Smith or Milan.

In the sixth, after the outlook appeared glumy and gloomy and woeie and wobbly for the opposition, one little run came across. But, friends, what is one run when you need eight for general results? That is just what our dear friend Will Sommer thought.

In this round Vigerust hit through the shortfield and swiped second. A passed ball permitted the young man to reach third, from whence he gamboled home on a short single to center from Manager Fred.

In the eighth Monahan was hit in the rib, and as this fellow is burly and of patient mien, no one seemed to care much. Curtiss lifted and then Dunn landed at first through the kindness of Rhodes along the error line. McCauley lofted to Rhoades. Dad Ford was safe on the second error of the inning upon the part of Rhoades and Manahan was in. Schauer hit to Schreiber and that gent promptly and without apparent hesitation fuzzled, and the second run of the inning was in.

Mr. Rhoades of Galesburg, Ill., had a most uncomfortable time during the festivities of yesterday, meeting with three errors during the course of the afternoon. But for two of the miscues in one round it is possible that the score of our ancient foes would have been held to the one count.

But what is the difference, brother? Mr. Brackett must be credited with twirling a nice and gentlemanly game, and the demon clouters of the White Sox made up for the temerity of the day previous, when wandering Withers, formerly of the K. C. Blues had the boys running to first and back to the bench in the deep sand of our new lot. A win from Superior is a joyous occasion, especially so if this feat is accomplished upon the cute little grounds of Will Sommers.

WINONA GIANTS WIN FROM VIRGINIA TEAM.

Winona, Minn., May 7.—Winona took the second game of the series from Virginia by hitting Faeth to all parts of the field and easily winning by the score of 15 to 7. In addition to the ability of the home gang to clout the offerings of the opposing pitcher, he was given loose support by the Ore Diggers. The visitors hit both of the Winona pitchers freely, except when hits would mean the most. Score:

FLICKERS RALLY AND DEFEAT THE PEGGERS.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 7.—After seemingly being beaten in the ninth frame the Flickertails came from behind and scored three runs in the final round and defeated the Peggers by the score of 5 to 4. Dietrich pitched a nice game up to the ninth, when with two of the home team down, he went into the ozone and the winning run was scored before he recovered his control. With two down Edmunds was hit, Jarnigan walked and Gerlich singled. Morse singled and Altman walked and a sharp grounder scored the winning run of the game. The score:

Appropriate prizes will be presented to the winners of the events appearing in the foregoing calendar.

Ringer Competition—Mr. Hartley offers a cup for lowest selected score made by any one member between June 1 and Oct. 31, 1913. No hole can be added to this score unless played as a part of a full round of eighteen holes.

Ladies Competitions — Beginning Wednesday morning, June 25, ladies will play medal play handicap matches every Wednesday morning during the season for the women's Western Golf association handicap medal. A golf ball will be presented to winner of each event.

The ringer competition will begin on June 11 and end Oct. 31, 1913.

LITTLE SAINTS DEFEAT MINNEAPOLIS BRONKS.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—Clever pitching and some fast fielding featured the contest of yesterday between the Saints and Millers, the Jones aggregation winning by the score of 6 to 4. Neidenfuer pitched nice ball and had the better of Leverett, formerly of the Minneapolis American association team. Umpire Griffith banished both Jones and Unglaub from the park during the course of the game for protesting decisions. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Paul .....0 0 0 2 1 1 2 0 x—	6	4	3
Minneapolis ....0 0 0 1 0 1 1 0 1—	4	5	2

Batteries—Neidenfuer and McGarry; Leverett and Allen.

JOHN HACKETT SURE HAD A GOOD TIME.

Baudette, Minn., May 7. — J. L. Hackett, the famous Rainy River oarsman, returned from Duluth recently. While away he made arrangements to contest with J. E. Ten Eyck, coach of the Duluth Boat club, the race to take place in the latter part of July on St. Louis bay at Duluth. The articles will be signed some time during the month of May. While away, Hackett met several of the old-time oarsmen with whom he used to scull in the days gone by, among others being Murray Peyton of the Peyton Paper company. Hackett was very highly pleased over his reception at Duluth, and said that he had enjoyed the time of his life while away.

PHILLIES PROTEST GAME WITH ST. LOUIS.

Philadelphia, May 7.—The Philadelphia National league baseball club last night protested yesterday's game with St. Louis, claiming that Umpire Klem "took undue advantage of the rule which provides that the ball must be thrown by the pitcher within twenty

Manager Doin claims that inasmuch as the bases were filled at the time the umpire "should not have insisted upon enforcing the rule as it seldom has been done."

Pitcher Seaton had two strikes and one ball on Wingo in the seventh inning and was waiting to receive his signal from the catcher when Klem called the second ball, which later forced Seaton to put the ball in the groove, when Wingo doubled, giving St. Louis two runs.

YACHT CLUB ANSWERS LIPTON'S CHALLENGE.

London, May 7.—The Royal Ulster yacht club yesterday received a letter from the New York Yacht club replying to Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge to a race with Shamrock IV for the America's cup in which it is stated that the New York Yacht club since 1902, has made radical changes in its system of measurements and time allowances and that important changes also have been made in the racing rules. The letter continues:

"Your reference therefore to the regulations of the last contest of governing the present challenge leaves uncertain whether you mean a challenge for a match sailed with or without time allowance and if with time allowance, whether you propose it to be sailed under the New York Yacht club system of measurement and time allowance and under the racing regulations of 1902, which governed the last contest but which are not in force at the present time."

The letter concludes by asking for information on these points, "as it is essential that our committees be informed of the specific nature of the match proposed before it can take any action on the challenge."

ENGLISH POLO TEAM LEAVES FOR AMERICA.

Southampton, Eng., May 7.—Five of the polo team which is to represent the British Isles in the contest of the international cup at Meadowbrook, Long Island, in June, sailed today on board the Oceanic for New York. They were Capt. R. G. Ritson, Capt. Leslie St. George Cheape, Capt. Vivian Lockett and Capt. A. Neold Edwards and Capt. F. M. Freake, who is one of the reserves.

Before leaving Capt. Ritson said: "The British team is in perfect trim. I believe it has an even chance of retaining the cup."

Capt. Cheape also expressed the opinion that the British team stood a very good chance.

Capt. Ritson's leadership of the team depends on the position in which he plays. If he plays No. 3 he will be captain while if someone else plays in that position that player will command the team.

A large crowd had gathered at the station in London to bid the players farewell as they boarded the boat train. Lord Wodehouse, the other reserve player, was among them. He intends to sail later.

Brooklyn Wins Opener.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 7.—Brooklyn took the first game of the Chicago series by 4 to 3 yesterday, Dahlen outguessing Evers in a battle of managerial wits over pinch hitters. In the seventh with the score 3 to 2 in favor of Chicago, Wheat led off with a scratchhit, moved up on Daubert's out and scored the tying run on singles by Smith and Fisher, the latter taking second on the throw-in. Erwin was sent to bat for Miller and was passed intentionally, Evers apparently expecting Regan to come next. Instead, Dahlen called on Hummel, who furnished the hit that scored the winning run. A fast double play prevented further scoring. Rucker held Chicago safe in the last two innings. A pass, two hits and a wild pitch gave the visitors their three runs. Hank O'Day made his 1913 debut as an umpire and gave general satisfaction.

End Losing Streak.

New York, May 7.—The New Yorks ended their losing streak yesterday when they beat Cincinnati in a slugging match, 8 to 6. Tinker's team, however, played a great uphill game, as they were five runs behind in the fifth inning. Both Suggs and Tesreau, who started, were easy.

Demaree saved the game for New York in the seventh. He went in with the bases full and retired the side with only one run scored on him. Snodgrass' muff and Tinker's fly was responsible for the two runs scored off Demaree in the eighth. Schafer hit safely every time up, while Merz and Herzog each hit safely three times. Tesreau cleaned the bases in the fourth with a triple. Catcher Johnny Kling joined the Cincinnati team here today. Score: R. H. E.

Wagner Back in Game.

Boston, Mass., May 7.—With Wagner back in the game, Pittsburg was defeated by Boston yesterday in a ten-inning contest, the score being 3 to 2. The finish was sensational. Sweeney led with a single in the tenth inning. Titus sacrificed and Kirke, batting for Mann lifted a high one to left. Carey came tearing in for the fly, and as he caught it, bumped into the fence at the end of the bleachers, the ball falling over. Sweeney came home with the winning run and Kirke was credited with a double. Boston gained the lead in the third inning, when singles by Devlin and Brown, Perdue's sacrifice and Maranville's double netted two runs. Booe singled in the eighth and went to second on Mann's fumble, scoring the tying run on Byrne's hit.

Pinch Hitter Wins.

Philadelphia, May 7.—Wingo went to bat in the seventh inning of yesterday's Philadelphia-St. Louis game as a pinch hitter for Steele with the bases filled and two out and made a two-bagger which drove in two runs. St. Louis finally winning by 3 to 1. While Wingo was at bat Umpire Klem called an extra ball on Seaton, who had replaced Brennan in this inning, with two men on bases and one out for delaying the pitch, and there was a lively argument after the hit was made. St. Louis hit the ball hard, but fast fielding and the catching of base runners off the bags kept their score down. Score: R. H. E.

Use Seventeen Players.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 7.—Milwaukee defeated Minneapolis in a crazy game here yesterday by the score of 9 to 7, the home club bunching hits off Liebhardt in the fourth for six runs, enough to win the game, with two scored off Young in the second. Thirty-one players participated in the game, Minneapolis using seventeen, five of whom were pitchers. Marshall and Lewis were ordered out of the game by Umpire Murray, who had a bad day with both teams. Score: R. H. E.

Fight to Draw.

Reno, Nev., May 7.—Monte Attell and Roy Moore, both of San Francisco, fought ten rounds to a draw last night under the new boxing law permitting 10-round glove contests. Attell was matched at 120 pounds and Moore at 118. The decision met with popular approval. Both men were fast.

Sweden Will Compete.

Washington, May 7.—Sweden has accepted the invitation from the United States to send a rifle team to take part in the international rifle shooting competition to be held at Camp Perry, Ohio, Sept. 1 to 9 in connection with the Perry victory centennial celebration. That county will be represented by a team of 12 or 14 of its most expert riflemen.

RELEASE GIVEN UMPIRE NELSON.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—The release of Umpire Nelson at the conclusion of the game between St. Paul and Minneapolis Monday was announced yesterday by President Burmeister of the Northern league. Thomas Griffin was signed in Nelson's place. Continued argument with players was the cause of Nelson's release, it was said.

Pitchers Le Claire and Henikes were released by Manager Jones of the local team yesterday.

Jones received a letter from Catcher Andy Pettit, who departed for St. Louis Sunday without informing the management, saying that he did not care to play baseball if he could not play in Class AA.

FARGO-MINOT MOTOR RACE IS PLANNED.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A race between the four-cylinder Cadillac and the six-cylinder Mitchell to Minot and return is to be arranged. In a controversy over the relative merits of the four and six-cylinders the manager of the Cadillac issued a challenge to race any six-cylinder car to Minot and return for $1,500 on a non-stop basis, and the challenge was accepted by the Mitchell.

Invited By Japs.

Seattle, Wash., May 7.—Meiji university, Tokio, has cabled to the University of Washington baseball nine an invitation to visit Japan and play a series of games with Meiji. The Japanese offer to pay the Americans' expenses if they leave here Aug. 6 and return to Seattle Oct. 24. Those details will cost the men the loss of five weeks of the school term, but consent of the faculty is being sought.

Fight Bill Defeated.

Sacramento, Cal., May 7.—Assemblyman H. W. Brown's anti-prize fight bill was defeated on reconsideration in the assembly last night, after its opponents had been given a great scare. It was brought before the assembly by a vote of 41 to 30 on a motion to reconsider and a call of the house resulted 39 to 32. The bill lacked only two votes of passage when the roll was called, 39 assemblymen voting aye and 32 no. Forty-one were necessary to pass the bill.

The reconsideration was brought about through the votes of country members in retaliation against the San Francisco delegation which had supported another measure which they opposed.

Last night's action defeats the bill finally for the present session.

Umpire Owens Dismissed.

New York, May 7.—President Lynch of the National league announced last night that he had dismissed Umpire C. B. Owens for violation of the rules of deportment. The violation alleged consisted in entering a gambling resort. In making the announcement President Lynch said:

"Umpires in the National league by their deportment on and off the ball field are supposed to add dignity to their positions as representatives of the league. They are backed up by the president in the discharge of their duties, and in order to gain and hold the respect of the players, the press and the public, it is most essential that their conduct at all times be above reproach.

"Mr. Owens, by his actions, has forfeited the right to the protection afforded him by the president of the league, and for this he is discharged."

Decline Challenge.

Oxford, Eng., May 7.—The athletic authorities at Oxford and Cambridge universities have declined the challenge from Harvard and Yale universities for a track and field meet at the Harvard stadium in June because of lack of necessary funds at that date and because examinations will then be in progress. They suggested September as more suitable.

Magirly Given Decision.

St. Louis, Mo., May 7.—Art Magirly, formerly of Bartlesville, Okla., was given the decision last night at the end of a hard-fought eight-round bout with Marty Rowan of Collinsville, Ill. They weighed in a 148 pounds at 3 o'clock. It was their third meeting this winter, each having had a decision before. Magirly barely had Rowan out in the seventh and eighth rounds, the gong each time saving the Illinoisan.

BURNED BY SPARK FROM HER HUSBAND'S PIPE.

Oregon, Mo., May 7.—Mrs. Elizabeth Market, 65 years old, was burned to death when sparks from her husband's pipe set fire to her clothing. They were riding in a buggy and had been making preparations for the wedding of a son, which was to have taken place today.

RAID BARS FOR BOGUS BOOZE.

Joliet, Ill., May 7.—Federal officers raided twenty saloons here Tuesday, incident to an investigation of a charge that saloon keepers were making artificial liquors out of an extract. The revenue officers raided the places on the charges of illicit rectifying. The saloon keepers implicated are liable to fines aggregating several thousand dollars.

MAY DO ITS OWN PAVING

Duluth Has Right to Engage in Contracting Business.

May Also Build and Equip Plants to Manufacture Material.

If Duluth wants to go into the paving business for itself, it not only has power under the charter to do the work without letting contracts, but it has power under a new state law to build and equip plants for the manufacture of materials.

Chapter 351 of the laws of 1913 provides that cities of the first class operating under home rule charters may issue bonds up to the sum of $50,000 for the erection and equipment of plants for the manufacture of paving materials.

The law was drawn in the interests of St. Paul, but its general application to cities of the first class operating under home rule charters makes it available for Duluth also.

The law provides that the bonds may be issued and sold notwithstanding any limitation of the bonded indebtedness of the city. They shall be for not longer than thirty years and shall draw no more than 4½ per cent interest. They shall be sold at par and accrued interest at least, and to the highest bidder.

One provision of the law that is inconsistent in its relation to Duluth is that the bonds shall be "signed by the mayor, attested by the clerk and countersigned by the comptroller." As Duluth has no comptroller under the new charter, that provision might present some difficulty, but undoubtedly the auditor or the commissioner of finance would be held to be in the same relation to the city government as was the comptroller under the old system.

MOTORCYCLE ON SPREE ALL ALONE.

New York, May 7.—A riderless motorcycle dashed into a crowd of pedestrians downtown, seriously injuring one man. The owner of the machine had dismounted to start it and was unable to hold it. The crossing policeman seized the machine after it had knocked down two men, and steered it against a pillar of the elevated railroad.

HURRAH! NO DUTY ON HORSERADISH!

Washington, May 7.—With the cost of living constantly soaring horseradish, used the country over as a condiment to increase the appetites of the American people, may become cheaper as the result of a decision by the customs court. Over-ruling the treasury department's pleading for a 25 per cent advalorem duty on horse-radish roots, according to its version of the tariff law, and in the economic interest of the people, the court decided that the roots should be admitted free of duty. The department contended that a horse-radish root was a vegetable, but the court officially named it a "vegetable substance."

The ruling distinction between horseradish and "moss and seaweeds," mentioned in the tariff as vegetable substances entitled to free entry, the government suggested that moss and seaweed could not be used as food. The court came back with the statement that moss and seaweed frequently are eaten.

MEMORIAL FOR FRANKLIN PIERCE.

Concord, N. H., May 7.—Franklin Pierce, the only president of the United States from New Hampshire, seems assured at last of a statue by his native state. The senate passed a house bill providing $15,000 for the statue, to be erected on the statehouse grounds. The governor is expected to sign the measure.

The fact that Pierce was a Democrat and a pro-slavery man, has hitherto aroused such strong opposition to the statue proposal that appropriation bills for the purpose have always been killed by the long succession of Republican legislatures. The present legislature is Democratic for the first time in forty years.

New York Bans Pushcarts.

New York, May 7.—The board of aldermen has passed unanimously an ordinance taking from the streets of New York its 10,000 pushcarts. Its passage was bitterly opposed by the peddlers.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

CREAM FROM GOPHER STATE

Product of Minnesota Will Go to Neighboring Flickertail State.

Recent Legislation in That State May Bring About Such Condition.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota is aiding the creamery business in North Dakota. That was perhaps not the intention of recent legislation but will be the result, unless the centralizing plants of the Twin Cities establish pasteurizing or refrigerating plants along the west line of the state.

The new law requiring that cream and milk cannot be shipped a distance of more than sixty-five miles in hot weather without pasteurization or refrigeration is responsible. In the past cream has been shipped from almost the extreme western part of North Dakota to the Twin Cities. This will be impossible in the future.

To Establish Creameries.

The cream and milk thus shipped killed off local creameries in North Dakota and with the enactment of the new law steps are now being taken to establish creameries in many points in this state and also to reopen old creameries that have been closed. Large centralization plants may now be established in Fargo as a result of the new Minnesota law. Minnesota also bars the use of neutralizers and chemicals for preserving the milk and there seems no way to evade the provisions of the new law if an effort is made by the pure food department to enforce it.

A STATE COMMISSION.

Idea for Change in Gopher Governmental Form Reported Growing.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—Advocates of the commission form of government are looking to the next legislature for a law which will put the state government under a commission. Such a step would be the climax to a program that already has seen two of the largest cities of the state, St. Paul and Duluth, adopt the new plan.

That there is a tendency toward the commission form of government for states as well as cities, is shown by the attempt made in the recent legislature to obtain action on a bill providing this form for the state.

Because the bill was introduced the last day for the introduction of bills, it never came up for consideration.

Another attempt along the same line in the recent legislature here was an effort of the public domain committee in the house to get through a bill providing a reorganization of eight important state departments, putting them under a commissioner of public domain.

That the forces working in the legislature may unite on a definite program seems possible.

MOORHEAD GREEK NOT KILLED IN WAR.

Moorhead, Minn., May 7. — James Karis of the Fargo Candy company received a letter Monday from John Georgiades, known as "Chicken John," who was reported killed a week or so ago in the Balkan war.

He wrote a long and interesting letter about his recent experiences on and off the battlefield and said that if the peace treaty is signed soon he will ask for a discharge and return to his lunch stand in Moorhead.

FOR MORE PUBLICITY.

Governor Eberhart Would Inform People of State Institutions.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—At its quarterly conference Tuesday with the heads of state institutions, the state board of control discussed with the state officials and the governor the advisability of making some provisions out of the board's funds for the maintenance of the state board of visitors.

The last legislature failed to renew the $35,000 annual appropriation for the board of visitors. Governor Eberhart desires that the board continue its work and it was at his request that the matter was broached.

More publicity for state institutions was urged by Governor Eberhart. The governor said that in the past the secrecy maintained by the board and the various officials under it had tended to create a wrong impression throughout the state.

This action of the governor is said to be a result of the retirement of P. M. Ringdal from the board and the appointment of Ralph W. Wheelock. For some years little publicity had been given to this work and the executive wishes this condition changed. He now has political control of the board.

W. S. MOORE TO SPEAK.

Duluthian to Deliver Address at Fargo Y. M. C. A. Banquet.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—The fourth annual dinner of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the association building Friday evening. H. F. Emery, president of the association, is chairman of the evening, and the toastmaster is W. H. Day, international secretary of the railroad department, of Portland, Or. The speaker of the evening is Watson S. Moore, president of the board of directors of the Duluth Y. M. C. A. He has chosen for his subject "The Marks of a City."

James Holes will speak on "The Fargo of Old Days," and Bertrand Allan Orr will give a solo. The music will be furnished by the orchestra of the Fargo College conservatory.

MAY BE HIS BROTHER.

Michigan Man Writes About the Mysterious "Richard Roe."

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—That the mysterious "Richard Roe," who has been a patient at the Rochester hospital for the insane since 1908, may be a brother of Thomas P. Eastman of Holland, Mich., was indicated Tuesday in a letter received from Mr. Eastman by C. J. Swendsen, member of the state board of control. Mr. Eastman declared in his letter that he had a brother in the navy who disappeared about the time that the Rochester patient was found beside the railway tracks at Waseca, Minn., and his description of his brother tallies to a great extent with that of "Richard Roe."

Advices from Washington received by the state board of control are that the records of the navy department show no one missing with the initials "J. C. R."

DAYLIGHT FIREWORKS AT THE FARGO FAIR.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The management of the interstate fair which will be held in Fargo the first four days of July is planning to have a great exhibition of daylight fireworks as is befitting the holiday features of the occasion. A contract has been entered into with one of the largest manufacturers of that class of displays.

ACQUIT ATTORNEY WHO EJECTED AN OFFICER.

Beach, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The jury in the case of Attorney Denoyer did not take the same view as the prosecuting witness, a deputy sheriff, and acquitted the attorney on a charge of assaulting the arresting officer. The deputy claimed he was kicked out of the attorney's office.

KANABEC COUNTY MAN PUNISHED.

St. Cloud, Minn., May 7.—Charged and convicted with having sold liquor to a minor, Alfred Johnson of Grasston, Kanabec county, was brought here by Sheriff C. R. Williams and placed in the county jail to serve out a sentence of thirty days in jail and pay $50 and costs in default of which he will serve thirty-five days additional. Johnson was tried before Judge Stolberg of Kanabec county.

NORTHERN WISCONSIN ODD FELLOWS ORGANIZE

Ashland, Wis., May 7.—District lodge No. 2, comprising Odd Fellows lodges of Hurley, Mellen, Butternut, Iron River, Washburn and Bayfield, was organized here by Grand Master Clem W. Crumb of Newton. The district officers chosen are: President, George W. Cole; vice president, H. Schaff of Butternut; secretary, F. A. Stroshane, and treasurer, August Metzdorff. The visiting Odd Fellows remained in the city over night.

LIGHTS MATCH UNDER AUTO; LOSES MACHINE.

Marmarth, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Bordwell of this place and a party out in his auto when something went wrong with the machine. He lighted a match underneath to investigate the trouble. There was an immediate explosion and fire which completely destroyed the auto.

MAY VOTE AGAIN.

If Governor Approves, Wisconsin Will Again Vote on Woman Suffrage.

Madison, Wis., May 7.—The Wisconsin assembly concurred last night in the Glenn woman suffrage bill, which provides for a referendum on the issue in 1914 and it now goes to the governor. Although he is personally opposed to equal suffrage, the governor is expected to sign the bill. A referendum on the same question last fall resulted in an overwhelmingly adverse vote.

ENGAGEMENT BROKEN.

St. Paul Girl Not to Wed Idaho U. S. Senator.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—The engagement of Miss Lerraine Daly of St. Paul to United States Senator James H. Brady of Idaho, has been broken "by mutual consent" according to an announcement made by the girl's relatives here last night.

Miss Daly is now attending a Boston school. The couple met in the West four years ago.

WOMAN ALSO DIES.

Second Victim of Mill City Shooting Is Dead.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 7.—Martha Rossa, who was wounded late Monday night, when Michael Bruno was shot and killed, died here last night. Nicholas Pirintano is held at police headquarters, charged with the murder of Bruno. He gave himself up soon after the shooting. He claimed that Bruno came to his home where he and the woman lived, and threatened the lives of both. Later, according to the police, Pirintano entered the room occupied by Bruno and the Rossa woman, shooting both.

HE FISHED IN HOUSE.

Also Made Too Much Noise, So St. Paul Woman Gets Divorce.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—Fishing for trout in the pan under the refrigerator at 4 a. m. is one of the amusements which Harry Hollum indulged during his married life, according to testimony in a divorce case tried before Judge Dickson Tuesday.

Mrs. Hollum, the plaintiff, said she would not have objected to the fishing exploit if it had been conducted with the silence usually observed by the disciples of Isaak Walton, but Mr. Hollum grew boisterous. Every time he thought he had a bite he hailed the household with joyful shouts.

He varied this form of amusement by making his wife get up in the cold dawn of the morning to play dance music on the piano while he danced. Another form of surprise he used when he got home early in the morning was to take the house cat and throw her upon his wife's bed to awaken her.

Judge Dickson granted an absolute divorce to Mrs. Hollum.

MOORHEAD PUZZLER.

Question of Reducing Number of Saloons Bothering Interested Ones.

Moorhead, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The method of determining what proprietors of saloons shall be cared for when the forty-two of this place will be reduced to thirty, is causing the officials and the saloon men considerable worry. The saloon men were asked to reach an agreement, but failed to do so. They hoped to accomplish this by consolidations and partnerships, but the theory failed to work out in a practical manner. There were some objections to the suggestion that lots should be drawn. Now it seems possible the thirty licenses will be auctioned off, an arbitrary minimum price being fixed, and the desire of the saloon men for possession being depended upon not only to fix the minimum price, but to solve the problem of eliminating a dozen of the present places.

MAY NOT RUN THEATER.

Municipally Owned Playhouse Idea About Dropped in Ishpeming.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city may not embark in the theatrical business, as did Red Jacket, the owner of the big theater at Calumet. It was proposed that the municipality buy the Ishpeming theater, the sale of which had become necessary because of the financial troubles of the stock company owning it. The deal did not come to a focus. The property was purchased by the Miners' National bank at mortgage foreclosure for less than $12,000, the sale price merely covering the debts. The property represents an investment of $34,000. The intentions of the bank are not known. Of late months, or since the introduction of vaudeville and motion pictures to the house, the theater has been making money.

Litchfield Mill Burned.

Litchfield, Minn., May 7.—Fire which broke out in the center of the building completely destroyed the Litchfield flour mills early Sunday morning. The loss is estimated at about $18,000, with insurance covering about half of it. Combustion is said to be the cause of the fire.

Health Board Curious.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 7.—The Grand Forks board of health passed a resolution calling upon the state board of health to designate what diseases are contagious or infectious. This action is the result of the agitation which has been in existence for some time, the object being to have the physicians report all cases of venereal nature.

Mott, N. D., Newspaper Changes.

Mott, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Editor W. Irysh, who founded the Pioneer Press seven years ago and made it a great factor in the development of this part of the state, has sold it to Elmer Enge of Elmore, Minn. The Spotlight, which has been edited by C. H. Gormany since the retirement of J. T. Charmley last winter, was to have been turned over this week to C. J. Vowles of Tower City, but Mr. Charmley now claims control and there may be a lawsuit to determine the ownership.

Brought Back and Sentenced.

Beach, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Admitting his guilt, William Rogers was sentenced to the state penitentiary on a charge of stealing $115 from a fellow-employe on the Feldman farm. He came here after stealing the money, invested $50 in clothes, and started west. He was captured in Billings, Mont., and returned to Beach without requisition papers.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Milwaukee—Maj. Harley B. Ferguson, corps of engineers, has been ordered to Milwaukee to take charge of the local office of the United States engineer department. He succeeds Maj. Charles S. Bromwell, who was transferred last July to Cleveland.

Janesville—Poverty of school funds may lead to serious complications with local teachers, who have demanded increase of wages, intimating they will refuse to teach longer and take the matter to the State Teachers' association.

Rhinelander—Fire partly destroyed the plant of the Oneida Handle company in this city.

Milwaukee—The body of Andrew Reese, aged 25, a tiling contractor, Kenosha, Wis., was taken from the Milwaukee river at the State street bridge Monday. The man had been missing since Jan. 28.

Janesville—The withdrawal of recall petitions against two councilmen and centering of the action on the recall of Mayor Fathers, at the special election to be held in July, is the latest move in the recall case pending in the courts here since last December. Former Mayor Nichols will oppose Fathers for re-election.

Hayward—The local creamery is doing a large amount of business and gradually adding to their already large list of customers. A large amount of the butter is consumed here and the greater part of it being shipped each week to Winton, Minn., for the St. Croix Lumber & Manufacturing company.

Ashland—The Outing Boat company's plant in which Ashland people invested $10,000 in to induce it to locate in this city, was today sold under foreclosure proceedings for $1,100 to M. J. Fenanga, president of Northland college.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Ishpeming—Plans are being prepared for a modern combination cooler and warehouse for the Cudahy Packing company, to be erected between the South Shore and Northwestern tracks on the east side of First street, between the crossing and the Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company's warehouse.

Marquette—The funeral of the late Samuel Yonkoskey, who died last week in Portland, Or., after an operation for appendicitis, was held Monday morning from St. Peter's cathedral and burial in Holy Cross cemetery. Mr. Yonkoskey, who formerly lived in Marquette, moved in 1900 to Peshtigo, Wis., thence to Portland.

Ishpeming—J. S. Wahlman, who was recently awarded a contract for the erection of several mine buildings, and a captain's residence for the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company, is now assembling the material for the Swanzey range jobs. Carpenters will this week begin working on the dryhouse at the Cliffs shafts.

Hancock—The members of Mistletoe lodge of the Sons of St. George and those of Lady Edgecombe lodge of the Daughters of St. George, attended service in a body Sunday at the Hancock Methodist Episcopal church, where an interesting address appropriate to the occasion was given by the pastor, Rev. Reuben Crosby.

Houghton—Paul Allen Beymer of Cleveland, Ohio, the new organist at Trinity church, played for the first time on the new organ at the church Sunday morning. Following the evening service he rendered a second program. His execution was enjoyed by all those who heard him.

Calumet—Chief of Police Joseph Trudell, who went to Chicago last week for treatment by a specialist, for a trouble with the optic nerve, has returned much improved. Mr. Trudell will be confined to his home for a few days, but expects to be able to again take up his duties next week.

Marquette—The United Commercial Travelers, of Marquette have organized the business end of their baseball club with C. Carlisle, president and Will Puhlman, manager and treasurer. The selection of a captain and the lineup was deferred until a later meeting.

Ishpeming—During April deaths in Ishpeming numbered only nine while the number of births totaled twenty-one. Two of the deaths were persons over seventy-four and five were infants.

Negaunee—An extra ore train ran off the track in the Negaunee South Shore yards Sunday night at 11:30. The doors of three coal cars were left open and the coal thus falling out caused the cars to be thrown from the track. The brakeman suffered a badly squeezed hip.

Ishpeming—The body of the late Mrs. A. J. Lindvall of Duluth, who died there last November, was brought to Ishpeming for burial Saturday, interment taking place at 2 o'clock that afternoon.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Charlson, N. D.—The Fessenden capitalist won out over the local people in securing the name of the First State bank for the new financial institution they are to establish here. The local people were first to organize but the Fessenden folks made the original application to the secretary of state. The third bank will be known as the Security State.

York, N. D.—The fortunate fact that an engine happened to be standing on the tracks, which was converted into a fire engine, saved the Great Northern water tank, engine house and other buildings here. The engine was used to pump a stream onto the buildings when they had caught on fire from the pump house.

Mandan, N. D.—Three demonstration farms were added to those established by the Northern Pacific in this part of the state when E. A. Wilson, the road's expert, established one at Stanton, another at Hazen, and a third at Golden Valley. The work is to be along corn, alfalfa, white clover and potatoes rather than small cereals.

Manning, N. D.—Mr. and Mrs. Parmeter, who live on a farm six miles from here, have been informed of the death by drowning of their son, W. L. Parmeter, who recently left here to locate in Grand Rapids, Wis.

Carrington, N. D.—A branch warehouse and office of the bottling plant at Glenwood Springs, Minn., is to be established here, the spring water and soft drinks will be shipped here in carload lots and then sent to the customers on the lines in this part of the state. The company regards Carrington as an ideal distributing point.

Willow City, N. D.—Admitting his guilt in connection with the numerous burglaries in this town, S. Cote has also implicated Charles Williams, who was arrested at the same time. Cote turned state's evidence and told where the loot was concealed. Some of it was recovered from a place on the east side of the town, where it had been buried in the ground.

McVille, N. D.—A change has been made in the cashiership of the First State bank at this place, W. J. Morgan assuming the position.

Fargo, N. D.—Attorney A. W. Fowler, who has been in Hot Springs, Ark., prosecuting the men who were principals in the work of fleecing Ferdinand Piper of Mapleton, Cass county, returned home Sunday and reports he was successful in sending two of the men, "The Brass Kid" and a man named Abley, to the penitentiary each for five years.

Minot, N. D.—D. A. Dinnie, a contractor, was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Alice Parish, charged with assault and battery. Dinnie is charged with slapping Mrs. Parish in the face and otherwise injuring her when she asked for wages she claimed were due her husband, who had been working for Dinnie. Dinnie denies the charge and demands an immediate trial.

Valley City, N. D.—J. R. Getchell and Fred Getchell, prosperous farmers near Valley City, will set out a mile of willow trees as a windbreak on their farm. This will break the hot winds from the south.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Andrew Olson of Niagara was sentenced by Judge C. E. Cooley Saturday to pay a fine of $200 and serve ninety days in the county jail for running a blind pig at Niagara. He had a hearing before Judge McLoughlin early in the week, and pleaded guilty before Judge Cooley.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Crookston—John Steenerson, aged 50, formerly a well-known farmer near Climax, and a brother of Congressman Steenerson and Postmaster Elias Steenerson, died at Esmond, N. D., Thursday last, and was laid to rest Saturday at that place.

St. Cloud—Stearns county court convened for the May term in the courtroom Monday morning, Judge Roeser presiding. The calendar reported was unusually light. The grand and petit juries reported and the former body was charged by the court. The grist of criminal cases will follow the civil suits.

Crookston—The L. E. Larson hardware store was entered Saturday evening, the thief taking an automatic revolver and two $1 Waterbury watches. The police were working on the case yesterday, but of thirteen men apprehended, not one of them was the thief. Entrance to the store was gained by forcing the back door.

Albert Lea—E. P. Gates, formerly of Minneapolis, died a few weeks ago in Pasadena. His will directs that $5,000 from his estate be donated to Albert Lea college.

Mapleton—Woodbury Libby, a resident of Mapleton for fifty years, died Monday, aged 78. Mr. Libby was born in Maine, and went to California in the gold rush of forty-nine. He came to Mapleton about fifty years ago and located on a farm near the village, where he lived until about fifteen years ago when he retired and moved to town. He is survived by two daughters.

Evansville—Mrs. Nels C. Johnson, who resided on section 18, town of Evansville, near the Grant county line, was found dead in bed by the side of her little son, Friday morning. Death was due to heart failure. She was a daughter of Erick Wold, one of the pioneer residents of Erdahl township, and a sister of County Auditor Wold of Grant county.

Fergus Falls—Nels P. Peterson, aged 75, who has been making his home with his brother, Peter P. Jackson on Douglas avenue in the southeastern part of the city, committed suicide by hanging himself Sunday.

International Falls—Charles Sheeran has purchased a new motorboat, seven-passenger capacity, 10-horse power, that is supposed to make fifteen miles per hour.

Brainerd—Fifty of the sophomore class of the Brainerd high school enjoyed a picnic at Gilbert lake on Saturday afternoon, making the journey to the lake by taking the afternoon M. & I. train.

Minneapolis—Ed. Crount, 43 years of age, traveling man, was found dead in his bed Monday at the Grand Pacific hotel. He died from an overdose of sleeping potion, accidentally taken, is the statement given out by the authorities. He has a brother in Minneapolis.

Moorhead—The general May term of district court for Clay county convened in this city Monday, Judge C. A. Nye presiding, and John P. Vandersluis at the reporter's table.

Red Wing—Sylvester Eastman, 7 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Eastman, formerly of Zumbrota village, narrowly escaped instant death when he was struck by a train in the Milwaukee yards near the Red Wing Motor company's plant. He was about to cross the tracks and was struck in the head by a moving car, rendered unconscious, and for several hours it was feared he would not recover.

Stillwater—John Howard, formerly of this city, died Sunday at Memphis, Tenn., aged 40 years. He is survived by his widow and four children. The remains, accompanied by Mrs. Howard, will arrive here Wednesday morning for burial.

REPORTS ON HUMANE WORK

Agent R. D. McKercher Investigated Fifty-two Cases in April.

Five Children Placed in the State School at Owatonna.

Fifty-two cases, most of which concerned the welfare of destitute families, deserted children and unfortunate girls were investigated during the month of April by R. D. McKercher, agent of the Duluth Humane society.

His April report, which was submitted to the society at its May meeting this afternoon, shows a wide field of endeavor during the past month. Of the fifty-two cases investigated, five were not substantiated.

Five homeless or neglected children were placed in the state home for children at Owatonna and it is stated in the report that another may be sent this month. The child's mother is said to be a woman of questionable character and the indications are that the youngster will be committed by the juvenile court to the state institution.

One case was found on the range where a 4½-year-old boy, whose mother is dead, was deserted by his father. The little fellow was committed by the juvenile court to the custody of his aunt.

Boy Threatened Mother.

One case during the month was turned over to the police. It involved the complaint from a mother that her 11-year-old son, who was subject to violent fits, was in the habit of threatening to do her bodily injury. The woman refused to have the boy examined as to his sanity.

The humane agent also reports that he found a crippled girl living in rather destitute circumstances in a place on West Michigan street near Garfield avenue. She is now being looked after and an effort is being made to secure treatment for her deformities at the state hospital for children at St. Paul.

The arrest of one man for wife desertion was brought about by the humane agent during the month. In this instance the offender pleaded guilty and drew a suspended sentence on the promise of good behavior. This was early during the month and the report states that there have been no further complaints.

One case which was brought to Mr. McKercher for investigation was turned over to the county attorney's office and another to the poor commission.

Animal Welfare.

A summary of the work done by J. G. Luxon, assistant agent, in the animal welfare work follows:

SHORT IS SURE THE PRISONER SHOT HIM

He Insists on His Identification of Alleged Train Robber.

Kansas City, Mo., May 7.—Further efforts, made today to identify Louis Watson, held by the police here in connection with the holdup of a Kansas City Southern passenger train last week and the shooting of Jesse M. Short of Joplin, left the police still in doubt.

Short said yesterday he was positive Watson is the man with whom he exchanged shots in the Pullman car. W. J. Morgan, porter of the Pullman, who stood within a few feet of the robber while the shooting was going on, said today Watson's voice was that of the bandit, but he would not identify him positively.

Short told the police if he were placed blindfolded in a room with Watson he would recognize in him the robber because of an individual Southern drawl. Short said he would swear to an information against Watson as soon as he could leave the hospital.

No trace of the $1,200 in cash or the jewelry taken from the Kansas City Southern passengers was found on Watson, who was penniless when arrested. He said he formerly was a preacher and that he never had committed a crime of any kind.

"Why, I have saved hundreds of souls," he said, but he refused to state where he had preached or done evangelistic work.

Despite the positive identification by Mr. Short, Chief of Police Griffin said he did not believe Watson was the man wanted. He said Watson did not fit the description of the bandit.

"The bandit was more than six feet tall, according to all our reports," Chief Griffin said, "this man is only five feet, six inches in height."

TOWN WANTS TITLE TO LOTS

Brings Suit to Quiet Title to Property in Hibbing.

A suit to quiet title on two city lots in the village of Hibbing has been started in district court by the town of Stuntz. The lots are described as lot 1, and the easterly three feet of lot 2, block 8, village of Hibbing.

The town alleges that it is the owner of the property in fee and in mineral rights. The suit is brought against the Lake Superior Consolidated Mines, the Royal Mineral association, and a number of prominent fee owners, including E. D. Hull, Rudolph Ortmann, Blanche Sellers, M. H. Alworth, Edward Boeing, Frederick D. Owsley, Caroline Marie Boeing, Frank Hibbing and A. M. Chisholm, all of whom claim some share in the premises.

$100,000 Fire in Key West.

Key West, Fla., May 7.—Flames which threatened the lower business section of the city today destroyed four cigar factories and several smaller buildings, causing a loss of $100,000.

SUMMARY OF THE HEALTH LAWS

Notices Published By Health Department Contain Summary of Ordinances.

The written notices of the health department, notifying residents to abate nuisances, bear on the reverse side a long list of suggestions relative to various propositions bearing on public health.

They are in reality short, concise statements of the more important provisions of the various ordinances and regulations of the health department. The department officials state that if the public will observe them few or no complaints will be entered and much will be done to better the health conditions of the city.

They were compiled by Ruben Johnson, secretary of the health department and are as follows:

"Use a metal can with a cover on it for your garbage.

"Wrap your garbage in paper before you place it into the can.

"Have the garbage removed weekly.

"Do not mix garbage and ashes. Keep them separate.

"Have a receptacle for your ashes, then they won't be blown upon your neighbors' clothes.

"If you want to fill up a low place in your improved street or alley with clean ashes, get a permit from the public works department.

"Keep manure in a box that is fly and water tight. That means a cover on the box.

"Flies are usually hatched in a manure pile.

"Manure must be removed once a week after May 1.

"When manure is used as a fertilizer after June 1, do not let it remain on top the earth longer than one week. Plow it under. By so doing you stop fly breeding.

"Barn floors should be water tight and constructed so they will drain into a sewer or covered cement pit.

"Outside toilets should be water tight and fly tight.

"The toilet should be twenty feet from the house.

"Don't use water from a well that is nearer than twenty feet to a toilet.

"If there is a sewer in the public highway it is your duty to connect with it.

"Never fill up an abandoned well with anything except clean earth.

"See that the water on your lot drains direct to the street or alley. Don't let it drain onto your neighbors' lot.

"Don't keep horses, pigs or chickens in the same house you live in. They must be kept in a separate building at least fifteen feet away.

"Tin cans are unsightly and an excellent breeding place for flies. Keep them in covered receptacles.

"Don't buy foods exposed for sale in places where flies can get to them.

"To trap the fly is an excellent plan. Suggest this to your grocer and meat dealer."

FLYING BOAT FOR DULUTH

"Gasoline Bill" Jones Will Act as Chauffeur of Craft.

Will Be Permanent Attraction at Boat Club During Summer.

A Benoist flying boat with "Gasoline Bill" Jones at the helm, or whatever it is that steers such a means of locomotion, will be one of the features at the boat club during the coming summer.

All through the summer Duluth people will be entertained by exhibitions by "Gasoline Bill" and his flying-swimming machine. When the weekly excursions from surrounding towns being arranged by a joint committee of the boat club, ad club, Rotary club, Retail Merchants' association and the summer attractions committee of the Commercial club are held, "Gasoline Bill" will show the visitors what can be done with a mechanical flying fish.

"Gasoline Bill," who earns his title by the fact that he can learn to run anything that is propelled by gasoline, from a reaper to a road roller and from a dinky half-horse power motor boat to a flying boat, today signed a contract that calls for the delivery of a Benoist flying boat within a few weeks.

The contrivance will be kept at the boat club and "Bill" will begin to practice. He says he will be undaunted by duckings and other expected mishaps, and will master the craft as soon as scientific study and undaunted persistence will permit.

"As soon as I get on the gosh-hanged thing, I'll take passengers along on my flights," said "Bill" with lavish generosity, and already he has had many bids for rides.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Kinemacolor Pictures.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—"Don't Lie To Your Wife."

Amusement Notes.

The new program of Kinemacolor opened yesterday at the Lyceum and will continue today. "Geysers of New Zealand," shows remarkable photographs of New Zealand geysers in full action including the famous geysers of Wakerewa in South Island and Papakura in North Island. The New Zealand geysers rival the famous Hot-Water Springs of Yellowstone park and nothing more spectacular could be imagined than these pillars of boiling foam ever rising and falling and then bursting forth afresh, their pure white foam sharply outlined against the background of deep blue sky. A splendid comedy subject, "Keeping Up With Hubby," is a drama full of novel situations. The play is full of laughs yet teaches a lesson. Kinemacolor beauty is used to advantage in the taking of this picture.

Mss Norton and Paul Nicholson, at the Orpheum this week, claim to have been among the first to start the campaign for higher wages for girls in the large stores in the big Eastern cities.

"When we first presented our little sketch," said Miss Norton last evening, "the average wage in the big cities was only $4 a week. The sketch contains a line referring to shop girls' wages. After a year or two we had to change that line to $5 a week. Then we had to boost it to $6 a week as the wages of the girls were increased. I hope to see the time when we will have to change it to $10 or $12 a week, if we are still presenting the sketch by that time. The wages are being slowly increased, but in the big cities it is not yet possible for a girl to keep in food and clothing and shelter on the average wage. A girl cannot live and clothe herself presentably on $6 a week in New York or Chicago, if she has no outside aid. I am glad to see such a furore about this subject, and I hope our little sketch has helped some."

"Don't Lie to Your Wife," under the management of Dave Lewis, will close a successful half week at the Empress, with two performances tonight. This play, which had all Chicago laughing for four months, is from the pen of Campbell B. Casad, a former reporter on the New York Herald, where he gathered the incidents for the play from actual observations.

The story, briefly told, deals in the adventures of three worthies who decide to "dally" with the congenial existence while their wives and sweetheart are out of town.

The opening of the play discloses them after they have dallied to some extent with chorus girls, Coney Island fizz bottles—and a law-breaking machine which brings them in contact with a traffic policeman, who is only escaped from with a bribe.

Music a-plenty—girls in stunning costumes and specialties as well—are the order of things.

For the last half of next week the Empress will have the wonderfully successful musical comedy production, "The Bell Hop." This production is replete wth brilliant scenic and electrical effects and gorgeous costumes. It is full of good, pleasing music and clever dancers.

Superior

Indian Cases.

Judge A. L. Sanborn of the Federal court yesterday afternoon sentenced six Indians to six months' imprisonment and fined them $100 when they pleaded guilty to having sold liquor to Indians. Two others were given suspended sentences. Five pleaded not guilty and two of these will have a hearing today, while the cases of three will be turned over to the next term of court.

Albert Widger Dies.

Albert Widger, 70 years old, a Civil war veteran, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Scoon, 1013 Cumming avenue, late yesterday. During the Civil war he served with Co. A, Sixteenth Wisconsin volunteers. Besides his widow he leaves two daughters and one son. The funeral arrangements will be made this afternoon.

Youth Is Released.

E. W. Brekke, who was recently arrested charged with having passed worthless checks on Tower avenue saloon keepers, was released yesterday. The young man's father is said to have made good the checks.

Young Man Fined.

John McGovern, who was arrested by Chief McKinnon on an East end car because he was using insulting language to young women on the car, was fined $25 and costs by Judge Parker of the municipal court yesterday.

Club Elects Officers.

Officers were elected last evening at the meeting of the Gitchinadji Country club, Billings Park. The new officers are: President, Robert Kelly; vice president, H. S. Butler; secretary-treasurer, Thomas Simons. J. A. Murphy was elected a director. The holdover directors are Joseph Neil and C. A. Chase. Golf will be featured at the club this year and it is planned to expend $300 on the course. Reports showed that there are at present seventy-two resident and twenty-seven non-resident members.

AUSTRALIANS IN GOOD CONDITION

Tennis Players From Antipodes Have Workout in Chicago.

Chicago, May 7.—Chicago tennis experts today expressed surprise at the good showing of Jones and Rice, the Australian Davis cup players, who prepared to leave this afternoon for Niagara Falls on their way to New York. The Australians, unused to the asphalt courts of California, did not make a very good showing in their games at Los Angeles, but on the turf courts of the Saddle and Cycle club here yesterday they won four straight sets from Waidner and Gardner, the Chicago stars.

The speed and accuracy of Rice and Jones on footing to which they were accustomed showed them to be in great form. The Chicagoans were somewhat handicapped by lack of practice, but on the other hand, it was argued, the visitors had had little time to "stretch their legs" after their long voyage and their three days on the train between Los Angeles and Chicago.

The service of the Australians was practically invincible after they had become "warmed up." Predictions of their success in the East were freely made by local tennis players because of it.

WOLGAST DECLINES TO MAKE WEIGHT.

San Francisco, Cal., May 7.—Ad Wolgast's manager replied today to a telegram from a Los Angeles fight promoter asking him if the former lightweight champion would meet Johnny Dundee of New York in a twenty-round bout in Los Angeles June 3. In his reply the manager said Ad Wolgast would meet Dundee at catch weights and would not attempt to make any specific weight for Dundee.

GIVEN DIVORCE AND SETTLEMENT

Judge Cant has filed findings in favor of Anna Johnson in the contested divorce case which was heard before him in district court last week. Anna Johnson, plaintiff, is granted an absolute divorce from her husband, Alfred Johnson, a tailor residing at Chisholm. The grounds were cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married in 1904 and are parents of one child whom the court has placed in the custody of the mother.

A division of the property was agreed upon between Johnson and his wife, and the court's orders as to alimony were made agreeable to the stipulation which was entered into. Johnson has holdings worth upwards of $20,000. His wife was given a deed to about one-third of his property, including the home at Chisholm.

Beautiful Oriental Rugs

A choice assortment. We do not boast of the size of our stock but we do claim that every piece is a "picked" piece and every piece is properly priced. You do not need to be an expert to buy Oriental Rugs, hero, nevertheless, the better judge you are the better you will appreciate the values.

Do You Need New Window Shades?

If so—phone us and our man will measure up your windows and give you estimates. Our work will be thoroughly good. The shades will not pinhole or crack and the best of spring rollers, which will always work smoothly, will be furnished. We guarantee our work. Let us refer you to some of your neighbors for whom we have done work.

The Famous Whittall Rugs

People who pay attention to art in homefurnishings know the beauty of the famous Whittall Rugs. Some of you have had Whittall Rugs on your floors for ten—fifteen—or twenty years. You know what the wear is.

The reason for this satisfaction lies in the fact that they are made of imported Oriental wools and they are dyed with Oriental dyes and they are hand sewed. The superiority of design is self evident.

We sell Whittall Rugs—in all sizes, and our prices are right.

This Hat Has Style and Tone

So Have All Our Hats! Try Some On.

We are surely doing a fine business in millinery. And we might well expect to, considering the fact that here are clever milliners to fashion the new and distinguished hats so desirably "different," whereas most stores seem to be depending on "factory hats."

Tomorrow there'll be an especially fine lot of smart new hats to sell at Five Dollars.

And of course there'll be other pretty tailored styles to sell at $6.50, $8.00, $10.00 and $12.00.

And semi-dress models at $8.00 to $15.00.

And dress hats at $12.00 to $45.

35c for 50c Silk Mixtures in Kimono Designs

These will be on sale at the Wash Goods Department. There are dark browns in floral and Japanese effects. Regularly 50c, special at 35c the yard.

Unmatchable In Either Style or Value Is This Coat at $20

Twenty dollars has never bought the equal of this coat in its astonishing aggregate of cloth-quality, style-quality and tailoring-quality.

The picture shows the handsome, distinctive style, a feature of which is the half-belt with its over-lapping pearl buttons at the back.

This model is 54 inches long, giving the full measure of protection to the wearer. Made in eponge and whipcords only.

If this were the only model the Wooltex people had turned out this season, it would be safe to let it stand as an example of what Wooltex style and value mean.

When you see this coat, note the quality of the material, the roomy fullness, and the faultless tailoring throughout.

In most materials this model can be had for—$20.

Select your style tomorrow.

CHISHOLM WILL PAY MORE WAGES

Laborers' Pay Increased By Water Board to $2.50 Per Day.

Chisholm, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The water and light commission yesterday afternoon instructed Capt. J. Sullivan to hereafter pay day laborers $2.50, and teamsters $5.50 per day, as well as to increase all other salaries in the department.

A six-inch water main was ordered on Walnut street and Seventh avenue extending the line one block to Sixth. Engineers were ordered to look over the pumping station, getting data relative to installing larger pumps and boilers. Bids will be invited for installing pumps handling 600 to 1,000 gallons a minute.

The commission deferred action on the electrical pumping contract for more complete and detailed information. They will meet again during the month and expect to have everything in line for final disposition of the contract.

Need More Water.

The improvements at the pumping station are entirely outside of the electrical contract will in no wise affect the installation of the new pumps which are now needed and which are to be kept in readiness in case of an emergency, even if the electrical plan, is carried out.

Approximately 600,000 gallons of water is used daily during the summer months, which falls to around 350,000 gallons per day during the early fall months. It is expected to install pumps that will easily take care of 1,500,000 gallons per day if the demand requires it.

CANNOT REFUND LICENSE MONEY

Virginia Council So Advised and Pat Sullivan Loses Out.

Virginia, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to an opinion by Attorney General Smith, obtained by City Attorney D. D. Morgan, the council will not return to Pat Sullivan any part of the unused portion of his saloon license which was revoked for law violation. The attorney general's ruling read to the council last night stated that the council has no power to make any refund; that the aldermen would be liable for malfeasance in office if they voted to make the refund; also that the disbursing city officers would have no right to make the payment even if the council sanctioned the payment.

A large number of dealers in cigarettes made application for licenses under the new law, and all were referred to the city attorney to report on in a week.

The Mesaba Electric Railway company applied for permission to build a "Y" at Pine street near the center of the city and this privilege will be granted on condition that late cars be run to the central station which now stop at the car barns. The salary of the city engineer was fixed at $200 per month for May, June and July and the assistant at $125 for the same three months.

TO REOPEN M. E. CHURCH.

Virginia Edifice Is Being Generally Overhauled.

Virginia, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Methodist church, which is being overhauled and generally improved at an expenditure of several thousand dollars, will be used again Sunday, June 1, according to the pastor, Rev. Thomas Grice. Bishop Quayle will come here, as will Rev. E. K. Copper of Duluth, district superintendent; Rev. Dr. M. P. Burns, district superintendent of Minneapolis, and Rev. Charles Oaten, former pastor, now of the Lester Park church, Duluth. Chief among the improvements to the church are a new foundation, new heating plant and complete redecoration of the interior.

NO AXES TO GRIND.

Virginia's New Police Chief Will Enforce Liquor Laws.

Virginia, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Richard Rice, the new chief of police, is right on the job. He says he has no axes to grind and will enforce all laws.

"I enter upon my duties with no one to reward and no one to punish," the new chief declared to the press. "I shall treat all the same. Friends and enemies look alike to me when it comes to discharging my duties as head of the police department. I shall play no favorites."

Asked as to his policy in regard to the saloons, he said:

"I intend to enforce all laws to the letter. The policy of the city council in regard to saloons, as outlined in the letters sent to all saloon keepers some time ago, will be my guide. The state laws regulating the sale of liquor will be enforced."

Chief of Police Rice has been a resident of Virginia for a number of years, the greater part of which time he has been employed as a sawyer at Virginia & Rainy Lake lumber mill. It is said he has had experience as a police officer and will be equal to his new position.

James Stickney, the newly appointed acting chief of the fire department, is a trained fireman and has been a member of the Virginia fire fighting force for a number of years, serving a large part of that time in the capacity of assistant chief.

$3.50 Recipe Free, For Weak Men.

Send Name and Address Today--You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his health, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4671 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

HIBBING TO SPEND $150,000 IN PAVING

P. McDonnell of Duluth One of Five Bidders Competing.

Hibbing, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Records for big paving contracts in this section went to smash last night when the village council opened bids for paving twenty blocks in line with the new policy of improving the streets and alleys, even to paving the latter, at an estimated cost of about $150,000. Five bids were opened, one of which, P. McDonnell's, came from Duluth. Linder & Co. and Coons & Co., both of Hibbing, are said to be the lowest bidders, but the contract will not be awarded until the council decides the matter at another meeting tonight.

Those Who Bid.

The bids follow: General Contracting company, Minneapolis, 80 cents for excavating; $2.45 per cubic yard for bitulithic.

Linder & Co., Hibbing, 81 cents for excavating; $2.33 for 3-inch creosoted blocks; $2.49 for 3½-inch blocks; $2.43 for bitulithic.

P. McDonnell, Duluth, 65 cents for excavating; $2.20 for donnellite; $2.40 vitrified brick; $2.10 sheet asphalt.

Coons & Butler, Hibbing, 55 cents for excavating; $2.33 for 3-inch creosoted blocks; $2.56 for 3½-inch; $2.42 for bitulithic.

Fielding & Shepley, St. Paul, 65 cents for excavating; $2.33 for 3-inch creosoted blocks; $2.58 for 3½ inch, and $2.40 for bitulithic.

The streets to be paved are Superior, Mahoning, Sellers, Washington, Lincoln and Garfield streets from Second to Fourth avenues; Second and Third avenues from Pine to North streets; Pine and Center streets from Third to Fourth avenues, and Fourth avenue from the railroad to the north side of McKinley street, a total of 36,724 yards.

MINISTER FINED FOR NETTING FISH

Mill City Clergyman, With Summer Home Near Duluth, Mulcted $10.

Virginia, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—K. E. Forsell, a Lutheran clergyman of Minneapolis, a graduate of Harvard and Yale, was arrested at Dunham Lake, on the Canadian Northern railway, half way between Virginia and Duluth, Tuesday, charged with netting fish. The game warden seized the illegally caught fish and 100 feet of gill net. Mr. Forsell owns land on the lake, and is building a summer home there. He was fined $100 and costs in court here and $90 remitted because he is a clergyman.

Charles Carlson, Ed. Norstrom and John Johnson, charged with violating the game laws were fined $10 each.

WILL OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Hibbing Will Again Pay Honor to Nation's Heroic Dead.

Hibbing, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lieut. J. L. Lewis, chairman of last year's Memorial day committee, has called a meeting of all citizens interested in fitting observance of Memorial day to be held at the council chamber of the city hall, Friday night, to take steps for a formal observance of Memorial day.

Tentative plans are to have speaking at the Auditorium, a parade of the school children and Company M forming an escort for the veterans to the Hibbing cemetery headed by the band, with the usual services there.

Hibbing this year has but four old soldiers to honor on Memorial day: Joe Moran, A. J. Pool, Thomas Dougherty and Nat Frazer. Last year's Memorial day observance was one of the most elaborate ever held on the range and it is hoped to arouse sufficient interest to make the one this year quite as good.

ATKINSON BOOMS CROSBY.

Editor Tells Hibbing Cuyuna Range Town Is Some Place.

Hibbing, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the Cuyuna range has one of the greatest futures of any iron mining region in the world and that at the present time it offers business opportunities that are unequalled anywhere in this section, is the opinion of Editor C. M. Atkinson of Crosby, who came here Sunday for a short visit with his family.

"The future of Crosby is assured," said he. "It is now enjoying a healthy growth that is not exceeded by any town in Minnesota. It is a model town in every respect and it is going to be, as it is now, the metropolis of the new range. It is one of the most ideal home towns in Minnesota, with one of the finest lakes in the state at its door. The builders of Crosby have profited by the mistakes of the other towns on the Minnesota iron ranges and they are making a city there that backed by a wealth of natural resource, has a magnificent future."

HIBBING ALUMNI TO HAVE BANQUET.

Hibbing, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The alumni of the Hibbing high school will have their first banquet at the gymnasium of the new Lincoln school Friday evening, June 20. The association was organized last year and it was decided at that time to hold an annual banquet during the summer when more of the alumni are available than at any other time of the year for the reason that they are home from the various schools and colleges.

Wisconsin Students on Range.

Virginia, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eighteen students of the geological department of the University of Wisconsin are spending several days inspecting the mines, under Prof. C. K. Leith. They will visit mines at Virginia, Chisholm, Buhl and Hibbing.

ELECTRIC LINE MAY BE EXTENDED

Tower Hopes Mesaba Range System Will Be Built to Lake Vermilion.

Tower, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reported that the Mesaba Electric railway has found the line already in operation so successful that the line will be extended to Tower and Lake Vermilion. It has been decided, according to the report, to build from Biwabik north to Tower, a distance of about twenty miles. Surveyors will soon be put in the field to lay out a practicable route and construction will be hurried along to complete the line in time for travel for the lake season of 1914.

The construction of this line would give a direct line from the Mesaba range to the famous lake and with hourly service, would encourage a large amount of travel to this resort. The present railway south via Allen Junction, is a very roundabout way and the tedious waits and change of cars at that point make the trip from the other range to this place anything but a pleasant one.

The new line would create a large Lake Vermilion business and be a factor in the building of many cottages on the lake shore by residents of Virginia, Eveleth and other places, who now find it too inconvenient to get to from this famous resort.

CHEAPER PHONE RATES.

Mesaba Telephone Company Has Cut Price of Talking.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mesaba Telephone company announced a new toll rate. Instead of the flat rate of $1.10 for three minutes to Minneapolis, the rate is 40 cents for the first minute and 30 cents for each minute thereafter. The rate to Hibbing, which has been 25 cents for three minutes, will hereafter be 20 cents for two minutes and 5 cents for each additional minute. To Virginia the rate has been changed from 40 cents for three minutes to 20 cents for two minutes and 10 cents for each additional minute. The rates will be halved after 9 at night.

Virginia Likes It.

Virginia, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new telephone rates recently established by the Mesaba Telephone company are proving popular. The "minute rate" to Duluth is one of the best features. It is 20 cents for the first minute and 10 cents for each additional minute. Heretofore patrons who desired to connect with Duluth were required to pay 50 cents for a three-minute rate.

GRAND RAPIDS HIGH TO CLOSE ON JUNE 5.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school will close June 5. Sunday, June 1, will be observed as baccalaureate Sunday; Monday and Tuesday evenings will be given over to the class play, "The Private Secretary," which is now in rehearsal; Wednesday will be class day, and the final exercises will be held on Thursday.

Cards will be distributed by Prof. O. W. Holmes, head of the agricultural department of the schools, notifying all pupils of the plan to continue the school garden plots this season, under the direction of the department head.

The garden plot is already being put in shape, and the children will begin work shortly.

The annual exhibit of the manual training department of the high school will take place in the workshop of the school Thursday, May 29, from 7 until 10.

DULUTH FIRM TO DECORATE THEATER.

Hibbing, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cowan & Zimmerman of Duluth have been awarded the contract for decorating the New Power theater and will have a force of workmen here as soon as the carpenters and finishers are out of the way. The contract for the painting of all new scenery for the stage has been let to a St. Paul firm. It is expected to be ready for delivery in a short time. The woodworkers are expected to complete their labors in about ten days or two weeks when the new furniture and equipment will be installed. The date for the formal opening of the new house has not yet been fixed, but with favorable progress from this time on it should be ready for business some time in June.

Rheumatic Blood is Whole Story

Sciatica, Lumbago, and Dreaded Articular Rheumatism Cured.

You Will Feel Like an Acrobat After Using S. S. S.

There is a host of pills, powders, tablets and what-not for rheumatism, but they all lack the first essential to being a natural medicine. To begin with, rheumatism is simply a name given to designate a variety of pains, and can only be reached by irrigating the entire blood supply with a naturally assimilative antidote. True, the pains may be eased with narcotics or the acids may be neutralized for the time being. But such methods merely temporize and do not even lead to a cure. There is but one standard rheumatism remedy, and is sold in all drug stores under the name of S. S. S.

It contains only pure vegetable elements and is absolutely free of mercury, iodide of potash or arsenic, and has proved a wonder for every form of rheumatism.

The recoveries of all types of rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. is a fine tribute to the natural efficacy of this remarkable medicine, for it is assimilated just as naturally, just as specifically, and just as well ordained as the most acceptable, most palatable and most readily digested food. Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day. You will be astonished at the results. If your rheumatism is of such a nature that you would like to consult a great specialist confidentially, write to The Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

RAIN

The temperature dropped to 32 deg. again last night, which doesn't give much encouragement to the impatient garden enthusiasts. Today is gray and cool and the weather man comes forward with a prediction of showers for tonight or Thursday.

Fair weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:42 and it will set at 7:26 this evening, giving fourteen hours and forty-four minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Light to killing frosts occurred last night over Upper Michigan, Wisconsin, Northeastern Minnesota, Iowa and Northern Illinois. Light to copious rains fell during Tuesday or last night over Manitoba, Western Minnesota, Southeastern North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Eastern Tennessee and Louisiana and rain or snow over Alberta. Conditions favor occasional rains and northeasterly winds at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 7.—General forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7. p. m. Thursday:

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight with frost; Thursday cloudy.

Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Thursday, becoming unsettled in west portion by Thursday night; warmer tonight.

Minnesota—Showers tonight or Thursday; warmer in northeast portion tonight.

Iowa—Increasing cloudiness with probably showers tonight or Thursday; warmer tonight.

North Dakota—Probably showers tonight or Thursday.

South Dakota—Probably showers tonight or Thursday; warmer in west portion tonight.

Montana—Increasing cloudiness with probably showers tonight or Thursday.

Upper Lakes—Light to moderate variable winds and fair weather tonight and Thursday.

DOCK STRIKE OFF.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The night shift at the ore docks which went out last Thursday because it was claimed they did not get as good a raise as day men, is off and nearly all of the men have returned to work, having decided to accept the 15 cent raise. About 1,100 cars are arriving at the docks daily now, or about 4,000 tons.

Shooting Accidental.

Gilbert, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald Judge Anderson yesterday afternoon dismissed the assault charge preferred against Leo Bannen, clerk in a store, who accidentally shot Eli Vivovich while demonstrating a pistol to the latter, his claim of not knowing the weapon was loaded being substantiated. The bullet went through Vivovich's hand.

Martin Mancer pleaded guilty to assaulting Gabel Plesha and paid a fine of $40 and costs. The men quarreled at their boarding house Sunday and a fight resulted.

Fined for Beating Horse.

Hibbing, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mike Demarko was haled in Judge Brady's court yesterday and fined $5 and costs. Demarko was arrested at Stevenson for brutally beating a horse belonging to Butler Bros., which he had driven from Buhl by Officer Morris O'Donnel. Examination showed that the animal was improperly hitched up and was being driven ahead of a heavy load wearing a collar several sizes too small which was causing it much distress. Demarko stopped his rig in the street at Stevenson and was kicking and cuffing the animal and sawing on the lines when arrested. He was given a severe roasting by Judge Brady.

Eveleth Girl to Wed.

Eveleth, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Rose Wiegle, who has lived nearly all her life here and is very popular, will be married this evening at 6:30 at St. Patrick's church, to Edwin F. Johnson of Elbow Lake, Minn., formerly clerk in a local store, Rev. Father Culligan officiating, in the presence of a few people. A wedding supper at the home of Mrs. Robert Meyers, the bride's sister, at the Fayal location, will follow the ceremony. After a honeymoon trip the couple will reside at Elbow Lake.

Is Building Dublin Road.

Hibbing, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—John McHale, the successful bidder for the construction of the Dublin road, running south of the Du Pont Power company's Wilpin plant, has started a force of men on the work of construction. The Dublin road opens up a good highway for a number of farmers. Samuel Brady has been appointed inspector of the road for the township.

Virginia Elks Dedication.

Virginia, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Saturday, May 31, the Elks will dedicate the new building recently opened. There will be many visiting Elks here and Thomas B. Mills of Superior, grand exalted ruler, will be the chief speaker.

BIG TEMPERANCE MEETING PLANNED.

Columbus, Ohio, May 7.—The headquarters committee of the Anti-Saloon League of America announces that Columbus has been selected for the biennial convention and celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the organization, to be held Nov. 10 and 11. All religious congregations and temperance organizations will be asked to send representatives.

SUPERINTENDING THE NEW BREAD PLANT.

William Zinmaster of Des Moines, Iowa, is in the city superintending the erection of the building which his son and partner will occupy soon for a huge bread plant. The firm will be known as the Zinmaster & Smith Bread company, and consists of W. H. Zinmaster and Raymond F. Smith, who come here from Des Moines to go into the business.

The plant will be at Twenty-ninth avenue west and Superior street and the construction of the building is already under way. Bricklaying on the first story is well along but Contractor Lounsberry is handicapped because of the difficulty of obtaining material. The building will have ground dimensions of 75 by 100 feet and it is expected that it will be complete between Aug. 1 and 10.

H. W. Zinsmaster, one of the proprietors of the new plant, came to Duluth today with his bride. Since his former visit to this city Mr. Zinsmaster has taken a long honeymoon through Florida, South Carolina and other parts of the South.

At the Spalding today Mr. Zinsmaster placed Duluth after his name. "This city looks good to me," he said. "The more I see of it the better I like it. Mrs. Zinsmaster and myself had a very pleasant trip. But truly I am glad to get back to Duluth. I feel as if I were one of you right now. This is to be my home from now on and when I got here today it seemed just like getting home."

Romance in Overalls.

Mott, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Romance in overalls may result from the finding of the names of Misses Alvina Knack and Lena Kroske of Princeton, Wis., in the pockets of a pair of overalls purchased by a young farmer of this neighborhood. The girls asked that the purchaser, if single, should write and have some young friend correspond. Several Hettinger county farmers are now seeking Wisconsin brides.

Thirteen Made Blind.

New York, May 7.—Thirteen persons in the state of New York were made blind for life and four others were killed during the last twelve months either by drinking wood alcohol or inhaling the poisonous fumes. This information was published in the fourth annual report of the New York committee on the prevention of blindness.

MOTORMAN SAVES CHILD

Little Elizabeth McLaughlin Has Narrow Escape From Death.

Motorman Drops the Track Scrapers When Girl Goes Under Fender.

Elizabeth, the 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McLaughlin of Twenty-fourth street, Park Point, owes her life to the quick work of Ole Kolstad, motorman of the Interstate Traction company, late yesterday afternoon.

The little girl was playing on the sidewalk between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth street. As the car was within a short distance of where the girl was playing she started across the track. On crossing the first rail she tripped and fell across the other rail.

The car was within a few feet when she fell and the motorman quickly applied the brakes and reversed the power. This failed to stop the car in time so he dropped the scrapers as he noticed the child disappear beneath the fender.

The car slid about ten feet further. The passengers and the crew quickly got off the car fully expecting to find the mangled body of the child under the wheels. Instead the child had been dragged along the rails by the scrapers and as the car stopped she crawled out. She had only received minor scratches.

WEIGHS DOWN BODY.

Brother of Hope, N. D., Pair Takes Life Near Cottonwood, Minn.

Cottonwood, Minn., May 7.—Fishermen in Lake Slipper Monday pulled from five feet of water the body of Lester W. Knodle, living five miles southeast of here, who disappeared from home April 14, leaving a note telling his wife if he did not return in three days to sell some horses and pay a mortgage and debts amounting to $400.

Knodle had wound a rope three times around his neck, a sack of stones weighing about sixty-five pounds being used for the other end of the rope. The coroner found it to be a case of suicide.

The dead man left father and mother in Myrtle, Ill., a sister in Elkton, N. D., and two brothers near Hope, N. D.

SERGEANT WAY ON JOB.

For Aid to Special Agent Johnson Watching Package Shipments.

Devils Lake, N. D., May 7.—Sergeant Way, who spent several months with "Pussyfoot" Johnson, government special agent in Minnesota when territory once in Indian reservations was threatened with being made "dry," is now with F. L. Watkins of the North Dakota Enforcement league. He arrived in Devils Lake Monday, and yesterday began checking freight and express shipments of liquor into the city, finding several irregularities.

TWO BUTTE MEN SHOT.

Probably Fatally Wounded When They Banter With Highwaymen.

Butte, Mont., May 7.—Harry Drumm, deputy clerk of the United States court and a prominent citizen, was shot three times, and Theodore Thomas, secretary of the Butte Mining exchange, one of Butte's best-known men, was shot twice Monday night by two masked desperadoes within the full glare of a corner light.

Both men will die, their bodies being fairly riddled with lead.

The highwaymen began shooting when Thomas banteringly asked them "Is this a joke?" They then fled without attempting to rob the men. Thomas assisted Drumm to a hospital and then walked five blocks to his room before he realized that he, too, had been wounded. The police have arrested two men on suspicion.

FORMER DULUTHIAN'S CHURCH CELEBRATES.

Rochester, Minn., May 7.—Calvary Episcopal church of this city, of which Rev. Arthur H. Wurtelle, formerly dean of Trinity pro-cathedral at Duluth, is rector, yesterday celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. Bishop Edsall preached the jubilee sermon yesterday afternoon, and last evening Rev. W. W. Fowler, rector emeritus and for twenty-two years rector of the church, preached the historical sermon, which was followed by a reception. Bishop E. Frank McElwain, suffragan bishop of Minnesota, assisted in the ceremonies.

Reorganize Rumleys.

Chicago, May 7.—The entire reorganization of the Rumley company, manufacturers of agricultural implements of La Porte, Ind., is to be effected.

Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company, will succeed A. J. Rumley as president. According to the reported plans, Edward A. Rumley, vice president and general manager, and J. J. Rumley, president, will resign.

The change in the management was decided on by the New York bankers who financed the enlarged Rumley company. Over-expansion of the business of the Rumley company is said to have brought its affairs into an unsatisfactory condition.

To Mother After Years.

Mott, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hurrying to Philadelphia to see a mother from whom she had been separated since she was 4 years old, Mrs. Edward Smith, the wife of a local baker, is anticipating a joyful reunion. Force of circumstances compelled her mother to permit a family to adopt Mrs. Smith when the latter was 4. Her adopted parents moved West and she never saw or heard from her mother till recently she learned her parent was alive and in Philadelphia, and the reunion was arranged.

Fort Rice Wants Ferry.

Fort Rice, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The merchants of Fort Rice are indignant over the rumor that the Marsh Bros. are to remove the ferry from this point to some place up the river. The ferry has been operated across the Missouri for two years and has brought considerable trade to this point.

CATARRH

Treated With Electro Ozone Is Superb Treatment.

Catarrhal troubles are far more dangerous than they seem at first thought.

If you have catarrh, usually indicated by sniffling, stopped-up head, droppings in throat, and morning choking, there is an irritated state of the mucous membrance which affords an ideal lodgment and culture medium for disease germs, especially those of consumption.

Do not allow the dangerous germs which may be breathed into the throat and lungs to begin their work of destruction.

The easiest, simplest, quickest, surest and cheapest way to check catarrh is by the direct method of Electro Ozone administered by the Electro Medical Doctors. This wonderful medicated Ozone treatment does not drug and derange the stomach, but is breathed in through the Ozonator, directly following and destroying all disease germs that may have been inhaled, and healing and vitalizing the tissues of the throat, nose and lungs so as to render catarrh and all other germs infections no longer possible.

If you want to get rid of your catarrh you surely can, because our method does cure. Many doubtful patients came, and they had tried so many remedies without good results, but after they had taken a few Electro Medical treatments they were entirely convinced of the curative power of Electro Ozone, and they blessed the day when they stepped in the office of the Electro Medical Doctors. They have ample proof, which can be shown you when you call.

TRIBAL VOTE IS SETTLED

One Vote to Every 100 Indians Is Basis at Cass Lake Council.

Good Feeling Prevails at Notable Gathering of Chippewa Indians.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The big Chippewa Indian council, which began here yesterday, spent several hours this morning debating the report of the credentials committee. The utmost patience and good will seems to obtain and where differences arise they are impassionately discussed and finally voted on. The convention finally decided to seat all delegates present, allowing each tribe a full vote of delegates on the basis of one vote to every 100 Indians in the tribe.

Some delegations have almost twice the required number present, but all finally agreed that the voting should be done by tribes according to the numerical strength of the tribe and not of the delegation.

A spectator who has seen congress in Washington at work says the parliamentarians among these Indians are as good as the average congressmen. The convention is now forming a permanent organization.

There are in attendance representatives of the Red Lake, Leech Lake, Bear Island, Mille Lacs, Chippewa of the Mississippi, Winnibigoshish, Fond du Lac, Grand Portage, Nett Lake, White Oak Point and Cass Lake bands.

Ernest Prosser Holcombe, chief supervisor of the United States Indian service, is here as a representative of the government to learn what is being done. John W. Carl of Mahnomen was elected chairman and H. W. Warren of Bena, secretary of the convention.

Both made addresses explaining objects of the meeting fully which is to organize in such a manner that representatives be chosen who may act for all tribes in their dealings with the Indian department of the government.

Bishop Morrison Speaks.

Bishop J. D. Morrison of Duluth addressed the council yesterday afternoon and commended the Indians for their finally getting together in such a meeting. He reviewed the history of the past fifty years and told what the Episcopal church has done for the Indians. He counseled them to remember that they represent all Indians of their respective tribes and to bear patiently with each other if differences of opinion should arise; that they should use judgment, take time and allow full and free expression of opinion and then do what would be best for all. He counseled them to elect as their representatives men whom they could trust and support them to the end. That they should not forget to consider the education of children, care of sick and poor. He told them they were pursuing the wrong course now and if wisdom prevailed the time would come when they would have a standing committee whose advice would be heard and respected by the government officials.

Beaulieu On Indian's Loss.

After Bishop's address Gus H. Beaulieu of the White Earth Indians gave a review of cases in which the interests of the Indians had been grossly neglected. He called attention to the many thousand acres of swamp lands which have been appropriated by the state at a loss to the Indians of approximately $1,200,000. He claimed that there should be at the present time about $7,425,000 due the Indians under the act of 1889, when as a matter of fact there is only something over $4,000,000 on hand. He estimated that the amount that ought to be due each Indian should be about $740, and the annual interest to each Indian at about $15. He urged upon the meeting that action be taken looking to the obtaining for the Indians of the large amounts due them. The proceedings are being conducted in English and interpreters interpret all remarks into Chippewa or vice versa.

Some Who Are Present.

Among the more prominent Indians present are Ain-dus-o-geshig, Mille Las chief; Red Blanket, Leech Lake chief; Mooze-o-mou, Winnibigoshish chief; Joe Cherrette, White Earth chief; John W. Coffey, merchant of Coffeyville; N. J. Head of Red Lake; Gus H. Beaulieu, E. J. Warren and Julius Brown of White Earth. After the foregoing addresses the council appointed a credentials committee and adjourned till tomorrow morning. On account of all proceedings being interpreted the convention may last several days. The convention appointed Miss Maude Partridge, official stenographer.

WILL TALK OF PLANS FOR SAVING G. O. P.

Cummins, Clapp and Others Will Meet in Chicago This Week.

Washington, May 7.—Progressive Republican senators, representatives and state leaders, will confer informally in Chicago on Saturday or Monday to discuss plans of the Republican party and the advisability of holding a national convention next fall. Senator Cummins, leading the movement, has extended invitations to liberal leaders of the party who did not join the Progressive party after the Chicago convention last June.

"It will not be a reorganization conference," said Senator Cummins today, "but one merely to talk things over."

Senator Borah talked today with Senator Cummins about the conference. Some of the other senators said to be in sympathy with the conference plans and who will attend if possible are Bristow of Kansas, Clapp of Minnesota, Kenyon of Iowa, La Follette of Wisconsin, Works of California, Norris of Nebraska, Gronna of North Dakota, and Crawford of South Dakota.

Governor Hadley of Missouri also is expected.

"BORAX" SMITH HIRES BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Financier Finds Interests Too Complicated for Him to Handle.

San Francisco, Cal., May 7.—Frank M. ("Borax") Smith, nationally known as one of the financial powers of the state and leading spirit in a score of financial operations of the first magnitude, has vested in boards of trustees the management and direction of all his personal and financial interests.

The transfer of the management of his personal financial interests is conveyed to one board of trustees, five in number, by a deed of agreement of trust executed to the Mercantile Trust Company of San Francisco. This board is empowered to "assay" the mass of Smith's personal holdings and to adjust these so that each shall proceed without danger of interruption.

Additional extensive interests held by Smith in alliance with R. G. Hanford and W. S. Tevis, include the United Properties corporation, organized in 1910 with a capitalization of $2,000,000.

The second board of trustees is named to rearrange and direct the concerns of the United Properties corporation.

The new arrangement was deemed advisable by reason of the great complexity that Smith's operations had attained and by the multiplicity of loans found necessary to carry them on.

QUICKLY STOPS THE WORST BACKACHE

Makes Kidney Troubles, Bladder Disorders, and Rheumatic Pains Vanish.

If you suffer with backaching kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders, or are tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, the new discovery, Croxone, will quickly and surely relieve all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves, and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy, and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such, that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back, and sides or have any signs of kidney, bladder trouble, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

THE NEW DULUTH COMMERCIAL CLUB BANQUET

SAYS SAN FRANCISCO FACES WATER FAMINE

W. B. Bourn Predicts Shortage of Supply There in 1915.

San Francisco, Cal., May 7.—W. B. Bourn, president of the concern that supplies San Francisco with water, is author for the statement that if present conditions continue the city will face a water famine during 1915, the exposition year. The present supply of about 40,000,000 gallons per day will not be adequate in 1915, he said, and while water rates are kept at their present level his company would be unable to extend its water system to keep pace with the increasing demand.

Farmer Attacked By Bull.

St. Cloud, Minn., May 7.—H. Pekrek, aged 70, a farmer, is lying at death's door as the result of injuries sustained by being attacked by an angry bull. Pekrek suffered a broken leg and internal injuries, and his recovery is doubtful.

St. Paul Detective Vindicated.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—Chief of Detectives J. M. Fielding, who was charged with having received from John Beasley, a negro, a diamond which the latter had found, without making proper report at headquarters, was vindicated Tuesday, when Judge Orr dismissed the case.

CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

Gently Cleanses the Stomach, Liver and Waste-Clogged Bowels.

Every mother immediately realizes after giving her child delicious Syrup of Figs that this is the ideal laxative and physic for the children. Nothing else regulates the little one's stomach, liver and 30 feet of tender bowels so promptly, besides they dearly love its delightful fig taste.

If your child isn't feeling well; resting nicely; eating regularly and acting naturally it is a sure sign that its little insides need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or your little one has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated; give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the foul, constipated, clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it cannot be harmful.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given to-day will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

BAD MONEY PLANT NEAR MINNEAPOLIS

City and Federal Sleuths Believe Headquarters Is Somewhere Nearby.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The police of Minneapolis and government agents are seeking a supposed counterfeiters' rendezvous, just outside of the city, but in Anoka county. A man who gave his name as W. F. Bragg was arrested today, charged with having passed counterfeit silver dollars at several stores within the last two days.

According to the police three counterfeit silver dollars were found in Bragg's clothing, when searched at headquarters.

Assistant United States District Attorney J. M. Dickey swore out a warrant for Bragg's arrest and said the government would begin a search for the alleged counterfeiters' rendezvous this afternoon.

JURY SECURED TO TRY JACK JOHNSON

"Scandal Fans" Are Barred From Judge Carpenter's Court.

Chicago, May 7.—A jury to try "Jack" Johnson, the negro boxer, charged with violation of the white slave act in transporting Belle Schreiber from Pittsburg to Chicago in 1910, was completed in Federal Judge Carpenter's court today and it was expected that counsel in the case would make their opening statements this afternoon.

Harry A. Parkin, assistant United States attorney, who is prosecuting the case, was relieved to learn from agents of the department of justice that "Yank" Kenney, formerly one of the defendants's trainers, still is in this city. Kenney was lost to the sight of the department agents last Friday and was reported in various cities until his whereabouts became known today. He is regarded as one of the principal witnesses of the prosecution.

"Scandal fans," as the bailiffs termed them, crowded the corridor outside the Federal court today in expectation of the beginning of testimony in the case, but they were denied admission and gradually dispersed after having seen the negro defendant enter the court.

RAID RICH MEN'S CLUB IN PROBE FOR VICE

Exclusive Los Angeles Body Named By Girl 15 Years Old.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 7.—The Bachelors' club, an organization of wealthy men quartered in an exclusive section of the city, was subjected to a police investigation today following disclosures made by a 15-year-old girl of certain alleged acts of some of its members.

Irene Hagberg, the girl who was detained in connection with the present vice probe, made a statement to the police officials, it is said, involving members of the club, which resulted in the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of one person, whose identity was not made public.

BINGHAM CHIEF OF FARGO POLICE.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. K. Bingham was the first appointee of the new city commission, being selected for chief of police. He was a city detective some years ago and more recently chief deputy sheriff of this county. Chief Keefe, who has been an issue in municipal campaigns, may resist giving up the office on the ground that he was appointed for two full years.

NEW YORK GUNMEN MURDER ANOTHER MAN

Antonio Scamorino, Formerly of Dayton, Ohio, Latest Victim.

New York, May 7.—Gunmen of the East side killed their fifth man within four days today. He was Antonio Scamorino, formerly of Dayton, Ohio. The assassin used a shotgun, firing from the shadow of a doorway and escaped.

The four other recent murders include that of David Minzer, shot during the rush hour last night by three gangsters on the Williamsburg bridge.

One thousand guests have been invited to the wedding. Tonight the couple will start on their honeymoon journey. They will arrive in London June 15.

FIGHT WITH SWORDS.

French Duellists Meet and One Is Seriously Wounded.

Paris, May 7.—A sword duel arising out of a quarrel three years ago was fought today between H. C. Berger, son of a Paris deputy, and Georges Breittmayer, both noted fencers. They met this morning on a lawn of the Chateau d'Orly, about seven miles south of Paris. Berger received a serious wound in the right breast.

As under the French law no duel may be fought in secret, the combat was witnessed by fifty well known Parisians and a large body of reporters.

Breittmayer afterward visited his wounded opponent at his home, with the permission of the surgeons, and a reconciliation was effected.

The duel had been delayed owing to the marriage of Berger. A short time ago he quarreled with another man and challenged him to fight, but according to the French code of honor the duel could not be fought until he had first crossed swords with Breittmayer. The second duel will take place as soon as Berger has recovered.

MICHIGAN PRIEST MADE PRELATE.

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 7.—In the presence of hundreds of Catholic priests, dignitaries and laymen, Father F. A. O'Brien of this city today was made a domestic prelate upon the order of Pope Pius X. Archbishop Henry Moeller of Cincinnati presided at the service in St. Augustine's church and the sermon was preached by Bishop Muldoon of Rockford, Ill.

Brazilian Duties Unchanged.

Rio Janeiro, May 7.—It is stated that the Brazilian government has decided to maintain the tariff reductions heretofore granted American products. The Brazilian congress authorized the continuance of favorable duties on such products as flour and cement, but the decree necessary to make it effective has not yet been issued.

To Revise Thief River Charter.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 7.—The committee of fifteen appointed by Judge Grindeland to prepare for the commission form of government perfected organization by the election of Mayor Lars Backe as chairman, County Auditor A. Pasel, secretary, and M. E. Stanton, legal adviser. It is the purpose of the committee to hasten the completion of the charter and to submit it to the voters at an early date.

FILE ANSWER IN MARINE SUIT

The Great Lakes Coal & Dock company, through its attorneys, Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, yesterday filed an answer in the United States court to the suit for damages brought by the Seither Transit company.

The libellant claims that as owner of the steamer Grammer it brought a cargo of 6,108 tons and 700 pounds of coal to the Superior dock of the Great Lakes' company on Dec. 1, 1912, that the coal was unloaded by Dec. 11 and that on the same day the company paid only $1,832.40 when presented with a bill of lading for $4,275.85. The Seither company now sues for $2,442.35, the balance of the bill, and 6 per cent interest on the amount since Dec. 11, 1912.

In the answer the respondent denies the allegation of the complainant in almost every instance, even to the delivery of the coal at the Superior dock.

PREPARE TO HANDLE GRAND TRUNK CARS.

Bowbells, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a bridge construction crew working on this line of the Great Northern, increasing the strength of bridges and in several places putting in new bridges, it is practically certain that the connection with the Grand Trunk railroad is to be made soon. The so-called Niobe extension was commenced last fall, but was not completed then. The bridge crew is working in anticipation of the heavier traffic that will result when the through connection to Canada is established.

"MOST REMARKABLE CHILD IN THE WORLD"

BEULAH MILLER.

Beulah Land Miller has been declared by some investigators the most remarkable child of her age in the world. She is believed to possess wonderful telepathic powers and she has even been credited with "an X-ray eye." Beulah lives in Warren, R. I., and is the daughter of David F. Miller, a contractor. She began to display her peculiar powers to her family some time ago. Doctors were called in. Then newspaper reporters investigated her case. Finally scientists took hold of it.

Beulah was reported to be able to tell the denomination of a card, the date of a coin, and the number of a watch while these objects were concealed from her sight. The last investigator to study her case was Prof. Munsterberg of Harvard. He reports that though the child is certainly remarkable she is simply a thought reader. He says that quite unconsciously to them or herself she reads indications of the solution of a problem in the faces of members of her family. He found that she could not "X-ray" anything unless her people knew it, and that when her family were absent from the room her powers failed or became mere guess work.

Ideal Seeding Weather.
Crookston, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The weather so far this week has been ideal for seeding operations. About 75 per cent of the wheat and oats is seeded, most of the farmers having finished wheat seeding. The first farmer in Polk county to finish all seeding was Alfred Radke who wound up his wheat, oats, flax and barley last Saturday. He has 320 acres, and is now preparing his corn and potato ground and waiting for hot weather in which to plant them. Heavy sales of gas tractor plows this spring will increase the acreage of coarse grains materially.

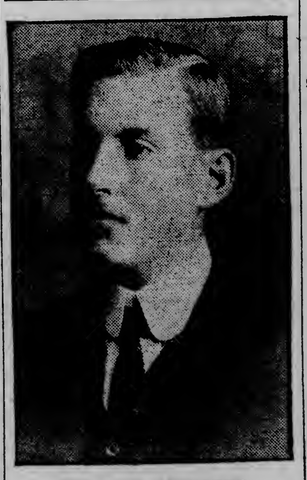
DUKE WITH MILLIONS WILL VISIT AMERICA



DUKE OF LEINSTER.

The duke of Leinster will visit America in the near future and society is already slitting up and taking notice. He is an Irishman of 27 and good looking. What is more interesting to his entertainers is the fact that he is unmarried. If he finds an American bride it will not be in search for dollars, for the duke is reputed to be worth $10,000,000. He is one of two marriageable dukes left in England.

GERMANY NOISELESS.

The Outlook: The laws governing noises in Germany are severe. For instance, according to the German criminal code, "Whoever in defiance of law and order shall cause a disturbance of the peace or perpetrate a public nuisance is punishable by a fine up to 150 marks ($35.70), or confinement." The law, as interpreted by the courts, does not apply when an individual or a small group of persons is disturbed by noises, but only when the public in general is disturbed.

The term "public in general" is, however, construed to apply to a number of families living in the same house, or to pupils assembled in a public school. If they are disturbed by a barking dog or cackling fowl the owner of the fowl is liable under the law.

The Berlin street ordinances prohibit the playing of music or the crying of wares by hucksters or newspaper venders in the streets, unless permission is first obtained from the police officials, and prohibit the transportation of all articles, such as sheet iron, chains and other metal objects, liable to make a noise, unless packed so as to be noiseless.

But the new ordinances now coming into force are severer still. According to these not only must police permission be obtained for playing music in the streets but also in all cases when played in buildings, it can be heard in the streets. Otherwise, when music is played or sung in rooms which conect with streets, the windows and doors of the rooms must be kept tightly closed! No loud singing, whistling or hurrahing and no bell-ringing (except the jingle of sleighbells) is now allowed in the streets. Moreover, the new ordinances forbid the beating of beds, carpets or clothing in open windows or on balconies connected with the streets. Finally, the new rules require that vehicles without springs shall be driven slowly so as to reduce the noise from the vehicle or its contents to a minimum. These details suggest what might, even in much greater moderation, be accomplished in American streets.

REACTION IN MARKETS

Some Strength Is Caused By the Covering of Shorts.

Wheat Closes Higher Than on Tuesday—Flax Unchanged.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 7.—A slight reaction caused by covering of shorts chiefly, following an earlier decline, left wheat at a higher notch at the close of the market this afternoon than it was yesterday. In May option there was not a trade registered. The close of yesterday in this option was 87⅞c, and the close was put down at 88¾c nominal. In July wheat there was a fair amount of trading. This option opened at 89⅝c bid, unchanged to ⅛c lower than the close of the day before. The tendency during the earlier hours of trading was downward and the close came at an increase over the opening of ⅛@⅜c, closing at 90⅜c asked. Durum closed ½c over yesterday and cash wheat was ¾c under July.

May flax, with no activity to speak of, closed even with yesterday, and July flax closed at ¼c up. September closed unchanged.

Oats registered a rise of ½c and rye and barley remained the same.

Cables were weak at the opening this morning as a result of excellent reports of crops in Russia and America, and improved political conditions. The European markets opened considerably lower than yesterday's closing price. American markets were affected as a reflection of the lower cables and the tendency all along the line was downward.

Toward the noon hour a reaction set in, and the various options began to climb to some degree. It is claimed that this is due entirely to the covering by shorts and also to some slight export business, although that is not accepted as yet as a reason in view of the fact that very little if any exporting of wheat is reported. It is also reported that, on the contrary, exporters are selling in Duluth, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

It is expected by many that very little will turn the market into a strong bearish condition. Europe bought grain in expectation of a war and bought it heavily. Now with the war clearing up the countries across the Atlantic have more grain than they know what to do with, counting that on passage as having arrived, and it is likely that this, together with the fine crop prospects, will cause a decided sag in the market.

On the Duluth board May wheat was totally inactive. July option opened even and fell at first ¼@¼c, but on the reaction went ½@⅝c above the opening. September option, which opened ½c under, enjoyed a rise of ⅛@⅜c over the opening. Durum, May option, which was inactive during the first part of the session, climbed ¼@½c over yesterday's close, and July, after opening ⅛c off, went to ⅛@⅜c over the opening figure.

May flax fell off ½c at the opening, but in sympathy with the other rises and on the strength of a little buying went up ⅜@½c. July flax opened ¼c off, but on the rally went up ⅝@¾c.

Minneapolis wheat stocks show a decrease of 550,000 bu; and of oats, 100,000 bu, in four days. Flour shipments yesterday amounted to 59,329 bbl.

Price Current of Chicago is sending out this interesting and important statement:

"Not since 1903 has there been so brilliant a prospect for the winter wheat as this season. The government report this week should show as high, if not higher, conditions than on April 1, and the abandoned acreage will be at the minimum percentage. Even a decline of ten to fifteen points to harvest would place the yield well above that of last year. The grain will be largely in the central states, where the red winter variety was winter-killed last year, and a good crop of this variety will come to market practically bare and mill stocks nil. Sunday rains now insure good crops in Kansas and Oklahoma. There is still some uncertainty about the extent of the spring wheat acreage and with the hesitancy in the northern end of the

G. D. Reisland of New Leipsic, N. D., is in the city today and was a visitor on the trading floor of the board of trade this morning. He was in the grain business some years ago, deserted it for other walks of life, but is now about to return to his first love. He will represent the Standard Grain company of Duluth in North Dakota, west of the Missouri river. Mr. Reisland said today that crops of wheat west of the Missouri are enjoying the finest prospects they have had in years. Said he:

"The ground froze to the depth of four or five feet and as it is released it keeps the seed in splendid condition. With this much frost in the ground we will not need rain until about the middle of June and a good hard rain some time about then will do the trick in the way of giving us a bountiful yield. Some grain is up three or four inches already.

"Everything, practically, is in wheat. There will be very little flax sown. Of course there will be considerable sod turned this year and that land will be sown to flax, but I venture to say that west of the Missouri, in North Dakota, there will not be 40 per cent of the amount of flax sown that there was last year. The prices are good for flax but the farmers are used to $2 flax and look upon the present prices with disdain."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Depressing Features Cause Weakness in the Wheat Trade.

Chicago, May 7.—Weakness was displayed today by wheat. Depressing features were continuance of good domestic crop conditions and weakness of foreign markets. The lower cables were based not only on the American crop outlook but on very favorable reports from Russia. Opening figures were ¼@½c lower. July began ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c off at 89@89½c. A rally to 89c followed some covering by shorts after the price had dropped to 88⅞c.

Prices improved further on rebuying by traders who had oversold. The close was easy with July at 89⅜@89½c, a net advance of ⅛c.

Corn was irregular. July started unchanged to ⅛c up at 55@55⅛c, touched 55⅛@55¼c on good buying then went back to 55⅛c.

Increased commission house demand later helped values. The close was nervous with July at 55⅝c, a net gain of ⅛c.

Some influential buying gave a firmer tone to oats after a weak opening with July unchanged to ⅛c off at 34⅛@34⅜c. An upturn to 34⅜@34⅛c followed.

Provisions declined a shade to 12½c. Demand was light at first, but improved later. July opened: Pork, $19.17½; lard, $10.70; ribs, $10.95.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

After New Low Records Are Made, Market Has Reaction.

Buying Orders Cause the Shorts to Beat Precipitate Retreat.

New York, May 7.—Bears met determined opposition after they had succeeded in forcing down prices in the early trading today. Weakness of the Harriman stocks was once more the disturbing feature, but when their continued decline threatened to impair the position of the whole market effective support was given.

While prices generally steadied thereafter, there was little appearance of vitality in the market on the upturn and trading grew dull as prices rose.

Gossip regarding the Harriman dissolution wrangle today had to do with unconfirmed reports of the formation of a new syndicate to take over Union Pacific's holdings of Southern Pacific. Bonds were steady.

Mixed changes at the opening today gave the stock market an irregular appearance. The tendency among the leaders was downward, with especial heaviness in stocks which have been conspicuously weak recently. Southern Pacific broke over a point to 93½, a new low figure. Union Pacific fell under yesterday's low price and New Haven and Interborough Metropolitan preferred dropped a point.

The rapidity of the decline of Harrimans brought immediate support and the list rebounded swiftly. Southern Pacific rallied 1¾ and Union Pacific 1⅜ from the lowest, both stocks selling above yesterday's closing. Reading sold a point beyond yesterday's final price, and recoveries elsewhere reached a ⅜ point or more.

Development of weakness in new quarters, together with renewed pressure against Union Pacific carried the market down again. The decline in the general list was trivial, the exportmenace by the bears in short selling having little effect outside the issues directly concerned. New York Central touched a new low level at 100. Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania and American Telephone also lost ground and Woolen preferred broke 2¼.

Stocks that made substantial upward progress in the morning became affected in the scattered liquidation of investment shares and receded to yesterday's close. New low records were made by half a dozen railroads and specialties.

The market closed strong. Buying orders for round amounts of stock made their appearance toward the close, and the short interest beat a precipitate retreat, forcing standing stocks 1@1¼ above yesterday's closing. Washington reports that satisfactory progress was being made in the Harriman dissolution proceedings stimulated the demand for the railroad list.

Cotton Market.

New York, May 7. — Cotton opened firm at an advance of 5 to 9 points on covering by some of yesterday's late sellers and a renewed demand from reactionists who seemed to be encouraged by better cables than due, and the failure of yesterday's predicted rains to materialize in the eastern belt. The eastern belt forecast for continued clear and cooler weather undoubtedly contributed to the advance which carried the active months about 8 to 9 points net higher. The market eased off a point or two.

Spot steady; middling uplands, 12,00; middling gulf, 12.25. Sales, 528 bales.

London Stocks.

London, May 7.—American securities opened quiet and steady. Trading was light during the forenoon, but the market was supported and prices advanced from ¼ to a point over parity. In the early afternoon the tone was uncertain owing to the Pacific merger plan and the lower Wall Street opening, but prices recovered in the last hour and closed steady.

MARINE NEWS

STRUCK BY COAL BUCKET

Engineer Is Thrown Into the Bay and Drowned.

While unloading coal from the steamer A. S. Upson at the Northwestern Fuel company's No. 2 dock in Superior late yesterday afternoon, Charles L. Judd, assistant engineer, was struck by one of the buckets which had snapped from its chain and was thrown into the bay, where he was dronwed.

The chain, it is understood, is guaranteed to hold 3,000 pounds, but while several of the men were lifting the bucket into the boat, it snapped. The bucket fell to the deck of the boat and narrowly missed striking several of the men. Judd was directing the bucket with a guy wire and it is believed was struck by the bucket as it came down, knocking him into the bay.

Judd was not missed for some time, the other men not knowing of the accident. At supper time a search was made for him. Coroner Downs was notified and the water about the dock was dragged. The Duluth life saving station also sent a boat to the scene of the accident, where the men worked until 4 o'clock this morning before the body of Judd was discovered.

An examination made this morning by Coroner Downs showed that Judd's right leg was broken, which, it is believed, was caused by the falling bucket.

The body was taken to the Downs undertaking rooms and will be shipped this evening to Cleveland, his former home.

Judd was 31 years old and is survived by a widow and a 2-year-old daughter in Cleveland. He had been working on the lakes for a number of years and was very well known among the seamen. The funeral will be held at Cleveland the latter part of this week.

HALF OF GRAIN STOCKS SHIPPED

Canadian Twins Have Forwarded 20,000,000 Bushels This Year.

Fort William, Ont., May 7.—More than 20,000,000 bushels of grain has been shipped from Fort William and Fort Arthur to Eastern ports since the opening of navigation and over 21,000,000 bushels still remained in the elevators at the Canadian Head of the Lakes May 1, according to figures made public by the dominion grain commission last night. From Sept. 1, 1912 to April 30, there had been received at the local elevators 84,119,123 bushels of wheat; 21,510,327 bushels of oats; 7,416,385 bushels of barley; 10,-195,328 bushels of flax. The warehouses contained on May 1 the following amounts of grain: Wheat, 10,555,192 bushels; oats, 6,134,190; barley, 1,944,495; flax, 3,018,018; total, 21,-651,887.

FLOATING FIELD OF ICE IN LAKE SUPERIOR.

Marquette Mich. May 7.—An immense field of windrowed thickly jammed ice, extending east and west for more than 100 miles and of undeterminate length, is floating in the eastern part of Lake Superior. It appears to be drifting into the mouth of Whitefish bay.

It is believed that there is no immediate danger to vessels if the southern passage is followed. The shifting of the wind, however, is expected to determine materially the exact status of the navigation problem resulting from the presence of the ice field.

A strong breeze from the east will blow the ice into mid-lake and off the southern shore. A northerly wind will prove disastrous, forcing the ice onto the Michigan shore and into Whitefish bay. This would result in choking up the lake's eastern entrance and tying up navigation for some time.

Under favorable conditions, the pack is expected to disappear in a few days.

REPORT RECEIVED ON PORT WING HARBOR.

Capt. E. D. Peek of the corps of the United States engineers has received a report on the examination of the Port Wing entrance and harbor made last Saturday by the inspector at that point.

The report shows that very little shoaling has occurred during the past year, none at all in the government channel and but very slightly in the private channel. The depths have remained about the same, no change having occurred in the government channel and but a slight decrease in the private channel. The latter will be dredged and brought up to its normal this month.

The report, in part, follows:

"An examination of the Port Wing entrance and harbor made May 1, 1913, by the United States watchman, shows a depth of not less than fifteen feet in the government channel, between the entrance and up to the limits of the government dredging, a distance of about 200 feet. This is the project depth.

"In the private channel there is an available depth of a little more than twelve feet to a distance of about 500 to 600 feet from the entrance pier; a depth of eleven feet up to the fish dock, and about seven feet up to the old merchandise dock."

PATHFINDER AND BARGE RELEASED.

The steamer Pathfinder had considerable water in her compartments as the result of running on the bank in the Livingstone channel late Saturday night, with the barge Constitution in tow.

Reports from Amherstburg are to the effect that the Great Lakes tug Harding and the lighter Rescue of Detroit were at work on the boats, taking out ore and that they were not released until Monday.

The boats have gone to Toledo, and after unloading the Pathfinder will go into drydock for repairs. It is not known whether the Constitution is injured.

A launch has been placed at the head of the Livingstone channel to order all down boats to use the Amherstburg channel.

WHISTLING BUOYS AND SUBMARINE BELLS

The new whistling buoys and submarine bells, which are being put to use more and more each year, are gradually taking the place of the old buoys and bells. The latter is a new invention and the latest model is being fitted to the lightship Buffalo.

The following explanation of the buoys and bells is interesting:

"When a wave carries the whistling buoy into the air, the water in the tube is sucked into the intake. It is confined in the bulb of the buoy by a simple valve, which prevents its egress through the intake. When the wave drops the buoy into the trough of the waters the tube presses upon the confined air and finds exit in the whistle, which thus sounds its warning note.

"The submarine bells, attached to the side of the vessel, sound their warning message through the water instead of above. This is done because the sound carries much farther under water. In fact, vessels fitted with receiving stations can hear the vibrations of the submarine bell over a distance of eleven miles.

"The lightship Buffalo, which is stationed a few miles off Crystal beach, will have this latest invention in marine warning by Saturday. Boats entering the Buffalo harbor will be able to hear the vibration of the submarine bell."

FIRST LUMBER BOAT REACHES TONAWANDA.

Tonawanda, May 7.—The steamer Edward Buckley arrived here Monday with 600,000 feet of hemlock lumber, coming from Marinette, and is the first lumber carrier to reach here this season. Last year the first lumber was received on May 8. A fleet of lumber boats is now headed for the Tonawandas, and it is expected there will be 10,000,000 feet of lumber here by the end of the week.

Recommended Draft.

The Lake Carrier's association has recommended the draft in the Niagara river as fourteen feet, six inches.

ALONG THE LAKES

According to announcement made in Ottawa, work on the new Welland canal is to begin early in July.

• • •

The steamer Alaska, sold last week by James O'Connor of Tonawanda, was bought by John G. Mullen of Amherstburg, to be used in the coal trade. The Alaska was built in 1871 in Buffalo.

• • •

Bids were opened in Detroit Thursday for dredging out a large area in Toledo harbor. The contract probably will go to the Grelling Brothers' company of Green Bay, whose bid, 17 cents per cubic yard, was lowest. The specifications call for removal of 72,000 cubic yards of material.

BLUE LABEL MEN TO HOLD MEETING

Northwestern Cigar Makers' Conference at St. Cloud June 15.

Duluth cigarmakers have been notified of the calling of the annual meeting of the Northwestern Blue Label conference, to be held in St. Cloud Sunday, June 15, which is the day before the opening of the meeting of the Minnesota Federation of Labor.

The Northwestern Blue Label conference is composed of the cigarmakers' unions of Minnesota and North and South Dakota. It is organized for the protection of the use of union-made cigars by calling the attention of union men and others to the blue label with which cigar boxes from union shops are marked.

George Murray of St. Paul is president of the conference and E. G. Hall, president of the Minnesota Federation of Labor, is secretary.

Wreck on Nickel Plate.

Vermillion, Ohio, May 7.—Eastbound Nickel Plate train No. 6 struck an open switch at Florence, ten miles from here, at 10 o'clock today. The engine and baggage car left the track. No passengers were injured, but Engineer W. W. Farley of Bellevue, Ohio, was slightly hurt when he, his fireman and the express messengers in the baggage car jumped for their lives.

CANDIDATE FOR M'EWEN'S PLACE

H. W. Goetzinger Wants to Be Officer of Federation of Labor.

The announcement of W. E. McEwen that he would not again be a candidate for secretary-treasurer of the Minnesota Federation of Labor has been spread over the state and union men are looking forward to a warm contest on the election of Mr. McEwen's successor. The federation will meet at St. Cloud June 16.

The first candidate for secretary-treasurer to appear is H. W. Goetzinger of St. Paul, who has long been prominent in labor circles in the state. Mr. Goetzinger is now president of the St. Paul Typographical union. Some of his friends are lining up support for him to succeed Mr. McEwen and they profess to believe his chances of landing the place are good.

More Pay for Glass Workers.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 7.—Ten thousand skilled workmen employed by the Macbeth-Evans Glass company have been granted a voluntary increase of wages. The raise is effective May 10 and affects employes in factories at Charleroix, Pa., Toledo, Ohio, Marion and Elwood, Ind. The amount of the increase is not announced.

Four-Foot Fall Fatal.

St. Cloud, Minn., May 7.—Henry Calgren, building contractor, died yesterday following injuries sustained by falling four feet into a basement on a stone. He was 61 years of age and is survived by his wife, two sons and four daughters.

LEGAL NOTICES.

CERTIFICATE OF AMENDMENT —OF— ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION —OF— TREDINNIK DEVELOPMENT CO.

The undersigned, President and Secretary of the Corporation formerly known and organized as the Tredinnik Development Company, existing under the provisions of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota, 1905, do hereby certify under the seal of said Company:

That the Board of Directors of said corporation, as directed by the unanimous vote of all the stockholders of said corporation, at a meeting of said stockholders, where all were present and voting, held at the office of said company in Eveleth, Minnesota, April ...., 1913, have this day, by unanimous vote of the Board of Directors of said corporation, adopted the following amendment to the articles of association of said corporation

Resolved, That Article I of the Articles of Association of the Tredinnik Development Company be amended as follows:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation is McDermott Development Company, and the general nature of its business is to acquire, own, improve, develop, sell, lease and convey lands and tenements, or any title, interest or privilege therein; to search, explore and prospect for ore and mineral therein and thereupon; to carry on the business of mining in all its branches in the State of Minnesota, and in other States and Territories of the United States of America.

The principal place of business of this Corporation is and shall remain the City of Eveleth, St. Louis County, Minnesota.

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our official signatures and the seal of said Corporation this .... day of April, 1913.

C. H. McDERMOTT,
President of Tredinnik Development Company.

MAYME MURPHY,
Secretary of Tredinnik Development Company.

(Corporate Seal, Tredinnik Development Company, Eveleth, Minn.)

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.

C. H. McDermott and Mayme Murphy being duly sworn, depose and say that they now are, and for more than six months now last past have been, respectively President and Secretary of the Tredinnik Development Company, and that they execute the foregoing certificate as their own free act and deed and as the free act and deed of the said Corporation.

C. H. McDERMOTT.
MAYME MURPHY.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 29th day of April, 1913.

SHUBAEL F. WHITE,
Notary Public,
St. Louis Co., Minn.

(Notarial Seal, St. Louis Co., Minn.)
My commission expires Sept. 24, 1917.

State of Minnesota, Department of State.

I hereby certify that the within instrument was filed for record in this office on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1913, at 9 o'clock A. M., and was duly recorded in Book W-3 of Incorporations, on page 751.

CHAS. CALLIGAN,
Register of Deeds.
By S. L. PIERCE,
Deputy.

Duluth, Minnesota, April 14, 1913.

Messrs. Clement McAllen and Joseph Callaway, Assignee of Adolph Harkwell:

Take notice, that default has occurred in the conditions of that certain land contract dated on the 26th day of September, 1910, made between The Kenilworth Company, as the seller, and Adolph Harkwell and Clement McAllen, as the buyers, whereby the undersigned has agreed to convey to said Adolph Harkwell and Clement McAllen, the following described real estate situated in the County of St. Louis, and State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lot 530, Homecroft Park, according to the plat thereof on file in the office of the Registrar of Titles in and for said County of St. Louis, for the sum of two hundred thirty dollars ($230.00) payable twenty-eight dollars ($28.00) cash, and one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) on or before Saturday of each week thereafter, without interest, until the said purchase price is paid in full, in which said contract all the right, title and interest of said Adolph Harkwell was thereafter assigned by said Adolph Harkwell to you, the said Joseph Callaway.

That such default consists in the failure to make the payment of one dollar and fifty cents becoming due June 29, 1912, and the respective payments of one dollar and fifty cents becoming due on or before each Saturday thereafter to this date, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of sixty-three dollars ($63.00) at the date of this notice, no part of any of said payments having been made.

Now you are hereby notified that said contract, and all your rights thereunder will terminate thirty (30) days after the service of this notice upon you unless within said thirty days you shall comply with the conditions of said contract, and pay the cost of the service of this notice.

THE KENILWORTH COMPANY,
By WILLIAM McBEAN,
Secretary.

POULTRY AND EGGS.

YOUR EGGS, CHICKS AND BREEDING STOCK WANTED.

Hundreds of people in Duluth and vicinity who are interested in poultry raising will buy eggs, chicks, breeding stock, incubators and feed during the present season. Somebody among this vast multitude wants what you have for sale. You can reach these buyers by inserting an ad in these "want" ad columns.

The Duluth Herald has the greatest circulation of any newspaper in Minnesota, outside of the Twin Cities.

RATES ARE LOWEST.

The charges for classified advertising in The Duluth Herald are less per thousand circulation than those of any other newspaper in Minnesota.

A "want" ad man will be pleased to call on you and give estimates as to how much space your ad should occupy and the cost.

FOR SALE.
"FAULTLESS" HOUDANS.
This strain has been egg-bred from trapnest records since April, 1890. I have bred them 21 years for great layers and 12 years for large-size chalk-white eggs. These fowls are extremely hardy, have neither comb nor wattle to freeze, and are the best all-winter layers in open-front coops. "Faultless" strain Houdans have won every blue ribbon at New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia shows for past six years. Eggs and stock sold on honor. Send 10 cents for the largest illustrated poultry catalogue ever issued: it tells you how to breed these fowls, which average 250 eggs a year apiece; it tells you how to net $3,000 a year from 100 hens. THE dealer who stands behind advertised lines has fewer occasions to rectify complaints than the dealer who handles unknown goods. Advertised goods must be of the right quality to give satisfaction to consumers—otherwise every dollar spent to introduce them would be wasted. It's the ultimate results that count—not the first order. It pays dealers to handle and pays consumers to buy advertised goods.
